NAMED FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY

Unanimously Selected This Morning as Running Mate For Woodrow Wilson-Bryan Makes Valedictory Speech and the Democratic National Convention Adjourned.

[Canadian Press.] Baltimore, July 3. - In the dying hours of the Democratic national convention this morning, it seemed for a time that there would be another deadlock over the nomination for vicepresident. Governor John E. Burke, of of North Dakota, for whom Mr. Bryan shows preference for the second place on the ticket, had polled enough votes on the first two ballots to block the nomination of Governor Thomas R

Marshall, of Indiana, the leader. The third ballot had just been dered, when the chairman of the North Dakota delegation, obtained recogni-tion from the chair, and said:

"Nort Dakota offered her three-times governor to the party, believing him to be the strongest running mate for Governor Wilson that could be nam-We made the best fight we could for him and realize that we are beaten. adjournment of one of the most not able conventions in the history of the Democratic party.

William Jennings Bryan remained central figure to the last. A short time before adjournment he spoke his "valedictory," as he called it, transferring the party's standard to the shoulders of Governor Wilson. The respectful atention which the speech received and the applause at its conclusion, were tributes to his leadership.

A large number of delegates left the city after the nomination of Governor Wilson yesterday afternoon, without waiting for the final session. Those who remained showed the relief they felt that the fight was over, and a spirit of hilarity prevailed among them.

The Missouri delegates, loyal to the last to "Old Champ Clark," joined in the revelry as best they could and mingled their cheers for Woodrow Wilson with those of their convention neighbor, "The Joyful Twenty-four" neighbor, from New Jersey.

Marshall's Career.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 3. — Governor Thomas R. Marshall, nominee for vice-president on the Democratic ticket, has been active in politics for Marshall Nominated.

The speaker thereupon moved to make the nomination of Governor Marshall unanimous. Immediately a wild scramble for the doors followed, few waiting to hear the motion put. Several seconds later the chairman's gavel fell at 1:56 a.m. on the final

VERY UNEXPECTED DEATH OF MR. RICHARD BAYLY, K. C.

Well-Known London Lawyer Expired at His Home Last Evening.

Richard Bayly, K.C., senior member of the well-known law firm of Bayly & Jeffery, solicitors for the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company, succumbed to a brief illness at his residence, 185 Albert street, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Bayly had been in fair hearth and attended to his business duties until the end of last week.

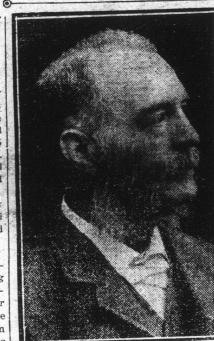

The funeral is to be held tomorrow to St. Paul's Cathedral, and interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

Born in Ireland.

Mr. Bayly was born in Dublin, Ireland, on May 20, 1834, his father being the Rev. Benj. B. Bayly, who afterward established the old Grammar School on King street in this city. The family immigrated to Canada when Richard was but two or three years of age, and first located on Manitoulin Island. In 1842, however, they removed to London, where Richard was educated in his father's school. Later he proceeded to the Upper Canada College, and to Toronto University, graduating as a double silver medallist, and being recognized as one St. of the most distinguished graduates. In 1857, three years after having received his B. A. degree, he commenced the study of law in London with the late Hon. John Wilson, but afterward he continued in legal practice alone. INVITATION TO THE GOVT.

Mr. McIntosh Says Premier Whitney Should Join Rowell To Wipe Out Liquor Evil.

Temperance workers throughout the city are greatly pleased with the masterful exposition of Mr. N. W. Rowell's policy on the abolition of the bar. They indorse his stand without qualification, and are all in hearty sympathy with him in his campaign. Mr. Rowell's invitation to the Government to join with the Liberals in bringing about better conditions appealed very strongly to many.
"I think any leader who will come in line on a great moral issue like temperance checkly how." ance should have the hearty support of every minister of the gospel, no matter what the political complexion of his congregation," said Rev. W. R. McIntosh, pastor of King Street Presbyterian Church. "I think, Mr. Rowell's invitation to the Government to congregate and tion to the Government to co-operate and bring about the abelition of the bar was most creditable. If the Government is sincere in its desire to improve conditions, this offer will be accepted. If not, the Government may expect to lose much support."
"It beats everything," said Prof. J. H.

Bowman, in speaking of Mr. Rowell's speech. "I think it was fine. Mr. Rowell is a splendid platform man, and was most convincing. His sincerity was most marked."

"I am strongly in favor of abolishing the bar," said Rev. G. N. Hazen, "and I am glad we have a leader who is bold enough to take such a stand. However, I am discussing the question, not from any political standpoint, but merely as a moral issue."
"I must say that I am in favor of abolishing the bar," said Rev. Dr. Ross. "Mr. Rowell is a level-headed man, and gave a clear exposition of his position." DISCOVERS SERUM THAT SAVES CATTLE

MRS. MARY SHAW KILLED AT REGINA

Former St. Thomas Woman Met Death in the Recent Cyclone. [Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, July 2. - Mrs. Mary Shaw, who was killed in the Regina disaster, lived in St. Thomas for many years, and left this city only two years ago, with her husband, Samuel D. Shaw, who was employed as fireman on the Wabash and Grand Trunk Railways.

ALL ESCAPED.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Guelph, July 2 .- Of the many exesidents of the Royal City who are iving in Regina, almost all escaped the tornado of Sunday afternoon. It vas learned today that the house of Alexander McLean, formerly of the Singer Sewing Machine Company's office here, was destroyed with all its contents, but that the family escaped.

contents, but that the family escaped. Herbert Bond, who lived close to the McLean home, also escaped although losing everything.

Clayton Peterson, who owns considerable property at Regina, escaped without the loss of a dollar. The storm passed within perhaps 150 yards of the Hotel Clayton, which he owns, and which is situated to the east of the city hall, and includes a block of property worth a quarter of a milof property worth a quarter of a milion dollars.

PILGRIMS TO SHRINE ESCAPED CYCLONE

Hundreds of Regina Citizens Were on Excursion to St. Anne. [Canadian Press.]

Quebec, July 2 .- Hundreds of citizens from Regina who are at present in Quebec owe their escape to the fact that they left Regina ten days ago, to come as pilgrims to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beau-pre with Mgr. Mathleu, Bishop of Regina. The latter, who is still in Quebec, was dleeply affected by the news of the disaster, and was anxious for news, was informed by a telegram from Father Benoit, one of his priests, that nobody was hurt at his home.

CHAMP CLARK PEEVED

Blames Bryan for Defeat and Doesn't Want Vice-Presidency. Washington, D. C., July 2. - Defeated after a hard battle, but satisfied with the fortunes of war, Speaker Clark returned to the capital from the nvention city tonight and repaired ing his support to Governor Wilson, and voicing his contempt for the tactics of William Jennings Bryan, whom he credits with his defeat.

"I never scratched a Democratio ticket or bolted a Democratic nomines in my life. I shall not change the Democratic habit. I am too seasoned a soldier not to accept cheerfully the fortunes of war. "I will support Governor Wilson with whatever power I possess and hope he will be elected. I lost the nomination solely through the vile and malicious slanders of Col. William Jennings Bryan. True, these slanders were innuendo and insinuation, but they were no less deadly for that bride's wedding gown was made of beautiful white satin over silk chiffon, with hat to match, while the travelling gown was navy blue serge. Miss McLeod wore pale blue silk over pink marquisette and Miss Graziadel was costumed in corn-color satin. Both were hats to match. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of at the bride's home, when 150 guests, many from a distance, were entertained. The happy couple left on the 12 p.m. train for three months' honeymoon to sunny Italy, stopping en route for a two weeks' visit to friends in New York. On their return they will "THE SIGNRY," MARLEY & WEEKES

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 3. THE SCHOOLMASTER FOR PRESI-DENT.

There have been scholarly men in imerican politics, and even a few in the White House, but Woodrow Wilion is the first professional scholar to seceive a party nomination for the Presidency.

The notion that a man whose work is behind college walls is a sort of eremite, unfitted for practical affairs, reading the world only in books, could not survive in a country where education has become a passion, and where the university plays so large a part in the life of the people. It is creditable to the class to which Woodrow Wilson belongs that it is increasingly disposed to dedicate itself to public service. It is a sign hopeful for the republic that men of his type are being increasingly welcomed into public

What effect will Wilson's nomination have upon Roosevelt's plans? Wilson is a radical of the radicals. He has a better claim to the title of Progressive than Roosevelt himself. On the tariff question especially, he takes more advanced ground. If Roosevelt seeks now to create a third party, he will be a self-confessed self-seeker, more concerned about office than principle. He can stand consistently upon nearly every plank of the platform laid down at Baltimore. By merely remaining aloof he can insure the overthrow of Mr. Taft, and of the methods and influences in the Republican party which he professed to deplore. Will he consent to efface himself, and let Taft and Wilson fight it out?

Canada's only interest in the contest relates to the tariff. Mr. Taft has redriven into an extremely conservative likely to be a competition of land renounced reciprocity, and has been position on the tariff question. Roose, form programmes between the two velt has allied himself with a wing of parties. If the aristocratic landthe Republican party that opposed owners are wise in their own interest Canadian reciprocity. The Democrats they will try to put themselves at the ed to repeal it since its defeat in Can- it as they opposed the budget of 1909. carried that measure, and have refusada. Even if it were taken off the statute book by a Democratic President and Congress, there would be a reduction in the duties of foodstuffs under the policy enunciated at Baltimore. The Canadian farmer who thinks his loyalty will be endangered if he sells more hogs and hay to the United States should pray for Wilson's defeat.

WHY NOT MORE DAYLIGHT?

The "daylight saving" idea has been stirring in the public mind now for some time. British enthusiasts agitated for a parliamentary law, and there has been some scattering favor for that in this country. Perhaps the best thing at first is to let municipalities try it out, if they wish. Whatever be the law of our Province as regards local option in taxation, there seems to be nothing to prevent municipalities trying the early rising regulation for Port Arthur and Orillia (a local option specialist) are pioneers in this matter. The plan adopted is to call the time of the clock one hour later than standard time in these months of long sunshine. Thus people are forced to rise an hour earlier for their daily task, and a portion of the coolest, freshest, healthiest time of the day is won from the bedroom. Sleeping outdoors is all very well, but breathing in bed is less vigorous than breathing afoot and at work. Reports from Oril- publication. lia indicate great and general satisfaction with the working of the idea

The daylight-saving plan is also a fight-saver in the evening, as people go to bed an hour earlier than by standard time. Saving light means saving money, needless to say. The enthusiasts for the altered time will argue that ozone in the morning and an hour more after work is over for evening sports or gardening, must also, to crown all, save doctors' bills. This daylight-saving movement is part of the general back-to-nature tendency of the present time.

In northern climes people are used enough to going to work at or before sunrise, for half the year, After months of rising and walking to the office by artificial light, there can be nothing strange in beginning the day's work by level sunbeams. Of course, here in the extreme western part of the Eastern Time belt, as things now are, we get up forty minutes or so by the sun earlier than the people of Boston or Quebec in the test of the daylight-saving plan to and thoughts were to reflect themselves try it in Port Arthur than in Monsame artificial belt. It is a severer treal: it would be severer in London than in Montreal or Detroit.

Anfant, similarly prompted by Nature, eets up its morning prattle. A lot of irritation and hard work might be lost much. He never learned to read, saved.

THE NEXT BRITISH REFORM. There is accumulating evidence that it. the British Government will bring in throne in public affairs he went to next year a bill for the drastic reform of the land system. In his latest speech the Chancellor of the Exchequer more than hints at it. Mr. Hemmerde, M.P., says he won his recent victory in Northwest Norfolk by advocating it. His main proposal was the transference of the main burden of local taxation from the building and its improvements to the land value. In Great Britain the tenant, not the landlord, pays the taxes. Land not in use pays nothing except the slight impost which Mr. Lloyd George has levied in his budget since 1909, and which raised ludicrous howl. The condition of the rural worker in England is deplorable, and has the first claim upon any extension of the Government's programme of social reform. His wage is low and he is not decently housed. To put the burden of taxation on the land would bring into the market land which is now held out of use because it virtually escapes taxation while it steadily increases in value for building purposes. In Ireland the state has stepped in with its credit, and lifted the rural laborer to a distinctly higher plane. The Irish cotter, who thirty years ago was in a vorse condition than his English brother, is today the virtual or coming owner of most of the soil of Ireland. Says the London Nation:

"The materials of a rural pro gramme should include a living wage for the laborer, a decent house for him to live in, land enough to afford him, first, an alternative resource to his labor, and, eventually, full occupation, a system of transit adapted to the effective marketing of his produce, and a sensible relief of rating These reforms are practically a call for a new rural society, involving the final disappearance of the great landlord and the system of large inclosed farming on which his power is based. His special form of economy is fast turning our countryside into a ranch and a game preserve the most salient speciacle of social waste that Europe affords. It is time for him to go, and time for Liberal statesmanship to give him fair notice to quit. The countryside is empty. The land cries out for labor, and labor cries out for land. The question cannot be evaded postponed. Every political wind blows it to our doors. It arose over the budget of 1909: over the Welsh disestablishment bill, and it was the subject of the election for Northwest Norfolk. The call for land is the most natural demand that a people can make upon their governors, and a party which believes in democracy cannot refuse to captain and direct

Woodrow Wilson is a practical politician, who understands the theory of politics. This means that he is an extraordinary politican.

Wilson's nomination is a deep disappointment to some anti-reciprocity agitators, who hoped to use Champ Clark as a bogey.

The London Times refers to Mr. Borden as "the foremost spokesman of the great principle of faith reasserted by the Canadian people last autumn to versity of Chicago remain masters of their own destiny beneath the British flag." There is from insulting loyal Canadians who differed from Mr. Borden last autumn, but why call themselves Unionists?

BOSTON'S PUBLIC STORY-TELLER

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

No man can guess the possibilities of the public library. More and more the ibrarian of this modern age is getting into touch with the people. Instead of waiting for the people to come to him; he is going to the people. He is getting away from that ancient idea that a library is simply a place for storing and cataloguing books. Today in scores of American cities the public library is becoming a social centre, a place for moving picture exhibitions, instruction in dencing, and a dozen other forms of amuserient and effort. In Boston they have gone back to a practice which flourished in the East in ancient days, as of all other parts of His Majesty's which is still vigorous in Egypt. This Dominions" he talks like a school by is the trade of the professional storyteller. In Egypt the story-teller-holds who does not know his history and teller. In Egypt the story-teller holds raphy lesson. Both New Zealand and teller. In Egypt the story-teller holds raphy lesson. Both New Zealand and teller. In Egypt the story-teller holds raphy lesson. in the market place and sip coffee as he spins his yarns. The forecastle of every sailing ship in the olden days o bitterly and assiducusly assailed is was also a rostrum for expert story coterie of scobbish so-called loyalists in telling to delighted auditors. But Boston has instituted this new feature of public library work for the benefit of the children of that intellectual city.

Boston's professional story-teller is Mrs. Mary Cronan, of Texas. She was appointed a little over a year ago, and so great has been the response of the children to her skill that her whole time is now taken up, and some of her classes number over a hundred boys and girls. Her methods are very simple. She simply sits there in the room and talks as though to an audience of one. She makes no effort at entertaining, but lets her own bright face and the story itself do the work. And she never fails to hold the attention of the children. They sit spellbound, and when the hour is at an end heave a long sigh of regret. One of the significant results of the story-telling is the interest aroused among the children for books. Hundreds of children are being induced in this way to use the libraries, and are developing a taste for good reading.

. In speaking of her work Mrs. Cronan says that she has always found 'that new grouns of children, especially city children, are unable to follow for any length of time a sequence of ideas. She usually begins with Indian legends or fine old fairy tales. When the children uave learned to listen she tells them longer stories, continuing until the first signs of restlessness warn her that it is time to stop. From fifteen nuinutes of intense listening during the early weeks, the children are soon able to listen three-quarters of an hour, following with delight the adventures of Oliver Twist, Una and the Red Cross Knight, Ulysses, or some other long story. Mrs. Cronan finds that children are not patient with long descriptions or explanations. They want action; they want the story-teller to get along with the business. The girls love to hear about fairies because of the happy-ever-after ending. Boys are fond of the heroic, the conquest of the bad by the good, whether the actors lived a thousand years ago or are alive on the earth today. It is surprising how quickly they see and understand the morals of stories, and how they apply them in everyday life.

Among favorite stories Mrs. Cronan mentions "Peter Pan," by J. M. Barrie; "Romola," by George Eliot, a story that has been surprisingly successful; ment is not gone simply because youth Kipling's books, which the boys beg for nothing to prevent British Unionists has passed. All history teaches this and to which the girls listen with inblind and feeble, worked every day to terest; Uncle Remus stories by Joel adopt the principle of the pendulum to Harris, and all kinds of fairy and clocks. Dryden began the translation heroic tales. In the good old days Homer when mothers had more time to devote wrote the Ode sey in his old age, Dandolo, doge we Venice, won battles at ninety-four and refused a crown at ninety-six. Defee was fifty-eight when ninety-six. Defee was fifty-eight when of family story-teller, but since this noble old art has gone into decline in eighty-five. Bismarck was bossing the family circle, our Canadian library boards could do nothing better for the rising generation than to follow Boston's example. To give any child a taste for books and good reading is to endow him with a source of joy productive of more real happiness than the mines of Golconda, have an "unlovely neck."

The first word, A GIRL'S WORRIES ARE VERY TRAGIC-AT THE TIME.

Most girls would rather tell their dearest secrets to other girls than to their mothers. Mothers are adorable, of course, but sometimes a girl is inclined to think that hers is a little oldfashioned. It can be wagered that the time will come when one will know that mother was right, but while one is in the toils of youthful enthusiasm and youthful egotism, it is very apt to be with her girl friends that one threshes out the great questions of life -or what seem to be the great questions of life. Now that the doctors are preventing physical disease by keeping many of the germs away, from us, mental and imaginary troubles are much surer to come to the average girl than the measles or the whooping cough. It is these fanciful and sometimes fantastic worries that embitter many girls existence, because to most young women they are very real.

WORRIES. All ghis worry voore or less over their looks, and it is perfectly right and proper that one should think a good deal about one's looks, but to worry deal about one's looks, but to worry to a point where one is self-conscious is foolish. It is not necessary to be regularly beautiful according to artistic standards to be pleasing and popular.

Even if you HAVE a pug nose, if you have a pleasing smile your friends will be apt to call your hose "tip-tilted like a flower."

You must, however, always be well groomed. Your hair must be washed till it looks soft and clean as a baby's. It must be put up in the most becoming way. Do not try to follow all the quirks of fashion, nor the vagaries of a chorus girl in the style of your hair. It is really pitiful to see young girls make caricatures of themselves by wearing their hair in modes that are appropriate to women who are not only much older than themselves, but who much older than themselves, but who also go to places where elaborate coiffures are permissible and necessary.

Youth has a beauty all its own and it is foolish for a young girl to try to make herself prettier by wearing clothes, jewels and other adornments which many older wo-men consider necessary to enhance their charms.

You girls who have seen me or any other actress who takes the part of a young girl on the stage must realize that the first thing we do to give the

HOUSEWORK AND EXERCISE [By ANNETTE KELLERMAN.]

Last winter, when I took an apart-ment in New York, everybody cially if they got together, two or thought, of course, I was going three families clubbing in and buying to have a maid. I have a theatre maid, a good cleaner. naturally, but she has all she can I never got at my housework except do to attend to my costumes, which, in the loosest and most comfortable while they may not seem to require clothing, and I am very particular to much attention, nevertheless take up have comfortable-not high-heeleda maid," I announced calmly. "I need the extra exercise of housework." There was a general ha-ha at my expense, but I knew what I was about. Housework is fine exercise, if you know how to do it right, and I've always done a good deal of it, and been none the werse for it.

First of all, of course, it depends upon your house whether you are going to enjoy your work, or find it burdensome and unhealthy. By house I mean apartment, or one room in a lodging house, or a four-story dwelling, or whatever the place is that you call home. Costs a Lot. Most of us fill our houses with useless truck, for which we never have any real need, and which usually costs a lot of money in the beginning and much more to keep clean. The Japanese seem to me to have worked out the most perfect plan for their homes. Everything they possess is necessary, and every necessary thing is beautiful, artistic and valuable. If you will go over your home and, eliminate everything that you have no use for and everything that is not beautiful. for, and everything that is not beautiful, the daily care of what is left will he excellent exercise for you, and it

She cannot, comfort and something at least half way pretty in appearance, Many women look upon a great big apron as a sign of bondage or social inferiority, I think. That's why we see so many dirty blouses and soiled kimonos. The one-piece dress is a blessing, as it always looks tidy, and the big apron is a complete protection, like the workman's blouse which English workmen wear, but of which I don't see very many in America.

I don't mind scrubbing, and if you do it with a will it is the same as many of the standard exercises for 9258 shoulders, back and waist muscles. There is no reason why one should only scrub with the right hand; you could easily get accustomed to alternating with the left hand. This makes the development of the muscles more equal.

One of the reasons why housework i looked upon as such a bugbear is that women have never taken the trouble to systematize their work and to get the 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches waist measure. most out of it for themselves. The average woman who does housework I like to do my own housework, because I am exceedingly fussy about having things perfectly clean, and I hate dust hate dust.

LONDON PLAYS BURLESQUE BALL SAINTS WIN IN EASY FASHION

Bowermanites Had an Off Day and Were Trimmed Unmercifully-Hynes Was Batted All Over the Lot, While His Support Was Wretched-Saints Deserved to Win.

Mr. Frank Bowerman and his warwhooping Indians were present at Tecumseh park yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Stewart's section hands, who represent St. Thomas in the Canadian League pile, cuddled up to a game by the score of 14 to 7. To say anything more than that they were present about Mr. Bowerman's hired To say anything more than that they were present about Mr. Bowerman's hired help would be exaggerating in an alarming fashion. About the only claim they had to be called ball players lay in the fact that they wore nice white uniforms with London sewed on the chest. Otherwise they might have been mistaken for members of the haberdashers' union out on a picnic.

It was positively a crime what Mr. Stewart and his roughnecks did to the Bowermanites. They had the hoodoo working overtime, and the Indians gave one of the greatest exhibitions of how not to play baseball that has been pulled at the park this season. It was one continuous round of bungles of some kind, and the club looked liked a joke affair compared to Stewart's men.

Superman Colt Made Second

Mrs. Livingstone's Lovetle Comes Back After Being Laid Up Over a Year and Wins the Third Race.

Fort Erie, July 2.—The Niagara Stakes for two-year-olds today saw the second success of the Superman colt, Judge Wright, in the second start of his career. This time he did not win so easily. Rockview raced with him all the way and had him doing his best, though the Belmont solt was giving him ten pounds. Farrier was tried in blinkers today, but made only a commonplace showing. This colt is Rockview's equal in work in the morning, but a failure in the races. Another interesting feature of the afternoon was the rejuvenation of Lovetie. Mrs. Livingston's fine horse was the best in training in America at the close of the season of 1910, when he was a three-year-old. An attack of fever early in the following spring prevented him from racing at all last year, but he looks now like having recovered his old health and ability. KING AND QUEEN WILL ATTEND REGATTA

Weather Poor For Opening and Only Small Crowd Attends.

[Canadian Press.] Henley-on-Thames, Eng., July 3 .-

The annual regatta, which on Saturday next is to be honored by the presence of King George and Queen Mary, who are coming in the old state barge, which has been renovated for the occasion, and is to be manned by the King's water men in their historic costumes of the middle ages, opened today under the most depressing weather conditions. The attendance, too, was the smallest recorded for years. Later in the day, however, the weather became bright, and if the sun continues to favor the most important aquatic sporting and society event of the year, the week held under royal auspices, is expected to be a most brilliant one. The course from end to end was lined from an early hour with beauti-

KITCHENER'S PERIL

London, Wednesday, July 3. - A Daily Mail special dispatch from Cairo states that the British adviser to the Egyptian ministry of the interior, the public prosecutor and the commandant of the Cairo police, conferred with Lord Kitchener yesterday morning. It is understood by the correspondent that the conference was connected with the discovery of an alleged conspiracy to assassinate the premier, Lord Kitchener, and the Khedive, who is now in London. Four persons, it is said, have been arrested, and the investigation is being continued.

The report is not published in any of the other London papers, and the Daily Mail is not always accurate in its foreign dispatches. It has been reported that of late the unrest in Egypt has not made itself particularly manifest.

SCARED OF SUFFRAGETTES

London, July 2.—The Suffragette outrages have caused the National Liberal Club to postpone its honor to Premier Asquith on July 5 indefinitely. Three thousand invitations had been issued, and many of these had been sent to women. It was impossible to discriminate between the women, and as it was not desired to have a repetition of previous Suffragette attacks on the Premier it was decided to postpone the function to a later date. The Premier and Mrs. Asquith are still determined to give their proposed garden party next week, although the wife of the Prime Minister is still disturbed over the systematic attacks on her husband and the numerous anonymous threatening letters which he is receiving.

Secret Service By Cyrus Townsend Brady

"But this man has come here with orders for me to—" began Foray, endeavoring to explain.

He realized that there was some mistake somewhere. The girl's message had nothing whatever to do with military matters, and he quite understood that she would not want this communication read by every Tom, Dick and Harry in the Secret Service Department. Beside all this, as she stood before him, her face flushed with emotion, she was a sufficiently pretty, a sufficiently pleading figure to make him most anxious and most willing to help her. In addition, the portly figure of old Martha, whose cheeks doubtless would have been flushed with the same feeeling had they not been black, were more than disconcerting.

"This man," said Caroline, shaking her finger at helpless Privae Eddinger, who also found his position most unpleasant, "Caroline defantly.

"So!" said Arreisford, with growing suspicion, "you have been trying to send out something that you don't want us to see."

"Mhat if I have, sir?"

"Just this," said Arreisford determinedly, "you can't send it out, and I will see it. This is a case—"

"This is a case where nobody is going to read my private writing," persisted Caroline.

The young girl confronted him with blazing eyes and a mien like a small fury. Arreisford determinedly, "you can't send it out, and I will see it. This is a case where nobody is going to read my private writing," persisted Caroline.

"Just for giving it back to me when it

"Just for that."
"Then you will have to keep it, I suppose," said Caroline falteringly.
"Thank you, Miss Mitford."
"Very well," said Caroline, "it is understood. You don't give it back to me, and you can't give it to him so nobody's dis—you can't give it to him, so nobody's dis-obeying orders at all. And that's the way it stands. I reckon I can stay as long as he can." She stepped to a nearby chair and sat down. "I haven't very much to he can." She stepped to a nearby chair and sat down. "I haven't very much to do, and probably he has."

"But, Miss Mitford—" began Foray.
"There isn't any good talking any longer. If you have got any telegraphing to do you had better do it. I won't disturb you. But don't you give it to him."
Foray stared at her helplessly. What might have resulted, it is impossible to say, but there entered at that opportune say, but there entered at that opportune moment Mr. Arrelsford himself, relieving Mr. Foray of the further conduct of the case. His glance took in all the occupants of the room. It was to his own messenger that he first addressed him-

"Eddinger!"
"Yes, Mr. Arrelsford." "Didn't you get here in time?"
"Yes, sir."
"Then why—"

"I beg your pardon." said Foray, "are you Mr. Arreisford, of the Secret Service Department?"
"Yes. Are you holding back a dispatch?"

"Why didn't Eddinger bring it to me?"
"Well, you see—" began Foray, hesitating, "Miss Mitford—"

She was too indignant to finish her sentence, and old Martha valiantly entered the fray.

"No, suh," she cried, in her deepest and most indignant voice. "You-all ain't gwine too do it, you kin be right suah you ain't."

"But what can I do?" persisted Foray, greatly distressed.

"You can hand it back to me, that's what you can do."

"Yes, suh, dat's de vehy best thing you hin do," said old Martha stoutly, "an' de soonah you do it de quickah it'll be done—Ah kin tell you dat right now, suh."

"But this man has come here with orders for me to—" began Foray, endeavoring to explain.

He realized that there was some mis—" Arrelsford instantly comprehended.

"Yes, sir."

"Report back to Corporal Matson and tell him to send a surgeon to the prisoner who was wounded at General Varney's house, if he isn't dead by this time. Now let me see that dispatch," he continued, as the orderly saluated and ran rapidly from the room.

But again Miss Mitford interposed. She stepped quickly between Arrelsford and I stone the room.

"I expect," she said impudently, "that you think you are going to get my telegram and read it?"

"I certainly intend to do so," was the curt answer

"Well, there's a great disappointment looming up in front of you," returned Caroline defiantly.

"Is that Miss Mitford's dispatch you have in your hand?" asked Arrelsford.
"Yes, sir."
"Since you can't hand it to me, read Caroline turned to him with a gasp of horror. Martha gave way, and Foray stood surprised.

stood surprised.

"Read it out! Don't you hear me?" repeated Arrelsford, pegemptorily.

"Don't dare to do such a thing!" cried Caroline. "You have no right to read a private telegram."

"No, suh! He ain't got no business to read her lettahs, none whatsomebah!" urred Martha urged Martha.

"Silence!" roared Arrelsford, his patience at an end. "If either of you interfere any further with the business of this office, I will have you both put under arrest. Read that dispatch instantly, Lieutennt Foray." Lieutenant Foray."

The game was up so far as the women were concerned. Caroline's head sank on Martha's shoulder and she sobbed passionately, while Lieutenant Foray read the following astonishing and incriminat ng message:
"Forgive me, Wilfred, darling, please forgive me, and I will help you all I th was harmless, as harmless as it was foolish, but it evidently impressed Mr. Arrelsford as containing some deep, some hidden, some sinister meaning.

"That dispatch can't go," he said shortly.
"That dispatch can go," said Caroline, stopping her sobbing as suddenly as she had begun. "And that dispatch will go. I know someone whose orders even you are bound to respect, and someone who will come here with me and see that you do it."

"It may be," answered Arrelsford, composedly. "I have a good and sufficient reason—"

"Then you will have to show him, I can tell you that, Mr. Arrelsford."
"I shall be glad to give my reason to my superiors, Miss Mitford, not to you."
"Then you will have to go around giving them to everybody in Richmond, Mr. Arrelsford," said the girl, as she swept petulantly through the door, followed by old Martha, both of whom were very much disturbed by what had occurred.

PASSED BAD CHECKS

Authorities Won't Pay to Have Him Extradited

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Windsor, July 2 .- Although his identity has been positively established, Frank Walsh, who was arrested in Detroit several weeks ago on comp'ain- of the local authorities for passing a number of "phony" checks on local merchants, will probably be given his freedom in a few days.

Walsh refused to enter Canada without being extradited, and the Government has decided that the $500 which this proceeding usually entails can be expended to more advantage else-where. The bad checks were floated last winter.

REGNA DEATH LIST GROWING

New Expected That the Dead Will Number Three Score.

INJURED WOMAN DIES

Miss Ida McDougall Succumbs to In juries-Missing Prebably in the Lake.

Regina, July 2.—The known dead resulting from Sunday's hurricane here now number 20.

Ida McDougall, one of the injured, was added to the list today of those who have died at the General Hos There are undoubtedly more bodies in the debris, as none of the missing have turned up. The dragging of the lake will begin tomorrow. The general belief that the death list will be swollen to 60, at least, when all is told. Regina presented a scene of desolation today, with 30 bodies in the morgue, 200 injured people in the hospitals and elsewhere, 3,000 homeless in camps, cavalry and infantry patrolling the streets in the interest of law and order, and four or five million dollars' worth of wrecked build-ings lining the avenues, the semblance of so much kindling wood.

Missing Probably in the Lake.

Since the dead have been buried, and the injured are being well cared for, the chief work of the city following the catastrophe is the effort to clear the debris away and find other bodies of these known to be missing. The next step of chief importance is feeding the 3,000 homeless and rehabilitating the business of Regina.

The banks are coming to the aid of the businessmen, and have prevented paralysis by extending the necessary credits. Many men worth a quarter of a million last week are practically penniless today. What accounts they have are buried beneath tons of wreckage. The Manitoba Government today added ten thousands dollars to the relief fund, and from as far south as Chicago and as far east as Halifax stream of money is pouring in.

The injured are in such condition that no other deaths are apprehended. The 22 people missing are supposed cession was held at 9 o'clock, and at to be at the bottom of the lake, or 10:30 a game of ball between Inwood under the debris, and this wreckage and Kimball was played, resulting in cannot be moved for weeks, though 600 teams and 2,000 men are today at work. OLD LABOR LEADERS TO WAR ON STRIKE

Snowden and Hardie Say It Has Failed to Bring Benefits.

[Canadian Press.] London, July 2.—War against the strike as a weapon for workmen has beet declared by some of the old-time labor leaders of Great Britain, including men who have heretofore advocated extreme neasures to obtain better wages and conditions. Philip Snowden, one of the eleverest Socialist members of the House of Commons, was among the first to sound the warning that the men were gaining nothing by continual strikes. As, however, he often takes an independent stand, not much surprise was expressed. When Keir Hardie, his more extreme colleague, followed his example, however, there was a wrinkling of brows intil Mr. Hardie says he is more than ever convinced that legislative action would produce more permanent results than could be hoped for from strikes Reform enacted by the state, he says omes permanent and cannot be taker away, but concessions won by a strike during good times might be lost by a lockout in bad times. Therefore the labor months. A Tangled Affair. The situation is in itself very complex, and promises to become more so in the near future. The dock at which the boats have been landing was leased by the town, and sub-leased to the ferry company. The lease to the ferry line expired about six months ago, and has not been renewed. Consequently, the property reverts to the town, and the boats have been landing here on sufferance. Furthermore, the licenses issued by the town to the four vessels of the fleet also expired around the first of the year.

The license committee refused to grant permits to the Beard and Dormer, claiming that they were not only unsafe, but too small to be used. The Conger and Hiawatha, the other two were given the necessary credentials, however. The Canadian Government inspector of vessels and the American officials have both approved and passed the two boats condemned mitted to the Government for approval, by the town. There was a debate over the removal of Inspector Rymill from his position as inspector of the Richmond and Dundas street sidewalks, and the matter will be investigated. Ald. Rose brought the subject the attention of the council, when he asked for information regarding the removal of Mr. Rymill.

"He is one of the best inspectors we have in the city," said Ald. Rose. "I cannot understand why he has been "I know nothing of the matter," said Ald. Robinson, chairman of No. 2 committee. "Mr. Anthistle telephoned me, complaining about Mr. Rymill, but I referred him to City Engineer Wright."

"Mr. Anthistle also came to me," explained Mayor Graham. "I took the matter up with Mr. Wright and found that Mr. Rymill had been giving per-fect satisfaction. I have heard since then that he has been removed, but I have no knowledge of that whatever. I will go into the whole question with Ald. Robinson and we will find out what is the matter."

'So far as I can see no reflection has been cast on Mr. Rymill," said Ald, Richter, "A change was made by Mr. Wright for reasons that appealed to him, and that is all there is to it." "Mr. Rymill is not working, that is sure," said Ald. Bennett. "If he is laid off without cause, he should be paid. It looks as if the contractor scored his point, all right."

"It is high time we had inspectors who made the contractors live up to the specifications," said Ald. Richter. There has been altogether too much slipshod work in the past." However, on Mayor Graham promising to investigate the matter, the debate was closed.

All Are Censurable, But Three of Them Are Found To Be Insanitary.

The question of dumps throughout the city was discussed at the meeting of the board of health on Tuesday afternoon, and it was decided to put all in proper condition. There are at least a score of them, all censurable, but only three those on Trafalgar street, Rectory street and Cavendish street-were insanitary. The others were most unsightly, but were not detrimental to the health of the citizens. The three dumps mentioned will be covered with earth and fenced Church on Sunday, and was greatly enin. The others will be cleaned up.

Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., in his monthly report, stated that the health of the city was unusually good, there being but four cases of infectious diseases recorded. Of these three were scarlet fever, and one of diphtheria. CONNAUGHTS RESUME TOUR Dr. Burdon and others spoke along the same lines, saying that the citizens were never any healthier than at the present time.

COBALT STOCKS.

TORONTO, July 2.—The mining mar-ket today did not show any change of tone. Stocks in this department were tone. Stocks in this department were again inclined to be easy, Hollinger getting down to 12.50. This decline is natural after the stock's sharp advance, and we would not be surprised to see it go lower, when it should do again to buy, as from our reports from Porcuplae the property is in excellent shape and the returns, when they are definitely ascertained, will be surprising.

STRAWBERRY PRICES ARE LITTLE EASIER

B to 9 Cents Wholesale and 10 Cents Retail on the Market Today.

The market was dull this morning. The prices of strawberries were 8 and 9 cents wholesale and 10 cents retail.

Hay was slightly higher, being quoted at prices from $16 to $17 50 per ton, and straw was also higher in price. Price today being from $9 to $5 50.

Oats were sold at $1 60 per cwt.

The price of potatoes have dropped during the last two days and are now from $9 cents to $1 00 per bag wholesale and from $1 to $1 10 per bag retail. This drop is due to the fact that new imported potatoes are sold for $4 per barrel, and as this price is nearly the same that was asked for old otatoes the new potatoes get the preference.

Available cash for relief purposes today reached $75,000. All the provincial governments and cities of the Dominion are rapidly sending in consignments of cash. The concentration camp, which had 3,000 patrons on Monday, is rapidly diminishing in importance, as families secure temporary quarters elsewhere. Here is an accurate list of import ance bearing on the scope of the alamity: Warehouses and wholesale places lestroyed 52, value $750,000; geven churches and two Y. M. C. A. buildings, valued at $240,000; seven schools, value $125,000; 75 handsome residences, value 785,000, and 140 small residences, value $15,000. There are many men, in fact, the majority, who will find that it will be difficult to finance to build again, and a proposal is being made that either the Government loan the money or some of the relief fund be used to make loans at long terms at say 6 per cent. Mayor McAra has also suggested the building of municipally-owned houses to be erected between Albert and Downey streets, west of Albert. The plan is being discussed at the present time. work of relief is being systematically carried on, and various com-nittees are at work. The need for assistance is hourly growing. There are hundreds of families who are living on their friends, friends who caning on their friends, friends who cannot afford to quarter them much

RYMILL RELIEVED FOR ANTHISTLE

Contractor's Objection to City

Mr. Rymill Gives His Side of the Case and Will Demand an Investigation by the City Council.

Mr. Harry Rymill, who has been acting as inspector for the city on the Dundas and Richmond street cement sidewalks, has been relieved of his job as the result of a dispute between himself and Mr. W. J. Anthistle, the contractor, over the work. Mr. Pat Daley, of the city engineer's staff, will act as inspector in the future, Mr. Rymill being given another place. It is expected that a lively row will follow the removal of the inspector. He will demand an investigation. Mr. Rymill, in a statement to The Advertiser, explains his position as

Mr. Rymill's Side of lt.

"Re the statement in your paper of July I, headed 'Contractor and Inspector Clash,' in which it is stated that Mr. Anthistle had asked for the dismissal of the inspector for being too strict and demanding more than Mr. Anthistle felt inclined to give on the contract of laying the cement walks on the down-town streets, I beg to state in justice to myself that Mr. Anthistle was the cause of the trouble by not having the work done according to the specifications, of which I have a copy, and was instructed by the city engineer, Mr. Wright, to enforce. In the first instance, when working on Dundas street, I objected because the machine was not putting out concrete proportioned at 8 to 1, according to the specifications, the owner of the building in front of which we were working congratulated me for objecting to the mixture, and Mr. Anthistle, Jun., admitted the fact, and set about to regulate the machine accordingly. Later, I also objected when one inch of cement finish was not being placed on the base concrete, as the specifications called for. Mr. Anthistle, Sen., said he would go to the mayor and aldermen to get me removed from the work. He went away, and in a few minutes the city engineer, Mr. Wright, came and supported me, and told Mr. Anthistle, Sen., that there was to be absolutely one inch of finish cement to be placed on the base concrete. The next trouble occurred on Richmond street, when I objected to the cement Mr. Anthistle, Sen., brought there to be used, which was not of the first quality. It was lumpy, and the assistant engineer, Mr. Brazier, came along and examined the cement, and also supported me by refusing Mr. Anthistle, Jun., the privilege of using it, which was the cause of the work being stopped, and I have been informed that the engineer ordered the cement removed off the work, and this was done by Mr. Anthistle, Sen., on Sunday night and early on Monday morning.

The last trouble occurred on Friday night, June 28, when the cement slide Mr. Rymill's Side of It.

will be given another position today. The reason that the change was made was to give Mr. Anthistle an opportunity to live up to the contract. the contract.

"I am trying to give Mr. Anthistle a square deal," said Mr. Wright. "He objected to Mr. Rymill, and after looking the situation over I determined to make a change and put Mr. Daly on the job. He is just as strict as Mr. Rymill, and will see to it that the city is given full value for every cent expended. If Mr. Anthistle cannot get along with two inspectors, then I have incontrovertible evidence that Mr. Rymill was not wrong. There will be no let-up in our demands. We want the contractor to live up to the specifications and we will see to it that he

But before they had completed their work the men were surprised to see a man's feet protrude from the bottom of a door in the loft. North Oxford Farmer Was Seriously Hurt on His Farm. [Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, July 2.—Attacked by a riclous bull on the farm of John Revell, of North Oxford, where he is employed, Albert Johnston was seriously injured last night. The bull, after getting Johnston down, actually knelt on his chest, and endeavored to gore him with a small piece of one horn. Had the animal not been dehorned, it would undoubtedly have killed Johnston. For several minutes Johnston turned blows away by hanging on to the ring in the animal's nose. His life was saved by a companion, who struck the ferocious beast with a spear they used in driving it. Johnston, his arm temporarily paralyzed from hanging on to the ring. Had with a small piece of one horn. alyzed from hanging on to the ring, then crawled under the fence to safety. He was badly bruised, and is injured
