Man and the Water Supply

Nature did not intend that a river should be a raging and destructive torrent at one time and a useless stream at another. She wooded the banks, creating thereby great natural storage reservoirs which held back the moisture from the heavens and permitted it to seep gradually into the stream and descend in more or less steady fashion to the sea, the volume of water not varying greatly from season to season. Flood times if there were any, had few terrors, and low water was presumably unknown.

Then man came, heaving a nation out of the roughness of a great continent. He cut the timber to make himself a home, which was proper; but, unwilling to use with moderation the treasures which he found, he cut more than he needed and neglected to replant. The banks of the streams were stripped. The water from the skies found no humus in the soil to hold it back and the result was that, instead of enriching the country and preserving its richness for coming generations it rushed tumultuously into the streams, tearing the soil from the rocks and spreading the same havoc all around its course to the sea. This is what the waters of the Arkansas are doing now, terrorizing the people who live along the rivers course. It might have been different, if past generations had been wiser; it may be different in the future if this and the succeeding generations learn the lesson the Arkansas and thousands of other streams teach every year.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Defoe's Slip

(From the Canadian Churchman.) A clever Irish writer has written a most interesting article on Daniel Defoe, whom he styles "The Greatest Journalist." Amongst other bright things he says that: "In its origin Robinson Crusoe" was born from a Journalist's story; somebody made an article out of Alexander Selkirk. There is a general belief that Crusoe's Island was Juan Fernandez, off the coast of Chili, but that was where Selkirk was wrecked. The last Island Robinson saw before the storm swept them away was the coast at the mouth of Orinoco. His Island was in the proper place, in the sea of romance, in the Spanish Main, the Caribbean Sea, haunt of buccaners, famous for Kidd, and Morgan, and Flint, where Drake had sailed. And here Robinson was put down, a plain blunt man, like you and me, with only the clothes he stood in. Then Defoe's marvellous gift of circumstantial invention got to work. He rarely slips in his inventing. He is not like Thackeray, who killed Lord Farrant's mother early in the New comers, and produced her alive towards the end. There is certainly one slip where Crusoe, the day after the wreck, finds no way of getting to the ship but swimming. He took off his clothes, and reached her safely. Then he filled his pockets with biscuits. That error recalls Horace's advice to those who do not sleep well; Let bed sleepers oil themselves and swim three times across the Tiber. But if you swim three times across the Tiber, you finish on the bank opposite to that on which your bed here left.

One Hundred Thousand Persons Met Death in the Greatest Calamity of Modern Times

Wrought by Earthquake and Tidal Wave

Rome, Dec. 29.—One hundred thousand persons met death in the greatest calamity of modern times wrought by earthquake and tidal wave.

The death list in Messina ranges from 12,000 to 30,000, that of Reggio which, with its adjacent villages numbered 45,000 people, included almost the entire population. At Palmi 1,000 are reported dead; at Cassano, 1,000 at Cosenza, 500, and half of the population of Baghera, about 4,000. The Monteleone region has been devastated, and Riposto, Seminara, San Giovanni, Scilla, Lazzaro and Cannitella and all other communes and villages bordering on the Straits are in ruins.

Rome, Dec. 29.—Stunned at the magnitude of the calamity which has overtaken fellow-countrymen. All Italy mourns tonight for the stricken Province of Calabria, and the Island of Sicily. Accustomed for centuries to earthquakes, Italy stands ever in dread but none was prepared for the disaster which in the fraction of a minute yesterday, devastated cities and towns and caused the death of thousands.

FLAMES COMPLETED WORK. Messina, whose tragic history has been marked by tidal waves and war, and which was the centre of yesterday's terrestrial maelstrom was shaken to ruins. Flames burst forth to complete the city's destruction and to burn alive untold numbers helplessly pinioned beneath fallen walls, and broken timbers. The Strait of Messina was shaken and twisted by the earth's trembling, for mariners report the channel altered beyond recognition. The ports and villages on both the continent and Sicilian sides were wrecked or inundated, and all light-houses along the coast were swallowed up. Navigation now is dangerous in some places impossible. In the Calabria district, which was only beginning to recover from the effects of the earthquake of 1905, Reggio is the centre of the earth's upheaval.

LOSS OF LIFE ENORMOUS. The seaport of Reggio is reported as no longer existing and the city proper is in ruins. The loss of life on both sides of the Strait and in Eastern Sicily was enormous. One of the refugees from Reggio, who was the first to bring the news of the City's destruction, tried to make his way to Sicily in a sailboat, but was compelled to return, and finally found safety at the peninsula port. In describing his experience he said: "The sea was strangely, mysteriously agitated and the heavens were ablaze. Nearing Sicily, the clearing smoke revealed the mystery; Messina was in flames. In the frenzy of despair I turned my boat back to Calabria."

A TERRIBLE SCENE. Starving, bleeding from injuries and almost insane from their terrifying experiences Messina's survivors are fleeing in all directions. The spectacle presented by the ruined seaport is described as terrifying. In the tumbling buildings are killed and mutilated, while hundreds of the injured imprisoned in the wreckage were abandoned to their fate by the fleeing populace. One of those who escaped, said: "The earth seemed to drop and then turn violently on its axis. The whole population, who practically were precipitated from the house rent in twain, were spun round like tops as they ran through the streets. Many fell crushed to death and others bewildered, took refuge for breath beside the tottering walls, where they soon met the fate of their companions."

MANY COURAGEOUS ACTS. Already British and Russian squadrons have arrived at Messina. Sailors and marines have been disembarked and they have performed courageous acts in rescuing the injured and removing the wounded. A large number of survivors have been transferred to the warships which are transferred into great floating hospitals. It is imperative that the dead be removed from the ruins in order to avoid a pestilence. Steamers with doctors, druggists, firemen and workmen have arrived at Messina from Catania and other places.

POPE CONTRIBUTES $200,000. The King and Queen of Italy are now on their way to Messina, having sailed tonight for Naples aboard the battleship Vittorio Emanuele. The Pope has shown the greatest distress at the calamity and he himself was the first to contribute, a sum amounting to $200,000, to the relief of the afflicted. British, French and Russian warships are steaming towards the South, and already several of the ships of Great Britain and Russia have reached Sicily. Officers and men of these ships have performed heroic services in the work of rescue.

MANY FOREIGNERS KILLED. It is feared that many foreigners have been killed, as a number of hotels at Messina and doubtless at other places, were crowded with tourists. Little is known of the fate of the representatives of the Foreign Powers stationed at these posts, although the Italian Government is using every effort to relieve the anxiety on their own account. There is the greatest danger that a pestilence will follow the destruction of the towns, where, on account of the vast havoc caused, bodies will lie unburied for days or weeks. Those who escaped death, many of whom are badly injured, are making their way by the thousands to the nearest place of refuge. Their sufferings even now must be intense, as they are without food or clothing. PEOPLE PLUNGED IN GRIEF. Special despatches received here from Calabria confirm the destruction of Reggio. They report that the situation there is as bad if not worse than at Messina. The streets in Rome are jammed with people who snatch special editions from the newspapers. The people are plunged in grief and lamentation are heard on all sides. Here and there one asks another, "When will this awful repetition of this fearful devastation of our country occur again."

NATIONS EXTEND AID

The hands of all the nations have been extended to Italy in her affliction. From afar have come messages of condolence and from the peoples spontaneous promise of that aid which brings the world closer together in times of great calamity. Great Britain, France and Russia have sent their warships, quick as the flash of the telegraph could carry the orders, to lend assistance to the stricken cities.

RUSHING RELIEF IN

Relief work has already been started and a hundred ships and trains are on their way, carrying supplies and reinforcements to the South. Rome, Milan, Florence, Naples and other cities are sending physicians, police and firemen. Today all the ambassadors and Ministers expressed sympathy with M. Tittoni, Minister of Foreign Affairs, whose emotion was profound.

SCORES OF SHIPS DAMAGED

At the time of the earthquake the torpedo boat Sappho was lying in the harbor, at Messina, and one of the officers told of the occurrences as follows: "At half past five in the morning the sea suddenly became terribly agitated, seeming literally to pick up our boat and shake it. Other craft nearby were similarly treated, and the ships looked like bits of cork bobbing about in a tempest. Almost immediately a tidal wave of huge proportions swept across the Strait, mounting the coasts and carrying away everything before it. Scores of ships were damaged and Hungarian mail boat Andassy parted with her anchors and went crashing into other vessels. Messina Bay was wiped out and the sea was soon covered with masses of wreckage, which was carried off in the receding waters."

United States Navy Stands Second

Washington, Dec. 30.—The United States navy stands second among those of the great world Powers at the present time, according to the navy yearbook, prepared by Pitman Pullisier, clerk to the Senate navy committee, and now in the hands of the public printer. Germany follows third, while France has dropped to fourth place and Japan is fifth. The yearbook will show that Great Britain has 61 first-class battleships, with a tonnage of 910,330, the United States 31, with a tonnage of 449,796, Germany 26, with a tonnage of 357,132, and Japan 15, with a tonnage of 231,444. Including armored cruisers being 373,364, while that of Germany is only 348,254. The tonnage of United States battleships and armored cruisers is 697,241, that of Great Britain is 1,395,930. France takes precedence of both the United States and Germany in the tonnage of all the vessels in the navy, including submarines, torpedo boats, etc., is counted. All told France has 516 vessels to the credit of her navy, their total tonnage being 801,188, while the total tonnage of the entire German navy is 643,599, that of the United States 770,463 and that of Japan 444,903. The book says Japan is doing little ship building, the only vessels now in course of construction being two battleships.

We wish to thank our friends for the kind patronage during 1908 and wish them all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

MASCARENE WEDDING BELLS

Mrs. Helen McVicar has returned from Pomeroy Ridge where she has been visiting her sister. A very pretty but quiet wedding took place Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell when their daughter Addie Sara was united in marriage with Robert Kinsman Stewart. Only a few intimate friends and relatives being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. V. Buchanan. The bride was gowned in white mull, she was attended by her sister Miss Ida. The groom was supported by Mr. Wellington Dick. After congratulations, dainty refreshments were served by the Misses Armstrong. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Dick and Miss Goldie, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Dick, the Misses Dick, Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Will Matthews. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart received many valuable and useful presents.

Arthur Henderson made a business trip to St. Stephen Monday. Xmas and New Years passed off very quietly. School opened on Monday under the management of Miss Hawkins of Penfield. Miss Goldie Dick spent Saturday afternoon with Nora McVicar. Mr. and Mrs. Kinsman Stewart of Granville, are the guests of Mr. John Stewart.

Womanly pains, head pains, in fact any pain anywhere can be completely stopped in 20 minutes with one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Ask your Doctor or Druggist about the formula. It is printed on the box—and it can't be bettered. Try one dose and be convinced, Box 25c. Sold by All Dealers.

LETETE. We are all glad to hear U. R. Wentworth is recovering after a severe illness. Miss Daisy Hoyt has gone to West Upton, Mass. where she intends spending the winter. Mrs. Kitty Matthews has been visiting her sister at Bonny River. Eugene Matthews is on the sick list. Misses Elsie and Lillian Trucker are spending a few days at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Leavitt of Back Bay, called on friends on Sunday last. The young people enjoyed the moonlight walks at Mascarene, last week, where they spent the evenings in skating on the lake. Frank McMann is snaring rabbits, we all wish him success. Mrs. David Kelley, is on the sick list. The church bell rang to a great extent on New Year's Eve.

LOWE-NOURSE. A quiet marriage took place at the home of Rev. M. R. Foshy, Warren Ave., Saturday afternoon, the contracting parties being Charles W. Nourse and Mrs. Grace V. Lowe. Mr. Nourse is well known as a member of the firm of Albee & Nourse, auctioneers and real estate dealers. Mrs. Lowe was formerly a bookkeeper at Albee & Nourse's. Both are members of the Baptist church. Mr. Nourse being one of the deacons. Mr. and Mrs. Nourse have left for parts unknown but expect to return to this city in a few days.—(Marlboro, Mass. Enterprise.) Mrs. Nourse is a daughter of the late Peter McDougall of this town.

SNIDER-BROWN. A quiet wedding was solemnized in Carleton Wednesday night, when Rev. G. F. Scovill, rector of St. Jude's church, united in marriage Wilson M. Snider of West St. John, and Miss Henrietta Irene Brown, daughter of Bradford Brown, of Maces Bay. Mr. Craft of Carleton, was groomsmen and Miss Annie Galbraith was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Snider will reside at 68 Middle street.

HARRISON-LANGMAID. St. Andrews, N. B., Dec. 29.—Miss Laura Langmaid, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Langmaid, was united in marriage with Horace Harrison, engineer, on Christmas day at her home, the Rev. R. J. Langford performing the ceremony.

HUNTING FOR HIS MOTHER

A True Story of Life

Twenty-two years ago a broken-hearted woman took her two children—a boy of eight and a girl of a year and a half—to the door of St. Stephen's Asylum, in New York.

Their father had just died. His name was Reed.

She was still dry-eyed and white-aced as she passed the door, but a second later, as the boy saw her pass the window, she was wringing her hands and crying as if her heart would break. The little lad ran to the door and looked along the walk, but she had gone.

"I'll find her," he said to the sisters who came to the little tots and led them into the dormitories. "I'll find her and make her happy!" he repeated, and he has never forgotten the vow.

The children had been given up by their mother. What was the cruel necessity, beyond that her husband had just died, no one who knows Thomas and Mary Reed can tell.

Where the mother went when she passed out of their lives is a mystery. For 21 years the boy has been searching for her—and will keep searching till he finds her. The story of his search for the mother and sister reads like a romance.

Two days after he had seen the face of his weeping mother pass the window of the asylum the Sisters woke the little boy in the morning. He was going on a long journey. In the girls' dormitory he kissed little Mary and said good-bye, and told her not to cry, because he would find mamma. Then, with 60 other children bound for homes among the farmer folk of the southern states, he left New York in the charge of the Sisters.

Thomas M. Reed, the little Tommy of this story, was given to a blacksmith of Snow Hill, Fla., a good but exacting German, who thought to make a hard-headed, prosaic blacksmith of the dreamy, poetical little Irish lad—who at least is supposed to have been of Irish descent. I have always felt like an Irishman, he said, in telling this story, and an Irishman generally knows whether he is Irish. Something in his heart tells him.

For four years Tommy did chores around the forge of Charles Fladung, the blacksmith, and waited on his hard-faced wife. He tried in vain to learn the German tongue and to like German cooking. He went to school part of the time and kicked a great many negro boys who called him a Dutchman.

From the moment that he reached Snow Hill he began to long to find little Mary and the woman whose tears he had seen as she passed the window of the asylum.

CHAPTER II.
The Search for the Little Sister.
When Tommy was twelve years old he could stand the prosaic life of a blacksmith's apprentice no longer. He also began to realize that if he was ever to find his mother and sister he must be about it. He had very little idea of where Florida was or how far New York was from Snow Hill. One night after filling the house-wife's wood box and making the forge ready for lighting the next morning, he slipped out over the shed roof and climbed to the ground and his lost mother and sister.

To tell where he went and how he lived, camping at night among the swamps with negro outlaws and "poor white trash," or working like a drudge at the lonely farm of some poor white settler, would be difficult, but he made an honest living. He had only to tell the negroes that he was a runaway to insure kind treatment, and when he told the wives of the plantation owners the story of his lost mother and his little sister, they gladly helped him on his way. Summers he worked his way across the States, always asking for "Mrs. Reed," and her little daughter, and winters he worked at anything he could get to do and went to school. His bear told him that he must have an education if he was ever to find out his first ones, and he burned the midnight oil wherever he went.

He borrowed books and read them and studied the personal columns of every paper he could find. Gradually he worked his way North until the summer that he was fifteen years old he stood one morning, with all his worldly effects tied up in a handkerchief, in front of the shop of a wheelwright in Baltimore. He watched the wheelwright shrinking a tire upon the oxcart. So long he stood there and so hard did he stare, that at last the man asked him gruffly what he wanted.

"I want to see how you do it, so that when I ask you for a job I shall know something about the trade, he reniced boldly.

The quick answer pleased the wheelwright gave him enough to enable him to go to night school that winter and to buy books and decent clothes. The boy learned the trade, but he would drop his tools and run out into the street to look after any dark haired girl of 10 who happened to pass. One day the wheelwright asked him why he was partial to dark haired girls. The boy told the story of his search.

"I never see a girl with dark hair but I hope that it is my little sister," he said.

From Baltimore he went to Washington, thinking that there he might get some trace. It occurred to him that as he had been sent South, perhaps she had. Now and then he wrote to foundling asylums and hospitals in New York.

When he was 20, thinking there was no longer any danger of the blacksmith taking him back by force, he wrote to Snow Hill to see if he could help him. A relative of Fladung answered that the old folks were dead and that no one was then living at Snow Hill who remembered where the boy came from.

All those years my heart kept drawing me north, he says. You will not wonder why I almost believe in occultism and telepathy when I tell you that I found afterwards that all those years my sister was searching for me, and was thinking of me.

Little by little I wandered northward, working and studying, and searching for my mother. I qualified as the family historian of the Reed tribe in those years. I wrote to more Reeds, interviewed them, hunted them like sheep, but never did I find any trace of my mother, or who had been my father.

Finally I reached New York, and still my heart told me that my search should still be to the north. I went to Connecticut.

CHAPTER III.
The Girl on the Street Car.
Finally a year or so ago, I went to New Haven to live and work. There I was close to New York, and many a time came down here to hunt up some Reed or other. But somehow I never searched very thoroughly in New Haven. But the fact that my heart seemed easier there ought to have told me that I was near her. Last February I went to my parish priest, Rev. John D. Coyle, and told him that story of my hunt for 21 years. The good priest was greatly touched and offered to set in motion such machinery of the church as he could command. I thanked him and left him, greatly cheered.

On my way home I stopped on the street to watch a passing car, and my eye from long habit searched out the faces of the young women, looking for dark hair and eyes, almost automatically.

Suddenly, I felt a shock as I saw, looking earnestly at me a sweet faced young woman of perhaps twenty-five. She had dark brown hair and dark eyes, and she shot me an inquiring look as the car sped past.

Something made my heart jump, and I ran after the car, but it was out of sight in a moment, and remembering the many times that I had been mistaken, I went home and to bed. But I dreamed of the girl on the car.

A day or two after this Father Coyle sent me a letter from Sister M. Priscilla, of the House of the Good Shepherd, New York. It was in answer to one he had written to her. It gave me the information that one Mary Reed, two years old, was transferred from St. Stephen's asylum, in Manhattan, to St. Ann's Home for Children, in 1887.

St. Ann's was then on East Ninetieth street, but had since been moved to Peekskill. At the age of 15 Mary Reed had been given a home in the family of a Mrs. Deneen of New Haven. If I hunted up Mrs. Deneen I might learn if this Mary Reed was my sister. That day my heart sang while I worked, and I went home to dress and hunt up Mrs. Deneen. At my house, No. 35-1-2 Howe street, a letter was waiting for me. It was from a Miss Mary Reed, No. 548 Whalley avenue, and asked me to call.

The letter I had sent was given to Mary, telling her that I was in New Haven and hunting for her. It didn't take me long to reach the house—and when a young woman answered the bell I found the girl that I had seen on the street car. We both believe that we are brother and sister and have commenced to gether the hunt for our mother.

Paddy Green, a Montreal peddler was brutally murdered Sunday 20th inst. by two Italians who hid an ambush behind a pile of logs and killed Green by shooting. A Jew who accompanied him was shot at and narrowly escaped. The murder took place on the G. T. P. at Plaster Rock N. B.

Fredericton, Dec. 21—"Paddy" Green was known to railroad men all over Canada. For years he had followed the business of selling jewelry, pipes, etc., to men employed on railroad construction work. When the Temiskaming road construction was in progress in Ontario he made his headquarters in North Bay and Toronto, and since the Grand Trunk Pacific has been building he made his home in Montreal, living when there at the Turkish Bath Hotel and having his mail re-addressed in care of Ed. Green, Craig street, Montreal.

Green was a native of Ireland. He was about forty years old and had a crippled arm. At times he cashed time checks on a liberal commission, and was in the habit of carrying a large amount of money with him and, being well known to the men and having the respect of the Swedes, especially with whom he did most of his business, he seldom met with trouble, as he never was known to do otherwise than play fair with his customers.

Plaster Rock, N. B., Dec. 21.—Covering in a shack, with feet and hands frozen, the two Italians, Leon Seppila and Tony Arosia, who are wanted on the charge of murdering and robbing Edward Green, known as "Paddy" Green, peddler, last Sunday morning, were arrested this afternoon by Chief of G. T. P. Police A. R. Foster, on the right of way, not more than two miles from the scene of the tragedy. They denied all knowledge of the crime.

Alex. Panarsky, the Jew who was also shot at and narrowly escaped sharing Green's fate, has identified the men, and they are now in custody at Bishop's hotel here. They will be taken to Andover for the preliminary investigation before Commissioner Farris tomorrow morning.

Growing fast—yes, into weakness, but without strength. Tired of course she is—pale and thin too. She doesn't eat enough and digests far too little. This condition is so common, but how seldom noticed even by fond parents. Give her Ferrozone—then watch her appetite improve—see her cheeks and lips grow ruddy—watch her spirits rise. This gain is simply the result of eating and digesting enough, and thereby nourishing blood, brain and nerves. To a woman Ferrozone restores strength she has lost—to a girl it brings strength perhaps she never knew. You'll try Ferrozone, 50c. at all dealers.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cases, nor turn long growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now kill the pain and pass of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfect, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I firmly trust all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These sand-like granular matter, found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual cause to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

HAVE YOU A RIGHT TO BE MERRY?

The devoted Jerome read in an ancient book—said by some of the wise to be older than any of the biographies of Jesus in our Bibles—how the blessed Lord said: "Never rejoice except thou hast looked on thy brother in love."

Have you a right to a Merry Christmas? Jesus won't let you put off the question till some serious hour of sombre introspection. He presses it on you in your holiday times in your gladdest times.

You have not the right to rejoice in your holiday pleasures unless you have learned to look on your brother in love.

The subscription to charity, the jolly word to the newsboy, and quarter to the beggar—given just before Christmas to get on better terms with yourself—don't count. Nothing counts but love. And love is a habit—not an outburst—still less a spasmodic penance.

Did you look in love on your employees when you determined the price of their labor?

Did you look in love on your employer when you pledged him your service?

Did you look in love upon your tenants when you claimed your rents—percentage in the time of misfortune and affliction to them?

Did you look in love on your customers when you sold them goods?

Have you looked in love on your children all year? Have they and your wife—your neighbors as well—felt that your afflictions were genuinely outside yourself and around them as the common days of work and worry went by?

Have you been looking in love all year long on the unfortunate the unhappy, the unprivileged and the untrue? Have you had any love for the brother shameful and disgraced?

"Rejoice not except"—who of us can stand the test?

When the Christ truly seizes a man, he must begin to live for Christmas when the year comes in—not merely when it draws to a close—The Interior.

THE "GAME OF BUSINESS"

So ingrained is the love of sport—of playing the game—that most business men who really amount to much in corporate, in their management of things certain elements of contest and struggle. To "beat last year's record" is the hope of every hustling business man—to accomplish more—to build up, to win—to push the enterprise farther along toward the goal than ever before—the motives which impel men to struggle, to scheme, to use up reserves of energy, of money, of ideas.

During the year to come business houses in this town are going to establish new records, new high-water marks, in volume of business done, and in net profits. Others are going to fall behind the records of 1908.

No merchant is going to do more business in 1909 than he did in 1908 unless he does more and better advertising. That's not guess-work; it's not nonsense. It's merely one of "the rules of the game" of business—and you can't win at any game unless you play according to the rules.

Wilbur Wright, the American navigator, in an interview in France the other day, said: "If we show the world what we have been enabled to accomplish within the twelve-month we shall receive all sorts of necessary encouragement to go on. The extremes of our achievements this year are represented by M. Farman's flight of 1 000 yards Jan. 13 last at the one end and my trip of ninety-five miles this afternoon. As to height we have accomplished everything from sixty to 400 feet. Under these circumstances it would be rash for anybody to prophesy what we shall not do in our course of 1909 and 1910."

The honor of moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne has been entrusted by the government to Mr. Todd of this County. The people of Charlotte, regardless of politics, will be pleased at the prominence given our new representative in selecting him to perform this important duty in the new parliament.

BY THE WAY

Gone! —
Forget 08. —

Write it 1909. —
Here's hoping for the best. —

What about those good resolutions? —
Greetings—3—5 Lets hear from you with all the latest news. —

Dose:—One small shovelful of sand to ten square feet of smooth ice. —

We shouldn't mind woman having the last word if she'd only get to it sooner. —

Mr. Longboat has taken unto himself a wife. He will probably step faster in future. —

Have you noticed the smile on the bachelors of St. George? Leap year has passed. —

It's a pity that some one doesn't invent a hat that will cover the bald spot on the back of the man's head. —

"What do you think of the two candidates?" asked one elector of another during a recent contest. —

"What do I think of them?" was the reply. "Well, when I look at them, I'm thankful only one of them can get in."—Tit Bits. —

From the 10th to the 20th of January is the coldest part of the year. Any warm spell in the month is the "January thaw." —

The fish market continues brisk, the demand for "dry fish" being in harmony with existing conditions since the lid went on. —

Washing the face may cure the headache, says one editor. But in the case of the average small boy, he would rather have the headache. —

If Eve had tried from holy-twigs a party-gown to weave. —

Do you suppose that Adam would have called her "Christmas Eve"? —

The reports are not all in, but considering the quantity and quality of the ice on the principal streets, and combatants engaged, the result is not as murderous as the gunning season. —

It would be well if more house-keepers looked upon life in a philosophical way as an old lady of 80 years living in New Hampshire, who says: I never allow myself to fret over things I cannot help. —

"Take a nap, and sometimes two every day of my life. I never take my washing, ironing or baking to bed with me, and I try to oil all the wheels of a busy life with an implicit belief that there is a brain and a heart to this great universe and that I can trust them both. —

D. J. Cronan, of Boston, wants a Canadian bride. "He does not want a doll." His ideal must be a healthy Catholic girl between 22 and 24, 5-1-2 feet tall, weighing 135 pounds; a good cook, a willing worker, and one who is not always troubled with headaches, a non-extravagant dresser, one who does not read paper or novels; one not over popular, for Mr. Cronan believes popular women are lazy home women. In return for this catalogue of virtues Mr. Cronan offers—D. J. Cronan! —

The spider wove his filmy web Across an open door, Through which a merchant found his way. —

Into and out his store. —
"Don't weave your web across the door." —

A bee was heard to say: "Because, before you've got it done, 'Twill all be swept away." —

"I guess I know what I'm about," Replied the spider wise; "I know the man who runs this store; He doesn't advertise." —

NEW TOYS

When Christmas Day is over What does the pale moon see A-peeping through the window Across the Christmas tree? —

It sees the little playthings, Hale favorites no more, Foreign and neglected, Together on the floor. —

Upon the flowery carpet The woolly lamb doth graze, The china doll regarding With sad embarrassed gaze; —

And Jack, the merry Jumper, Grins lonely and in vain, To ask, "Oh, will the children Come play with us again?" —

Poor limbs and painted, Together but a day, You've scarcely grown acquainted In those brief hours of play. —

Small pilgrims met together Beneath the twinkling pine To lay the love of childhood Upon the Christmas shrine. —

Ah Baby, in your dreaming, Forget them not, I pray! Their toylard hearts are tender To all your whims of play; —

And at tomorrow's bedtime, Lead them should feel the slight, Blow out the candle gently, And kiss your friends good-night. —

—Wallace Irwin.

Regulations of the Public Health Act

42. No householder in whose dwelling there occurs any case of scarlet fever, diphtheria, small-pox, cholera, or typhus fever, shall permit any person suffering from any such disease, or any clothing or other property to be removed from the house without the consent of the Local Board of the district, or of the sanitary officer or attending physician, who shall prescribe the conditions of removal.

43. No person affected with any of the diseases in the last Section named, and no person having access to any person affected with any of the said diseases shall mingle with the general public until such sanitary precautions as may be prescribed by the Local Board or attending physician, shall have been complied with.

44. Persons recovering from small-pox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, cholera or typhus fever, and nurses who have been in attendance on any person suffering from any such disease, shall not leave the premises until they have received the approval of the attending physician, Local Board or sanitary officer, a certificate that they have taken such precautions as to their persons, clothing, and all other things which they purpose bringing from the premises, as are necessary to prevent the spread of infection to other persons with whom they may come in contact, and no such person shall expose himself in any public place, shop, street, inn or public conveyance, without having first adopted such precautions.

56. Whenever any house owner shall know that any person within his family has small-pox, scarlet fever, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the health officers of the Local Board of Health for the Municipality, city or town in which he resides.

For not taking such precautions and concealing the existence of a contagious disease a fine of FORTY DOLLARS can be imposed.

Ignorance of the nature of the disease is no excuse as a physician must be called when there is any doubt.

C. C. ALEXANDER, M. D., Chairman Board of Health

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Mail for St. Stephen closes at 9.55
For St. John at 2.55.

D. M. Ross, inspector of Bank of Nova Scotia, was here last week on an official visit.

Born at Saskatoon, Sask. Nov. 16th, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Morton E. Baldwin.

Pulp is being shipped to Norwalk by rail. Several teams are engaged in hauling to the station.

Hanson Bros. are offering some extra value in shirts this week. It would be to your advantage to see them.

Frauley Bros discount sale is on, and articles of utility, and every day necessities, are going at sacrifice prices.

Greetings has telephone connection with Beaver Harbor, Blacks Harbor, Pennfield, Utopia, L'Etete, Mascarene and Back Bay.

Miss Goddard, one of the N. B. Telephone Co's obliging officials is instructing Miss Coffey in the handling of the business at Central office.

A social dance held by the young people, Tuesday night, was very successful. The affair was held in Dragoorian hall, was well attended and very enjoyable. Mooney's orchestra furnished music.

While chopping in the woods, at Pennfield, Wednesday, Ira Hawkins cut his foot. The injury was very painful, the cut being deep. He was brought to Dr. Alexander's office where he received necessary medical attendance.

We are sending out accounts to subscribers, and we would ask for immediate payment. The bill will include payment in advance for coming year. If those who can do so, will respond promptly we will appreciate the favor.

We have received beautiful and serviceable calendars from J. H. Nesbitt & Sons, Contractors and Builders, Connors Bros, the well known merchants, Leo McGrattan, Insurance Agt., Grant and Morin, Agts. for DeLeval Separator.

In the court at Quebec on Tuesday this case was heard: H. McGrattan & Sons, of St. George, N. B., Granite manufacturers, vs. J. A. Belanger & Company. Judgment against defendant, and in favor of plaintiff, for $142.25, with interest and costs was given.

The Christmas tree and entertainment held by the Baptist Sunday school was a most enjoyable affair. The pastor, Mr. Buchanan and Mrs. Buchanan, who are highly esteemed, were recipients of useful and appropriate presents, as was Miss K. Marsh, who takes a deep interest in the church work.

The first switch-board installed by the Telephone Company has been taken out and a larger one put in. The change was made necessary owing to more business coming in than was expected. The work on the line here is about complete. Connections have been made and everything is in working order. Miss Goddard of St. John, is in charge until the regular operator, Miss Alma Coffey, gets familiar with the working of the system.

William Patterson who has been in jail on remand for assaulting his wife was again remanded. His counsel announced that he was unable to persuade the prisoner's brother to furnish sureties to keep the peace but if liberated Patterson promised to depart immediately for St. George where a position awaits him. The magistrate desired more reliable assurance of the situation than the prisoner's word and remarked that if such was not forth coming he would hold Patterson until the County court opening. —Times.

Mr. Patterson has not arrived here, but Mr. Mulcahey arrived, and left on schedule time for St. Andrews.

The new long distance schedule of rates of the New Brunswick Telephone Company went into force Jan. 1st.

The principal change is to reduce the five minutes conversations to three minutes. For every minute over three the user will pay extra—that is to say, the extra charge begins now when three minutes have elapsed instead of when five minutes have elapsed as formerly. There are many changes in the long distance tariff throughout the province, the exact result of which can be tested only by experience. The company claims that there are more reductions than increases, an assertion which the telephone users must examine for themselves as they become familiar with the tariff.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Watch Hanson Bros Ads. for the next two months. Snaps every week.

The skating has been very good, and much enjoyed by the young people.

W. H. Berry of Oak Bay, Charlotte Co., has been appointed Superintendent of lumber sales by the local government at a salary of $1800 and expenses.

James Watt presented Greetings with a very neat and attractive calendar, showing a view of the n.w. St. Marl's church. The whole work is very creditable, and shows much taste. Our young friend excels as an amateur photographer.

The clergy and Indians who have enjoyed the privilege of travelling on the N. B. Southern Ry. on half fare rates, will in future pay full fare, according to instructions recently received by the agents. Half fare tickets will be issued to children from 6 to 12 years of age.

Potter's barber shop was entered Wednesday night, and several pipes razors and other articles stolen. Two boys were arrested on suspicion, and tried before Justice O'Brien. They admitted doing the deed and were committed for trial. They will probably get a term in the reformatory.

On Monday a change was made in the N. B. Southern trains running time and passengers will have to cross to Carleton in the 7.30 a. m. trip of the ferry, and then leaving Carleton at 7.45. She will be due in St. Stephen at noon, will leave again at 1.40 p. m. and will be due back in Carleton at 1.40 p. m. Train from St. John will arrive at St. George at 10.15. Train in St. Stephen at 3.14.

Some of our wide-awake citizens met in O'Brien and Gillmore's hall Thursday evening in an effort to work up an interest in an L. E. rink. The chair was taken by Mayor Lawrence, who briefly outlined the object for which the meeting was called. He considered it a very easy matter to have an ice rink in town, as all the natural facilities were at hand to provide one, and keep it in condition, all it required was the co-operation of the citizens, which he hoped would be shown in promoting this form of healthy amusement, and asked the support of every one present. Several others spoke enthusiastically on the subject, and to get an expression of opinion, generally, Rev. McKay, Grant Sherman andillery Hanson were appointed a committee to interview the citizens and report at a meeting to be held Friday evening, Jan. 8th. Any person interested in this project and all, who can conveniently do so, should attend this meeting which will be held for the purpose of organization.

A pleasant family gathering occurred Christmas day when 30 of the children and grandchildren of Mrs. Sara Davis met at Davis' Brothers' hall in West Hill. A beautiful dinner was served at 1.30 p. m. to which all did ample justice, followed by a Christmas tree, well laden with gifts for the children and which were distributed by a real Santa Claus.

Games and sports were inaugurated in the rest of the afternoon until six o'clock when supper was served. The evening was very enjoyably passed with dancing until 10 o'clock, when the party broke up, each declaring it to be an ideal Christmas day.

Those present were Mrs. Sara Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis and four children, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and one child, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Davis and four children, all of Northfield; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crockett (Emma Davis) and two children and Misses Sallie, Clara, Mabel and Annie Davis of West Hill. —Northfield Vt. News.

Elw. Mulcahey, who has been committed for entering and stealing from Potter's shop, has already established a record. Friday's Telegraph says: On enquiry at the Boys' Industrial Home last evening it was learned that the authorities had been on the lookout for Mulcahey ever since his escape on the eve of Thanksgiving day, November 8. He was reported to have been seen in St. John a few days ago, and efforts had been made to locate him.

On April 29, 1907, he was committed for four years on the charge of theft, and about a year ago effected his escape and was recaptured. On the occasion of his more recent break for liberty he found that the gate, which had been opened for the cows, was unlocked and made the most of his opportunity to get away. Soon after his escape his brother, William, also an inmate, followed his example but was recaptured. Will informed the authorities that his brother Ned, whom he met while in the city, had told him of the miscellaneous and deadly outfit he had provided for himself and of his determination not to be captured.

Yesterday the fates ruled otherwise. Mulcahey, if convicted, will not return to the rural delights of Crouville. He has passed the age of sixteen, which is the limit for admission to the institution.

GREEN SICKNESS

A disease of young girls

Interesting and suggestive advice that all should read

Many mothers will echo the conclusion expressed in a very interesting and suggestive letter written by Mrs. Zacharia Pollard, of Grand Bay.

"It is one of the blessings of motherhood that once the diseases of childhood have been successfully passed a smooth road lies before their dear ones. Boys bruise themselves, or perhaps break a limb, but the physical history of the young girl is subject to so many dangers, it is only when some great one has been successfully overcome that we realize how many dangers there are. My eldest child, a daughter, just as she had entered upon the sixteenth year, suddenly developed greenness, her color faded, some unpleasant heart symptoms indicated a lowered vitality of that organ, but strange to say she appeared plump. The bodily functions were obstructed, and a waxy or pallid, or yellowish skin gave her a ghastly look. The doctor's tonic failed to improve the symptoms, we decided to try Ferrone so highly recommended in the newspapers. It was probably three weeks before any manifest change was noticeable, but once that Ferrone checked the running down process the upward advance was rapid. I suppose if I had neglected to give her Ferrone she would have fallen into permanent ill-health, as it is I am deeply thankful that Ferrone has deeply restored my daughter to vigorous robust health."

No tonic so nourishing, as strengthening, as Ferrone. It gives you a grand appetite, brings fine color, a healthy glow to the cheeks. If thin, you gain in weight. Think it over, Ferrone is just what every person in poor health requires. Sold by all druggists, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Try Ferrone to-day.

Men of Courage Wanted

More men of courage. Surely that is what the world needs to make it better.

Not the courage to fight and die on the field of battle, but to live in one's daily work when there is much to depress to keep on in the struggle when failure attends the footsteps; to stand at the post of duty when it is an obscure one and no voice of kind appreciation is heard.

We need men with courage to tell the truth at the counter, even if a sale be missed; to rebuke him who utters a profane word in a public place; to speak on the unpopular side of the question; and to vote, from deep conviction, with a small majority. We need men with courage to refuse to sign a petition of an unworthy applicant for office, and courage to do anything which makes a majority to exclaim, "He is very eccentric."

Some men will face the bayonet sooner than a laugh, and care less for a blow than a word of contempt. It is said to think how many have been led into intemperate and profligate habits by the fear of their comrades laughing at their conscientious scruples. Oh, for the courage to say "No" when sinners entice, and to say "Yes" when saints exhort.

A True Home

There is a vast difference between a house and a home. The house is but a building and furniture, the outward shelter and the gathering place of the household. The home indicates the thoughtful care, real sympathy, mutual confidence, and trust of the members. A true home breathes the atmosphere of love. A child should be made to feel that his home is indeed a home, the happiest place in the world, not merely an outward shelter and a resting place, but a center of enjoyment, sanctified and purified by love, the thought and remembrance of which should be the safeguard of his life as he goes forth to the world, giving strength and proportion to his character.

He Died of Kidney Disease

How often we hear of these sad cases. The back-pains and headache were noticed—but not treated—Dizzy spells, frequent calls and languid condition appeared, but nothing was done till the disease was far advanced. Cure invariably results from Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They restore perfect health, destroy every symptom of diseased kidneys, build up constitutions that defy further attacks. Because purely vegetable and free from injurious materials, no remedy equals Dr. Hamilton's Pills for Kidney and Liver complaint. Sold in 25c. boxes by all dealers.

Does Your Side Ache?

When the first symptoms appear, rub with Nerviline—rub it in deeply. It penetrates to the muscles and chords and are sore—takes away stiffness—relieves all strain and inflammation. If the condition is chronic, put a Nerviline Porous Plaster on the affected spot. This draws out any virus or neuralgic irritation, restores the tissue to their wonted healthiness, permanently cures any weakness or tendency to pain. Nerviline Plasters absorb all the deleterious secretions through the pores and when used along with Nerviline itself, every muscular pain or ache must go.

A young man presented an engagement ring to a lovely girl he had won with the remark, "I am poor, but you manage as mother does and we'll get along nicely." The young lady investigated how "mother managed." She was a wife, a mother, a house-keeper, a business manager, a hired girl, a laundress, a seamstress, a mender and patcher a dairy maid, a cook, a nurse, a kitchen gardener, and a general slave for a family of five.

"She works from five in the morning until ten at night, and I almost wept when I kissed her hand—it was so hard and wrinkled, and corded and unloved. When I saw her polishing the stove, carrying big buckets of water and great armfuls of wood, often splitting the latter, my heart failed me, and it is needless to say the ring was returned." If the wife must drudge let the husband share it. If she must cook let him carry a load, if she must scrub let him do the water, if she must churn let him do the cows. The girl did what she could of sense and wisdom would do.

WOING SLEEP.

A Prescription That Worked Well in Philadelphia.

A haggard looking man strolled into a downtown drug store the other day and asked the druggist for help. He said he had trouble in getting to sleep when he retired. No matter how sleepy he might be during the day or how much sleep he might have lost, the moment his head touched the pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. Once asleep he was very hard to waken, but he had to be up at a certain hour, and in consequence of his peculiar affliction he was losing more sleep than he could stand. The druggist regarded him quizzically a few moments and then replied:

"My dear man, you don't want medicine. What you want something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks' plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier and counting them was out of date so he began trying to name all the states in the Union. He soon got them so he could classify them alphabetically. Then, when they no longer interested him, he started on the counties of his state. He now has them at his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on state capitals and their locations. Then he will take up county seats. A moment's glance at an atlas during the day shows him when he is wrong and the beauty of the plan is that he rarely has to think along these lines longer than ten minutes before he is sound asleep. To make it short, the study of geography is a good narcotic."

A BOY HUNT.

Chased From Hedge to Hedge by a Big Pack of Weasels.

The following extract from an interesting book may be of interest to our friends. It is "From My Life as an Angler," by William Henderson, published in London in 1872.

The strength of the wing rambling in the picturesque lane leading from Merlington to Winstone with two other boys, an adventure occurred sufficient to startle to two little fellows from nine to ten years old. We were busily engaged in picking wild strawberries, which clustered in the hedgerows, when we saw at about a hundred yards distance a pack of at least twenty weasels running from hedge to hedge and evidently scenting out footsteps. It dashed upon us that we were being hunted. So, springing over the nearest hedge, we ran across a pasture field and standing upon the farther bank, looked back toward our assailants. To our dismay we saw the whole pack, with noses to ground, steadily tracking us as we went on, and the creatures were evidently gaining upon us, so with a wild about we fled to the village, which, happily for us, was not far off. I have frequently heard of persons being attacked by weasels, but was never hunted by them on any other occasion.

The above must have occurred about 1812, the locality being the north of England—Forest and Stream.

Shooting the Steenbuck.

Many of the poor Boers in the Transvaal, by whom all the shooting that is done for the pot and not for sport, have perfected a system of shooting with the assistance of oxen. A steenbuck has no fear of cattle and will lie still even if they graze right up to him. The hunter gets together a few cattle and with his gun walks behind them in such a way that he cannot be seen from the front. Great care has to be exercised to drive the oxen so that they may seem to be grazing naturally. The hunter must be ready to shoot without having to alter his position. The slightest movement is noticed by the buck.

Peculiarities of Long Island.

The class in geography in one of the Brooklyn schools was asked by the teacher, "What are some of the natural peculiarities of Long Island?"

The pupils tried to think, and after awhile, a boy raised his hand.

"I know," said he.

"Well, what are they?" asked the teacher.

"Why," said the boy, with a triumphant look, "on the south side you see the sea and on the north side you bear the sound."

Fatalism Exemplified.

She—I hope, dear, that you are not going to worry about my exceeding my allowance this time.

He (deighting up)—You don't mean to tell me, dearest, that there isn't any necessity for it?

"Certainly not. What's the use of worrying about something you can't help?"

The Flesh She Lost.

"You're not looking well, Mrs. Giles. Surely you have lost a lot of flesh lately, have you not?"

"Well, I've lost me 'usband. He weighed nineteen stone when 'e died."—London Telegraph.

Modern Modesty.

"You say a modest woman. Just what do you mean by that?"

"Well, a woman who costs her husband less than $2,500 a year is modest as prices go."

Times Change.

Mrs. Bonham—You used to say that you would give your life for me. Ben—

THE PENGUIN.

Comically Serious in Mating—Its Wicked Flippers.

It is probable that penguins pair for life, although nothing definite is known on the subject. When mates are chosen the process is as interesting as it is striking. As in the case with some of our creatures, the males fight with each other for the females, might being right in the penguin code. The birds have regular fighting places, and on such battleground was found under an overhanging ledge. The results of innumerable encounters were present in the shape of great quantities of loose feathers surrounding the little fighting ring, which itself was clear of all debris. Although the beak of a penguin is so formidable a weapon when used on this skinned enemies, yet their own skin and blubber are so resistant that they can inflict no injury by this means. The customary mode of fighting is really a kind of boxing or "slipping"; it might be called. The two combatants proceed to the fighting place and then walk cautiously about each other, jockeying for an opening and ready to take instant advantage of a false step or move on the part of the opponent. All, however, is solemn and decorous, consistent with the rest of the life of these strange little beings.

When at last each secures a good grip on the neck or body of the opponent the real fighting begins. As nine-tenths of the life of penguins is spent on the open sea, where they pursue and capture fish, swimming with great swiftness by strokes of the flipperlike wings, it can well be imagined that the strength of their wings is very great, and when the two fighters begin to belabor each other with rapidly vibrating flipper strokes each resounding whack must make a considerable impression even on the protecting coat of blubber fat. No one has ever recorded the finish of such an encounter, but it is not probable that they result fatally. The weaker of the two must soon succumb under such severe punishment and yield the field and the fair penguin mate to his stronger rival. The strength of the wing strokes can be tested by allowing a penguin to take hold of one's coat sleeves or, better, the back of the hand. The third or fourth stroke will draw blood, and one is soon fully satisfied as to the penguin's ability in this respect. The tough skin and the loose, rolling blubber beneath, besides breaking a fall and protecting the bird from the icy waters in which it lives, sometimes subserve another most important purpose.

THE WEST POINT CHAIN.

It Was Nearly a Mile in Length and Weighed Almost 200 Tons.

From an ironmaster's point of view the greatest achievement during the Revolutionary period was the making of the great West Point chain. This massive chain, which has probably never had an equal since the first hammer struck upon the first anvil, was stretched across the Hudson river at West Point to prevent the British fleet from making a second attack upon Kingston and Albany. It was nearly a mile in length and weighed almost 200 tons, many single links being as heavy as an ordinary sized man. It was completed in six weeks sixty men hammered day and night at 2,000 hammers, and the cost of it was placed at $400,000. "The great chain is booped up," writes Dr. Tischer, "by very large logs, pointed at the ends to lessen their opposition to the force of the current. The logs are placed at short distances from each other, the chain carried over them and made fast to each by staples. There are also a number of anchors dropped at proper distances, with cables made fast to the chain, to give it greater stability." No British ship passed this iron barrier. With its aid West Point became the strongest military post in America—so strong that treachery was tried where force of arms had failed. When Benedict Arnold was plotting the surrender of West Point he wrote André and said, "I have ordered that a link be removed from the great chain and taken to the smith for repair." The chain, however, remained in place till the end of the war, and links of it are still to be seen in the museums of Albany, West Point, Newburg and New York.—Exchange.

Quincy Sore Throat.

The following mixture will generally quickly bring relief in case of a quincy sore throat: Thirty grains of chloride of potassium, three drams of tincture chloride of iron, four drams of glycerine and enough distilled water to make four ounces. The dose for an adult is one teaspoonful every hour until relieved. To avoid the constipating effect of the iron a good dose of some saline laxative should be taken.

Method.

"He occasionally says things that are wonderfully apropos," said one statesman.

"Yes," answered the other; "he's like our parrot at home. It doesn't know much, but what it does know it keeps repeating until some circumstance arises that makes the remark seem marvellously apt."

Classical Music.

"What is your idea of classical music?"

"Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "as I understand it a classical piece is something that lawyers had to play written by somebody whose name is very hard to pronounce."

More Than One.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Good and Bad Mothers

The difference between good and bad mothers is so vast and so far-reaching that it is no exaggeration to say that the good mothers of this generation are building the homes of the next generation, and the bad mothers are building the prisons. For out of families nations are made; and if the father be the head and the hands of a family, the mother is the heart. No office in the world is so honorable as hers, so priesthood so holy, no influence so sweet and strong and lasting. Unselfish love is the mother's! Cheerful obedience is the children's! In whatever home these forces are constantly operative, that home cannot be a failure. And mother love is not of a right kind, nor of the highest trend, unless it compels this obedience. The assertion that affectionate firmness and even wholesome chastisement is unnecessary with our advanced civilization is a specious and dangerous. The children of today have as many rudimentary vices as they had in the days of the patriarchs: as a general thing they are self-willed and inclined to evil from their cradles; greedy without a blush, and ready to lie as soon as they discover the use of language. A good mother does not shut her eyes to these facts; she accepts her child as imperfect, and trains it with never ceasing love and care for its highest duties. She does not call impertinence "smartness," nor insubordination "high spirit," nor selfishness "knowing how to take care of itself," nor lying and dishonesty sharpness.

How to Remove Warts

It's really a simple matter to remove warts and calluses if you apply Putnam's Corn and Wart Extractor. Cure is certain—failure impossible—if you use Putnam's.

A Clever Trick

How the Turkish Sultan manages to wriggle out of disagreeable positions is illustrated by the experienced, which befell the Ambassador of a leading European country not long ago. The diplomat was riding in the streets of Constantinople one day when one of the Sultan's carriages rolled by, closely guarded. The Ambassador's curiosity got the best of him, and he peeped into the carriage. He was surprised and pained to receive a severe blow in the face from an attendant in charge. Mad with rage he demanded audience of the Sultan and lodged a complaint. The Sultan listened attentively and for a moment appeared lost in thought. At last he spoke. "My dear ambassador, I have gone carefully into the case and see exactly how it stands. You are of course, a gentleman, therefore you would never have committed such a breach of good manners as you allege to have taken place. Therefore no attendant could possibly have struck you. The whole affair seems to be a product of your fancy—let us dismiss it."

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys are weak, try at least a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity fail. This plan, yet exact truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by All Dealers.

Woman the Leader

Women have exercised a remarkable judgement in regard to great issues. They have prevented the casting aside of plans that led to very remarkable discoveries and inventions. When Columbus laid a plan to discover the new world, he could not get a hearing until he applied to a woman for help. Woman equips man for the voyage of life. She is seldom a leader in any project, but meets her peculiar and best attributes as a helper. Though man executes a project, she fits him for it, beginning in his childhood. A man discovered America, but a woman equipped the voyage; so everywhere, a woman executes the performance, but man is the man.

The Melancholy Danes.

Danes seem more prone to commit suicide than any other people. About 250 Danes per 1,000,000 die yearly by suicide.

Alnwick Castle.

Alnwick castle, according to the observations of a learned antiquary, owes its origin to the Romans. It is one of the largest Gothic buildings in Britain, containing about five acres of ground within its outer walls, surrounded with sixteen towers and turrets.

Habitual Criminals.

About 48 per cent of all the crime committed is the work of habitual criminals.

Horse Chestnut.

Horse chestnut is a totally misleading word. Here "horse" is a corruption of the Welsh word "hwres," which means hot or pungent. So, too, is the expression "horse laugh" and "horse play."

The Strongest Men.

The porters in Constantinople are said to be the strongest men in the world and after them the Chilean miners and the bearers of northern China.

Hairbrushes.

To clean hairbrushes take a cup of cornmeal and fill the brush, rubbing gently with the hand. As it absorbs the grease and dirt shake it out and use fresh meal till the brush is cleaned thoroughly. This is better than ammonia, as there is no water to injure or loosen the back of the brush.

Sandy Soils.

The temperature of countries with sandy soils is higher than that of those with clay or compact soils.

Cucumbers.

Cucumbers are native to the East Indies and are grown in Kashmir, China and Persia. They were much esteemed by the ancients and are common in Egypt, where a drink is prepared from them when they are ripe.

Bible Criticism.

The higher criticism is the criticism of the literary forms and contents of the Bible; the lower criticism is the criticism of the text of the Bible. The higher criticism endeavors to decide, with regard to the writing in question, what its authorship is, its authenticity, its credibility, etc., while the lower criticism is concerned with what might be called the mechanism of the text, so attention being paid to anything else.

Cutpurses.

Cutpurses are so called because in the past the purse was worn about the neck by a long cord that the thief had to cut.

The Werder Orchards.

The largest orchards in Europe are at Werder, near Berlin. They extend without a break to about 13,000 acres. They yield about $3,000,000 pounds of apples and pears every year.

A Well Toothed Family.

While the average man is satisfied with a maximum of thirty-two teeth, a Turk near Balburt, in Asia Minor, boasts of forty-five, all perfect. He belongs to a well toothed family, his mother and a sister each having the same number.

Whistling.

Whistling will do much toward the development of a robust physical frame.

Cattle Plague.

The worst attack of cattle plague known in Great Britain was from 1865 to 1867, when 124,332 cattle died and 110,183 were slaughtered. On this occasion the plague was imported from Russia.

Wiring a Piano.

Wiring a piano requires one pound of the very best steel wire. Five hundred single strings are necessary.

Garlic.

Garlic came from Asia and has been used since the earliest times. It formed part of the diet of the Israelites in Egypt and was used by Greek and Roman soldiers and African peasants.

A Tiny Dwelling.

What looks like a doll's house or the abode of a pygmy is to be seen in a town in New South Wales. The front of this tiny dwelling is five and a half feet across and the depth is six feet, while the entire height of the perpendicular walls is six inches. Oddly enough, this house is inhabited, and the occupants find it quite comfortable.

Vegetables.

Many of the vegetables we daily use on our dinner tables were in use in Bible times. It is known, for instance, that asparagus was grown 200 years before the birth of Christ, while lettuce was cultivated as far back as 550 B. C.

Wrecks at Sea.

The decrease of the world's shipping by wreck and breaking up averages 125,000 tons yearly.

Table Forks.

Table forks have been in general use just 600 years. The original fork was designed for the purpose of facilitating the eating of fruit. A member of royalty, King John IV, is said to be the inventor of the fruit fork.

Turns Red to White.

The filtering power of charcoal may be demonstrated by pouring water in a funnel lined with a wafer of charcoal containing some charcoal. The water that filters through will be white.

FROM COLUMBIAN CENTER.

She's just a summer boarder, Unplanned, I'll allow. She bristles at the pumpkin. She cannot milk a cow. She's most unsympathetic. At coops and sties and sties, but three times oh, and give the best. Not eyes she has—wot eyes!

She's just a summer boarder, Unfinished, I'll aver. The fustlike call of cabbage Means nothin' much to her. She's just to the turp. And worse to homemade pie. But three times woe, and steer the plow! Not eyes she has—wot eyes!

She's just a summer boarder, Unplanned, I confess. Indifferent to haystacks, Unconcerned in dress. Intoxicated to slumbers, Unladylike to flies. But three times hall, and swing the fall! Not eyes she has—wot eyes!

—Thomas R. Ybarra in New York Times.

And For Himself Too.

Pat—The next wan o' thim chauffers as runs over me'll be sorry for it. Thomas—And why's that? Pat—I've got a tin o' nitroglycerin in me pocket—Punch.

Not to Be Dared.

Although Johnnie's and Willie's mothers are warm friends, those boys are always fighting each other. After a recent battle the victorious Johnnie was urged by his mother to go and make friends with his fallen foe. She even offered to give him a party if he would go over and invite Willie to come to that festivity.

After much urging Johnnie promised to do as his mother wished, so the party came off at the appointed time and was violently enjoyed by all present, but Willie did not come.

"Now, Johnnie, did you invite him?" asked Johnnie's mother.

"Yes, I did! Yes, ma'am, I invited him," answered Johnnie. "I invited him," he added reflectively, "and I dared him to come."—Harper's Weekly.

Wanted to Help the Little Fellow.

Two men were engaged in sawing timber in the Maine woods. One was a big, brawny and very fierce looking fellow, the other a meek and inoffensive little chap. They were using a crosscut saw. A big Irishman happened along and, after standing there a few minutes watching them pull back and forth, decided that the big one was trying to take advantage of the other. The Irishman reprimanded the big fellow, which caused a row. After Pat had given him a good thrashing he turned and said, "Now, I giss ye'll let the little fellow have it, be-gorry?"—Judge's Library.

In a French Court.

Counsel addressing the judge after he had got his client, a thief, acquitted in the face of strong evidence—Your honor, I would be obliged if you would order that this man be not released from custody until tomorrow.

Judge—Certainly, but what is your reason?

Counsel—Well, you see, the road near my home is rather lonely, and as my client knows quite well that I shall have money on me he might possibly lay in wait for me.—Bon Vivant.

The Quest of a Discoverer.

"Masters declare that they have discovered some great actors and some remarkable plays." "Actors and plays?" replied Stormington Barnes, ever always in evidence. What I want to find is some one who can be relied on for the discovery of audiences."—Washington Star.

Retribution at Hand.

"Ouch!" complained the automatic scales in the railroad station. "These fat men will be the ruin of me. That last one simply put me on the bum." "Well," replied the churning gun machine, "now you can lie in wait for the next one."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Long Felt Want.

Jaggles—Do you think there will ever be any radical change in the style of men's hats? Waggles—Not unless somebody invents a hat that will cover the bald spot on the back of the head.—Harper's Weekly.

No Chance.

"Do you consider marriage a lottery?" asked the coy young widow. "Not so you could notice it without a pair of green spectacles," replied the fussy old bachelor. "It's more on the order of a shell game."—Chicago News.

Find a Cause.

Doctor (to husband whose wife he has been called to attend)—Before I commence my examination tell me when she last had a new dress and a new hat and if she has been to the sea yet this year.—Megendorfer Blatter.

The Custom House Report.

Wife—People are getting on such creatures of a habit. Hubby—How? Wife—I've seen a lot of 'em lately. They're getting on such creatures of a habit. City Times.

SECOND FALLS

On the evening of Dec. 24th, the Baptist Sunday school held their annual Xmas entertainment, consisting of concert and Xmas tree. The church was taxed beyond its seating capacity. It was a joy to the pastor to meet his people once more in the social way. That the children were efficiently trained was manifest by the creditable manner in which the recitations were delivered. The selections were so appropriate to the central theme of the season and such a highly spiritual character that, as the children told again so beautifully "The Old Old Story" it made "our hearts burn within us." The music of the choir also added much to joy of the evening. After the programme Santa with his reindeers arrived at the church door. In a fitting speech he welcomed the children once more to the Xmas treat, and wished all the compliments of the season.

The gifts were then distributed from a well loaded tree, all present participating in the treat. The pastor's stocking contained not only the usual Xmas treat but also a tangible purse of money. He expresses in behalf of his family thanks and appreciation for these tokens of goodwill. He also desires to thank the kind people of Lee Settlement for the Xmas donation which they recently brought to the parishage. A new furnace has been placed in the church which adds greatly to the comfort of all. Mr. H. A. Bennett of Boston, who was the guest of Mrs. Eldridge Sherwood, gave the church ten dollars on condition that a furnace be put in. The church expresses their thanks to Mr. Bennett for his timely gift. Allow me, Mr. Editor, to wish you a Happy New Year and success to your paper which is a credit to our town and County.
