If a man begins at sixteen years of age and works three hundred days every year until he is seventy, he can become a millionaire, providing he can make an average saving of $61.74 a day during the entire period. If he waits until he is twenty years and works until he is sixty-five, his net savings must be a little over $74 a day during that period. Considering the figures, does it seem possible that any man, through his own efforts, can hone'sly become a millionaire in a lifetime? Yet since the war began some men have accumulated from one to three millions.

THE EAST LAMBTON FAIR

Wet Weather Puts a Damper on a Good Show

The forty-second fall fair held by the East Lambton Agricultural Society on Wednesday, like its predecessors, was an excellent agricultural exhibition, and but for unfavorable weather would have been a record breaker for entries and attendance.
Tuesday evening the rain commenced and during the night copious showers fell. Wednesday the heavens were clouded all day and a drizzling rain fell the best part of the day. This of course prevented many from coming to town and quite a few who were here did not go up the grounds, fearing to get caught in a heavy shower. Not for a single moment did Old Sol show his smiling face. Those who did not go to the park, however, missed a good show with the articles well displayed, the addition of new building giving the officials a good opportunity to make the display more attractive than heretofore. The races were called off on account of the weather and the platform specialties were pulled off in the main building.
The entries in horses were not as numerous as some years but some fine animals were shown, among the exhibitors being Brandeis Bros., D. Thompson, Cable Bros., E. Laird, Wal. Spalding, J. O. Jamieson, C. Hodgins and other well known breeders.
In cattle A. H. and W. McLean & Son, J. Buchanan, W. E. Parker, T. Fuller, R. Manders, O. Watt & Son had some fine animals.
Some excellent sheep were shown, among the exhibitors in this class being J. C. Stonehouse, E. E. Anderson, Morgan & Son, L. H. Shepherd, W. McLean, A. H. McLean and A. O. Earley.
There was a large display of poultry and some very fine birds shown, A. E. Doan, F. de Gex, W. C. Wilson and E. Laird having numerous entries.
The grains, fruits and vegetables were exhibited in the new building and with the exception of fruit was the best display for many years. The purchasing of this new building is one of the best moves made by the Society for some time.
The up-stairs in the main building was occupied by the ladies' work, dairy products, fine arts and flowers. In ladies' work the entries were numerous and many beautiful articles were shown. The art display was far below the average, and the dairy and cooking was not as large as some years.
The first floor of the main building was occupied by two excellent displays of cooking, preserving and other household work made by the Watford and Warwick Women's Institutes. At the south end of the building Harper Bros.' display of Mason & Risch pianos and player pianos had a crowd around it all the time. R. J. Spalding had on exhibition a Delco lighting outfit, an arrangement to supply electric lighting for farm houses and buildings. R. C. McLeay exhibited the Braut-ola phonograph, and Strathroy and Petrolia piano men had displays of their instruments.

NOTES

Mud galore.
Gate receipts $220.75.
Entries about 1800, some 200 less than last year.
Mr. Jos. E. Armstrong, M. P., was among the visitors from a distance.
The baby show was declared off there being only one entry.
The Wisbeach Red Cross Quilt was sold to Mr. Parker.
For the Society's prize for best display by Women's Institutes, Watford won first and Warwick second.
The War Veterans' Association had a display of battlefield trophies in a tent. Some interesting articles were displayed.
The officers of the Society wish to thank those who gave cash subscriptions and special prizes.
The officials cancelled the band engagement Wednesday morning on account of the rain.
J. J. Speckman had an Avery tractor on the ground which attracted much attention.
Well, Watford had more rain on fair day than any of the surrounding towns. This was an extra net on the program.
London, Sarnia and Petrolia sent their quota, but it was smaller than usual. Several were here from Michigan.
Owing to the disagreeable weather several hundred visitors did not go up to the fair ground but remained in town to do a little purchasing.
Lambton Chapter, I.O.D.E., served refreshments in the building lately occupied by R. Brock. The hot coffee was very acceptable on such a damp day.
Tecumseh Chapter sold rosettes to raise money for tubercular soldiers. The young ladies worked hard and few men escaped being tagged.
The Directors will meet in Watford on Saturday, Oct. 20th to make any necessary changes in the prize list, after which prize money will be paid.
The prize list will appear in full next week. Exhibitors noticing any errors or omissions in it will please notify the Secretary at once.

THE September meeting of the Brooke Women's Institute was held at the home of Miss Minnie Willoughby on Thursday, Sept. 20th, and a large number of ladies were present. The meeting opened in the usual way to business. Mrs. W. S. Shugg gave a paper on "The Institute as a leader in community effort," which showed what great work the Institute has done and is doing. Miss Harrison also gave a carefully prepared paper on "Practical Kitchen and choice and care of kitchen utensils." Miss Romelda Clark rendered a solo which was very much enjoyed by all. The Anniversary Services in connection with Zion Methodist church conducted last Sunday afternoon and evening by the pastor Rev. A. C. Tiffin may be regarded as a glowing success. Despite unfavorable weather the congregations were excellent. The music rendered by the choir was of a very high order. The sermons were appropriate and much appreciated as evidenced by the rapt attention throughout. The officials had made request for a Thank Offering of $200, but to their satisfaction and the delight of all concerned the amount reached the splendid sum of $215. The floral decorations were beautiful among which was a mammoth Calla lily in full bloom. The Zion congregation and their pastor have great reason to humbly and gratefully acknowledge the goodness of God who has this year given specially good crops and also glad, generous hearts to the people in this community.

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

IN BED MOST OF TIME

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana. — "My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy." — Mrs. W. M. GREEN, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy.

If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Our Canadian cousins will celebrate their Thanksgiving on Monday, October 8th. The brave and enviable deeds that have been accomplished by their sons in battle across the water is certainly some cause for Thanksgiving.—Fort Covington, N. Y., Sun.

The trustees of the Rhodes Scholarship Fund decided to make no appointments to scholarship this year either in the United States or any part of the British Empire. This decision is based on the fact that all Candidates must be men of military age; it would not be in accordance with the spirit of the testator's design for the men responding to the call of patriotism to be penalized.

Canada is only now feeling the hardships of war and it's deplorable that the political situation should be as it is. Whatever else you may do in the coming election be sure and vote for a Patriot. See that the candidate that you vote for is worthy of your support because he has convictions and the courage to stand by them. Make sure that the moral fibre so necessary to true patriotism is not lacking.

How's This?

Enlist in the Food Campaign

The campaign that is being carried on by the Women's Auxiliary, Organization of Resources Committee, in co-operation with Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller, is one in which we can all serve. It is not a war campaign, but it is a war-time campaign, a campaign of publicity for the purpose of impressing upon every producer and consumer the urgent necessity of keeping up our food reserve. In this war the food reserves are scarcely less important than our reserves of man-power. We cannot all take personal part in the campaign that is being carried on on the Western front, but we can all do something to sustain that campaign by abstaining from wasteful or unnecessary consumption of the necessities of life. What we conserve is so much stored to feed our fighting men and our Allies for the remainder of the struggle. If we could by mathematical demonstration or prophetic inspiration fix the term the war is to last we might feel less, or perhaps more, anxiety than we now feel in regard to the problem of provisioning the Entente Powers. But on that point we are in the dark. No man can say when this dreadful war will end. Therefore no Canadian patriot can be reckless or even calculating in the matter of drawing upon the food supply. We can simply keep on practising self-denial in regard to appetite. The publicity campaign we speak of ought to be met half way by all loyal Canadians. In recent issues we have inserted very telling advertisements laying before the public some striking facts as to the food situation. Every line of such matter ought to be read, marked and digested by the Canadian public. Every illustration presented in these advertisements ought to be carefully pondered. The public know that there is great need for conserving the food supply, but knowing never amounts to much for some people unless it is accompanied by sensations of pain. The idea of food scarcity sinks deeply and correctly into some minds; into others it goes half way; in others it hardly ripples the surface of their thoughts. In some way or other the need of conserving the food supply must be carried into the innermost recesses of the Canadian mind and move us all in the same way as the call for defence moved our gallant fighters at the front to volunteer for service.

The King's Message to Canada

"I learn with the deepest gratification of the effective steps being taken in the Dominion of Canada towards providing those increased supplies of food which are absolutely essential to the defeat of the enemy's devices and to a speedy and successful termination of the war. I have no doubt that the self-sacrifice displayed on the battlefields of France by my heroic troops will find its counterpart in the efforts of those two, at home in the Dominion, are devoting themselves to this work. All those thus loyally engaged contribute in important measure towards assuring victory."—George R.I.

But very little Hatred

A young Canadian soldier from Vancouver, who has been two years in France, writes to the Sun:

"We are out of the trenches at present after a pretty tough time, the last time in. War is a horrible thing. Nothing but mud and filth and death, but very little hatred between the combatants. It is nothing to see a German wounded in the arm helping a Canadian wounded in the leg back to the rear. Personally, I have never heard of a German killing a wounded man, although it may perhaps have been done in the heat of attack. It is the same with us."

Get Ready For The Next War Loan

Every good citizen of Canada whose income exceeds his or her outlay, or who can in any way manage to spare the money, should get ready to subscribe for the next war loan, which it is expected the Finance Minister will announce in November next. The main purpose in the new war loan is to provide additional credits for the British government in Canada, and thereby make it possible for the British authorities to continue their purchases of munitions and other needed supplies from the Dominion. The method of providing the credits is that as Sir Thomas White receives the money from the subscribers to the war loan he places it in the banks of Canada to the credit of the British Treasury, and the British War Office is thereby at once placed in a position to pay out the money for Canadian-grown or Canadian manufactured products. Unless such credits are provided, we can have no more allied war orders, and the effect upon Canadian agricultural, industrial and commercial interests could not fail to be most disastrous. The larger the extent to which the Canadian people contribute to the success of the new war loan, therefore, the greater will be the assurance of continued prosperity for this country.

As to the security there could be nothing better, seeing that the government war loans have behind them the whole wealth of the Dominion of Canada. As the whole is greater than any of its parts, so a Dominion government bond is preferable to a security in any single Canadian corporation or enterprise.

Alcohol from Chestnuts

Ever since the war began large quantities of grain have had to be used in making alcohol and acetone, needed in the manufacture of high explosives. It has now been found that horse chestnuts provide good substitutes for grain for this purpose, and this autumn the British and French school children, wherever the chestnut tree grows, will gather the horse chestnuts. The gathering will be organized by committees in connection with the schools, and woods and lanes will see bands of young patriots enjoying their "war work" hugely, one may be sure. It will be quite valuable service, for the computation is that every ton of chestnuts will save half a ton of grain.

Corns cripple the feet and make walking a torture, yet sure relief in the shape of Holloway's Corn Cure is within reach of all.

Stripes on the Barber Pole

How many of our readers can tell us what the stripes on the barber's pole signify? You see the pole with its stripes and you know there is a barber's shop back of the pole, but here the knowledge of the average person ends. In the early days barbers did the bleeding for the community and surgeons were not as plentiful as they are now. (We hear you say that "some still do the bleeding.") The first thing thought necessary, way down to the time of George Washington's death, was that any patient should be bled. Tap him and take a few ounces of blood from him no matter how weak he might be. When Washington was at his last gasp, the fools bled him. Well, the red stripes on a barber's pole means the red ribbon bandages that barbers bound over the wounds caused by the bleeding of people.

Mothers can easily know when their children are troubled with worms, and they lose no time in applying the best of remedies—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminators.

Redpath SUGAR

"Redpath" stands for sugar quality that is the result of modern equipment and methods, backed by 60 years experience and a determination to produce nothing unworthy of the name "REDPATH".

The Ford Saves the Hay and Oats the Horses Eat

FIVE acres of land are required to maintain one horse for a year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The same five acres would produce nearly enough food for two people. If 40,000 farmers each replaced one horse with a Ford, 200,000 acres would be added to the Nation's source of food supply and enough extra food made available to feed 400,000 people—sufficient to feed Canada's entire army at the front.

Just think what a great service this means to the country at the present time and the benefit to the farmers from the sale of the food produced on this acreage.

A Ford car also saves the farmer a week or more of valuable time each year, which can be used for further productive work. The Ford travels three times as fast as a horse and rig—costs less to run and keep, and is far easier to take care of. With labor so scarce and high priced, time means money, so do not delay in getting your Ford.

LACE REVIVAL.

Miles of It Are Being Used to Trim Garments.

Another change in fashions which is creating a stir of interest in this country is the lavish use of lace. France had much of it in reserve, but she made it fashionable in order to give the women and older children a chance to earn money through wartime. Thousands of the Belgian lace makers are refugees in France, and to revive the fashion for lace was to make these exiles self supporting.

The American designers jump with joy over the idea of putting lace on gowns, for there must be miles of it stored away in this country waiting for a chance to see the sunlight. Now there will be a chance to use it up for frocks, wraps, blouses, peplums, hats, parasols and accessories. The designers are even putting precious lace on satin frocks for the afternoon, and afternoon gowns are made of a new kind of shadow lace in ecru or oyster white dropped over a black satin sheath lining.

The success of the peplum or outside blouse will give an impetus to loose waists that can be girdled in with Chinese brocade or with the new brilliant ribbons copied from antique designs. These blouses may be lined with white or colored chiffon or silk net and worn with any kind of skirt.

Jenny has brought up the crochet lace of the Rumanian peasants, and this, in string or biscuit color, makes an admirable peplum blouse over a dark or light skirt for country club wear.

Another method of using lace as an accessory is to drape it in the form of broad suspenders over the shoulders, let it drop to the hips and then cascade it there to give the oval silhouette.

Cherut makes a gown of cafe au lait crepe de chine in a straight line from head to foot, with half the skirt of black crepe de chine. From shoulders to hips there are draped suspenders of black Chantilly lace.

Salad Suggestions.

Salads of Fresh Vegetables.—Lettuce, radishes, cucumbers; tomatoes stuffed with cucumbers; lettuce and sliced tomatoes; lettuce, radishes and onions; cold slaw with green peppers; tomatoes and green peppers.

Salads of Cooked Vegetables.—Beets, string beans; beans and onions; beets, potatoes, onions; mixed vegetables.

Fruit Salads.—Apple, cabbage and nuts; canned pears and cheese; canned or fresh cherries and nuts; canned or fresh peaches cut into strips.

To make salads attractive use flavors which blend and colors which harmonize.

Salad dressings, with the exception of French dressing, should be thick. Garnishings should be dry, since water thins the dressing.

Save that spoonful

Four and often five spoonfuls of ordinary tea do not go any further than three of Red Rose Tea. Less Red Rose is required because it consists chiefly of rich, strong, full-flavored Assam teas. Use Red Rose Tea and save that extra spoonful. Kept Good by the Sealed Package

Save Seed Corn and Serve Your Country

The need for saving seed corn for next year's use, was never greater than at the present time. There is no reserve amount of seed in Ontario this Fall. All of the seed corn that was available was used last Spring, and upon this Fall's crop depends the crop of next year. Since the weather in Ontario in the forepart of the season was not favorable to the rapid growth of early corn, it makes the selection of seed this fall more difficult, and doubly urgent.

From now on, the farmers of Ontario will have one of the greatest opportunities of the year to serve their Country, and add to their own prosperity. By taking time enough to pick and to put away for next year's use, seed corn from the standing stocks in the field, every farmer can add five bushels to his average acre yield of corn. Not only this, but it is his duty in a year like this, to carefully save his own seed, and to save as much more as he can, all of it should be carefully dried as soon as selected.

This is Seed Corn time in Ontario. By selecting seed corn during seed corn time, one gets seed that will mature in normal years. Seed corn so selected has to be dried before the freezing weather, so that it will not be injured by freezing during the winter.

THEY SOOTHE EXCITED NERVES.—Nervous affections are usually attributable to defective digestion, as the stomach dominates the nerve centres. A course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will still all disturbances of this character, and by restoring the stomach to normal action relieve the nerves from irritation. There is no sedative like them and in the correction of irregularities of the digestive processes, no preparation has done so effective work, as can be testified to by thousands.

What He Saw in Turkey

Dr. Stuermer was invalidated from the army on the Eastern front, and when his health was partly restored he was sent by his newspapers to Turkey in 1915. In Constantinople he beheld with his own eyes the beginning of a terrible crusade against the Armenians. Thousands of refined Armenian men, women and children were obliged to leave their homes and set forth on the journey which was to end in death in the desolate plains of Asia Minor or on the parched shores of the Euphrates. For months he would daily encounter bands of these people being driven through the streets. One evening when his wife was passing a police station she heard frightful groans from within, and a policeman told her calmly that they were torturing an Armenian. He was told by other Germans that nothing written about the Armenian massacres could possibly be exaggerated.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untearable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

The favorite hobby of Princess Mary of England is to collect photographs of aviators.

Single women in Sweden are allowed to serve on juries, but married women are barred.

Knew He Wasn't

A young man fell into a state of coma, but recovered before his friends had buried him. One of them, asked what it felt like to be dead.

"Dead!" he exclaimed. "I wasn't dead. And I knew I wasn't, because my feet were cold and I was hungry."

"But how did that make you sure?"
"Well, I knew if I was in heaven I shouldn't be hungry, and if I was in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold."

Positive—Convincing Proof

Many so-called remedies for anaemia are only so in name. Their makers are afraid to prove their claims by telling what their medicines contain. The only way to be honest with the people is to let them know what they are paying for. Here is the Vinol formula. When the doctor knows what a medicine contains, it ceases to be a "patent" medicine.

It Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptones, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycero-phosphates, Cascaria.

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol, as named above, will enrich the blood and banish anaemia and create strength. When the blood is pure and rich and red, the body is strong and robust.

You can prove this at our expense because your money will be returned if Vinol does not improve your health.

BUSINESS MEN ARE INTERESTED

Employers have been Quick to See Practical Advantages of Military Service Act

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Canadian business men express themselves as highly pleased with the provision by the Military Service Act of Medical Boards for the early medical examination of men liable to be drafted under the Military Service Act. This introduction of system and order into the method of raising men for military service has commended itself to the business community throughout the country, according to all reports received here.

Hearty promises of co-operation in having an early report made by all men in the various classes are also coming to hand, and this co-operation promises to simplify the working of the Act. The vast majority of men in the various classes can be reached through the business houses where they are employed, so far as the cities are concerned at least. A new force getting behind the Act is the business instinct of employers who, under the volunteering system, have had some unsatisfactory experiences through the haphazard dropping off of their employees.

All the Military Service Act really does is to get the country's military system down to a business basis as well as to make it more democratic and satisfactory in every particular.

CANADA

Military Service Act, 1917

Explanatory Announcement by the Minister of Justice

THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT has received the assent of the Governor-General and is now part of the law of the land. It will be enforced accordingly, and the patriotism and good sense of the people can be relied upon to support it. Resistance to its enforcement, however, by word or act must and will be repressed, as resistance to any other law in force must be.

Reinforcements under the Military Service Act immediately required

It is the intention of the Government immediately to exercise the power which the Act confers and to call out men for military service in order to provide reinforcements for the Canadian forces. This is necessary since the military authorities report that the reserves available or in sight for reinforcement will shortly be exhausted unless this step be taken.

First call limited to men between 20 and 34 who were unmarried or widowers without children on July 6, 1917

The present call will be limited to men not in the schedule of exceptions who were unmarried or widowers without children on 6th July, 1917; are at least twenty years of age, and were born on or since January 1st, 1883. Of this Class all those will be entitled to conditional exemption whose services in their present occupations, agricultural, industrial or other, are essential in the national interest, and whose business or domestic responsibilities are such that serious hardship would ensue if their services be required. Conscientious scruples based upon a prohibition of combatant service by the articles of faith of the religious denomination to which men belong will also be respected. The men first required to serve will consequently be those who can be called upon with the least disturbance of the economic and social life of the country.

Civil Tribunals to deal with exemptions

Questions of exemption will be determined, not by the military authorities or by the Government, but by civil tribunals composed of representative men who are familiar with local conditions in the communities in which they serve, who will generally have personal knowledge of the economic and family reasons which those whose cases come before them have had for not volunteering their services and who will be able sympathetically to estimate the weight and importance of such reasons. Provincial Appellate Tribunals constituted from the existing judiciary of the respective provinces will be provided to correct mistakes made by Local Tribunals, and a Central Appeal Tribunal for the whole of Canada, selected from among the present Judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, will be constituted in order that identical principles may be applied throughout the country. In this way every man may rest assured of the fair and full consideration of his circumstances and the national requirements both civil and military.

Proclamation will announce the day

A proclamation will issue calling out the bachelors and widowers referred to and fixing a day on or before which every man must report for service to the military authorities unless he has before that day made an application for exemption.

How to apply for exemption

Applications for exemption may be made by written notice on forms which will be available at every post office, and will be transmitted free of postage. They will not, however, be required to be made in this way; but may be presented by the applicants in person to the exemption tribunals. The cases of those who have given written notice in advance will take precedence, and appearance in person will therefore be likely to involve considerably more inconvenience and delay to the men concerned, so that it is recommended that advantage be generally taken of the facilities for written application.

Ottawa, September 11, 1917.

Exemption Tribunals in all parts of Canada

The local exemption tribunals will be constituted with the least delay possible, consistent with the selection of representative individuals to compose them, and the instruction of the members in their duties. There will be more than one thousand of such tribunals throughout Canada, each consisting of two members, one of whom will be nominated by a Joint Committee of Parliament, and the other by one of the Judges of the existing Courts. Every effort will be made by the wide distribution of tribunals, and by provision where necessary for their sitting in more than one place, to minimise the inconvenience to which men will be put in obtaining the disposition of their cases.

A Registrar will be appointed in each Province, who will be named in the proclamation and to whom enquiries may be addressed. Each Provincial Registrar will transmit to the appropriate tribunal the applications for exemption which have been submitted in advance of the sittings, and men who have sent these in will not be required to attend the tribunals until notified to do so. Other applicants should attend personally on the tribunal without notice.

How to report for service

Men who do not desire to claim exemption will report to the military authorities for service either by mail or in person at any time after the issue of the proclamation. Forms of report by mail will be found in all post offices, and, like applications for exemption, will be transmitted free of postage.

Early report advantageous

No man who reports for service will, although he may be medically examined and passed as fit, be required to go into camp or join a battalion until after a day fixed by the proclamation sufficiently late to permit of the disposition by the local tribunals of most, if not all, of the applications for exemption which may come before them. Thus no advantage will be gained by delaying or disadvantage incurred by prompt report for service on the part of those who do not intend to apply for exemption.

Facilities for immediate medical examination

Immediately upon the issue of the proclamation, medical boards will sit at every mobilization centre for the examination of men who report for service or who, subject to their right within the time limited to apply for exemption, desire to have their physical fitness determined in order to allay any doubt as to their physical condition, or to know definitely and in advance whether there is a possibility of their services being required. Certificates of physical unfitness issued by these Medical Boards will be accepted without any further investigation by exemption tribunals when they sit. Men found physically fit who have not reported for service may nevertheless apply for exemption on any of the prescribed grounds, including even their physical condition if dissatisfied with the Medical Board's conclusion.

Notice to join the colors

As reinforcements are required, notice to report to the nearest mobilization centre will be given from time to time to the men found liable and passed as fit for service. Disobedience of such notice will render the offender liable to punishment, but punishment for failure to report for military service, or to report subsequently for duty when called upon; will be imposed ordinarily by the civil magistrates; offenders, however, will remain liable for the performance of their military duties notwithstanding any civil punishment which may be imposed and will be liable to military punishment in cases in which civil proceedings are not taken.

Watch for the Proclamation

Notice of the day appointed for the making of a claim for exemption or for report for military service will be published as widely as possible, but, as no personal notice can be given until the individuals called out have so reported themselves or claimed exemption, men possibly concerned are warned to inform themselves with regard to the day fixed; since neglect may involve the loss by them of important privileges and rights.

The Chester Inn

It Proved a Fitting Place For a Wedding

By ETHEL HOLMES

John Overaker, a member of the national guard of the state of New York, was engaged to be married to Helen Withers, who lived in Chicago. John was called to the colors with the expectation of being sent to the war at an early date. Most young men who are called upon to fight for their country and have sweethearts seem to prefer to go forth as married rather than as bachelors. At any rate, John Overaker proposed a wedding to his fiancée, and his proposition was accepted by the lady.

Since Miss Withers lived a thousand miles from Mr. Overaker and he could not get a leave to be absent long enough to go to Chicago, he married and returned, an agreement was made between the lovers that she should come to him instead of his going to her for the wedding. Miss Withers did not like the idea of a wedding in Mr. Overaker's home instead of her own, or in a hotel, or in the office of a justice of the peace. Just as she was about to start east she received a letter from a Mrs. Chester, an intimate friend living near New York, to whom she had written of her quandary, inviting her to be married from her house. Not having time before starting to write fully on the subject, Miss Withers scratched off a brief note to her lover asking him to meet her on a certain date at the location in which her friend lived, adding, "Come to the Chester."

It is unfortunate to be obliged to write hurried instructions for a meeting. Miss Withers ink gave out as she finished the word "Chester," and there was none left for the "s." When Overaker read the note he inferred that the Chester was an inn. He was too busy with his military duties to read the missive over a second time. Indeed, it was difficult for him to do all he had to do before leaving to keep the appointment.

Overaker concluded to make the journey in civilian dress, though he took with him a uniform in which to be married. After spending an hour on a train he alighted at his station. A taxi chauffeur stepped up to him, and Overaker told him that he wished to go to "the Chester." The man knew of no such hotel; but, preferring not to confess his ignorance and having often seen a handsome residence which was known as the Chester place, he concluded to take the chances of its being the house his fare meant. The consequence was that Overaker was driven to the house where he was to meet his bride, thinking that he was going to a hotel.

A maid in black and white uniform opened the door for him, and in a few minutes a lady came in to receive him. "I would like a room, if you please," he said. "I am to meet a lady from Chicago here, Miss Withers. Has she arrived?"

Now, the lady was Miss Withers' friend, Mrs. Chester. She had expected Miss Withers a few hours before Overaker arrived, but had received a telegram from some one—doubtless traveling with Miss Withers—stating that there had been a railway accident and consequent delay. The fact that the telegram made no mention of Miss Withers having escaped injury looked ominous. It occurred to Mrs. Chester that it would be better for the present to keep the matter from Mr. Overaker. His having mistaken her house for an inn facilitated her doing so.

"The lady has not yet arrived," she said, "but I have been advised of her coming."
 "I am Lieutenant John Overaker. I am to meet Miss Withers here to be married to her. Did she mention this fact?"

"She did. She is to be married in this house."
 "Do you know if she expects me to make the necessary preparations for the wedding?"

"I will do that for her."
 "Indeed. Have you had any previous acquaintance with her?"

"Oh, yes; Miss Withers has been here a number of times."
 "Very well. I suppose there is nothing for me to do, so with your permission I will go to my room. I have been so busy lately that I have had very little sleep. I may get a nap before my fiancée's arrival. It will freshen me."

This suited Mrs. Chester exactly, since she hoped to get news of Miss Withers while her fiancée was resting. She led the way upstairs to a chamber, Overaker following. It did not look like a hotel bedroom, there being pictures on the walls and various articles that one does not find except in a pri-ivate house, but Overaker was too much absorbed in his approaching nuptials, to say nothing of his military situation, to dwell upon the condition of his room, and after getting the dust off him he threw himself on the bed, closed his eyes and in a few minutes dropped asleep.

The next news Mrs. Chester received of Miss Withers was brought by the lady herself. She had not been injured in the railroad accident and was perfectly well. Mrs. Chester informed her of the arrival of her fiancée; that he had mistaken the house for an inn; that she had permitted him to remain in error that she might better save him from anxiety concerning his expected bride.

Miss Withers went to Overaker's room, knocked gently at the door and, receiving no other reply than a snore, pushed the door open sufficiently to enable her to look in at her slumbering fiancée. He seemed so dead tired and was resting so comfortably that she had not the heart to awaken him. Going downstairs to her friend, she said:

"I don't know but that we had better permit him to remain in ignorance of the fact that he is in a private house. He is very sensitive as to his treatment of others, and to know that he had spoken to my friend and hostess as a landlady would dampen his spirits for the wedding so soon to follow."
 "I have been thinking of the same thing and quite agree with you," replied Mrs. Chester. "There will be no necessity to make an explanation. You can tell him about it at some future time."

At the end of two hours after Miss Withers' arrival the time appointed for the wedding arrived, and the butler was sent to Overaker's room to awaken him and announce Miss Withers' arrival. The announcement tended to arouse the lieutenant, who completed his toilet and, going down into the drawing room, embraced the girl who was soon to be his bride. She explained the delay in her arrival, and her presence uninjured did away with the shock that might otherwise have been expected.

"I think we need some refreshment," said Overaker and, stepping to an electric button, pushed it. The butler entered, and Overaker said:

"Bring us in a bite of anything you may have in the larder and let me have a wine card."

The butler had been coached and retorted with a simple "Yes, sir." The bride to be was about to inform her lover that he was making a mistake, but changed her mind, concluding to let the matter take its course. There being some delay in serving the refreshment, Overaker rang the bell again, intending to give the butler a piece of his mind for being so long. But the man brought with him a tray, on which were a dainty luncheon and a bottle of wine.

"All right," said Overaker. "Where's the wine card?"

"The landlady says that it will be in the bill," was the reply.

Lieutenant Overaker and his bride to be enjoyed a very delicious luncheon together. Overaker, it must be admitted, was more in a condition to make merry than his fiancée, who was beginning to feel somewhat concerned as to the treatment the friend who was permitting the use of her house for the bridal was receiving at the hands of her lover. This belief that Mrs. Chester was a landlady and was to receive pay for what she was giving was becoming embarrassing. Something must be done to change the status.

"Don't you think," said Miss Withers, "that since Mrs. Chester has been so kind as to make the arrangements for our wedding we should invite her to lunch with us?"

"Certainly. Bring her in."

Miss Withers went out and returned with Mrs. Chester, who played her part as landlady admirably and treated the bride and groom with the respect due them from one of her station. Overaker drew the line between his landlady and an equal, much to her amusement, while his fiancée was a trifle embarrassed at the situation.

The wedding was set for 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Overaker was to leave to rejoin his regiment at 5, while the bride was to remain for a brief visit. When the person arrived the household entered a room that had been properly decorated and awaited the coming of the bride and groom. The latter was somewhat surprised at the richness of the decorations and voted the landlady who had prepared them a trump. But what surprised him more was to find her gowned and jeweled in a manner not befitting the landlady of the Chester inn. There was still another surprise—a necklace that only a person of wealth could afford, which Mrs. Chester gave the bride for a wedding present.

By this time Overaker began to suspect that something was wrong. But he did not communicate his suspicions to his bride. Shortly before leaving the house he said to her:

"I suppose I am in for some expense in this matter."

"Not at all," was the reply. "Since we could not be married in Chicago, where all the expense would have fallen on my father, the bills here are all paid, the same as if the wedding had taken place at my home."

"But?" began the groom and paused.

"How about the luncheon and wine I ordered?" stammered the lieutenant.

The bride broke into a laugh, called her friend, "the landlady," and all was explained to the groom.

His remark on being enlightened was indicative of the selfishness of man.

"If this gets out in the regiment I'm gone up."

"I am delighted," said Mrs. Chester, "with the outcome of this affair. When this morning I received the telegram announcing the accident I was filled with terror lest we should have something very different from a wedding. I had no idea in permitting Lieutenant Overaker to remain in error, turning the affair into a bit of fun. He should certainly thank me for saving him from several hours' bitter anxiety."

"And he has also to thank you," replied the lieutenant, "for a luncheon and a bottle of wine."

When Lieutenant Overaker returned from the bridal trip, which lasted but a few days, they went to Mrs. Chester's house. Since Overaker could not tone for mistaking her for a landlady a gift he declared that he would name his first girl child for her.

Sarnia, Ont.—"About 27 years ago I was taken very bad, my blood, too, was in bad shape. I got so I had to go to bed and I was there for over three months. I could not eat and suffered untold agony. I had three of the best doctors I could get but it just seemed nothing was going to help me. I had almost given up. I thought I would never be any better and was willing to give up and die rather than suffer as I was. A neighbor of mine told me of Dr. Pierce's wonderful remedies and I decided to use them. My husband bought me six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I had not taken it long until I felt better. In less than six weeks I was out of bed, and in less than six months I was cured and have been well ever since. Do all my own work. I have raised three daughters, two are married and have children. They have used it and they are healthy, so are their children. I am sure it was all on account of my having them use the medicine.

ALMOST GIVEN UP?

nia, Ont.—"About 27 years ago I was very bad, my blood, too, was in shape. I got so I had to go to bed I was there for over three months. I had not eaten and suffered untold agony. Three of the best doctors I could get just seemed nothing was going to help me. I had almost given up. I thought I would never be any better and I was illing to give up and die rather than as I was. A neighbor of mine told Dr. Pierce's wonderful remedies decided to use them. My husband and I bought six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I had not taken it long until I felt better. In less than six weeks I was well, and in less than six months I was cured and have been well ever since. My own work. I have raised three children, two are married and have children. They have used it and they are healthy, so are their children. I am well all on account of my having used the medicine.

Keep all of Dr. Pierce's medicines in your house. Have 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Wheat-Laxative'—anything prepared by Dr. Pierce is good. I also have a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which I have had 23 years; it is very valuable to me.—Miss J. J. 232 Ontario St., Sarnia, Ont.

You are a sufferer, if your daughter, sister need help, get Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' in liquid or tablet form any medicine dealer to-day. Address Dr. Pierce, 'Invalids' Hotel, N. Y., and get confidential medicine entirely free.

Get valuable book in any home in Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, containing gravings and colored plates. It will be sent to anyone sending fifty stamps, to pay the cost of wrapping and mailing only, to Dr. Pierce, N. Y.

How to Keep Fit After 40

Drink without eating and eat without drinking.
Five glasses of water a day, none with meals, will make you free of the doctors.
Warm feet and a cool head need no physician.

A bath, cold if you please, hot if you must, with a good rub starts the day right.
If you will save your smoke till after luncheon, you'll never have smoker's heart.

Wearing the same weight under-clothing the year around will save you a lot of colds.
Dress cool when you walk and warm when you ride.

Your nose, not your mouth was given to breathe through.
Clean skin, clean socks, clean underwear every day.

Don't sit still with wet feet. Walk until you have a chance to change.
Never let a day pass without covering four miles on foot.

See how high you can hold your head and how deeply you can breathe whenever you are out of doors.
Hot water quick is the best thing for a sprain.

Short shoes and shoes that don't fit cost a lot in the long run.
Getting mad makes black marks on the health.

Envy, jealousy and wrath will ruin any digestion.
When you rob the trolley company of a nickel by walking you add a dime to your deposit of health.

You'll never get the gout from walking.
Sleep woos the physically tired man, she flouts the mentally exhausted.

The best record in gold is the record she has made of restored health to the middle aged.
Tennis up to the thirties, but golf after forty.

Nature never punished a man for getting his legs tired. She has punished many for getting their nerves exhausted.
Two hours of outdoor exercise by the master never yet made him over critical to the cook.

Don't ask the heart to pump extra blood to the brain all days and then to an overloaded stomach all night.
Tight shoes have sent many a man to bed with a cold.

Leg weariness never yet produced brain fog.
Loose clothes, loose gloves, easy shoes spell comfort and health.

No wise athlete stands still after exercise without putting something over him.
Open windows don't make half as many colds as closed ones do.

Blood pressure does not come to the men who walk a lot out of doors instead it looks for those who sit and eat a lot indoors.
Many a man finds too late that his motor car has cost him more in health and legs than it has in tires and gasoline.

A four or five mile walk daily makes your credit at the bank of health mount steadily.
Nature won't stand for overdrafts any more than your bank.

IT HAS MANY QUALITIES.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will cure a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throats; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, cure the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be got for a quarter of a dollar.

Eggs in Diet

From a bulletin published by State Agricultural College, New Jersey, U.S.A., entitled "Milk and Eggs," we extract the following information re the value of eggs in the diet.

Composition of the hen's egg compared with moderately lean beef:

| | Hen's Egg | Lean Beef |
|----------------|-----------|-----------|
| Water | 73.7% | 70.5% |
| Fat | 10.5 | 8.5 |
| Protein | 14.8 | 20.0 |
| Mineral matter | 1.0 | 1.0 |

The protein in the egg is nearly pure albumen. The yolk of an egg is of greater nutritive value than the white. It is rich in the following mineral salts: calcium, iron, potassium and phosphorus and contains them in such a form that they are readily absorbed and utilized by the body. The white of an egg is rich in sulphur.

VALUE AS FOOD
By comparing the composition of the egg with that of lean meat it will be noticed that eggs make a good substitute for meat. Nine average-sized eggs weigh one pound and contain about the same amount of nourishment as one pound of beef. As eggs contain no starch or sugar they should be served with such foods as rice, bread, fruit, potatoes and other vegetables or made into desserts with sugar, tapioca and similar materials.

DIGESTIBILITY OF EGGS
Raw eggs are very easily digested. The digestibility of cooked eggs depends upon the manner in which they are cooked. They should be cooked at low temperature. Egg albumen begins to coagulate at 134 degrees F., becomes jelly-like at 160 degrees F., and when heated to the boiling point, 212 degrees F., becomes a tough leathery mass and very indigestible.

Nature's Law Rules in End

A man who is described as one of the greatest thinkers in Great Britain has this to say: "Nature's laws are automatic and must be obeyed. To go contrary to them with proclamations and acts of Parliament is sheer lunacy; nature never forgives the breach. Now, what is the natural law of scarcity? When a thing is scarce its cost goes up and up; then production is stimulated and consumption checked, and so equilibrium is gradually restored. But the ignorant clamor for maximum price and those who know better give way to it; then they will keep consumption unchecked and production unstimulated, and so let the scarcity grow to famine. There is only one place where law can be usefully employed, and that is, when necessary, in restraining the middleman if he tries to get extra profit by artificially increasing prices for his own gain."

Early Rising Farmer
Farmer A boasted that he was the earliest riser in the neighborhood. Farmer B thought he was lying and set out to prove it. He rose at 2 o'clock the next morning and went and rapped on Farmer A's door. His knock was answered by the housewife.
"Where's your husband?" he asked, expecting to find the boaster still abed.
"Si was around here early this morning," answered the wife, "but I don't know where he is now."

A Mortgage

A mortgage is a strange institution. It makes a man rustic, and it keeps him poor. It is a strong incentive to action, and a wholesome reminder of the fleeting months and years. A mortgage represents industry, because it is never idle and never rests. It is like a soldier; it never hesitates in charging nor fears to close on an enemy. It is like the grasp of the devil fish, the longer it holds the greater its strength. It will exercise feeling, energy and lend activity to the sluggish brain. No matter how hard the debtor works, the mortgage works still harder. It makes a fellow sour, cross, selfish, unsocial and miserable, and rarely does him any good to exercise him.

The Coal Situation
Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Cities and larger towns are better supplied with anthracite coal at present than they were at the same period of last year, according to reports received by the Cost of Living Commissioner. In smaller centres throughout Canada, however, there is a grave shortage of hard coal. This statement of the fuel situation is based upon the reports of 2,500 coal dealers in various parts of the Dominion. The Cost of Living Commissioner's office is now simply investigating organization which discloses conditions and should action be required reports to the Fuel or Food Controller.

"THE STORE THAT SATISFIES"

Description of Lens Battle

Clarence Smith, a nephew of Mrs. John Holbrook of the 12th line, Brooke, was wounded at Lens. From a hospital in Manchester, England, he writes some interesting reminiscences of the famous battle. The following excerpts are made from his letter:—

FIGHT OF AUGUST 16TH

"I travelled from the base hospital in France by train to Calais and there was put on a hospital ship for Dover and was only a little over an hour crossing the Channel. I was then transferred to another train, real up-to-date, with beds and attendants on it, and made the trip to Manchester, a distance of two to three hundred miles, passing through London.

"Just a word as to the fight. We went up the line on the night of August 16th and prepared for going over the top. When the time came all our guns seemed to bang at the same time and the noise was terrific. It sure was some barrage we put over on Fritz; and he did not lose much time in beating it.

"Well! We started over and when we got to the front line it was deserted. Not a Fritz to be seen. He had commenced to retire, I think, before our guns opened fire on him. We kept on going and on reaching his second line found a little opposition. They were firing at us with their machine guns; but were soon put out of action and we proceeded to the objective.

IN SHELL HOLE THREE DAYS

"Up to this time our casualties were very light; but Fritz's aeroplanes got busy and got us reported out; when he began to play his heavy guns on us, and counter-attack, in an attempt to win back the lost ground. Our positions were only shell-holes, the trenches being flattened out by our artillery. Three of us were in a shell-hole together for three days. On Saturday morning early, before daybreak, he came over on us and got in on us, when there was a hand to hand fight. This is where our casualties commenced and where I got mine. "Well! After a hot fight we succeeded in driving them out, although they were stronger than we were. But you have heard that when Fritz comes to the bayonet he does not like it and we soon had him going.

PRISONERS OF TENDER YEARS

"When I got hit I managed to get back to a funk hole and remained there until I saw some of our wounded going out. I says, this is my chance and went with them back to the dressing station and got bandaged up. There were some prisoners going out and they were made to help us wounded fellows to get there. It was sure some fight. But we got them alright and Lens is hanging by the last link and will fall very shortly, I think. It is a very important town.

"We certainly lost heavily; but Fritz's were twice as heavy as ours. Some of the prisoners we captured are boys of seventeen years of age. It seems too bad boys so young should be forced into it."

Death of Mrs. James W. Torrance

The "Mesaba Ore", a paper published in Hibbing, Minn., dated Sept. 14th, records the following:— "Mrs. James W. Torrance, of Saskatoon, Canada, sixty-four years of age, mother of Mrs. Arthur L. Egge and Miss Effie Torrance, of this city, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Egge, in Alice addition, at midnight Saturday. Hardening of the arteries is ascribed as the cause of her death. She had been suffering for a long period. Mrs. Egge and Miss Torrance arrived in Hibbing from Saskatoon on Friday morning with their mother.

In addition to her daughters in this city, the deceased is survived by her husband, two sons, four sisters and two brothers. The husband and one son, A. E., live at Saskatoon, the other son, A. W., at Duluth, and the four sisters, at Toronto; one brother L. J. Gilliland is Manager of the Traders Bank at Ayton, Ont., and the other brother, I. W., lives in Duluth, Minn.

The funeral services were held at the First Methodist Episcopal church at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Reverend R. W. Adair officiating. The remains were shipped to Saint Paul on the afternoon train for interment."

The deceased before marriage was Miss Margaret J. Gilliland, a former resident of Warwick. She was married at the old homestead, fourth line east, 44 years ago, on the place now owned by Mrs. Jarvis Westgate. Many of the older residents will remember her.

Morningstar—Dewar

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dewar, township of Emiskillen, was the scene of a beautiful wedding, when, on Wednesday, September 26th, their only daughter, Velma M., was united in marriage to Mr. A. Earle, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morningstar, Wanstead.

The house was artistically decorated with pot and cut flowers, ferns and streamers. A beautiful arch of evergreens, trimmed with flowers and ribbons, was tastefully erected in the spacious drawingroom. From the centre of the arch hung a large white bell, beneath which the ceremony was performed.

The bride was charmingly attired in a beautiful white wedding gown of georgette crepe and taffeta, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a handsome bouquet of white asters and maiden hair ferns, tied with white satin ribbon.

Little Miss Verna O'Brien, gowned in pink silk, gracefully performed the role of flower girl and maid of honor, and carried the wedding ring in a pillowed basket bouquet of variegated sweet peas.

Six girl friends of the bride, Misses F. Foster, Guelph; Vera Dewar, Uttoxeter; Lily McCuan, Strathroy; Fern Kelly, Sarnia; Reta Stonehouse, Wyoming; and Minnie M. Hamilton, Watford, were waitresses and special maids of honor, and holding white streamers, formed an aisle, three on either side, through which the wedding party passed to the marriage altar. There were no attendants, but the bride was happily supported by her father.

During the bridal procession Miss Minnie M. Hamilton played softly Mendelssohn's wedding march. The nuptial knot was tied at high noon by the bride's pastor, Rev. Geo. W. Connors, Watford. After the ceremony and the bestowal of the customary congratulations, Miss Fern Kelly sang most sweetly, "Because."

Upwards of fifty guests from London, Strathroy, Sarnia, Guelph, Forest, Dresden, Watford, Wyoming and the immediate vicinity sat down to tables beautifully decorated and abundantly laden with the most tempting and digestible viands.

An appropriate toast to the bride was proposed by the officiating clergyman, and responded to in a few well chosen words by the groom. Rev. Mr. Connors also proposed the toast to the groom, which was fittingly responded to by the bride's brother, Derwood Dewar.

The numerous and costly presents, among which was a handsome Heintzman piano by the father of the bride, evidences the high esteem in which the bride is held by her numerous friends and acquaintances. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful diamond and platinum la valiere necklace, to Miss M. M. Hamilton, a gold brooch set with enamel and pearls, to Miss F. Kelly, solid gold wishbone and forget-me-not brooch, and to the flower girl, Miss Verna O'Brien, old gold and pearl maple leaf brooch.

The bride's going-away suit was a well tailored brown broadcloth with hat to match.

The happy couple departed amid a shower of confetti and good wishes and were motored to London to catch the east-bound train for Toronto. The honeymoon trip will embrace the eastern cities, Kingston, Ottawa and Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Morningstar will be at home to their friends at Wanstead after November the first.

WEAK BOYS AND GIRLS

It is a mistake to think that anaemia is only a girl's complaint. Girls probably show the effect of weak, watery, blood more plainly than boys. Delayed development, pale faces, headaches, palpitation, and a feeling of listlessness, call attention to weak blood in the case of girls. But boys in their teens grow thin and "weedy" and have pimples on the face, showing that they have not enough blood. The anaemic boy is just as likely to become a victim of consumption as the pale, breathless girl with her headaches and worn-out look. Let the boy in this condition catch cold and he will lose his strength and his health becomes precarious.

To prevent serious disaster to those of the present generation, let both boys and girls be given the new rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are famous the world over for making. When given these pills watch how the appetite returns and how the languid girl or the weak boy becomes full activity and high spirits. Remember that the boy has to develop, too, if he is to make a strong healthy man. Give both the boys and girls a fair chance to develop strongly through the new, rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually makes. You will then see active boys and girls, instead of weakly children around you.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Reports from all cities and towns in Ontario indicate a lessening in the amount of crime and drunkenness in Ontario in the first year of prohibition. In spite of the very heavy fines imposed for infractions of the law, totalling over $180,000 in the year, the expenses of the license system were over $192,600, which means a deficit of some $12,600 in this department of the Provincial Government.
