LECTURE BY ARCHBISHOP LYNCH.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

His Grace occupied the pulpit in St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday evening, and commenced his discourse by remarking that old Catholics, like the fear of ghosts, float in the minds of some people, and even in mature years they can hardly get rid of them. Protestants ask a question which in fact has no foundation whatever, and to which he intended to show its utter fallacy. "Does not the Catholic Church suppress the second commandment?" "Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven thing or image." He replied that he agreed, both Protestants and Catholics, that the commandments are ten in number; but they did not agree in the division of them. The Catholics divided the commandments according to the sense or object of each. For instance, the first commandment concerns the worship of God; the second, the worship of man; the third, the worship of things; and the fourth, the worship of property. He then stated that the Catholics make two, the Protestants only one. The second forbids to profane the holy name of God; the Protestants say it is the third; the Catholics hold it to be the second. Respecting the division of the other commandments, the Protestants agree with the Catholics up to the ninth, and of then the Protestants make only one—the prohibition of coveting the neighbor's house, ox, ass, and wife. Of these commandments the Catholics make two, because the coveting of a wife is a different object from the coveting of a house or ox, an ass, &c. The coveting of the neighbor's wife is equal to adultery. (Matt. v. 28.) In the Book of Deuteronomy, 5th chapter, where the commandments are again stipulated, the coveting of the wife is put before the coveting of the house, the ox, and the ass. "The Protestants, by making one commandment of the Catholic ninth and tenth, they suppress the coveting of the wife, the house, the ox, and the ass, the same or equal sins. The Catholics, on the contrary, suppress the second commandment, but truly say that it is comprised in the first, namely, 'Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven thing, nor the likeness of anything that is in heaven above or on the earth beneath, nor of those things that are in the water under the earth.' Here it is evident that the worship of the true God is intended, and the worship of false gods prohibited, with the making of images for the purpose of adoration. The mere making of an image is not here forbidden, otherwise all sculptors and painters would be excluded, and the image of the Sovereign could not be stamped on the coins of the realm. The Queen of England has a remarkable devotion to her late husband, and we recognize great pleasure in exhibiting him to the love and veneration of her English subjects. When his statue is unveiled the people cover their heads to express their esteem and give loud hurrahs. It is not the marble or bronze that the honor is given, but the fact that she naturally loves and respects her heart. Was she honoring the paper? Certainly not. All civilized people cherish and honor monuments to their great men, friends, sages and statesmen. God himself ordered images to be made (Numbers, xxi, 8). "And the Lord said to Moses, make a brazen serpent and set it up: for any sign, whosoever be struck shall look on it shall live." He also ordered electricity to be made and used for the work of the Government. His Grace concluded by saying that he was glad to be able to state that the had spirit which prevailed against the image of the Mother Despatcher. He had seen it in the houses of many respectable Protestants, and even in the rooms of the children of the Blessed Virgin, and he regretted that he occupied a prominent position.

IRISH NEWS.

A young lady named Catherine committed suicide at Ballymore, on Dec. 3th, by cutting her throat with her father's razor.

On Dec. 13th, Samuel Goulding, an official engaged in the General Post Office, Belfast, was arrested on a charge of embezzling £20, the property of the Postmaster General.

On Nov. 23d, Mr. James Blaney, the oldest of an ancient family, died at Pleasant Mount, Ranelagh, at the age of 94. Born in the year 1783, he vividly remembered the deeds of '98.

On Dec. 11th, eight men entered the house of Joseph Cavanagh, Newtown, near Oldcastle, and assaulted him. They presented revolvers at him and took away from the house his watch, bracelet and money. These articles had been stolen and black-mail done. The affair appears to have arisen out of party antagonism. No arrests have been made.

Rev. Mother White, of the Convent of Mercy, Clifton, has written a letter to the Irish papers asking for charity for the poor of Conamara. She says, "When we go into the wretched cabins of the poor, we find them without a bed, clothing, or any available article of furniture, all gone to the town office to support an unbearable existence." The bad weather so long continued, to the almost total destruction of the crops, has increased the suffering to a frightful extent.

A short time ago John Ripley, of the Irish Textile Co. of 1875, proposed to institute a match between Ireland and America, with teams of two men each. The Irish team are to shoot with muzzle loaded and the American team with breech-loaders. The Sharp's Rifle Company has accepted the challenge, and the match will come off next April or May. The prize is to be awarded to the team making the greatest number of points within a given time, each equal to five as far as possible and to clean the gun after each shot or not, as they elect.

The Appl' Coal, Dec. 8th, says: "The weather experienced in Cavan and an adjoining district during the week has been of the most inclement and severe character. On Wednesday and Thursday torrents of rain fell, which completely inundated the cabins of the poor, and in the night of those days strong winds prevailed, and considerable frosts were to be seen to be seen. The poor are enduring great sufferings by the shocking state of the roads and the want of fuel."

On Dec. 4th, the bailiff and ganger employed in the Green Norton railway, near Droghda, and Portobello, handed in a written notice to the Board of Directors of the line intimating the intention of the men to strike, on the 15th, as they got an increase of pay and a reduction of the working hours. The present wages of the gangers is 10s per week, which had increased to 15s, and the men from 15s to 10s. They also ask to be allowed to work on Saturdays at half pay, instead of six o'clock, as at present.

The second Court of Eschequer, Dublin, on December 10th, at 10 o'clock, was brought by Daniel Ryan, a dropper's assistant in the town of Rosara, against David O'Reilly and John O'Reilly, to be made and paid for the work of the Government. His Grace concluded by saying that he was glad to be able to state that the had spirit which prevailed against the image of the Mother Despatcher. He had seen it in the houses of many respectable Protestants, and even in the rooms of the children of the Blessed Virgin, and he regretted that he occupied a prominent position.

The first Vestry meeting of the county and city of Dublin was held on Dec. 11th, by the Lord Mayor and Baron Fitzgerald. The latter, addressing the City Grand Jury, remarked there was about twenty different points in which bills would be sent before them, including two cases of homicide, in one of which the crime charged would be murder. The number of offences returned, he said, was 270 less than last October. He concluded by saying that he had received justice returns referring to the county of Dublin. He also mentioned the fact that the Grand Jury had received justice returns referring to the county of Dublin. He also mentioned the fact that the Grand Jury had received justice returns referring to the county of Dublin.

Curious Derivations.

"Ganz" derives its name from Ganz, where it was first made.

"Old S. and" is the name of a Strath, who still survives in the operations of Northern Ontario.

"Old Nick" is another name for the dangerous water demon of the Scandinavian legend.

"Hanging" is a name given to a process of Hanging in which is given by a proverbial expression for false political promises.

"Bigot" is from bigotus, which means the more and interdict. Augustus of the Visigoth conquests of Spain had been handed down to history.

The word philologist is derived from the name of a Greek author, Philosophus, who compiled a history of the world into thirty-two little books.

Punch and Judy is a contraction from Pontius and Judas. It is a relic of a battle took place and he it was who led the troops were Pontius Pilate and Judas Iscariot.

the intelligence which decided the fighting of the battle the following morning. Hughes was nearly ninety years of age, and to the last took great interest in military matters, more especially in the recent short service system, which he, as well as other old soldiers, most heartily commended.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

To a sensitive young man few places contain more solemnity to the square inch than a stock market. [Jacksonville (Fla.) Union.]

Our devil says he is hungry for some good news and remember him? [Fredericton (N.S.) Journalist.]

The side door of a bar room, says the Chicago Post is like a great many people's prayer book—a good only on Sunday.

Father to son just from College. "What have you learned at your college?" "We never learn anything; they never let you see the newspapers."

The coldest storm since the season was experienced by a young man from Syracuse, who escorted an East River girl home Sunday night, and was detected by the constable just as he was putting his mischievous hands on her. He is now in the clink. [Rensselaer.]

A trustee of a certain church in this city protests against this thing of playing some scripture on the organ while he is engaged in reading the lesson on Sunday. He says that the same person can sit through an opera and not become at all interested in the music as they seem to do so as his pastor. We can explain it. [Quincy Mass.]

"I shall be happy" said an expiring husband to his wife, who was weeping most dutifully at his bedside, "if you will promise not to marry that object of my uncessing jealousy, your consent do I make yours," said the lady, "I am glad to see you so comfortably off." [Byron (O.) Press.]

Here is a story that teaches its own moral. Friday evening Eliza Baker, a girl eighteen years of age, living at Terrence Boucher's, in the city, had a piece of paper lighted a lamp and by the paper, which was set on fire, and the poor girl was so badly burned that she died a few hours afterwards.

Some people like to say of getting a girl a gift for Christmas, and some like another. This is how two men got their time-passes on the day before Christmas, at Hartington, New York. While Hyatt, the principal jeweler in the town, was at the window in which a large amount of jewelry articles was displayed, the night of those days strong winds prevailed, and considerable frosts were to be seen to be seen. The poor are enduring great sufferings by the shocking state of the roads and the want of fuel."

A Heavenly Body, Sister S., of the Order of Trappists, made an address. It would be a waste of breath to call her a woman of mildness, courage, and superior intellect. The Paris papers do not even publish her name, but that is well for it; it would not look well in columns that are stained and stained with the names of unrepentant sinners. This is what she said: "I am a woman of mildness, courage, and superior intellect. Horse and Child. Weekly Herald. SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 12.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

General Grant has sailed for Egypt.

Our subscribers are requested to notify us of the non-delivery of their papers by the carriers.

A public temperance meeting will be held under the auspices of St. Malach's Society, in St. Peter's Hall, Portland, to-morrow evening.

We direct the attention of our readers to the letter of Monquart, giving much valuable information with regard to the new settlement at Johnville.

As we anticipated last week the lecture delivered before the St. Aloysius Association by the Very Rev. Father Connolly, attracted a very large audience.

Our fourth page will be found two pieces of poetry, "The Sister of Charity" and "The Crucifix of the Poor."

At a meeting of the St. Patrick's T. A. R. Society of Carleton, held on Wednesday evening last, a committee was appointed to confer with the members of the different Temperance bodies in Carleton, the City, and Portland.

The Montreal Advertiser says that G. McLeod, M. P., Kent Co., will, perhaps, be obliged to resign.

We think the HERALD's correspondent might have been a little more liberal to have named scores of successful Irishmen.

As far as the HERALD is concerned, we may state that it has been our constant endeavor to bring about that good understanding between Catholics and Protestants in this Province, which the HERALD appears to be so desirous to avoid.

We publish in another column of this week's issue a letter from St. George. Our correspondent is right when he says that the HERALD did not editorially give utterance to anything which would tend to belittle the Hon. A. H. Gillmor.

It is not for us to suggest what position the temperance body in this case should adopt, but we are glad to hear that the independent enough to publish both any question just as they are resolved.

will compare favorably with many who hold the highest positions in the gift of the people. He filled the position of Provincial Secretary of this Province years ago in such a creditable manner, as to give evidence that he was a man possessed of no ordinary ability.

THE DEAD KING AND THE REIGNING PONTIFF.

The news has at last come of a death in the Eternal City that has taken the world by surprise. For months, we might say years, the Liberals and Jews of Europe have been filling the world with stories of the illness, even the death of Pius IX., but for the King who surmises that they had only words of admiration of high hope telegraphed all over the globe.

Who, at the beginning of this new year of grace, would have said that Pius IX. would live to see his great enemy in the cold embraces of death? Not any who look upon the events of the world from a purely human stand-point, and who fail to recognize the ever-ruling Providence of God in our affairs.

THE RECENT APPOINTMENTS.

It has often been asserted, with what foundation we know not, that the address of the citizens managed by a few prominent members of the Common Council, who are supposed to have been for years doing as appears good to them without the slightest regard to the public interests of the city.

NUISANCES.

Men who are engaged in building up and developing our home industries should be allowed the free use of all the rights they may claim as theirs, and ever privileged, not inconsistent with the public welfare, should be freely granted them; but, while giving scope, we should be careful that we do not go too far in a direction in which our patriotism and good nature may almost unconsciously carry us.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Dominion Parliament will meet on the 7th of February.

The British Government has embarked 2000 cases of cartridges on a steamer at Cardiff, destined for Constantinople.

Higgins and Boyd are to row on Monday for £400 sterling, the champion cup valued at £400 sterling, and the championship of England.

A meeting at Montreal, on Sunday, for the establishment of a branch of the Loyal University, was attended by Mr. Gouvy.

Fortune and Home Bay having failed are an utter failure, and have abandoned," so says a Grace Harbor, Newfoundland telegram to the Boston Fish Bureau.

John W. Platt, said to belong to St. John, N. B., committed suicide in Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 3d.

The exasperating work of putting up a steeple resulted in a tragedy in Lancaster, Pa. Cheney and his father-in-law, Snyder, quarrelled over the job, and Cheney was killed in the fight that ensued.

A girl tried to commit suicide in August, Ga., by jumping from a bridge. She was grabbed and held by a man, who was compelled to use considerable violence to restrain her. Afterward she had him arrested on a charge of assault.

commented economy in the management of the Fire Department. It has not been stated by any member of the Common Council that Mr. Smith, although we are aware that he is eminently fitted for the position, was the only gentleman in the city willing to assume the responsibilities of Chief Engineer.

The Montreal Star says:—There is a great deal of talk about the creation by the Government of a new and very lucrative office in connection with the postal department here.

The Standard announces that Colonel-Septimus McCarthy and Private O'Brien, sentenced to life penal servitude in 1890, have been released on ticket of leave.

LETTER FROM ST. GEORGE. To the Editor of the Weekly Herald.

Dear Sir,—You have not directly or indirectly given any utterance which tends to belittle the Hon. A. H. Gillmor, M. P., for this County, and, judging from the liberal manner in which your paper is conducted, I cannot permit myself to believe that you would do so unless you were in possession of facts which would tend to convict that hon. gentleman.

LETTER FROM JOHNVILLE. To the Editor of the Herald.

Dear Sir,—I continue to be of the opinion that it is with new Settlements as with young children, too much petting spoils them.

Information for the Public. A writer under the above heading sends us the following, with the request to publish it.

FATHER CONNOLLY'S LECTURE IN PORTLAND.

St. Peter's Hall, Portland, was crowded to excess on last Sunday evening to listen to the lecture of Very Rev. Thos. Connolly, V. G., of Carleton. Father Murray, Chaplain of the St. Aloysius Association, having announced that this was the first of a course of lectures to be delivered, and the auspices of the Association, introduced the lecturer, who was heartily received by the enthusiastic audience which filled every available part of the Hall.

After referring to the pleasure it gave him to address a Portland audience, the Rev. lecturer proceeded to say that men were placed in this world by Almighty God for one great purpose—to do good to the generation in which they lived, and all men did not do this in the same way.

There is one manner of doing something for the benefit of the fellow-men, which is of such a nature that it is not only approved by the angels and saints, but which is of such a nature that it is not only approved by the angels and saints, but which is of such a nature that it is not only approved by the angels and saints.

AGAIN, as a lover and well-wisher of his country the young men, and old in a position to be sober, that greater, and more lasting gift can a man present to his country than a body perfect in its physical development, and in its moral character.

ON THURSDAY, ON THURSDAY, the 10th inst. the members of the St. Aloysius Association made a decided hit in the successful opening of a course of lectures in which they treated of the subject of temperance, and the duty of a citizen.

FIRE IN CARLETON. About two o'clock on yesterday morning, Jan. 11th, a fire broke out in a five-story stable belonging to Mr. Jas. E. Hamon, situated on Union street, Carleton, which destroyed the stable and almost all its contents, except a few sheep and dogs.

NARROW ESCAPE. What might have been a serious drowning accident occurred at Indiantown, shortly before five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Five boys named Wm. McLaughlin, John McLaughlin, Hugh Gillis, Howie Logan and Oily Day were coasting down Main Street and it being very icy they were unable to restrain their sleds headway.

LE-SONG OF THE POOR.

By ARMADE PROCTOR. I cannot bear to see thee stretch thy hands in vain; I have had to give thee, to ease thy pain, the first to bless me, thankless, too, was I, and I, thy mother, keep, my darling, that art weary, God is good, but life is dreary.

THE MYSTERY OF FULTON VALENCE.

By MRS. BEATRICE MCGOWAN. (Continued.) CHAPTER V. BY THE LIGHT OF THE FIRE.

When first I awoke to consciousness after that dreadful day at Cranmer Castle, the snow lay thick and white upon the ground. I remember wondering why I felt so strangely weak that I could not even raise myself in the bed.
