THE RETAIL DEALERS ALSO REPORT PROSPEROUS YEAR

Volume of Business is at Least Well Up to the Average. Merchants Are Well Satisfied and Are Looking Forward to an Especially Good Winter—There is However a Feeling of Caution Among the Trade.

The retail dealers in all lines of trade report a prosperous year in common with the wholesalers, and the manufacturers of the city. The volume of business done has been well up to the average of previous years, and in many cases has exceeded them.

An increase in nine months to November 1, as great as any previous year, has been the encouraging report received from several firms. The present month is also maintaining the same pace and in the wholesale department orders are booked for spring, in excess of any previous year.

The money stringency has resulted in a feeling of caution in looking after business, but the outlook is rather favorable than otherwise.

The wholesale business this season had been fully up to expectations and would have been even better if manufacturers had been able to make anything like satisfactory deliveries.

Another meeting of the longshoremen was held this afternoon at four o'clock to further consider the matter as it is stated that many of the members favor striking the men any day.

A Novelty In Jewellery

BY IVOR WYATT. Messrs. Spanton & Ploving prided themselves upon being the best jewelers in town. They were a very go-ahead firm, and in their window the latest novelties in watches and clocks could always be seen. One morning Mr. Ploving, the junior partner, began to dawdle around the shop, excitedly pointing to a parcel which lay open on one of the glass-covered showcases. "What have you now?" said Mr. Spanton. "It's the photographic watch," said the junior partner, excitedly. "It will sell like blazes. I have never sold any blazes," said the senior partner with a reproving frown. "Let me see those talking 'kickers'." The partners undid the wrappers in which some 15 watches were encased. They looked very harmless, and had the latest over-conscious look of the ordinary watch. "They are all going," said Mr. Spanton, after he had put each to his ear. "It is 10 minutes to nine," said Mr. Ploving; "in 10 minutes we shall hear them speak. I believe one contains the voice of Mr. Roosevelt and one a line spoken by Ada Rehan." The partners then arranged the watches in two rows upon the desk, and anxiously awaited the hour. As the big clock over the street began to vibrate preparatory to striking, a tiny little voice was heard to proceed from one of the mid-looking watches on the desk. "Nine. Your father has gone down to breakfast," is said, in the quiet, subdued tones of a trained servant. "A schoolboy's holiday watch, I suppose," said Mr. Spanton. Mr. Ploving looked for the words "your father" in the descriptive catalogue. "No. 942—a young lady's watch," he said. "Nine. Quite time to get up," said one of the watches, brightly. Then the others said, all talking at the same time: "Nine. Open the letters and take them upstairs." "In the city by nine." "Nine o'clock. The labor we delight in giveth pain," said another, "nine o'clock." "A lady's watch that," interrupted Mr. Spanton. "It is quite nine o'clock." "Nine, old chap." "Nine tallors make a man." Then no more was heard. Mr. Spanton stood amazed at the experience while Mr. Ploving looked on with the air of a man who was showing off something of which he had a perfect knowledge. "I heard the whole batch in New York," he said. "They are wonderful little instruments. The Shakespeare quotation is a little gem." "I suppose there are singing watches

MILK DEALERS OBEY ORDERS

Those Within a Radius of Fifteen Miles of Ottawa Carefully Inspected. (Ottawa Citizen)

Dr. Hollingsworth has just finished inspecting the dairies within a radius of fifteen miles of Ottawa, from which the residents of the capital get their supply of milk. There are 120 of these, and the doctor says he found them in fairly good condition. Most of them, acting on hints conveyed in a circular sent out by him last August, have had their stables cleaned and when washed. There seems to be a disposition to construct cement-floored stables and to make other modern improvements. Dr. Hollingsworth says the worst trouble he has is in certain cases where the stables were on very low ground. This has been corrected by providing a sheltered locality, but the very fact of its being low and the building being underneath a barn generally makes modern conditions as to light and ventilation. Attention has been paid to this, and farmers asked when putting up new stables to remember that lots of light and fresh air for their cattle are two of the prime essentials for producing the best herds.

HAIR AND HOUSEKEEPING

There is no woman upon whom Time delights to take his revenge as he does upon the unoffending and unsuspecting little housekeeper. Somehow after her feeding day the little creature is elected to bury herself in pots and kettles and pans for the sake of a poor young man loses all identity with the dainty, charming little creature who first caught the eye and heart of that young man. Actresses, in spite of late hours, hard work, travel and cosmetics, keep their hair bright, healthy and in good condition. Business women keep their trim figures and healthy color through sedulous days of nerve-racking responsibility. But the woman who does her own housework often loses her freshness in the first year or two after her honeymoon. Some how she forgets to curl her hair after she has washed and dressed the baby. She has no time to make pretty frocks when she must make so many beds, and pies and biscuits. Worst of all, in her effort to keep the domestic regime smooth she lets her little forehead become wrinkled and furrowed; in her anxiety to keep her husband's pocket book fat she lets her hair get thin, and in her desire to keep her hair straight she allows her little, young figure to become crooked and slouchy. Among all the disfigurements which a long apprenticeship at housework seems to bring nothing is worse than the gradual thinning of hair about the temples. The slow appearance of gray at the edge of the once beautiful brown locks, the acquisition of stringy ends that fly in gray wisps about the cheek and throat. A woman who forgets to curl her hair, without it she is gauntly unattractive. The moment a little bride forgets to curl her hair and settles to twist it up in a hard knot at the back, or to wear it straggling in betweens while she goes about getting the breakfast, she is teaching her husband to forget to care for her. He is satisfied without kissing her goodbye when she starts out to business. If the little housekeeper will rise just ten minutes earlier each morning and shake her tresses out to the winds she will feel the cool morning air on her scalp like a refreshing draught of water. Put your head out of the window, if you can, and with the fingers gently massage the scalp, beginning with the forehead and working backward to the nape of the neck. This will stimulate the blood through the scalp, will stir up the dead cuticle and will invigorate each hair with new life. A very, very few minutes in this way each morning will give to your hair many more years of beauty and color. When you have finished the hair, cover it evenly with the comb into four or five portions, and with a stiff brush give each portion 20 or 30 strokes in a good hair brush. Apply a little hair cream occasionally. Wash down dandruff germs and to give the hair its former gloss and beauty. Then arrange the hair and note its added pliancy and grace. After breakfast you will no doubt be ready to dust or sweep or clean closets or beat rugs or do some of the innumerable things about the house which set the dirt a-flying. Before you begin this stop an instant and carefully pin a cap or even a plain hand-towel about your hair, covering it thoroughly so that not a particle of dust can settle on its coils. When you have finished the housework and are ready to sit down to your sewing or darning, or perhaps to scan your magazine, choose a sunny corner, or by an open window, and sitting there with the sunlight filtering in on your back, let down your locks to the winds. Let them blow and play about your shoulders. Give them a chance to breathe and draw life. The divine Sarah Bernhardt never confines her locks when she is in private. All day long when she is at home they fly to the sun and winds and are untouched by a hairpin or a ribbon. That is why, even a grandmother, she still has golden tresses instead of iron grey wisps of hair.

There was a large attendance last night at a dime concert held in St. John's Presbyterian church school room, under the auspices of the Mission Band, the proceeds being for the funds of the church. C. H. Doig was in the chair and the programme, which was an excellent one, consisted of literary and musical numbers and was much enjoyed. The steamer May Queen closed her season yesterday, coming down the river with a fair freight. She will go on Gregory's blocks for repairs.

good behavior, and some hints upon keeping pets. The whole to conclude with some nice homely advice in a lady's voice for every night at 10. After that, if consulted, it says: "Don't talk" and "Go to sleep," said Mr. Ploving, reading from the descriptive catalogue. "What is the price of this one, then?" said Mr. Bunsener. "Forty-five dollars," said the officious Ploving, pushing his way past Spanton. "I will take that with me, please," said Mr. Bunsener. Mr. Bunsener took the watch with him; he did not look at it during luncheon at paratus had been turned off, as he did not wish to be surprised by it during business hours. "It might tell me to take my hands out of my pockets or to go on with my work when the father came in to say good night to himself, as he turned the button. In spite of his curiosity about what the watch would say, he restrained himself from listening to it till a quarter of 6, and he took the watch out of his pocket and held it in his hand as the train neared home. When the hands marked 6 the tiny voice said: "Six—change your shoes and brush your hair," he said to Bertie when he came home at half-past 6. "for looking backward to the nape of the neck. He said nothing of the purchase to his wife, however, as he hoped to surprise Bertie the next morning with the "conscience watch." "I have bought you a watch for your birthday, my boy," he said to Bertie. "put it in the watch pocket by your bed; no mind you take good care of it." "Yes, father, I will," said the boy, his eyes brightening at the present. "Thank you very much. Good night, father." "Good night, Bertie, my son, don't be afraid of your new watch; it will get up." Mrs. Bunsener and Bertie laughed, and the boy went off to bed handling his new possession. A servant came into the boy's room a few minutes before 8 the next morning. She pulled up the blind calling to the sleeper. Bertie turned over and had a long discussion with himself. "It will be awfully nice to get up in a few minutes. I haven't had enough sleep. It's very hard for one not to have enough sleep. Another quarter of an hour will do me a lot of good. Well, perhaps a quarter of an hour is too long. I'll go to sleep for another five minutes. Then I really will get up." "Eight. Time to get up now," said somebody. "Hullo, I'm dreaming. That was a ghost, I suppose," said Bertie. "Half-past eight. Get out." "Nine. You have been in bed too long; get up," said somebody. "What on earth is it?" "Ten. Don't talk in school." "Eleven. Hurry up to the other classroom." "Something had gone wrong with the watch and nothing would stop it. "Twelve. William the Conqueror, 1068. "One. Don't eat too fast at dinner." "Two. Don't run after cats." Bertie got up and looked all around the room and under the bed. "Eight. I must be to myself. I must be going mad. I keep hearing horrible counting and people saying things. There it is again! "Five. Don't speak with your mouth full." "Six. Change your shoes and brush your hair." Bertie cried for help and the servant came rushing in. "Oh, Mary, I'm mad! And there are ghosts saying things all around me. Listen!" Mary listened attentively, as did the boy. "Eight. To bed in an hour and a half was all they heard. Mary fainted and Bertie hid his face in his hands and grovelled on the floor. Suddenly he jumped up, tore down the watch pocket and held it to his ear. "That's it," he cried. "It's this watch that papa gave me is mad, not us," and he dropped the watch and all into the water pail. "We shan't hear it there," he said to himself as he threw the contents of the water pail over the servant and called for help. Mr. Bunsener rushed in and scolded his son for his ingratitude, then sent Mary away and administered corporal punishment. As his father left the room Bertie muttered to himself: "Talking watches are humbug!" (Copyright 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

WHAT THE STORES ARE SHOWING FOR EARLY CHRISTMAS SHOPPER

The Most Exacting "Santa Claus" Should Have No Trouble in Being Satisfied With the Large Stocks on View.

The spirit of Christmas is already in the air and merchants are bustling to get their establishments in shape for the crowds of busy shoppers who will be invading their stores.

At the present time business is a bit slow—more so, in fact, according to prominent merchants than it was at this time last year—and one dealer in discussing the matter said that he was strongly inclined to think that there was a very decided shortage in "nickels." Thus far the demand does not seem to be for the better grade of goods.

The show rooms of Manchester, Robertson, Allison, Ltd., are abundantly stocked with art goods, novelties, china and glass ware, silver and French bronzes.

Then there are dainty designs in puff boxes and ornament jars of cut glass with sterling silver tops, also cut and figured glass perfume atomizers with mountings of silver and French bronzes.

Den pictures of every description in Christ's, Underwoods' and Hall's are in, but very attractive frames, and parlor pictures in genuine water color effects, also form an important part of M. R. A's stock.

Have your coats cut in time for Saturday's selling. Besides the overcoats and raincoats the lines on sale will be men's suits, men's pants, boys' suits, and many other lines. FAIRY LAND.

A large audience thoroughly enjoyed the excellent bill at Fairy Land last evening. Besides the programme of pictures which were described in yesterday's issue, there were many selections by Messrs Bond and Orr, which have only to be heard to be fully appreciated. Master Roscoe also gave several selections on the bones, which were much enjoyed. The patrons of this theatre will have another opportunity of hearing Messrs. Bond and Orr on Monday evening next, and they are well worth the price of admission. The illustrated songs, "Dreaming," by Mr. Dykeman, and "Just Because it Reminds me of you," by Mr. Byrne, were well received and will be repeated for the balance of the week, when three new pictures will be given, one of which is entirely new in St. John.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

This theatre was filled to the doors last night and the crowd showed their appreciation many times by the remarks made to the management. A clean, educative and interesting programme. It embraces the entire life of our Lord, and contains nothing to hurt the most sceptical. A verbal explanation was given to each tableau, and an historical pamphlet to each patron. A special matinee Saturday morning from 10 to 12. Miss Dalzell sang "The Palmers," very sweetly.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY NOVEMBER 22, 1907

The Evening Times.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 22, 1907. The St. John Evening Times is published at 77 and 59 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd. A company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act. JOHN RUSSELL, JR., Manager. TELEPHONES—News and Editorial, 192; Advertising Dept., 79; Circulation Dept., 13. The Times has the largest afternoon circulation in the Maritime Provinces.

THE EVENING TIMES, THE DAILY TELEGRAPH.

New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These newspapers advocate: British connection. Honesty in public life. Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion. No graft! No deals! "The Thistle, Shamrock, Rose entwined, The Maple Leaf forever."

A FOOLISH PROCEEDING

The action of the board of works in shutting out the reporters last evening was extremely foolish. It could not have been prompted by any consideration of public interest. The matters discussed were of general importance, and if it was desired that any legal opinion the recorder might express should not be published the aldermen know very well that it has been the invariable custom of the reporters not to take note of such opinions. The aldermen are quite aware that the press has always been ready to respect the wishes of the board or council regarding the publication of anything which in the interests of the city should not be disclosed. They also know that the reporters, if they report unseemly squabbles, do not report all the vagaries of the aldermen, nor approach their task in an unkindly spirit. City hall reports might be made more interesting at times if the mirror were held up with fidelity to each alderman present.

But the public have a right to know what the men they elect are doing at city hall. This is not the private business of the members of the council, but the business of the taxpayers of St. John. The matters discussed last evening included one relating to the future conduct of the affairs of St. John harbor. The people have a right to know what is proposed, and there is absolutely no excuse for concealment.

If published reports of meetings of the board or council do not always reflect credit upon all of the aldermen it is not the fault of the reporters. Nothing could be more unfortunate for some members, in their aldermanic capacity, than to have the reporters pass upon an indulgent to a recent fool. The alderman who is afraid of criticism should do nothing to merit criticism.

ELECTIONS OR SESSION?

The provincial opposition will no doubt take note of the recent activity in government circles—both provincial and federal, along lines which it would be expected to take just prior to an election. There is still no word of the provincial by-elections, nor of a session of the legislature. It may be that Premier Robinson proposes to spring the general elections in the hope of a more favorable verdict than he might receive at a later period. His abandonment of the highway act, the present activity with regard to immigration, the renewed assurance concerning the St. John Valley Railway, the largely attended caucus of St. John supporters, the premier's statement about the province being at the beginning of an era of great development, are all signs that would seem to point to an early election. The statements made to the gentlemen likely to be appointed immigration agents in the old country smacks of a desire not only to make friends, but to remove at least one former critic of provincial government methods and finances from the field of local action.

On the whole, the opposition would be wise not to take it for granted that the house will meet before the elections are held. The premier is carefully measuring chances. He may decide to have the elections first.

PRECEPT AND PRACTISE

It is announced that Mr. M. McDade will be one of the new immigration agents, to be located in Ireland. Taken in connection with Dr. Pugsley's declaration that all good Liberals must support the local government, the appointment of Mr. McDade gives rise to considerable comment. At the last provincial elections Mr. Blair came down and declared, as Dr. Pugsley now does, that all Liberals must support the local government. Mr. McDade resented federal interference and vigorously opposed the local government in that campaign. He is understood to have continued in opposition until a recent date. As a result Mr. McDade is rewarded by an office which must have peculiar attractions for him. The obvious lesson for clever Liberals is that if they desire place and preferment at the hands of Dr. Pugsley they should oppose the provincial government and get an office.

One thing seems perfectly clear from Premier Robinson's statement about local immigration agencies. The new policy will enable quite a large number of persons in various counties to dip a hand into the public chest. The policy is a vote-getter first, but may incidentally get some immigrants. The need of an aggressive immigration policy is admitted and has been urged at various times by this paper. Premier Robinson has an opportunity, and the public will watch with interest the use he makes of it in the selection of his agents and the organization of his machinery.

The political campaign in Colchester is to be conducted without the use of money for corrupt purposes, so far as the pledges of the candidates and their leading supporters can ensure such a result. This is an especially notable and healthy indication in an exceptionally hard province in which to conduct a pure election. The example of Colchester should have a good effect throughout the country. As the Toronto News observed recently, it is an example of putting our after dinner oratory into effect. To preach purity and not practise it is a too common occurrence.

Hon. D. Pugsley threw a bone of contention among his followers before leaving for Ottawa. He asked them to choose a patronage committee to decide in what quarter the federal plums shall fall. It was a wise move from the minister's standpoint, since it will relieve him from a most vexatious and never-ending source of worry. There are nearly always plums, and there are always applicants. The patronage committee will lead a strenuous life.

At the time of writing there appears some possibility of a dead-lock today between the C. P. R. and the longshoremen. Nothing could be worse for the port than frequent labor disputes, especially in connection with the winter port business. It is sincerely hoped that amicable arrangements may be made and that the fears expressed this morning are groundless.

The revelations made in connection with the London, Ont., bribery cases are if possible more shocking than had been anticipated. The country's disgrace, revealed in the courts, should lead to such measures of reform as would make similar occurrences impossible in future campaigns.

News comes of the closing down of manufacturing plants in New England. If this should continue the maritime provinces will witness an immigration movement not prompted by any Canadian agency. It will be a case of idle men seeking employment, or provincialists coming home for the winter.

Now comes the steamship Mauretania, and makes a new world's record. Even the Lusitania is surpassed in speed. The Cunard people have been eminently successful in their effort to regain the Atlantic record.

R. D. Wilmot, M. P., has not been frightened off the field by the martial aspect of Col. McLean. Mr. Wilmot says he will carry Queens-Sunbury with perhaps less difficulty, because his opponent is Col. McLean.

Mr. Borden's campaign is bearing fruit. The government proposes to give the enlarged railway commission control of telegraph and telephone companies.

The governor of Iowa, with a detachment of national guards, prevented a prize-fight last evening. This governor deserves well of his people.

TO CONTROL TELEGRAPHS

Government Will Introduce Legislation to Regulate Telegraph Companies.

Ottawa, Nov. 21—The government has under consideration a bill for the purpose of increasing the membership of the Railway Commission by either two or three commissioners. There will also be added to the work of the board full control of telegraph and telephone companies. The details of the bill have not yet been completed. There will likely be some rearrangement of the board so that it can either hear cases by a full board or two sections sitting simultaneously at different points.

It is well known that the work of the board is increasing to such an extent that something must be done, and that at an early day, to meet the emergency. The board has now partial control of telegraphs, but under the amended act will have full control and also full control over telegraph companies.

The board of railway commissioners on account of the investigation into the railway wreck at Moore Lake will likely issue an order making railway companies cease erecting light engines to run from station to station under charge of an engineer who is merely asked to avoid regulations. A somewhat similar accident took place about two months ago. Engineers' light engines will, in all probability, be made to get orders the same as other trains.

George B. Kelsey, Geo. B. Kelsey, a resident of Montreal, died early Thursday morning, in the Royal Hotel, from apoplexy. He was a commercial traveller, representing the Goldsmiths Stock Company, of Toronto, and was well known to the jewelry merchants of the city among whom he was a general favorite.

He reached the city Tuesday night. He was complaining about feeling sick and Dr. T. D. Walker and Dr. Skinner were called, but in spite of all their efforts he died as stated.

THE INDIAN (Harper's Weekly)

'Twas the dead of night and as still as death. Save the murmured prayer of the wind. And the soaring clouds wrapped the sky in With a glimpse of the moon behind. The pale-face glanced through the open door. While his heart beat quick with awe At the spectral sight in the desert night. And the harrowing thing he saw.

IN LIGHTER VEIN HE SEEMS TO HAVE ONE.

(From Judge) "Has your boy an ear for music?" "I think he must have. A hopeless expression always overpowers his countenance when my wife sings." RESULTS COUNT. (American Spectator) He could not tell. By the angel. What the man put in the can. If kerosene. Or gasoline. So made a scratch. With a match. And applied inside.

(From the Chicago Record-Herald) "When I say no to a man I expect him to consider that the end of it." "And when you say no to a woman?" "I expect her to come back the next day with a more becoming hat on."

(From Judge) City Editor—You say that this man is "enjoying his vacation," etc. How do you know he is "enjoying" it? Reporter—Because his wife didn't go with him.

But not after that. (From Tit-Bits) Mrs. Crab (on a visit with her husband to view a villa for sale)—Oh, how beautiful—how beautiful! The magnificent view made me perfectly speechless! Mr. Crab—Then I'll buy the villa!

USUAL LUCK. (From the Washington Star) "What was the result of your husband's new system of playing snakes?" "Oh, answered young Mrs. Torkins, "the bookmakers had their usual narrow escape." IN FOR IT. (From the Chicago Record-Herald) "What's the matter, my boy? You look discouraged." "I am. My boss invited me out to his house to dinner a few evenings ago." "Well, that's not so bad." "You don't understand. I accepted his invitation, and I'm afraid now that I'll have to marry his eldest daughter or lose my job."

HENRY MILLER OFFERED TO TEACH POLITENESS TO COP

"Just Come Outside and I'll Give You a Lesson"
Said New York Actor to Police Lieutenant at Station House—Had Called to Bail Chauffeur of Auto in Which He Rode With Miss Anglin.

MARGARET ANGLIN.

(N. Y. American, Wednesday.)

Henry Miller, the actor, last night invited Lieutenant John Tinker, of the West Sixty-eighth street station, to come from behind the desk and put him out of the station. Mr. Miller straightway was escorted to the door by the doorman and a patrolman, whom the lieutenant had called for that purpose.

The indignation of Mr. Miller, according to those who witnessed the incident, was justified, and the belief was that if Tinker had gone outside the actor would have done his best in a physical encounter.

The trouble grew out of the arrest of Lester Newton, the chauffeur for Mr. Miller. The actor and Miss Margaret Anglin after rehearsal of a road company of Great Divide yesterday went up Riverside Drive for supper and a run in the machine. Shortly before 8 o'clock the chauffeur was placed under arrest at Seventy-third street.

Mr. Miller said to Miss Anglin that, as she went on the stage before he did, she had better take the Subway to the theatre. He continued on with the chauffeur. At the West Sixty-eighth street station the pedigree of the chauffeur was being taken, the actor at the same time telling the lieutenant in charge that Newton had not violated the speed law, and that it was impossible for the heavy machine to come down the hill from Seventy-fifth street to Seventy-fourth at a slower rate than it did. The power was shut off entirely.

Mr. Miller then asked what had to be done to have his chauffeur released.

Lieutenant Tinker was behind the railing, not in charge, but checking off the night posts for the men.

"Here, you," said he, pointing a finger at the actor. "You have got too much to say. There's too much talk out of you entirely."

"I'm not talking to you," said Mr. Miller.

"You got no business in here. Get out of here or I'll throw you out," Tinker is alleged to have said.

"If you come outside I'll give you a lesson in politeness you won't forget as long as you disgrace the police department," replied the actor.

"Oh, you," sneered Tinker.

"I wasn't talking to you before, but I am now," said Mr. Miller, "and what I mean."

Tinker had pushed the button and the doorman and a patrolman appeared.

"For that man out," said Tinker.

"Why don't you come out and do it, or after they have done it you come outside," retorted the actor. "I'll tell you why, you can't."

The actor went outside and shed the bearskin coat he was wearing, evidently thinking Tinker would appear. "That man is a ruffian," he continued. "What is his name?"

"Tinker," said a bystander.

"I'm sorry, I could give him a name that would fit him better," said Miller.

Inside the chauffeur had taken a roll of bills from his pocket and paid $100 for bail.

"Say, you are all right," said the lieutenant, "but if that boss of yours comes in here I'll put him in a cell."

The chauffeur held his peace and joined Mr. Miller on the outside.

The funny part of it was Lieutenant Tinker was not in charge of the police station at the time.

STRATHCONA'S RESIGNATION

Canadian High Commissioner
Expects to Give Up His Position Soon.

London, Nov. 21.—The Duke of Argyll, who was governor-general of Canada in 1878-83, today, in behalf of the Anglo-Canadians in London presented Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian high commissioner, with a large silver centerpiece, illustrative of the various phases of Lord Strathcona's life. Replying to the presentation address, the high commissioner said he hoped soon to resign his office into younger hands, but before so doing he desired to see the proposed "All-Red" route by way of Canada to the Far East an accomplished fact.

In the World of Sport

WILL TRY TO MAKE PEACE

Col. Hanbury-Williams to Endeavor to Get C. A. A. U. and Athletic Federation Together.

(Montreal Star) Unity of purpose. Consider Canada only. Very private sentiments for the sake of mutual glory.

These are the sentiments that will guide Col. Hanbury-Williams in his charge of Canadian affairs for the Olympic games.

These are the sentiments that will guide Col. Hanbury-Williams in his attempt to put an end to the unfortunate state that is tearing Canadian athletes asunder.

Lord Desborough, nobleman, sportsman of international renown, chairman of the British Olympic committee, thought he would be a fit man to look after Canada's interests.

Col. Hanbury-Williams is military secretary to His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada.

"In the Olympic games," he said, "we should win as Canada, not as certain club or associations. We should be unanimous.

"Take football, for instance, one association will say 'No' about certain players going, and another will say 'Yes,' and between the two you will lose your best men instead of the best athletes of the Dominion, you will have a local team."

"You seem to have the right idea of the situation," it was suggested.

"No," he replied, "I am only trying to learn, and it seems a most difficult problem. But I am going to learn, and no one can hinder me. I am going to understand this situation thoroughly."

"But at present my firm idea is that I should send over the best athletic teams of individuals which Canada can produce.

And unless the two divided camps can be brought together to meet on national grounds and make a national job of it, and not personal prejudice on one side, I do not see how we will be able to send a representative athletic delegation from Canada.

"I certainly will do my best to bring them together, because, as certain clubs further than the Olympic games, it seems to me that if they can be brought together now, and brought together, and then go to the Olympics, it will do great good for Canada in the future."

"There are a great many things to be thought of. In some respects the rules of the Olympic games are not applicable to Canada or to other colonies where conditions are different."

"I am a believer in straight sport, and not in handicapping. I dislike unnecessary roughness, hitting men in the back. Men who do that I think should be ruled out at once and kept off for a year at least."

"And here comes in the question of the point about sending Canadian athletes to the Olympic games in view of the division between the two athletic camps in Canada. The men who go to England must have certificates from the association or union to which they belong to the effect that they are amateurs."

"Now, those certificates are I take under the present circumstances."

"In bringing these two bodies together, considering local conditions, and I am referring now not to the Olympic games but to Canadian athletic affairs only, it would be easy to have the professionals out where they are undesirable, and to leave them in where local conditions make them desirable."

"In regard to the Olympic games we have got to remember that this is a national affair, not a fight of one against the other, and that we cannot accomplish anything with split camps.

"What, for instance, would be the use of mentioning to certain men going to the Olympic games, and then having one athletic body or the other send in a batch of affidavits against him, and thus watering our dirt before the whole world for the eyes of the whole world are on these Olympic games."

"I have been deluged with letters about this affair for and against the federation, for and against the Canadian Athletic Union, for and against either side, and then I have heard the question raised that if we do not do such and such, then the American Athletic Union will be angry and will not send men to compete."

"Well, it seems to me that we here have nothing to do with the United States in this job. We are here in this particular instance not working for the United States, but for Canada. This looking after the athletic interest of Canada is too big a job to allow us to look after the interest of any other country; other countries can look after themselves."

THE SPORTING CALENDAR

November 20 in Annals of Sport. 1878--At Chicago--George F. Sloan defeated Jacob Schaefer in billiard match, 3-ball game, for $500.

"Now here comes the Longboat question, for instance.

"When I was in England and discussed the Olympic games, my own thought was of Longboat as a representative of Canada's great runner."

"Then when I came back here I found the whole country agog through an agitation as to whether Longboat was a professional or an amateur."

"Well, he is certainly a great runner, and if he is not a professional, why should divided camps fighting one another prevent him from going?"

"But it would be a most undesirable thing to send a man and then have some one of these associations or bodies send a protest afterwards from its native country."

"WILL TRY TO SETTLE FIGHT." "When I was in England Lord Desborough, the chairman of the Olympic committee, who is a tremendous sportsman himself, asked me if I looked after the interests of Canada in this matter."

"I demurred, and I said: 'You are asking a big thing. Then I spoke to His Excellency and His Excellency delegated the work to me, and I am certainly going to use my best endeavors to settle this fight, for it means a good thing for Canada, and we have a big thing to do. We as Canadians want to win what we are going for and to this we must come together.'

"I have heard the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union side; at the end of the week I am going to hear the federation side."

"These gentlemen will find it difficult to come here in Ottawa, except in the evening, so I will go to Montreal and meet them."

"And I most assuredly hope that every one will help in the settlement of this difficult matter. Let us look at it from another point of view."

"Suppose we had a serious difficulty with another country and there were two parties in Canada fighting one another bitterly, and would not the two parties combine and smooth over the personal difficulties in view of the big thing that would be before them?"

"Well, it is somewhat the same in this case, and if Canada wants to make showing before the entire world, at those Olympic games, of which Canada can be proud, there is only one thing to do, and that is to stand united."

THE ROAD RACE
The Fastest Men in the Lower Provinces Will Compete in Tomorrow's Long Distance Event.

The Marathon road race tomorrow is creating the keenest interest and from present indications the fight will be a hard one. All entries so far to hand fully bear this out, as the fastest in the lower provinces are to be found among the starters.

While Hans Homer, the crack Halifax long distance man is a dangerous proposition, he will find some hard nuts to crack among the others. Of the local men Stubbs of the Marathons is the favorite, though Strirling of the Portland Y. M. A. is said to be lowering the Greek's colors. Then Merritt of the Algonquins is said to have been conditioning himself for the race for some time past. He was one of the fast men for short distances on Rothsey College's track team of some years ago. Whether he does equally well at the long distances remains to be seen. The entry of F. O. Sturmy, Wanderer's A. A. C., Halifax, was received today. The appointments, it is understood, of the different athletic clubs in the city to participate as officials tomorrow. The Greeks also express gratitude to Aid. Bullock for donating a beautiful medal for the contest. The last mile of the race will be finished at the Victoria grounds. A small entrance fee will be charged to the grounds, and tickets will be sold only up to within ten minutes of the finish.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 21 (Special)—H. Homer, Crescente; F. Sturmy, Wanderer's, and Sergeant White Royal Canadian Regiment, left today for St. John to take part in the Marathon Club's race tomorrow.

IMMIGRATION AGENTS
It is reported that Michael McDade and George R. Craigie, of St. John, will be two of the men sent by the immigration department to the old country in an effort to secure immigration to New Brunswick. The appointments, it is understood, have been decided upon but have not yet been confirmed by the minister of the interior, Mr. Oliver.

Mr. McDade will carry on the work in Ireland and Mr. Craigie in Scotland, while the third man, whose name has not yet been heard, will work in England.

JAMES MITCHELL WEDDED
James Mitchell, one of the crack ships of the Thistle Curling Club, and for years prominent in base ball circles, was married Thursday to Miss Amanda Thompson, formerly of Chapman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond at his residence, Waterloo street.

It was a very quiet wedding, only a few of the more intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. The bride wore no attendants. The bride was prettily costumed in blue. The many friends of Mr. Mitchell will be pleased to hear of his marriage and look after the interests of immigrants after they had arrived and had been placed.

The three delegates who would go to Great Britain in the interests of the department, Mr. Scott left for Halifax yesterday noon.

IMMIGRATION TO N. B.
Hon. C. W. Robinson, premier of the province, had a conference yesterday with W. W. Scott, superintendent of immigration. Afterwards the premier said that the question of organization had been discussed. It was proposed to have a central office either in Fredericton or St. John and appoint agents throughout the province who would report as to suitable localities and look after the interests of immigrants after they had arrived and had been placed.

The three delegates who would go to Great Britain in the interests of the department, Mr. Scott left for Halifax yesterday noon.

Mrs. John McMullin
Mrs. Mary McMullin, wife of John McMullin, factory inspector and former alderman, died suddenly at 11 p.m. Thursday at her residence, 145 Erie street. She was stricken with paralysis about 8 o'clock and although Dr. McIntyre, who was immediately called, did all that medical skill could suggest, it was unavailing and she died three hours later.

Mrs. McMullin was a daughter of the late Charles Gagner of Upper Gagetown. She is survived by her husband, five sons and one daughter. The sons are: Charles W., of the C. P. R.; J. Willard, in Upper Gagetown; Fred R. and Abram G., at home; Frank, at Mount Allison University. The daughter is Miss Alice, at home.

The members of the family except Frank and J. Willard, were with their mother during her last moments and messages of the sad event have been sent to those away and they are expected to arrive today. Besides those Mrs. McMullin leaves two brothers, one in British Columbia and the other in Upper Gagetown, and one sister, Mrs. Jacob Titus, of Upham, Kings county.

NORTH END EXCITED
Married Man Said to Have Left Town in Company With Young Unmarried Girl.

A north end married man is said to have been unable to withstand the charms of a pretty domestic in one of the hotels in that section of the city and it is whispered about that the pair left the city together last night. The man in question has been in the habit of meeting the fair damsel on the quiet and enjoying a stroll. Then it is said that he persuaded his charmer to fly with him and as a result the hotel has lost one of its employees and a wife is without her "hubby."

THE PATRONAGE QUESTION
The gathering of the Liberal executive yesterday morning in the office of the secretary, Heber S. Keith, is reported to have been a very interesting session. The meeting was called at the request of Hon. Wm. Pugsley.

The minister addressed the meeting, declaring himself desirous of being relieved from the patronage cars. Heing relieved to have instance one case in which there were upwards of 100 applicants for one office, and to have said that he believed that men in closest touch with the elections should pass upon applications for vacant positions. On his suggestion it was decided that a committee of seven should nominate twenty men, and from those twenty the executive, at a meeting to be held soon, will elect a patronage committee of seven. The minister also said that whoever this committee should recommend to fill any vacant position would be supported by him.

GOES TO ST. GEORGE
Rev. George Titus, of the north end, has accepted a call to the Christian church at St. George. Mr. Titus has lately been stationed at Niagara Falls. He will accept the call and take charge in two weeks. Rev. G. Nelson Stephenson is leaving this church and going to Michigan.

Mr. Titus will be remembered here as a ball player. He was one of the best of the local bunch of pitchers.

Courtneil-Barker
A quiet wedding will be solemnized at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at 41 Garden street, when Alice Marie Barker, daughter of Geo. B. Barker, of the city, will be united to Sydney V. Courtneil, of Boston, formerly of St. John.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. A. A. Graham, of St. David's Presbyterian church. A wedding supper will be served, after which the happy couple will leave on the Calvin Austin for their home in Boston.

ST. PETER'S HIGH TEA
The St. Peter's church high tea and sale will be held on Wednesday night, it being the most successful yet held. The credit for the success is given Rev. Father Maloney, who supervised the arrangements. Among the prize winners last evening were: James MacLaughlin, guessing contest, jar of candy; Miss Kelly, Roxbury, lottery; lace collar and cuffs; Mrs. Massey, Boston, necklace; Chris.
