Straight Talks to Women

About the Home and Other Things

EDITED BY Dorothy Richmond FOR THE UNION ADVOCATE

Highly bred horses, pigs, dogs, chickens and cattle are fed with the utmost care and thought—their food being usually prepared with strict regard to the best physical results.

It is safe to say that not one mother in a hundred understands, or makes any effort to understand, the proper methods of feeding her children.

And it is because of this fact that there are so many scrawny, irritable and enfeebled children.

A strong, robust and sturdy child—up to the right size for its age—is a rarity, and the reason is, that children are given either not enough to eat or too much of the wrong kind of food.

A child may be a "big eater" and yet, if its food be non-nourishing or indigestible, its health will decline even faster than when it is underfed.

If you would have your children grow up to be useful men and women, you must give serious thought to HOW, WHEN and WHAT they eat and be willing to go to the trouble of preparing their foods accordingly, for it is your duty to develop their bodies as well as their minds.

A normal, healthy child of ten or twelve years, should eat, in quantity, as much as an adult, for the reason that it has to not only rebuild the tissues, expended in abnormal, daily exertions, but its daily growth must also be provided for, by wholesome and strictly nutritious foods, and certainly this cannot be accomplished if you starve them, or permit them to stuff themselves, at all hours, with unsuitable foods.

For Breakfast.—Oatmeal, Rice, Hominy, Baked Apples, Baked Bananas, Stewed Figs, Raisins, Brown Bread, Whole Wheat Toast, Muffins, Creamed Codfish, Milk, Honey, Molasses, and plenty of Butter.

For Luncheon.—Fish Chowder, Tomato Omelets, Creamed Potatoes

or Carrots, Corn Bread, Graham Bread, Stewed Prunes and Raisins, Peanut Butter Sandwiches, Canned Fruits, Apple Tapioca, Tomato or Orange and Celery Salads, and always plenty of Milk and Butter.

For Dinner.—Creamed or Vegetable Soups, Rice and Fish Scallops with egg sauce, Stuffed Tomatoes, Macaroni with Tomatoes and Cheese, Baked Minceo Steak, Baked Potatoes, Boiled Fish, Lemon Pudding, with liquid sauce, Baked Custards, Stewed Figs with Oatmeal Cookies and plenty of milk and butter.

You will note that I have included very little meat, NO coffee, NO tea, NO white bread (unless toasted) and absolutely NOTHING fried. Should you wish the recipe for any of the above dishes I will publish them in this department upon receipt of written request.

speed, mounting ten 14-inch guns and sixteen 6-inch guns.

Those great ships, which will be by far the most formidable fighters in the world, will have their own part in the life of battle. Speedier vessels will need all their speed to get out of the great range of these vessels' tremendous gun-power.—Mail and Empire.

CARING FOR WAR VETERANS

While the British people of today have had no previous experience in war of the kind being waged in Europe and throughout the world, they are facing its problems with crime, prudence and efficiency.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. COOK, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Princess Pat Sharp Shooters Pick Off German Snipers

The Patricias Have Just Finished Another Ten Days in the Trenches and Now Will Have a Rest For a Time--Have Been in Action Four Times.

London, Feb. 4.—The latest authentic news from the front regarding the Patricias shows that they have just finished another ten days in the trenches, which began January 22. This is the fourth time that they have been in action as a regiment since the night of January fifth. Captain Gerald Fitzgerald was killed on January 26, and not Pearson as Reuter's message stated. Captain Fitzgerald was killed in bringing in members of the Patricias who had been wounded by German snipers. Officers of the Regiment say, considering everything the casualties are not heavy. Captain Fitzgerald seemed to have a premonition. Weeks ago he said: "I don't expect to live through this hell of lead."

Seeing how many have been lost through German snipers, a Patricia corps of counter snipers has been organized, consisting of crack shots, who already have brought down sixteen Germans. One Patricia sniper picked off three German snipers in a single round. The regiment is also proud of having brought down two German biplanes.

No fewer than 111 so-called "Weary Willies" came over the Patricia's trenches in a single day; also 143 other shells. Even the village in which the Patricias are billeted when relieved from the trenches are within reach of the Germans. The enemy's bombardment generally comes about two o'clock each day for twenty minutes, when the men are gathered for the midday meal, and the officers have the greatest difficulty to keep the men inside the billets. Directly the noise is heard out they rush to see the effects of the enemy's latest efforts.

One officer says: "We are all extremely fit. I myself have had just eight hours sleep in the past 78 hours, yet I feel none the worse, I don't know how we manage it."

Germans Thrown Against Lines Like Waves of The Sea

Thirty Thousand Men to the Mile, Six Miles Wide--Met by Equally Strong Forces of Russians.

Petrograd, via London, Feb. 5.—Not since the battle around Lodz, in Russian Poland, in the early part of December, have the Germans delivered such violent attacks as those of yesterday, when they attempted to drive through the Russian lines near Borjino, probably never before in the eastern area of the war have they concentrated such a force upon a single point.

In a distance of six miles between Humin and Borjino the Germans threw 105,000 infantrymen, together with heavy forces of cavalry, the whole supported by 100 batteries of artillery, comprising in all no less than 600 guns. It is estimated that in this short line there were nearly 30,000 men to the mile, coming on in ten or twelve lines, like the waves of the sea.

The Russians, warned by the attacks of previous days in this same vicinity, have concentrated correspondingly heavy forces to resist the German advance. So close were both sides packed in this narrow space that the artillery became practically useless.

The battlefield was a flat plain unobstructed by either trees or houses, the latter had already been demolished by shell fire. The Russians met the German advance with rifle fire and the bayonet, the first lines struggling forward and backward from trench to trench. At some places the trenches were only a few hundred yards apart. The closeness of the line made the fighting extraordinarily sanguinary. Whole companies were entirely exterminated.

The most desperate German resistance was at Wola Szydlowiecka, which the Russians succeeded in taking at 10 o'clock in the morning after a fight which lasted all night.

German prisoners in the hands of the Russians relate that in the German camp the division chosen to lead this undertaking was dubbed the "division of death," since it appeared to be a foregone conclusion that none would survive.

Russian military observers with the meagre details before them are likening the fight to the battle of Borodino, where Napoleon lost his Russian campaign.

The battle at Borjino is continuing today with virtually unabated violence.

Fireman Jumps Overboard From Rail and Drowns

Leaps to Death While Liner is Battling Against Heavy Head Seas in the Atlantic--Had Been Acting Strangely for Two Days.

Yelling a wild farewell to the carpenter of the Allan liner Corsican, which docked at St. John Friday morning, Larry Hughes, fireman on the royal mail steamer, leaped to the railing at the vessel's head and plunged into the deep as the steamer battled in steep head seas, two days out from Liverpool. "Man overboard" was shouted by the startled carpenter and soon shipmates of the unfortunate fireman, under the direction of the officer of the watch, had swung a lifeboat over the side in an attempt at rescue, but the effort was in vain owing to the dangerous sea which threatened to smash the lifeboat against the liner's side.

Hughes, who was a middle-aged man, a resident of Liverpool, had been acting strangely during the two days the Corsican was at sea, and in the morning of his rash act had given several pieces of money to one of his fellow firemen, saying:

"Take these, I have no further use for them."

Hughes went to his death at about 8.15 in the morning, soon after breakfast, and the carpenter was the only person who saw him as he rushed across the forward deck, and with a loud cry, disappeared over the side. He was not seen again.

The fireman had made one round trip on the Corsican. He was not married. The steamer at the time of the loss of Hughes, was in a position known as Devil's Hole.

A package, resembling a coal brick such as are made in Halifax, was found at the side of the roadway at one end of the Suspension Bridge at the Falls, St. John, last Friday evening by one of the guards. The matter was at once reported to the local police but such examination as was made that evening was insufficient to determine whether or not the package contained an explosive.

War Films Have Been Cut Out

Militia Department of Dominion
Fears War Films Will Affect Recruiting.

Not satisfied with the manner in which the various Provincial picture censors have been handling various war pictures, the Dominion Militia Department has sent an order to the Censor Boards in every province of the Dominion that war pictures be condemned en masse. The result is that the Ontario Board of Censors have sent the following letter to all exchanges and manufacturers:

"You are hereby notified that after Feb. 15 the following standard of censoring war pictures will be adopted: "All war pictures will be condemned entirely. No eliminations will be made."

"Any topical films, such as scenes of devastation, ruins, military camps, equipment, naval vessels and cetera of the Allied Nations as are shown in the weeklies will not be passed. This standard will be enforced until the war is over and you are hereby requested to govern yourself accordingly."

This is the first order which has been sent out by the Dominion authorities and covers the whole of Canada. While the Ontario censors put into force early in the war a ruling that no pictures of actual fighting should be shown the new regulation is much more drastic and sweeping. According to G. A. Armstrong, chairman of the Ontario Board, it covers not only war dramas showing set battles, but real fighting scenes, in fact anything that shows the horrors of war and would tend to turn public opinion against the war and so hinder recruiting, will be condemned.—Moving Pictur—World.
