Bishop Williams declared that prohibition is "inconsistent with the eaching of Christ" and that "therefore opposition to prohibition is not opposition to Christ."

Dealing more specifically with the Intario temperance act the bishop ar is a gain, the law is weak because It lacks general support and provokes esentment. Its enforcement, he said, therefore nearly impossible.

Bishop Williams portrayed the O. T. A. as an active evil because the high price of liquor has been the phief incentive to bootlegging and llicit manufacture. Its regulations regarding medicinal use of liquor he described as absurd.

The charge also dealt with the

RECALLS OLD DAYS

How an idea put to work under competent direction will bring forth great results is aptly demonstrated by recentles is by recent copies of the "Connecting File," the official monthly magazine of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

This young magazine of 32 pages, printed in London, with a coast to coast circulation, is less than three years old. It came into being when the officers and men of the R. C. that promised co-operation.

In January, 1922, a name was suggested by ballots. The Connecting File was adopted, suggested by Sergt.-Major J. P. Driscoll of St. Johns. The magazine began life very modestly, as a typewritten sheet, but grew so rapidly that it was soon found necessary to enlarge it and several sheets were bound together with paper fasteners. This entailed a vast amount of work, which com-bined with the growing circulation made printing imperative. December, 1923, saw the first printing in the Christmas number and the circ tion rapidly rose from 135 to 2,000

ACTION NEXT YEAR

Realizing the futility of making a sectional question of the high school situation, residents of South London have abandoned plans to petition the council protesting against the decision of the board of education which named East London as the site for the new high school.

Rather than create bad feeling and possibly influence the council to throw out the board's recommendation, South London citizens have de cided not to send a delegation to the aldermen Wednesday night, when the trustees' proposal will either be re-jected or ratified. Although they still consider South London the logical location for a new collegiate, they feel that any action on behalf of South London residents will only make the high school problem mor

Trustee Mrs. Rose of the local board of education, in explaining to the board of the use of sight-saving classes in the schools and in recom-mending their introduction in the city schools, said that in the places whe "really wonderful hemstitching" ex-hibit, on either side of which were in the class. The first class spreads, towels, cushion tops and Dominion, she stated, was held in the dresser scarfs. In the crocheting dis- Tower Road School in Halifax, N.S.,

The second of these classes was opened in the Orde Street School in Toronto in 1921, and the record of this class shows that of the twentyseven pupils enrolled, several children registered a marked improve ment, some showed no change, whereas without this special class they would probably have had a de-clining vision, and, in general, edu-cational authorities believe that the class has effected a great saving in the eyesight of the children. Mrs. Rose said: "It unfortunately seems to be a fact that low mentality and consequent backwardness are commonly associated with sight. It is not fair to children with poor vision, but normal mentality that their progress should be ham-pered by close association with children perhaps possessing considerably higher vision, and who, but for their mental limitation, would manage in the ordinary classes, and for whom the special provision which is undoubtedly needed should be elsewhere than in the sight saving

"Statistics are yet too meagre, and quite possibly may vary too much between different communities which local conditions are dissimilar, to make it possible to state with any accuracy the number or proportion of candidates for sight saving class provision. Have You Seen the

On Moffats Electric Range?

Women will welcome with delight this new improvement to the oven of Moffats Electric Ranges. Note how the walls of the oven are grooved to form a series of racks or runways for the removable trays. No hooks on the walls, no loose, sharp-edged metal racks to collect grease and dirt, or to scratch the hands.

Now you have a smooth, seamless oven. All the space is utilized. The whole oven can be kept as clean and spotless as a porcelain bowl. This oven is safe from rust, as the shape of rustresisting Armco Iron is electra-porcelain enameled, inside and out.

Reveals New Secrets in Baking and Roasting

Moffats oven elements give a steady, even heat, which bakes or roasts all the flavor and savory juices into ovencooked dishes. The ventilation is scientifically adjusted so that pies, pastry, cakes, puddings and similar dishes are baked to perfection. Fowl, fish, beef and other meats, are roasted or baked with a minimum of shrinkage.

Wouldn't you be proud of such a range in your kitchen? Write for full particulars to Moffats, Limited, Weston,

BISHOP'S APPROVAL

Permission Granted Cronyn Memorial Church To Build Parish Hall.

The synod executive of the Diocese of Huron met yesterday afternoon in Bishop Cronyn Memorial Hall, transacting business in connection with various points in the diocese. The only local matter was the grantring of permission to Cronyn Memorial Church to reconstruct the present parish hall at an estimated cost of $40,000. The congregation of Cronyn
Memorial Church have had the consideration of added Sunday School accommodation under way for some time, and the work may be under-taken within a few months. The parish of Rodney was attached to the parish of Dutton, under the direction of Rev. McKegney, who was granted the necessary sum for an outfit. Glencoe, Wardsville and Newbury were united into one parish, subject to the approval of the Permission was given Trinity Church, Simcoe, to purchase a lot for the purpose of building a rectory, and St. George's Church, Sarnia, was given permission to sell the present rectory and build a new one, and also to enlarge the parish hall.

Last evening the members of the The Normal School Glee Club, un-Organists' Club were the guests of der the direction of Charles E. Percy, has a very fine musical production to Dr. and Mrs. James H. Smith at their offer tonight, an operetta entitled, home on Teresa street. A most innome on Teresa street. A most in-structive and interesting paper was read by J. Parnell Morris on the subject, "The Evolution of Music: Which Was First Used, Major or Minor?" He traced the history of music from earliest times, and nointed out that the earliest forms. "The Brownies' Whisper." The costumes, all designed under the instruction of Miss Emery, the art teacher, are very effective and will add greatly to the effect of the pointed out that the earliest forms of music probably took on more of a operetta. A pretty flower dance will be introduced, those taking part havminor strain. ing been drilled under Miss Adams.

The speaker stated it is generally accepted that music was first used for religious purposes. And he gave a number of quotations from scrip-ture and early historians to show how closely music entered into the religious life of the people.

Most of the organists present took part in the debate which followed the reading of the paper, and the general opinion seemed to be that the question of major or minor did not concern the people in earliest times. They simply gave expression to their feelings in a few simple notes of the scale, and in some cases these took on a major and in other cases a ninor strain.

The report of the choir festival held at Dundas Center Church on April 7 showed a better result than he previous year, and the organists feel justified in making a greater effort for the future success of the estival. Some discussion took place with regard to a proposed picnic to be arranged for in the near future. During the evening refreshments were served by the hostess, and a ery pleasant social hour was spent.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box HUMANE SOCIETY

Will the Young Flapper Who Has Reformed in Order to Catch a Husband Revert to Her Old Self After Marriage? Recreation a Necessity for the Home Woman - Shall She Allow the Sick Boy Whom She Pities to Kiss Her?

Dear Dorothy Dix-A friend of mine is about thirty. He is falling in Jove with a girl about twenty-one: He is serious-minded, intelligent, has never been out much with girls; is well to do and wants to marry. The girl is opposite. She is a frivolous-minded flapper, inefficient at her work. Her desk is always untidy. The man knew all these things and Hall of Lorne avenue school; Grade ridiculed them before he fell in love with her.

The girl knows that this man is a good match, and she is trying to Mr. and orderly, all of the qualities he admires.

Now, is it possible for this girl really to change her nature? Will she not revert back to her original type as soon as she is married? I fear for my friend. FRANK.

When you go a-fishing, Frank, you use the kind of bait that the poor fish you are angling for is most likely to rise to; live bait for some, flies for others. Same way with women. When they are out to catch a man they try to be what they think he wants them

Why, I have seen beautiful morons sit up and listen by the hour, with an entranced expression on their faces, while a learned college professor discoursed to them upon the wonder and the beauty of the fourth dimension. I have seen girls who were stone deaf pretend to a musician that they were crazy about grand opera. I have seen girls who loathed exercise tramp, footsore and weary, over golf links, and I have seen girls who were bored to tears by books patiently plod through ponderous volumes of which they did not understand a single word because they had a high-browed beau who lent them volumes of heavy literature.

Because a girl goes in violently and suddenly for sports, or domesticity, or religion does not in the least indicate that she is of an athletic, or domestic, or pious nature. It merely means that she has fallen in love with a tennis player, or a golf fiend, or a man who loves to eat, or a young preacher. Why, girls even change the way they dress and they bob or keep their hair long to please some

So it is nothing against the young woman that she has adopted the time-honored tactics of her sex in order to win the man she desires. As to whether her reformation will be permanent, no one can say, be cause marriage does work miracles in women.

All of us have known too many extravagant girls who became stingy as soon as it was their own money, instead of papa's, that they were spending; too many butterfly girls who became domestic grubs; too many lazy girls who made industrious wives, to dare to propnesy.

The only thing that marriage doesn't change about a woman is the amount of gray matter that she has. If she is dull and stupid before marriage, she will still be dull and stupid afterward. But if she has intelligence, all things are possible to her. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-Should a mother be confined to the home without any recreation; without mingling with friends or meeting other people?

After a while, would not home duties become irksome to her and would not everybody in the home become a bore to her and her home itself distaste-DEVOTED READER.

Most emphatically yes to all your questions. It is absolutely necessary for all of us to have change, to meet new people and have some diversion, if we are to keep sane, to say nothing of being

And no other person on earth needs change and diversion quite so much as the woman whose work is done in her own home and which consists necessarily of a monotonous repetition of the same

The men and women who work outside of the home have at least the excitement of going and coming to their labor; they have social contact with many people and the interest of continually seeing new faces and hearing new things. The housewife has none of this, and as she works alone her mind, as well as her body, goes round and round the same tread-

This is why the asylums are filled with domestic women who have had nervous breakdowns. They had no strain to bear greater than other women, but they had nothing to break it, nothing to take their thoughts off themselves, nothing to interest and amuse them, nothing to look forward to. And so at last the monotony of it all got them.

The reason that women get to be slack housekeepers, who do not care whether things are tidy or whether the dinner is good or not, is because they have swept the floors so often and cooked so many meals that they are completely tired and bored with it all. They do not care whether they do things well or badly. They have lost their pep.

But a week's visit or a little trip anywhere would bring them home keen to be back and make a model home.

The reason that mothers fret at their children and are cross with them is because they have answered the call of "mo-o-o-o-ther" so often that it has frazzled their nerves beyond endurance. If they could only be separated from their children for a few days they would be once more the patient, loving, tender mothers they should be and the cry of "mo-o-o-other" would be music to

The reason why wives nag is because they have seen so much of their husbands that they have come to the place where they can see only their

A little separation would turn them into the heroes of their girlish dreams once more.

If men only realized how much more agreeable an interested entertained, amused woman is to live with than is an overworked household drudge, every husband would see to it that his wife got away from home for an hour or so every day and met as many agreeable people as she could. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix-A boy lives near me who is afflicted with tuberculosis and he is always wanting to kiss me. The physicians have all pronounced his case hopeless and say he has not long to live. Do you think there is anything wrong in letting him kiss me under the circumstances? SYMPATHETIC BETTY.

I don't think it would injure your morals, but it would certainly do awful things to your lungs. It is little short of murder for a person with tuberculosis to kiss anyone. It is all right to have a heart, Betty, but it is equally necessary to have a head. If you have got one, try to use it a little. DOROTHY DIX.

France has been fighting the war all over again, and there is a strong possibility that so great has been the pressure in this direction that there has been a neglect of something more definite in the way of national objective or national achievement. happiest when they are playing king or mother or circus man-anybody but themselves. Brought back to himself, the child weeps. The personality shivers with cold and desolation when it can crawl into no other personality.

And the trait persists. The grown-up child never expands and rejoices so much as when he wears a military uniform. Every brass button and gold epaulette and white baldric cries out for joy; the little soul has found such a gorgeous whelk. Men go to lodges and don high peaked hats and royal robes and revel in nigh-sounding ritual.

There is a pregnant word, by the way-becoming. Becoming what? Why, becoming someone else, of course. Never since its brief and tragic career in paradise has the race enjoyed being itself. When Jehovah drove Adam and Eve out of the Garden of Eden he made them coats of animal skins. The implication is obvious. Hereafter their joy is to be found in putting on the hides of other animals, the opinions of other men, the feelings of other hearts. Self remains shut up in the garden, and at the gate stands an angel with a flaming sword.

Secretary Timidity When No Storm Likely.

ELLIOTT OPPOSES

Canadian Press Despatch

Ottawa, May 12. - No one, commented Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of state, today, during further debate on the budget in the House, was seriously suggesting that Canada should adopt free trade. He spoke of manufacturers willing to jump overboard to save their lives before they were even threatened by a storm.

Turning to the railway situation, Mr. Copp hoped the directors of the C.N.R. would see their way later to enlarge the Atlantic region And, on enlarge the Atlantic region. And, on enarge the Atlantic region. And, on the matter of routing grain on Cana-dian Atlantic ports, Mr. Copp sug-gested that a committee from the Maritimes should visit the West, interview farmers, and endeavor to arrange for shipment of a large proportion of grain via the Maritimes. William Elliott, Progressive, South Waterloo, enrolled himself shortly after midnight in the ranks of those who are unable to support the present budget. Mr. Elliott said he was opposed to either reduction or increase in the tariff without investimicrease in the tariff without investi-gation by a permanent tariff com-mission, and therefore he could not support the budget as it stood. Three Liberals have already announced that they will vote against the budget.

Mr. Elliott said he proposed to Mr. Elliott said ne proposed to speak from the standpoint of his rid-ing, and dissociated himself in so doing from any party in the House. He congratulated the government on a balanced budget, but said that the reductions in the sales tax did not go far enough. These reductions should have included lumber. Mr. Copp criticized the opponents of the reduction of tariff on impletries of Canada, namely, agriculture fishery, forestry and mining. Statisties were quoted showing comparative values of the products of these basic industries in the provinces. In Prince Edward Island 92.4 per cent of the values of the fact that the Scotia 44.6 per cent, in New Bruns-wick 82 per cent, in Quebec 54.6 per cent, in Ontario 43.6 per cent, in Manticho Otario 43.6 per cent, in cent, in Ontario 43.6 per cent, in Manitoba 64.6 per cent, in Saskatchewan 89.2 per cent, in Alberta 86.6 per cent, and in British Columbia 82.7 per cent.

The Conservatives had always forcast ruin to industries when tariff reduction had been an-nounced, but invariably the country had prospered. The manufacturers are willing to jump overboard in order to save their lives before they were even threatened by a storm.

Fishermen Support.

Mr. Copp was astounded that A. J. Doucet (Conservative, Kent, N.B.) viding for high protection. Probably no section in Canada would suffer more from high tariff than Kent, N.B. Mr. Copp was convinced that the fishermen and lumbermen of Kent were solidly behind this budget. "Turning to the railway problem, he stated that the Intercolonial had been somewhat under political influence. of State Berates House Hears Plan To Amend Existing Act To Extend Benefits.

> LAND SETTLEMENT

> > Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, May 12.-Hon. Dr. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establish-ment, today tabled in the House of Commons the third report of the Ralston commission. The report deals entirely with suggestions made by ex-service men for amendments the pension act, and with soldier set-tlement matters.

The recommendations by the com mission of outstanding interests as to pensions are probably those on four subjects: 1-The right of pension of a widow who married a soldier after disability had been incurred. Under this head the commission suggests an amendment to the pension act to make it clear that the pension is not to be refused even if the injury or disease existed so long as its presence and seriousness could not have been reasonably known. The commission also thinks that created are sion also thinks that special con sideration should be given where there was a betrothal before the man went overseas, even though the hus-band had a disability when the marriage finally took place.

2—The Canadian pensions act contains an unusual provision which permits payment of pension to the widow and children of men who are, at the time of death, receiving pension for 80 per cent or greater disability, even though death was not caused by the disability from which the man suffered. It was in effect life insurance for these seriously disabled cases, but it was limited to those who died within five years after discharge or commencement of pension. commission, after going into the matter exhaustively, recommends that the time limit be removed, but that pension only be paid when the widow and children are without earnings or income sufficient for their main tenance, and not automatically, as in an ordinary case.

For Widowed Mothers

3-In reference to widowed mothgoing. Chatham, May 13-It is likely that should have attempted to introduce an amendment to the budget providing for high protection. Probably city schools. Tonight, at a joint meeting of the city council, board of education and industrial advisory com mittee, the school problem was dis-cussed at length, with particular re gard to the present congestion and overcrowding.

The board of education asked the city council some time ago to provide money for the purchase and remodel-ing of the Sanita Hotel building as a vocational school. Three times this came before the council without action being taken, as the council was tie on the question. Tonight, following a lengthy conference, Mayor Sulman invited the four opposing aldermen to a side conference, but found that they had not changed their opinion in opposition to the plan.

The final outcome was an in formal decision to submit a referendum to ascertain if the people approved of the present scheme of vocational and industrial training. If they do approve it appears likely that the proposal of the board of education will be carried out.

The question will come before the council at the next meeting, and a referendum appears assured.

A Wonderful Opportunity To Obtain a Genuine Barnet

This is Demonstration Week for the Barnet Refrigerator. An expert from the Barnet factory is here to explain the many different features which make the Barnet the outstanding refrigerator of Canada. He will show you why food cannot spoil in a Barnet, or become tainted with flavors from other foods. He will show you why it is so economical with ice, and how easy it is to keep it clean. The food chamber is lined in one piece with porcelain, white and smooth as a dish. The Barnet is a beautiful refrigerator. Its insulated walls are eleven layers thick.

What is the secret of getting a long roll on drives?

Answered by
PHIL GAUDIN,
Medalist, British open championship; captain of British international golf team; member of that team for eight consecutive years. Winner of numer tournaments, ous foreign tournaments, in Manchester Guardian trophy.

Getting roll on your drives depends greatly on the height and flight of he ball, also on the way the ball is A player who hits his ball from the outside to the inside will certainly get more roll than a player who plays from the inside to the outside, but the last named has the control and direction and not the former (The diagram makes this clear.) The way you have drawn up the lines is correct. The reason a player gets more roll by hitting his ball is decidedly shut, by that I mean that slightly turned down instead of being open. The shut face gives one more

A crowd of 25,000 braved predictions of the weatherman that rain, which had fallen almost steadily here for the past 36 hours, would continue, Wise Counsellor, the Ward colt, which had been easily the favorite in the race, was suddenly withdrawn last night, when his owner became disheartened by the condition of the .700 track—very muddy from rain which .556 fell almost steadily through Saturday night and Sunday. Reports current for several days that the Kentucky 474 colt had not worked satisfactorily were denied by Ward, who insisted 455 that only the sloppy condition of the

Rubber Stocks Subjected to Selling Pressure as Prices Reduced.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, May 12—Wall Street, 1:30 p.m.—The early afternoon dealings consisted of a variety of special movements either way, which bewildered the trading element before the movement became uniformly downward. Coppers sugars and American Woolen were depressed, while the local tractions, tobaccos, Famous Players and Wool-worth moved up sharply. Cuts in raw sugar quotations which broke South Porto Rican Sugar 4 points, finally determined the downward swing.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 13.—Wall Street—
Noon—Reconsideration of the French election upset, with indications that no serious change in policy would result influenced trading sentiment favorably. Wall street also was encouraged by statements from leaders in the automobile industry that the trend of prices through the summer probably would be Ches and Ohio. mobile industry that the trend of prices through the summer probably would be upward, although motor shares made no immediate response. Stewart Warner, however, rebounded briskly, following denial by the company's president of reports of curtailed production and contemplated omission of dividends. Further recovery of steel and oil shares was traced to short covering, while *numerous specialties extended their early gains. Rubber stocks, however, were subjected to selling pressure on the announcement of tire price cuts by Firestone. Call money opened at 3½ per cent.

LIVERPOOL.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, May 12.—An easier tone prevailed in the local raw sugar market today, and prices declined 1/8c to the basis of 5.78c for Cubans, duty paid. There were sales of 10,000 bags of Cuban, last half May shipment, and 15,000 bags of Porto Rican, May shipment, to local refiners.

The issuance of 20 May notices and an increase of 173,000 tons in one of the leading crop expert's estimates for the Cuban crop to 3,925,000 tons were responsible for renewed selling pressure in raw sugar futures. Stop-loss orders were encountered on the break, and final prices were about the lowest and from 8 to 17 points below Saturday's final. Ferguson Intimates Evidence in Provincial Scandal Is Growing Steadily.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, May 12.-The meshes of the provincial bond scandal, already holding the Ontario gov ernment treasurer, Peter Smith. in a criminal prosecution, today tightened in like fashion about Declare French Premier Will Aemilius Jarvis, Sen., Toronto bond dealer and internationally known capitalist; Harry Peppall, the manager of his firm, and Aemilius Jarvis, Jun., his son and associate in business. Their arrest upon a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government and the public was the sensational move which followed recent investigations by crown

Following the arrest, Hon. W. F. Nickle, K.C., attorney-general, said that the Jarvis-Peppall charges were in part identical to those upon which Mr. Smith was being arraigned. Asked then why the arrest in their case had been so long delayed, he intimated that the Peter Smith "scandal" had recently taken on sig-nificant developments. "Two people," he said, "may conspire together to do one particular thing, and they may Bail Granted.

Advocates Giving More Purchasing Power To Expanding Western Market.

Canadian Press Despatch Hamilton, May 12.-Industry of Crerar to the Canadian Club, can have no greater guarantee of prosperity than by giving to the expanding market of Western Canada all the purchasing power for which the latter has the capacity.

Mr. Crerar spoke of the economic relationship of Eastern and Western Canada. His message, in effect, was that a prosperous agriculture in Western Canada is certain to be the cause of industrial prosperity in Eastern Canada.
As proof of this Mr. Crerar declared that industry in Ontario and Quebec from 1898 to 1912 was never so prosperous. Yet this was only the natural reaction to the development and of the prosperity in Western Canada during the same period.

Mr. Crerar spoke as a non-partisan He deplored the cleavage which came at times to divide Eastern and Western Canada. He believed there was one common, all-for-Canada basis on which these vital fiscal questions could be solved. This, to his mind, was the realization of the vision of the fathers of Confederation.

Sink To Level of Impotence.

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, May 12 .- Most of the news papers this afternoon rejoiced over what they termed the discomfiture of Premier Poincare in consequence of the French elections. None of them, however, was hopeful of any real change in the French policy towards

The Berliner Tageblatt expressed the opinion that the French people realized that they would be economically ruined and politically isolated by "a continued policy of hate and

Poincare "will crash from the height of power to the level of impotence."

The Tageblatt considers it pitiable that the moment when the French people send "nationalism to the devil and when real negotiations could begin, should have been chosen by political ignorance in Germany to foster nationalism."

After he had read the wording of he affidavit that Mr. Brown had aken in support of his statement, Dr. Gandier said:

"I have no doubt that Mr. Brown thinks I made such a statement—I would not accuse him of willingly making a misstatement-but he is mistaken

"I have never discussed the relationship of the United Church of Canada with any governments either national or provincial, in any public utterance," he said. "The re-ationship of the church to the govrnment was not under dicussion, nd there would be no reason for me make such a statement.

"Would it be possible for Mr. Brown have gotten one of your statements somewhat twisted in the re-peating of it?" asked The Advertiser.
"Yes, or he might have mistakenly ascribed to me the remark of some-body else," said Dr. Gandier, He remarked that Mr. Brown inclined to the view that it was at a meeting of the committee in the rear Eastern Canada, said Hon. Simplicity Is the Keynote of Summer Fashions

It is the keynote to supreme smartness for the summer wardrobe, and Fashion's edict reads: To be smart, be simple! Every costume in the opening pages of summer fashions begins and ends with this idea in mind, whether it interprets its charm in terms of Voile, Flannel, Linen or Silk. For every hour of the summer day you'll find the model here, each carrying with it the assurance of simplicity and utmost good taste. Charming materials have recently arrived in the piece goods sections on the main floor in both silk and wash fabrics. Europe's most recent productions. A visit will repay you.

Silks For Summer Frocks

Crepes that are vividly patterned; Satins in dark costume colors; Silknit for summery lingerie. Which shall it be? Here are three selections which will suggest the interesting variety presented at our Silk Department.

SATIN GRENADINE

The high-luster finish of the Satin Grenadine, the richness and grace of its soft folds, the fact that it is black, all these factors contribute to its remarkable popularity, 40inch width. Priced at, $3.00 yard,
