ANAL SUPPLIES HAD TO BE PURCHASED IN BEST WAY POSSIBLE, SAYS WITNESS

Difficulties Beset Local Guard at Outbreak of Hostilities According to Evidence — Many Pies Furnished to Men.

D. Wright was the first witness to resume the military enquiry yesterday afternoon into the 19th Regiment's finances. He gave evidence as to the supply of pies to the Welland local force in 1915. He supplied the direct to Richard Greenwood, who had a monthly arrangement and would about $75 to $100 worth a month to the regiment at about 12 cents apiece. He couldn't give an approximate total of his account but remembered he must have supplied 600 pies.

Frank A. Wilson, grocer, was called next. He identified a bill of $74 for eggs and butter sold to Greenwood in 1915. He said that the regular ration of pies was 12 cents each. He said he had supplied 4340 pies for the force at about 12 cents each.

Wilson said he supplied groceries to the force but had no bills, papers or anything else. He was only speaking from memory. Evans and Wilson had a contract to supply the Government's force at the Swift Company's camp.

Wilson said that at the beginning of the war he supplied the force with pies, delivering the quantities at each post required for the number of men there.

Carl Ross, wholesale fruit dealer, stated that Greenwood had asked him to supply fruit several times a week. He was paid by the month, the account running from $90 to $135. This was in the summer of 1915 and he continued up to December, he thought. Greenwood always paid by cash.

"He seemed to have lots of cash," remarked the President.

Ross said he supplied oranges, bananas, celery, lettuce, etc.

Captain A. E. Bradley was recalled and presented bills for goods supplied by Bradley and Son to the 10th for goods supplied amounting to $358.73. These bills ran up to September 1915.

Colonel Young found one bill for oranges and bananas dated May and June 1914 and he said there were several clerical errors and must have been for 1915. He was positive his firm had never supplied goods to the 19th regiment before August 1914.

Bradley said he was positive that Carl Ross had supplied goods in 1914 and must have been mistaken when he said he began in the summer of 1915.

"I was there and I saw him supply the goods," said the witness positively.

President Craikbank wished to recall C. W. Hodgins. He was asked about the subsistence claims between August 10th and 14th. The amount of overcharge paid by the Government for subsistence over and above Bradley's claim was $221.40, he said.

Hodgins was asked to give a statement as to the discrepancy between the number of men on the pay sheets and the claim for subsistence and he showed:

Pay Sheet	Subst.
Aug. 5 315 men	258
Aug. 6 324 men	260
Aug. 7 331 men	300
Aug. 8 337 men	321
Aug. 9 340 men	307
Aug. 10 356 men	327

That made a discrepancy for the ten days of 228.

For the whole of August $860 for field allowance was drawn. For September the field allowance drawn was $794.65.

Captain Patterson was recalled to make clear some parts of his previous evidence. There were some matters in which he had been mistaken, the president said.

He said he had a paymaster's sergeant while acting as paymaster — Sergeant Turnbull.

Asked about an item of $3,500 cash in a cash book of the 19th paymaster's department in August, 1914, Captain Patterson said he knew nothing about it.

The Municipal Committee reported on the question of the Facer St. school site which had been handed over to them at last meeting. It was stated that in so far as the deal is closed nothing could be done in the matter and the general opinion is, that taking everything into consideration the best site had been chosen.

The report of the committee was adopted.

The question of a Labor Temple was again brought up by Delegate J. Taylor and after some discussion it was decided to call a special meeting on January 29th to discuss the scheme. The various committees were appointed for the coming term and the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Peter Grant.
Vice President—H. Fletcher.
Secretary—Arthur Greenaw.
Financial Secretary—Jos. Mulholland.
Treasurer—E. J. Peart.
Sergeant at Arms—Jas. Clark.

Past President Greenaw carried through the installation ceremony and the meeting adjourned until February 2nd.

WRONG IMPRESSION

An article appeared in The Journal Saturday to the effect that members of St. Thomas Church had raised the point that the Anglican Church was "not Protestant but Catholic and explained reasons for the view. The congregation was of St. Thomas Anglican Church in Toronto, not in St. Catharines.

Trying to Put One over on The Officials

Difficulty at Falls Border Comes From Persons Not Vaccinated Who Carry Other Peoples Certificates.

Reports have reached this city that the vaccination certificates of St. Catharines doctors were not being honored at Niagara Falls. This has been investigated by Dr. Curvey, the Medical Officer of Health, who finds that several persons had gone to the border without being vaccinated but who carried certificates lent them by friends who had been vaccinated. When these riskers were asked to show marks of vaccination they were unable to do so and the authorities would not let them through. It is found, however, that when patients sign their names on certificates and in the presence of physicians who vaccinate them and the medical men append their signatures saying those of the patients are genuine, there will be no trouble. These certificates are good for eight days. Those persons wishing to go across the border must then get certificates of successful vaccination or be re-vaccinated.

Not Among Children.

Asked by The Journal if smallpox was diminishing in this city Dr. Curvey said there were now only few cases and there were no deaths.

Such a large percentage of the children of the city had been vaccinated that the disease was not finding any opportunities among them. He felt certain that if adults would also go through the same course the epidemic here would soon be wiped out.

British Ships Ordered to go To Black Sea

Prepared to Protect British Subjects and Interests in Case of Bolshevik Trouble.

MALTA, Jan. 20.—Orders were received Thursday night for a number of naval vessels to leave Malta, apparently for the Black Sea. Vice Admiral De Robeck sailed on Friday on board the battleship Iron Duke, accompanied by the destroyers Serapis and Steadfast and the steamer Hibiscus. Every other ship available is preparing to leave on Sunday filled to its capacity with stores.

Protect British Subjects

LONDON, Jan. 20.—With regard to the Malta despatch received here announcing an apparently important naval movement the Admiralty said it "may be taken for granted" that the ships in question were going to the Black Sea to protect British subjects and interests in case they were seriously threatened by the Bolshevik advance to the coast.

OFFENSIVE AID STILL PRE-MEATES AIR AT COLLEGIATE

Medical Health Officer Like to Pay Official Visit to Institution to Question Health and Sanitation.

PROBS—DECIDEDLY COLD.

The order which has caused so much offense at the Collegiate Institute is still annoying the nostrils of Principal, teachers and pupils. In fact a visit will probably be paid to the institution today by the Medical Officer of Health who may pronounce the place so unsanitary as to be unusable.

While the cause has not been determined it is thought the odor comes from defective plumbing and that some steps will have to be taken by the Board at once to overcome the difficulty.

Millions of Victims Call for The Surrender of Wilhelm

NOTE OF THE ALLIES TO HOLLAND DEMANDING SURRENDER UPON WILHELM FOR TRIAL OF FORMER GERMAN EMPEROR, IS PUBLISHED.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Holland is told in the allied note demanding the extradition of former Emperor William of Germany that she will "not fulfill her international duty" if she refuses to associate herself with the Entente powers in chastising crimes committed by Germans during the war. The text of the note sent to The Hague was made public yesterday morning. It follows:

"In notifying by these presents the Netherlands Government and Queen of the text of article 227 of the Treaty of Versailles, a certified copy of which is annexed, which came into force Jan. 10, the powers have the honor to make known at the same time that they have decided to put into execution, without delay, this article. Article 227 publicly arraigns William II of Germany for a supreme offence against international morality and the sanctity of treaties, and declares the allied and associated powers will address a request to the Netherlands Government for his surrender in order that he may be placed on trial.

"Consequently the powers address to the Government of the Netherlands an official demand to deliver into their hands William of Hohenzollern, former Emperor of Germany, in order that he may be judged.

"Individuals residing in Germany against whom the allied and associated powers have brought charges are to be delivered to them under article 228 of the Peace Treaty, and the former Emperor, if he had remained in Germany, would have been delivered under the same conditions by the German Government.

Recall Crimes.

"The Netherlands Government is conversant with the incontrovertible reasons which imperiously exact that premeditated violations of international treaties, as well as systematic disregard of the most sacred rules and rights of nations, should receive as regards everyone, including the highest placed personalities, special punishment provided by the peace (Continued on page four.)"

Voluntary Surrender Urged Upon Wilhelm

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—Deep emotion has been caused in Holland by the allied demand for the extradition of former Emperor William of Germany, according to a despatch from The Hague. Belief is expressed at the Dutch capital it is said, that pressing measures will be taken with a view to inducing him to voluntarily place himself at the disposal of the allies.

"The Netherlands Government is conversant with the incontrovertible reasons which imperiously exact that premeditated violations of international treaties, as well as systematic disregard of the most sacred rules and rights of nations, should receive as regards everyone, including the highest placed personalities, special punishment provided by the peace (Continued on page four.)"

Wealthy New Yorker Who Won 350,000 By Means of Marked Cards Gets His MAN HANDED IN A MANNER IN WHICH HE WILL NEVER FORGET BY HIS INTENDED VICTIMS—NEW YEAR'S SURPRISE FOR THE RICH CROOK.

Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars won at stud poker by means of marked cards—the fraud laid bare and its perpetrator—a man of wealth—properly man-handled for it in the presence of a party of his intended victims—these are the main items in Broadway's latest sensation.

Those inner circles of Broadway life which are made up of the richest and best known magnates in the theatrical, motion picture and music publishing business are concerned in this. The names of the principals don't matter a great deal in Toronto circles here, no doubt, Broadway circles know them all, though those names, he it remembered, have not appeared in print. Those given are fictional names out of consideration for the victims.

Won $40,000.

Last summer at Par Rockaway and Arverne, their ranks were augmented by Mr. Trimmer. He is a manufacturer of a certain article of women's wear on an immense scale and is generally known as a millionaire.

Mr. Trimmer's "uncanny luck" as the other players called it, was noticeable from the very start. In one particular game, for instance, which began on a Saturday night and continued into Sunday, he cleaned up more than $40,000. It was not a serious loss to the others for they are all wealthy, but even Broadway and 42nd Street will tell the world that $40,000 is a "nice winning."

The daring of Mr. Trimmer's play was what interested the others more than anything else. He would make bets against seemingly impossible odds—and win them.

With Marked Cards

He once bet $6,500 on a pair of "trays against a possible straight" for he knew by means of his marked deck that the concealed card of his opponent did not complete the "straight."

How the Cards Were Marked
"They're readers," said he professionally. At the corner of each card on the back, was a design composed of four fleur-de-lis—the three-leafed flower of France. If the right hand petal of the flower at the upper right hand of the group was heavy shaded, the card was an ace. If the center petal of that particular flower was accented, it was a king; if the shading was on the left hand petal it was a queen.

There were four boys, each with three petals. The shadings, therefore, stood for twelve different cards, according to where they were placed, these cards ranging down from the ace to the deuce.

On New Year's Night

A game was arranged for New Year's night, and Trimmer was invited. He went to the Screen home at 7.15, though the game was scheduled for 9, and with an excuse managed to approach the dining-room buffet, on which the cards of his host were kept.

Trimmer Drops $650
The game started at 9 o'clock with eight players, all well known Broadwayites of the Fleickers, Circuit and Ragg type. Trimmer, because the play was with a legitimate deck, lost $650 in a few hands.

"I think I'll change the deck," he said, and went to the buffet, returning with a pack of the fleur-de-lis design. It was his deal. The game reached the point where he had a single opponent. This man had two aces. Trimmer had only two kings, but he showed several thousand dollars' worth of chips into the pot smiling confidently.

A Little Surprise

At this moment Mr. Screen rapped on the table and said: "Boys, this is New Year's night; it's the beginning of a new deal all around for everybody. I've got a surprise I want to give you."

Mr. Screen walked around the table and faced Trimmer as the cheat arose.

"For what you did elsewhere, Trimmer, I can't take any action," said the film man. "But for bringing marked cards into my house and stealing from my guests I'm going to give you the beating of your life right here and now. Stick up your fists!"

Host Slugs the Cheat
Mr. Screen is a stalwart big-handed citizen—with wide shoulders, long arms and a kick in each mitt—and he gave Trimmer everything he had. After he had battered him with a few rights and lefts he knocked him into a corner, then picked him up and administered what the lesser lights of Broadway call the "bum's rush," Trimmer landing finally in the quiet darkness of the ornamental avenue.

The cards were found to be "readers," and the other players, says the New York World, wrote down their names attesting to that fact. Then they sent word to everyone who had been invited to Trimmer's party that they were not to pay him.

So there his matter rests—save for the telling and retelling of the tale along Broadway.

OLD COUNTRY ATTRACTS MANY OF OUR CANADIANS

Ocean-Going Traffic This Year Will be Unusually Heavy; Considered Splendid Time to Visit England and France

That there would be an unprecedented efflux of Britishers as well as Canadians to the Old Country this spring and that Canada's population would suffer a great reduction as a result are forecasts being made by the steamship agencies, who say that they have never dealt with such a demand in over fifteen years, in the line of ocean transportation. In the majority of cases passage was desired in April or May—just as soon as navigation opened on the St. Lawrence and the port of Montreal was available for use. Despite the big advance in fares, being nearly double those of pre-war days, people, they say at the steamship agencies were booking their passages in advance without knowing the boat on which they would sail. This was done to insure a sailing, as it is expected the Atlantic steamboat services would have trouble in meeting the demand for accommodation. That those who left their bookings to the last minute might find it impossible to get away before fall, or probably not at all, is the opinion expressed in the booking offices of the province. All companies are preparing for a big rush, but this would not make the accommodation unlimited.

Many Reasons

There were a number of reasons given for crossing to the old land, but the chief one was for the purpose of visiting relatives. The fact that pleasure trips were not permitted during the period of the war forced old country people here to remain in Canada, but now they were bent on seeing their loved ones as early as possible. Casualties in the war had resulted in estates being wound up, and some wished to return in order to look after their interests.

Another factor in prompting a trip this year was the present exchange market. People realized their money was worth at least twenty per cent. more in England now than before. Where the English pound prior to the war cost in the neighborhood of $4.87 it could be purchased now for about $4.07, a difference of 80 cents in the pound and this, in the turnover of large sums involved a big gain.

Asked whether many returned Canadian soldiers were considering a jaunt back to "Good Old Blighty," one of the agents said he had received some enquiries from men who were going back for matrimonial purposes—to bring to Canada the only girl in the world, was their claim for passage.

Special tours of the battlefields, arranged by companies in England, were proving a great attraction to Canadians. Parents whose sons were buried "over there" and others who were desirous of visiting the scenes of the world's greatest conflict, were met overseas by guides. These guides were ex-officers of the Imperial forces who had served in the various engagements and knew France like a book.

U. S. Customs Aviator Aids Border Staff Halt Rush of Can. Whisky Into the States

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 20.—With Edward H. O'Connor of the United States customs on guard, with a picked corps of veterans, to detect any illicit trading with friends across the river, working with their feet close to the ground, Paul R. Moore, aviator, who served overseas with the Royal Air Force, although he is an American, doing similar sleuth duty in the employ, it is hardly possible that any of the forbidden beverage will be permitted to trickle into the United States from Canada at this point.

There is a funny, but none the less tragic law in the Dominion. Outside the province of Quebec, in which Montreal has a big displacement, there can be no normal deal in liquor. In other parts of the Dominion a mail order business is permissible to acquire a supply for one's own personal use. Here is an example: A man at Niagara Falls, Ont. may want some of the product of Walkerville, only a short distance from him, but he dare not send direct to that point for the supply. He must mail or transmit somehow, his order to Montreal or to an agency in the United States, which is permissible. The agent can forward the order and collateral to Walkerville, and the man across the river has his wish gratified.

The strange part of it all is, if the actual ordering of liquor in the province is a crime, what is the difference through the runabout mail order route? But as the old saying is, "it is the law."

O'Connor has been on the customs many years. He entered that branch of the federal service from the post office department, and his record is one that is envied by older members of the department he serves so well. He has a long list of arrests of persons carrying contraband into the United States.

Lieut. Paul R. Moore was an instructor in flying in England. He has made many flights, straight against, over the Falls and is familiar with the border. He will soon enter on his aerial patrol here and will also maintain a flock of airships for the people's pleasure during the fair weather season when Niagara becomes transients.

Friendly Enemies Deals Just Too Much With Yankeeism To Entirely Please Canucks

"Friendly Enemies," an educational play which no doubt has done much good in the United States, was the attraction at the Grand last night and a large audience was present, who seemed to be entertained. It is scarcely a play which holds any amount of sympathy in Canada, where there is no such thing as what might be termed a parallel to the "German-American," but Canadians can at least lend a sympathetic ear to the author's most laudable intention, what is to show "German-Americans" they are entirely wrong by having the slightest dealings with the savage Germany which the allies so soundly thrashed.

The plot of necessity had to be built around something to lengthen it out sufficiently for dramatization so the stubborn Pfeiffer had to be convinced by heroic methods before he would give in. This consisted in his son being on a transport which German spies sank.

The principal roles are taken by Henry J. Cooper and W. H. Sloan, who as German-Americans certainly were true to the character. Most natural also was Augusta Burnester as Mrs. Pfeiffer.

Natalie Manning as "June Block" was charming and vivacious and Ray Wilson played the part of Lieut. W. Pfeiffer with credit.

The piece is made wearisome at points by too much Yankeeism, but taken altogether it is a play you can go to and enjoy for an hour or two. But just the same Canadians have the Lusitania incident and other things in connection with Uncle Sam's "backwardness" too vividly in mind to be wholly in sympathy with the theme of "Friendly Enemies."

A WINTER EVENING IN ST. KITT'S.

"Now stir the fire, and close the shutters fast. Let fall the curtains, wheel the sofa round, And while the bubbling and loud hissing urn Throws up a steamy column, and the cups That cheer but do not inebriate wait on each, So let us welcome peaceful evening in."

When Cowper wrote these expressive lines, nearly a century and a half ago, and left them for school boys to memorize on penalty of staying after four if they didn't, he must have had a vision of two things. One was of the year 1920 when the snow gathered itself in heaps three feet deep and the nose hugger high priced furs to keep warm, and the other of a quiet evening before a crackling fire place when the front part of one's anatomy can keep warm even if the back part stays chilled.

More than this the prophetic poet must have had in mind the purified age in which we, as twentieth century men, live—the age when the cups that the maid brings around on a tray may cheer but certainly cannot inebriate. It was easy enough, of course, for Cowper to write in this vein for he knew quite well that a blow on the dinner gong would bring in a cup and more that would unloosen the strings to the heart of conviviality. Not so now! The best that could be hoped for, up to the recent suspension of war orders in Canada, was a glass of grape juice made by the housewife out of the vineyard remnants of last autumn.

But when a man gets his feet up on the fenders before a ruddy glow he is liable to dream and write anything. One could almost imagine Conan Doyle finding a new theory by which he would deduce the actions of an apparently innocent man into the deeds of a clever criminal. It is possible also that Sir Oliver Lodge might see spirits that grow whiskers as long and white as his own. Indeed in our own land we might forgive H. F. Gadsby for penning a tribute to such an idealist as his frequent subject, Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, or Peter McArthur might honor the memory of the Red Cow that broke through the fence last summer and ate all his table corn, while it would create no surprise whatever if Stephen Leacock were to forget the humor of life and create a thesis on the beauty of the alliance between Labor and the United Farmers. Indeed, anything is possible from the literary and artistic temper when the atmosphere and environment are suitable. A newspaperman might even imagine that in another month or so, with a good stroke of luck, he would have no creditors and that all his subscribers would pay without being billed.

But to get back to Cowper that remark of his about cups that "do not inebriate" has a familiar sound. The name of Sir William Hearst must have been conjured up in his mind as a hazy form that would take shape in later times and tell the people of Ontario that it would set a ball rolling which would not stop till all the moral reformers that Toronto can turn out had a go at it.

And just as he may have dreamed, away back in the hazy past, Cowper wrote truer than he knew. When the quiet of evening settles down, even though the cold may be creaking outside, and when the tea kettle is singing its wordless melody, the thoughts of a reflective person travel far and pleasantly. The problems and tasks of the day are forgotten. The hopes of tomorrow—for one of the saviours of humanity is tomorrow—are magnified with satisfaction, and father can smoke his pipe lazily while Mary thumps the piano and mother reads the society gossip. It used to be different, so Burns tells us in his "Cotter's Saturday Night," for he pictured father getting down the big family bible, while blithe Jeanie and other bairns "came droppin' in" and "The Mother, wif her needle an' her shears, gars and clogs look amaisht as weel's the new."

But generations change. And so today we settle down in the evening to a fat newspaper with all the news of the Sinn Fein devils in Ireland, the outrages of the Bolshevik in Europe, and the round up of the foreign "Reds" in the United States. Then, too, as a sort of sweet treat we have the latest speculations on how Hon. Mr. Drury is going to camouflage the workmen that farmers are not capitalists when their pockets bulge with bills and the trust and loan companies have to go back into their dusty files to discover former mortgages. The next page over relates how Hon. Mr. Raney is going to legislate so that no one can possibly travel on any other road than the one leading straight to heaven. The moral reformers are reported to be starting a campaign to keep depraved men from smoking tobacco and the respectable leaders of public opinion are working out a code of ethics for the millions to follow that will make Buddha and Mahomet seem back benchers in comparison.

Thus, with the shutters drawn, the fire glow warming our souls, the goddess of fancy on our lips and the cup that cheers, and also burns your tongue, if you are not cautious, sitting on a ready server at our side, we spend the evening just writing nonsense and yet the strongest we have taken in our lives is black tea, three spoons to the quart of water.

PROHIBITION AND GENIUS. According to a lecturer in the United States, prohibition will deprive the world of the achievement of genius, because alcohol has given "psychic impetus" to the great masters of literature and art.

A. W. Hartmann lectured last week near New York on "Great Men With Whom I Have Imbibed," and "Has Prohibition an Aesthetic Value," and the theme of his address was that the inspiration of great works always comes from some stimulant, because the subconscious mind is incapable of rising to any great endeavor unless so influenced, it is well to say that alcohol has given this "psychical impetus," or in less exalted terminology, this "kick," to the masters of art and literature.

In support of this contention Mr. Hartmann tells of his meeting with Swinburn and of spending time and money with the poet at an inn. The sequel was that when Mr. Hartmann left Swinburn "late that night" the latter sat down to write a poem for which a syndicate, represented by Mr. Hartmann, gave him a thousand dollars, and the work "has since been classed as one of his greatest achievements." It would be interesting to know which of Swinburn's poems this is, and what Mr. Watts-Dunton, Mr. Edmund Gosse and Mr. Thomas Wise would say about it.

Another illustration given by Mr. Hartmann was Edgar Allan Poe, who is said to have written "under the inspiration of King Alcohol." The lecturer also mentioned Whitman and "learned from him something of the uplift of the soul that comes from the grape." But when Mr. Hartmann mentioned "living notables" with whom he had taken of the "cup that cheers and inebriates" it is tantalizing not to be given their names so that we might judge from their works of the soundness of the lecturer's thesis.

The sad conclusion drawn was that "prohibition will deprive the world of art and letters of many a song from the soul from which the warmth might be lifted by the warmth that comes from imbibing."

It is no wonder that the report of this lecture speaks of the "audience of the thirsty who drank in every word." The marvel is that anyone could express and any people could be found to listen to such astounding utterances. But probably the hearers were highly amused at these wonderful opinions, and, as the newspaper adds, they doubtless asked themselves "where Mr. Hartmann had found the inspiration that had fermented the work of genius" shown by the lecturer, comments the Toronto Globe.

GOOD ROADS The Dominion Government has approved the new highway policy of the Provincial Government in its entirety, and nothing remains but to get the multifarious details into shape and push ahead with the work. Under the scheme outlined by Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Highways, 1,600 miles will be brought under the jurisdiction of the Provincial administration, on which the Federal Government will grant 40 per cent. of the cost. Of the remaining 60 per cent, the Provincial Government provides 42 per cent. and the municipalities 18 per cent. Mr. Biggs explains that it is the Government's intention to build these roads of the materials best suited to the districts through which they pass. At the start about one hundred miles of concrete, construction will be undertaken. Macadam roads are to be kept in constant repair—which is a very important point.

All who have travelled over the fine stone highways of Britain and parts of the European continent know how completely satisfactory they are from every point of view, when the proper care is devoted to their upkeep. The trouble with the country roads in this province has been, as Mr. Biggs points out, the neglect which they have met with from the responsible authorities. An effort will be made to remedy this state of things. On March 1st all county road engineers will be invited to a meeting in Toronto, when instruction will be given in matters of supervision. The proposal is to have stone dumps at convenient intervals along the roadside, with a section man ready to fill in all hollows as they appear, just as is done in European countries.

One especially gratifying feature of Mr. Biggs' statement is his promise to expedite the construction of the new roads in every possible way. "Before the snow comes next fall," he told the Ottawa board of trade, they would be travelling over the Ottawa-Prescott road "as fast as the law allowed or safety dictated." With regard to the criticisms which have been made by the mayor of Ottawa concerning this particular highway, Mr. Biggs has previously explained that "it would be folly to build it of concrete until it was fully 'settled,' but where water-macadam would not stand, a more durable substance would be employed.

The Provincial Government's good road policy is now launched. It provides for essential trunk roads and their necessary feeders. The matter is of such great importance to the whole community that no party considerations—political or personal—should be allowed to stand in the way of carrying out these urgently needed undertakings, says the Hamilton Spectator, and goes on to say that good roads are a benefit to all, and that, all, therefore, should unite to support the Government in its progressive policy. The townsmen equally with the farmer will profit by the building of these "feeder" roads, and the farmer equally with the townsmen will benefit by the construction of the main arteries; both will be brought into more direct relationship with each other, to their mutual advantage.

Mr. Biggs, as Minister of Highways, seems to be the man in the right place, says the Spectator. It is most unfortunate that the truck purchasing incident should have occurred at this time, to engender a spirit of criticism and suspicion, but Premier Drury has endorsed the action of his Minister in the matter, finding the transaction perfectly regular. In these circumstances it would be extremely regrettable were any prejudices to creep in and weaken the hands and hamper the action of the Government in pursuit of its improved highway policy.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening grey, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is a fine greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Thinking men must have a full consciousness of the need in St. Catharines of more and better railway facilities. What we have are good, as efficient and modern in most respects as any system of which we know on the continent for a population of equal numbers with this city, but what we want is more. The public must some day come to the view that government ownership of railways can only be a success if there is public support behind them and ample service is furnished by them.

The high ideals and political doctrines of the U.F.O. are cleverly though ironically paraphrased by Mr. Gadsby in Toronto Saturday Night when he interprets the letters to mean "Us For Ourselves." So far as clinging tight to their seats and to the sessional indemnity is concerned the United Farmers can give a lesson in fidelity to the oldest political party of Canadian ancestry.

Even the giants fall. Clemenceau has been defeated by an old antagonist.

Admiral Sims let a cat out of the bag in his evidence before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee at Washington, but the color of his eyes and hair were not unfamiliar. Even if the United States did win the war Canada helped a little although it didn't say much. We must remember too that the great war of 1914-1917 wasn't one two three with the scrap at Manila Bay.

When the new Council sits it should resolve that pre election pledges and programmes will be taken up at a special meeting to be called on December 22nd, 1920, providing some member anxious to get away home doesn't move the adjournment.

Ottawa Letter Carriers May Give Short Notice. OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—The letter carriers of Ottawa may go on strike at short notice. That such action is contemplated is quite obvious from the attitude of the officials of the local branch of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers, who declare they are "fed up" with the promises of the Government in the past, and are determined to secure an increased wage scale without further delay.

The New Electorate The Women of Canada CHANGING conditions have given the Dominion a new electorate—the women of Canada. Canadian womanhood, to take full advantage of its prerogatives, to take its proper place in the management of Canadian affairs, must keep informed on the questions of the hour—must have the knowledge of events that will be the foundation of definite opinions on public questions.

Women Must Read the Daily Newspaper The extension of the franchise to women was the fulfillment of a policy consistently advocated by The Globe in season and out of season. But this is only the beginning. Womanhood must serve as well as vote. They must advocate reforms that are badly needed. There must be legislation for the aged, as well as for the young; pensions for mothers, educational improvements, unemployment and sickness insurance. These are some of the questions on which the womanhood of Canada will now have to take sides. Therefore, in this respect, The Globe has a special appeal for progressive, right thinking Canadian women. The Globe is not a political organ. It never has submitted to outside dictation. It supports progressive liberalism, because it believes that true liberalism draws its inspiration from the needs of the people. Its daily Women's Department and Thursday's Women's Section have a special interest for womanhood in the home. It was the first Toronto paper to establish a women's department, edited for all Canadian homemakers. The Globe is first and last a Great Family Newspaper. It serves the women in the home, in public life, in business, in the professions and in industry. What The Globe has been in the past is its guarantee of what it will be in the future. The aim of its publishers and its Editor is to take advantage of the tremendous facilities at its disposal—to make it even more worthy of a place in every Canadian home.

Mr. Coleman naturally did not attempt to deal with the subject from his angle, but gave a clear explanation of the cause of the phenomenon to which Dr. Mullen referred. HYDRO AND HEALTH Hamilton Spectator.—A point of interest to the public was brought up at the Hamilton Scientific Association's meeting last night, when Dr. Mullen questioned the lecturer, Mr. E. P. Coleman, regarding the technicalities of the 25 and 60 cycle alternating current as used by the Hydro and Cataract respectively. Dr. Mullen was interested in the matter as a physician, and discussed the advisability of having exhaustive scientific tests made in order to ascertain the amount of "physis damage" caused by the flicker incidental to the 25-cycle current when used for the purpose of illumination.

MILLIONS OF VICTIMS CALL FOR SURRENDER

(Continued from page 1) congress. The powers briefly recall among so many crimes the cynical violation of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxemburg, the barbarous and pitiless system of hostages, deportation en masse, the carrying off of young girls from the city of Lille, who were torn from their families and delivered defenceless to the worst promiscuity; the systematic devastation of entire regions without military utility, the submarine war without restriction, including inhuman abandonment of victims on the high seas; and innumerable acts against non-combatants committed by German authority in violation of the laws of war.

To Supreme Head. "Responsibility, at least moral, for all these acts reaches up to the supreme head who ordered them, or made abusive use of his full powers to infringe, or to allow infringement upon the most sacred regulations of human conscience.

"The powers cannot conceive that the Government of the Netherlands can regard with less repugnance than themselves the immense responsibility of the former Emperor.

"Holland would not fulfil her international duty if she refused to associate herself with other nations as far as her means allow in undertaking, or at least not hindering, chastisement of the crimes committed.

Universal Conscience. "In addressing this demand to the Dutch Government, the powers believe it their duty to emphasize its special character. It is their duty to insure the execution of article 227 without allowing themselves to be stopped by arguments, because it is not a question of public accusation with judicial character as regards its basis, but an act of high international policy imposed by the universal conscience, in which legal forms have been provided solely to assure to the accused such guarantees as were never before recognized in public law. The powers are convinced Holland, which has always shown respect for the right and love of justice, having been one of the first to claim a place in the society of nations, will not be willing to cover by her moral authority the violation of principles essential to the solidarity of nations, all of which are equally interested in preventing the return of a similar catastrophe.

"It is to the highest interest of the Dutch people not to appear to protect the principal author of this catastrophe by allowing him shelter on her territory, and also to facilitate his trial, which is claimed by the voices of millions of victims. "Clemenceau."

CANAL SUPPLIES PURCHASED IN THE BEST WAY POSSIBLE

(Continued from page 1) it, neither did he know anything about the cash book the court presented. He believed he had been struck off the strength for a time. Neither would he explain a contingent account item of $421. "Then it would appear Sergeant Turnbull kept a cash book?" "Evidently he started one, anyway."

Entries of $10 to the officers mess and $24 to Major Robt. Ker, chaplain could not be explained either. Patterson was then asked about the famous auto purchased by Col. Burleigh. The amount he handed Col. Burleigh was $825 and came out of some surplus funds.

"That was the exact amount. I did not pay him any more," said the witness.

Patterson said he didn't think he paid any field allowance to overseas units.

He was asked by Colonel Elkins who took over the account while he was absent but his memory failed him.

Shown the pay sheets for August and September, 1914, Patterson found he was absent from Aug. 26th to September 21st.

Instructions from Headquarters were received that a paymaster on the force was not required. He was informed so by Colonel Burleigh, the Commanding Officer.

Asked about a cheque for $960 dated 4th Sept., 1914, payable to Col. Burleigh for an overseas unit, Patterson said he did not remember paying them nor could he find any record that the money had been sent on to Valenciennes. The cheque was signed by J. R. Forbes. That was probably while he was away.

Patterson recollects a cheque he gave Colonel Burleigh from the men's allowance for $821 which he said he was sure was not for pay.

Mr. Hodgins was again asked to state the field allowance collected from the men for August and September. It was $655 exclusive of the overseas unit.

Lt.-Col. Coho of Welland, who commanded the canal force early in the war. He found on visiting St.

Catharines sector that supplies were short and had to be got anywhere possible. Supplies had to be purchased at the best terms possible because they were needed immediately.

He could not remember whether Colonel Burleigh had told him his men were paying ten cents a day for field allowances for extra rations.

Captain J. H. Sandham, the next witness, went on canal duty at the beginning of the war. He said the first three days they had practically nothing in the way of supplies. There was no shelter for the men the first three nights, then came tents, blankets, etc.

He was transferred to Niagara Falls and there he recollects Mrs. McKinnon acted as cook. He said she was let go for some reason he did not know.

"Have you any idea why she was struck off the strength?" "I believe Major George Bradley was responsible."

"He thought it wasn't right?" "I think so."

At last night's session several privates and non-coms were called to testify in connection with a complaint made by some men as to not receiving marriage allowance.

Among those giving evidence were Private Norris, Sgt. Doherty, Sgt. Wilson, Private Doherty, Private Erskine, Private Smith, and J. White.

Captain Dyke was recalled and denied that a statement he is supposed to have made at Colonel Campbell's investigation, was actually what he had said. He said his meaning was not made clear.

A. N. Payne, the investigator, gave evidence on the subject of the famous Bradley bill of $912, which Major Bradley had no knowledge of. This bill, Mr. Payne said, was made out by Bradley's bookkeeper which probably accounted for Major Bradley not remembering it.

"This $912 covered subsistence of 75 cents per man for the first five and a half days of the war."

This morning's Evidence. A. E. Sherburns, acting manager for Swift's was called this morning by Colonel Burleigh. He stated that Capt. Greenwood bought many extra rations from Swift's principally eggs.

He presented an account from October 17th, 1914, to July 5th, 1915, totalling $1,135.

Charles Oughon, bookkeeper for Swift's certified to the accounts. John Loughlin, certified to an account for ice delivered at Headquarters amounting to $84.04. Greenwood paid the account.

"Do you remember the quantity of ice a day?" asked the President. He couldn't say. He believed that Greenwood paid the account in instalments.

Altho' Alfred Bell, who acted as bookkeeper during the whole time of the war, identified extracts from the firm's books, stating purchases of various goods. They were got by Col. Burleigh and Lt. Hubbert, Bell said.

The goods bought were stoves and general kitchen ware. A good many items were paid by cash and some by cheques. They were Departmental cheques. The charges to the Department and to the regiment were all in one without distinction.

The President asked the witness to try and get the account divided up possible and present the items tomorrow morning. He agreed to do this.

Bell said some stoves were rented and were paid for by Departmental cheques.

Samuel Parks of John Ross wholesale grocery was called.

Frank Coy, of Coy Bros., certified to an account for goods supplied the canal force by his firm. He could not remember who purchased the goods or what the items were. Detailed accounts had been presented.

To his best knowledge none of these goods were paid for by government cheque.

He could not say whether a portion of these goods did not go to the officers' mess.

DOCTOR WARD, The Specialist

SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT OF NERVOUS CONDITIONS, NERVE EXHAUSTION, BACKACHE, LUMBAGO, RHEUMATISM, STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES, ACNE, SKIN DISEASES, CATARRH, ASTHMA, RECTAL TROUBLES, PILES, FISTULA AND BLOOD CONDITIONS. The knowledge gained from many years' experience in treating diseases just like yours is of much value to you and assures the ailing man of prompt relief. When a man knows that he is again feeling well, he is rid of his ailment—he feels that a heavy load has been lifted from his shoulders, I give every cent the benefit of the knowledge acquired through the long experience of a graduated, licensed and respected specialist, in order to bring about the most satisfactory results in the shortest possible time.

NERVE EXHAUSTION A CONDITION AFFECTING MANY MEN—THE GREAT AMERICAN DISEASE—IT IS BROUGHT ON BY OUR MANNER OF LIVING—OUR WORRY AND HURRY—AMERICANS EXHAUST MORE NERVOUS ENERGY THAN ANY OTHER RACE OF PEOPLE.

There are a great many men who need treatment for their nervous system. These men do not know what is the reason they don't feel right—why they can't work like they used to—why they tire so easily and why they are irritable, nervous, despondent, weak, pale and lack ambition. These conditions require the expert knowledge and treatment of a specialist who has had many years' experience in just such ailments. A specialist learns by experience to know just the right treatment at the right time so that the patient can be dismissed at the earliest possible time. Men afflicted with nervous exhaustion have no endurance—no ambition—everything they attempt is an effort. Life to them appears as a long, gloomy future. Their appetite is poor and variable—they become irritable, cross and discouraged. They have pains and aches in various parts of the body and there is often indigestion and pains in the stomach. Sleepless, wakeful and restless nights follow.

RHEUMATIC AILMENTS SCIATICA AND OTHER FORMS OF RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, PAINS IN BACK, SWELLING, ACHING, PAINFUL CONDITIONS IN ANY PART OF THE BODY—INFLAMED AND SWOLLEN JOINTS OF LEGS AND ARMS—MANY OTHER SYMPTOMS.

Hundreds of men are suffering with some form of Rheumatism. Many of these men go from day to day suffering untold agonies thinking they cannot be cured. They have tried liniments, rubbing, massage, salts and other treatments without experiencing any relief, and they are now going through life thinking they are martyrs to that burden called Rheumatism. If these men could only know how easy it is to get rid of many rheumatic conditions I know they would not suffer another single day. Then all sufferers of rheumatism would be strong and healthy if they could get rid of the condition. Rheumatic patients are nearly all strong and robust before being attacked by this ailment, and therefore it is so hard for the man to understand why he should suffer the agonies of such a condition. When a man gets rid of such a condition he feels that a heavy burden has been lifted from his life, and he starts right out to make up for lost time both in money and pleasure. When a man comes to my office suffering with the above condition he is given a most careful examination, and he is given treatment that he feels is giving him great benefit.

Quick and Lasting Results Assured the Ailing Man YOUR WHOLE HEALTH OF BODY AND MIND DEPENDS ON YOUR BLOOD. "Building process" of the body and mind, of the muscle and tissue formations, of any of the various organs, can be accomplished only by working direct through the blood stream.

OUR NATIONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEM.

"So much for the manner in which the transportation machinery of the country is carrying out its obligations to the Canadian producer. Other aspects of the transportation problem are less satisfactory. There are many people who look upon Canadian Railways as custodians of magic formulas which cannot be exhausted. That bookkeeping should be as simple and inexorable in its rule as simple and vanished profits to a railway as it may be to a corner grocer, is to these people not acceptable. It apparently does not occur to them that to no public is it more important than to the Canadian public that the good reputation of its railway securities should be carefully guarded. To those, however, who understand these things clearly and who view the matter from the standpoint of broad public interest, it is quite apparent that the Canadian public pays a very low rate for the quality of service rendered, and that a time is rapidly approaching when, if Canadian railway securities are not to be made less desirable to investors than almost any other kind of industrial security, railway rates will either have to go up, or railway operating costs go down. Such persons recognize that it is because the situation of the railways is an easy one that certain companies have been able to show net earnings every low net earnings compared to the actual cash invested in the industry—but because in the case of the shareholders of such companies have been able to show net earnings, their officers have been able to supply the means for constructive enterprises in which no one but themselves has had faith, and because their officers have been skilled, resourceful and loyal business men, assisted by staffs filled with the spirit of pride and devotion to their work. This, indeed, is the thing which has made it possible for Canadian railroads to function successfully during the war without making anything like the demands that other railroads have made in serving their community, yet earning the same rates and paying the same wages—have made up their public accounts. This, indeed, is the thing which has made it possible for Canadian railroads to continue to serve their community, and this tendency to weaken the general reputation of Canadian Railway securities should continue. The servant, after all, is worthy of his hire, and railway capital is not less worthy a servant than other forms of capital whose earnings have not been consistently efficient for years. The earnings during the war years of those companies which showed net earnings, would have been much lower had the Canadian railroads been making expenditures for maintenance which circumstances would have justified, by which conditions prevented during that period. The fact that they are now to be made up. During 1913 the Canadian Pacific laid 70,000 tons of steel rail. In place of say 2,000,000 tons, worth $4c in 1914, the Canadian Pacific laid $34,000,000 at 85c per ton. The sensational advance in the rate of railway wages is well known. Further advance may be necessary within the very near future, as indicated by discussions in the United States. The price of coal for locomotives was $3.09 in 1913. Now it is $4.77. The cost of hauling an average train (freight passenger) one mile has risen from $1.84 in 1913, to $2.44 in 1918. The price of one mile of track in 1913 were $4.12; in 1918, $7.06, and if day they are even greater. On the other hand, railway rates, taking classes of revenue together, have advanced scarcely 25 per cent. I venture to say no other industry in the Dominion can show such moderation."

OUR NATIONAL ECONOMIC PROBLEM.

The following interesting extract from an article by Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the C. P. R., appeared recently in the Montreal Gazette: "So much for the manner in which the transportation machinery of the country is carrying out its obligations to the Canadian producer. Other aspects of the transportation problem are less satisfactory. There are many people who look upon Canadian Railways as custodians of massive fortunes which cannot be exhausted. That bookkeeping should be simple and inexorable in its calculations of losses and vanishing profits to a railway as it may be to a corner grocery, is to these people unthinkable. It apparently does not occur to them that no public utility is more important than the Canadian public utility that the good reputation of railway securities in the world of capital investment should be carefully guarded. To those, however, who understand these things clearly and who view the matter from the standpoint of honest public interest, it is at once apparent that the Canadian public pays a very low rate for the quality of service rendered, and that a time is rapidly approaching when, if Canadian railway securities are not to be made less desirable to investors than almost any other kind of industrial security, railway rates will either have to go up or railway operating costs go down. Such persons recognize that it is not because the situation of the railways is an easy one that certain companies have been able to show net earnings—very low net earnings compared to the actual cash invested in the industry—but because in the past the shareholders of such companies have been, as they are today, unscrupulous persons willing to supply the means for constructive enterprises in which no one but themselves had faith, and because too, their officers have been skilled, successful and loyal business men, assisted by staffs filled with the spirit of pride and devotion to their work. This, indeed, is the thing which has made it possible for Canada's railroads to function successfully during the war without making anything like the demands that foreign roads—less efficient in serving their community, yet earning the same rates and paying the same wages—have made up their public exchequers. I do not believe that this strain upon the railways and this tendency to weaken the general reputation of Canadian Railway securities should continue. The servant, after all, is worthy of his hire, and railway capital is not less worthy a servant than other forms of capital whose earnings have not been so consistently depressed. "The net earnings during the next years of those companies which showed net earnings, would have been much lower had the Canadian railroads been making expenditures for maintenance which, under ordinary conditions would have justified, but which conditions prevented during that period. These arrears have now to be made up. During 1919 the Canadian Pacific paid 70,000 tons of steel rail. In place of, say, 2,000,000 lbs. worth 44c in 1914, the Canadian Pacific paid 4,434,000 lbs. at 82c per lb. The sensational advance in the rate of railway wages is well known. Further advance may be necessary within the very near future, as indicated by discussions in the United States. The price of coal for locomotives was $2.00 in 1913. Now it is $4.77. The cost of hauling an average train (freight or passenger) one mile has risen from $1.604 in 1913, to $2.404 in 1918. It is higher to-day. The operating expenses of one mile of line in 1913 were $4,137, in 1918, $7,046, and to-day they are even greater. On the other hand, railway rates, taking all classes of revenue together, have advanced scarcely 25 per cent. It is time to say no other industry in the Dominion can show such moderation."

It is the Root of Personal Righteousness, the Mainstay of Social Order, the Bulwark of International Peace

The Makers of Canada

The earliest settlers in Canada were roused by the Call of the Church to develop a noble and useful citizenship. Young and old were invited to turn their eyes from material things, and to regard the splendor of unseen realities. Knowing that Religion is the only true safeguard of stability in the State, they built Churches, Schools and Colleges, to train men for the Christian Ministry, and to spread abroad in the land the benefits of education. This they did in their poverty, and thus directed the course of history in Canada to this day.

The Testing of Canada

Because of such sacrifices, there arose in Canada a public spirit hostile towards all injustice, dishonesty and cruelty. The War tested the moral fibre of the Canadians of a later day. Would they choose material ease and wealth, or would they risk all in defence of freedom and the rights of the weak?

Over 400,000 men voluntarily offered their lives, and endured hardness as good soldiers for the defence of equity and fair dealing in all human relationships, and for the vindication of public right. Nor were the people at home less steadfast. Besides bearing the national cost of the War, they gave voluntarily for the help of the soldiers more than $90,000,000. Canada nobly stood the great trial.

The Menace of To-day

That conflict is ended. Now comes another test. Not only in Canada, but all over the world, sectional and class struggles for material rewards and for mastery threaten the present basis of Society. The vision of spiritual values gained in the War is in peril of being forgotten. The supremacy of sacrifice, the nobility of service, the reality and glory of the Unseen and Eternal, the promises of Christ; these were the things by which we lived during the War. Now there is great danger that they may fade from view, giving place to selfishness and the love of ease.

The great non-Christian peoples of the world comprise two-thirds of the human race. They are mastering our modern scientific knowledge, and if they remain Pagan may yet turn it to our destruction. Paganism stands for the supremacy of Might, the very ideal we fought and conquered in more than four years of war.

Victory only through Christ

How can we retain the heavenly vision? How can the world be guarded against another attempt to establish the Pagan ideal? Only through the Church of Jesus Christ. There is no other agency or society that has any possibility or hope of bringing about a full

The World's Need is Spiritual

I speak as one standing upon the watch-tower, and know what the need of the land is. It is not material, it is spiritual. Get the spiritual, and the material will follow. The wounds of the world are bleeding, and material things will never heal them. And that is why I hail any movement which brings the great spirit of brotherhood. The one need of England and France today is the healing and the brotherhood of the Cross of Christ.
—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George.
Before the Brotherhood Convention, London, September, 1919.

realization of the brotherhood of all mankind, and the reign of the Prince of Peace.

What the Church Has Done

All the progress of humanity in Civilization for the last 2000 years has been inspired, directly or indirectly, by the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It has ended slavery, protected life, ennobled women, educated the children and safeguarded their lives, sanctified the home, established schools, missions and charities.

The Coming Era

Victory places upon the shoulders of the Allied Nations the responsibility for directing new conditions to right ends. Canada must do her share. The Church must prepare to meet the needs of the new day. Old standards of life with old habits of thinking and of giving will be wholly inadequate. We must do in our day what our fathers did in theirs. The hope of the world is bound up with the strengthening and extension of the Church of Jesus Christ.

Right the Good Fight

The Forward Movements

FIVE Christian Communions, Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian, are convinced that the time has come to rouse all Christians to a clearer understanding of their calling and stewardship in Christ, their King. They believe that the Church should be equipped adequately with men and money to enable it to meet the needs and opportunities of the New Day.

These five separate Communions are of one mind as to their believe in God, the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, and in Jesus Christ, His Son, Our Lord. They now declare to their respective constituencies, and also unitedly, to the Canadian people, that the only effective method of making good citizens is by urging men to a more faithful practice of Christianity, by inculcating personal faith in Jesus Christ. They insist that there is no other dependable way of correcting evil tendencies in individual and national life. They call the people to repentance. To all Christians their message is, "Awake, Arise. Fight the Good Fight, For Canada and For the World."

EACH of the Communions named is in the midst of a Forward Movement. Each is seeking by prayer and by earnest effort to accept all its responsibilities. Each is striving to extend its activities in Canada and in Foreign Lands.

Your Church needs your help, but, far more, you need the help of your Church to learn the difficult art of living wisely and well.

Consult your Clergyman. He serves you and your children. Ask him how and when you can serve in this day of national emergency. Give yourself to the task. Say: "Here am I, send me."

BOGUS CHEQUES BRING ABOUT $70.00 PROFIT Supposed Returned-Soldier Makes His Haul From Welland

WELLAND, Jan. 20.—William Ferris, supposed to be a returned soldier and arrayed in khaki, has departed from here with a successful haul from alleged bogus Government cheques. Ferris, who is twenty two years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, of slight build, and fair complexion, clean shaven, made out his cheques in thirty and seventy dollar amounts; issuing three in this city. When the banks closed he went to the stores and purchased clothing to the amount of some sixty dollars, and received the balance in cash. The cheques were not found to be bogus until they were received in Toronto. When he departed from here he had about seventy odd dollars as a balance from the three cheques.

Hospital for Sick Children TORONTO

Upkeep of Big Charity Requires Fifty Cents a Minute.

Dear Mr. Editor: The 44th annual report of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, shows a notable advance in every department of its service to the suffering and crippled youngsters of this province. The ward accommodation has been taxed to its capacity, and a summer annex, the Lakeside Home, was opened for the first time since the outbreak of war. The daily average of out patients has increased during the year from 192 to 223, including children from practically every county in Ontario. Even had the cost of supplies and labor remained stationary, the substantial increase in the number of patients would alone account for the addition to the charity's debt, which at the close of the fiscal year was $109,000. This debt has become an embarrassing burden. Further increase must threaten impairment of the hospital's efficiency.

The Hospital is in the forefront of all institutions upon this continent devoted to the care of sick children. It cost $235,379 to maintain last year. This great sum not only puts at the service of the children of Ontario all the resources of medical science, but, in addition, provides for a training school for 120 nurses and for unsurpassed clinical facilities for the University students who are preparing to engage in their profession throughout the province. The income which must be forthcoming to finance this absolutely essential work figures out at seven hundred dollars a day; and, as there is no endowment fund, all but a fraction of that amount has to be derived from individual benevolence. Therefore the Trustees are making a Christmas appeal to every lover of children to foot the bills for some period of time, no matter how short, hundred dollars a day; and, as there is no endowment fund, all but a fraction of that amount has to be derived from individual benevolence.

For churches, societies, lodges, etc., who have more ample funds wherewith to assist the youngsters to a fair start in life, the naming of cotas is suggested. A number of memorial cotas have been thus dedicated in honor of the overseas service of fellow-members. This privilege is extended in recognition of gifts of $2,000 to the Main Hospital or $500 to the Lakeside Home, which can be paid in annual instalments if so desired.

Literature, illustrative of all branches of the past year's work, together with any other information desired, will be gladly furnished on application to the Secretary, the Hospital for Sick Children, College street, Toronto. Contributions should also be addressed to the secretary.

IRVING E. ROBERTSON, Chairman of Appeal Committee.
