The names of the injured so far as could be learned are: Peter Scollons, aged 40 years; Edward McNally, Fred Rosenken, 48 years; August Barteldes, Patrick Kelly, Adam Grosskopf, Patrick McCann, John Marion, John Howard, Daniel Murphy, Frank Scollons, Wm. McGaddigan, Jos. Kinnett, Henry Bigelow, Patrick Hurley and John Grindell. Peter Scollons is probably fatally injured. Edward McNally and Fred Rosenken were terribly burned about the body, but may pull through. There were about nine tons of metal in the furnace at the time.

Amendment to the "Original Package" Law.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The pending amendment to the original package bill offered by Judge Walter I. Hayes, of Iowa, will, if adopted, raise the question of prohibition directly in all the states. His amendment makes the original package law apply only to prohibitory laws hereafter passed. Judge Hayes says the amendment is just because it would open the prohibitory question in all the states, and it ought to be reopened in view of the fact that it is now sought to bring the question into national politics. The effect of this amendment is to provide that in subjecting liquor or other articles of commerce to state laws, when imported into any state, such laws so governing such subject shall be passed, after this authority is so given by Congress. The reason of this is that this proposed delegation of power to the states is conceded by all to be a new departure, and consequently there is not a law existing upon the statute books of any state in the union passed with any idea of, or reference to, any such delegation of power.

Trouble in Bulgaria.

A Vienna special says reports were received there Sunday evening that Sofia was in the throes of revolution; that Zankoff's partisans had risen against the iron rule of Stambouloff, and that Prince Ferdinand's fate was hanging in the balance. Destruction of a Famous Forest.

LONDON, July 20.—The famous forest of Ebersburg, Bavaria, is infested with worms, which have denuded the trees of their verdure and stripped the more tender of the branches of bark. Twelve hundred men of the Munich garrison have been sent to fell the entire forest and burn the timber. In this way it is hoped to get rid of the worms and prevent their spread to other and larger forests.

BERLIN, July 20.—Just as soon as the bill for the cession of Heligoland to Germany shall pass both Houses of the British Parliament, a German naval commander with his staff will visit the island and thoroughly inspect it with a view to its fortification. It is believed that it has been well understood from the outset that the continental power will convert it into a stronghold second to none in Europe.

War in San Salvador.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 21.—El Universal publishes an account of a battle between Guatemalans and San Salvadorians in San Salvador, in which the former were defeated with heavy loss. The Gautemalan force numbered 9,000. General Barmudia, the Guatemalan refugee, has left Oaxaca to take part in the war. He will probably raise the standard of revolt in Guatemala. Private telegrams from San Salvador say the San Salvadorians captured the Guatemalan artillery.

PARIS, July 20.—A finger nail on one of the window sills of Rimmel's perfumery works led to the discovery that the establishment had been robbed. Jules Labrun, a young man employed there, was suspected. It was learned that the nail of one of his fingers was torn off. The police heard he was hiding in his mother's house, to which they went to arrest him. As they entered the house Labrun opened a window on the sixth floor and jumped into the street, killing himself instantly.

Bismarck and Empress Frederick.

BERLIN, July 21.—Allusions appearing in the Hamburgher Nachrichten to Sir R. Morier as again acting for a higher personage in supplying the press with elements to attack Prince Bismarck disclose a desire of the Prince to publicly implicate Empress Frederick in plotting against him. The ex-Empress has just intensified his anger by warning him that if the report is true that he is preparing his memories, he must publish none of her letters or her husband's without her consent, and intimating indirectly that he would be prosecuted if he failed to comply.

Wesleyans in the Navy.

LONDON, July 21.—Among those connected with the Government service who want special concessions are the Wesleyans in the British navy. Of late years it has happened that a large proportion of the men recruited for the navy were of the Methodist faith when they professed any religious faith at all, and this element has several times recently murmured against the ministrations of the chaplains of the Church of England, to which the rules of the service subject them. The discontent has finally taken definite shape, and the men, under recognized leaders, are agitating for their own denominational services, which no doubt they will ultimately get.

True to the Hohenzollerns.

DRESDEN, July 21.—The Nachrichten says that Prince Bismarck, in an interview, emphatically declared that he had no desire to return to office, as he was too old to assume the care of state. He said that if he decided to visit England he would go to some seaside place in September. Bismarck denied that there was any hostility between the Emperor and himself. He was a loyal adherent of the Hohenzollerns, although he differed with the Emperor on the question of socialism. The Emperor had decided to try to indnce the Socialists to maintain a peaceful attitude by means of concessions, but he (Bismarck) believed in fighting them as blackmailers. The sooner they were defied the better. The time would come when Socialism would be found to be a military question, and in place of the present mild state of siege there would be a universal state of war.

The Rebellious Guards.

LONDON, July 21.—The agitation which has so recently convulsed various public services here in London abated as suddenly as it rose. The only visible sign now to tell of the grave popular anxiety existing a fortnight ago is the announcement that the mutinous Second Battalion of Grenadier Guards is to be packed off to Natal on Tuesday. This is the first time any guards have been sent out of the British Islands in a time of peace, and naturally the thing attracts added attention on this ground. Col. Maitland, whose foolish exaggeration of martinet authority provoked the trouble, was this morning announced to have resigned. He denies this to-day, but all the same he is not going to Natal, and probably he will be put into a line command unless he retires altogether. The exile of this battalion creates a precedent which in time will lead, no doubt, to a general leveling of the distinctions heretofore existing between household troops and the line.

Mr. Gladstone's Address.

LONDON, July 21.—Mr. Gladstone, though attending Parliament pretty regularly, dining out every night and getting through a mass of new literary work, found time the other day to deliver a half hour address to the girl graduates of one of London's private schools. It gives an interesting key to a curious side of London society, that the parson in charge thought it necessary before Mr. Gladstone's appearance to beg the assemblage of genteel ladies not to indulge in hisses or other hostile demonstrations, no matter how much they disagreed with the venerable statesman in politics. The speech itself has since been the subject of much comment, for it throughout displayed strong antagonism to what is properly described as the woman's rights movement and deplored all the attempts to take woman out of her proper sphere in which the Almighty had established her. Even in the discussion of this little address partisan lines are whimsically drawn. The Tory papers lay stress on the declarations quoted above, while the Liberal press ignores these and dwells on the fact that he favors the institutions of degrees and fellowships in the universities for successful students like Miss Fawcett.

SUNDAY STEAMBOATING.

Vigorous Opposition by the City Ministers.

Petitions Against Running the Boats Largely Signed—The Deputation to the Council Meeting.

The adjourned meeting of the Ministerial Association was held at Victoria Hall this morning to take further action on the petitions they are circulating against Sunday steamboating and the appointment of a deputation to wait on the Council. There were present: Rev. W. K. Little, Rev. E. B. Lancely, Rev. J. W. Clark, Rev. Dr. Sanderson, Rev. R. Neale, Rev. Wm. Hayhurst, Rev. Mr. Ballantyne, Rev. Dr. Evans, Rev. Geo. Boyd, Rev. H. C. Speller, Rev. C. E. McIntyre, Rev. W. K. Little, Rev. Thos. Hodson, Rev. Thos. Cosford and Messrs. A. B. Campbell, G. F. Robinson, D. Dignam, Thos. McCormick, Wm. Orme, H. Edwards, ex-Ald. Winnett, H. Omand, R. H. Baker, W. H. Brunton, N. F. Yeo and others. Owing to the absence of the Rev. W. H. Porter, the president of the association, the chair was taken on motion by W. T. McDonagh, Rev. G. W. Henderson, acting as secretary.

The first business was the receiving of reports from those who have been procuring signatures on the petitions against Sunday steamboats. It was found that 1,223 names had been obtained, although the petitions from St. Andrew's, Dundas Street Center, South London Presbyterian, South London Methodist, South London Baptist and the Talbot Street Baptist Churches had not been handed in. Two of them came, however, while the meeting was in progress, swelling the number of signatures to 1,616.

Rev. Mr. Ballantyne asked if any petitions had been received from the Anglican churches.

Rev. Mr. Henderson—We have none as yet.

Dr. Evans said in his opinion Bishop Baldwin was in favor of the petition to judge from a brief conversation he had had with him.

Rev. Mr. McDonagh asked if there was any method that the committee intended to pursue towards obtaining the names of members from the Anglican churches. No action was taken.

Rev. Mr. Ballantyne said the committee should make arrangements to appoint a deputation to wait on the Council this evening.

Mr. H. Edwards remarked that the association as ministers of Jesus Christ ought to go further than they did and take up the matter of Sunday livery rigs, milk peddling and other Sunday violations.

Rev. H. C. Speller also thought that the association should be prepared to take a wider scope of the question. It was a fact that they were taking notice of one thing while they were allowing others about them which were equally a violation of the sanctity of the Sabbath. He understood that a special train was run to Port Stanley on Sunday, and it was no common thing to see the military bands parading on the Lord's Day. Such actions were only wedges for further desecrations. The effect of the petition would be considerably weakened by this partial action if they dealt with one thing alone.

Rev. W. T. McDonagh agreed with the last speaker, but would prefer to deal with the matter in hand before grappling with others.

Rev. Mr. Ballantyne said the question was one distinct from the rest. Sunday boats were alleged to be for the benefit of those who needed rest for the day, but soon there would be application for Sunday street cars to carry these tired and weary people home.

Rev. Geo. Boyd said he fully agreed with the former speakers, but in his opinion the meeting had been called to consider the presenting of the petitions and not to discuss the affair. (Hear, hear.)

Rev. Dr. Sanderson thought so too. He wished to remark that the action of the association would be supported by nine-tenths of the people of London.

The Chairman said the business of the meeting should be commenced. The deputation should be composed of both the ministers and the members of the various churches.

Dr. Evans said that the members of the deputation should present the petition as citizens and not merely as members of churches. Captain Foster's petition purported to be from citizens, but in reality two-thirds of the names were not workmen's, but was largely made up by tavernkeepers.

Rev. Mr. McDonagh explained the agreement between the city and Captain Foster. He said it distinctly stated that no boats should be run on Sunday, and the object of the association was to ask the Council to hold good to their agreement.

Rev. J. W. Clark moved that a minister be appointed from each denomination with power to add laymen to their number. Carried.

It was moved that Revs. Geo. Boyd, W. H. Porter, J. W. Clark and R. Neale be appointed.

Rev. Messrs. Boyd, Clark and Neale objected to being placed on the list as they were all new to the city and not generally known.

Rev. Mr. McDonagh—Well, you know the fourth commandment, anyway. (Laughter).

Ex-Ald. Winnett moved in amendment that two ministers and a layman be appointed to the deputation as spokesmen, with as many accompanying as might be seen fit.

The former motion was reconsidered, and the amendment carried, Dr. Sanderson being the only one to vote nay.

Mr. Thomas McCormick said the deputation should consist largely of mechanics, as the question affected them particularly. There should be as many as possible present when the petition was presented.

Rev. Mr. Lanceley remarked that two-thirds of the names on their petitions were those of working men. It would be an offset to Captain Foster's petition.

Rev. Dr. Sanderson, Rev. R. Neale and Mr. Thos. McCormick were finally appointed to act as spokesmen. The petition will be presented at the Council to-night, and a big deputation will be present.

FIGHTING IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

Guatemala and San Salvador at War—The Guatemalans Repulsed.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 21.—According to official advices received by the new confidential agent of the Provisional Government of San Salvador, Geronimo Pon, war between Guatemala and San Salvador began without the usual formalities of a declaration. Guatemala, says Senor Pon, has chosen to interfere in our domestic politics by trying to put into power a president not our own free choice. We sent forces to the frontier to repel attempted invasion of San Salvador, and it appears that they were needed there. On the 5th inst. we had 9,000 well equipped men along the Rio Paz, but I believe there are fully 16,000 along the frontier. I understand the Gautemala forces number 20,000. Senor Pon has received the following: "July 18—The enemy, 9,000 strong, yesterday invaded Salvador. Our forces bravely repulsed them, causing their complete rout. Many pieces of artillery, large quantities of ammunition and hundreds of stacks of arms were captured by us. I have given orders to advance into Gautemala."

The Salvadoran army is armed with Remington rifles, machine guns and mountain batteries, and is generally well equipped with plenty of money. The Salvadoran forces are inferior in number to those of Guatemala, but Senator Pon says he has received advices that dissaffection has occurred in the army of Guatemala, and two battalions have refused to proceed to the frontier, which he thinks will have the effect of equalizing matters. Nicaragua and Costa Rica, he says, will become the allies of San Salvador from the fact that should San Salvador be worsted it would be annexed to Guatemala, and both the countries above-named would be at the mercy of the conqueror. An alliance, it is reported, has been formed between Guatemala and Honduras, and they have declared war against San Salvador.

Gen. Ezeta wires that he has invaded Guatemala and is marching toward the Guatemaian capital, opening everywhere a victorious road to it. Minister Dieguz, of Guatemala, doubts the authenticity of the report of a battle between the troops of Guatemala and San Salvador. It is thegeneral opinion here that in case there be should war between Guatemala and San Salvador the first-named country will be victorious owing to superior forces. It is rumored that President Barillos, of Guatemala, talks of resigning.

A DENIAL.

PARIS, July 21.—The Gualemalian Minister here, referring to the reports from Mexico that war has broken out between Guatemala and San Salvador, said that the telegrams from Mexico were incorrect. War has not been delared, he says, and no Guatemalian troops have crossed the frontier of San Salvador.

A Terrible Charge.

QUEBEC, Que., July 20.—At the inquest on the victims of Thursday morning's fire, a young man named Dufour testified: "Two weeks ago, Delamere, landlord of the barroom, asked me if I would do a trick. Said he: 'I want you to set fire to the house and I'll give you $5, and if you succeed I'll give you $10.' I refused and told him I was not strong enough to undertake the task." Coroner Belleau has ordered Dufour to be held in custody as one of the principal witnesses in the case. Coroner Belleau ordered that the bodies should not be buried.

The ancient room at Hampton Court Palace, recently thrown open to the public, has been the subject of an interesting letter contributed to the Times by Sir J. C. Robinson. The room, which formed part of Cardinal Wolsey's private apartments, is, it appears, more interesting and important than had been supposed. It is suggested that it may have been Wolsey's private chapel; but its small size and the presence of a fireplace are thought to be against that view. But neither of those difficulties seems conclusive; and the fireplace might well have been added after the Cardinal's fall, and yet be characteristically Tudor. The panel pictures which form the frieze are interesting and remarkable, and were clearly the work of the Italian artists whom Wolsey attracted to London. But the elaborate ceiling seems to be the chief beauty of the room. The Tudor artificers excelled in the making of these plaster-enriched ceilings; and this one, which is especially ornate, still bears the Cardinal's motto. Sir J. C. Robinson, who a contemporary says is a trustworthy guide in such matters, considers the ceiling to be as fine as any of those famous ones in the old palace at Mantua. The most remarkable thing about all this is that so splendid and interesting a room should have been lost sight of for a century and a half, and that for 40 years past it should have been used as a butler's pantry. Happily it has now been cared for, and has become one of the show-places of the palace. It is not impossible that an investigation would reveal other interesting apartments at Hampton Court.

TAX EXEMPTIONS.

The question of tax exemptions, as readers of the ADVERTISER know, was dealt with in a modified form in the last session of the Ontario Legislature. Hitherto all church edifices and school buildings and the lands connected with them have been exempted from taxation; and so also have the salaries of ministers and the dwellings occupied by them, up to certain specified sums. Hereafter ministers must rank with ordinary citizens, and pay taxes like ordinary citizens upon their incomes and dwellings; while the lands attached to church edifices and the buildings and lands of all schools, excepting schools maintained in whole or part by a legislative grant or school tax, are made liable to be assessed in the same manner and to the same extent as other property for local improvements. This was no doubt as far as the Legislature could go in dealing with the subject, having in view the state of public opinion; but the law is not likely to remain a long time unchallenged. Ministers, for example, will have just cause of complaint against the operation of the income assessment clause, for no one can question that they will be unfairly taxed. A minister's stipend is easily ascertained, whereas in the case of a great majority of other citizens not one out of ten is assessed for anything like the amount of his income. Indeed it may be said that not more than one in ten is assessed for income at all, while the minister will be assessed to the last dollar of his income. How long ministers are likely to endure this injustice we need not trouble ourselves to consider; they will be the conscious owners of a real grievance at an early day, and the Legislature will probably be glad to find a mode of redress in the sensible and reasonable plan of entire abolition of income assessment.

But the question of church exemptions also promises to continue a vexatious one until a full settlement of it is obtained. One of the Baptist churches in Toronto has stirred it up afresh by making a formal request upon the City Council to cause its edifice and grounds to be assessed for ALL municipal purposes. We do not know how far the municipality can go in acceeding to this request. The law does not provide for such a case, and it is doubtful if the taxes could be received by the city treasury no matter how willing the church might be to pay them. This aspect of the question does not appear to have been discussed, but we see by the Toronto papers that the broad question of the propriety of granting and accepting exemptions is as much debated as ever.

There are some who say that church property should continue to be exempt because churches are not maintained to make money for those who build them, but to mend the moral life of the people and to make them more useful and more law-abiding citizens. It is also said that no relationship of Church and State is involved in the exemption of churches from the payment of taxes, and that if the State sees fit in its own interest, as a recognition of the police service rendered by the Church, to let church properties go untaxed, no wrong is done the community, inasmuch as the great majority of citizens are church-goers. On the other side are those who say that to exempt church property is to give it State aid, and that apart from the principle of the connection an injustice is done to poor taxpayers in making them pay more than their share because costly churches pay less, and a still greater injustice to persons who neither attend any church service nor have faith in religion of any kind.

There is no living man, perhaps, who has a better understanding of the principles of taxation than Mr. Gladstone, for besides his great ability and long experience in public life, he has had as Chancellor of the Exchequer at various times to make a very close and careful study of the subject of taxation. In 1863 it was his duty to propose to Parliament a measure or resolution dealing with charities and corporations exempted by income-tax acts, and in his Budget speech and subsequently he discussed the question very luminously.

Mr. Gladstone, it may be observed, was not much enamored with the practice of persons setting apart money or property for schools and other charities on their death bed, when it is no longer theirs to enjoy. "We doubt the policy," he said, "of encouraging, at the charge of the public, particular persons to devise methods of thus disposing of their wealth, which may be attended in some cases with much benefit, in others with very little; but which very generally create patronage, and often tend to gain credit and notoriety for the individual himself, which otherwise he might not have enjoyed." He accordingly proposed to make the property of all charity corporations, principally schools and hospitals, subject to taxation, "mainly on account of the sound general principle that all property ought to contribute to the taxes of the country, which, if they are justly and wisely imposed, ought not to be regarded as penalties on the possession of property, but as the necessary means of rendering property available for the effective use and enjoyment of the owner." He did not at that time, however, propose to withdraw the exemptions affecting the building of hospitals, colleges and charities of other descriptions, because he felt that his purpose would be impeded by attempting to tax buildings not occupied for profit, because it would be difficult to arrive at any equitable principle upon which they could be valued.

But Mr. Gladstone had no doubt in his mind as to what exemption implied. "An exemption is a gift," he said; "what the State remits to a man it gives to him." And to illustrate the proposition, he said: "If a gentleman has carriages and horses, he is liable to pay a guinea for each horse, and £2 and upwards for each carriage; and, if those sums be levied from his neighbor and not from him, it is the same thing as if, having been levied, they had been given back to him." The exemption from taxation, Mr. Gladstone maintained, was a pecuniary premium; "a positive pecuniary premium or State subvention it is." And, to give one more quotation, he said: "I maintain that an exemption is a grant; and that all property should pay the taxes necessary for the enjoyment of all property. But I also maintain that in the case even of the larger charities, and of the very best among them, if they had any claim for a public grant, yet it is most impolitic and unreasonable to make such a grant by way of an exemption, which selects for favor institutions not in want, and leaves to struggle those which stand most in need of assistance."

So far then as Mr. Gladstone's opinion can settle the question, there is no doubt that in the exemption of church property from taxation there is a connection of Church and State, because the exemption is a grant from the Government or the municipality. How large the gift is in Ontario, we have no means of knowing, because it is only in a few of the large city and town municipalities that the practice of valuing church property is followed by the assessors. It must be very large, however, probably not less than $250,000 a year. Does any one suppose that the Legislature would vote such a sum to be distributed among the several religious denominations of Ontario every year? How long would the people tolerate it, and what political party would dare propose such a system of aiding the churches? And yet such a practice would be more defensible than the present one, for, as Mr. Gladstone said in the case of the English charity institutions: "When there is a public grant voted from year to year, we see what we are about; we let in the light of day; the public becomes a party to the management; it has something to say, and has a right to be heard, and arbitrary will is dethroned." To be consistent, therefore, the union of Church and State should be closer than it is, or the connection should be wholly and completely severed.

THE TYRANNY OF WEEDS.

Alongside one of the Westminster township concessions may be seen a pasture field containing probably eight or ten acres which the herds and flocks will soon abandon in despair. A few years ago a little patch of ox-eyed daisies made their appearance in that field. Half an hour's hand-pulling for a couple of seasons would probably have exterminated them, but the owner, indolent or indifferent, did not take the half hour for that needed work. It might have been hundreds of dollars in his pocket if he had, for the pest, having run freely to seed, the field to-day is practically a mat of these noxious weeds, and the grass has been rapidly crowded out of existence. Not only so, but the weed has crept into other fields and farms, inflicting injury upon more careful neighbors. This is no fancy case and unfortunately it is not exceptional. Readers of the ADVERTISER need only open their eyes in the country to see hundreds of similar samples or worse. Men have actually been known to be driven off farms by the tyranny of weeds. This season Canada thistles, mustard, ragweed, burdocks, ox-eyed-daisies, and other pests appear to be unusually rampant on the roadsides, in the grain fields and in the pastures. They are inflicting incalculable loss upon the business of farming. There is no question but that all these pests can be kept in check if not entirely eradicated if the farmers will but set themselves about it systematically and resolutely. The fact that many farms are practically kept clean in spite of the careless neighbors proves it. The tyranny of weeds seems to blunt the very moral nature of some men. They would hesitate to steal a sheep from a neighbor, but yet have no compunction about inflicting equally great, if not worse and more permanent, injury upon him, by allowing, for example, a great patch of Canada thistles to bloom and scatter their downy seed across his fields. Once a farmer succumbs to the domination of weeds, poor crops of grain and roots, rickety fences and ramshackle outbuildings, soon follow in their train. If motives of self interest, self respect or common decency will not avail with such men should they complain if the machinery of the law is set vigorously in motion against them? The provisions of the Ontario Act requiring the destruction of the weeds mentioned and others before going to seed every year, is deemed ample if enforced, but it seems largely left with the people themselves, and they do not take advantage of it, choosing rather to suffer injury and loss than be bothered with litigation. In some townships the inspectors appointed by the municipal councils drive around once a year leaving printed notices with farmers to cut all thistles, rag weed, etc., before a certain date or be liable to the "pains and penalties" which the act provides; but that is all there is about it. From economical motives the council does not apparently feel able to pay the inspector to go further and so the matter stands, one neighbor not caring to inform against another. The ADVERTISER would suggest that the Farmers' Institutes give this subject a thorough overhauling at their next meeting. It is high time that a general and persistent war against weeds should be declared.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

—The Athenæum, of London, has this advertisement: "Writers of fiction (ladies especially) may be supplied with new materials of an exciting and romantic character." It is better for a novelist to buy a plot than to steal it.

—Lord Rosebery takes credit for having been the first to suggest to the British Government that if the inhabitants of Heligoland, just ceded by Lord Salisbury to Germany, desire to emigrate they should be requested to settle in Canada. The Scandinavians, his Lordship says, would make excellent colonists, but he takes the ground that the Scottish crofters make the best settlers. At present the emigration of Scotchmen to Canada is very small.

—At St. Joseph, Mich., a man has taken to raising frogs for the large cities of the United States, in which there seems to be a big demand for the dainty of frog legs. It is said that this man will realize several thousand dollars from the 200,000 pollywogs which he is raising. Here is a hint for owners of swamps everywhere. There seems to be more money in frog extremities than in farm produce these days. Unfortunately the appetite for this item of food is not very general.

—A big railway boom is about to be started in Australia. The Victorian Government has announced its intention to spend over $60,000,000 on new lines. This appears to be a large sum, but the expenditure may be warranted, in view of the fact that in Australia the Government retains control of the lines for which public money is devoted, and manages to obtain interest on the sum invested. In Canada we have been pursuing a different policy. The present Government has on the one hand granted vast sums of public money to private organizations without requiring any return for interest, and on the other has given enormous grants to enable private companies to divert traffic from the only line of railway which the people of the Dominion owns and controls—the Intercolonial.

The "Ocean Graveyard" has cost Canada a good deal of money since the Dominion Government assumed control of it, but it is probable that in the near future the country will be relieved of the special necessity for looking after the dangerous ridge. Sable Island, situated about 100 miles from Nova Scotia, is going, going, and it will soon be gone if the sea continues its ravages on the sandy shores. The island was 40 miles long at one time; it is now but 20 miles in length. Captain Guildford, of the Government steamer Newfield, who has just surveyed it, says that in the last ten years miles of the western end have been washed away, and of the three lighthouses erected two have been carried off by the sea. As there is a lake about eleven miles long in the center of the land, it can easily be seen how near extinction it is. When it becomes no longer possible to keep lights burning on the island, the neighborhood will be even more fatal to unwary mariners than it is now, as all around there are treacherous sandbanks and shoals.

K. of P. and Local Option.

MILWAUKEE, July 21.—Before the Knights of Pythias Supreme Lodge closed its sixteenth biennial session on Friday the liquor question was dealt with. There was a struggle between the prohibition representatives and the local option men. The latter finally won, the Supreme Lodge deciding that the various Grand Lodges were to judge whether saloon-keepers should be admitted to membership in the lodges subordinate to them. The two children of Founder Rathbone, of the order, who were left destitute, are to receive $150 every three months from the Supreme Lodge while they remain unmarried.

Catarrh

Is a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

NOTHING LIKE IT.

MR. JOAB SCALES, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Lame Back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man out of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

WONDERFUL CURES.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.—Mrs. L. Squire, Ontario Steam Dye Works, Toronto, says: "For about thirty years I have doctored for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia without getting any cure. I then tried Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and the benefits I have received from this medicine are such that I cannot withhold this expression of my gratitude. It acts immediately upon the Liver, and its good effects are noticed at once. As a Dyspepsia remedy I don't think it can be equalled."

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

HARDENED AND ENLARGED LIVER.—Mrs. H. Hall, Navarino, N.Y., writes: "For years I have been troubled with Liver Complaint. The doctors said my Liver was hardened and enlarged. I was troubled with Dizziness, Pain in my Right Shoulder, Constipation, and gradually losing flesh all the time. All food soured on my stomach, even with the closest attention to diet. I was under the care of three physicians, but did not get any relief. A friend sent me a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and it affords me much pleasure to inform you that the benefit I have received from it is far beyond my expectation. I feel better now than I have done for years."

HYMEN'S LOTTERY!

A Prize! For Every Maid or Widow!

There is a MATRIMONAL PRIZE, ranging in value from ONE THOUSAND to TEN MILLION DOLLARS, for every maid or widow using Dr. Campbell's Safe Arsenic Complexion Wafers. No mere MAN since the fall can stand the pressure of BRIGHT eyes, IVORY skin and ROSY lips. He makes a bee-line for a MARRIAGE LICENSE, and receives the congratulations of his friends (many of whom, however, are envious) over the "happy event," begun, vigorously prosecuted and happily consummated, all within a few weeks. Why need we say more?

Let others laud the Muses nine,
And praise the triple Graces,
This theme of mine is more divine
I sing—fair ladies' faces!—
But NOT the ones with blooms and paints,
Laid on with puffs and brushes,
But those who melt the hearts of SAINTS,
With "NATURE'S" glowing BLUSHES.

BEAUTY of this superlative order, when not conferred by Nature, can be developed ONLY by the use of Dr. Campbell's "Life-Renewing" Safe Arsenic Complexion Wafers. Dr. Campbell leaves so-called "bleaching preparations" to Ah Jee, the Chinese laundryman. Dr. C. does not believe in the "skin-'em-alive" process, not even for eels. All bleaches, balms, blooms, creams, powders, etc., etc., produce "bogus" beauty from WITHOUT; CAMPBELL'S Safe Arsenic Complexion Wafers develop "Natural" BEAUTY from WITHIN.

A WORD TO LOVERS MASCULINE!

"You'll never meet a joy so sweet
In all your noon of fame"— as your heart's best girl with her model complexion and all the inherent sweetness acquired from a steady use of

DR. CAMPBELL'S "LIFE-REWING" SAFE ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS!

A SKIN

LIKE EXQUISITE, DELICATELY TINTED

LIVING IVORY!

With an "AIR" HIGH-BRED as an

IDEAL PRINCESS!

Is imparted to every WOMAN or budding MAIDEN FAITHFULLY using Dr. CAMPBELL'S (none other) "LIFE-RENEWING" SAFE ARSENIC COMPLEXION WAFERS!

AN EYE OPENER!

Love cuddled close his curly head
Upon his mother's knees;
"I'd just as lief," he sighed, "be dead,
"If blind I aye must be."

But Beauty kissed his pouting lips,
And stilled his piteous sighs;
Then with her rosy finger tips
She opened both his eyes.

And ever since that joyous hour,
It happens in this wise—
All men acknowledge Beauty's power
To open Lovers' eyes.

ALL are not born beautiful, but nearly al can be made so by the use of Dr. CAMPBELL'S Wafers, the universal magnet. We say "magnet," for we have known beauty, induced by CAMPBELL'S Safe Arsenic Complexion Wafers, draw an "eligible" ten miles through a mid-winter blizzard.

P.S.—BEWARE of bogus or IMITATION Wafers, as well as "detrimental" young men.

ARSENIC in the form of CAMPBELL'S Wafers will induce in man, woman or maiden BEAUTY, HEALTH and LONGEVITY. It is as certainly FALSE that the use of CAMPBELL'S Wafers would result in a morbid "habit" and endanger life if discontinued. Applied to these Wafers there is NO SUCH THING as an "Arsenic habit." As well talk of a "beafsteak habit." The "Arsenic habit" exists only in the untamed imagination of the penny "thrill" novelist and the crazy rigmarole of the goody-goody press.

A Faultless Complexion.

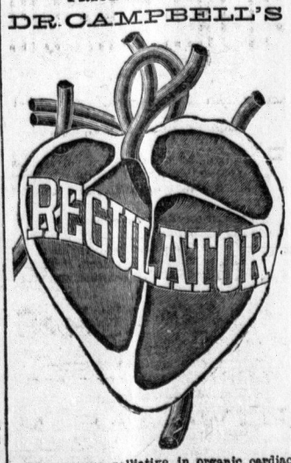

From a Distinguished New York Society Lady

I have used Dr. Campbell's "Life-Renewing Arsenic Complexion Wafers for more than one year with most perfect success, and find them INDISPENSABLE, not only keeping the skin in a most charming condition, but the HEALTH also, as my present condition proves, for I have used NO OTHER remedies during the past year, and have gained much in health and STRENGTH during that time. When I began the use of these "world-renowned" Arsenic Wafers I was completly RUN DOWN from MALARIA, and in a very weakened condition, but I am now ENTIRELY CURED and a living example of HEALTH; have gained back my old time FORM, STRENGTH and VIGOR with good, substantial flesh and a complexion which my friends pronounce simply faultless! I take great pleasure in sending this as a proof of my Thorough Belief in Arsenic when prepared as Dr. Campbell alone prepares it. I am most sincerly.

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

SUNDAY BALL-PLAYING.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 21.—There was a scene of great excitement at the ball grounds yesterday afternoon. At the close of the third inning of the Rochester-Columbus game Justice Coy, of Irondequoit, with several constables and members of the Law and Order League, marched on the diamond and ordered that the game be stopped. As the players came in the spectators rushed out into the diamond and surrounded the Irondequoit people, shouting derisively at them and calling on the players to continue. The club officials tried in vain to restore order, but were unable to do so until they had persuaded the Irondequoit people to leave the diamond. As the latter had no warrants the players resumed the game, after the managers had promised Justice Coy to have the men before him this morning. At the close of the game the club officials induced the Irondequoit men to secure the players' arrest immediately. This was done. Gen. Brinker vouched for the appearance of the players when wanted and they were released. The Columbus players will be examined to-day, and the Rochester players to-morrow.

FLYS.

The Olean management has signed James Connors, of the defunct London International League team, to play second base.

Secretary Hawley, of the Cleveland League Club, has signed Smith, who pitched for the Detroit International League Club.

A game of ball was played Saturday afternoon between the Clippers, of the north end, and the Blue Stockings, resulting in favor of the north enders by 19 to 4.

At Minneapolis they have revived the story of a prospective amalgamation of the National League, American Association and Western Association into one large organization of sixteen cities, to be divided into an eastern and a western circuit as follows: Eastern—New York Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Cleveland. Western—Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Detroit, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Omaha and St. Louis.

THE WHEEL.

The Toronto Bicycle Club held a road handicap race on Saturday from Norway to Highland Creek and return—a twenty-mile course. There were nine starters. The winner was Dave Nasmyth, who started scratch, covering the distance in 1:17¼.

A London, Eng., dispatch says at the meeting of the Catford Cycling Club in the half-mile handicap A. Ducros won the heat in 1:1½, beating the amateur recors. He surpassed this in the final contest, which he won in, 1:11, beating Reeve's record of 1:12 4-5. In the first heat, open handicap, R. J. Macredy, from scratch, lowered the mile record made by him at the royal meeting last week. He covered the distance in 2:30 4-5. He further lowered this in the final heat to 2:29 4-5, which was equal to Rowe's record. But this record stood only a few minutes, as F. Osmond mounted an ordinary machine and lowered the record to 2:28 4-7, and also beat the amateur record for three-quarters of a mile, covering that distance in 1:51 4-5.

S. P. C. Wilson and E. Dangerfield in the trial against time, beat the tandem records from two to five miles inclusive. Their respective times were: For one mile, 2:45 3-5; two miles, 5:33 2-5; three miles, 8:23; four miles, 11:11 1-5; five miles, 13:54 1-5.

THE RING.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 20.—A prize fight took place at Hyde Park on Friday night between Frank Clark, light weight champion of Canada, and Richard Dunn, of Chicago, for a purse of $150. Clark won in the thirteenth round.

A TRAGEDY.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wy. T., July 21.—A tragedy was enacted here Saturday in a newspaper office. Negotiations have been for several days pending for a prize fight between Patsy Mulligan and Jimmy Casey. They met at the Spokesman office by agree ment to settle on the details for the proposed fight. While talking matters quietly Billy Lynn, a friend of Casey, started a quarrel with Mulligan. The latter knocked him down and he was put out of the office. He went around to a back door, and coming in behind Mulligan shot him twice, the wounds being considered mortal. Ed. Smith, another pugilist, was struck in the knee.

LACROSSE.

A lacrosse match in the southern district junior championship series was played at Ingersoll Saturday between the Alerts, of Stratford, and the Beavers, of Ingersoll, resulting in the defeat of the home team by 2 games to 1.

The next match of the London Lacrosse Club will be with the Hamilton Y. M. C. A. team; date not yet fixed.

At Montreal, on Saturday, the lacrosse match played between the Shamrock and Ottawa teams resulted in a victory for the home team by 7 games to 1.

CRICKET.

The Windsor Cricket Club is going on a tour of the eastern cities.

St. Thomas and Aylmer played a one-inning game of cricket at Aylmer on Saturday, Aylmer winning by 27 runs with nine wickets down. Score: 63 for St. Thomas, 90 for Aylmer.

It is altogether likely that the next international match will be played in Hamilton. The Toronto club will likely have to vacate its grounds, and Hamilton is the next likely place.—[Hamilton Times.

At Chatham, Friday, the first game of the Windsor club's eastern series was played. Chatham went to bat, and by the help of Pegley, Kinney, Richards and Wells the score was pulled up, and 108 was totaled when the last man was out. Windsor responded with 47 and followed on, making 78 in their second venture. With 18 runs to win, Chatham went in and succeeded in accomplishing that for the loss of two wickets. Stewart and Marcon bowled well for Windsor, as did Atkinson, Kinney and Lang for Chatham. The fielding was particularly good.

Several hundred people witnessed the second day's play Saturday, at New York, in the cricket match between the Berkeley Oval Cricket Club and the Manitoba team. When play ceased on Friday the Berkeley Oval team had scored 116 in their innings, and the Canadians had lost five of their wickets for 153 runs. When play was resumed J. H. Senkler and D. J. Campbell, the not-outs of the previous day, were soon dispossessed, and the balance of the team only added fifteen runs, the inning closing for a total of 168 runs. The Berkeley Oval team went to the bat a second time, 52 runs to the bad. The bowling of Bannatyne and McGiverin was so good that the only men who could make a stand were Tolley and Tyers, the Manhattan professional, who scored twenty, not out. The whole side were retired for a total of 57 runs, which only left the Canadians seven runs to make in order to win. This they accomplished with the loss of one wicket.

THE TURF

John H. Shultz, of New York, the millionaire baker and horse owner, who owns the Parkville farm on the Coney Island boulevards, announces that he will shortly sell all his trotting horses and have his extensive farm and trotting track cut up into building lots. He was one of the most liberal purchasers at all the beg sales of trotting horses held in the big cities during the past ten years.

HEAVEN'S DOOR WIDE OPEN.

God an Interested Spectator of the World's Moral Changes.

The Way of Entrance for Prayer and Egress for Blessings—Dr. Talmage's Sunday Sermon.

BROOKLYN, July 20.—Dr. Talmage's sermon to-day was on the "Wide Open Door," and his text, Rev. iv., 1, "And, behold, a door was opened in heaven. John had been the pastor of a church in Ephesus. He had been driven from his position in that city by an indignant populace. The preaching of a pure and earnest gospel had made an excitement dangerous to every form of iniquity. This will often be the result of pointed preaching. Men will flinch under the sword strokes of truth. It is a good sign when you see men uneasy in the church pew and exhibiting impatience at some plain utterance of truth which smites a pet sin that they are hugging to their hearts. After the patient had been so low that for weeks he said nothing and noticed nothing, it is thought to be a good sign when he begins to be a little cross. And so I notice that spiritual invalids are in a fair way for recovery when they become somewhat irascible and choleric under the treatment of the truth. But John had so mightily inculpated public iniquity that he had been banished from his church and sent to Patmos, a desolate island, only a mile in breadth, against whose rocky coasts the sea rose and mingled its voice with the prayers and hymnings of this heroic exile.

A CONTRAST.

You cannot but contrast the condition of this banished apostle with that of another famous exile. Look at the apostle on Patmos and the great Frenchman on St. Helena. Both were suffering from desolation and barrenness because of offenses committed. Both had passed through lives eventful and thrilling. Both had been honored and despised. Both were imperial natures. Both had been turned off to die. Yet mark the infinite difference; one had fought for the perishable crown of worldly authority, the other for one eternally lustrous. The one had marked his path with the bleached skulls of his followers, the other had introduced peace and good will among men. The one had lived chiefly for self-aggrandizement and the other for the glory of Christ. The successes of the one were achieved amid the breaking of thousands of hearts and the acute, heaven-rending cry of orphanage and widowhood, while the triumphs of the other made joy in heaven among the angels of God. The heart of one exile was filled with remorse and despair, while the other was lighted up with thanksgiving and inextinguishable hope. Over St. Helena gathered the blackness of darkness, clouds lighted up by no sunrising, but rent and fringed and heaving with the lightnings of a rathful God, and the spray flung over the rocks seemed to hiss with the condemnation: "The way of the ungodly shall perish." But over Patmos the heavens were open, and the stormy sea beneath was forgotten in the roll and gleam of waters from under the throne like crystal, and the barrenness of the ground under the apostle was forgotten as above him he saw the trees of life all bending under the rich glow of heavenly fruitage, while the hoarse blast of contending elements around his suffering body was drowned in the trumpeting of trumpets and the harping of harps, the victorious cry of multitudes like the voice of many waters and the hosanna of hosts in number like the stars.

OTHER EXILES.

It was looking through the awful shadows of a prison that John Bunyan saw the gate of the celestial city. God there divided the light from the darkness. In that gloomy abode, on scraps of old paper picked up about his room, the great dream was written. It was while John Calvin was a refugee from bloody persecution and was hid in a house at Angoulême that he conceived the idea of writing his immortal Institutes. Jacob had many a time seen the sun breaking through the mists and kindling them into shafts and pillars of fiery splendor that might well have been a ladder for the angels to tread on, but the famous ladder which he saw soared through a gloomy night over the wilderness. The night of trial and desolation is the scene of the grandest heavenly revelations. From the barren, surf-beaten rock of Patmos John looked up and saw that a door was opened in heaven.

A DIVINE SPECTATOR.

Again: The announcement of such an opened entrance suggests the truth that God is looking down upon the earth and observant of all occurrences. If we would gain a wide prospect, we climb up into a tower or mountain. The higher up we are the broader the landscape we behold. As we take our stand upon some high point, single objects dwindle into such insignificance that we cease to see them in the minutiæ, and we behold only the grand points of the scenery. But not so with God. Although standing far up in the very tower of heaven, nothing by reason of its smallness escapes his vision. From this door in heaven God sees all human conduct and the world's moral changes. Not a tear or sorrow falls in hospital or workshop or dungeon but he sees it and in high heaven makes record of its fall. The world's iniquities in all their ghastliness glower under his vision. There he stands, no more disturbed by the fall of a kingdom than the dropping of a leaf, no more excited by the rising of a throne than the bursting of a bud, the falling of a deluge than the trickling of a raindrop. Above all earthly vicissitude and the assault of human passions, in unshaken security, stands the King of Kings watching the affairs of his empire from the introduction of an era to the counting of the hairs of your head.

BLESSINGS IN ANSWER TO PRAYER.

Again: I learn from the fact that a door in heaven is opened, that there is a way of entrance for our prayers and of egress for divine blessings. Heaven's door is wide open to receive every prayer. A whisper is as good as a shout, and the mere wish of the soul in profound silence is as good as a whisper. It rises just as high and accomplishes just as much. The door of heaven is opened to allow us the opportunity of looking in. Christ, when he came from heaven to Bethlehem, left it open, and no one since has dared to shut it. Matthew threw it still wider open when he came to write, and Paul pushed the door further back when he spoke of the glory to be revealed, and John in Revelation actually points us to the harps and the waters, and the crowns, and the thrones. Look through this wide-open door of heaven and see what you can see. God means us to look and catch up now something of the rapture, and attune our hearts to its worship. It is wide open enough to

SEE CHRIST.

Behold him the chief among 10,000, all the bannered pomp of heaven at his feet. With your enkindled faith look up along these ranks of glory. Watch how their palms wave and hear how their voices ring. Uncounted multitudes ever accumulating in number and ever rising up into hosannas. The door of heaven stands open.

FOR THE CHRISTIAN'S FINAL ENTRANCE.

Death to the righteous is not climbing high walls or fording deep rivers, but it is entering an open door. Your last sickness will be only the lane in front of your Father's house from which you hear the voice of singing before you reach the door. And death, that is the lifting of the latch before you enter the greetings and embraces of the innumerable family of the righteous. Nay there is no latch, for John says the door is already open. If redeemed by grace we shall all enter that door. This side of it we have wept, but on the other side of it we shall never weep. On this side we may have grown sick with weariness, but on the other side of it we shall be without fatigue. On this side we bleed with the warrior's wounds, on the other side we shall have the victor's palm. When you think of dying, what makes your brow contract, what makes you breathe so deep and sigh? You have been thinking that death is something terrible, the measuring of lances with a powerful antagonist, the closing in of a conflict which may be your everlasting defeat. You do not want much to think of dying. The step beyond this life seems so mysterious you dread the taking of it. Why, who taught you this lesson of horrors? Heaven's door is wide open, and you step out of your sick room into those portals. There is no stumbling into darkness. There is no plunging down into mysterious depths. The door is open. This instant you are here, the next you are there. When a vessel struck the rocks of the French coast, while the crew were clambering up the beach, a cage of birds in the ship's cabin awakened, began to sing most sweetly and when the last man left the vessel they were singing yet. Even so in the last hour of our dissolution when driven on the coast of the other world may our disembarkation from this rough, tossing life be amid the eternal singing of a thousand promises of deliverance and victory!

I trust she will be greeted by a large number of Canadian members, whose interest has been heretofore solely by mail.

Selected a Wife by Photograph.

There was quite a ripple of excitement at Rat Portage the other day over a romantic courtship and marriage of a Rainy River settler. The groom was Robert Gill, the teacher of an Indian school, and the bride was Miss Emily Taylor, of Owen Sound. Neither of the contracting parties had seen the other, but had corresponded and exchanged photographs. The groom arrived to meet his future wife, and the citizens who were aware of the approaching meeting turned out in large numbers to see the event. As the train drew in a trim-looking young lady jumped off the car, and her large dark eyes rapidly sized up the crowd to see her loved one. Mr. Alex. Rocking, of Elm River, acted as master of ceremonies, and at once took the young bride in charge. He introduced the pair, although he had never met the young lady, and the groom seemed elated over the prize he had drawn. The crowd set up a laugh and could hardly resist a cheer when the party marched off for a marriage license. All the ministers in town were down at the station, but of course none of them were looking for the job. At any rate, the pair were married shortly after the arrival of the train.

A Duke's Gratitude.

The Duke who recently sailed for England on the royal mail steamer Sardinian, of the Allan Line, before going ashore summonded the officers of the ship to his state cabin and thanked them heartily, shaking hands all around and wishing them every prosperity in the future. He also gave them as a memento an elegant breast pin bearing the royal crown and initials. The Duke and Duchess expressed themselves as having enjoyed the most delightful and comfortable trip of all they had ever experienced by water. This palatial steamer, which has been fitted up with electric light, again sailed on Wednesday last with a full complement of saloon passengers, among them many notable personages of Great Britain and this side of the water.

A glorious cooling draught for these hot days is "Montserrat" Lime-Fruit Juice, diluted and sweetened to the taste.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Finance Notes.

On the London Stock Exchange business was active early in the past week, especially in stocks depending upon the values of silver. But this activity was succeeded by a reaction to dullness, owing partly to the holiday season and partly to distrust of the money market and the expected advance of the Bank of England rate. American railroads lost the buoyancy apparent on the passage of the Silver Bill, and closed on Saturday generally depressed. The Paris Bourse was quiet, and prices were firm. On the Berlin Boerse dealings were limited. The market was apathetic in tone.

The Dairy Markets.

LONDON.

Sales were not over brisk at the London cheese market Saturday. Sellers held out at about 8½c orbetter, but buyers did not seem inclined to offer more than 8½c. Owing to the flush pasturage during the past six weeks the supply of cheese has exceeded the demand, and the market is somewhat overstocked. But this state of affairs promises not to last a great while. The prolonged spell of hot weather has had at last a bad effect on pasturage and milk is becoming very poor. According to present indications the outlook of cheese in August and September will be greatly reduced, and it is expected prices will go up in like proportion. The factories are anxious, with this outlook, to sell off their present stock, which it is impossible to keep in store, unless the weather materially changes. All the June cheese except a trifling amount has been sold, although Geary's and Glanworth offered 170 and 100 boxes at Saturday's market, all the rest being July. The Liverpool cable was not received, probably owing to the Western Union fire at New York. A small lot was sold at 8½c. The following factories were represented:

	Boxes.		Boxes.
Leitch's	80	Blanshard	130

The anthems by the choir were leading features of both services.

A Farewell Token.

The lower flat of James Wright & Co.'s establishment was the scene of a pleasant little affair on Saturday evening. The employes of the shop assembled and presented one of their number, Mr. Joseph Lawrie, with a handsome token of esteem, with an accompanying address. The recipient was completely taken by surprise, but suitably expressed his thanks for the mark of appreciation. He leaves on Wednesday next for Dumfries, Scotland, and his numerous friends wish him a safe voyage.

Another Blaze.

Smoke was seen about 1:30 this afternoon issuing from the roof of a house in Alexander Harvey's brick terrace on Talbot street, corner Fullerton. The fire department were immediately notified and soon had two streams playing on the blaze. The fire started in the attic of the corner house, tenanted by Mrs. A. J. Portwood, and spread along the roof. When the blaze was extinguished it was found that most of the contents of the upper story of Mrs. Portwood's house were destroyed, as were those of the next house, occupied by Mr. D. J. A. Ritchie. The upper part of the two buildings were also badly damaged. The contents of both houses are fully insured as well as the building. The excitement prostrated Mrs Ritchie, who is troubled with heart disease, and she is in a serious condition. Very few of the goods were removed from the dwellings, as the fire was soon extinguished, the most of the damage being done by smoke and water.

THE SEVENTH IN CAMP.

Re-enforcements Arrive—Dead Beats Discovered—Sunday Services—A Sacred Concert.

SEVENTH FUSILIERS CAMP OF INSTRUCTION, PORT STANLEY, July 20.

The weather still continues to be all that is desired—warm days and cool nights. Saturday was a day of fatigue duty for the men, work at the butts, pitching extra tents and a good general cleaning up around camp. In the afternoon a game of baseball was played by teams captained by Lieut. W. C. Coo and Quartermaster Ironside, Mr. Coo's team winning by a score of 15 to 14. The game was full of brilliant plays on both sides, Mr. Coo's fielding being of especially good order. A two-bagger and three-base hit by Tuke and a home run by Mr. Coo were the batting features of the game. The umpiring was done by Wes. Robinson, otherwise known as "Mat.," "Hello Jack."

The afternoon and evening trains brought in a few stragglers from town and the evening special brought in the band and came down together with the following officers, non-commissioned officers and men: Lieut.-Col. Tracy, Capt. Hayes, Capt. Ashplant, Lieut. Dawson and Lieut. Magee; Col. Sergt. J. D. McCrimmon, D Company; Col. Sergt. Garside, A Company; Sergt. Wilson, B Company; Sergt. Boucher, E Company; Lance Sergt. Widden, F Company; Corp. Anderson, C Company; Corp. Grey, E Company; Corp. Allen, B Company; Corp. Toll, E Company; Ptes. Abell, A Company; Mitchell, B Company; Brown, C Company; Parkinson, Morrison, Luard, D Company; Vincent, Williams, Jeffrey, East, Telfer, E Company; Park, Gould and Snyder, F Company.

The total strength to-day was 107 officers, non-commissioned and men. The blanket party were around initiating all tenderfeet and the scene at the camp when the new comers arrived was an animated one.

On thing that was not pleasant to see was two or three civilians, who crept into camp and when the men had discarded their coats, put them on and tried to pass themselves as members of the camp. But the quartermaster was too old a bird to be taken in by any such game, and the dead beats did not get the desired covering and rations. It is too bad that young men of our most respectable families would stoop so low as to try and beat the hotel-keepers of this village out of their dues.

Lieut. Magee was one of the first to be tossed in the blanket. How did you like it, Corker?

Another concert took place last evening, and two more first-class vocalists appeared in the persons of Lance-Sergeant Widden and Corporal Allen. The former sang two rattling songs, and the latter's "I Don't Want to Fight, by Jingo if I do," figuratively speaking, brought down the house.

After dinner to-day the men had a pleasant smoke, the cigars being donated by Lieut.-Col. Tracy.

The camp was crowded with visitors to day after church parade.

As the parade was formed up this morning an enterprising photographer took a photo of the company.

The detachment paraded for divine service this morning 100 strong, Lt.-Col. Tracy in command, and marched to the English Church where Canon Smith preached an able sermon. The roads were very dusty and when the men arrived home you could hardly tell the color of their uniform.

Color-Sergeant McCrimmon is the dude of the camp and cuts quite a figure.

"Corker" Magee had his hands full this afternoon. No less than three. Give us a show, "Arth."

Capt. Hayes and Lieut. Magee say Capt. Ashplant is a great "snorer." Let up, Studley.

"Monsieur Brophy," tonsorial artist from J. Tracy's, of London, was in camp to-day.

Tom Hiscott capped everything in his "blazer." That was quite a mash you had, Tom.

Corporal Beal and Private Riggs departed for London Saturday.

The guard yesterday turned out very slick. Corporal McNamara was in charge.

To-day's guard is composed of Lance-Corporal Toll, commander; and Privates Parke, Bobier and Morrison; Private Rankin, waiting guard.

The following members of the Bugle Band came down on Saturday: Corporal Sullivan, Buglers McAuliffe, Stone, Callard, Drummers Webster, C. and Webster, J. W., Barker and Manville.

Mr. D. Schwitzer, of London, visited the camp to-day.

A sacred concert was given on the lawn at the Fraser House by the band at 6:30 this evening. About 500 people were present and enjoyed a rare treat.

Mr. Fraser, the proprietor of the Fraser House, is one of the most accommodating Bonifaces in the country. The men vote him a right good fellow.

Sergt. Freeland, the orderly sergeant, has had a busy time of it these last two days. He will enjoy a much-needed rest, as Sergt. Garside takes over his duties tomorrow.

"Skin" and "Bull" have fallen into disgrace in camp for fighting at church parade this morning. They have been placed on short rations for a week.

Four members of "D" Company, I. S. C., came down yesterday afternoon, thinking there was a return train from Port to London, and got left. They had to hire a rig and drive to St. Thomas to catch the Buffalo. Too bad, Dave, to lead the youngsters astray.

There was lots of excitement around the cook house about fifteen minutes after the dinner bugle had sounded. It was caused by Cook Bide fainting dead away. Cook Bide is a strong and healthy man, and it must have taken a big shock to knock him off his pins. It was said that Alf. Barron, of the 7th Band, asked him for his pie, and if he did not give it to him he would tell the colonel. Be careful, Alf., don't hit a man so hard; next time ask him for cake.

Pte. Vick denies he is about to be married. He says he has no girl love. Come off, Vick, one of her family told us.

No. 1 tent works hard to be the neatest in camp and generally succeeds.

J. B. McKay, manager of construction, C. P. R., Toronto, paid us a visit to-day. J. B. is a dandy.

Corp. Sullivan, of the Bugle Band, gets away with an awful lot of cheese.

This evening the village looked lively, the red coats adding much to its appearance. KANTEEN.

The Chosen Friends' Excursion.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

The Order of Chosen Friends ask insertion of the following:

Competition of railroad companies must indeed have become keen and have made their managers so when a great company like the Canadian Pacific can find time and room to compete with a benevolent society excursion for the small amount which may be left to them after advertising, chartering boat and looking after the comfort of those who might favor them with their presence on the 25th inst. The Chosen Friends of this city and other towns of the surrounding country will have a great opinion of the C. P. R. It looks contemptible. Our excursion will run all the same, thanks to the G. T. road and the steamer Idlewild, and we hope and believe that the public will help the more on account of the opposition shown us. Our excursions are well known, and whatever returns we have are used in a good cause.

Struck by an Express Train.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 21—The St. Louis Express on the New York Central struck a wagon containing Winslow Hannon, his wife and 5 year-old daughter at the Weedsport crossing Saturday night. Mr. Hannon was instantly killed. Mrs. Hannon and the girl were seriously injured.

Cold July Weather.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The signal office states the weather reports show that in the middle Atlantic States, from Washington north to Rochester and Albany, and in portions of New England, Sunday and Monday mornings were the coldest on record for the month of July.

Fire at Midland, Ont.

MIDLAND, Ont., July 21.—A fire broke out Saturday morning in a closet adjoining Jeffery & Co.'s coal dock and grain storehouse, which spread to and destroyed between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet of lumber owned by the Emery Lumber Company, of East Saginaw, and Moore Lumber Company, of Detroit. Other losers are Jeffrey & Co., coal dock and grain warehouse and three icehouses.

Newfoundland—A Schooner Seized.

ST. PIERRE, Miq., July 21.—The schooner Mary, 30 tons, owned by a poor fisherman at Placentia Bay, chartered by Chafe Rosblanche, of West Newfoundland, to carry a cargo of dried codfish to St. Johns, arrived here loaded with 600 quintals and ten barrels of cod roes. On these latter are paid a bounty for the French catch and cure of $4 per barrel, and they are used in France as bait for the sardine fishery. The foreign articles are consequently prohibited. The customs officer caught the crew of the Mary in the act of landing three barrels of roe of the value of $9. The vessel was seized and a French guard put on board. The crew were lodged ashore awaiting a trial before the Superior Court on Wednesday next, when a verdict will probably be rendered of forfeiture of the cargo, which is valued at $35,000, and the vessel at $1,000, with a fine on the French purchaser. This is hard on Chafe, who is a struggling young merchant, and is equally hard on the poor owner. Neither of these had any complicity in the fraud, which was perpetrated by the crew to obtain liquor. The French merchants are pressing for a conviction.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

DIANA WENTWORTH.

"I am satisfied," he said solemnly; and she, having recovered her spirits, laughed at his gravity. There was no weak place in her heart, and she gave the promise with the greatest assurance.

Directly after this he went away, and as he went out at the house door he met a young lady coming in, with whom he exchanged salutations. She said:

"I suppose Diana is at home!" and, on his saying she was, the girl went forward unannounced, and knocked at the drawing-room door.

Diana greeted her visitor with some surprise.

"You, Amy!" she said; "what has brought you out at this time of night?"

"I have not seen you for a week, and I wanted so much to hear if you have come to any arrangement with those German people."

She sat down as she spoke. She was a fair girl of middle height, with undecided manner and speech, and yet with something in her face which seemed to denote obstinacy. She formed a strange contrast to Diana, yet she was the only girl in all Whitfield who stood on terms of anything like intimacy with her. The deeper feeling was on the side of Amy Fairbairn, who often served as a vent to Diana's overwrought feelings. It was unfortunate that she had come just now; Diana had not yet recovered from her interview with Dr. Sherlock, and she was not in the gentlest mood. She told Amy that she was going to Jacewo, and Amy said:

"How dull it will be when you are gone! But perhaps you will not like the place and will be back again soon."

"If my esteemed friend Tom Sherlock could have had his way, I should stay here forever. He just asked me to marry him."

"Oh, Diana, I am so glad! I hope you accepted. Did you accept? It would be so delightful if we lived in the same town; we might be married on the same day. If you had to wait, I would not mind waiting too."

"Take care how you make rash promises. Tom explained his position to me very clearly, and had I accepted him we might have looked forward to a possibility of marriage in the next world; it would certainly never have taken place in this. If you and your Cartwright decided to wait for me, you would have every prospect of dying an old maid."

Mr. Cartwright was the curate, to whom Amy was engaged; waiting for preferment as a necessary preliminary to marriage.

"You say such strange things, Diana. Is Dr. Sherlock so poor?"

"Very poor, but he had the generosity to offer me a share of his poverty."

"Then you refused him?" said Amy, blankly.

"Yes; although he made another brilliant offer."

"I am sorry," said Amy. "His practice is here, and so is Reggie's curacy. We might have lived here together all our lives."

"How is your Reggie?" asked Diana. Is he any better?"

"Yes, he is better, but there is still infection, and I may not go near him. It is very hard I can do nothing for him. When mamma is poorly, I brush and comb her hair gently, it soothes her so; but I cannot even do that for him."

"Of course not. He might think you wished to assume the mastery if you began to comb his hair. It would be most unwise and might cause your engagement to be broken off."

She spoke with a gravity which made Amy feel uncertain as to her meaning. Strong as was her affection for Diana, she was often at a loss to know whether she were in jest or earnest.

"I heard of such a sad thing yesterday," she said presently. "Mr. White, of the Carlton Road Bank, has died suddenly, in the prime of life, leaving a widow and a large family."

"I wonder why it is," said Diana, "that men with wives and large families so often die in the prime of life. Poor men, I mean, only have those large families. I suspect they do it in self defense. They see they have got into a hopeless muddle, with only one way out of it comfortably to themselves and they naturally take that way and leave the others to get on as they can."

"I don't think such a way would be natural at all; it would be very selfish."

"It would be natural because it is selfish."

She spoke almost gloomily. She was leaning forward with her chin in her hand, her dark eyes looking into the glowing coals, her mouth set in a cynical curve.

"I am very sorry for Mrs. White," said Amy, "she is such a weak, delicate woman. If you think like that, it will be useless for me to ask you what I was going to."

"Do you mean to join in a subscription."

"Yes, I am trying to get a little sum together."

"I can't help you. It would only encourage others to do the same. If I ever found a charity, it shall not be for destitute clergymen or poor widow's children, but for old maids who have fought their way through life against great odds and have at last come to the end of their resources."

Amy said nothing. She was one of those people who remain comparatively indifferent to the privations and sorrows of older people, but who "cannot bear to see the little children suffer." Besides, she took no interest in old maids. Who does? She thought Diana hard and cold, and rose from her seat, saying:

"I shall go home. I can't talk to you any more. You are not nice."

"I will not keep you if you would rather go. Good-night. I will let you know when I leave home."

When she was alone again she resumed her seat by the fire, looking gloomily into it; but her thoughts, whatever they might be, were not uttered aloud.

Amy walked home in a glow of indignation against Diana and of satisfaction with herself. Yet every now and then the thought of her friend's deep, sad eyes and gloomy speech penetrated to her heart and made her feel uncomfortable, and as she walked along she murmured:

"Poor Diana! I wish she were happier, and I believe she would have been if she had accepted Dr. Sherlock."

CHAPTER V.

THE END OF A JOURNEY.

New Year's Eve was the date fixed for Diana to arrive at Jacewo, and a fortnight before that day she left Whitfield and went to her friend Mrs. Burland, in London; a day or two later Mrs. Wentworth went to Garshill. Diana could not have spent her last days in England with any more congenial companion than Antoinette Burland; she entered fully into the difficulty of the girl's position, and sympathized entirely with her refusal to go to Garshill. She could sway Diana when no one else had the slightest influence over her, and Diana trusted her implicitly. Antoinette had opposed to the utmost Mrs. Wentworth's decision to send her daughter to school, and, although her counsel had been disregarded, Diana had never forgotten that the effort had been made. The oases in that four years' desert of existence had been Antoinette's visits, letters, and hampers. Now she discussed her plans with a sympathy and insight which soothed Diana's wounded spirit, and which not even Amy had shown. They had parted friends, and Amy's last words had been to urge Diana to bear in mind her promise, that, when she returned to England, her first visit must be paid to the future Mrs. Cartwright. Mrs. Burland's only misgiving was regarding the long journey, more than half-way across Europe, and she was anxious that Diana should let Mr. Burland see her safely to her destination. She scouted the idea, and would so evidently have been angry if the plan been persisted in that Antoinette let it drop.

* * * * * * * *

She had made her last change in trains; in less than an hour she would be at Jacewo. She was alone in the railway carriage, and she let down the window and leaned out. She had passed through many patches of wood at an earlier stage of her journey; now she seemed to be traveling through an endless forest. The tall pine trees rose straight and motionless, almost within reach of her hand. She crossed the carriage and leaned from the opposite window; the same sight met her eyes. The train was running on a single line, which went straight on into the forest. She looked forward, and at no great distance the railroad appeared to melt into the trees; the train seemed imprisoned in the heart of the forest. A chill feeling of loneliness crept over her, and for the first time she asked herself where she was going and what would be the end of this long journey. Jacewo! Where was Jacewo? She did not know. How was she to know when she had reached Jacewo, and what kind of a place it would be? She could not tell; she knew nothing of it at all. She was going she knew not whither. A feeling came over her that she was going where strange things would befall her; as though she had turned a corner in the road of her life, and unproved sights and experiences lay before her; as though she had entered a new world, and a voice which she did not know, yet could not disobey, was calling her to advance in the darkness.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

The ADVERTISER is read by business people. They are the ones who have the situations. Therefore, to secure a suitable place, your opportunity lies in putting a 15-word Want Ad. for 15 cents in the ADVERTISER.

—Mr. A. V. Dennis, of Clements, Kansas, is visiting relatives in the city.

—Miss Alberta Tory, of Hamilton, is visiting Mrs. William Brock, Talbot street.

—Mr. John A. Powell, of the Paris Star-Transcript, is in the city to-day visiting friends.

—Dr. H. Landor, son of the late Dr. Landor, of the London Asylum, is visiting in this city.

—Mr. Cameron Brown left on Saturday afternoon for an extended trip to Pennsylvania and Ohio.

—Messrs. R. W. Barker and A. G. McWhinney, of this city, were registered in London, Eng., last week.

—Mr. Peter Wood, who was reported as suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, is able to be around again.

—Willie Baldwin, son of Maurice Baldwin, fractured an arm while playing on Simcoe street the other day.

—Mr. James O'Brien, C. P. R. freight agent of Brandon, and formerly of this city, is here again visiting friends.

—Mrs. H. Taylor and Miss Zada Taylor, of Oxford street, have gone for a sojourn at "The Willows," Markham, Ont.

—Signor Liberati spent Sunday at the residence of Mr. George Freeman, South Lyndon. The leading claironetist is a nephew of Mrs. Freeman.

—Messrs. Tamlin and Fulcher, of this city, left for Port Stanley to-day where they purpose camping for the remainder of the week. They made the trip in the saddle.

—It is likely that new tenders for the Springbank boiler house extension will be called for, as Mr. Charles Screaton, who secured the contract, was mistaken in what it called for.

—On Saturday evening the door of the Sulphur bath's office was smashed in. There was some money in the till, but it was not taken. The damage was most likely the work of a drunk.

—In most of the city churches yesterday petitions were placed for signatures protesting against the running of the steamers to Woodland on Sundays. For the most part they were freely signed.

—Inspector Platt is on the lookout for citizens who persist in using their lawn services after hours. Several were caught on Saturday evening, but all pleaded ignorance of the bylaw as their excuse.

—Some of the members of Liberati's band tried to fool with the nozzle of a sprinkler in front of the Grigg House this morning and received a good ducking. The whole company left on the 11:30 train to fill a week's engagement at Detroit.

—The Grand Trunk car works employes' excursion returned home from Detroit at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The confusion of Chicago and New York time in the City of the Straits caused several to miss the train on the return trip.

—Mr. John Blair, of Westminster, has just returned from British Columbia. He does not report business as particularly brisk there at present, but thinks prospects for the revival of trade pretty good. Mr. Blair intends going back next spring.

—A large number of citizens and members of the Seventh Fusiliers went down to Port Stanley on the 10:30 special Saturday evening. A portion of the band accompanied the party. The majority of the excursionists returned home this morning.

—Rev. G. M. Milligan, of Toronto, leaves this week on a vacation trip to Great Britain. It is not generally known that Mr. Milligan began his ministry in London township. The reverend gentleman has still many warm friends in this neighborhood.

—Mr. La Touche, of the East India civil service, Mrs. La Touche, and Mrs. T. C. Allardice, of this city, left this morning by the C. P. R. to take the Allan steamer from Quebec on Thursday. The party purpose making the tour of Great Britain and the continent. A large number of friends were at the station to see them off.

—Ida Moucherfeuille, the French woman who attempted to commit suicide in Lake Huron a few months ago, has been brought to the London asylum. She has been in the county jail at Sarnia for two years during which time the authorities have made efforts to find out from whence she came or where her relations resided without avail.

—A monster turtle was caught in the rear of an Oxford street house the other day. The warm weather had dried up the small creek running through the property wherein the turtle was wont to disport itself, and it was evidently on a prospecting tour for more congenial quarters when discovered. It weighed 37 pounds, and measured 35 inches from head to tail.

—Mr. E. St. Clair De Lacey, the popular ex-secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be tendered a farewell by the association on Tuesday evening of next week. Mr. John Green's residence, Ridout street, has been chosen as the scene of the entertainment, which will take the form of a lawn social. The Seventh band has been engaged for the evening, and will consequently not give the scheduled band concert at the park.

—The most oppressive garment in hot weather, according to a fat man who has made more or less of a study of the way to resist the high temperature of this city, is the waistcoat. During the intense heat waistcoats have been shed on all sides. It is by no means an unusual sight to see a man walk along the street with his coat over his arm, while he wears a heavy, cumbersome waistcoast strapped tightly around the body. He would find it cooler if he carried his waistcoat and kept his coat on.

—The ADVERTISER'S usually well-informed Belmont correspondent writes in connection with the death of the late Mr. L. Olmstead, of that place: The deceased settled in this vicinity more than 40 years ago. He first went into the farming industry, but afterwards settled down in Belmont, where he established a good hotel. He drove the stage from Belmont to London for over sixteen years, and many will no doubt remember his jolly and sociable style of conversation with his passengers. He was a shrewd business man, and had accumulated considerable property, which he leaves to his family.

—The remains of the late Mrs. John Allen were interred in the 5th con., Westminster, cemetery Friday. Mrs. Allen, with her husband, came to Ontario, then Upper Canada, from New York State, over 50 years ago, and settled in the township of North Dorchester on lot 24, con. 3, where, through industry and frugality, they established a comfortable home for themselves and children. Mrs. Allen's husband died about nine years ago, and since that time she has lived with her son-in-law, Mr. M. Dibb, of Huron county, Michigan. She was a consistent and active member of the Methodist Church, and her memory will be long respected by these who best knew her.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

Signor Liberati's Famous Band at the Opera House Saturday—A Splendid Musical Exhibition.

Those who failed to attend the performances of Signor Liberati's famous musical combination in the Grand Opera House Saturday afternoon and evening missed one of the rarest musical treats ever presented to the public of this city. Perhaps the advent of Signor Liberati's aggregation, so soon after Gilmore's celebrated band, had something to do with the lack of patronage, although many candidly expressed it as their opinion that the performances eclipsed anything ever offered by Gilmore's renowned company of stars. There was a small attendance at the matinee, but the audience was a representative one, musically speaking, and attested their appreciation by enthusiastic plaudits. There was a larger crowd in the evening. The first numbers were a march by Liberati, the overture Rienzi (Wagner), and the La Mandelinate waltz by Metra, rendered by the full band of 50 instruments with a vim and brilliancy of execution that captured the audience at the start. Signor Liberati conducted the performance, and although it must require a vast amount of physical exertion, he appears at the end of each selection with the same smile on his good-humored face. The subsequent numbers were received with rounds of the heartiest applause; and had the signor allowed his good nature to have been imposed upon by responding so the numerous encores, he would assuredly have been detained all night by the enthusiastic audience. Miss Ellen Parepa has a mellow soprano voice of beautiful quality and wonderful compass. She received a double encore from the delighted crowd, but was content to exhibit her handsome personage, and smilingly bow her acknowledgements from a side entrance. The rendering of "Robert Bruce" by a full chorus took the audience by storm, as the familiar old Scotch airs were given, amid vocal interjections and the firing of pistols, with a crash and a dash that left one breathless at the finish. Mons. Bour's oboe solo was a delightful rendition and was loudly encored. Signor Liberati's cornet solo was a splendid illustration of staccato playing, and amply demonstrated his range and capability. The signor's abilities as a clarionetist are too well known to need description. Suffice it is to say that in his hands his favorite instrument is a magic wand, and he can bring from it almost any kind of music at his pleasure. The next time his famous combination of musical artists appear in this city, they will doubtless be greeted with crowded houses.

A $10,000 BLAZE.

W. Y. Brunton's Stock Ruined—Origin of the Fire a Mystery.

On Saturday evening, at about 10:55, as an ADVERTISER reporter was going his rounds he chanced to glance in at W. Y. Brunton & Son's drygoods store, 195 Dundas street, and noticed what seemed to be a pile of factory cotton blazing on a rear counter. He immediately gave the alarm and the brigade were promptly on the spot. The store had been closed for the night only a few minutes before the flames were discovered, and the firemen had to break open the front and back doors in order to obtain entrance. By this time the flames had spread rapidly owing to the large amount of straw goods in stock. The fire brigade worked hard, however, and in half an hour's time the blaze was extinguished, but not before the entire stock was almost ruined. Fortunately the fire was confined to the immediate premises, and although the ceiling was badly scorched, the apartments overhead were not damaged to any material extent. The firemen say that the inside of the building was the hottest place they ever entered.

Mr. Brunton estimates the loss at from $10,000 to $12,000. How the fire started is a mystery. The only explanation that presents itself, is that a match or lighted cigar had been left on the counter before the store was closed, and had ignited some of the goods lying round. The stock comprised nearly everything found in a drygoods store, including a large amount of straw goods as well as cottons, woolens, ribbons, felts, etc., and what escaped the fire was badly injured by smoke and water. The glass show-cases inside and the plate windows in the front door were also destroyed.

The contents of the store were insured in five companies, among them the Hartford and Ætna. Out of this number Mr. Edward Towe has one policy of $600 and Mr. A. M. Smart the remainder. The amount of insurance was dropped from $10,000 to $6,500 on Monday last on account of depletion of stock. The building, which is owned by Mayor Taylor, is comparatively uninjured.

"A FRIEND IN NEED, IS A FRIEND INDEED,"

and to the worn and weary Dyspeptic MALTOPEPSYN is such a friend. It aids the weakened, needy stomach, by putting into it just what it lacks, namely, gastric juice, which aids the digestion of the food, relieves the pain or heavy feeling, and cures the constipation, which usually accompanies all stomach troubles. As you value your future health, avoid Bitters, Blood Purifiers and Purgatives. If your stomach is what is out of order, purgatives will only irritate it, and so aggravate the Dyspepsia. The disease is in the Stomach, so aid the Stomach. Endorsed by Physicians. Send 2 cts. in stamps for valuable book to ALLEN MORSE, International Bridge, Ontario.
