

CONFESSION GOT BY THIRD DEGREE IS NOT ACCEPTED

United States Supreme Court Declares That It is Not Admissible.

AN AMAZING STORY

Presidential Candidate Davis Took Up Case of Young Chinese.

A fight of more than four years to save the life of a young Chinese student convicted of a triple murder, in which John W. Davis played an important part, appeared to the youth's friends here to have been won when they received word yesterday...

Mr. Davis Did Not Forget. The records were sent to Mr. Davis' office, according to the story told last night, he became satisfied that there was strong ground for taking into consideration of the admissibility of the confession to the highest tribunal and then Mr. Davis sailed for Europe.

One of Wan's most active friends lost heart then, particularly when he read that John W. Davis was being entertained by the King and Queen of England. But the very first thing Mr. Davis did when he returned to New York was to sign a brief and submit it to the Supreme Court.

Aside from the interest in the case created by the strange web of circumstance in which Wan became entangled, and the outcome of the unflinching fight to save him, it was regarded by lawyers and police authorities as having an important bearing on the admissibility of confessions obtained by the police in capital cases under methods that might be interpreted as duress.

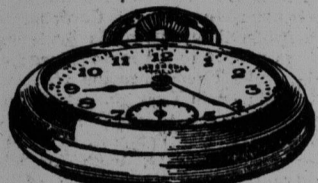

But what surprised us most was the championing of better lighting as compared with the sales return. While our total current cost for window lighting was increased from eight to seventeen cents an hour, the sales value of our show windows increased 40 per cent.

Which Window would make You Stop? How one merchant increased sales and quality patronage by increasing the light in his windows.

Wan since the youth was a child and had befriended him only a day or two before the murder.

The Story of the Confession. Wan was arrested on information of a Chinese who lived near the mission, who told that he had gone there, apparently after the murders had been committed and had been admitted by Wan and by him informed that Dr. Wu and his secretaries were out.

Wan said the stone was the petrified eye of one of the gods of his ancestors who had gone into the mountain to die; that for him to handle it was to take a terrible sacrifice and that some awful misfortune surely would overtake him.

Continuing the recital, Mr. Brandeis depicted the torment which was visited upon the prisoner. The medical witnesses who testified as to the torture Wan underwent said: 'He was as sick as that and in as great pain as that the world do anything to have the torture stopped.'

Mr. Davis Did Not Forget. The records were sent to Mr. Davis' office, according to the story told last night, he became satisfied that there was strong ground for taking into consideration of the admissibility of the confession to the highest tribunal and then Mr. Davis sailed for Europe.

was stressed by Justice Brandeis in his decision. The motive in the triple murder, one of the most sensational in the crime annals of the capital was always believed to have been to insure the cashing of a forged check for $5,000 the mission funds. Wan's brother, T. Li Wan, was arrested, charged with the forgery, but the falsely uttered instrument had disappeared and he could not be convicted.

To appreciate the full flavor of the situation in which these two Chinese boys found themselves in a strange land it is necessary to go back a few months before the crime. The boys had come from an aristocratic family in Shanghai, and their widowed mother was doing her best to maintain them while they got an Occidental education. Wan found his income insufficient, and, lest his chums know of his mental occupation, very secretly took a job as valet for Hugh A. O'Donnell of 22 West 86th-street.

Mr. O'Donnell had not had his Chinese valet very long when, one night he took from his file a cat's eye pin which had been given to him by a baseball player who brought it from the South Sea Islands. The boy began to shake and tremble and with evident anxiety asked his employer if the stone were a real cat's eye. Mr. O'Donnell supposed so, but didn't know whereupon Wan informed him that he could tell by putting a drop of water on it. If it were real the drop would roll off whole; if not, it would break and spread.

The American tried to make light of the youth's fears, but had to great success. When he reached his home the next night, he found a note, but no valet. Wan had put the cat's eye away in a drawer, left directions where to find it, and departed. Mr. O'Donnell sent for him and tried to coax him back. Wan would not come.

Mr. O'Donnell heard from Wan he was in jail in Washington, charged with murder. The circumstances which put him there are seldom equaled by those that followed. Wan was planning their young, but he was an inextinguishable maze of misfortune. Wan went to Washington to visit Dr. Wu, he and the hostess having conversed the Pacific on the same ship. Wan suffered a recurrence of stomach trouble, which had plagued him before, left the mission because it was short-handed and he needed nursing.

English to understand each other. They went to go somewhere with them. I said I had to return to sick brother. The next day the brothers went to the Union Station preparatory to returning to New York, where they had a room. T. Li went to buy the tickets and encountered the two strangers. One more, this time in the smoking room, they call me over and again made 'fuss' over me, at same time stating they want me to do them favor by cashing check for them at a bank. Having at times found himself in a similar predicament, T. Li finally consented to go to the Riggs National Bank and rode there in a taxicab with the tall Chinese. At the door the stranger handed him an envelope, told him to open it, while the murdered man lay in the basement, and the chance that a Chinese neighbor called at the mission and found him there led to the conviction. The two strange Chinese and the forged check were never seen or heard of afterward.

PUBLICITY HELPS SOME

The very fact that the Maritime problem has aroused so much discussion is one of the most encouraging signs for the future.

The publicity has helped somewhat already, but the Maritimes need a lot more of it, and of the vigorous kind.

The situation in which the Maritime Provinces find themselves has been brought to the attention of the rest of Canada with unusual emphasis within the last few weeks.

"Getting together," as we understand the phrase, implies movement from both sides, not Mahomet going to the mountain, or the mountain to Mahomet.

"So far as we can see, there is no disposition to treat any of the bonds of Confederation as scraps of paper.

"The puzzle lies in the fact that on the eve of the plebiscite Windsor reports the registration of 37,000 voters—and the total population, remember, is 50,000."

The plebiscite campaign in Ontario is warning of and in the cross-firing not even the righteous escape.

matter now, Mr. Currie said last night when asked for his comment upon the publication of the item.

London.—The following is the text of the British reply to the Boer ultimatum: "Chamberlain to Milner, High Commissioner: Her Majesty's Government have received with great regret the preposterous demands of the South African Republic conveyed in your telegram of October 10th."

Two.—The following is the text of the above series is a recapitulation of some of the objects, as we see the field, to the achievement of which a united people in the Maritimes should put forth their best efforts.

Three.—Making special use of the high quality many of our products have.

Four.—Keeping our people at home by giving a home scope for their energies and inventiveness.

Five.—Restoring our geographical birthright which we have allowed to be taken away, and so promoting immigration of the highest class.

Six.—Transportation adjustments, in rates where they are unequal. This is not a matter for vain clamor. It should mean a well considered laying of our cases before the Railway Board.

Forward The Maritimes!

In the last of a series of interesting and constructive articles on The Maritimes, a special contributor to the Sydney Post, now revealed as Senator J. S. McLennan, sums up his policies and suggestions for the advancement of these provinces. He writes:

While the readers of these letters have been patient, it seems timely to bring the series to a close. The constructive proposal contained in them is the formation of the Industrial Survey, by a group, self-constituted or appointed by the Maritime Board of Trade, not in our opinion by any Government.

Two.—The establishing of new ones.

understands its capabilities and is using them well. These advantages are solid, for they are not seen through the glamour of the new and the imperfectly known.

Eight.—We want to develop a spirit which will keep at home the vast amounts which have gone out of the country in profitless speculations.

Yes; for I can just imagine a future age of men, in which their characteristic has passed into a curiosity, a pale thing of antiquity; as I can barely imagine, yet can just imagine, a world in which the murder of Desdemona, the fate of Cordelia, will be considered curiously, as brute happenings proper to a time outlived; and again, while I reverence the artist who in Othello or in Lear purges our passion, forcing us to weep for present human we, The Tempest, as I see it, forces diviner tears, tears for sheer beauty, with a royal sense of this world and how it passes away, with a catch at the heart of what is to

Boy Lives For Three Hours—Death Attributed to Punctured Lung

Murray MacKenzie, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacKenzie, of Kingsley Station, near Westfield, was killed yesterday afternoon in a fall from a tree he had been climbing near his home. He lived for about three and one-half hours after the accident. It was thought that death resulted from a punctured lung although he had injuries also on the head and had a broken wrist.

tree and had not fallen directly to the ground but had slid down the trunk. Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie had left on a holiday trip on Saturday, Oct. 4, and were due home at the end of this week. Miss Bayard, of Westford, was keeping house at the time of the accident.

Murray was the only child living, his brother, Erroll, having been killed a few years ago at school when he was struck on the head by a stone thrown by another boy. Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie will receive the deepest sympathy of their friends and acquaintances in their sad bereavement.

OCTOBER BRIDES

ST. JOHN WORKER IN W.C.T.U. HONORED

Presentation of Handbag to Mrs. Seymour in Campbellton. Campbellton, N. B., Oct. 15.—A suggestion that a new health reader with sections devoted to anti-arctic propaganda and scientific temperance should be introduced into New Brunswick schools was made at the morning session of the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island today and in the evening session Rev. Thomas Marshall, secretary of the N. B. Temperance Alliance, gave an address on "Government Control of Liquor Sales."

The morning and evening sessions were held in the Methodist church with Mrs. Edna Bruce presiding. A pleasing incident of the morning session was the presentation of a black moles silk handbag to Mrs. Mary Seymour, of St. John, superintendent of evangelism. Mrs. L. O'Neill, in making the presentation on behalf of the union, referred to the faithful and untiring zeal of Mrs. Seymour as a member of the W. C. T. U. for 40 years and spoke also of her earnest endeavors for moral reform. Although taken by surprise, Mrs. Seymour gratefully thanked the donors. The opening devotions were led by Mrs. Edgar Cook, assisted by Rev. Mr. Godfrey, pastor of the church.

At the evening session Rev. Mr. Campbell led the devotions and gave an inspirational address. Mr. Marshall, in his address, enumerated steps which he said had been taken by the Government in preparing the way for Government control of liquor sales. He expressed the belief that the Government had deliberately and purposely neglected to enforce the prohibitory law and in that way to discredit it in the minds of the people. A Government that had failed so lamentably to enforce the existing law he did not think could expect to be entrusted with more.

He referred to the places where Government sale had been tried and he declared that it had failed in each instance. Mr. Marshall recommended the W. C. T. U. to organize its voters and prepare for the coming election, seeing that good candidates were nominated for both parties. He urged the members to serve notice that unless candidates were in favor of prohibition they would not receive the vote of any W. C. T. U. member.

Hydro rates are approved by Price, Waterhouse & Co. Use Your Own Power, Heat and Light. Hydro rates, which established a new, low rate record for St. John, are not based on competition. They were established to give consumers the current at cost. The hydro rates have brought electricity within reach of all classes. Hydro rates have increased consumption of electricity and created new business.

Moncton and Fredericton have petitioned the utilities' board for rate reduction on electrical energy, owing to the example and success of the St. John system which is the admiration and envy of Halifax.

Every "Load" Lightens the Burden. Increased Business Will Reduce Rates. ELECTRIC HEATERS—$5.50 and upwards. Make your home cozy on chilly nights. No smell, no smoke; clean and wholesome. BODY BUILDING TONIC HOLDS VAST STORE OF FOOD VALUE

Scientists Prove Father John's Medicine is Five Times More Nourishing Than Many Common Foods We Eat.

That Father John's Medicine contains a vast store of food value in strength-building, energy-producing elements is established by recent scientific tests as made by Harvey A. Sell, Ph.D., a well-known analytical and research chemist of New York City.

The scientific way of figuring the food value of any product is in terms of "calories" which are defined as the amount of heat used to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree.

Because it supplies this nourishment in a form which the human system most easily takes up, turning it into tissue, muscle, flesh and strength, Father John's Medicine has had more than sixty-eight years of success as a food tonic for those who are weak and run down.

It is absolutely guaranteed that Father John's Medicine does not contain any alcohol, or dangerous habit-forming drugs, or opiates of any kind. It is a pure wholesome nourishing tonic food so emulsified that it is readily assimilated by young and old alike.

NO CAPITAL, BUT HE MADE SUCCESS

Story of Canadian Opportunites in High Commissioner's Office Budget.

The Canadian High Commissioner's Office in London announces the following, under date of Oct. 2:

The Canadian Office has received a remarkable story of a shoemaker called John Pierce, who left Menard Bridge, Anglesey, in 1910 and without any previous knowledge of agriculture but with the assets of pluck and determination has become a successful Canadian farmer.

The Canadian Government agent at Bangor had advised him to precede his wife and their three small children. By June 18 his wages on a farm at Howard, Saskatchewan were $30 a month, with board and lodging. Before the end of the summer, having saved sufficient money for their passage, he sent for his wife and children. In 1912 Mr. Pierce took up a homestead in the Battle River district, where he remained for 12 months working on his own homestead as well as for neighboring farmers in his spare time. After earning sufficient money to build a small house he sent to Howard, Saskatchewan, for his wife and family. In 1913 Mr. Pierce sold a small portion of the homestead to the C. P. R. Co. and then bought 840 acres of improved land and buildings close to Seneca, Saskatchewan. A son now over 17 years of age took the adjoining free homestead of 160 acres.

Three years ago a Canadian Government agent at Bangor visited Mr. Pierce and his family at Seneca, and found that he and his son owned between them 500 acres of splendid farm land and buildings, 16 horses, eight milking cows, a good number of store cattle, about 20 hogs, a great number of turkeys, in which Mrs. Pierce specialised and every year sent a number to Messrs. Eaton, Winnipeg, for the Christmas markets, also a good number of poultry. Mrs. Pierce sent her cream and butter away, and with the proceeds they were able to run the farm, leaving the proceeds from the crops of wheat and oats as profit. All this was accomplished by a man with no previous farming experience and no capital, who arrived in Canada 10 years ago with two shillings and sixpence. During the week ended October 1, 213 visitors called at the office, of whom 136 obtained interviews and 24 registered.

Steps are being taken by the High Commissioner for Canada to dispose of Canada's share of the seal skins taken on Robben Island, Japan, during the year 1923, which has now reached London. These seal skins are allotted to Canada under the provision of the Pelagic Sealing Treaty of 1911, the number apportioned to Canada being 61 ordinary ones and 21 large old seals. Canada, the United States and Russia received equal allotments, while the Japanese Government took 610 ordinary seal skins and 215 skins of large old seals.

The London University authorities have notified the High Commissioner that G. O. Britton, who sat at the matriculation examination of the university held in Toronto last June, had passed in the second division.

GRIM FIND MADE IN OLD SEA CHEST

Years in English Outhouse With Remains of a Man in It.

Southampton, Eng., Oct. 16.—For 15 years an old sea-chest, black and grimy, hid a grim secret from the world. It lay in a ramshackle shed, surrounded by old iron and tins, and while children played round it the occupants of the house went placidly about their usual work.

The residents were an elderly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mabey, a son and two daughters, and no trouble seemed to be over their house in the Fremantle district of Southampton until the police called. They went direct to that old chest. Its lid was well nailed down, but a few minutes' exertion sufficed, and a gruesome find was made.

In it was a skeleton, lying doubled up amid a quantity of rags. During the intervening years the old chest had never been opened.

Apparently the body was undressed before being put into the chest, but a counterpane had been wrapped round it, and male and female garments had been used as packing. In the box, too, was found a portion of a novel.

Before the neighbors knew of the grim find, Mabey was a corporation laborer, and his wife were in the custody of the police. The charge, a most unusual one, was "unlawfully disposing of a certain body so as to prevent the coroner from holding an inquest."

There was a touching scene when the son, Harry, arrived at home and found his parents under arrest. He went to the police station and "demanded" his parents back, but failed to secure their release. He expressed his amazement when told of the skeleton.

Further light was thrown on the mystery when the long-delayed inquest took place. Detective-inspector Lacey said that Mrs. Mabey had told him that the body was that of her son, James Mabey. Inquiry, he said, had brought to light the fact that this lad was deaf and dumb, and also an invalid. He is said to have disappeared some 15 years ago, but no inquiries were made. The inspector said the police had not completed their inquiries, but he added that it was believed that the boy was dead when he was put into the trunk.

Dr. Ives, the police surgeon, had found that there was a dislocation of the spine, which might have been caused by doubling the body in order to get it into the chest.

As to the cause of death, that remains a mystery, although it is believed that the lad died naturally. What reason there was for hiding the death and secreting the body remains unknown.

The attention of the High Commissioner has been called to a project for an Arctic dam at Fury and Hecla Strait. It is claimed that this would result in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Hudson Bay being opened during the entire year, by eliminating the icebergs and fog from the North Atlantic Ocean, and would also favorably influence the climate of the northeastern coast of North America.

During the last week the following enquiries for Canadian goods have been received by the Canadian Trade Commissioners in Great Britain:

A London mineral importer requires samples of white (Muscovite) mica accompanied by lowest prices c.i.f. London.

A firm in Ireland seeks a connection with Canadian shippers of fresh apples. A London company asks to be placed in direct correspondence with Canadian mining companies producing cobalt and cobalt ores and also with smelters producing the speiss or residues, who are able to make offers for export.

A Glasgow firm asks regarding a source for Canadian honey.

A firm in Ireland inquires about box shooks for egg cases; they also desire to get in touch with Canadian egg shippers.

A Liverpool importer is in the market for 100 cases of frozen salmon and would like to hear from Canadian shippers.

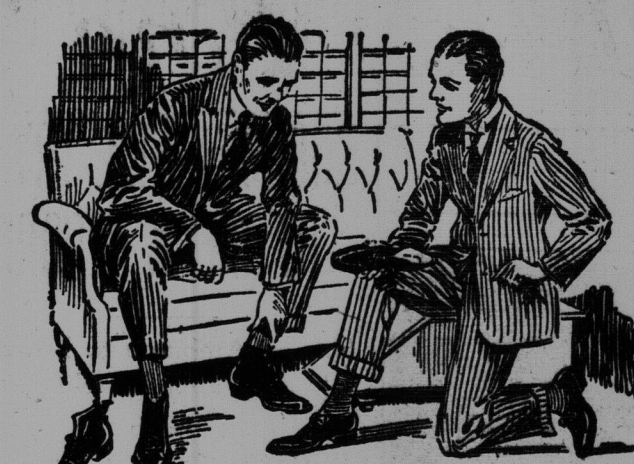

A London firm of manufacturers' agents who already represent important Canadian exporters wish to get into touch with Canadian manufacturers of dwellings, with whom contracts for regular shipment can be placed.

A Canadian fruit trade commissioner reports the opening of the season for sales of Canadian fruit in the United Kingdom with the arrival at Liverpool of the S. S. Montcalm, carrying apples from Quebec, and the arrival of the S. S. Sachem, with 4,000 barrels of apples from Nova Scotia.

The Quebec apples brought—Duchess, No. 1, 24s. 6d. to 26s. 6d.; Duchess No. 2, 21s. to 23s. 6d.; Alexanders, No. 1, 22s.; Alexanders, No. 2, 21s.

The S. S. Montcalm also carried packages for the fruit display at Wembley.

It has been stated that deaths by auto accidents in the U. S. last year averaged one every 36 minutes.

the government loans to cross Canada.

Later, after fulfilling their obligations for the loans, most of them hope to get into the United States which they have heard is the land of hope and glory for the housemaid, where the electrical appliances turn kitchen drudgery into play and where servants are paid big wages and get thrifty holidays.

For generations these thrifty Scotch lassies have been coming south to England to rule the kitchens and sculleries, as their Scottish menfolk are credited with ruling the British government at Westminster. But the domestic pay in England is small, often as low as 23s or 24s a year, with long hours and few holidays.

In Canada and the United States they hope for more pay and a wider life than is possible within the four walls of the English basement kitchen.

During the last decade this exodus of domestic servants has had much to do with the change of the mode of life in England. It is no longer possible for even well-to-do people to maintain the great Victorian town houses that line London's streets and surround her quiet squares.

Armies of servants were needed for such establishments, but servants are not to be had as in the old days, so the houses are being converted into apartments, and ladies who have rarely crossed the thresholds of their kitchens, are learning how to roast the fine beef of old England and boil the perennial potato.

YEAR ONE OF BEST IN HISTORY OF Y. M. C. A.

Membership of Branches Reporting is 988,522—Endowments Increase.

New York, Oct. 16.—(Associated Press).—Data available on 1,990 Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States and Canada, reporting for the 1924 Year Book and Official Roster, just issued, show the last association year to have rank with, and in several important directions to exceed, the record year of 1921. George B. Hodge, who has directed the collection and classification of association information for many years, states that "the reported volume and quality of association work as a whole has been the largest and best in association history, and much larger than was anticipated."

The largest annual increase in membership yet recorded is shown in a gain of 9.5 per cent. The total membership of the reporting associations is 988,522, of which 264,029 are boys.

A gain of 11.6 per cent. to 136,977 in the number of men and boys in swimming and life saving classes, and a gain of 10.4 per cent. to 11,784 in the number of men under leadership instruction in physical, educational classes, are the features of an expanding year in the physical work of the associations. There were 540,807 men and boys in gymnasium classes, a gain of 8.1 per cent.

Marked increase in the number of men and boys affiliated with Y. M. C. A. Bible classes is reported. A total of 262,943 for the year is a gain of 24.00 or 11.6 per cent. Aggregate attendance at Bible and religious meetings reached approximately 9,549,000, an increase of 11.8 per cent.

Endowment funds increased by 8.3 per cent. to $7,208,000, while the property debt increased by only 6.8 per cent. An increase of net association property to $189,221,000, 8.1 per cent. in the year, indicates the volume of property additions and is believed to mark the end of the deflation period of 1922-23.

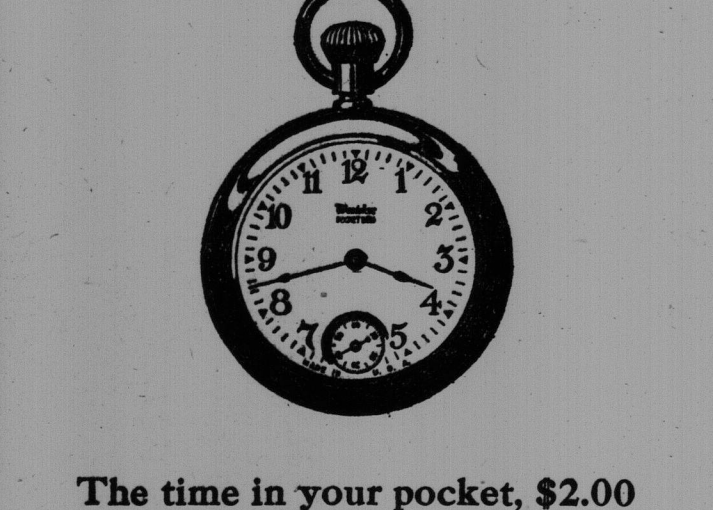

In a foreword Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A., states that at the present time the building bureau of the committee is retained on some 75 building projects, and points to the multiplication of branch buildings both in large and middle-sized cities and the evolving of building plans and projects for cities or isolated communities of under 10,000 inhabitants. The Financial Services Bureau of the Committee, he says further, reports campaigns for funds for new buildings and for clearing of building indebtedness aggregating over $14,000,000. "It is a striking fact," Dr. Mott adds, "that in spite of all criticism and other handicaps, the associations today are raising sums which before the war would have seemed absolutely impossible."

The latest "impossibility" is $3,000,000 subscribed by St. Louis citizens for a city-wide Y. M. C. A. development program.

Most of the Y. M. C. A. work in many of the countries of Europe is an outgrowth of wartime activities. In some places the association work has been entirely transferred to national control, American secretaries acting largely in an advisory capacity. In foreign countries outside of Europe and the Near East, the 384 associations directly related to the American movement have a total membership of 125,000.

"The various local boards and national committees in many of these foreign

WHAT'S IN ONE NAME.

(Philadelphia Inquirer.)

The name Ullick, to be given the second son of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, will appear strange to those unfamiliar with Celtic names and traditions, but it has been a rather favored Christian name in Ireland and parts of England for many years. There is nothing to indicate that it is a family name of the Lascelles, and certainly has not been borne by royalty for many centuries, and then the form would have been hardly recognizable.

Ullick is a strange combination of an old Saxon and Danish name which marks the invasion of the British Isles by those hardy races in ancient times. Some say also that it bears a relation to the heroic name Ulysses. It has been traced, however, to the Teutonic word for thought or mind, whence comes the name Hugh and its variations. And that name, by the way, is given a classic relation to the Latin name Augustus. Ullick is the combination of the Teutonic words for thought or mind and for reward or sport. It might properly be spelled Hugoleik, and there was a Hugoleic, sea king of the Geats and a figure in the ancient poem of Beowulf. Hugoleik was recorded as an ancient Franchish chronicler. The Danes called it Haukeik, and the development of Ullick from that is clear.

The first patent issued to a woman in the United States was in 1809 for a process of weaving straw hats with silk.

North End Tonight Will Pay Fine Tribute To Its Athletes

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME FOR BANQUET READY

Large Attendance Expected at Jubilation Gathering in I.O.G.T. Hall.

The signal success in the world of sport achieved by athletes from the North End of the city will be fittingly honored at a banquet this evening in the Temple of Honor Hall, Main street, with champions and representative citizens present in large numbers. A special committee has worked faithfully during the last two weeks on details of the affair and reports that everything now is in readiness for one of the largest functions of its kind ever attempted in the North End.

Proud of Athletes.

The North End has reason to be proud of a long line of champion athletes it has produced. Thomas A. Armour will preside at the affair and the following is the programme.

- The King.
- Welcoming address, T. A. Armour, Chorus, The Maple Leaf.
- The City of St. John, proposed by J. Fraser Gregory; response by His Worship Mayor Potts.
- Solo, Bayard Stillwell.
- "Why We Celebrate," John Thornton and P. J. Steele.
- Solo, W. Grennan.
- "Our Champions," proposed by J. C. Chesley, coupling the names of Charles Gorman, Louis Donovan, W. E. Yeomans, Harry Glegg, Aubrey Snodgrass and others.
- Solo, Samuel Holder.
- Our Guests, proposed by R. P. Hann; replied to by Frank White, J. Fitzgerald, Robert S. Sims, W. Stinson, Solo, R. Carson.
- Presentations, A. W. Corey and C. W. Ellsworth.

GORMAN WILL TRY TO BREAK RECORD

Has an Ambition to Lower His Time for 440 Yards.

The North End of the City of St. John has as one of its best athletes Charles Gorman, who is rated as one of Canada's greatest athletes. His record in speed skating has made his name as well as that of St. John, stand out prominently throughout Canada, the United States and in fact the world. His work on the steel blades shows plainly that the great Dominion of Canada has real reason to be proud of him.

Gorman is the holder of the world's record at 440 yards, speed skating. He is the United States national outdoor and international outdoor skating champion. He is the holder of a track record of 10 and 1-5 seconds for the 100 yards; a champion all round ball player, a determined real athlete that St. John has every reason to be proud of.

To hold a world's championship record is something that he should be proud of, but this apparently does not satisfy Charlie, as he states that he will get into the best condition for this coming winter with the hope that he will even lower this record.

While representing Canada at the Olympic games last winter, and while not in proper condition, it was the North End skater, Charlie Gorman who outskated Jewtreff for 440 metres in the 500 metre event and then collapsed for lack of proper training. The pace Gorman skated was responsible for Jewtreff being able to win the only championship among all the skaters from North America.

Gorman's style on the ball field is that of a fighter from start to finish, and his work as a ball player is good. His showing with the Portlands, the provincial champions for this season, has had much to do with this North End team winning City and Provincial senior amateur baseball championship for 1924.

As a skater he has not only made other skaters capture world's records, but last winter set a new mark in the 440 yards dash by covering that distance in 86 3-8 seconds.

He is just as determined a fighter in the ring as he was when overseas during the great war fighting for King and country, and it would not be surprising that this coming winter his determination and ability will cause him to lower his own world's skating record for the 440 yards speed skating.

International Skating Champion

CHARLES GORMAN. Besides being the international outdoor Amateur Skating Champion, this North End boy is also United States National Champion and holder of the world's record for the 440 yards outdoors. He is a ball player and sprinter of ability.

DAYS OF ROSES ARE RECALLED

Many Familiar Names Appear in Line-up of Ball Teams.

Many a baseball fan will remember the excellent battles that the Roses, a North End team, put up against all-comers about 26 years ago. This team had a large following and fought many a hard game. The North Enders played their most interesting games with the Alerts and St. John's, and also the Tartars, of Fredericton, Eastport, Me., and the Portlands, of the North End. The Roses in those years lined up with the following players: O'Neill, 2b.; Shannon, 3b.; McLeod, c.; Friers, pitcher and 1b.; Curran, s.s.; S. Kelly, i.f.; Stone, p. and 1b.; Colohan, c.f.; Black, r.f.; Whelby, 1b.; W. Kelly, s.s. and 2b.; Patterson, s.s.; Mills, s.s.; Mackin, p.; Bourke, i.f.; Cunningham, r.f.; White, s.s.; Malcolm, c.f.; Cowan, p.; Long, r.f.; Mitchell, 2b.; McGuire, 1b.; Tilley, 2b. The above players were members of the Roses for a number of years.

Opposing the Roses were a few teams and players, as follows: Alerts—Mitchell, s.s.; Shaw, c.; McDonald, 2b.; Mackin, c.f.; Long, 3b.; Murphy, p.; Ward, 1b.; Coughlan, r.f.; Burke, c.f.; White, s.s.; Britt, 1b.; McGuigan, p.; Driscoll, c.f.; Tufts, 1b.; Burns, c.f.

St. John's—Kearns, c.f.; Olive, 3b.; White, s.s.; Britt, 1b.; McGuigan, 2b.; Burns, r.f.; Langan, c.; Murphy, p.; Whitteck, c.f.; Potts, 2b.; Britt, r.f.; Mills, c.; Henderson, p.

Tartars—J. Tibbitts, p. and c.f.; McFarlane, c.f.; McGoldrick, 1b.; Embree, c.; Howe, 3b. and s.s.; Finamore, s.s. and 3b.; A. Tibbitts, c.f. and r.f.; Cushman, r.f. and p.; Ferguson, 2b.

It will be noticed in the lineup of the teams above the names of certain players appear on more than one team and the reason given is that during the number of years these teams were in competition certain players shifted from one team to another.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH.

Mrs. Forsides was engaging a new cook. She was very particular about any servant she took into her house and, in spite of the shortage, she always insisted on highly satisfactory references.

"Have you any references?" she inquired of one applicant who seemed more or less suitable.

"Yes, ma'am," answered the applicant, brightly, "a lot of 'em."

"Then why didn't you bring them with you?" asked the prospective mistress.

"They're just like my photographs, ma'am," replied Clara, with a smile. "None of 'em do me justice."

SINGS IN BOSTON SAINT JOHN MAN IS HEARD HERE

Friends and relatives of Dr. Percival L. Bonnell, who is on a visit to Boston, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Q. Dowling, 73 Duke street, last evening and listened to the St. John baritone's solo, "The Lord Is My Light," as broadcasted by the Westinghouse station "WBZ" from the Hotel Brunswick, Boston. The solo was very clear and distinct, so much so that four-year-old Evelyn Bonnell, daughter of Dr. Bonnell, exclaimed: "Why, that's my daddy." The pleasant entertainment was made doubly interesting because the radio set was operated and assembled by Master Reid Dowling, a brother-in-law of Dr. Bonnell.

WAS MOST FAMOUS MAN BROADWAY HAS EVER KNOWN

"Diamond Jim" Brady Had Colorful Career There for Decades.

LAVISH SPENDER

His Jewels, a Set for Every Day, Were Wonderful Collection.

A house changed hands in this city the other day, says the New York Times. There are scores of such transactions in real estate weekly, but this particular one carried an interest of its own. For it was the house at 7 West Eighty-sixth street, home of the late "Diamond Jim" Brady, whose colorful career for decades was the talk of the Broadway he loved. To it he returned in the small hours of the morning after his thousands of nights along the Great White Way in the period when golden bubbles sparkled openly and cabarets never closed their doors; from it he emerged each morning, fresh and alert, to plunge into the world of business, in which he had few equals. Hard-headed, driving salesman by day—king of Broadway by night. Such was Diamond Jim Brady in the days that were, nor has his fame been forgotten where the bright lights burn. No stranger or more vivid personality ever won to enduring fame along Broadway. Night after night, year after year, saw Diamond Jim Brady—big, sturdy, kindly faced—playing the prince of spenders at theatre and restaurant alike, while from the bosom of his shirt and the fingers of his hands blazed the shen of jewels worth a fortune. Broadway in its day has developed a host of interesting characters, but no one more truly typified its free-handed spending than Diamond Jim Brady. At a nod from him the managers of theatre knew whether or not their shows were to be a success; lordly head waiters rushed in person to serve him and his party at the choicest table at their disposal; on the race-track his string of thoroughbreds stormed to many a victory. Broadway was his.

Across the continent stories and legends about him spread like wildfire. San Francisco as well as New York knew all about Diamond Jim, the most famous figure Broadway ever had. His massive diamonds were the subject of a legion of newspaper paragraphs and stage jokes. He wore them bigger than they had ever been seen before along a street where display of jewelry is too frequent for more than passing notice.

Fine Looking Lassies Come To Make Homes Here

This group shows part of a large party of Scotch domestics, who sailed from Glasgow to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner, Mont Laurier. These girls are all going out to assured posts in various parts of Canada. The Lady Supervisor of the Women's Branch, Department of Colonization, Canadian Pacific Railway, organized the party.

Through crowded pavements and thronged restaurants he moved, and never once did the hand of any of those light-fingered gentry who ply their trade where the life is gayest at night reach out to attempt possession of Brady's gems. "Cooks touch Diamond Jim Brady?" inquired a police officer once. "I should say not. If they ever got away with a few of his diamonds or other jewels, where would they dispose of them? Diamond Jim's stuff is too well known. He'd have the crooks back of bars beside of forty-eight hours." For every day of the week Diamond Jim had a separate set of jewelry. He wore them in rotation, and it was even said that one could tell the day of the week by observing what jewelry he was wearing. One night he would appear blazing in diamonds, the next in rubies, the next in emeralds. Thirty sets were in his keeping, complete with scarfpin, shirt studs, cuff links, down to the smallest article. But it was the diamonds which won him his name and to which he was particularly addicted. "They are my pets," he used to say. "Outside of my diamonds I have no 'vix'." And strangely enough this was true. Diamond Jim Brady, who lived the life of Broadway for decades, was never known to touch a drink. Other relatives at his parties might grow mellow or even belligerent on the famous beverage.

ages of Broadway, but through all the hilarity big Diamond Jim would sit smiling and abetentious. He did not even smoke. "Everybody must have his good time in his own way," he said. "Some people find it by drinking. But that isn't my choice. I simply like to get a crowd of my friends together every night and watch them enjoy themselves." So he sat among the revelers with his jewelry glittering on his massive person. They were everywhere about him. His watch, studded with diamonds, was worth $9,000. In his umbrella handle was set a $1,200 stone. Even his suspended buckles, the clasps of his garters, were adorned with jewels. Other millionaires might go in for the priceless paintings or tapestries—Diamond Jim went in for gems. For 26 years he indulged in his fancy and at his death in 1917 even the Jewellers of the city were amazed at the magnitude of his collection. No fewer than 2,499 diamonds were in his "transportation" set. His racing set held 1,047. His collection revealed the amazing total of 12,000 diamonds. Ring (wheel) 1 diamond (12 carat); 42 small diamonds; scarfpin (horse's head) 126 diamonds; scarfpin (game cock) 46 diamonds; scarfpin (small wheel) 11 diamonds; watch (donkey ornament) 129 diamonds; 1 ruby; tie clip (camel) 242 diamonds; 1 ruby; chain, 80 diamonds; pencil (steamship) 80 diamonds; stud (bicycle) 119 diamonds; stud (automobile) 40 diamonds; 4 rubies; cuff links (tank car) 92 diamonds; (hopper car) 22 diamonds; (gondola car) 29 diamonds; (coal car) 72 diamonds; vest buttons (animal heads in circles) 243 diamonds; 8 rubies; 4 olives; combination button (rooster in circle) 42 diamonds; 99 roses; 1 sapphire; button (airplane in circle) 22 diamonds; collar button, 1 diamond; eye-glass case (locomotive) 210 diamonds; "J. B. B." monogram (mermaid) 184 diamonds; 8 rubies; pocketbook clasp (railroad car) 87 diamonds; belt buckle (lion and tiger) 146 diamonds; 2 rubies. One Ring Cost $20,000. The most valuable single piece in Diamond Jim's collection was a 32-carat emerald surrounded by six 14-carat diamonds, the whole made into the ring of his emerald set and valued at $20,000. The ring of his favorite set held a diamond surrounded by rubies.

Folly to Suffer With Piles
Step into any drug store, get a box of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, and read the directions. You will find them to be the most reliable and most effective remedy for PILES, HEMORRHOIDS, BRUISES, AND SWELLINGS OF THE RECTUM AND PERINEUM.

It was so large that it covered three fingers of his hand. He also appeared frequently in public wearing a bizarre set of jewelry the basis of which was gold coins. Ten and twenty dollar gold pieces sparkled on his person under the electric light when he went out to do Broadway in this set. Year after year Diamond Jim spent a fortune entertaining his friends where the lights were brightest. He was beyond a doubt Broadway's greatest spender and yet he never regarded himself as extravagant. "I never spent a dollar until I earned it," he said briefly. "It's great to be able to spend a lot of money if you can afford to. Of course, New York is the most extravagant place in the world, but I like it just the same." He turned abruptly to the question of spending on Broadway. "Some people spend money they haven't got or else give their money for nothing just to show they can spend. A man will give a Broadway cloakroom boy a dollar for handing him his hat. Or a man will order a dinner of 15 dishes with half a dozen bottles of wine. A man has a quarrel with a woman in a restaurant and breaks the $800 fan he has given her. Then he says, 'Never mind, I'll buy you another tomorrow.' That's Broadway for you."

Diamond Jim was generous almost beyond reason. It was commonly reported that he gave away hundreds of thousands of dollars to his friends. "There never was an appeal to him for money or clothes by a man or woman to which he didn't respond," one friend is quoted as saying. "When Diamond Jim realized he was about to die he said that he didn't care to see his friends, for fear they would feel it was the last time."

In 1912 Diamond Jim was seriously ill. He thought then that the end was near. So he tore up $100,000 worth of I. O. U.'s of his friends. "I didn't want to leave any trouble behind for any one," was the way he explained his action.

His Business
Diamond Jim Brady may have been famous from coast to coast, but very few of the public ever connected him with James Buchanan Brady, vice president of the Standard Steel Company, and probably the greatest salesman of railroad supplies New York has ever known. This was the other side of Diamond Jim—the side which he showed to the world in his office at 170 Broadway, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. He started his career as a baggage smasher in the New York Central Station. Then he had a chance to become a salesman of machinery and took Young Brady, who later was to own so many clothes that they occupied an entire floor in his house, was forced to borrow a decent suit in which to make his first calls as a salesman. From the start his success was phenomenal. In the end he was a director in a dozen corporations and banks. No competitor could hope to equal him in closing big contracts for railroad supplies, for Diamond Jim had sales methods all his own. It was said of him that his intuition regarding the need of railroads for equipment was uncanny. He would go out over the line of a railroad for weeks inspecting his equipment, and then he would call in person at the office of the president. Everybody knew Diamond Jim Brady. Doors would fly open at his approach. When Diamond Jim was over 60 the dance craze struck Broadway and claimed him as one of its leading devotees. Night after night he turkey-trotted in the cabarets, enjoying himself to the limit. Still he threw his money about by night among his friends, and still he paid it up by day in his office downtown, where there was a certain rollop desk whose surface was always clear of confusion. "I'm wearing $55,000 in jewelry today," he told one caller as he sat at his desk. "What of it?" No one either before or since Diamond Jim Brady ever attained his reputation as a critic of the theatre. Musical comedy was his favorite, and many a manager merely by watching Diamond Jim was enabled to hazard a sure guess as to the outcome of the piece. An inveterate fight-nighter, Diamond Jim was enabled to hazard a sure guess at every box office. "If Diamond Jim goes to sleep before the first act is over, it's a sure bet that the show will be a failure," declared one theatrical man. "If he stays awake for two acts, then the chances are the show will have a fair run. But if he's still awake and interested at the fall of the curtain, then all there is left to do is to go out front and hang up the 'Seats reserved six weeks in advance' sign. The show is going to be a corker."

Entire Floor for Wardrobe
Broadway watched Diamond Jim, its acknowledged ruler, for another thing—the hint on the latest fashion. Dressed always in the forefront of the vogue, Diamond Jim was noted for the extent of his wardrobe. Probably he alone knew how many suits of clothing he actually owned. A partial list of his outfit at his death included 30 winter and spring overcoats, 42 hats, 16 cutaway suits, 71 pairs of shoes, 26 summer suits, 60 pairs of gloves and 18 belts. He maintained 200 valets in the Eighty-sixth street house to attend to his wardrobe. One floor was given over to it.

For decades he astonished the business world by day and the scintillant lane of Broadway by night. But in the end his marvelous constitution failed him. He developed serious stomach troubles and his doctors sent him to Atlantic City. Here he lived quietly in the winter of 1917 in an apartment costing $1,000 a day and on April 19 there came the heart attack from which he died. Even to the end his career was spectacular—all Atlantic City was stirred when he bought a pair of glasses studded with rose diamonds for his dog and paid out $6,500. The

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this, get about two ounces of peroxide powder from your drugist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Finishing and evening blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxide powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

The wind grows weary and the restless leaves Lie prostrate, while the fall tip-titled moon Looks through her mist of tears and silent grieves.

AN UPWARD TURN IN PRICES TODAY

Buying Orders Predominating in New York—Very Dull in Montreal.

New York, Oct. 16.—With buying orders predominating at the opening of today's stock market, prices turned upward. Fractional gains and advances of a point or more were scored by other issues, including North American and Willys Overland preferred. Oils were strengthened by a further decrease in crude oil production.

Montreal Market.
Montreal, Oct. 16.—Extreme dullness marked the opening of today's stock market. Alcohol being the only issue of which most lots changed hands. It was up 1/2 to 3/4. Twenty shares of our preferred sold unchanged at 8 1/2. The balance of the list received no attention.

Cable Transfers.
Montreal, Oct. 16.—Cable transfers, 4 1/2%. British Empire steel offered at 7 1/2%; no sales.

ANATOLE FRANCE—A TRIBUTE

(New York Herald-Tribune)
We recall the remark of a distinguished Frenchman on a conversation at which he assisted between Anatole France and George Bernard Shaw. The Irishman, he said, had no background at all, he was his own ancestor. But his interlocutor, fully as original, fully as personal in all his accents, drew upon a culture which went back, back, back to the Ionian Isles and beyond. From all those remote sources Anatole France drew the same inspiration, one that made him free of beauty, of charm. Think of the literatures of his time, beginning with the august name of Sainte-Beuve! Not one of them knew his mere magic, not even the Impassioned Gautier, with his cult for the beautiful. There have been all manner of potent voices in French letters during the last fifty years. Not one of them had the haunting timbre of that which has just been stilled. It suggests, insinuates, where that of a Bruckner, says, is adulatory and bleak. Many a voice in that choir inspires respect. That of Anatole France invokes affection.

His readiness, of which we would make so much, had the breadth, the sympathy, the gift for fellowship which the word comrade. The author was an aristocrat. The man belonged to democracy. He had the insight of genius and with it the common sense which is developed out of a feeling for human contacts and things. He leaves behind him no philosophical systems, no critical formula, but the possibly more enduring legacy of an individual spirit and a supple, ingratiating habit of mind. It is really illustrious? We do not know. We only know that in modern French literature there is no other type so gently provocative, so diverting, so likable.

Peeved Over Pup, Hsu Tries Suicide To Haunt Chauang

What could he do? How could he make Chung suffer? He would commit suicide! His blood would stain Chauang's doorstep, and his spirit forever would haunt Chauang's dwelling.

Peking, Oct. 16.—In the narrow, crooked street that borders Lung Fei Sa, the curio bazaar, lived one Chuang Erh, dealer in dogs. His friend and partner was Hsu Tu, stealer of dogs. Hsu would hunt the alleys for stray Pekinese pups which he would take to Chauang's stall to be sold. The two divided the proceeds.

BOND DEALERS OF TORONTO INDICTED

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer; Amelius Jarvis, Jr., A. Jarvis, Jr., and Harry G. Peppall, president, vice-president and general manager, respectively, of the former Toronto brokerage firm of Amelius Jarvis & Co. Ltd., and Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former Deputes Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, all had true bills brought in against them by the grand jury, which this afternoon presented their finding to Chief Justice Meredith in the Criminal Assize Court.

First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds—Why They are Safe Investments

Barron's—a reputable New York Financial Weekly—had this to say recently of First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds: "Many investors have discovered what appears to be a perfect type of security within the last two or three years. To the investor who is temperamentally inclined to play safe, a type of bond which is (1) absolutely safe, (2) does not fluctuate in value, (3) yields from 6% to 7% on the investment makes a strong appeal. These three attributes if they can be substantiated, entirely dwarf any claims of attractiveness that may be presented on behalf of any other type of bond."

We have developed this type of security for Canadian investors. The First Mortgage Bonds of the Drummond Apartments, Montreal; the Booth Buildings, Ottawa; the Barrington Street Realities, Halifax; the Drummond Investment Company, Montreal, and the more recent Acadia Apartments, Montreal, have figured prominently in our offerings.

Investors in securities of this type have seen their property values well maintained, and in the meantime have secured 6 1/2% or more upon their investment. From time to time (as opportunity arises) we shall purchase and offer other choice First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds to our clients. Meantime we invite you to write for a copy of October "Investment Items", which contains a very informative article on this type of security.

Going Strong at 87

J. K. MACDONALD
On October 12 J. K. Macdonald, dean of the life assurance business in Canada, celebrated his 87th birthday.

Mr. Macdonald was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in the year Queen Victoria commenced her reign, to be exact October 12, 1837. All his life he has been blessed with a vigorous constitution, and those whose pleasure it is to meet him upon his visits to the office (which he attends almost every day) are delighted with the keen interest that he still maintains in them and the affairs of the Confederation Life Association. He is one of the great pioneers in the business life in Canada; and it is probably a fact that he has been engaged in business longer than any other man now active in business life in the Dominion.

THE DISCOVERER

(New York Herald-Tribune)
It has always seemed one of the most striking overights of history that the discoverer of America should have so generally failed to discover it. But it is possibly by an oversight of the historians that America—or our part of it, at any rate—has never quite succeeded in discovering Columbus. Every one knows that when the "Admiral of the Ocean Sea" died at Valladolid in 1506, he left behind him a magnificent title, he had done no more than touch on the mainland of North America. What every one knows in this country does not always appear to be so old established that it was already passing into its decline. Columbus's connection with the United States was purely accidental; his connection with the greatness of the Conquest was direct and immediate, and it is the magnificence of the Conquest which gives the truest expression to the real qualities in the Admiral still celebrate Columbus. He deserved there were cruelty and cupidity and it.

English "As She is Wrote" by the Ukrainian

an amazing individualism in it that would not in the least be understood by the ladies who instruct in American history in our rural schools; but there were chiefly an unbelievable courage and reckless energy and a blinding color of one of the world's greatest romances performed by its greatest romancers. The schools might not, it is true, understand that, either—but they still celebrate Columbus. He deserved there were cruelty and cupidity and it.

This is a photographic reproduction of an envelope received at the Winnipeg Post Office. In English it reads "Winnipeg, Mr. Director of office of Company C.P.R. of Canada. The writer was Iwan Storzuk, of Manayabo, Cuba, a Ukrainian who wanted the railway Company to interest itself in a Switching investment. Just what the investment was, he did not say. In spite of the peculiarity of the address the letter was delivered to the Canadian Pacific office in Winnipeg without loss of time.

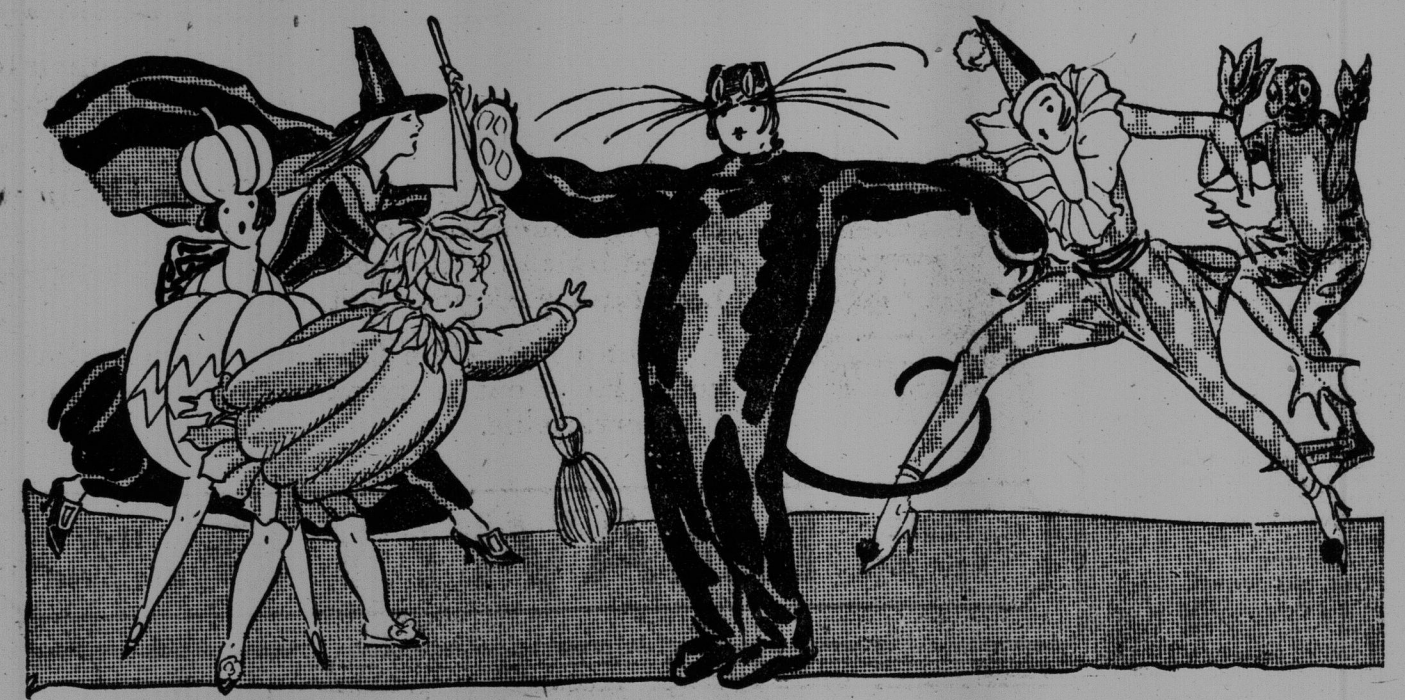

THE PARTRIDGE SCARCITY
The scarcity of partridge this season is still unexplained. That they are scarce is confirmed, not only by hunters in the woods near the settlements, but by log cruisers in the deep forest. This would seem to dispose of the theory that they have retreated to the distant woods, to appear later in haunts nearer the reach of the sportsman. There is much speculation as to the cause of the wholly unexpected scarcity of this much desired game bird.

SNAPPY HALLOWE'EN COSTUMES

It's Easy To Make Your Own Outfit For a Party

No matter how inexpertly you may handle a needle and thread you can fashion a costume for yourself that will be quite appropriate for a Halloween party.

The ever-present Halloween black cat and witch, floral gowns or a vegetable one, if you prefer to go as a turnip instead of a rose, simple costumes of yellow or orange, decorated with black figures pasted or sewed on at intervals, are always effective and easy to obtain.

A frog costume is unusual and distinctive. It may be made of cambric, chambray, satin, salinette or poplin. This costume is suitable for adults, misses and juveniles.

requires 13-4 yards of 36-inch sateen. The lower edge measures 2 1/2 yards and can be worn by all.

IS FINE PICTURE AT QUEEN SQUARE

Sailor Characters Feature in Gripping Tale, "The Storm Daughter"

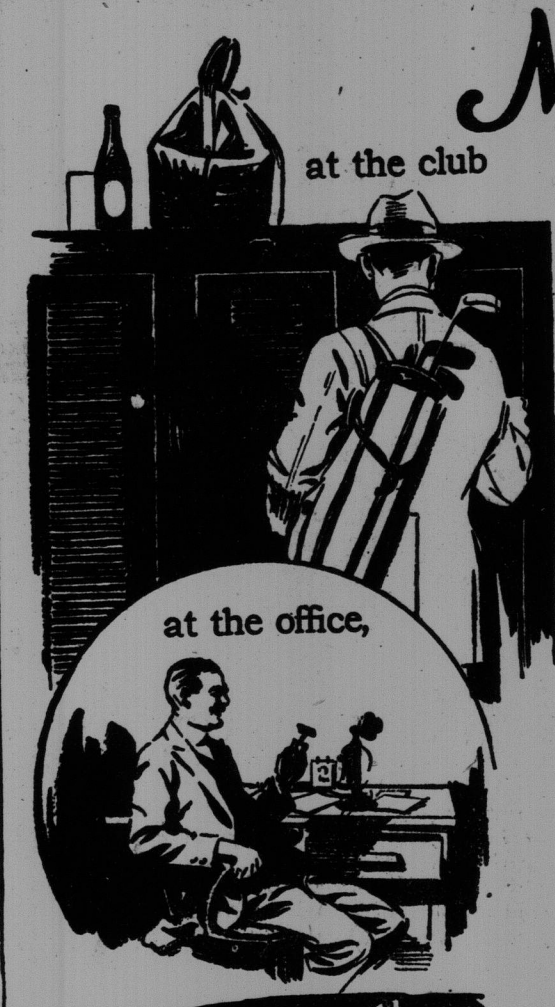

At last a screen production that deals with the turbulent life of the sea—ye tells it humanly! Such is Priscilla Dean's latest vehicle, "The Storm Daughter," which opened last night at the Queen Square theatre.

Priscilla Dean plays the lone woman, Kate Masterson. Having been shipwrecked and picked up by the crew of the large vessel, who refuse to put her ashore, she turns about defiantly, in the inimitable Dean style, a spitfire in action.

Tom Santschl, with a closely cropped beard, immediately informs her that she can help the cook. Incidentally, with well-embellished profanity, he announces that he hates all women. She indignantly informs him that she is a girl.

confidence, he drinks heavily on, so as to give rise to all the brutish instinct in the man whom the crew called "Brute" Morgan. Foul though many of his deeds had been, on that same night, he performs the vilest of his brutal career . . . and repents in the morning in the light of sober reality.

Dorothy Devore To Take Up "Serious" Pictures

(By A. H. Frederick.)

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 16.—Dorothy Devore, having firmly established herself as a leading screen comedienne, now deserts comedy for more serious pictures.

"To get my sense of humor back," is the way she explains it. Miss Devore, fresh from the triumph she scored in "Hold Your Breath," a Christie feature wherein she proved herself a veritable feminine Harold Lloyd for wall scaling and similar hair-raising stunts, is making her first dramatic picture under directorship of Hugo Ballin for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Title of the picture is "The Prairie Wife," and the male lead is in the hands of Herbert Rawlinson. Miss Devore, in making the transition of the drama's leading lights, notably Marie Prevost, Gloria Swanson, Mae Busch and Betty Compson. That she hopes to follow them to their present triumphant heights, may be understood. "I suppose there comes a time in the career of comedians and comedienne says: "I know that was the way with me. I felt that I had gone as high as possible in comedy work in "Hold Your Breath"—both literally and figuratively. I wanted to try the more unlimited bounds of serious pictures. "And really I'm not joking when I say that I almost had lost my sense of humor through comedy-making. "Whether it's the natural reaction—a swing of the pendulum, so to speak—or something else, I don't know, but making comedies is a very, very serious matter compared with the making of "serious" pictures. As soon as cameras cease grinding on comedy lots there's somewhat of a funeral aspect. "The strain is greater, as comedies are largely a matter of improvisation, and much of the impromptu business, being done, necessitates reshooting of the scene. Not very soothing to the nerves when the scene might call for bumps and bruises. "The Prairie Wife" is a story of character development, quite ample to test Miss Devore's dramatic abilities. She is trusting in it to establish her in the more serious side of screen work, with aided encouragement in Ballin's enthusiasm at the qualities she has shown.

MISS CARMICHAEL AGAIN PRESIDENT

National Council of Women Concludes Business—Martyr Ladies in Officer List.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—It is now recorded in history what has been accomplished in the interest of women and children at the sessions of the thirty-first annual meeting of the National Council of Women, as with the exception of some committee meetings the convention has been brought to a close. Representatives were appointed from the National Council to attend the members, the quinquennial of the International Council of Women to be held in May in Washington under the presidency of Lady Aberdeen.

To Mrs. Atherton Smith of St. John the privilege of conveying the thanks of the delegates to the local members of the Council and of presenting flowers to the president. The idea of the present day was not revenge but reformation, she believed. It was recommended that there should be physical and mental examination of all convicted persons before they were sentenced, and that the findings of these cases be available to those having the custody of the prisoners.

Officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. C. E. Carmichael, New Glasgow, N. S.; vice-presidents, Mrs. C. H. Thorneburg, Ottawa; Mrs. W. Dennis, Halifax; Dr. Augusta Stowe Gullen, Toronto; Professor C. M. Derick, Montreal; Magistrate Emily Murphy, Edmonton; Mrs. G. Kerr, Calgary; Mrs. Adam Short, Ottawa; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Horace, Toronto; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Hamilton; treasurer, Mrs. Sidney Tween, Waterloo; conveners of standing committees include: Conventions, Mrs. Gordon Hewitt, Canning, N. S.; Immigration and colonization, Mrs. M. Lawrence, St. John.

tinuous operation of a forest for a sustained crop of wood. When Canada's forests are operated so as to produce repeated crops of timber on the same area without diminishing the "capital stock," we can boast of our forest resources being under a system of silviculture. Just now the big national job is to prevent the public from burning up the timber resources. Until fire is blocked, scientific operation is not possible on a large scale.

Why Lumber is Not Cheap
Q. With modern machinery and efficiency methods, why is it that lumber maintains its high prices?
A. Because production costs, chiefly labor, refuse to tumble, and raw material, namely timber, is more inaccessible than ever. The lumber business as a whole in Eastern Canada is hardly breaking even on production costs and foreign competition is hitting harder than anticipated.

THE PRICE OF POTATOES.
Robert Strain of Woodstock, who was in the city yesterday, said that the farmers could not afford to sell all their potatoes at the present 60 cents a barrel in the field, but they could get money by selling some at this price to pay fertilizer bills, and hold the rest to be sold later when the price would doubtless be higher. The large yield per acre of excellent quality, gave them this opportunity.
