A FORTUNE

Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives.

The standard specific for this purpose

—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.

"I consider that I have been

SAVED

several hundred dollars' expense by using

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly recommend it to all who are troubled with rheumatism, catarrh, or any of the blood diseases. It is the only medicine that will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West

Platfield, N. Y.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with

Scrofula, not mending of any benefit.

At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and was a failure.

NAPOLÉON CROW'S WOOING.

Cooking his own supper over a blazing wood fire one hot evening in July,

Napoleon Crow felt that he was indeed born to misfortune like the sparks that flew upward.

For forty years he had tilled the stony,

sterile little farm which, at its best,

had never yielded its owner more than a precarious living, and now at the age of sixty he was alone in the world, having a few months previously buried his third wife.

Whether it was owing to an inherent delicacy of constitution, a lack of appreciation and tenderness on his part, or to a continuous diet of stewed yellow egg beans and pork, we are unable to determine, but for some mysterious reason, Napoleon's wives refused to thrive on his hands, and drooped and perished away, one after another, until he was convinced that in his case marriage

was a failure.

That he had been his own house keeper for several months, every room and closet in the drapery old farm-house being evident, and the numerous scars on his hands and arms testified to the burning and scalding he had received during his cooking operations.

out the sweetening from his apple pie;

the salt from his butter, the eggs from his custards, and wondered why he had

After a multitude of disastrous failures similar to the ones we have recorded,

Napoleon resolved he would, from now on, he would try to make a success of his life.

He began by getting a new wife.

He began by getting a new wife.

He began by getting a new wife.

He began by getting a new wife.

He began by getting a new wife.

man here to cook your vittles and do your washing and keep the house wholesome. Why don't you hire a woman, and pay her so much a week?"

"I could not afford it. All the income

I get from the farm would not pay her wages. I think myself, not relishing my vittles has something to do with my unhappy feeling."

"You might get married," suggested

Jotham.

"Yes, I have thought of that. I know of a smart, likely woman that's with some property that I think would jump at the chance to get me to do. She is a widow that I counted on when I was young, and lives on a farm some where in Stoughton. I'd like to go and see her, and see if she would like to change her condition, if it was not for neighbors talking. You know I ain't been a widder this last time only about seven months."

I know but circumstances alters cases, and if you cannot afford to hire a housekeeper you had better hunt up a wife.

Let folks talk if they want to.

You've a smart woman come here and scrub and scow, and lighten up things, and cook you three good tempting meals every day, and you would soon begin to fat up, and be strong and ambitious to work as ever you was in your life."

Now, I do hope, Napoleon, you realize just how slim and peaked you are looking, and if you do not want to slip your wind after the snow flies, take my advice and marry that 'ere widder jest as soon as she will have you. And taking his take, Jotham, departed, leaving

Napoleon to his thoughts, which were not pleasant by any means.

For several days after Napoleon wandered around in a discontented, empty-minded way, as though he was uncertain whether to take Jotham's advice or not.

At length, on this hot July evening when we introduced him to our readers having nearly caused a configuration by upsetting a kitchen-lamp, which exploded in the four barrel, Napoleon gnashed his teeth as he tore around the room in his efforts to extinguish the flames, and vowed he would have a

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.

In reading the local papers of late, I have seen many columns bearing on the Scott Act, and the question of repeal or to remain in force seems to be the cause of contention, which is now being agitated. Although a stranger and foreigner here, any one would think that this question would be the last to interest me. But such is not the case. I believe every person should be responsible to themselves, to their fellow-men and their Creator. And they should live in such a way that they should not be responsible to any one else. The question which is soon to be decided should awake every man and woman in this province, to the individual responsibility that is living under. Coming from a state where the sale of liquor is prohibited by law, and where the law is enforced to the general satisfaction of all parties, and where the community is united in keeping the sale and use down, it is a contrast to come here indeed. To see the law defied and every remedy there is for the regulation of its sale in danger of being swept from the statute book. The question of licensing rum shops for an income in dollars and cents should not be considered for a moment. In this enlightened province the idea of a licensed Christian people trying to legalize a gigantic wrong, is appalling. And sooner or later every one who has any responsibility resting on themselves will realize in such a way that will make them shudder, many families today may not feel its poison, but you do not know what a day may bring forth. You see old men, middle aged men, and boys fall every day under its influence. Should you not feel that your fathers, husbands and boys, were in better security if it was not in the land. Its sale, use and traffic will not add to the wealth, prosperity and intelligence of any community and will have a bad effect and expose their families and friends to the dangers of intemperance by trying to legalize such a business.

Keep your law in force and see that no guilty man escapes punishment that does defy it, and it will be one of the grand victories that you ever gained. It will make you better parents, better neighbors, better Christians, and better business men, better men and women for the undertaking of any class of labor that is intended to elevate the human race in any capacity; you will enjoy better health, a purer conscience, be united in this great struggle to put down this demon, Political and sectarian differences, if any exist, should never have any bearing in this cause, let every voter fully realize the responsibility he is under to himself and his fellow man on the twenty ninth, do not be influenced by any one on this point. Let vote for the Scott Act to remain in force.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.
Chatham, N. B., Sept. 23rd, 1892.

Mr. Editor:—

Dear Sir:—Recently taking a trip through the Grand River valley, I was struck with the beautiful scenery of that place. The dry roads, the loose friable soil, the beautiful table-lands, and the clear transparent water gliding along almost without a murmur over conglomerate pebbles and silty sands, winding its way to the ocean. On the other side of the river stood the lofty pine in de-hance of all forest trees, raising their majestic peaks far above them, speaking loudly of days of yore, and recalling the reminiscence of youth and might which those forest gods reveal.

I held my lecture at the house of Mr. Hansen, a thrifty farmer on that river. The old man, beaming with the joy of the visit of the happy days gone by, contains a very large room below stairs, as the Old Farmers generally had large parties.

The trumpeting of horses and the clattering of wagons soon heralded a large gathering of people. Troops of young ladies and gentlemen presented themselves with the most elegant manners and tokens of kindness. The result of the meeting was a profound one. There was a concert of action among the members. All seemed to express themselves in favor of the Scott Act. Mr. Hansen said that drunkenness was not known on Grand River since the Scott Act came in force and the people were growing more intelligent and more prosperous, and if the temperance movement was continued a great revolution would greet the world with moral development and natural prosperity.

The next morning of temperance seemed general among the people.

I spoke on hour, all seemed satisfied, and meeting closed with a few temperance songs.

What wonderful progress the closing half of the nineteenth century has witnessed! Men still young have witnessed discoveries and inventions, which, while they have fairly revolutionized the methods of human life, are taken almost as a matter of course. New wonderful discoveries are made almost daily. We quickly adapt ourselves to the change of condition, and even wonder that the inventive genius of man has not long ago penetrated the secrets of nature, almost daily being brought to our aid. While all directions great advances have been made, perhaps in none have the strides been greater, than in the science of medicine. Old methods have entirely disappeared, the days of big nauous

THE BODDEN MURDER.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 20.—The State is ready to prove that six months before the murders, Luize Bodden went to Providence and consulted with a lawyer as to the disposition of her father's property in the event of his death—more particularly as to its disposition as affecting her. The man is one of the best known lawyers in Rhode Island, and has had several political offices. He obtained all the information she could give him about the opposition case, and asked her where she lived. When she said Fall River, he told her he would not be able to give her an answer at once, but if he would call on him later he would have looked up the Massachusetts law and would be able to advise her. Two weeks before the murders she again went to Providence and received all the information the lawyer could give her. She went to several stores in Providence and made purchases, directing that they be shipped to her home. The police are in possession of a shipping tag showing she was in Providence on that day. When the story of the murders was published, the lawyer readily admitted the fact that he had been consulted by her. A man who saw Miss Bodden sitting in the lawyer's waiting room gave information to the police. Every effort was made to get the professional man to come to this city and identify the girl. On the last day of the preliminary hearing he was in the Court room and stood face to face with the prisoner. The recognition was mutual, and the lawyer determined to view on the stand and testify to the interviews when the proper time arrived.

Railway Office, Moncton, N. B., 24th September, 1892.

While in Midland the writer called upon Dr. McArthur, druggist, who has been selling Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, with the most decided benefits to those using them.

From many of our exchanges we have noticed with interest the reports of the great benefit derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the case of Mrs. Chase goes to confirm the claim that they are a wonderful discovery in the interests of humanity, restoring vitality to the broken down system. Considering that Mrs. Chase had suffered ten years, and last October was looked upon as being at the point of death, there must be something of an almost miraculous virtue in the remedy which has raised her to her present condition of health, after she had spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, and for other so called remedies, of various kinds. In fact Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized as one of the greatest modern medicines—a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer—curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling resulting therefrom, disease depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, the after effects of leprosy, etc. Pink Pills restore pale and weak complexions to the glow of health, and are a specific for all the troubles peculiar to the female sex, while in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing our trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk, or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers to sell in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

TROUBLE FOR IRELAND.

NO POLITICS NOW TO RESTRAIN TORY LANDLORDS.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Already there are signs of coming disturbances in Ireland. There will certainly be rioting and bloodshed if the worse case of Irish landlords carry out their present plan for renewing the eviction campaign.

The Tory landlords have no longer any political reason for leniency toward their tenants. Either they will collect the arrears of rent due to them, or they will evict the tenants to a violent resistance against being driven shelterless and hungry into the high ways.

So the world is to be wracked again by the old story of outrage and bloodshed in Ireland. England and Europe will turn a deaf ear to the tale, unless it shall bring with it some new supreme horror and cruelty. To America once again will be turned the only hopeful aspect.

Meanwhile, Mr. Morley is preparing to do everything possible to mitigate the evil which threatens.

In fact Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized as one of the greatest modern medicines—a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer—curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling resulting therefrom, disease depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, the after effects of leprosy, etc. Pink Pills restore pale and weak complexions to the glow of health, and are a specific for all the troubles peculiar to the female sex, while in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing our trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk, or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers to sell in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

TROUBLE FOR IRELAND.

NO POLITICS NOW TO RESTRAIN TORY LANDLORDS.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Already there are signs of coming disturbances in Ireland. There will certainly be rioting and bloodshed if the worse case of Irish landlords carry out their present plan for renewing the eviction campaign.

The Tory landlords have no longer any political reason for leniency toward their tenants. Either they will collect the arrears of rent due to them, or they will evict the tenants to a violent resistance against being driven shelterless and hungry into the high ways.

So the world is to be wracked again by the old story of outrage and bloodshed in Ireland. England and Europe will turn a deaf ear to the tale, unless it shall bring with it some new supreme horror and cruelty. To America once again will be turned the only hopeful aspect.

Meanwhile, Mr. Morley is preparing to do everything possible to mitigate the evil which threatens.

While in Midland the writer called upon Dr. McArthur, druggist, who has been selling Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, with the most decided benefits to those using them.

From many of our exchanges we have noticed with interest the reports of the great benefit derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the case of Mrs. Chase goes to confirm the claim that they are a wonderful discovery in the interests of humanity, restoring vitality to the broken down system. Considering that Mrs. Chase had suffered ten years, and last October was looked upon as being at the point of death, there must be something of an almost miraculous virtue in the remedy which has raised her to her present condition of health, after she had spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, and for other so called remedies, of various kinds. In fact Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recognized as one of the greatest modern medicines—a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer—curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling resulting therefrom, disease depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, the after effects of leprosy, etc. Pink Pills restore pale and weak complexions to the glow of health, and are a specific for all the troubles peculiar to the female sex, while in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.
