IS STILL LIVING!

Letter From Miss Ellen M. Stone, the Abducted Missionary --- Ransom Fund is Short $50,000.

Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, for the payment of the ransom demanded, expired a week ago, no one has appeared at Samakoff to claim the money or to announce the fate of the captive. It is now learned that the band has dissolved, but that Miss Stone is kept under surveillance at some distance from the frontier. This is due to snow and cold weather rendering the mountains uninhabitable. The efforts of the police to arrest Saraoff, formerly president of the Macedonian committee, who is suspected of complicity in the kidnapping, are still unavailing. The failure is due to the sympathy of the inhabitants and local authorities

New York, Oct. 15.—According to a dispatch from Sofia, word has come from Miss Stone in the following letter written from Macedonia to W. W. Peet, treasurer of the Turkish mission in onstantinople:

"My Honored Friend,-I write to inform you that on Sept. 3 I was captured by a great number of armed men some 40-as I traveled from Bansko to Dimmaala, with about twelve teachers, students and others.

They took with me for my companion, Mrs. Catharine Tsilka. The reason why they captured us is for a ransom. The price which they demand for us is 25,000 pounds, Turkish, which um must be paid in gold, and this entirely without the knowledge of the Turkish and Bulgarian Governments, within the term of 18 days from toed the limit, as she is to give birth to a child in three months. "We are pursued by a Turkish army.

"The men who captured us at first shewed courtesy and consideration toward us, but now, since Turkish soldiers and Bashibazouks have begun to pursue us, and the ransom is delayed, our condition is altogether changed. "Therefore, I beg you to hasten sending the ransom demanded, and that as energetically as possible you will represent to the Turkish Government that it stop the pursuit of us by soldiers and Bashibazouks; otherwise we shall be killed by the people in whose hands we are. I pray you to communicate without delay the contents of this letter to the representative of the United States at the porte, and request his most serious co-operation.

"Pray for us. We are at peace with "With hearty salutations, your friend, "ELLEN M. STONE."

gave out a letter yesterday, stating that $50,000 more are needed to complete the ransom fund.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 15.—The parents of Madame Tsilka, the Bulgarian teacher who was captured by brigands with Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, have received another letter from their daughter, urging the step already taken, namely: Stopping the military pursuit, because the brigands threaten the prisoners with immediate death in the event of danger to themselves. The writer says that she and Miss Stone are hidden in a subterranean retreat and are treated courteously. She also says the only means of securing their release is to tween Russia and Japan over Corea is predicted by Dr. Nicholas Senn, professor of surgery in the University of Chicago, who has arrived here from a tour of the Orient. Said he: "While I was in Japan I noticed on every hand that the Japanese were making preparations for war with Russia, and they made no secret of it. The cause of the trouble is no secret in Japan. It wants Corea. Japan is not large enough for the Japanese. Russia practically holds Manchuria, and the Japanese do not intend letting this nation extend its ifluence to Corea if this condition can pe prevented; hence the preparation

THE DISS DE BAR CASE. London, Oct. 14.-The case of Theodore and Laura Jackson, the latter in generally known as Diss de Bar, was taken up again in the police court Saturday.

Miss Vera Cregsdale, who had previously testified that she gave up her jewels to the Jacksons, and that Theodore Jackson had assaulted her while she was under hypnotic influence, was cross-examined by "Laura Jackson." Miss Cregsdale, who was in a state of great excitement, repeated her previ- COAL MINERS OPPOSE QUITTING Replying to a question by Jackson, Miss Cregsdale said that she thought some of his teachings were immoral. She said, in explaining this opinion, that he (Jackson) taught that riage nowadays was a sin which only resulted in bringing little devils into the world. Jackson asked a series of questions which were designed to prove the physical impossibility of his committing the alleged offenses

Olga Rowsen, another young woman who had been inveigled by the Jacksons, was the next witness. She testified that she answered a matrimonial advertisement, with the result that she had an interview with Jackson, who told her that he was traveling with his mother, and asked her what property she had. Miss Rowsen said Jackson maintained intimate relations with her despite was no sin to do so. Miss Rowsen gave further evidence in regard to the outrageous treatment she had received from Jackson, with the connivance of "Mrs. Jackson." The witness said that with the expectation of marrying Jackson, she gave notice to her employer that she intended to leave her situation. The hearing was adjourned until next Wednesday. ANOTHER ABDUCTION.

It is announced from Bucharest, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Vienna, that Herr Rosenthal, the representative of a German firm, has been kidnapped by Bulgarian brigands at Silistria. The Roumanian Government has sent a protest to Sofla, and the Bulgarian Government has ordered troops to pursue the brigands. EUROPE'S BEET SUGAR.

Berlin, Oct. 15.-The Central Blatt Fuer die Zucker-Industrie estimates Europe's production of beet sugar follows: Germany, 2,125,000,000 pounds; inburgh, for the publication of the Austria, 1,225,000,000 pounds; France, lands of matrimony. Lieut. Cecil, beats of season, 1;190,000,000 pounds; Russia, 1,000,000,000 ing a minor, and a ward in chancery, went to King.

000 pounds last year. BITTEN BY A COBRA. New York, Oct. 15 .- A dispatch from Paris to the Times says it has been found necessary to amputate one of the fingers of Dr. Calmette, director of the Pasteur Institute, on account of a bite from a cobra, from which he was extracting the venom. It is presumed that the serum invented by Dr. Calmette after his studies in Cochin China saved his life, but after three weeks amputation was necessary. RAILWAYS IN PALESTINE. WORK. The result of the French coal miners' referendum on the question of a general strike is that 4,000 voted in favor of a general strike and 10,000 cast their votes against it. About 110,000 men did not vote. The miners have been voting on the question of a strike on Nov. 1 if their demands for an eight-hour day minimum wage and a pension of 2 francs per day after two years of work do not receive sufficient satisfac-

TROLLEY IN ST. PETERSBURG. "American enterprise in Russia," says a dispatch to the London Standard from Moscow, "has culminated in a proposition to the city of St. Petersburg to take over the entire tramway system under a 25-year contract, to relay and extend in all directions electric instead of horse tramways, and to build a substantial bridge over her protests. He assured her that it the Neva, to replace the present wooden structure. The necessary capital, 15,000,000 roubles, will be raised in the United States."

RIOT IN KILMAINE. John O'Donnell (Nationalist) at-tempted to address his constituents in Kilmaine, county of Mayo, the scene of recent evictions. He was dragged off the platform several times by the police, and finally, after a fierce struggle, was taken to the barracks. One hundred and fifty police were present at the meeting. The crowd hurled stones, and several persons were injured. John O'Donnell is a young tenant farmer, and a protege of Wm. O'Brien, M.P. He is secretary of the United Irish League, and was first returned to the House of Commons for South Mayo in February, 1900, succeeding Michael Davitt

SURPRISE FOR ZIONISTS. Israel Zangwill says of the coming conference of Zionists, in Basle, Switzerland: "It is not impossible that Dr. Herzi may have a great surprise for the world, to be announced at the convention. He has been negotiating in person with the Sultan of Turkey for a charter for Palestine, and it is possible that he has obtained it. seems likely, at any rate, that the charter may be made before many months. Once the charter is assured much larger contributions should be obtained. We have at present about $1,000,000, most of it from three or four subscribers. And after the charter is obtained and the money is raised the poor folk among the Jews will have a place of refuge at last." WITHOUT WIRES. A new advance in wireless telegraphy is recorded in London this morning.

It can now be foreseen that the widespread crop failures, the consequent famine and the relief work of the Russian Government, and of philanthropists will be engrossing subjects in the empire during the approaching winter. The word famine is not used in the official publications, which speak of famine-stricken districts as "places that are in an unfavorable condition as respects the harvests," but the facts that are freely admitted show that the struggle to keep the present popula-tion alive until a new harvest will be harder than has been known since 1891-2. COMPANY OF SOLDIERS LOST. Dr. Piper and his coroner's jury of thirteen citizens, at the police station sars, under command of Major H. R. last night continued the inquest on Abbott, that furnished the royal escort the death of the late Conductor Wm. for the duke and duchess on Saturday Birkett, who was killed at London East station on the G. T. R. on Mon-day evening of last week. The jury had been impaneled on Tuesday and after viewing the remains had adjourned till last night. Of the ten witnesses four were examined at last night's session, which lasted tili 11:45, when an adjournment was made till tonight

P. C. Richard Coursey was the first witness, and his story coincided with that already published. The policeman was standing talking with the crossing watchman when the Stratford train came in. Witness saw Conductor Birkett jump from the train before it stopped and walk in front of the engine which was backing eastward to the coal chute. The witness shouted to warn Birkett, but he evidently did not hear, and a second later there was a crash of breaking glass and Birkett's lantern went out The constable immediately ran over and found Birkett lying across the rails. P. C. Coursey lifted his head and spoke to him, but the only reply was a moan. The policeman saw that the conductor's body was cut in two. There was a pool of blood twenty feet west of where the body was lying. Watchman Wm. Galbraith, another eyewitness of the accident, thought the train was going ten miles an hour when it passed the crossing. He saw Birkett step off in front of the approaching engine, but did not have time to warn him. He thought Birkett was looking at his watch when the engine struck him. The train ran for a car length or more after Birkett alighted.

George M. Ross, driver of the locomotive which killed Birkett, was the next witness. His engine was running at from 5 to 7 miles an hour. Witness saw train coming in but thought he would have time to clear the station before the train stopped. Witness did not see Birkett at all, but felt a quiver as though the engine had passed over some dirt on the

H. S. Wright, locomotive fireman, identified the book of rules produced as that given to the G. T. R. trainmen for their guidance. Two rules were cited as applying in the present case, one that trainmen must not get on or off trains while they are in motion, and the other forbidding engines or trains to pass passenger trains standing at a station and discharging or receiving passengers. Barrister R. S. Robinson, of Stratford, was present in the interests of the late Conductor Birkett's family.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 14.—Lord Minto has received a letter from the British embassy at Washington thanking his excellency and Premier Laurier for their message of sympathy and condolence with the United States people on the death of President McKinley. The United States acting secretary of state says that pressure of business prevented an earlier reply to Canada's sympathetic message.

On sped the trolley car up the river, passing the great whirlpool, the party viewing every point with traditions. viewing every point with straining eyes, at times completely spellbound by the beautiful scenery and the rushing waters. When the Whirlpool Rapids incline, just below the G. T. R. steel arch bridge, was reached, the car stopped, and the whole party left the cars and went down the incline to the promenade at the water's edge and viewed the rapids, as they tossed and leaped through the gorge. Ascending to the top of the bank, they came out of the building to take the car. The duke and duchess were met by some thousand persons, who had gathered in the meantime to get a glimpse of the heir-apparent and the duchess. The little ones of the city had expressed a desire to send some souvenirs, Indian and Esquimaux birch canoes, etc., for the children of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall. The wish was made known to the duchess, and she was much pleased and graciously accepted the gift. Afterwards they were driven around Goat Island, and were taken by the route road to Lewiston, crossing to Queenston. The whole party returned to Niagara, reaching the hotel about 5:30 o'clock, having spent a most pleasant day. AT ST. CATHARINES. St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 14. - The royal train stopped here a few min-utes this morning, and the citizens turned out en masse. The different business houses were closed. Ridley College turned out 100 strong, while the other colleges, and schools attended in a body. A company of the 19th Regiment assembled as a guard of honor; there was also a representation of the 7th Field Battery and Artillery Brigade Division. At 10:06, when the royal train pulled in, the military gave a salute, and as the duke and duchess appeared on the rear platform a tremendous cheer went up from 8,000 throats. Mayor McIntyre stepped aboard, with little Marion Merritt, daughter of Major Merritt. The little one bowed and presented the duchess with a handsome bouquet A splendid line of 23-inch Moquette Rugs, worth of flowers. AT HAMILTON. Hamilton, Oct. 14 .- After the proeedings in the earlier part of the day (briefly chronicied in an earlier dispatch), the royal party proceeded to Victoria Park, where 35,000 persons had gathered to see the duke and duchess, and witness the interesting proceedings. Here the 13th Regiment was drawn up in line, facing the royal stan-dard. The Duke of York inspected The old colors of the regiment were trooped for the last time in a manner such as only the 13th can do it, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," by the 13th Band, amid cheering from the assembled multitude. The 13th Regiment then formed a hollow square. After Majors Stoneman and Zealand had uncased the colors, Chaplain For-neret proceeded with the consecration, after which the colors donated by the Daughters of the Empire were presented by H. R. The mayor welcomed the distinguished visitors, and passing through a beautiful arch they proceeded to the platform, where the Dufferin Rifles' Band played and 1,500 school children sang "The Maple Leaf." Prof. Bell, father of Prof. A. Melville Bell, as a souvenir from the city of Brantford, gave the duke a complete telephone set. The case of the receiver is of solid silver, on which is nicely engraved: "Presented to their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, by the citizens of the Telephone City, Brantford, Canada, Oct. 14." Paris, Ont., Oct. 14.—All places of business were closed here, all factories shut down, and the people of Paris and surrounding county turned out en masse to welcome their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York this afternoon. About 5:20 the royal train arrived at the station, which was profusely decorated with flags and bunting and thronged with a crowd which, if smaller than some, was no less enthusiastic in its reception to their royal highnesses. The reception committee were presented, and the duke and duchess were presented with a handsome bouquet of flowers, in addition to which duchess was presented with a souvenir spoon. The Oxford Rifles, headed by the band, were in attendance, and as the train pulled out, his royal highness repeatedly bowed in response to the hearty cheers. AT WOODSTOCK. was honored by a visit from royalty this afternoon, which it will long remember. The Industrial City feels proud of the fact that a special trip was made from Hamilton for the sole purpose of allowing Woodstock's loyal population to see the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, Brantford and Paris being touched en route. The royal train did not arrive until 5:50 p.m., though it was due early this The crowds began to gather at the depot, and by 4 o'clock ten thousand had assembled. The station was beautifully decorated, as were also the overhead bridges in the immediate vicinity. The freight yards were cleared of cars, with the exception of a train of flat cars, which were put at the disposal of the crowd. On a huge platform where the train stopped were massed a thousand school children, who sang patriotic songs to the accompaniment of the bands. a private platform roped in to keep the crowd back were stationed the mayor and city council, together with a number of prominent personages, who were presented to the duke and duchess, the latter alighting from the observation platform of the Cornwall. Imports and Exports for the Last Three Months.

Departments Preparing the Estimates -Railway Ticket Office Robbed-Pleased With the Review

Ottawa, Oct. 15.-The trade figures for the three months ended Sept. 30 show that the total imports for consumption and the exports during that period were $97,158,908, as compared with $98,935,189 for the first quarter of the last fiscal year, a decrease of $1,-Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 14.-Woodstock 776,281. These figures do not include coin and bullion or foreign merchandise exported from Canada. The imports for consumption amounted to $47,024,713, an increase of $1,113,397 over the same period of the previous year. The exports of domestic merchandise aggregated only $50,134,195, a decrease of $2,889,680 over the first three months of last year. The imports for September last were $15,651,697, while for the same month of 1900 they were $15,425,-The exports for the month were $17,299,922, as against $20,068,025 for the preceding September. Animals and their products exhibit the largest falling off in exports, the amount being over a million and a half. No doubt this is due to the difficulty of getting cars for the shipment of cattle, owing to the enormous demand for rolling stock caused by the immense crop in the west. As soon as the congestion in this direction is relieved the cattle shipments will probably be greatly increased. Products of the mine decreased by over a million. On the other hand it is gratifying to note that Canadian manufactures continue to exhibit a steady advace, the increase for last quarter being $258,669. One of the hardest things to carry is a "light" spring or fall overcoat. Yes, it is harder to carry that than a bird cage together with the bird. You throw it jauntily over an arm and sally forth with handbag and umbrella. You think you are holding the overcoat gracefully, writes Philip Hale, something after the fashion of one of those Spanish fellows in a bull fight. Suddenly you are aware that the velvet collar is trailing on the sidewalk. You try to recover the first position without putting down the bag. The overcoat slides as though it were greased. Again you make an attempt, a successful attempt. A drop of sweat starts behind your left ear, yet it is a cool morning. You walk a block You then discover that a frayed armhole is displayed to the gaze of rude boys. In attempting to put the best side toward the public view, a package of sandwiches prepared by your devoted wife, which you took with ill-concealed reluctance, drops in a wet spot on the pavement. You kick the package into the gutter, as though you had never seen it before, yet feared no concealed and humorous brick. And so it goes until you reach the station. The overcoat is a fiercer mocker than wine. You are in a muck. Your collar is moist and crumpled, your chin and neck are like a working silverplated ice pitcher in August. And you remember that in your moist, unpleascar, probably near a window, kept outer wrapper and bottle bear the open by a person who is apparently in name "PAINE'S." with the trade mark, the Stalk of Celery; no other is tended to the royal visitors now in Canada. Some of our Opposition contemporaries, apparently because they think to make political capital by so doing, have been asserting that there was more cheering among Englishspeaking crowds than among our French-Canadian fellow-countrymen. These mischief-makers, who are making these contrasts, would fain have the people of Ontario believe that to British institutions than are the residents of this Province. They can never forgive the French-speaking supporters of the present Government for giving their votes for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and not for Sir Charles Tupper. If they had preferred the Conservative candidates to those representing the Liberals, we do not doubt that these Ontario Opposition newspapers would today be beslobbering them with praise, instead of meanly attempting, by innuendo and misrepresentation, to make believe that at heart they are traitors to Canadian constitutions and to the rule of His Majesty the King. Most of us will understand the tactics of these Opposition newspapers in thus attacking our fellow-citizens in the sister Province; it is well that all should know the true inwardness of the persistent attempt to make believe that all French-speaking people who refuse to knuckle down to the Opposition bosses are traitors more or less dintinguish-

But about this cheering or not cheering the royal visitors. Does it follow that loud demonstrations are always a proof of the sincerity of those who make them. Most certainly not. It is not always the noisy proclaimer of his own righteousness The person who welcomes one in authority, or his representative in respectful silence, may be just as good a citizen and patriot as he who takes to waving flags and emitting the loudest hurrahs. We take just as kindly to cheering, on occasion, as any one; but surely, it would be stretching the truth to contend that he who refrains from cheering when the Duke and Duchess of York comes to town is less a patriot than he who goes on the housetops and shouts the loudest.

If our view were held to be mistaken, then would we have to believe that the people in the heart of the British Empire were a very disloyal community. A resident of this city, who has just returned from a three months' visit to the old land, informs us that again and again he saw the King and Queen driving through the streets of the British metropolis. Their advent was always preceded by the usual preparations with regard to the government of vehicular traffic, by the historical point of view. "The Jews, for metropolitan police, and it was really wonderful the speed with which, on such occasions, the sidewalks along the route were crowded. But there of moral obligations; so that with them was very little noisy demonstration. Many men lifted their hats, some women waved their handkerehiefs, and our sovereign and his most popular Queen were kept busy bowing their heads, in token of their pleasure at being so honored. But the scene was rather one of respectful silence than of loud hurrahing. Surely, if in any of our Canadian cities a somewhat similar greeting were given to the heir to the throne and his most lovable wife, he is either a fool or a firebrand conveys to his readers by imputation the idea that the people are disloyal to the throne and to British Institutions. Not so have the royal visitors interpreted their welcome at Quebec, at Montreal and Ottawa, where they have now been entertained.

Mayhap, there are variations in the manner of the receptions tendered the Duke and Duchess at the centers of population in which they tarry for a to the courage and common sense of brief space, just as there are differences in the surroundings and makeup of these populations, but their Royal Highnesses have taken every opportunity to effectually combat the false impression that has been sought moral principles "will not work" in to be conveyed, and have expressed politics. #### The Use of Moral Ideas in Politics.

Mr. J. S. Mackenzie, of University College, Cardiff, Wales, discusses this important subject ably in the International Journal of Ethics for October. or loyalty who is the best Christian actions as a people-is hypocrisy. or patriot From time immemorial Pecksniff is believed to be 'our reprethat we commonly profess higher principles in our public actions than they do, but that the actions themselves are at least not in a corresponding degree better than their own." He illustrates this from the attitude of one German critic of the British, who takes the position that the British were right in the sense that it was to their interest to subdue the Dutch, but they will worry in professing philanthropic motives, posing as the champions of freedom and all that kind of nonsense. Our foreign critics commonly express the difference by saying that they are frank while we are hypocritical. We, on the other hand, might perhaps prefer to express the same difference by saying that we have a certain belief, which they have not, that moral ideas have a place in practical politics, however difficult it may be to show that our actions are effectively guarded by them." Mr. Mackenzie, after this clear statement of the subject, treats it from the instance, in ancient times, never doubted that the expansion and strengthening of their nation was the most sacred there could hardly ever, I imagine, be any serious sense of conflict between what is politically and what is morally best. The same is, I think, broadly true of the Romans, and of most ancient peoples. The good man and the good patriot were for them almost identical. The Greeks, as the most reflective of them all, show perhaps more traces of the downing of a consciousness of possible conflict than is to be found in the case of others." He then proceeds to show that the culmination of Christianity, with imperial power, first brought the problem effectively to the front. We cannot follow the essayist into all the details of the discussion, but we confess that he has stated Christian ethical ideas with actions that seem to be unseparably bound up with the political life of a great nation like our own. One way is to regard the political life as a necessary evil and try to keep as far as possible aloof from it; that does not commend itself Englishmen. Another is to advocate extreme views like the Quakers, Tolstoi, etc. Another view still is that "the expert politician is above morality:" another way of saying that merce, but is not so frequently put banish them altogether. #### Protection for Rulers.

Apropos of the assassination of President McKinley, the London Spectator comes out with a striking suggestion regarding the personal protection of kings and presidents. The suggestion is that such persons when in public, should wear a shirt of chain mail which would render ineffective the work of the knife or bullet of an assassin. The Chicago Tribune commends the idea, and thinks it should receive serious consideration from President Roosevelt. In answer to any possible objections, the Tribune argues that the life of the President belongs to the nation, and the nation has the right to insist that every precaution be taken for the protection of that life. The dashing courage of the Rough Rider President might cause him to object to the adoption of such means for his protection. But unnecessary risk of life is foolhardiness rather than bravery, and much may be said in commendation of the stand taken by both the Spectator and the late Mr. Micawber.

The Wheat crop in the United States is almost, if not quite, as phenomenal as that of Canada, but is accompanied by an exceptionally bad failure of the corn crop. The amount available for exportation is in this way diminished, but not so much as to greatly affect prices. The Canadian wheat has stood very well the tests of threshing, milling, and inspection en route. Owing to the failure of the wheat crop in many parts of Russia, wheat crop in many parts of Russia, prices are likely to remain steadily good. It is worth remembering in this connection that the great bulk of the United States crop is "soft," while the great bulk of the Canadian crop is "hard." This is a distinction with a very pronounced difference, for the "hardness" makes percentage of gluten and makes possible a higher grade of flour.

A Programme for Life.

[New York Observer.] Neither Epicureanism nor asceticism affords the best programme for life. Pleasure is not an end of life, but in a certain sense, it is a means to a better because to a brighter life. There even seems to be a kind of a philosophic worth to that homely saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." A dull Jack is very apt to be a cross and ugly Jack. Religion does not kill the instinct for pleasure, but cultivates and trains it. The old Greek Aristippus uttered a wise saw when he remarked: "The best thing is to possess pleasures without being their slave, not to be devoid of pleasures." In order to such intelligent use of pleasure moral insight is necessary, and endless discrimination. There are pleasures that are not worth their cost, and others so simple and accessible that the poorest of the poor may profit by them if they will. He performs a good service for humanity who teaches it to rationalize its pleasures, and avoid all

This has been the case in the past, and amongst the successful political editors scores have won high places. Joseph Howe, George Brown, William Lyon Mackenzie, Alexander Mackenzie, and later Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. W. S.

Fielding, Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. J. I. Tarte, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. J. Stratton, Messrs. Parmelee, Holmes, Oliver, E. F. Clarke, R. L. Richardson and others in Dominion politics, as well as Geo. P. Graham, Thos. H. Preston, A. Pattullo, H. Pettypiece, S. Russell, J. A. Auld, Col. Matheson, of the present Ontario Legislature, occur to us at the time of writing as having learned the rudiments of weighing men and measure

at the editorial desk. Our Tory friends have been seized of the fact that newspaper men make good politicians, and up to the present have put several of them in nomination for the forthcoming Provincial election in Ontario. Charters, in Peel; Clarke, in Bruce; and Doweny, in Wellington, are three bright men have been thus selected, and it is believed that the fight in the places indicated will be fully as well sustained as at any other points along the line. In the old days the professional men had the call, but of late it has been demonstrated that the business man, the farmer, and the artisan make fully as strong, if not stronger candidates. In the coming Provincial conorganization—or, will we call it, the machine—is following the tactics which worked so well in Ontario in ganization as well as in the cabinet of Sir Mackenzie Bowell? Mr. Maclean ought to tell a curious public the whole was that of John Milton, can which was that of John Milton, can the strongest vote is the man who should be placed before the convention, irrespective of all other consideration. erations, and if this system is adopted by the Liberals they will not have to mourn when the battle is over, as they did in 1900, that Ontario went the wrong way. ### LORD ROSEBERY ON KING ALFRED

A Remarkable Eulogy on England's Early Ruler.

The Secret of Alfred's Fame-His Character as King-Alfred the Truth-Teller.

[From The London Times.] "After monie hundred wintre came Alfred the King, England's darling." So Layamon sang in his chronicle of Britain, and one wonders what Layamon would have said when, after many hundred winters more, "England's darling" has come again and received such homage as was paid him today. The king, idealized by a leading sculptor, stood, as he will now stand for again "monie hundred wintre," on a lofty pedestal in the Broadway, Winchester, against the splendid background of the terraced hill of St. Giles. He held his sheathed sword high uplifted in his right hand, grasping it beneath the hilt, so that it was presented to all as an emblem of Christianity and of peace, not of war. His shield stood by his side as a support for his left hand. From beneath his crown long flowing locks of hair fell on each side of a noble countenance, equally suggestive of strength and benignity. His face was bearded, notwithstanding the tradition of the coins to which John Evans yesterday referred, for the artist who has brought him back to life, Mr. Hamo Thorneycroft, R. A., does not believe in the portraiture of ancient coins. He does not believe that the mustachio and divided beard agree with the highest ideal face of Saxon type. The king's robes have been thrown back in natural manner by the action of the arms, and his whole attitude as we saw him today was majestic. He looked toward the ancient Westgate, whence there came to him in procession the homage of an Englishspeaking empire infinitely greater than it ever could have entered either his or the thirteenth century romancer's im-agination to conceive. By a happy inspiration, if it was not owing to the threatening wind, the covering was removed from his face before the great procession came in view, and only a partial unveiling was left for the ceremonial of the day. The mayor's brief introduction with appropriate allusions to the great king did not long delay Lord Rosebery's acter of Alfred, in whom there was no-thing of Solomon except the wisdom, to the power of his personality, to his truth to the empire which he builded better than he knew, and to the unconscious greatness of the hero of the Lord Rosebery said: Mr. Mayor My Lords and Gentlemen, -We are here today to consecrate a great memory, and to raise before our countrymen the standard of a great example, for 1,000 years ago there died in this city one who by common consent represents the highest type of kingship and the highest type of Eng-It is meet and fitting that we should celebrate such an occasion. Around King Alfred there has grown up a halo of tradition such as would dim a lesser man, though his personality stands out pure and distinct among the legends. And yet for our purpose even the tradition is perhaps sufficient. The noble statue which I am about to unweil can only be an effigy of the imagination, and so the Alfred we reverence may well be an idealized figure, for our real knowledge of him is scanty and vague. We have, however, draped round his form not without reason all the highest attributes of manhood and The Arthur of our poets, kingship. The Arthur of our poets, the paladin king, without fear, without stain, and without reproach, is to us the true representation of Alfred. THE SECRET OF ALFRED'S FAME. What, indeed, is the secret of his of his hold on the imagination of mankind? It is in the first place a question of personality. He has stamped his character on the cold annals of humanity. How is that done? We cannot tell. We know only that two tales of his life-the story of his mother's book and that of neatherd's hut-have become part of our folklore. From another point of view we behold in his career the highest and best type of the qualities which we cherish in our national character. Note first his our national devotion to duty. It is a noble title, more distinguished than the vapid and prostituted epithet of Great. (Hear, hear). In history he stands as Alfred the Truth-teller. Then he was a man, a complete man. What strikes one most in him, indeed, is his completeness. Complete 4s, I think, his distinctive epithet. Though profoundly pious, he was no anchorite. Though a king, not a pompous and mysterious phantom. Though a passionate seeker he was "all things to all men" in the best sense of the word; rejoicing in the society of his scholars, his priests, his huntsmen, his craftsmen, his farmers; interested in all worthy interests, mixing freely with his subjects, working and playing among them, but with a little scroll of high thoughts always in his bosom. Suppose, moreover, that there could have been spread before him the opulent and brilliant vista of

is one who grows, without interruption of health, from a baby up—except the inevitable diseases of children.

And Scott's emulsion of codliver oil has done more, in the 26 years of its existence, than any half-dozen other things, to make such children.

It keeps them in uninterrupted health. It is food that takes hold at once, whenever their usual food lets go.

Rheumatismisa Constitutional Disease The pain and localized conditions are The pain and localized conditions are mere results of constitutional conditions. Poisoned blood sends its evil influence to various parts of the body, and to cure permanently you must treat it constitutionally. Nothing so completely dispels these poisons from the system as Ferrogree. It makes now blood. It imparts these poisons from the system as refroed zone. It makes new blood. It imparts vitality and vigor, enabling the system to throw off the poisons that engender rheumatism. Ferrozone also fortifies the system against the weakening effects of the system against the rheumatism, and cures, not s lieves, as most medicines do. W. T. Strong & Co.

The supply of hollow mockery largely exceeds the demand. What this country needs is something in the solid mockery line.

DO NOT DELAY.-Do not let a cold o a cough fasten upon you, as it will if neglected. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will break up a cold and cure a cough, and should be resorted to at once when the first symptoms appear. It can be dis-guised so that any unpleasant taste it may have will be imperceptible to the delicate. Try it and be convinced. An outbreak of typhoid, attributed to unsanitary barracks at Levis, has attacked several of the Duke of York's

THE SLAYER OF McKINLEY!

Aroused by the Visit of the Eat's Heartily and Will Die a Sane Man.

> Thousands of Letters Sent to the Assassin. Besides Flowers, But He Sees None of Them-Only 26 Witnesses Will View the Execution.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 15 -- "Absolutely nothing new with Czolgosz," was Warden Mead's reply to a query of an Associated Press representative this morning. The condemned assassin has not asked for any spiritual adviser. The death warrant has not been read to him as yet. He ate heartily of his breakfast this morning and has not a complaint about his health.

Superintendent Cornelius V. Collins will send a request to Secretary of State Hay to designate an official representative of the government to be present at the electrocution of Czolgosz. Only 26 witnesses will be present in the chamber of death when the sentence is executed. Over 1,000 requests for permission to attend have

PLEASE OMIT FLOWERS. Since his confinement in Auburn rison several thousand letters have been received for Czolgosz at the prison as well as a large number of express pockages containing flowers and fruit. The letters, flowers nor fruit have never reached the condemned man. It is stated that it would be a matter of surprise if the names of senders of fruit and flowers were made public. An effort has been made to prevent the murderer from gaining any notoriety while awaiting death and to surround him by as perfect an isolation from the world as possible. PERFECTLY SANE.

Those who feared his mind would break down need have no further apprehension. It is a matter of duly preserved fact that five expert alienists at Buffalo examined him and pro-nounced him sane, and in addition thereto, Dr. Gerin, the physician of Auburn prison, an excellent medical crowded with shouting spectators, and past Monument Park and hospital, all watched Czolgosz during his confinement here, finds absolutely nothing to cause him to disagree with the other alienists.

Statements to the effect that Czolgosz is in a continuous state of col-lapse and that he breaks down and veeps every time anything is said to him concerning the electrocution are false. Supt. Collins had a talk with the condemned man some days ago, and at that time he said he knew that he had to die. He expressed no fear as to the electrocution, but said that he would not care to go outside of the prison, for he believed that the people vould kill him.

JOHANN MOST SENTENCED. New York, Oct. 14.-Johann Most, the anarchist, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Justice Hensdale, presiding in the court of special sessions, for publishing in his paper, the Freiheit, an alleged seditious article on the day following the shooting of the late President McKinley.

The article in question was entitled "Murder Against Murder." After imposing the sentence, Justice Hensdale read the opinion of the court, in which he said: "It is no answer to the evil and criminal nature of this kind to claim that it was written for the purpose of destroying crowned heads. It inculcates and enforces the idea that murder is the proper remedy to be applied against rulers. It is not necessary to trace any connection in this article with the assassination of the late president. The offense here in the eyes of the law is precisely the same as if the bloody event had never occurred. The murder of the president only serves to illustrate and illuminate the enormity of the crime of the defendant in teaching his diabolical doctrine. NOTORIOUS ANARCHIST SUICID-

Romas hanged himself in the guard house."

THE SAN JOSE SCALE. Toronto, Oct. 15 .- Mr. G. E. Fisher, nspector of the department of agriculture, who is engaged in fighting the San Jose scale, brings an alarming report of its spread. More trees are dy ing of the scale now than at any pre-vious time. The whale oil soap and crude petroleum used to spray them are not effective, and Mr. Fisher says the only way of eradicating the scale is to fumigate with hydro-cyanic acid. CANDLE CREEK GOLD.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 15.—The steamer Manuenese has arrived from Cape Nome, St. Michael, and points along the Tukon, and from the Kotzebue and Kuskuimi districts, News was brought of rich finds on Candle Creek where miners are taking out from 10 cents to $2 60 to the pan. the city from Dawson. He went to the Klondike capital three years ago, which it took him 27 days to reach. He came down in less than ten days. Mr. Patullo is infatuated with the country-so much that he says he will be a Klon-diker for all time. There has been a great rush to Nome, Alaska, where gold has been found in large quantities but not so large as those found in Yukon. This year's yield of the Klondike will be $25,000,000.

THE FAMOUS BOSTONIANS.

Comic opera will hold sway at the New Grand tomorrow (Wednesday) vening, when the famous Bostonians. presenting a brilliant ensemble of artists, supported by a chorus of fifty voices and a trained orchestra of musicians, will appear. For a number of years the Bostonians have been without a pere in the lyric field, and with the dissolution of several other rival organizations it occupies the comic opera world alone. The management have secured several brilliant young singers, and the list of names include those most famous in America. Noted this season are Henry Clay Barnabee W. H. MacDonald, Frances Miller, Albert Parr, Adele Rafter, George Fro-thingham, Josephine Bartlett, W. H. Fitzgerald, Allen Hinckley, MacDonald forrington, Vernon Stiles, Gertrude Zimmer, Charles J. Swikard and others of equal repute, and it may be safe assumed that with such an ensemble treat is in store for our music-lovers For the engagement here, the delightful opera. "The Serenade" will be of ered Londoners for the first time, and the audience promises to be a recordbreaking one.

"THELMA" TOMORROW NIGHT. The seats are selling rapidly for the coming production of "Thelma" at the London Opera House on Wednesday, matinee and night. This is the first opportunity given to local the-ater-goers of seeing this familiar novel dramatized and staged in first-class manner. The scenes in the book call for rich effects, as in the great snow storm scene, death of the viking (which is said to be one of the most beauti ful illusions on the stage today), and the midnight sun illumination. company carry a carload of scenery, made for this act alone, and it will be seen in the London production. Aiden Benedict has surrounded Miss Olive West (who portrays the role of Thelma with great talent) with a most capable company of 24 people, and those who witness this production are assured of a rare treat.

"THE SPAN OF LIFE." There is no melodrama more popula. han "The Span of Life," in spite of he seasons it has been before the pub c, and its production at the New Grand, next Thursday, matinee and evening, will be welcomed by the lovrs of that sort of entertainment. An English lord figures conspicuously and with the assistance of an American hustler, a theatrical manager, and an American actress, the missing husband and wife are brought together and al ends happily. The company is headed by George F. Hall and Frankie St. Pohn, both seen here in last season's production.

A WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT.

The engagements of Sir Henry Tur pla are made everywhere from three nights to four weks. It would be use ess to attempt the one-night plan so common with traveling shows for the reason that many people will not understand at first the nature of the offering, and local enthusiasm can only be worked up by actual performance in each city. Most people, however, who read the papers regularly and keep posted on current topics will have neard of the great success of the entertainment in other cities, and thus becoming impressed with its novelty and unusual merit will be numbered among the more intelligent auditors who will attend the opening night. The Simla Seance is, of course, the great drawing attraction, but the other numbers on the programme will prove vastly entertaining, and it is claimed will be better than any similar performances ever given here. This markable engagement begins at the London Opera House on next Monday, and will continue six nights, with Wed nesday and Saturday matinees.

of our country.

Mr. Perrin commenced at the fall of Quebec, and traced the growth of Canada's constitutional government from that time forward, dealing particularly with the acts of 1840 and 1867. He showed the difficulties that the fathers of confederation had to contend with, and the enormous task which they undertook in trying to units into a homogeneous in trying to unite into a homogeneous whole two virile and entirely distinct peoples, with different languages and sentiments, different habits and customs,

FOR COUNTY AFFAIRS

And Needed Repairs at County Bailding Must Wait.

At the June session of the county council, committee recommendations were adopted, providing for the uniforming of county constables in attendance at the assize courts and the carrying out of repairs and improvemets to the jail and court house, including the laying of an eight-foot cement drive up to the main entrance. As 60 per cent of all expenditures at the county buildings is borne by the city, the matter was turned over to the city council, but as there were no available funds it was allowed to rest. Appropriations for the amount will probably be placed in the estimates for next year, and it will then depend on the action of the finance committee as to whether or not the needed improvements are carried out next year.

WHAT HENRY IRVING SAYS. New York, Oct. 15 .- Interviewed concerning the reports that American actors have been treated harshly by London audiences, Sir Henry Irving, who has just arrived in this country, said: "Your actors are playing to the most kindly and enthusiastic audiences in England. Gillette, in "Sherlock Holmes," is creating the sensation of the season in London. I saw the play, the day before I sailed, and found much merit in both the play and the manner in which it was presented. There is no ill-feeling between American and English actors. Instead there is a reciprocity that tends to link our countries strongly together. CHAPTER XXII.

Owen Hammond could not restrain himself—the taunt was too bitter. He clenched his fist, and would have struck Lord Hammond a stunning blow, but Pauline raised a cry, and Owen restrained his mad wrath.

"Another time," he said, "not when women are near—another time, Lord Hammond, I will give you the blow I owe you—yes, if I wait ten years I will have it out with you some time if you were twenty thousand times Lord Hammond, and if I hadn't a shoe to my foot!" and he shook his fist in the air. His young white face was a study—concentrated wrath, pain, and a deadlier expression was stamped upon it.

He walked out of the place into the night; he did not return to the ballroom. Rosa Stanly wondered where he was. Only two persons could have told her, and neither of them spoke on the sub-

Lord Hammond felt thoroughly dis-Lord Hammond felt thoroughly disenchanted now with Pauline Bracegirdie. She had fancied that jealousy would pique his love—it only had the effect of destroying it. He would not have had the world know the cause of his quarrel with Owen; neither would Pauline. She felt that the paths she was treading were slippery and dangerous ones. Paul Lafonte was a smouldering volcano in himself. Then, only suppose that the Countess should guess what a schemer Pauline was!

She went back to the hallroom, feeling

She went back to the ballroom, feeling thoroughly ill and upset. Her nerves were shaken, her head ached. When she entered the room the whole of the gay scene seemed to be swinging before her eyes—advancing, receding, mingling in one confused mass of faces and figures. Had she taken cold in going to that horrid winter garden? What was the matter with her? Was it another fainting-fit, like the one she had had that morning in the grounds at Charteris?

What is it, Pauline, darling—my life?

Are you ill?"

She and her maids laid Pauline on a soft bed, chafed her hands and feet, laid vinegar sponges on her forehead, and at length her nerves grew calmer, the giddiness passed, though leaving her so faint and ill that she consented to be undressed and put to bed, where she soon fell asleep.

Pauline Bracegirdle was one of the most unscrupulous as she was one of the ost unscrupulous as she was one of the handsomest of women; she was also one of the weakest of mortals—unhealthy in body as she was feeble and diseased in moral floor. Lord Hammond was one of the strong-

Lord Hammond was one of the strongest young Englishmen of the century. He was not an atom upset by the scene in the hotel winter garden. He carried away, however, a very distinct remembrance of his cousin Owen's threats. "Rascal" he said to himself, "he would like to kill me! Of course he would be glad if I were dead—that's the worst of not marrying. If I die without a son that scamp becames the next heir after his father and mine are dead. I should

Lord Hammond went back into the ballroom feeling very sulky, but quite well. He went into the refreshment room and helped himself to a bumper of champagne, then he strolled again into the ballroom.

Numbers of young fellows and middleaged fellows crowded about him; every-body was waiting to do him homage in shape or another; then he reflected that that was exactly what his cousin Owen had never done—never done him homage, or given in to him in all his life, not even when they were little fellows and placed taxther was the same placed to the course of the same placed to the course of the same placed to the same placed to the course of the same placed to t lows, and played together at marbles.
"Confounded sneak!" muttered the young lord to himsel?

The band began to play the Caledonians, and the lively airs set his pulses thrilling. The champagne had nearly restored his calmness of temper. Now he felt that he would like to dance, but with whom? Who was pretty enough and nice enough to tempt this changeable, fickle young lord into a set that was just forming.

All at once she saw a lady standing opposite to him; she had for a parther a gentleman with silvery hair—a tall, noble-looking man, whom Lord Arthur did not recognize. As for the lady herself Lord Arthur could not take his eyes from her face; they remained riveted there as by a spell of enchantment.

Lord Hammond did not choose a partner; he could never dance with another ner; he could never dance with another woman while this one was in the room; nay, there was not another woman in the whole world worth dancing with; he felt sure of that while he stood aside and watched this most beautiful lady, his very soul in his blue eyes. Flirt, fickle very soul in his blue eyes. Flirt, fickle, volage—he had been all these all the years of his young manhood until now, but now he was, as he himself expressed it, "caught." He felt it, too; he knew that he had fallen irretrievably and hopelessly in love at first sight with a complete stranger.

Only one fear haunted him while he followed the graceful movements of this

"Certainly I must say the very hand-somest woman I ever saw in the whole course of my life! Would set London on fire if she went there in the season!"

"Odd thing nobody ever heard of her hatter?"

All these murmurs reached the eager-ly-listening ears of Lord Arthur Hammond; he felt more bewildered than ever. He saw the gentleman lead the young lady toward a pale, distinguished-looking woman sat attired in maroon velvet, and wearing an exquisite cap of old lace upon her white hair. A single diamond blazed upon the shoulds this distinguished the shoulds this distinguished the shoulds.

The daughter, who had taken Lord Hammond's heart captive with a glance, was tall statuseque majestic despite. Hammond's heart captive with a glance, was tall, statuesque, majestic, despite her youth. She was siender, but perfectly proportioned; her complexion was pale, of an exquisite chamy tint that could not be termed fair, still less was it brunette or anything approaching that tint. Her features were cast in the noblest Greek mould; but the large, liquid, dazzling gray eyes redeemed the beautiful face from the charge of coldness, Her hair was dusky and abundant; she wore in it golden pins set with glowing rubies; the effect of these rich gems upon the sombre splendor of her loveliness is difficult to imagine.

She wore a dress of rich black lace over glistening brocade, and the only color that relieved this was a spray of scarlet japonica worn over the bust of the dress, which was made high; these scarlet flowers, and the rubies glowing in her dark hair, all the rest opaque, white or richest black.

"She is like the Queen of Night," said Lord Hammond, who began to feel poetical for the very first time in his life.

How he longed to be introduced to this paragon, and he had not the courage.

"Who was she? who was she?" The question was asked again and yet again the two previous contests, and when Kid

last night to battle 20 rounds, the arena was filled with an enthusiastic crowd.
Chief of Police Griffin had elaborate arrangements made to preserve order, and was present in person to see that the was present in person to see that the contest observed the Canadian rule of breaking clean.

In the first preliminary Kelly had much the better of Jessel when the bout was stopped in the middle of the fourth round. The winner challenged any boxer round. The winner challenged any boxer at 105 pounds, preferring young Pope, of Toronto. The lads are both of Buffalo.

The second preliminary was for ten rounds, between Mick Ward, of Sarnia, Ont., and Kid Bush, of Buffalo. Both men were under 130 pounds, and the match was a rattling one from the time the gong sounded for the opening round. Ward fought aggressively, and although lacking the experience of Bush, landed heavily with right and left swings. Both men were strong in the seventh, when Ward handed a terrific right on Bush's jaw just as they came to a clinch, and the Buffalo boy fell to the floor dazed, and was counted out.

Think of that girl—that Pauline, worthless jade—telling me only last night that she would die if she saw me loving another girl, and then to lead that fellow out there and clasp his arm, and look into his eyes as if she could eat him!"

Lord Hammond went back into the ball. landing heavily on four successive oc-casions. In the fourth Broad had the best of it, although the fighting was not at all fast. Each man seemed to wish that every blow counted. The fifth was unproductive, but in the sixth Broad landed a stinging left to Dave's jaw, followed by a resounding wallop on the face in return. The seventh was another slow round, and at this stage it looked as if the affair would result in a 20-round the affair would result in a 20-round draw. There was a little more excitement in the eleventh and twelfth. Some heavy body blows were exchanged, Broad finally chasing Dave around the ring. The fourteenth furnished some clever work, both men landing left and right swings on the head and some stiff ones on the body. There were some warm interbody. There were some warm inter-changes in the sixteenth, and Dave's clever ducking was loudly applauded. The seventeenth was uneventful. In the The seventeenth was uneventful. In the eighteenth Dave nearly slipped through the ropes, but, regaining his feet, sent in three body blows. They were fighting earnestly now. Sullivan had the better of several mix-ups. The nineteenth was a battle royal, and everyone perceived that the real fight was on. Broad went at his opponent savagely, and had him groggy with right and left swings in this round. Dave freshened up fully to the final tussle, and landed repeatedly, giving Liverpool, Oct. 15.—Tom Sullivan and his party of oarsmen, including George Towns, the new world's champlon, reached Liverpool by the Tunislan from Montreal. They were in excellent health and spirits, and were surprised on landing to find several London friends awaiting them, and the reception accorded Sullivan and Towns indicated that the victory of the latter and the sound judgment of the former in bringing his pupil across the Atlantic to meet Jacob G. Gaudaur at Rat Portage had increased their popularity in England. The entire party lavished praise upon, Canada and the Canadians, and declared they were unable to find words to express their appreciation of the receptions received in Winnipeg, Rat Portage and Toronto. Tom Sullivan was boiling over with enthusiasm, and he could not talk too much about Canada. "Why," he exclaimed, "I am sure we had a better time in Canada than the duke and duchess." Sullivan, Towns and Pearce, as well as James Field, who went over to Canada with the oarsmen, will be given a rousing reception when they reach London. GLENDALE.

Glendale, Oct. 15.-Despite the shower of last evening, the tea meeting held in connection with the Glendale Methodist Church opening was a decided success. The attendance was all that could be hoped for, the church being filled almost to overcrowding. The addresses were full of helpful thought, as well as being spiced with humor. Dr. Routledge excelled himself as chairman. The readings of Miss Robinson were much appreciated, as was also the music of the Littlewood choir. Bitter disappointment was experienced when the meeting was over to find that several whips and a lantern had been stolen. The guilty party is shadowed, however, and is given three days to return the stolen goods, or take his choice of prosecution, as the losers are determined not to be trifled with.

HARRIETSVILLE.

Harrietsville, Oct. 11.-The demise of an octogenarian, in the presence of Mrs. Demary, wife of Mr. Samuel Demary, occurred at the family residence, North Dorchester, on Wednesday, Oct. 8, at a ripe old age. She was highly respected by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. The subject of this narrative was a native of Whitby, having been born there on May 15. 1820. On Dec. 6, 1839, she was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Demary, and as an outcome of the union nine children were born, all of whom are living. With her husband she settled on lot 8, con. 5, North Dorchester, and subsequently on lot 19, of the same concession. In the fall of 1853 she settled on lot 10, con. 3, of the above mentioned township, where she lived con-tinuously until her spirit had taken its flight. The deceased was a devoted member of the Baptist Church of Gladstone. A husband and the following members of the family survive without a break: Messrs. Aaron, Charles, Dennis Simon, Demary and Mrs. Mahon, of Adelaide township; William Demary. of South Dorchester; Mrs. B. Kirby, of Marlett, Mich.; Mrs. Johnston, Strath-Poy, and Samuel, at the paternal home. The funeral occurred today from the family home to the Dorchester Station Cemetery, when the pastor, Rev. Mr. Bunt, of Gladstone, and Rev. Messrs. Kennedy and Salford officiated. The casket was borne by Messrs. Aaron, Charles, William, Simon, Dennis and Samuel Demary, sons of the deceased. Two brothers survive the departed, and two sisters: John Beecham, of Imlay City, Mich.; David Beecham, of Lindsay; Mrs. Hobbs, Traverse City, Mich., and Mrs. Watcher, of Thedford. The floral tributes were beautiful.

JUST WHY

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablet Has a Record of Cures Unparalleled.

Because it is not an experiment, not "cure-all," but a modern, up-to-date formula, thoroughly tried and tested on many hundreds of cases in private practice, hospital and outdoor clinics.

A medicine that has kept pace with the times, and the advancement of medical science. A medicine confined to a particular range. One that does not promise more than it can do. A backache, kidney, bladder tablet, pure and simple, the same yesterday today and tomorrow. This great kidney medicine is a boon alike to the young, the middle-aged and the aged. It was the people who successfully used Dr. Pitcher's Kidney Tablet that applied to it the term, "The Great Kidney Medicine," because it removed symptoms like the following that were staring them in the face every day, all the results of disordered kidneys—

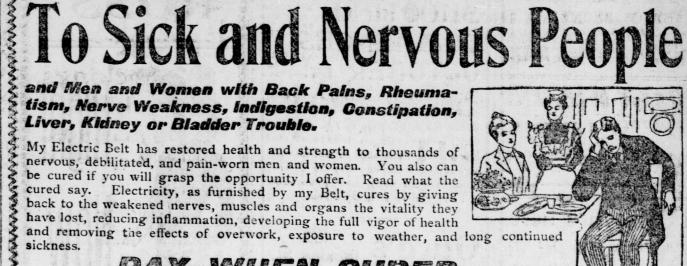

Backache. Pain in the back. Weak, sluggish circulation. Puffy or dark circles under the eyes Urine cloudy, milk-like or stringy dark in color or offensive. Painful, scalding sensation in pass

Dull, heavy headaches, tired, dizzy feeling, faint spells, irregular heart beats. Urinary weakness, compelling fre quent attention during the day, and to get up many times during the night. Restless, sleepless nights. Fagged out, run down and irritable.

These are some the danger signals nature sets to show the track of health is not clear, but kidneys clogged and Bright's disease stealing in. If you are convinced Pitcher's Tabets are what you want, you can purchase them at your druggist's for 50 cents a bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price. Hixon, of this place, when his only daughter, Edithe M., was united in mar-riage to James Rae, of Longwood. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by the bride's uncle, Rev. Z. C. Beals, in the presence of a number of the rela-tives of the contracting parties. After an elegant dejeuner, amidst showers of rice and good wishes, the happy couple left by the evening express at Strathroy for Buffalo and other eastern points. They intend taking up their residence on their return on the third line of Caradoc, where Mr. Rae owns a very fine farm.

ANOTHER DEAD SEA. The new dead sea discovered by Dr. Sven Hedin in Tibet seems entitled to rank among the geographical wonders of the world. It is described as enormous in extent, but so shallow that to navigate one must wade half a mile to reach the boat, and must drag the boat half a mile before it can be floated with a load. But the most remark-able characteristic is the almost incredible amount of salt contained. The bottom is an unbroken crust of salt, and the boat and oars are as white as chalk; even the dress of the rowers soon become whitened, while drops of the water sprinkled upon a dry surface leave globules like candle drippings.

Homemade Mats and Rugs at the Fall Exhibitions and Fairs.

The autumn exhibitions and fairs held in the various towns and cities of Canada this year, demonstrate the important fact that the ladies are deeply interested in the making up of pretty rugs and mats for bedrooms, dining-rooms, parlors and halls. We had the pleasure of examining some beautiful specimens of home work, which commanded the attention of all the popular Diamond Dyes.

visitors. In every instance these pretty floor ornaments were made from rags, yarns and other materials colored by Thousands of ladies are now engaged in the working of one or more of the artistic designs made by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes. THE DEMON, DYSPEPSIA .- In olden time it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, seeking to enter into men and trouble them. At the present day the demon, dyspepsia, is at large in the same way, seeking habitation in those who by careless or unwise living invite him. And once he enters a man it is difficult to dislodge him. He that finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friend to d) battle for him with the un-seen foe is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the trial.

I could not drink tea and had tried everything else, save Postum, but put it by at the first trial, because it was Forced to it again, I determined to see if it could not be made palatable and found at once when I followed directions and boiled it long enough that I not only liked it, but gave it to my husband for several days without his finding it out. And I have the name of making splendid coffee, and we always used the best, but of late I have given Postum to guests many times in place of coffee and have never been detected yet.

Our four children have not drank coffee for three years, and all have gained health and flesh since using Postum. One son, who was always sick, has been greatly benefited by its use, and as above stated. I have gained twenty-five pounds since taking up Postum. # SOME LAND OF THE Rev. W. J. Clarke Talks of the Great Canadian West.

The Province of British Columbia and Its Magnificent Mountain

The Rev. W. J. Clark, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivered a very interesting lecture in the lecture room of his church last night. His subject was entitled "A Trip to the Coast." Mr. Clark occupied a Presbyterian pulpit in Vancouver during six weeks of the time he was absent from London in July and August. His audience last night was full of expectation, and was not disappointed. The speaker took his hearers into his confidence and spoke to them in his inimitable conversational manner, and for an hour and a half he was accorded the best of attention. Miss Templeton, as a prelude to Mr. Clark's address, sang "Saved by Grace.' Rev. A. J. McGillivray, of St. James Presbyterian Church, acted as chair-man, and in a few humorous references introduced the speaker. Mr Clark outlined his trip from leaving London until his return-a journey which he stated was somewhat over shadowed by the possibilities of the C. P. R. trackmen's strike, which had ommenced the day before he left the city, and was declared off the day af-ter his return. The route of his journey was somewhat as follows: Leaving London he took the C. P. R. train to Toronto; thence went to Owen Sound, and took the steamship Alberta to Sault Ste. Marie, and proceeded to Winnipeg by train. From Winnipeg he went to Moosejaw, Calgary, Banff, and finally to the coast. The speak-er's trip was rich in incidents which help to destroy the monotony of a long journey over apparently bound-less plains. He told about meeting the Rev. Mr. Gordon, better known as Ralph Connor, the brilliant author of "Black Rock," "The Sky Pilot," "The Man from Glengarry," etc.; of the surprised expression on the face of a lady passenger whose conception of the ap-pearance of her cherished novelist had been shattered.

Mr. Clark, after a pastorate of six weeks at Nanaimo, in Vancouver, spent some time visiting some of the smaller towns on the island.

The speaker went more at length into his descriptions of Winnipeg, Calgary and Banff. Winnipeg, though modern in structure, was not without its romantic aspect, the heritage of the days of Fort Garry and the Hudson Bay Company. He spoke of the adhesive quality of the mud around the city and what it must have been in the early days before the improve-ments in road building, which have in a great degree mitigated the evils connected with road traffic. Winnipeg's broad, attractive streets and splendid blocks of buildings formed a very pleasing feature. As an educathe prospects are very The city abounds in business activity and seems well suited for those with abundant energy. He told face, and read Whittier's poem en titled the "Red River Voyageurs." was not so favorably impressed with Calgary, which he described as a town possessing a few stone blocks and not at all handsome in appear-Banff, nestling at the foot of the great Rockies, reminded the speaker of a Swiss village. Mr. Clark here broke out into eloquent description of the mountain scenery. The impressiveness of the scene that might be viewed from the C. P. R. Hotel was akin to the feeling one encounters in a magnificent cathedral. It was sublime sight, never to be forgotten.

Vancouver, a city of 26,000 population, is situated on the mainland of British Columbia. The lecturer traced the rapid growth and development of the place and spoke of it as the proper location for the capital of the province which is now at Victoria, on Vancouver Island.

A unanimous vote of thanks, moved W. A. Ferguson and seconded by Mr. Edward Reid, was tendered Mr. Clark, Mr. MacGillivray, chairman, and Miss Templeton. The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

MR. CANN RESTORED TO HEALTH.

An Exeter Man Who Was Very Ill Is Well Again.

He Publishes a Letter Telling How He Sought Relief in Vain Till He Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills - They Cured Him Completely.

Exeter, Ont., Oct. 14, (Special).—Mr. Lorne Cann, laundryman, of this place has sent to the Exeter Advocate for publication the following letter: "I feel it my duty to write a letter for publication, expressing my gratifrom the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I was in a terrible run-down con dition and suffered much from pains in the back and severe headaches. The least exertion would leave me tired and breathless. My appetite was very fickle, and often I had a loathing for food. I tried several remedies, but with no benefit; instead I was growing

"I consulted a doctor and was under his treatment for three months, but did not get any better. "Having read much concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills in the Advocate and other papers, I finally decided to try them and bought two boxes. Before these were all used I could feel marked improvement and purchased four boxes more. These completely restored my good health, and I can now go about my work without an ache or pain of any kind.

"My recovery leaves no doubt as to the curative properties of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I may add that their value has been further proven in the case of a friend of mine to whom I recommended them, and who has had an experience similar to my own."

Those who know Mr. Cann and how very poorly he was, are full of praise for Dodd's Kidney Pills.
