Let me tell you

The gentlemen who see money are the gentlemen who know how and what to buy.

Good shoes are cheap shoes—the most profitable shoes to buy.

Poor shoes keep a man poor buying so many of them.

One pair of good shoes costs more in the first place than a poor pair—but in the end the good pair costs half as much.

You need not experiment. Go to the experience of men who have made money by knowing how to save in buying.

More Facts About Clothing.

There was more truth than poetry in the words of the colored man who said: "A man ain't gwine to take a punkin when he kin git er watermillin jes as handy." Suppose we enlarge that idea and make the application in this way: Why accept the ordinary kind of clothing when you can buy the kind we sell for the same money and often for less?

The kind we sell appeals to thoughtful buyers, to careful dressers of every circumstance, and to those who wish to spend their money wisely and to the best advantage. First of all, our clothing is selected from worthy material, is well made and up-to-date in style. A glance is enough to convince buyers of that fact. Then, again, there is enough of it here to satisfy every demand and to suit all purses. Last, but not least, our prices enable buyers to secure the best possible value for the least possible money. Back of all you have this guarantee: Money refunded if goods are not satisfactory. A few price-suggestions from the different stocks:—

THE TORONTO WORLD ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

THE TRAFFIC OF A CHURCH. The Methodist Church has been and is a powerful instrument for good. But in this country it is inclined to be a tyrant as well. It is constantly seeking to tyrannize over the public and not only to make the rule of conduct for its own members but for all other people as well. It was the Methodist Church more than any other church that sought to keep the people of Toronto out of enjoying the boon of Sunday rest; it is the Methodist Church that principally being behind the Prohibition agitation, now being carried on. And it seeks to enforce its views in regard to private conduct by securing the passage of restrictive public laws. The Methodist Church, judged by some of its leaders, if it had its way, would put many of the old Blue Laws on our statute book. In taking this position the Methodist Church is open to criticism. Its sphere is limited to its membership. It is a private organization. It is not a public franchise.

A prohibitory law, passed in the institution of one of our denominations, is bound to fail. Other churches resent the assumption of the right to judge all men and to make a law for all men in regard to what they shall drink. Nor do the people as a whole take kindly to the idea of one denomination insisting on a law that must end in failure, that creates a hideous system of detectives on every eye, a law that will breed strife and create dissensions in every circle and community, a law which, as a failure, is a law that is repellant to all the instincts of Englishmen.

How tyrannical the Methodist Church is inclined to be may be gathered from the discussion on the articles in its discipline dealing with cards and dancing. These articles are driving the younger people out of the connection into the Anglican and other churches. It would surprise some of our readers if a list of such families in Toronto were published who have turned their backs on the church which they were once members of.

Mr. ... was talking about when he made the speech which he did. But while the severity of the rule is a matter of complaint we have no public fault to find. Each church, like each individual, can claim the right to make its own rule of conduct. Anyone who does not like the rules of the denomination can protest if they wish and withdraw. The church has its clear right to define its discipline and the individual to say whether or not he will concede the fullest liberty to the Methodist Church or any other church in this respect. But when the Methodist Church or any other church steps into the civil sphere and proposes to make a social law, a domestic law, a law regarding how and what a man shall or shall not drink, it has exceeded its rights, it is a common trespasser, assumes tyrannical functions.

One civil right is not to be raided from us by any church or by any individuals. For a section of the community to think that they can do this is one of the things inconceivable to us. Englishmen will never stand such coercion; wherever it has been attempted it has been a miserable failure. Prohibition is based on a marvelous ignorance and ignoring of the rights of others.

Let the Methodist Church confine its discipline to its own membership and we have nothing to say; it has a noble work ahead of it in furthering the mission of our Saviour; but it has missed its high aim the moment it seeks its ends by coercive and repellant civil laws.

THE RAILWAY RATE WAR.

Sept. 25 is the date fixed for the restoration of the railway passenger rates. The situation promises to be worse, as far as the Canadian public is concerned, after that date than it was before the war was declared. Previous to the cut in prices the C. P. R.'s rate to the Pacific coast was $7.50 less than that of the American lines. On and after Sept. 25 the rate via the C. P. R. will be the same as via the American lines. In deciding to abandon its differential the C. P. R. has placed the Canadian travelling public at a considerable disadvantage. It does not seem exactly fair that Canadian railway passenger rates should be raised in order to protect the interests of United States companies. The C. P. R. is a Canadian institution and its rates should be based on the conditions that prevail in Canada and not made by a foreign tribunal. The C. P. R. having made a rate which it considered was fair and equitable for Canadian passengers should not be allowed to increase that rate at the bidding of foreign corporations. If the Interstate Commerce Commission has authority, or influence, sufficient to make the C. P. R. alter its rates, why should not the Government or Parliament of Canada have a voice in fixing the rates that the C. P. R. or any other Canadian line shall charge? They have railway regulation in the United States which extends even to this country. How would it be if our Government undertook to do a little regulating on its own behalf, not in regard to American lines, but over lines like the C. P. R. which have been heavily subsidized by the people? One thing is very clear. The people of Canada should not be obliged to pay $7.50 more on a through ticket, merely to make the Canadian rate uniform with that of competing American lines. If this kind of law is to hold good then let the Canadian lines be compelled to reduce their rates where they are higher than those charged by corresponding American railroads. If two cents is a profitable rate for passenger travel in the State of New York it would be equally profitable if applied to the Province of Ontario. We do not know what the Canadian lines propose to do in regard to local rates on the 25th, but if they studied their own interests, they would make some considerable and permanent reductions on all their lines between Montreal and Detroit, if not throughout the eastern and western provinces. Two cents is the limit that should be allowed for railway travel in the thickly populated province of Ontario at least. The statistics of railway travel would prove that fully as remunerative to the companies as three cents. If the C. P. R. and Grand Trunk do not agree between themselves to put the two cent rate in force on the 25th the Parliament should compel them to do so. If the Government has any doubts about the effect of a two cent rate upon the companies, let it investigate the subject by means of a commission, and we are satisfied it will find that two cents is as profitable to the companies as three cents.

Although Sept. 25 is fixed as the date for the restoration of rates we are by no means certain that the rail-ways will put together and maintain the proposed agreement. As a matter of fact the C. P. R. has not been the sole line of contention between the big American lines. There are other points of difference between them which tend to make an agreement impossible. It is proposed, for instance, to abolish the principle of differential rates. This will excite the opposition of the lines that enjoy the privilege of quoting lower rates. The Grand Trunk which claims a differential on New York-Chicago business will, it is said, kick over the traces and make the rate to suit itself. The West Shore has made a $6 rate between Buffalo and New York, and there are mutterings throughout the whole railway world. An attempt will undoubtedly be made to harmonize the various interests. But it is quite possible that the agreement may not come into the world still-born.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

A Lot of interesting items gathered from the Despatches and Condensed into Paragraphs. Charles Spinks, a very wealthy coal dealer and street paving contractor of Newport, Ky., is missing. Hon. John W. Foster, one of the U.S. delegates to the Quebec Conference, says the commissioners have not met inseparable difficulties. The Duke of Connaught was thrown from his horse while riding at Paris on Tuesday, through his horse stumbling. It is not thought that he was seriously hurt. A Boston despatch says Hon. F. W. Lincoln, who served several terms as Mayor of that city, died last night at his home in Dorchester, after an illness of only two days. Capt. Thomas of the steamer Cestrin, who has become a common enemy, speaking the steamer Marengo, from Hull, Eng., and learning that the latter craft had aboard the crew of a Norwegian barque, ordered the ship which they were aboard to be destroyed. Between 500 and 600 members of the famous Rough Riders Regiment are in New York. They were marched over Wednesday afternoon and were ordered to wear a good many hats about going someplace. The exhibit will be open again in the fall. Invitations are extended to all who are interested in art, both as regards educational and academic courses, to visit the studios on Friday and Saturday afternoons and Monday.

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—The funeral of Thomas Greenwood, Jr., took place today. A large number of prominent politicians, Liberals and Conservatives, were in attendance from the city. The liquor men are inactive.

DETROIT VERSUS COURTICE

The Latter Still Editor of The Christian Guardian.

Two Sessions Yesterday of the Conference — Officers Elected — No Startling Changes—Talk of a New Methodist Paper—An Amalgamation—Speeches of Thanks. Conference was up and at it again yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. After motions the whole morning's procedure was merely anticipatory of the afternoon—when the general elections were to be held. Reports were read only, because they might affect the elections or were dismissed as read as soon as these interesting reports were passed. Anything in the way of general discussion was almost entirely on the side.

Now a Field Secretary. The same treatment was accorded to the report on missions, which came up next for discussion. It was proposed to appoint a field secretary, the assistant secretary, as that officer is now called. The present assistant secretary, Mr. Henderson, is appointed by the Missionary Board. The motion occasioned much perplexity to some of the members. Mr. Rigby came forward with an idea that the new field secretary should be appointed by the conference, and that he should be given a nomination subsequently carried, with the addition of the words, "if at all possible." Mr. Henderson's suggestion to the report was vague and unfeasible. Rev. Dr. Williamson was not sure that two men were needed. The Presbyterians have no objection to the two offices. Dr. Sutherland said, in reply, that no house on the continent transacted an equal amount of business with fewer clerical staff. Since he had taken office the volume of business had quadrupled and there had been no increase in the number of assistants. Mr. Gurney said there was a general belief that a cent sent to the missionaries took a dollar to spend in Halifax. The work of the Missionary Society, it was done too cheaply. The economy practiced in the field was a detriment to the work. To reduce the cost of the field work, the report suggested that the field secretary should be a layman. Dr. Allison objected to the term "field secretary." His suggestion was adopted.

Book Steward Appears.

The conference has to report from the Book Room, which was destined to create the greatest stir of the morning. The history of the Book Room for the year was read. It was found that the Book Room had spent $1000 on books, and that the amount of books sold was $1000. The Book Steward appeared and reported that the Book Room had spent $1000 on books, and that the amount of books sold was $1000.

The Yukon Missionary.

A very interesting letter from the Kingston, Ont. District Conference, was read. It did not encourage the investment of money in missionary work. It suggested that the conference should not invest money in missionary work. It suggested that the conference should not invest money in missionary work.

Ruddick Takes the Job.

A vote was passed, granting the Metropolitan Church $50 for his extra salary and expense of $100. Judge Deane opened the afternoon session's business with a long speech on The Christian Guardian. He began with a tribute to Mr. Wellington Jeffers and then pounced down on the circulation of the present day. He left Jeffers a great orator, said Judge Deane, but he was not a good editor and a square peg in a round hole would not work.

A New Scheme.

A very important report was that read by Mr. A. Shaw of Kingston, representing the Book Publishing Committee. He proposed the amalgamation of The Wesleyan and The Christian Guardian—the name of the new paper to be "The Guardian and Wesleyan." An associate editor was to be appointed and paid out of the general expenses of the paper, and his name must be given in competition with that of the western editor. The Toronto Book Room was to pay the Book Room at Halifax a certain percentage of the cost of the paper within the territory of the three annual conferences, whether received through the Book Room at Halifax or direct from the printer, and should pay also to the Halifax Book Room 25 per cent. on all advertisements secured within the territory.

They Elect Officers.

The Conference then proceeded to elect officers. It took at least ten minutes of preliminary wrangle to decide how the elections were to be held. A compromise was finally hit upon, some offices to be filled by ballot without nominations, others by nomination and vote. In the ordinary way, Messrs. Stacey, Johnson, Sparling, Burr, Moore, Manning and Stumblers were appointed scrutineers, and the talking of the vote began.

Courtice Wins in a Walk.

Next came the election of the Christian Guardian, and it proved the most exciting contest of the day. Dr. Ross, Dr. Workman, Mr. Lancelotti and Mr. Williamson were elected, four the field, but the real battle lay between Dr. Courtice and Dr. Dewart. It was only so to speak in the preliminary stage that the latter was finally decided when Dr. Courtice drew gradually but firmly away and won easily. The final ballot gave Dr. Courtice 155 votes, Dr. Dewart 140, Dr. Ross and Dr. Lancelotti 13 apiece. Drs. Williamson and Workman got but one vote each.

Field Editorship of The Methodist Magazine.

Mr. W. H. Witmore, the present editor of the magazine, was the prime favorite, and his election was unanimous. Mr. George J. Bond was made editor of the magazine.

WONDERFUL SHOW OF NERVE.

A Bookbinder Took Different Kinds of Poison to Kill Himself, Then Let Out His Blood.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 15.—The dead body of Fred Langsdorf, aged 40 years, a bookbinder, and a splendid fiddler, has been found on the bank of the Kaw, at a point near Arnoldville, Kansas. He had committed suicide after taking a draught of morphine. A little more spent would have increased its efficiency. To reduce the cost of the field work, the report suggested that the field secretary should be a layman.

Ruddick, superintendent of the Kingston Day School, under the patronage of the Provincial Government, has resigned his position to accept of the position of District Commissioner of New Zealand, at a salary of $2300. He also gets free transportation for himself, family and household effects to that country. He will leave here at once. Mr. Ruddick had charge of the Kingston Day School since its inception in 1884, and it has steadily advanced under his care.

A Woman Admitted.

There has sprung up in the last decade a new art, whose influence is making itself felt in our domestic lives to a greater degree day by day, the art of writing ad-vertisements. The time has passed when a manufacturer or compositor in whose advertisement the services of persons qualified by consumers to his specialty, and the address of competent writers to whom their peculiar talents to describe, in an attractive manner, the wares to be sold. One of the best advertising writers in Canada is Miss Nora Laughler, who has recently opened an office at 94 Adelaide-street east, Toronto, and this assertion is borne out by a perusal of the list of her clients which includes many of the largest and best-known commercial and manufacturing firms in Canada. Gifted with a facile pen, an artistic temperament and a nice power of journalistic training, it is no wonder that Miss Laughler's position in her chosen profession is now assured. After writing the Cleveland Bicycle ads. for two years, she received a testimonial from Messrs. H. A. Lozier & Co., which states: "As a general advertisement writer, we think you will meet with the success you so much deserve."

Successful Development in Ymir
Camp, B.C.

Big Plant to Be Ordered for Ymir
Mine—Deals for Properties in the Slocan and Nelson Divisions of the Western Province—Sud-bury and Rainy River.

According to advice from Ymir Camp, B. C., its prospects are exceedingly bright. It is D. H. Spokesman-Review. The Lerwick Company has just completed the 200-foot crozier tunnel on the Ymir mine. Where tapped, the ledge is over three feet wide and assayed $79 in gold to the ton. The ledge has been traced for 115 feet on the surface. The crozier tunnel just tapping the ledge has demonstrated that the ledge increases with depth and still runs high in gold, as well as silver.

Bonded for $150,000. According to a Brooklyn, B. C., advice the first payment has been made on the Ymir property, which is at the present time being worked by the Ymir Mining Company. The payment was made by Frank Beer, in his own behalf, to the Brooklyn Union, Fred Pender.

Seine River Properties. It is the latest creation for fall in workable and blue indigo clothes, cut double-breasted breasted styles. The tailors and-fitters are all of the best, and you would readily pay $15 for a suit of Saturday's price... 9.00

A Mountain of Gold. Two of the men sent out last April on the joint expedition by the Roseland Gold Mining, Development and Investment Company, Limited, and the Yukon Mining Company, Limited, have returned. They report that they have acquired five very valuable claims within easy reach of the seat of the Ontario district, British Columbia. The claims are the full regulation size, of 100 feet square, and the ore is low grade, but free millable, and of great extent, much like the famous Treadwell mine in Alaska. The title to these properties has been secured, and the other men engaged in the expedition have remained to arrange a trail to the water, and to make further explorations. The company will be engaged in the work of the present expedition.

The White Bear Strike. The Roseland Miner of Sept. 6 gives the following details of the White Bear strike. The White Bear, which has caused the recent best demand for the stock: Early yesterday morning the night shift of the White Bear broke into a splendid body of ore. Superintendent John Y. Cole was shortly afterwards on the scene, and after a careful examination decided that the showing was of better ore than has yet been met in the property. A little more work resulted fully four feet of ore, and the last accounts received indicate that the body is better determined in a day or two, but at present certainly looks as though Mr. Cole has the makings of a big mine in the White Bear. The strike was made in the main workings, 233 feet from the surface, and appears in the bottom of the shaft, where values have been discovered heretofore. The ore is a remarkable fine chalcophyllite, showing some hornblende. Assays from the White Bear have been as high as $17 in gold in a number of cases, and returns up to $34 have been obtained, but in no instance has the ore looked so well as in the new showing.

Missing Information Bureau. In another column will be found the advertisement of the Canadian Mining Information Agency, a new departure, for giving reliable information as to the development of mines in British Columbia and Ontario. Care has been exercised in getting records of operations, and all persons asking for information will receive the latest and most accurate that can be procured.

Spokesman-Review. The Lerwick Company has just completed the 200-foot crozier tunnel on the Ymir mine. Where tapped, the ledge is over three feet wide and assayed $79 in gold to the ton. The ledge has been traced for 115 feet on the surface. The crozier tunnel just tapping the ledge has demonstrated that the ledge increases with depth and still runs high in gold, as well as silver.

ETHEL STOKES' TROUBLES.

Canadian Girl Married a Traveling Man Against Parental Wishes and Was Deserted. Buffalo, Sept. 15.—Ethel Stokes, a pretty Canadian girl, 20 years old, was found wandering on Main-street by the police last night. She was taken to the police station, and, on being searched, a bottle of laudanum was found in her pocket. To Mrs. Stokes of the First Police Precinct she told a pitiable story, which in effect was that three months ago she married a traveling man in Chatham, Ont., against the wishes of her parents. A few days ago he deserted her, and rather than go back home she set out to find him. She believed him to be in Buffalo and came here. All she had left was $25. She walked the streets all day yesterday in the hope of meeting him and being encouraged, bought, ever, that she intended to take the stuff. Her parents have been notified of her whereabouts.

ORE ON NEW STRIKE IDENTICAL AS THAT ON COLUMBIA AND KOOTENAY. The Keystone Company's properties are four, viz., Blackstone, Yellowstone, Gladstone and Keystone, situated 18 miles northwest from Rosland in Trail Creek mining division of West Kootenay, British Columbia. The group comprises three full claims and one partly full claim, which makes an area of 185 acres. In a letter dated Sept. 8, Mr. J. L. Parker, M.I.M.E., says:

DEVELOPMENT. "A tunnel is being driven on the cross vein and values have already increased from a trace of gold to now the values to $12. On the COLUMBIA and KOOTENAY in this camp they have now struck a body of 17 feet of ore, which averages $34 per ton. We have on the surface of the Keystone ore of the same identical character too. We are showing, and I confidently believe that the Keystone will with development give investors confidence.

No other mining region in the world can show such a record. The Canadian shore of Lake Superior is more promising than the American shore, but undeveloped. A limited number of shares are offered to the first subscribers at five cents per share of stock of $1.00.
