WEDDING CAKES.

STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY.
The Wedding Cake in the Marriage Ceremony occupies a central and altogether unique position and is rightly considered indispensable to the success of the function. It is peculiarly the Bride's Cake, and is an object of thoughtful care and concern. It must not be only ample in quantity and of the best quality, but also from an artistic point of view, worthy the occasion.
STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY do not hesitate to claim for their Wedding Cakes a position unequalled for quality, artistic finish and good value. The materials used are the finest, and the workmanship is such as ensures complete satisfaction.
It is to be understood that no matter what size cake may be ordered the quality of the materials used is the same.

The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XXII

"If Hettie ever breathed it, I would send her from us. Yet to-day I grieve that I cursed my eldest child. What do you think," added Martin, after a short pause, "of the choice my daughters made?"

"I think Miss Hettie one of the most devoted, most unselfish girl in the world," answered the baronet.

"And what do you think of the other?" asked Martin Ray.

"What can I think?" said Sir Basil. "What could any man think of a girl who deserts her own father and clings to a stranger?"

"You condemn her then?" questioned Martin Ray, eagerly.

"It is not my place to judge or condemn. Perhaps she could put the matter in a way which would make it appear quite different; but, so far as I can see, I should say that Miss Hettie was by far the more noble of the two. I should think her sister selfish, and certainly wanting in nobility of character—wanting, too, in natural affection. If she could desert her father and cling to a stranger."

"I have never been the same man since," said Martin Ray, with a sigh.

"I should hardly have thought that two sisters could have differed so greatly," remarked Sir Basil, quite unconscious that by his own words he was condemning the girl he had asked to be his wife.

"I should like to know," said Martin Ray, with a haggard face, "if curses ever really cause evil. I should like to know if that proud, beautiful head will bend under the curse I laid upon it?"

"I hope not," answered Sir Basil, quietly.

Martin turned to him suddenly. "Promise me," he said, "that you will not reveal one word of what I have told you. Hettie believes that I have forgotten her sister. I wish her still to think so."

"I shall never speak of it," promised Sir Basil. "You may rely upon me."

But as he went home he thought much of the story he had just heard. What a strange thing that two sisters should differ so greatly—that one should be so noble, so full of self-sacrifice and that the other should leave her father and go away with a stranger! He admired Hettie more than ever.

"She has an angelic face and an angelic nature," he said to himself.

"It is not often that the two go together."

He remembered the story when he saw Leah. So perfectly unconscious was he that she was the heroine of it that he thought to himself how grandly Leah would have acted in the circumstances; he felt sure that she, too, would have gone to her father's side and have stood by him against the whole world.

When he called again at the cottage, Martin was very ill, and Hettie in great distress. She looked to him more beautiful than ever, her blue eyes filled with tears, her lovely face so full of sorrow and compassion. He watched her preparing with deft fingers all that Martin needed. He thought of the heavy burden laid upon those young shoulders, and he wondered again at the heartlessness of the sister who could have left it all for her to bear. His heart went out to her, as he believed in simple pity. It was such a hard life.

"I wish," he said, approaching her, "that I could do something for you."

"You have done a great deal for me," she replied, with a quick, bright smile.

"Have I? What is it, Miss Hettie?"

"You have given me comfort by speaking so kindly."

"If I know how to give you comfort," said Sir Basil quickly, "I would ask for nothing more. I cannot tell you how sorry I am to see you so sorely tried. Let me lift that heavy tray for you. Those little white hands of yours were never made for hard work like this."

"I think," she said, smiling through her tears, "that you would be amazed to see how much what you call my 'little white hands' can do between sewing and writing. It seems to me they travel many miles each day."

Sir Basil stood by quite helpless. He saw how anxious and distressed Hettie was, and he thought with bitterness of the sister who had left her. Something of what filled his heart was shown in his manner, and in some vague way they understood each other. Without words, something was acknowledged by both—his sympathy, her gratitude for it, his kindly affection, and her pleasure in it.

Sir Basil did not stay long; but when he bade Hettie farewell something was in each face which had never been there before, some new feeling stirred each heart. They said good-night hurriedly, with averted faces; but in Hettie's heart there was a thrill of something like new life, and in Sir Basil's strange, tumultuous happiness that he hardly understood.

Leah wondered more than ever the preoccupied manner of her lover. Was he thinking of her? Was it the future that troubled him? Was he dreaming of politics? The last thing in this world that she would have suspected was that he was thinking of her long-lost sister Hettie.

CHAPTER XXXIII

The time came when Sir Basil Carlton stood face to face with the knowledge of his own secret, when he said to himself that, if marriages were made in heaven, Hettie was the one woman intended for him, that she was the only woman in this world he could ever love. She stood out quite distinct and clear to him. He knew that at last he had met the love that was his doom, that he—Sir Basil Carlton, engaged to marry the great heiress, Leah Hatton—loved with his whole heart Hettie Ray, the daughter of a man whose name seemed to be hated and despised among the class of which he himself was a prominent member. That Hettie was poor and unknown, that she was the daughter of such a father, he cared nothing. If he had been free, he would have pleaded his suit, he would have taken her in his arms and never let her go until she had promised to be his wife. As it was, knowing that he loved her, he must look upon her face only once again, and then it must be to say farewell.

He marvelled within himself at the strange fate that had befallen him. The woman who loved him better than her own life was beautiful as a goddess, and she would bring to her husband, both money and lands yet his heart did not incline to her. He was grateful to her, fond of her, but he did not love her with the love that comes but once in life.

She had loved him; and, because her happiness was dear to him, because her words had told him that her life was wrapped up in his, because he was heart-whole and fancy-free, he had

A STYLISH COSTUME.
Pattern 3716 is shown in this illustration. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 33 inch size requires 2 1/4 yards of 52 inch material. Without panels 4 1/4 yards. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 yards.

Caution crepe, serge, taffeta, satin, combinations of any of these materials, also gabardine, duvetyne and tricotee may be used for this attractive design.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

AN UP-TO-DATE AND SIMPLE FROCK.
3870. This distinctly youthful frock has the latest fashion "wrinkles". The new sleeve and collar. A choice of high neck or girlish round neck for which the collars are provided. Duvetyne with matched flat braid is here shown. One may have velvet, or taffeta, or serge with braiding. For the round collar, embroidered broad cloth or suede, crepe, or organdy is attractive.

The Pattern is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 4 yards of 44 inch material. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 2 yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR SHIRT WAIST MODEL.
Pattern 3395 is illustrated here. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. For a medium size 2 1/4 yards of 40 inch material will be required. Embroidered voile, batiste, or lawn, also linen crepe, crepe de chine, satin, taffeta, and moire would be pleasing for this style. As here shown, beige color crepe de chine was used with trimming of silet insertion and floss embroidery.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A STYLISH SKIRT MODEL.
Pattern 3725 is shown in this illustration. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches waist measure. A 38 inch size requires 2 1/4 yards of 44 inch material.

One may have this in tweed, twill, duvetyne, velours, velvet, silk, linen or wash fabric. The width at the foot is 2 1/4 yards.

A SMART BLOUSE.
389. This distinctive model has attractive youthful lines. It is pretty in crepe, satin, pongee, duvetyne or in lingerie fabrics like batiste, or voile. The model is in slip on style. Additional opening may be effected at the shoulder seams.

The Pattern is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size will require 3 yards of 30 inch material.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indigestible waste of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestinal health. In one series of tested cases, several functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin by breaking 1/2 oz. of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestine acts. Do not let it be a "Fleischmann's Yeast" the familiar tin-foliated package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

Gland That Makes Growth.

In the future the terrible tabloid is likely to play a very important role. It is possible that instead of a five-course dinner we shall be treated—those of us who may still be on this planet—to five tabloids which, combined, furnish all the necessary nutriment for the human body.

It appears that tabloids of the pineal gland are capable of making any fowl grow to double its ordinary size. This is a delightful prospect for a Sunday dinner. We have put up with the all-neck-and-legs chicken quite long enough. Now there seems to be a chance of getting a "splendid bird" in actual fact.

We read everywhere that if the output is doubled, prices will be halved. Well, if every chicken bred is twice as big as chickens are in the habit of being, surely that is doubled productivity, and chickens will be—dead cheap.

Fancy a giant chicken at half the former price! Fancy the poultryer's boy staggering to your domicile with one of the size of a well-favoured turkey! That's the start to give us!

This pineal gland stunt seems to be the very thing we have been waiting for. But it will be as well not to apply it too freely.

Just Rolls

HOME.
Here's where the sweetest laughter rings.
Here's where the praise is good.
Here's where the merriest robbin sings.
And not in the distant wood—
Here at the end of my little street
Is all that maketh life's struggle sweet.

Here's the fairest of blossoms grow.
Here, and small and few:
Here is the friendliest tree I know.
Faithful and staunch and true!
Here in these walls by the weather stained
Is all the splendor of life contained.

Here's where the mother and child await.
The day and its tolling end.
Here by the side of my humble grate
We welcome our truest friend;
Over this roof as the years go by
Are the brightest stars and the clearest sky.

Here are my dreams and the distant goal.
Here is the life I build,
This I am striving for, heart and soul;
Here till my hands are stilled
Always and ever I want to see
Love at the window on watch for me.

Nothing of joy could my strength sustain
If ever these walls should fall;
Pomp and glory and wealth were vain
Were I to possess them all.
If there was no home on a little street
To make the "struggle" for victory sweet.

Do you want your choice of a Suit or Overcoat—cut, made and trimmed in the Spurrell way—at almost your own price? We must have work, even if we don't get profits. SPURRELL the Tailor, 365 Water Street. Jan 30, 1922.

Art to Tower

Dominions.

An interesting proposal is now under discussion in London. It is no less than to send a travelling picture gallery on a tour throughout the Dominions. It is pointed out that the big London picture galleries, such as the Tate, the National galleries, the Victoria and Albert Museums and the British Museum have such large numbers of pictures on their walls that they are quite able to spare a sufficient number for the purpose. Such an exhibition of world mastery would have great artistic and educational value in distant borders of the Empire, where in no other way could they become known. It would stimulate the interest of the artistic overseas, and at the same time appease the art hunger of others who cannot visit Britain to see these pictures for themselves.

Oldest Milking Cow.

A grade Shorthorn cow 39 years old and still giving milk enough to make about four pounds of butter a week, has been found by dairy professors of the Ohio State University on the farm of Miss Libby Hamilton, five miles southeast of Columbus. This is thought to be the oldest milking cow in Ohio, and possibly in the United States. Miss Hamilton, who is 80 years old, has had "Rexy" since April, 1892, when "Rexy" was born. The cow is now almost three times the average age, say the University dairymen, and is to be regarded as a curiosity, equal to a person 100 years old, or older. Quite as remarkable as "Rexy's" age is the fact that she has a daughter, eight years old, having freshened at the age of 31—Creamery Journal.

vis: $42.00 for Grocers Family Mess, $31.00 for Spare Ribs, $30. Mess and Ham Butt, $28.00 fat back, and Short Cut Clear, and $29.00 Boston Butt. Fishery supplying is going to create more activity from now till the middle of June.

Beef—The market is quiet and unchanged. The imports for the week were 474 barrels by the S. S. Sachem from Halifax, 145 by the Sable I, and 226 barrels by the S. S. Rosalind, making a total of 845 barrels. The imports of barrelled beef since New Year are 9,860 barrels, which shows an increase of over 100 per cent over last year's record for a corresponding period. Quotations in the local market are $20.00 per barrel for Bos Packet and Morria Boneless, $26.00 Bos Flank, $20.50 Family Special, $20.75 N. Y. Boneless, and $21.00 for Alderney Boneless wholesale.

Molasses—The schooners "Evelyn Jean," "Donald Duff" and "Ema E. Moulton" are now at Barbados and will take cargoes of raw molasses for Newfoundland. The market for molasses is quiet and the price is 7 to 10 cents a decline soon, of twenty cents from the highest point since the new was ready. The "Humorist" to Monroe Export Co. is now on her way to St. John's with a load, 11 days out; also the "Lila D. Young" 18 days out to Harvey and Co. with a cargo of New Choice which will sell at 65 cents wholesale.

Sugar—The sugar market is again quite strong. After the April boom there was an interval of quiet with some concessions in the price. Last week cargo purchases were put thru in Canada and the United States at top prices and since then the markets have held quite strong. On all sides the news seems to prevail that the market has reached a settled period of continuance that will extend well into the summer at about the present prices. This week 1,500 bags were imported by the S. S. Sachem from Halifax. The local price is still $10.85 per 100 pounds.

Potatoes—Activity in the potato market is now in evidence as seeding time is at hand. This week 2,000 sacks were imported up to Thursday, 1,200 sacks by the S. S. Canadian Sapper from Halifax, 500 from Halifax by the Sable I, and 300 by S. S. Digby from Liverpool. The 500 sacks were imported by the Minister of Agriculture who placed orders with the government and are guaranteed to be free from canker. The farmers in the near by outports are selling at $3 per lb. as against $3.70 for imported. Bonavista Bay schooners will be arriving by May 20th with large quantities of home-grown.

Hay—The S. S. Winfredan and S.S. Oxonian conveying cattle to Great Britain, cleaned up nearly all the hay available in the local market this week. The arrival of the S. S. Canadian Sapper from Halifax with 705 bales this week was most opportune and prevented the market from being completely denuded. The price has firmed up a bit in consequence of the above circumstances and sales have been advanced from $53.00 to $54.00 per ton for wholesale lots. The market will be again replenished on the arrival of the S.S. Maplewood, when the price will no doubt recede.

OATS—The local quotation for oats still continues at $3.50 for white and $3.70 for mixed wholesale. The total imports this week were quite heavy at 2,400 sacks, viz: 500 by S. S. Sable I, and 1,900 by the S. S. Canadian Sapper. The market remains very quiet and no drastic change in prices is expected beyond a slight easing off in quotations that will be made possible by more favorable direct freight rates down the St. Lawrence. The S. S. Maplewood the first boat for the season left Montreal last Russia Must Answer in Affirmative.

Text of Non-Aggression Pact Agreed Upon—King George and Queen Mary Visit Battle Ground—British Labor Leader Makes Pronouncement.

FRANCE'S THREAT.

GENOVA, May 7. If the Russians do not give a categorical affirmative answer to the memorandum that has been submitted to them, France will not go on with the negotiations, and if no arrangement is made with the Russians the non-aggression pact becomes impossible, said M. Barbeau, head of the French delegation to-day.

THE NON-AGGRESSION PACT.

GENOVA, May 7. The text of the non-aggression pact which may never see the light of day here has been practically agreed upon. It is the British proposition modified to meet the suggestions of the other powers, but must be ratified by the interested governments before it comes operative. The Pact declares substantially that if one country attacks them the other signatories, shall immediately confer for the purpose of deciding upon steps to put an end to the acts of aggression threatening the peace of Europe. The consultation clause follows the lines of the four powers Pacific Pact arranged at Washington. France has announced that she will sign the pact only on the condition that the guarantees provided by the Versailles and other treaties shall be maintained and included in the Pact, Japan also insists upon the maintenance of the Versailles guarantee because of her geographic and economic relations with Siberia.

KING AND QUEEN VISIT BATTLE-GROUND.

LONDON, May 7. King George and Queen Mary leave for Belgium on Monday and will visit the front held by the British during the war.

A WARNING TO FRANCE.

LONDON, May 7. "If France is determined to follow a warlike policy she must proceed by herself for the people of Great Britain are sick of war and are not going to be parties thereto," said J. H. Thomas, Labor leader, in a speech which he said the possible failure of the Genoa Conference would bring war as near as it was in August 1914.

FOUR BANKS ROBBERED.

Belfast, May 4. Four banks in Country Cavan were robbed by armed raiders yesterday.

ATE WILD HEMLOCK AND DIED.

OTTAWA, May 7. The death of seven members of the Lacroix family was due to eating wild Hemlock, a Dominion Botanist has established.

GOOD FOR INTERESTS, BAD FOR PEOPLE.

WASHINGTON, May 7. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, declared in a minority report filed yesterday that the taxes which would be imposed by the pending tariff bill are "so far as the special interests are concerned both satisfying and comforting. On the other hand the people view this bill as a measure full of mischief and dangerous, a possibility loaded with burdens for them and posterity."

HUGHES' CONDITION SERIOUS.

LONDON, May 7. Premier Hughes of Australia, is suffering from shock following the fall from his horse and his condition is considered serious according to cables received here.

PRISONERS RELEASED.

KILKENNY, May 7. Prisoners to the number of 108, captured by Regulars during recent fighting were unconditionally released from the military barracks to-day.

EVACUATE BUILDING.

DUBLIN, May 7. The evacuation by the Republican irregulars of the Fort Board office, seized by them some time ago, began to-day.

GOOD CROP PREDICTED.

WINNIPEG, May 7. Conditions are more favorable for a good crop than they have been in many years according to Charles Murphy, General Manager of the Western Lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

HOPE FOR PEACE.

DUBLIN, May 7. The net effect of the official reports of the Peace Conference, both civil and military, encourages the belief that the intense struggles between the two sections of Dail Eireann with its splitting of the army is ended for the present. If the peace committee

CANADIAN VETERANS DEMAND HELE.

TORONTO, May 7. At a mass meeting of the unemployed veterans held, it was asserted that 3,200 men in Toronto and 700 in Hamilton had signed an undertaking to march on Ottawa and demand help. Bitter speeches were made protesting against the Government's hasty cutting off of relief.

FIVE SHOT IN RIOT.

ATLANTA, GA., May 4. Four white men and one negro were shot in riot at the Railway Yard here to-day, all being seriously wounded.

WANTS HIM OUTSIDE THE WALL.

TIENSTIN, May 7. General Wu Pei Fu said to-day that no further fighting would be necessary if General Chang, Tso Lih's forces withdrew outside the great wall.

RUSSIA'S REPLY.

GENOVA, May 6. Russia's reply to the Allied memorandum is expected to be ready Sunday or Monday. It will be a distinctly conciliatory document, not intended to break off negotiations, Foreign Minister Tchitcherine said to-day. It will, however, be declared firmly state Russia's inability to comply with the terms offered.

TRIES ON OPERATING TABLE.

NEW YORK, May 6. Henry P. Davison, of J. P. Morgan and Company, died on the operating table to-day. He was a widely known financier and directed the work of the American Red Cross in allied countries during the two years the United States were in the war.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)
Codfish—The export of dried codfish this week was 18,095 qts. as follows: From Outports—By schooner Port Union, from Fisherman's Union Export Co., 3,930 qts.; from Catalina to Porto.

From St. John's—By S. S. Sachem to Liverpool, 3,612 qts., from various shippers; by schooner Jean Wakely 5,582 qts., from E. Borrero to Seville; by schooner Harry and Verna 4,342 qts., from A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., to Pernambuco, and by schooner Frank Adams from R. F. Goodridge, W. J. Moore, and T. H. Carter 1,228 qts., to Barbados. Oporto stocks are down to 15,000 qts. with 5,000 weekly consumption.

Codliver Oil—New York market is very firm. It is reported that Norway has made considerable sales for future delivery especially to European centres. There is very little life to report in our local markets, as present prices of foreign markets show no margin to encourage refiners taking special interest in this work.

Oil—Offerings are very light and the market remains steady. Demand is fairly good at former values but buyers refuse to pay any advance. Quotations are only nominal.

Wheat—The Chicago wheat market grew quite strong this week, reaching a maximum of 145¢ for May wheat on Thursday. The growing winter wheat is late and first deliveries are not expected before the latter part of July or the first of August, so that supplies are certain to be at a very low point before the new wheat is available. The S. S. Canadian Sapper brought in 600 hundred barrels and 700 sacks since our last issue. The local wholesale quotation for No. 1 brand is $10.25 per barrel, which is twenty or thirty cents lower per barrel than the cost of new importation.

Pork—The pork situation of last week is practically unchanged. The S. S. Sable I brought in 100 barrels from Halifax this week, the S. S. Sachem 125 barrels, and the S. S. Rosalind 100 barrels, making a total of 325 barrels. The imports since New Year are 6,444 barrels as compared with 3,495 barrels the same time last year. The local prices are unchanged.

Rev. Canon Bolt is a passenger by the incoming express.
Evangelist Marnell left here yesterday on the outgoing express en route to San Francisco where he will attend the Seventh-day Adventist world conference, which will be in session May 11-31. Delegates from all parts of the world will be in attendance, representing one hundred and twenty various languages. The Conference will be held in the Civic Auditorium, and about seven thousand delegates and friends will attend the meetings daily.

Nfld. Motor Association

COMMITTEES MEET.
The various committees of the Nfld. Motor Association met at the West End Restaurant Saturday afternoon. The attendance was large and Mr. Angus Reid presided. Amongst the matters discussed was that of a club house for members, but it was decided that for the present this be left in abeyance. It was also decided to arrange for a trip through Canada with the Press Conference, Newfoundland had representatives at this Conference, and the matter will be of interest to our people. Sir Patrick has a fund of good stories and an interesting hour may be expected. His Lecture will be illustrated by 60 first class pictures. Entrance to Lecture Room from Banerman Street.

Playing With Fire.

The professional politicians of the Government ranks are playing an exceedingly dangerous game with highly inflammable material. What that game is they know best themselves and if they are the first to be consumed in the flame that may be kindled through their Machiavellian policy, no person will lament very much over any sudden snuffing out. It is not good statecraft to set class against class, labor against a capital, employee against employer, yet that is what is being done by certain men in St. John's to-day. Conditions have become so acute through past Governmental interference with trade that where a plenitude of employment one time existed there is none whatever at the moment and for a longer period than has been usual in this country. The blame for this cannot in one sense be saddled upon the merchants. In another it can, for had they been strong and united in protesting against being interfered with in their lawful pursuits of commerce two years ago, the present blight on labor would never have developed. Labor is essential to production as production is essential to labor, and there is not a man or body of men in St. John's who do not heartily desire that labor shall receive its due. But when party politicians imbued with sullen enmity toward the trade endeavour to set man against man, in order that the search light may be turned from themselves and their doings, they had better consider the warnings of the times and take further counsel of themselves. A boomerang when thrown may hit the object aimed at, but it can also return and administer a sound thrack to the thrower, unless he is very careful. Verbum Sap.

Fishery Supplies.

Will there be the usual issue of Fishery supplies by the Water Street outfitting firms this spring, or will there not? That question is now agitating a great many fishermen—Labrador and Shore—who see the time rapidly approaching when they must make preparations for the summer's work. On the other hand the heretofore suppliers are not keen at all as to whether they will advance the necessary outfits for the prosecution of the voyage. Taxation has soared under the present regime until it has reached a height altogether beyond the pockets of those who have to pay. The importer claims that he cannot add to his stocks because of the high tariff rates; the average man realizes that under present conditions he cannot purchase as much as formerly, because his dollar is only worth about thirty-five cents. The fishermen cannot catch and cure codfish for five dollars per quintal, when it costs them a sum far in excess of that figure to produce. They cannot live by the loss anymore than the men of any other class of labor. It is a well known axiom of economics that taxation kills production. Has it not been proven in Newfoundland the past couple of seasons? In another column to-day we publish a letter from a well known fisherman of Flat Islands, Bonavista Bay, who appears to have placed his finger right on the pulse of trade as it affects the men who brave the elements at their daily calling. He has sized up the situation to a nicety, and his opinions will be shared by thousands of his fellow producers. Reduce taxation and correspondingly reduce expenditure is his remedy and way out. If the Government will take up this very vital matter sincerely and honestly and do their level best, we believe that the problem facing the country will be solved. If they will not heed, but continue in the way in which they are going a state of affairs may be produced that will cause the whole colony a deal of trouble. Such can be avoided if the Government are really in earnest and will do all in their power to gather up the various loose strings which are in evidence and unite them in one strong cord.

Goulds in Court.

Twenty accused in Police Court case. Twenty residents of the Goulds, a very large percentage of the male residents of that district, appeared in Court to-day to answer summonses issued against them for keeping dogs in a prescribed district. The summonses were issued by mounted constable Russell, Mr. W. J. Higgins, K. C., appeared for the accused and entered a plea of not guilty. He asked for a postponement of the case. Mr. Higgins maintained that the proclamation which prevented the keeping of dogs in the Goulds had never been made twenty years ago and had never been enforced. The proclamation would have no effect after next July as the law then expires. It would be pointless to order the destruction of a large number of dogs now if they may be kept after July. A petition will be obtained for the purpose of having the act abolished. His Honor allowed a postponement so that the matter can be investigated. It will be interesting to know what those residents of the Goulds, who are worried by the dogs, will have to say when the proposed petition is brought around.

Last Night's Fire.

BLAZE STARTED IN SWITCH CUPBOARD. The seat of last night's fire in the Martin-Royal Stores building has been discovered in a switch cupboard which is at the head of a staircase leading up from the office of Mr. H.E. Knight. The cupboard is always locked and it is evident that defective wiring was the cause of the fire. The insurance carried on the stock amounts to $68,000 and $37,000 on the building, a total of $105,000. This is a heavy item for the insurance companies, which have all suffered great losses this year.

The Chinese Murders.

PHOTOGRAPH OF MURDERER. The many fanciful theories advanced to explain the reason for the murder of the three Chinamen in the Murray Street laundry on Wednesday last are not likely to prove correct. That in which spot belief is placed is that the murders were the result of a wrong, fancied or otherwise, under which the slayer was suffering. The Tong theory is considered to be ridiculous and the police deny all knowledge of any photograph of a woman said to have been discovered among the belongings of the Murray Street Chinamen. It is believed that after Wo Fen Game (the name by which the police know the man under arrest for the murders) had paid off his passage money, which had been advanced by his brother-in-law and victim, Hong Kam Hi, he was told that there would be no further work for him. He was allowed to live at Murray Street and for a few days was given fifty cents per day.

NO INFORMATION FROM POLICE. Several instances of Wo's attempts to take the laundry which should have gone to Murray Street to some other laundry in an effort to raise other money have been made known since one was cited by the Telegram. It is presumed that this brought on a quarrel in which Wo was abused and possibly ill-treated and that he consequently decided to revenge himself and then to commit suicide. The only puzzling part of the whole thing is why he should have gone to Casey Street with the intention of killing his cousin, Hong Wing. The explanation of this is believed to be simple but no information can be obtained from the authorities. A photograph of Wo Fen Game was shown to a Telegram reporter this morning. He appears to be quite youthful and was taken, wearing a suit of American cut. Both he and his intended victim, Hong Wing are doing well at the hospital and it is possible that the preliminary enquiry will be held shortly. We has not yet been operated upon.

CHINESE FACTIONS IN CANADA. The following extract from a Montreal paper is interesting in view of the murders, although the Tong theory is believed to be fallacious.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF WAR IN CHINATOWN.

Man Found Dead in Bed Believed to be Member of Hum Faction. The authorities are suspicious of the circumstances under which the body of Hsin Song Moon, 38 years old, was found dead in his bed at 4133 St. Catherine Street, Westmount, at 6.30 this morning. He is believed to be a victim of the long war raging in Chinatown at the present time between the Hum and the Wong factions.

Train Notes.

BONAVISTA BRANCH OPENS TODAY.

The incoming express with the Kyle's mails and passengers is due in the city at 9 a.m. from Port aux Basques. The Bonavista branch line opens today, and will be operated on the same schedule as in the latter part of last year. That is three trains out from the city each week.

The Trepassey and Bay de Verde branch lines will commence operations during the week. The work of clearing these lines begins to-day and will be finished shortly. These lines will also be run on the same schedule as that in force last fall. S.S. Kyle is now at Port aux Basques awaiting the arrival of yesterday's express from the city.

A City of Zinc.

Wouldn't this seem a queer place if, instead of the giant skyscrapers and millions of other buildings of wood, concrete or brick, everything was constructed of tin or zinc? Beta, in Portuguese East Africa, is such a city, for almost the whole of the buildings are made of zinc. You begin with railway and freight cars of zinc, and the train pulls into stations built of zinc sheets. As the traveller alights from the train, he steps onto a zinc platform. Ask a man to drive you to the nearest hotel, and he fetches his horse from a zinc shed, puts it in a cart also made of zinc sheets, cracking his zinc whip most of the time to awaken his sleepy steed. Driving along, everything you see appears to be built of the same material: zinc. There are zinc churches, zinc houses, shops, and out-buildings, of all kinds. The chairs and tables are of zinc, as well as the floors, windows and doors. At night you sleep in a zinc bed, and arising next morning, your meal is cooked in a zinc pan, and served on a zinc plate.

He blames public opinion for the stoppage of employment, while he resists a real public opinion which calls for same administration.—Public Opinion.

HIS DIARY.

May 6th.—Coming home, found many of my papers buried by Jane, our cookmaid, which so vexed me, that I offered a blow at her, and was seen doing it by Mrs. Felling's maid, which did ver me to the heart, because, I know she will tell the family of it. In the afternoon, I play at Rugby, and did do a grievous hurt to my knee, which makes me to walk with a limp. I to the Club, where I win at Bridge, and so home, with great content.

WHARF AND HARBOUR MISSION.

The Wharf and Harbour Mission in connection with the Cathedral Parish was re-opened yesterday at the meeting of the C.M.B.C. This mission has been going on for some 28 years. Holy Communion was celebrated in the Cathedral at 8 a.m. by Rev. J. Brinton and was largely attended by the members of the class and their friends. Immediately after the service in the Cathedral, all went to the wharf of Messrs. Bowring Bros. where the ceremony of the formal launching of the boat took place. Music was supplied by the Class Band. An address was given by the chairman, who spoke of this work among seamen who come to St. John's. He gave as the motto "Christ in every ship." The class met in the afternoon when letters were read from Mr. S. Knox of the Mission to Seamen in appreciation of the work done by the C.M.B.C. among seamen. The class closed for this session after one of the most successful seasons in its history.

If you have relatives or friends in Canada or intend to live there some day yourself you will be interested in the Lecture on the Press Tour across the Dominion which Hon. Sir P. T. McGrath will deliver to-night at Cochrane Street Lecture Room. Admission 30c.—may 8, 11

The Wrong Suggestion.

The colored minister of a small Southern church decided to hold a home-talent entertainment to raise funds for the church. Members who had talent were asked to take part. One old darkey, who claimed to be a clarinet player, was singled. He went to the minister: "Parson, why do you all leave me out ob de show?" "Why, Sam, what can you do?" "I kin play de clarinet."

The minister assured Sam that he would be on the programme. After several numbers the minister announced a solo by a clarinet player, Brother Sam Brown. Sam bowed and began to play. For five minutes he evolved one simple scale over and over. The audience became impatient. One large negro could stand the monotony no longer. He rose and cried: "Put dat fool out!" There was silence. The minister asked: "Who am so rude as to call de clarinet player a fool?" There was no response. The minister repeated his inquiry. No reply. "Fo de third and last time, who called dat clarinet player a fool?" angrily asked the minister. Another negro rose and said: "Parson, yo' am making a mistake. De question am not 'Who called dat clarinet player a fool?' but it am, 'Who called dat fool a clarinet player?'"

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Will writers of letters against the methods of business of the Union Trading Company take notice that the Telegram refuses to publish any form of communication attacking a legitimate business concern. The Union Trading Company has as much right to engage in commercial pursuits as any firm in the island, and no good can be accomplished by holding it up to ridicule. "Will John and Samuel" of Greenspond take particular cognizance of this statement.

M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, to see the table of the House a statement showing:

1. When the cable between Port aux Basques and Canada was laid.

2. What was the cost of making the cable and the laying of it.

3. How many times since has it been broken, for what periods, and what has it cost each time to repair.

4. What has been the annual cost of the cable for each year since it was laid.

5. What has been the expenditure for the cable service each year, and what profit, if any, has the Colony derived from it for each year.

6. What is the total number of postal telegraph offices in the Colony, what are their receipts each year, and what is their expenditure each year, and what is the total mileage of lines operated under the Government telegraph system.

M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister, in the absence of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, what steps are being taken by Government to carry into effect the promise of the Minister of Fisheries that an exploration of the coast off our coast would be undertaken by one of the steamers obtained by England last year, with the view of adding to the information available to our people to assist them in getting better catches of codfish.

M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister if the Government received any request, that they take part in the British Empire Exhibition in London in 1924, if so, what action does the Government propose to take in the matter if it proposes to take part will be the cost to the Colony, what benefits will result to the Colony from such action.

M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs to see the table of the House copies of correspondence between the Postmaster General, or himself, and the C.P.R. in connection with a cable service, and the late Postmaster General, himself, or both, in the Anglo-American Telegraph Company in regard to proposals by the company for the service in connection with the Postal Telegraphs, between the late Postmaster General, himself, or both, and the Postal Telegraph Company in relation to the same matter, and the same now before the House.

Mr. Moore—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister to lay on the table a statement showing the amount of money by Mr. E. Collishaw to the railway account of freight, how long it has been owed, what reasons, if any, Mr. Collishaw has given for not paying it, what steps are being taken by the table a copy of all correspondence in relation to this matter.

Bennett—To ask the Minister of Works if Stephen R. Dawe, Operator of Bay Roberts, was named as one of the Commission for special relief money in the year of 1921; giving the names of other Commissioners; what was spent by the said Commission, and the amount paid as salary to the said S. R. Dawe, or any other Commissioner.

Bennett—To ask the Minister of Works if Capt. John Parsons of Bay Roberts, was instructed by the Board of Works to stop some of the men so employed on account; and state if such request was acceded to.

Bennett—To ask the Minister of Works if Capt. John Kelly, Inspector of Posts and Telegraphs, was named as a Commissioner for special relief money at Coley's during 1921; if so, what was the nature of the work so performed, and the amount spent thereon; if full names have been made for same, what commission did Capt. Kelly receive for services performed.

West Coast Fishery.
SPECTS LOOKING FAIRLY GOOD.

Report from the West Coast for week ending April 23rd says fish prospects made their appearance in the fishing grounds at Rose Bay and the prospects now look good. Fish has also become plentiful on the other bank, and unusually large and well livered, at LaPoile caught their first quantity since last December with the plentiful supply of herring, which also struck in last week with the fish, the men are able to procure their fish fresh and averaging from 10 to 15 lbs. The total catch Rose Bay to Harbor LeCo April 23rd is 6,500 qts. Some boats and skiffs are operating.

Last Fight With Wolf Pack.

The body of Ben Cochrane torn to shreds north of Fisher River, on Lake Wintapee, having been attacked by a pack of timber wolves, has been found according to word received at Wintapee. His bones and pieces of clothing and a rifle with a broken stock were also found nearby. Before succumbing to the pack Cochrane shot seven wolves dead and clubbed four to death, their bodies lying around his tattered remains being the only evidence of his fight for life.

New Regulations.

BEAR HEAVILY ON NEWFOUNDLAND SHIPPERS.

The Government of Portugal through their Customs House have recently enforced a new regulation, which will bear very severely on Newfoundland fish exporters unless strong protest can be made through the British Government on our behalf to have the unjust and unreasonable measure abrogated. It appears that a new government has come into power in Portugal lately and they have cast about to collect revenue in all directions and are not particular whether the methods are just or unjust.

They are certainly discriminating against Newfoundland vessels and British vessels in this new customs act, when they have started in to collect duty on the par value of the Escudo instead of the normal rate as heretofore according to fluctuation. As an example of the effect of this new rule one Newfoundland shipper who sent a cargo of fish to Oporto last month, received an account of disbursements this week. He was charged 60 pounds for customs charges, which heretofore would be 24 lbs. on the same cargo of fish.

The money is collected on the spot and there appears to be no redress from this unfair imposition which is now being inflicted on our exporters for the first time.—Trade Review.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Azariah Martin, whose death occurred at the Sanitarium on the fifth instant, took place from the residence of his mother, Mrs. James Haynes, 30 Scott St. yesterday afternoon. A guard of honor was present from the L.O.G.A., of which deceased was a member. Rev. T. W. Atkinson conducted the service both at the home and graveside. The last honors of the Orange Association were performed at the grave. Internment was made in the General Protestant Cemetery.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT BLACK HEAD BAY.

Three dwelling houses were destroyed by a fire which occurred in Black Head Bay, Bonavista District, on Saturday night. They are owned by Mr. J. Hodder of that settlement. This information was conveyed in a message received this morning by the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs from King's Cove. Beyond the fact that none of the occupants of the burned houses saved any of their belongings, no particulars of the fire are known.

Martin-Royal Hardware Store Guttered By Fire.

Adjacent Buildings Saved by Heroic Efforts of Firemen--Collapse of Roof Shot Flames High in Air--Estimated Loss $150,000; Insurance, $120,000.

Fire which last night destroyed the top floor and gutted the Martin Royal Store Hardware premises, did damage amounting to nearly $150,000.

The insurance is believed to be in the neighbourhood of $120,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown. This is the second destructive fire to occur in this building. Eight years ago, considerable loss was caused when the premises were gutted. It was after this fire that the top floor, destroyed last night, was built.

NOTHING BUT SMOKE.
At 8 p.m., dense clouds of smoke were seen issuing from the second floor of the building and passers by gave the alarm which quickly brought the Central and Eastern Fire Companies on the scene. At first nothing but smoke could be seen but later flames were discovered in the back of the building and on the top floor. The fire was apparently confined to the two top storeys. Under the direction of Inspector General Hutchings and Superintendent Dunn streams of water were quickly applied to both back and front of the burning building.

WATER PLENTIFUL.
Fortunately, water was plentiful and a pressure of about 120 lbs. was obtained. Ex-reserve fireman Stansbury rendered valuable assistance in directing the two streams applied from the roof of Neal's store. Headless of the overpowering smoke fumes, he worked energetically for two hours and kept a stream of water directed on the floor of the second storey. By 7.15, the fire appeared to be under control as practically no flame could be seen although there was considerable smoke. Suddenly, the columns of smoke assumed larger proportions and were followed by great tongues of flame which shot up in the air lighting up the sky for miles around.

FIRE MAKES HEADWAY.
The fire quickly made headway, and the large quantity of inflammable material stored on the top floor, such as straw, sheeting paper and felt, soon became a mass of flame. All available hydrants were utilized and nine streams of water were applied to the fire. In connecting the hoses, the police fire fighters, many of them getting drenched with water. Two firemen, with wonderful pluck, stood on the top of the ladder in the face of the flames and smoke directing water into the centre of the top floor. From the roof of the Board of Trade building two more streams were applied, while two streams were also poured into the flaming mass from the Martin building on the west. Broken glass and burning embers were flying everywhere and the firemen were in considerable danger. Cartridges were continually exploding and the sound could be plainly heard.

FIRE REACHES HEIGHT.
It was nearly two hours after the first alarm had been given that the fire reached its height. Fears for the safety of the adjoining buildings was now beginning to be felt. At this juncture, Mr. Harris Keefe of the Colonial Secretary's Department, ran up to the roof of the Board of Trade building and applied chemicals which he had procured from the Court House. These were put on none too soon, and undoubtedly saved the Board of Trade and Royal Stores from sharing the fate of the former building. At one time the roof of the former building caught near the skylight, but Mr. Keefe quickly poured the contents of one of the extinguishers on the flames which soon subsided. Meanwhile, the roof of the Martin Building was beginning to give way. Finally, it fell in, sending great flames upwards to cast a lurid reflection over the dark sky. At almost the same time, the elevator on the second floor, broke loose from its fastenings, and fell into the basement below.

UNDER CONTROL.
With the destruction of the roof, the task of getting at the seat of the fire was made easier, and as a result of the efforts of the fire fighters, the blaze was under control by 9 o'clock, three hours after the first alarm had been given. The fire smouldered for several hours after, and it was not until early this morning that the firemen could leave the scene. While the fire was in progress, Fire Constable Doyle was overcome by smoke fumes and had to receive attention at a nearby drug store while Fire Sergt. Bennett was injured by a hammer which fell on him from above. Two young boys were also affected by the smoke and had to be carried away from the scene.

THE DAMAGE.
The top floor of the Martin Building is a mass of ruins. Only the walls remain standing, and it was indeed fortunate, that when this storey was built on after the previous fire, the structure was reinforced. The large stock, which included a full line of spring goods, was completely destroyed. A large part was damaged by the fire, and the remainder was injured by water to such an extent as to render the major portion of it valueless. Mr. Martin told the Telegram that he estimated the value of the stock to be in the neighbourhood of $100,000. The

"Columbus" Rubber Footwear and Quality

Salesmanship, unaided, may sell quite a lot of Rubber Footwear, but at its best it cannot create a demand for any particular line, unless that line is backed up by QUALITY.

"COLUMBUS" Brand is second-to-none in Quality; only the finest materials are used. The actual making is entrusted solely to experts, who would not dream of producing work below the high standard they have set for themselves.

It is the aim of the "Columbus Co." to manufacture only a high-grade product. Special attention has been paid to QUALITY, FIT and STYLE, with the result that there is now no better Rubber Footwear than "COLUMBUS".

Each year brings an increased demand from the Public for "Columbus" Rubbers. This in itself is proof that this popular line of Rubber Footwear is meeting with the approval of the Public in every direction.

"YES, and that is just how I feel."
"What seems to be the matter?"
"Why, I had tonsillitis, and my whole system seemed to be poisoned and run down. So much so that I do not seem to gain strength."
"Will you let me be your doctor and do as I tell you?"
"I will do anything to get strong and well. I have been sitting here too long already."
"Well, you send to the drug store for six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and take one pill after each meal and at bedtime. Believe me, it will not be long until you feel the benefit of this treatment and find yourself gaining in health and vigor."
"How do you know?"
"I know from personal experience. After I had the flu I was left just like you are now—all run down; could not sleep; the little food I ate did not seem to do me any good, and I was getting pretty blue."
"Yes."
"Well, my wife had been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and insisting on me giving it a trial. You know the rest, for I was soon about again, as hale and hearty as ever. I have told lots of people about this Nerve Food, and never knew it to fail."
"You are to be the doctor in this case, so I will follow your advice."

value of the building is about $50,000. The adjoining building is also owned by the Martin-Royal Stores and is separated from the main premises by a galvanized door which, fortunately, the flames did not penetrate. Water did much damage to the offices of P. Templeman, J. B. Orr, M. S. Sullivan, J. Sellars and L. Earle which are all in this part of the premises. Mr. J. Paterson who has an office in the main building, visited it during the afternoon and saw no signs of fire. He lost nearly all the contents of his office as did also Mr. Herbert Knight. The occupants of offices in the Board of Trade Building took the precaution of removing valuable papers.

DID FINE WORK.
Both police and firemen did excellent work. The former besides assisting the firemen in setting up their ladders and getting out their hose, had a difficult task in keeping back the huge crowd which extended along Water St. from the Court House to Prescott St. and with the exception of the space kept clear about the scene of the fire, formed a solid mass of people. The firemen, as usual heedless of danger, performed splendid work, particularly in their efforts to confine the flames to the one building. It is expected that the work of reconstructing the damaged building will begin at an early date.

Month in Toronto.

I daresay any of our local Bay bests would have thought nothing of it, but these top-heavy craft are unaccustomed to such buffeting as our mariners are used to.

I have been following the doings of Major Cotton and his assistant, Hon. Mr. Bennett's son with much interest. One of my contentions (as editor of the SUN) you will perhaps recollect, was that an aeroplane service was the ideal one for mails during the winter in Newfoundland.

Since writing the foregoing the death and funeral of Sir John CRAIG Eaton has occurred. The funeral took place at the Methodist Eaton Memorial Church on St. Clair Avenue, on Monday, when the streets were thronged with thousands of townspeople who went to pay their respects or as sightseers.

The new peal of bells for the Metropolitan Methodist Church has recently been placed in position and a special service was held last Sunday to dedicate them. They are very fine and the ringer who installed them has given many selections, playing many old favorite tunes every day at the noon hour when hundreds of people congregated to hear.

Our old friend Conan Doyle is here at present—at least those of us who knew and loved Sherlock Holmes know the novelist, Conan Doyle better than the spiritualist, Sir Conan Doyle, with a bee in his bonnet. I have not attended any of his lectures, nor propose to do so, for while it would be a fool in these days of ether waves who would deny the possibilities of spiritualism Doyle seems to have lost any sane common sense that he once had, and is largely a "sucker" for "mediums" and such.

Speaking of ether waves, there is quite a fad for wireless telephony in this city, and hundreds of folks are interested in aerials and such. The Toronto Star has been broadcasting a series of wireless concerts recently, and these have afforded much pleasure to the numbers of people who are equipped with receiving sets.

How the Outports Regard the Situation.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I need not remind you that in the outports to-day the only topic of conversation is the present hard times and the paralyzing prospects of the future. Unanimously we argue that if taxation is not reduced to a great degree we cannot expect the merchants to supply, and should the Government again assume that responsibility with a continuance of the present high duties, the situation becomes no less complex. We, like yourself see the END. It comes next winter if the merchants DO supply, or this is written this summer if they don't; and the other way about in case the Government follows on in the same old policy of dealing with the country with the "bundled right hand." The bandages are all right so far; but the trouble is they are applied first and then shot through with an automatic revolver. Anyhow, whichever way you view it we have reached the beginning of the end. We have gone round the "vicious circle" for the last time. Whatever remedy you apply, a very serious situation cannot possibly be averted. There are hundreds of families in this district alone existing on black tea and dry bread, and in many cases black tea undiluted by even a spoonful of the foul, poisonous molasses that this country has become the dumping ground of. When you add to such destitution the suspense that invariably belongs to such an outlook as ours, you will all see that it really does not matter how soon the end, which I have marked down as inevitable, arrives.

Now there would be a "soothing pill for such an ill" if we all shared (I shall say proportionately) in the drama, but that's the bitter potion. Before the war politicians received $300 as seasonal indemnity with much grabbing as an equalizer, but to-day with desperate times confronting us they must have $1,250 with unprecedented plunderings to book. A maddening thought, a devilish procedure is it not, and if the truth were spoken, a man should be classed as impartial and all too narrow-minded who failed to censure with fiery language all who are participating in the extortion of large seasonal indemnities paid to members. It's a duty patriotic men owe the country to-day and it is the one grand chance of a lifetime to win the genuine plaudits of the public. One thing is sure this coming twelve months will decide our fate. Government outitting or relief, above a very, very small scale can help us in the least. At best all that it can do is postpone the impending crash. The fisheries cannot survive another year under the present system. How can it? Credit, all credit will cease, it must cease, and since fishermen cannot buy, even if a miracle happened and they survived this crisis, all fishing gear that took in many cases a lifetime to acquire, will have deteriorated beyond repair and never will be replaced.

I repeat, Sir, the death-struggle is on. Nothing but immediate action can save us from disaster. Of course its very little use for us to mince matters. Although the people themselves are making no protest through the press you little dream to what extent their feelings are aroused, and I believe honestly that if the Government refuses to cut down taxation—not a little, but a big cut—that serious trouble will soon follow. Upon the full knowledge that you may publish this letter, I challenge contradiction, when I say I am so much inclined to respect the law and order as a living man, and as a preliminary step to having matters adjusted so that I and my family can live, I would urge upon any man—every man—the great need for reasonable rational approachment of those in authority with that end in view, but— I say, this with emphasis—if the powers that be would still insist on maintaining this rule of trunk over me to provide a double share of luxuries for themselves, I would urge the country to a second Runnymede

H. G. WELLS writes: July 22nd 1921

"I am glad to take this opportunity to tell you of my complete satisfaction with this machine. It is exactly the typewriter for an author like myself. It is so light and small that it can be taken anywhere, and it is so sound and foolproof that it is always in good condition. I have needed a typewriter for years, but I could not find anything sufficiently portable, hardy, willing and easy, until I discovered Corona."

Women Tire of Governing Town.

TURN JOB OVER TO HUSBANDS.
Jewett, Tex., April 8.—Women grew tired of the duties and responsibilities of public office after having directed the affairs of Jewett for two years and at the recent city election stepped down and permitted men to assume control. All the five aldermen elected are husbands of the former alderwomen.

During the two years of feminine administration there was not an arrest nor a session of criminal court. Mrs. J. T. Adkinson was the first woman mayor to be elected in Texas and Jewett is the only Texas town that has been governed entirely by women.

Wife to Husband.

In an open letter in a Japanese paper "a wife makes these demands" upon husbands:

1. Please take your wife into your confidence when you have something important to decide.
2. When you leave the house in the morning please let your wife know when you will be back.
3. Don't ask your wife to go and borrow money for you.
4. Please let your wife have at the commencement of the month enough money to cover the month's expenses.
5. Please let your wife have some time for her own use.

LAD ASIDE.

There is a legendary tale which describes how the wood of the true cross was of old rejected because it would not fit into the building of the ancient temple. It was too long for one corner, it was far too short for the other. It was too broad for a third, and it was too broad for another; so it was laid aside till it came forth at last to be the means and symbol of the world's redemption.

Whooping Cough
Mr. Robert Wilks, 9374-103rd Ave., Edmonton, Alta., writes:—"I really believe we would have had our two-year-old baby with whooping cough had it not been for Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine. He was cough and cough until he would fall back in my arms white as death. We had a doctor for him, but his medicine did not do him any good. We got a bottle of Linseed and Turpentine and to our surprise it did wonders for him. After the second dose there was a difference in his condition, and we kept giving it to him until he was entirely well."

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

"Do you know what I sometimes think I'd like to do," a man said to me the other day, "I think I like to take what is left me of life; don't know how much it is, say it's 30 years, and have it out in five or even two years, each one fifty years' apart. I think of all I'd see of the world that are going to come to me."

Regulate Our Personalities?

Take the science of medicine for one thing. At the present time, we seem to be standing on the brink of a wonderful new understanding of the causes of physical and mental abnormality, criminality, bad adjustment and disease, through the action of the various ductless glands of the body. Already idiots have been made into normal people by stimulating the glands that have failed to work properly. It seems as if marvels of control and readjustment were going to be possible, as if man might be the master of his personality and his destiny through what science is just about to discover. Will it prove to be so. If we came back in 50 years should we find that glands had after all been found to be less important and less controllable than we now expect. Or should we find that idiots and criminals had been done away with and that the world was populated with a new race of men, all possessing as high a level of mental and physical energy as the best of us now have in our best moments.

The Steam Engine Like a Small

Take invention. The mind is staggered by the possibilities in that field. What is there left to wish for? Of course the development in the use of wireless telephone is going to be something wonderful beyond our imagination. And perhaps some new form of railroad will make the old seem as slow-going as steam made the stage coach. I believe there is now a monorail capable of infinite speed but doomed to obscurity since capital will not give it a try out because of the tremendous scrapping of present equipment and the upset of the whole financial condition. Its success would mean, perhaps some day, somehow, that will come into its own. Cheaper fuel will have to be found somehow; perhaps we may invent some direct method of utilizing and storing the sun's heat. Surely, too, man will someday find an economical harness for the vast energy of the tide's ebb and flow.

The World Unhappily

And then there is education. Compare the educational opportunities of 50 years ago with to-day. What shall we give our children 50 years from to-day, or a hundred? And then the greatest problem of all, that of peace and war. Is that to be somehow solved? If it is now I fear that someday when one comes back for one's five years of life one might find a world laid desolate. Like the old woman who went from novel to cottage, to mansion, to palace and finally found herself back in the novel again.

Prince As Ordinary Tourist.

RESTING FROM CEREMONIALS AT KYOTO.

KYOTO, Japan (Associated Press).—Free from the maze of brilliant ceremonies which have marked his visit to Tokio and other large cities of the north, the Prince of Wales will spend five or six days resting here before resuming his journey to the southern extremity of the empire. Word has gone out that aside from the brief welcoming ceremonies, the Prince is to be treated as an ordinary tourist. This picturesque city, for many centuries ancient capital of the nation, still retains much of the air of sanctity which was everywhere apparent when royal families of the dim ages made it the scene of court life. Even had it no associations with the past, Kyoto would still be attractive for the beauty of its location, situated as it is, at the base of an amphitheater of precipitous mountains covered with great forests of pine, maple and flowering shrubs. Several of the ancient imperial palaces will be open to the Prince for inspection, as well as many famous temples containing relics of pottery and cloisonne which ante-date the old buildings by many centuries. During his stay here the royal visitor will occupy the Omiya Goejo palace, situated in an extensive park. This building is noted throughout Japan for the beauty of its decorations and furnishings, contributed by the greatest masters of painting and carving in the empire.

FLAPPERS.

My aunt was once a flapper, and flapper rebellious wings; but now she is a scrapper for old time honored things. I've heard a rumor that when she was eighteen she wore a pair of bloomers upon the village green. And there were protests, priests, and every righteous dame denounced her course as beastly, and said it was a shame. The moral weekly paper gave auntie half a page, and said her shameful caper, discredited the age. Revolt was auntie's passion, which she was young and fair; she rode a horse man fashion, and bobbed her corset hair. The flappers now around us imagine they're unique, determined to confound us by some unseemly freak. But it's old stuff, my masters; the damazels of the past were wont to shock their pastors, and make them stand against. We see the pullets moultting as hens have always done, and damazels were revolting way back in '81. My aunt was busy flapping in bygone sunny springs, and how we hear her yapping for old and changeless things. And maidens now rebelling against the whole of whence, when older will be yelling that young girls have no sense.

Mother-in-Law's Attempt Failed.

PERTURBED WIFE THINKS FIRST HUSBAND ALIVE.

PARIS, (Associated Press).—A woman's attempt to punish her daughter-in-law for marrying again after her husband's death in the war, has just been exposed here. An elderly woman in Touraine informed the Ministry of War that she had recognized her son in one of six photographs published by the newspapers of insane soldiers, former prisoners of war in Germany, returned after the armistice in a complete state of amnesia, unaware of their identity. The wife of the missing soldier having long ago given up her husband as dead, had been married a second time and in the midst of her new honeymoon

Peddled Soap; Now a Millionaire.

Marshall Burns Lloyd, who years ago sold fish and soap on the streets of Toronto, is a millionaire three times over. After leaving Toronto, Mr. Lloyd carried a mail out to Fort Arthur, Ont., on a dog sled. Then he became a waiter. Finally he bought a piece of land for $150 and sold it for $30,000. With this capital he experimented with inventions. Discovery of a process for making wicker work by machinery resulted. Then came the baby carriage business, which he sold recently for $200,000. Mr. Lloyd, who is 70 years of age, was married in New York on April 14.

Wife's Voice Worth $1,250.

A jury in the Supreme Court on April 17 returned a verdict frankly acknowledging that a woman's voice is of monetary value, and that the temporary loss of it is worth money to her, when they awarded Mrs. Barker $1,250 against the N. S. & T. Railway, and $400 to her husband, Chas. Barker. The Barkers, who live in Merriton, were in a street car accident last June. Mrs. Barker received injuries to her neck which caused temporary loss of voice. Since the accident she has only been able to converse in a whisper, and gave her evidence before the jury in whispering tones. Dr. W. J. Macdonald, of St. Catharines, in his evidence, gave it as his opinion that the subtle connection between the woman's will to do and power to do had been broken in some way by the accident, though her vocal organs seem to be unimpaired. Witnesses for the defence declared Mrs. Barker was shamming, as they alleged she had spoken in ordinary voice since the accident.

Judge Advises Beating for Annoyer.

"If this man annoys your wife, as she claims and you affirm, you have two remedies; one is to sue him for damages and the other is to beat him up," was the judicial decision Recorder Goldenberg handed down in his court, at Atlantic City, on April 14, after he had heard Mrs. Webster Riley accuse Thomas Curtis of annoying her on the street, writing letters in which he made unfounded accusations to her husband, and of making scenes in public places when they met. "It looks to me as if you were big enough to settle the controversy by beating him up, and while you are at it I would suggest that you give him a good licking," added the Recorder. Curtis is a janitor in an uptown apartment house. The husband is employed at a beachfront hotel. "I'll know what to do in the future. You won't be troubled again, Judge," the husband declared on leaving the court room.

Forests for Great Britain.

A shipment of seven hundred pounds of Douglas fir seed was recently forwarded from the Dominion Forestry seed-extracting plant at New Westminster, B.C., to Great Britain. This is the final shipment of seed collected in 1921. The total quantity of each kind of seed shipped for the season was: Douglas fir, 4,000 pounds; Sitka spruce, 3,000 pounds; and western hemlock, 100 pounds. As tree seed is very small and light, ranging from an average of forty-five thousand seeds to the pound of Douglas fir to four hundred thousand seeds to the pound of Sitka spruce it will be seen that many millions of seedlings for planting in the extensive reforestation scheme which the British Forestry Committee has in hand.

Refused to Live Without Wife.

Seventy-five years of age and unable to bear the thoughts of spending the rest of his life without the companionship of his sixty-nine-year-old wife, Wesley Fulson, of Selkirk, Ont., tied a weight to his neck, and threw himself in the creek running near his house, dying in less than three feet of water. The husband had been bereaved the previous day. His wife had just returned from a two-week's visit to her daughter at Niagara Falls, when she was stricken with acute appendicitis. The aged husband and the wife he mourned so bitterly were buried together on April 16.

Nurse Marries to Cheer Dying Patient.

In order that he may die happy, Miss Martha Louise Scott, a nurse at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, obtained a marriage license late on April 14 to wed Samuel R. Fleet, whom she has been nursing at the hospital for some time. Fleet is expected to die within ten days, the doctors say. In applying for the marriage license, Miss Scott told the clerk that as soon as her "husband" dies she will ask the Probate Court to restore her maiden name. Both Mr. Fleet and Miss Scott are 59 years of age.

The Tartar's Burglar Device.

In Tibet the Tartars have what is possibly the oldest burglar trap in the world. It was invented, says Tit-Bits, to prevent people from robbing the tombs. Whenever a royal personage died in Tibet he was buried with all his jewels and his royal robes. To add a still higher tribute, the most beautiful young women of his court were suffocated and embalmed on the day of his funeral. With their beauty thus preserved, they were placed in a standing position round the tomb of their master, each holding some trinket that the royal personage had used during his lifetime.

When You'd Weigh Nothing.

If the earth turned round in about an hour and a half instead of in twenty-four hours, things would have practically no weight at the Equator. The reason is that everything would have a tendency to fly off the ground in the way that specks fly from a rapidly revolving wheel. At present the equatorial regions spin round at the rate of about a thousand miles an hour; but if the speed were increased to eight or nine thousand miles an hour, a twelve-stone man would find himself weighing only six stone; while if it were increased to about seventeen thousand miles per hour, his "weight" would practically disappear, and he would only just be able to keep himself on the ground. It would be somewhat awkward for him if, when in his light-as-air condition, a wild elephant seized him in its trunk and tossed him in the air. It is to be feared he would make a thrilling exit from our globe, for he certainly would never come down again. The possibility of his clutching at branches of a tree on his upward flight and arresting his motion is much too remote to bear discussion. On the other hand, were he set upon by a lion or tiger, he would have no difficulty in hurling the savage beast sky-high, and have the satisfaction of seeing it sail aloft until it vanished from sight. Mitchell Lewis A Master Artist In "King Spruce."

HOLMAN DAY'S FAMOUS STORY OF MAINE WOODS GLORIFIES ART OF VIRLIE STAL.

Here is the particular type of photoplay you've all been waiting to see, and it's at the Crescent theatre to-day. It's entitled "King Spruce," and the star featured in it is Mitchell Lewis, the best actor of rugged types in filmdom. The plot is the picture version of Holman Day's famous story of the Maine forests. The author has peopled his story with some of the quaintest characters ever seen on the screen—types peculiar to the localities of the story impersonated by artists, who make them appear lifelike in the picture version, and Mr. Day's hero, Dwight Wade, is a perfect fit for Mitchell Lewis, the peer of delineators of such characters.

Spent 48 Hours With Maniac Parents.

After striving for two sleepless nights and days to calm and care for her father and mother, both of whom had gone raving mad, 18-year-old Cordelia Poot of Oshkema, Michigan, was relieved April 14 of her terrible burden by Sheriff Putnam, who broke down the door of the Poot farmhouse in order to place the old couple under restraint. Word had come to Kalamazoo officers that the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Poot was dead. Fearing trouble at the home, the sheriff and a deputy drove to the place. As they approached the house the officers heard screams. Immediately breaking down the door the sheriff rushed into the building, to find the daughter struggling bravely to keep the mother quiet. As the sheriff dashed to separate the couple the daughter sank exhausted, murmuring her thanks to God that help had come at last. The father and husband was found on the streets of Kalamazoo violently insane, and was placed under custody preparatory to being remanded to the State hospital.

The Common Sense of It.

Two ranchers met in front of a cream station in an Oregon village one morning not long ago, and presently, after the usual questions regarding the health of their family and the condition of their crops had been asked and answered, one of them said: "I got the highest test on my milk this morning that I have had yet." The other smiled somewhat ruefully. "I didn't," he said. "There he continued, "I don't understand it. My cows are the same as yours. They are fed the same food under similar conditions. Why does your milk test higher?" "The other rubbed his chin thoughtfully. "Do you talk to your cows?" he asked, after a moment. "Talk to 'em? I should say not—except when I want 'em to milk." "Do you treat them as if they were human beings—with the same consideration for their feelings, I mean?" "I certainly do not. Why should I? They are not human beings." "Do you bat them occasionally, and permit the children to chase them around once in a while, and run them in for milking at times when you happen to be in a hurry?" "Yes, but they are never abused." "Well, I reckon that is the reason you don't get a high test on your milk. Abuse is a matter of differing opinion. A pastured cow is pretty apt to give pastured milk, just as a pastured man or woman is more than likely to get inferior results from effort. The cows that hold the big butter fat records of the world are petted cows. It is simply a matter of common sense. The rule that we get out of anything only what we put in applies here. We put in Good and Good comes back to us in the form of better fat. It is the same with chickens and with swine.

"The other man laughed somewhat bitterly. "Sounds to me more like a religious than principle of stock raising. Sort of an odd notion, ain't it?" "Maybe so, but it works. The results are positive. Of course, some know how to be considerate to animals and others do not know how. Those who do not know how should learn how. It is sound business policy. And it makes stock raising and dairying a whole lot more pleasant and enjoyable and aside from the added profit it brings in money."

A short time later the man whose cows tested poorly took his check to the bank. "I'm gona' to begin to bring you in bigger checks pretty soon," he said mysteriously to the cashier. "I-I think it's pretty much tommyrot, but I'm gona' to try it." "Bigger checks—tommyrot—" The cashier was plainly puzzled. But before he could ask for an explanation, the farmer had gone out whistling—Our Dumb Animals.

The Author of "Gil Blas"

Adam Rene Le Sage, was born at a village near Yannes in Brittany, on May 8, 1698, is known to posterity pre-eminently as the author of "Gil Blas," admittedly the best example extant of the so-called picaresque novel. With the appearance of the three first volumes of the future world's classic, his reputation was raised to the highest pitch and secured upon an immovable foundation. But both before and after publication of "Gil Blas," Le Sage was a prolific author and had achieved a remarkable success with "Le Diable Boiteux," the immediate precursor of "Gil Blas. Both were produced midway through his career, when he was over forty, and had busied himself for long with many kinds of literary work, including plays, translations, and other book work. Afterwards he continued to write and to compile industriously until 1749, but it would be superfluous to recite the titles of opuscles long ago forgotten. Of his personal history there is not much to say. Throughout his career, his circumstances, although always moderate appear to have been sufficiently easy; and his domestic life quiet and happy. In his old age, he settled at Boulogne where one of his sons was Canon of the Cathedral and there he died at the age of 78. An epitaph placed originally over his tomb is reported to have declared in different verses, that he was the friend of Virtue rather than of Fortune, and certainly it can be claimed for him that, although he chose to assail vice with ridicule rather than with reproach, he never exalted and never pandered to it by wanton indecency of description. Nor is it possible to conceive that while wit and satire continue to attract oblivion ever will become the lot of the author of "Gil Blas."

Dr. Mosdell Addresses St. Mary's Bible Class.

Yesterday afternoon, the two Bible Classes of St. Mary's met in the church to hear an address by Hon. Dr. Mosdell. The service was opened by the rector, Rev. A. B. B. Billing, who made some highly complimentary references to Dr. Mosdell before calling on him to address the fine gathering of young people. If there was one thing worth emulating in life, said the rector, it was the example of a man who, refusing to be daunted by lack of means or other obstacles to true success, made his own way to the high places of learning, the professions of public life. He presented Dr. Mosdell as a son of the people who was an outstanding credit to his country. The speaker announced that he intended to review the progress of medicine from the earliest times concerning which traditions or records exist. Though the scope of his subject forced him to confine his remarks to bare outlines of the general theme, yet he gave his hearers a splendid review of medical progress through the ages, dwelling eloquently on the high lights of the great events and the great men of the profession. The huge debt of humanity to the medical profession was clearly presented by Dr. Mosdell, who pointed to the self-sacrificing efforts of doctors and surgeons through the ages as examples to be followed by all men and women whatever their walk in life. Altogether the hour spent listening to Dr. Mosdell was a good investment on the part of the members of the Bible Class of St. Mary's Church, a fact to which Mr. Paine, leader of the Young Men's Class bore testimony as he closed the service of the afternoon.

Criticizing.

It becomes a habit, just as appreciation is after all a matter of habit. There are some who, in dissecting a fellow man, can complete the operation in five minutes and be ready for a fresh victim. Shakespeare might have applied his lines to living men as well as the dead. The evil that men do live after them. The good is oft interred with their bones. He who has the habit of disparagement can bury the good name of a fellow man whilst he is still alive, so you would think the victim has not a single redeeming habit. The pity is it can be done, and is done nine cases out of ten, without any compunction, to say nothing as to remorse—though here we hope we are mistaken. Granted that it is tolerable to inventory our fellow man's mistakes; what is there to forbid our mentioning also his strong qualities, his manliness, his hard work, his unselfishness, his industry—his endeavor? Even so. Let us be fair. Perhaps it is too much to suggest: Let us be silent. May we suggest: Let us be generous.

Good People Everywhere

The study of geography, and of foreign languages, on which I have insisted in season and out of season, cannot fail to teach that the more you travel, and the more kinds of people you see, the more you are convinced that there are good people everywhere, and that they are very much like us. Calling people froggies, wops, dagoes, ago forgotten. Of his personal history there is not much to say. Throughout his career, his circumstances, although always moderate appear to have been sufficiently easy; and his domestic life quiet and happy. In his old age, he settled at Boulogne where one of his sons was Canon of the Cathedral and there he died at the age of 78. An epitaph placed originally over his tomb is reported to have declared in different verses, that he was the friend of Virtue rather than of Fortune, and certainly it can be claimed for him that, although he chose to assail vice with ridicule rather than with reproach, he never exalted and never pandered to it by wanton indecency of description. Nor is it possible to conceive that while wit and satire continue to attract oblivion ever will become the lot of the author of "Gil Blas."

Yesterday's Animal.

YICHTIMS INTERRED. The funeral of So Ho Kai, Hong Lon and Hong Kam, victims of Wednesday night's shooting took place yesterday afternoon, from Maria's Mortuary Rooms, New Gower Street. The coffins were bequeathed with wreaths from members of the Chinese community and about 70 fellow countrymen made up the cortege. Interment took place at the General Protestant Cemetery, the service at the grave side being conducted by Rev. W. B. Burden, Pastor of Wesley Church, of which the murdered men were members.

Kelly-Springfield Tire.

This is a new one which we are informed, is a good purchase just now.

It has had a checked history from a High of $164 three years ago to $68 in 1920, and from $152 then to $32 last year. It is now around $52 and soon expected to resume dividends which were suspended in February, 1921.

This issue might very easily register a ten-point advance.

We trade on margin at $10 per Share.
