Auctioneering.

J. C. CURRIE, THE PEOPLE'S AUCTIONEER Goderich, Ont. 1751.

CONCERT.—The Concert on Wednesday evening by the pupils attending Mrs. Fletcher's private school proved a marked and grand success. The Temperance Hall was filled to overflowing with a very orderly and appreciative audience and a varied and excellent programme of music, recitation, dialogues etc., was gone through, not only without a single failure, but with a readiness and ease which could only have resulted from the most thorough drilling. We did not keep a copy of the programme and cannot therefore, even did time and space permit, to enter into a detailed notice of the different pieces, but we trust that we shall not give offence if we say that in the literary part we were especially pleased with "Fanny's School," by Miss Mabel Cameron, "Henry V before the battle of Agincourt," by Miss C. Godle, and "The Courtship of Henry V" by Misses Williams, Ross and B. Widder, the French princess in the last piece acting her part charmingly and speaking her French almost as if "to the manner born." With regard to the music we thought that the selection of the pieces showed excellent judgment and the easy and correct rendering of them did credit alike to the pupils themselves, and to their highly qualified and painstaking teachers. Amongst others we may refer to the instrumental pieces by Miss Hattie Price and Miss L. Acheson, a duet by Misses B. Widder and M. Strachan, and two songs by Miss Renwick, as being alike well rendered and well received. Two "Motion songs" by the younger children and the Maypole dance were very prettily rendered, and gave a pleasing and attractive variety to the programme. Altogether, the entertainment, as we have already said, was a most successful one, and reflected the greatest credit on Mrs. Fletcher and her accomplished assistant, Miss Goode. Before stopping we must not forget to mention that Mrs. Fletcher herself addressed largely to the pleasure of the audience by two songs, the former of which, "Esmeralda," was particularly acceptable to the audience.

NEWS ABOUT HOME.

"A chief's amang ye, takin' notes,
An' faith he'll print it."

Mr. G. W. Andrews, merchant tailor, of Kingston, was in town during the week to attend the funeral of his father, the late George Andrews.

Mr. J. S. McDougall on Monday last showed us a stalk of rye which measured 7ft 5inches in length. It was grown on his farm on the Huron Road.

Single copies of the SIGNAL can be had at the bookstores or this office. Price 5 cents. Subscription price, postage prepaid, $1.50 per annum.

Mr. John Galt, son of the late Registrar, John Galt, Esq., is in town, visiting old friends of the family. He is the guest of Mrs. Fraser, West Lawn.

Dr. and Mrs. McLean and Mrs. M. C. Cameron left on the Ontario on Thursday morning for Glidden, Wisconsin. They will be absent about two weeks.

Mr. Troy Savage, of Buffalo, came to spend Dominion day in his old home. Mrs. Savage has been paying a visit to her parents, Capt. and Mrs. MacGregor.

The County Council have been invited to witness the opening of the Midland Bridge on Dominion day. The bridge will be actually tested the evening before.

P.T.S.C.—School section No. 2, Goderich township, will hold its annual picnic this afternoon in Holmes' grove. A large number are expected to attend from Goderich.

Mr. M. Graham Cameron and wife left for a European trip on Thursday noon, and will be absent a couple of months. We wish them a pleasant voyage and safe return.

We trust that the programme of amusements for Dominion Day, will satisfy the facetious portion of our citizens, who draped so many of our business houses in mimic mourning last year.

Mr. J. Platt met with rather a painful accident on Wednesday morning while working in his father's shingle factory, two of his fingers having had their tops "shingled" by the machine.

On Tuesday next the 4th inst. the adjourned General Sessions of the Peace will be held when the present list of County Constables will be revised and a new one printed all interested will take notice.

EXCURSION.—The first excursion of the season arrived from Stratford on Tuesday. Twelve coaches were packed, and about 1,000 persons were on board. The visitors appeared to enjoy themselves. The waters of Huron have a great attraction for our inland friends, and a little endeavor on the part of some of our citizens could make this town even more popular with excursionists.

FIRST OF JULY.—We understand that the railway authorities have agreed to hold the afternoon train over until five o'clock to-morrow, so as to give excursionists a chance of witnessing all the games.

Miss Ellen Gibson left yesterday for Manitoba where she will "keep house" for her brother. Miss Gibson will be missed in the choir and Sunday School of Knox Church, of which she was a valued member.

A meeting of the ladies and gentlemen on St. Peter's was held in the Vestry on Thursday evening, to organize proceedings, for the holding a mammoth picnic in July, in aid of the Church. Further particulars will be given next week.

Mr. John Mackie an old Goderich chemist, has lately bought out one of the best Bradford drug stores, and will, no doubt, make a great success, as he has had large experience both in Ontario and some of the leading cities of the States.

On Wednesday evening, previous to her departure for St. Catharines, Miss Carrie Williams, daughter of Rev. Dr. Williams, was presented by a number of her young friends with a handsome photograph album, as a token of friendship and esteem.

Mr. J. Small, who has an outside reputation as a draughtsman, has prepared plans and specifications for a handsome residence to be built in Clinton for Mr. Thos. Jackson. Mr. Small has recently sent approved plans to Michigan and other distant points.

BABY SHOW.—A feature of to-morrow's proceedings will be the baby show. The judges have been carefully selected, and will furnish their own prizes. Their names are as follows: Henry Horton, Peter Adamson, D. Doty, W. Young, J. McBride and S. M. Lloyd. S.

PERSONAL NEWS.—We will be pleased to record the arrival or departure of visitors or citizens during the season. We cannot hear of all, and hope our friends will help us with the list. Address THE SIGNAL, Goderich, and append your own name, (for our information only).

A recount has been demanded and granted in behalf of Mr. McKechnie, the Tory candidate for North Wentworth, who was defeated by Mr. Bain by two votes. Protests are to be entered against the return of Prof. Foster and Mr. Joseph Wood in King's county and Westmorland, N. B., respectively, on the ground of bribery.

Mr. John McMillan, M. P. for South Huron, left last week, on a visit to Scotland. He expects to be absent about two months. It is about 37 years since he left the old land, and he will see many great changes both in people and things since he left. His constituents of South Huron will join with us in wishing him bon voyage.

The Expositor says.—A man named Calhoun, who resides on the south side of the railway track, was taken to Goderich on Saturday night and confined in jail as a dangerous lunatic. He was seriously given to intemperance which is supposed to be the main cause of his present mental condition. He has a wife and five small children, who are left utterly unprotected.

GODERICH BOYS AS USUAL STILL TO THE FORE.—We are pleased to meet Messrs. G. H. Watson and W. C. Hamilton, two of our Goderich barristers who have just returned from Winnipeg for their holidays. They have just passed very creditable examination as barristers etc. in Manitoba. E. D. A. Carey and A. McKay also Goderich barristers came out very well at the late Manitoba examination.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS.—During the past week a large number of persons have visited the green-house of Mr. A. Watson, South street, to witness the flowering of the species of cactus known as Cereus (grandiflorus) Macdonaldii. This plant blooms only at night. The flower is a large and handsome one, and the crowds who throng Mr. Watson's premises are well repaid for their visit in seeing this rare plant in bloom.

We understand that our town clerk, Mr. E. F. Moore, has been offered and has accepted a lucrative position as book-keeper in a Chicago jewelry establishment. Mr. Moore has been a model municipal officer, able, reliable and impartial, and the council will have difficulty in securing the services of as efficient a man to succeed him. Mr. Moore will also be missed in religious circles, he having a county reputation as a Sunday School organizer.

The Seaforth Expositor thus refers to our esteemed townsman, Mr. T. J. Moorhouse.—A gentleman from Goderich left here on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock and drove to Lynn's school house, in the township of Morris, 8 miles north of Brussels, and got back here in time for the express train going west, making the distance of 50 miles in less than 5 hours, and got back to Goderich in time to vote there for Mr. Cameron. He was driven by an enthusiastic Grit from the town.

The large number of would-be heavy weight champions will have to stop talking and writing when Donald Donnie the Scottish athlete arrives in America, which he will do in the course of a few days. At time of the champion's last visit to Canada he swept everything before him, and although he is now getting into the ranks of the "sere and yellow," he no doubt retains much of his old time vigor and strength, and will probably be able to take the starch out of the American heavy weights.

BLANK CARTRIDGE.—On Saturday evening the Goderich light infantry paraded on the square and fired a number of volleys from the rifles. Several runaways wore the rest of a wagon belonging to Mr. Robt. McLean butcher being badly broken, and the driver having a narrow escape from a serious injury. It was a mistake to indulge in volley firing on the public square Saturday night, and the wonder now is that so little damage was done by frightened horses. However, the experiment is not likely to be repeated.

DOMINION DAY.—To-morrow, should the weather prove fine, will see Goderich crowded with visitors to witness the games and sports. The very efficient committee have arranged a splendid programme, and the prizes are liberal. The varied character of the amusements, such as bicycle races, foot races, jumping, vaulting, boat races, street parades of firemen, etc., must commend the sports to the public generally. The proceedings of the day will open with a Catechism procession, and close with a grand display of fireworks.

Rev. Dr. Williams and family left Tuesday for St. Catharines. The Dr. during his three years residence in Goderich made many friends outside of his own congregation. Our own intercourse with him has been of a close and pleasant nature. Scholarly, pleasant of speech, yet honest and fearless in his utterances, 'an an of healthy piety and a large heart, he was a welcome visitor to our sanctuary, and we will miss his genial presence and wholesome converse. The people of St. Catharines are getting a good and an able man in Rev. John Williams D.D.

Mr. J. M. D. Gordon, of the Dominion Lands Department at Ottawa, son of the late John Bell Gordon, barrister, Goderich, has been appointed land agent for the Qu'Appelle district, with headquarters at Qu'Appelle. His jurisdiction for the present will extend to lands west of the second meridian. In order to meet the convenience of any one who has squatted on lands now open for entry, and to save them a long journey to Fort Qu'Appelle, Mr. Gordon will camp along the Canada Pacific Railway at different points, taking entries as he proceeds westward.

FORESTRY.—The High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters met at the return of Prof. Foster and Mr. N. Bret on the 19th inst. A delegate from the Court of this town informs us that the three principal officers, viz: Messrs. Long, Lindy and Green were re-elected to the offices of High Chief Ranger, Secretary and Treasurer, respectively. Mr. Peter Robb, of Clinton, had the honor of being elected Ranger conferred upon him. There were about 70 delegates present, who represented the order as being in a flourishing condition, and numbering over 2100 members, and 72 courts, of which 12 were added last year. The next meeting of the High Court will be held at Bangor on the 2nd Tuesday in June, 1883.—[Expositor.]

A Requiem High Mass was celebrated at St. Peter's on Tuesday, a. m. for the repose of the soul of the late Father McGauran. Fathers Lennon, of Brantford, Shea, of Seaforth, Connolly, of Biddeford, of the honor of Wawanosh, and Father Waters officiated. Father Connolly preached a very appropriate sermon from the text "Remember, man, thou art but dust, and unto dust thou shalt return." He spoke feelingly of the reverend deceased expressing the wish of the late Archbishop Hughes. "Bury me in the sunshiny where he lies among the many of his flock to whom he had been a faithful shepherd. The high altar in its mourning drapery with the numbers of candles upon it looked grand. A black velvet cloth with a handsome Maltese cross in white adorned the front. Upon the drapery of the chandeliers bouquets of natural flowers were fastened, which gave a cheerful effect to the heavy drapery surrounding the church. The new funeral pall of black velvet is very handsome.

H. S. MERRYBURY SOCIETY.—The most interesting meeting of the above society during the past term was held last Friday evening. It being the last official meeting of the quarter the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:—Pres. Mr. D. Porrie; 1st Vice Pres. Miss Dale; 2nd Vice Pres. Miss M. Robertson. Sec. Mr. W. Taylor; Treas. Mr. A. Hissop; Editress, Miss M. Cameron; Sec. of Committees, Miss Lizzie Dickson; Councilors, Misses J. Logie, L. Gibson, M. Ferguson. The usual programme consisting of readings recitations songs etc. was carried out. The most pleasant part of the meeting however was occasioned by the fact that Messrs. D. McGillivray B. A., and J. C. Robertson were present for the first time after their return from the University. Mr. Strang made a neat speech paying a high tribute to the ability and industry which had enabled Mr. McGillivray to carry off the gold medal in classics. Mr. McGillivray being called upon, made an excellent address, throwing out some useful hints relative to preparing for and passing examinations. Mr. J. C. Robertson made a highly original, humorous and interesting speech which was received with great enthusiasm by those present. Addresses were also given by Messrs. W. Clutton and F. McDonald who were to leave for the Metrication Examination in Toronto. The last meeting of the term will be held on Friday evening the 7th July. Exhibitions with the Scorpion will furnish an interesting part of the programme.

Mr. George Andrews, father of Mr. Charles Andrews and Mrs. R. B. Smith of Goderich, and of John Andrews, Bayfield Road, died on Monday, at the ripe age of 82. He came to Canada from Plymouth, Devon, England, in 1841, and settled in Kingston where for some years he carried on a very extensive business as victualer to the troops in Upper and Lower Canada. He afterwards carried on a large butchering business in Kingston, from whence he removed to Rochester N. Y., in 1866, to reside with one of his sons. About four years ago he and his aged partner came to Goderich where a number of his family had already located, and had since that time been a resident of this town. Mr. Andrews was a man of exemplary conduct and a consistent Christian. In early life he was converted to a knowledge of the Saviour, and for the past 65 years had been actively engaged in religious work as a local preacher. He leaves a widow in his 80th year, five sons and three daughters to mourn his loss. A funeral service was held in the North Street Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon last, when Rev. Dr. Williams preached the sermon on the occasion, in which special mention was made of the kindly and Christian qualities of the deceased.

FLORICULTURE.—It is a mistaken idea that flowers should be watered twice a day and twice only, at sunset and after sunset. Flowers should always be watered when the soil about their roots look dry. Some plants require to be watered twice a day, some three or four times, some once, and others four or five times a week. Care should be taken to water the soil about the roots, and not to sprinkle the tops as many do, thinking that if the leaves and flowers get a dainty bath from the spout of a watering pot, all is well. The root of the plant wants the nourishment, and not the blossoms and leaves, although, of course, they present a far lovelier appearance when sprinkled over with diamond drops of water. Another thing for amateur florists to observe is the careful pruning of all plants removing half withered blossoms and leaves. These may be collected in a box, and will make excellent manure. Dead flowers and leaves on a plant spoil its beauty, as soiled lace at the neck and sleeves spoils the beauty of a dress. Roses grow well in any ordinary garden soil that is free from standing water and well drained. The soil should not contain too much clay, but if this is apparent it may be remedied by an application of wood and coal ashes, lime and stable manure. The rose bushes should be pruned in October, and not in the spring of the year as many suppose.

The feast of the Sacred Heart, which fell on Friday, 16th inst., was celebrated in the church of the same name in this town with very impressive services. At 7 a. m. Mass was celebrated, at which those who had prepared for the occasion, received holy communion. At 10 o'clock, by virtue of sub-delegation from Bishop Walsh, the pastor, Father Boubat, assisted by Rev. Father McDonald, of Guelpch, and Father McKeon, of Strathroy, presided over the canonical erection of the rose crown in the church. The Rev. Father McDonald addressed the congregation on the subject. At the close of this impressive and most rare ceremony, the Rev. Father McKeon celebrated the solemn High Mass, and Father McDonald again addressed the congregation on the subject of the Sacred Heart. In the evening, Vespers were held and a discourse by Rev. Father McKeon on the Sacrifice of the Mass. The discourse was followed by solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The choir of the church was under the direction of Father Boubat, with Miss Doyle, of Goderich, as organist, and was assisted in the morning by Miss Ellen Murdoch as leading alto, and Messrs. Drummond and Lebel as tenors. The soprano and basso parts were sustained respectively by Miss McDonald, Miss Emma Smith, Miss O'Gony, Misses Donnelly and Miss R. Dunn, and Messrs. Thos. Henderson, A. Murdoch, and the leader.—[Ingersoll Chronicle.]

Sallows, the photographer, is making a "big strike" in his large photographs. These pictures are 17 x 21 inches in size, and are handsomely mounted in frames 22 x 28 inches.

A number of these fine photographs are now on exhibition in Mr. Sallow's studio.

Among them is tip-top photo of the celebrated trotter "Lucy" and her trainer, E. R. Palmer. The black mare looks clear and clean, and very natural.

The residence of Mr. John Buchanan, of Colborne, is nicely taken. The Laird is in the foreground seated in a buggy, and the family are grouped mainly around the door step.

These are pictures of the residence, of Mr. R. Sallows, which are very homelike and satisfactory. The family groups being large and natural in position.

Mr. George Morris, of Colborne, scythe in hand, stands in another picture at his own residence, while the venerable yet active John Morris is seated on the verandah of his son's house, reading. This picture is suggestive of a well-worked farm, with powerful horses at the plow.

We have seen few finer family groups than that of Mrs. Attrill, the Misses Attrill and Master Attrill. It is a photograph that Mr. Sallows may well be proud of.

We would invite our readers to inspect these large photographs. Mr. Sallows will be pleased to show them, and give particulars as to prices, etc.

Gladiators as an Orator.

The whole house hushed into instant silence with his first sentence; and, to my thinking the respectful and generally quiet attention with which his opponents listened to his speech for an hour and forty minutes was a higher compliment than the most vociferous cheering which party friends bestowed on other speakers.

His voice has a wonderful musical quality in it. It is like listening to a song to hear him speak; and it is as musical in its cadences as in its tone. This characteristic is quite indescribable.

I have never noted in any other orator the same quality in the same degree. I recall at times the clarionet bea of the voice of the elder Dr. Tyn, which in sweetness of tone and rhythmical cadence it greatly surpassed.

His voice does not strike one as powerful. He never seems to exert it, but on coming away I remembered that his slightest tone was easily heard in every part of the House.

He speaks slowly and deliberately. Even his most impassioned utterance were not rapid; he sometimes hesitated for a word, and sometimes recall a wrong one and substituted another; but he did not tie together broken fragments of sentences with those dreadful "ugh's" the English speaker so constantly indulges in.

His action was slight and simple. It did not strike me that he added much force to his words by his gestures, and he did not possess a grace at all commensurate with the beauty of his voice.

That he had studied his speech analytically, that he had gone over the whole subject thoroughly, and knew what course he wished to pursue, what points to make, what objections to his proposed measure to answer, what arguments for its adoption to urge, was very evident; but that he had studied it rhetorically there was no indication.

I should say that, in the best sense of the term, it was purely extemporaneous.

But what impressed me most, and what unmistakably impressed even his opponents in spite of themselves, was the spirit which breathed through it, and which, at least for the time, changed the whole atmosphere of the House.

For an hour he had been lauded—I can use no other expression—by the Opposition. His notice of motion had aroused the bitterest animosities.

That there was an endeavour to make him lose his temper I will not aver; that few men less disciplined and practiced in parliamentary warfare would have kept their tempers I unhesitatingly assert.

His opening sentence, even more by his spirit than by his words, swept out the bitter passions of this unfortunate prelude.

"In approaching the discussion of a profoundly important, very comprehensive, and rather complex subject, I think my first duty will be to efface, from my recollection at any rate, and the occurrences of the last hour or hour and a half."

And in all that followed, even when he was characterizing in vigorous terms the obstruction of the Irish party, at the last session, the sense of personal wrong was never uppermost, the sense of calm but intense devotion to the highest welfare of the nation was never absent.

Scientific Abstraction.

Griffin, Edison's private secretary, once told me a funny characteristic story of the manner in which Edison came to get married. The idea was first suggested by an intimate friend who made the point that he needed a mistress to preside over his big house, which was being managed by a housekeeper and several servants. I dare say the idea had not occurred to him before, for he is known to be the shyest and most bashful of men, but he seemed pleased with the proposition, and inquired whom he should marry. The friend somewhat testily replied, "anyone"; that a man who had so little sentiment in his soul as to ask such a question ought to be satisfied with anything that wore a petticoat and was decent, and concluded by saying: "There are a number of nice girls employed in your factory over yonder; they aren't especially refined or cultivated, I must confess, but they are respectable, and that is the main consideration after all."

Edison looked them all over, and after making his selection, put the question plumply to her. It was Edison's way of doing business, but embarrassed the young lady all the same. She asked time to consider, and Edison granted her a week. At the end of that time she accepted him, and they were married without delay. They had decided to visit the New-England States and Canada and make quite an extensive tour. As the bridal party drove to the station they passed his laboratory. Turning to his wife, Edison excused himself for a few minutes, saying there was some matter that needed his attention and that he would be at the station in time for the train. The train came and went and so did several others, but no Edison. The bride, who knew his peculiarities, finally drove back to the house and waited for liege lord's pleasure. She never saw him again for forty-eight hours. Immersed in some idea that had suddenly occurred to him, he became oblivious to brides honeymoons or anything else. [Buffalo Commercial.]

The Chinese at Home.

The chief characteristic of the Chinese, as a nation, is industry. Their working day begins at dawn and lasts till sunset. Schools open at sunrise and do not close till 5 p. m., there being but one short recess during the day. The Emperor and his court rise soon after midnight, and court audiences are given between 5 and 8 o'clock in the morning. This same industry is exhibited by all classes. After sunset very few people are in the streets, the Chinese, like domestic fowls, retiring early to rest. There is no day corresponding to Sunday, and only a few holidays in the year. Busily as they toil, these people are never in a hurry, never nervous, and are not given to worrying; but are steady, cheerful and sober. They rarely quarrel, and even if they do, seldom come to blows. There will be a little queue pulling, some calling of hard names, and then the bystanders will quietly separate the combatants. It is not physical timidity, but a sensitive consciousness of the disgrace of fighting that keeps them from engaging in brawls. That they are not cowards is well proven by the fact that they submit without flinching to the most severe surgical operations without ever using anaesthetics. They maintain that it is very injurious to health to be nervous, to worry or to give way to anger. As a people the Chinese do not desire a voice in the Government. The common people are not public spirited, and they are not only, through ignorance, indifferent to beneficial reforms, but they oppose them strongly if they are apt to increase the taxes. The Government of China is not nearly so aristocratic as foreigners are accustomed to think it, but when the popular voice is once aroused it is sure to have great force. In many cases where there is a conflict between the mandarin, or governor of a district, and the people, if the people are patient and commit no acts of violence, the mandarin either yields or is removed by the government. The people have not the profoundest respect for precedent, and are, in fact, constitutionally conservative. Although in the main they use the same implements and materials known to them for thousands of years, yet their religion itself is an importation from India, and they use foreign watches, needles, kerosene, sulphur, matches, cotton fabric, etc. They are, as a people, excessively polite, and their ceremonial of social intercourse is to foreigners painfully elaborate. It is an error to suppose, however, that they are a cringing race; they assert their rights vigorously enough when occasion calls.

They are not a truth telling people. They give false evidence in trials, furnish false statistics, and even officials present reports that are tissues of falsehoods. It is impossible to shame them by exposing their untruthfulness. They are not addicted to thieving, however. There is much said about the gross immorality of this people. In China, at least, if it exists it is not seen. There are societies for the suppression of immoral books. The sacred writings contain not one indecent word, and their paintings and sculpture are perfectly pure. Vulgar language is never heard above the lowest classes. All Chinamen drink some wine, a native beverage made of rice, but drunkenness is absolutely unknown, so that there are none of the evils of intemperance there so common here—wife beating, brawling, and violence of all kinds. The habit that curses the nation, opium smoking, enervates the physical, mental, and moral nature, but does not lead to violence.

A Wise Precaution.

During the Summer and Fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaint, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician seldom required.

Phosphatine

Is a wonderful thing, yet so natural, so reasonable. Why? If you have feelings of goneness; too weak and dragging to rally; too nervous to sleep; an appetite hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together; headache, with pains across the back; the whole system relaxed, perhaps coughs and sore lungs; and will use one to six bottles of Dr. G. L. Austin's Phosphatine as the case may demand; it will not fail to make you an enthusiastic friend. Why do we say thus? Because Phosphatine supplies a want, the very properties the system is lacking and yearning for. It is not a medicine, but nutriment instantly converted into blood, bone and tissue. It is also delicious to the taste. Try it. The result is as certain as that cause and effect go hand in hand. All druggists, Lowrey & Co., Sole agents for the Dominion, 55 Front St. East, Toronto.

The Expatriation of the Russian Jews.

The exodus of the Jews from Russia is now attaining such vast dimensions that it cannot fail to produce an appreciable effect in many parts of the empire. Those who yet have means are occupying to countries where their life and property will be secured, and those who have lost all their possessions in the riots, but who have yet health and strength, are departing with all possible speed from the land. At first the fugitives escaped from the land of oppression in small numbers, by either evading or bribing the Cossacks who guarded the frontier, or suffering these soldiers to plunder them of every rouble they possessed. Frequently the fugitives arrived in Austria deprived of almost every article of clothing, and eyewitnesses describe how stripped by the Cossacks, the children were led into Brody absolutely naked.

Now, however, the flood of refugees has so increased that no Cossack cordon can withstand it, and the Jews now pass the frontier by the thousands without hindrance. This exodus is a subject of sore perplexity to the inhabitants of those places where the fugitives first find a resting place where at least life and limb are secure; and the greatest stress is felt in Galicia, which projecting its eastern frontier into the Ukraine—the scene of the worst persecutions and excesses—seems almost to stretch out its arm to receive the helpless sufferers.

At Brody, a small town close to the frontier, the pressure is greatest, and there, up to the present time, at least 20,000 Jews have taken shelter, of whom 15,000 yet remain, wholly destitute of means, and awaiting their turn for deportation through some charitable agency.

At an early stage of the exodus, when the numbers were comparatively small, the Universal Israelitish alliance, which though located in Paris, has branches in Berlin, Vienna and most large towns on the continent, came to the rescue, and, sending to Brody as commissioners Dr. Schaffer and Mr. Charles Netter of Paris, Dr. Friedlander of Vienna, and Mr. Hermann Magnus of Leipsic, selected from the refugees such as appeared fit subjects for emigration and forwarded them to America. A princely donation of 1,000,000 francs presented by Baron Hirsch the Jewish banker at Paris, enabled much to be accomplished in this direction. But with ever increasing numbers of fugitives and failing funds, the work had to be discontinued, and, France thus retiring for a time from the philanthropic campaign, England stepped in.—[Times.]

Punctuation.

Lindley Murray laid down twenty rules to govern the use of a comma, and Wilson in his "Treatise of Punctuation," gives nineteen. No wonder that with so many rules people get confused as to the proper use of this, the smallest grammatical division in written or printed matter. Many illustrations might be given to indicate the important character of the errors that arise from its omission or improper use; but the following will suffice:

In the Imperial Dictionary, the word "Tarn" is thus defined: "A small mountain lake or pool." The improper use of the comma after mountain, makes tarn signify three things 1st a mountain; 2nd, a lake, and third a pool, instead of simply a mountain lake or pool.

At a public dinner this toast was given "Woman—without her, man is a brute." A reporter had it printed: "Woman without her man, is a brute."

A printer, meddling with the verdict of a coroner's jury, by inserting a comma after "drinking," instead of "apoplexy," made it read thus: "Deceased came to his death by excessive drinking, causing apoplexy in the minds of the jury."

A clergyman was expatiating before a deeply interested congregation, upon the alarming increase of intemperance in his parish, when he astonished his hearers by saying: "A young woman in my neighborhood died very suddenly last Sunday, while I was preaching the gospel in a state of beastly intoxication."

Lucknow.

BROKE HIS COLLAR BONE.—While playing at lacrosse in the Caledonian Park here on Wednesday evening last, Mr. D. O. Cameron, son of the Rev. Dr. Cameron, fell and broke his collar bone. Dr. McCrimmon was immediately sent for, and set the broken bone, but it will be some time before Duncan be round again.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday morning, about nine o'clock, the boiler in McLehlan's sawmill at Paramount, about five miles from Lucknow, exploded and instantly killed a young man named Alexander Campbell, son of Mr. Roderick Campbell, of this village. What was the exact cause of the explosion is not known. Dr. McCrimmon, coroner, was sent for but did not deem an inquest necessary.—[Sentinel.]

J. FULTON, M. D., PROF. TRINITY M. C. Medical College, Toronto, says: Wheeler's Phosphatine and Calisyra is a combination of great reliability and efficacy. It has been very highly recommended by the medical profession, both at home and abroad, where ever it has been tried. We have used it in many cases of indigestion, nervous prostration, chlorosis and anemia, and we have no hesitation in giving it our unqualified recommendation. We have, therefore, great pleasure in calling the attention of the profession to a preparation so worthy of confidence, and so reliable in the treatment of convalescing patients, and all diseases attended with debility of the nervous and muscular system.

A Big Swell.

CLEVELAND, June 23.—A tidal wave, two miles wide, and eleven feet high, swept the lake front here this morning. It came in wake of a dense, angry-looking, black and gray cloud, which moved from the northward over the city. There was no wind or rain at the lake shore, though some rain fell in the city. The wind blew fiercely south of the town. Vessels parted their lines. At the mouth of the river the piers and docks were submerged four feet in some places. Hundreds of fish were cast ashore. The fires were put out in the Lake Erie Rolling Mills. A scow loaded with sand was landed high on the shore, and a short stretch of railway near the Union Depot was ripped up. Numerous small buildings were overturned. A tramp sleeping near the lake was drowned. A man standing on the bank was washed against the wall of the Union Depot. Another sitting at the switch house was buried under a stove. Huge logs were washed ashore, and the life-saving station was badly wrecked. Various other damage was done. The wave lasted about a minute. Several parties fishing in skips report a sudden rise of water and violent commotion like a whirlpool. The skiff weathered the storm without accident. The damage to property on the shore is estimated at $30,000.

Bad Blood.

The blood is the true essence of vitality. Without pure blood there can be no healthy action in the system. Boils, blotches, pimples and the various humors and blemishes of the skin are only symptomatic of bad blood—that needs purifying its fountain head, to render its tributaries pure. Burdock Blood Bitters effectually cleanse the blood from all humors, obtains a healthy action of the liver, bowels, kidneys, skin, etc., and strengthening while it regulates and purifies.

There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry; and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Handsome Presentation and Affectionate Address to Rev. Daniel Allen, of Goderich, from his North Easthrop Friends.

From the Stratford Beacon. Rev. Daniel Allen, the former esteemed pastor of the North Easthrop Presbyterian congregation, assisted his successor, Rev. Mr. Stewart, in the services connected with the communion on the last Sabbath in May, and on the evening of the following Tuesday a large deputation of the congregation met at the manse and presented the rev. and venerable gentleman with the following friendly and affectionate address, accompanied with a well filled purse. Owing to extreme fatigue Mr. Allen was only able at the time to return a brief verbal reply, but since then he has forwarded a written acknowledgment which is appended hereto. The election contest prevented the earlier appearance of the address and reply, but we venture to say they will be read with as much interest and be as fully appreciated as if they had appeared two or three weeks ago.

THE CONGREGATION'S ADDRESS. To the Rev. Daniel Allen, late pastor of the Presbyterian Church of North Easthrop. REV. AND DEAR SIR.—On behalf of the members and adherents of the Presbyterian congregation of North Easthrop, we, on this occasion of the temporary re-union of the congregation with yourself, take this opportunity of expressing our great gratification and unalloyed pleasure at seeing you present in our midst and at hearing your voice, which for seven and thirty years was familiar to us, giving utterance once more to words of wisdom and of earnest exhortation to each and all of us to follow in the footsteps of the meek and lowly Jesus, who once trod this earth, and whose mission was to seek and to save.

Although the period that has elapsed since you bade us farewell as a people has not been a very lengthy one, time has wrought a great many changes in our several relations. Faces, familiar faces, sir, to you, are not amongst us to-day. Some have betaken themselves to other portions of the vineyard, some are confined to their places of abode through bodily infirmity, while others have gone down to the dark valley of the shadow of death and have crossed the bourne whence no earthly traveller returns. And although your own eye is apparently as bright as of yore, your voice as firm as in days gone by, the same indomitable spirit prevails, and the "old man eloquent" displays the old-time fire and energy, yet your steps begin to falter, your head is not so erect as it once was, and your physical strength is evidently on the wane; evidencing clearly that the evening of your day is drawing nigh, that the shadows are lengthening, and that the darkness of night will soon be at hand. May the God of Jacob be the strength and mainstay of yourself and your partner in life, whilst traversing the distance that may yet lie before you in the remainder of your earthly journey.

Before we part—it may be for the last time—we ask you to accept this purse which contains $180, not on account of its par value, but as a slight token of respect, and as a remembrance of the "days that are gone." We trust that yourself and Mrs. Allen will arrive in safety at your home on the shores of Lake Huron; and if your lives are spared this visit will become an annual one to this people. We trust and pray that the remainder of your days may be devoid of many of the ills, losses, and crosses, that are too often the accompaniments of frail man and woman whilst traversing through the vale of tears, and may we all live so, that we may with confidence look forward to the realization of the hope of meeting together again in the blessed "regions beyond" where parting is no more. On behalf of the congregation of North Easthrop, John Stewart, A. M. Fisher, Duncan Forbes, Douglass McDougall, Peter Stewart, John McTavish, Alex. Crerar, Donald Fisher, Daniel Kipper.

MR. ALLEN'S REPLY. DEAR FRIENDS.—Your very kind, tasteful, and heartfelt address just read together with the handsome present accompanying it, from the congregation of North Easthrop, so well and so worthily represented by your committee, has taken me quite by surprise, so much so that I am at a loss for words to express my thanks for such unlooked for kindness on the part of my late flock.

More than six and a half years have elapsed since the tie which bound us together for 37 years was dissolved. In that interval several of your number have been removed, either by death or by distance. A new tie has happily been formed which I hope and trust God will long continue to bless both to pastor and to people, and, when I bade you farewell, you presented me with the price of a handsome gold watch and massive chain as a token of your regard. Yet notwithstanding all these facts, there is manifestly no diminution, to this hour, of esteem or affection on the part of my old charge.

During the earlier part of my ministry among you, it was not possible for you to give expression to your kindness by money-presents—for money was then scarce, and you were comparatively poor. But love will "do what it can," and your gifts from the fruits of the farm and of the dairy, were large and liberal, and so constant that, unlike more occasional benefactions, they flowed upon my household in a continuous stream. Then your gratuitous labors, time after time, in improving my property, when I had no means of doing so myself, did very greatly enhance its value. I must likewise add to all this, that you not only paid all that you promised, but on more occasions than one, presented me with small amounts remaining in the treasurer's hands; and above my stated salary, whilst meanwhile your freewill offerings never abated. My very first buggy was a donation from my dear people, and though that has long since perished—yet I held at present, and hope while I live to hold, other remembrances of the love and generosity of this congregation.

Above all things else, can I ever forget your deep, earnest, heartfelt sympathy with my afflicted family, in our great sorrow, ten years ago, when you crowded a whole car travelling from Stratford to Goderich, to attend the funeral of our lamented Evan. Dear people, though absent in person how can I ever fail to be present with you in spirit sympathizing in all your sorrows and joys, as if they were my own—and pray that Heaven's best blessings may be yours in this world and the next. I congratulate you upon your possession of the excellent and accomplished pastor whom God has given you, no doubt, in answer to prayer. Long may he and his kind-hearted partner be spared in the next little manse, embosomed in tress partly of my own planting, with the best affections of an attached people ever clustering around it and its amiable inmates. I thank you for your kind wishes for Mrs. Allen and myself—and I accept this well-filled purse as a further expression of your unaltered, and, as I believe, unalterable affection for your old minister. D. ALLEN.

Stand Up Straight. God fitted the great vital organs in your bodies to an erect spine. Do your shoulders ever stoop forward? If they do, so do the lungs, heart, liver, and stomach fall down out of their natural places. Of course they can't do their work well. To show you how this is, I will tell you that when you bend forward you can only take about half as much air in the lungs as you can when you stand up straight. As I have said, God has so arranged the great organs in the body that they can't do their duty well except when the body is straight. Oh, how it distresses me to see the dear children, whom I love so much, bending over their school desks, and walking with their head and shoulders drooping! My dear children, if you would have a strong spine and vigorous lungs, heart, liver and stomach, you must, now while you are young, learn to walk erect.

If one of my children were about to leave this country for Japan, never to return, and were to come to me and ask for rules to preserve his health, I should say: "I am glad to see you, and will give you four rules, which, carefully observed, will be pretty sure to preserve your health." He might say to me: "Four are a good many; give me one, but the most important one, and I promise not to forget it." I should reply: "Well, my dear child, if I give you but one, it is this: Keep yourself straight, that is, sit up straight; walk up straight; and when in bed at night, don't put two or three pillows under your head as though intent on watching your toes all night; and I believe that in this I should give the most important rule which can be given for the preservation of health and long life." [Dr. Dio Lewis.

How to be Handsome. Most people would like to be handsome. Nobody denies the great power which any person may have who has a handsome face, and attracts you by good looks even before a word has been spoken. And we see all sorts of devices in men and women to improve their looks.

Now, all cannot have good features—they are as God made them—but almost any one can look well, especially with good health. It is hard to give rules in a very short space, but in brief these will do:— Keep clean—wash freely. All the skin wants is leave to act freely, and it takes care of itself. Its thousands of air holes must not be closed. Eat regularly, and eat enough—not too much. The stomach can no more work all the time, night and day, than a horse. It must have regular work and rest.

Good teeth are a help to good looks. Brush them with a soft brush, especially at night. Go to bed with cleansed teeth. Of course to have white teeth it is needful to let tobacco alone. All women know that. Washes for the teeth should be very simple. Acid may whiten teeth, but it takes off the enamel and injures them.

Sleep in a cool room in pure air. No one can have a cleanly skin who breathes bad air. But more than all, in order to look well wake up mind and soul.

When the mind is awake the dull, sleepy look passes away from the eyes. I do not know that the brain expands, but it seems so. Think, and read, not trashy novels, but books and papers that have something in them.

Men say they cannot afford books, and sometimes do not even pay for a newspaper. In that case it does them little good, they feel so mean while reading them. But men can afford what they choose. If all the money spent in self-indulgence, in hurtful indulgence, in books and papers for self-improvement; we should see a change. Men would grow handsome, and women too. The soul would shine out through the eyes. We are not meant to be mere animals. Let us have books and read them, and sermons and heed them.

GOLD—Is excellent for filling decayed Teeth; but "TEABERRY" prevents the decay, makes them white, and make people lovable. 5 cent samples.

For the Ladies.

Black and white together is fashionable in millinery. A woman's heart is the only true place for a man's likeness. An instant gives the impression, and the age of sorrow and change cannot efface it.

Patent-leather moccasins with favour for ladies' summer shoes, not because it is cool, but because it is not affected by moisture at the seaside, and is easily cleansed of dust.

Visiting bonnets are small, and are generally the capote. The little head-dress has come out in all the fashionable straw braids, but the preference seems to be for the capote of lace.

The large Mother Hubbard cloaks have been made part of the summer outfit of many ladies who want a light wrap that will cover them, and yet look more dressy than an ulster or waterproof.

Keep a cup of powdered borax on your washstand; it will do wonders in the way of softening the skin. If you have been working in the garden or doing things about the house which have tended to make your hands rough, when you wash them dip your fingers in the borax, and rub your hands well with it.

The range of outdoor garments is very wide, and adapts itself to varied tastes and necessities more than ever before. All sorts of garments are worn, from the "Mother Hubbard," which envelops the figure, and the ulster, which protects it, to the prim cape of netted silk and chenille, straight, yet elastic, which adapts itself to the shoulders.

Jackets which fit closely like a basque are worn with an English fashion, but are becoming popular here. Twin-colored cloth jackets, of light texture, are most useful for seaside or mountain wear, and are faced with silk or satin of the felle shade, and finished with old coin or imitation coin buttons.

A very convenient and pretty bag is made like the old-fashioned long purse, and can be used for sewing, knitting, or even for a scrap bag in the sitting-room. It is made of cashmere, silk, or even a bandana hankerchief, and is fastened with two bone harness rings. One end is left square, with a tassel at each corner, the other end is drawn together, and has one large tassel on it.

Adulterated Tobacco. A pamphlet has been published, showing that in Germany thousands of tons of beet leaves are transformed into tobacco. In some places chicory and cabbage leaves make the fragrant weed. An English chemist found a stuff sold for tobacco was the leaves of a diaphoretic plant. It has been impossible to sell the plant as a drug, and it had been turned into tobacco to save loss.

Another writer informs everybody, or wants to, that chemists have an important place in tobacco factories. Fifteen factories in New York employ chemists to "flavour" cigars. They can not do much with the wrapper, but they can "heighten and develop" the fillings. It is a relief to know on the authority of writer quoted that opium is not used, although it used to be formerly, in England, but stringent laws broke the practice. The substances used to flavour tobacco are numerous. Every manufacturer has his own formula. Vanilla is the most common. This is employed in the form of an alcoholic tincture to flavour fillings. It is said that few cigars are free from vanilla. Its effects are not harmful if not used to excess. The tonka bean and balsam are used in the same way for the same purpose. Cedar oil is also introduced. The best imitator of the tobacco flavour is valerian. Valerian and vanilla are the most valuable chemicals now in use by tobaccoists. By their use the poorest stems may be converted into fair tobacco. In cigars enter not only valerian and vanilla, but cascarrilla bark. To make cigars turn, ammonia is used, and they are soaked in saltpetre. The latter is injurious and makes young men old with dispatch. The object of its use is to cause the cigar to burn freely. It has been noticed by some smokers that an intoxicating effect has been produced by some cigars. This is produced by dipping the fillings in a solution of sulphuric ether and bromide of potassium. When it is known that New England rum is used with vanilla and valerian, it is nothing to wonder at that the cigars so treated produce intoxication. We do not name the brand that is treated with New England rum. If we did, the demand would exceed the supply. To make tobacco, or aid in its adulteration, such other things as potato leaves, sugar, potash, tamarinds, aniseed, gum and various oils not heretofore mentioned are used to a greater or less extent. In New York alone, 826,666,000 cigars are made annually, besides 229,800,000 cigarettes, and twenty-five thousand persons employed.

FRIDAY, JUNE 30th, 1882.

Are the Conservatives of West Huron in favor of a fair and honest count?

When theascalities perpetrated by the Tory returning officers at the late election are carefully looked into, the only wonder is that the Liberals succeeded, and in capturing any of the seats.

A Tory lawyer of Brussels succeeded in getting in a bogus vote in East Wawanosh on election day. It may mark him as a sound Tory, but it does not redound to his honesty or integrity.

Persons who have sometime been sceptical of the miraculous raising of the dead, as cited in the Scriptures need be unorthodox no more. In Goderich the vote of a man who had been dead several months was sworn to and polled in the Tory interest.

Wishing Mr. Cameron out will not put him out. He has a majority of votes at his back, and can smile at any attempt at "counting in" his opponent. The worst the Tories can do is to put the people to the turmoil and expense of a new election, and that would increase Mr. Cameron's majority fourfold.

FARROW'S majority over Sloan in East Huron was 59. When it is remembered that the Tory majority in that Riding was 108 on the 17th of Sept. 1878, it will be admitted on all sides that a splendid fight was fought by Dr. Sloan, and the success of Mr. Farrow is a Phyrice victory, indeed. Another such contest and a fall by ratio in the majority of votes would relegate Mr. Thos. Farrow to the classic precincts of Bluevale for the remainder of his natural life.

The placing of Mr. Shaw on the retired list by Mr. R. M. Wells, in East Bruce, is a feat of no small import. The riding, as generally understood, gave a majority of over 500 against the Liberals on the basis of the election of 1878, and the plucky little ex-speaker of the Legislature succeeded in lifting a majority of over 100 out of it.

A NUMBER of bigoted Tories in Brussels have "boycotted" the Post, and are anxious to starve friend Kerr out. But the editor would be lulled out of the path of duty, and has let the miserable fellows know it. Decent Conservatives must be ashamed of such a petty warfare as that indulged in by the Brussels Lib.-Cons. The Post is a clean, honest, truthful paper, and Mr. Kerr has only to hold his ground to win an early and decisive victory over party hate, bigotry and ignorance. He will likely continue, as of yore, to advocate the interests of the town, despite the contemptible efforts of these Tory patriots to hinder the good work. They attempted to boycott the Post eight years ago, but signally failed.

The late elections prove beyond contradiction that an unwelcome change was made when the Dominion Government arrogated to themselves the appointment of partisan returning officers instead of the officials who had been entrusted with the duty in past contests. From almost every constituency is heard a clamor against the manner in which the appointments of the Government have endeavored to work in the interest of the present Administration and to the detriment of public opinion. In both well, two municipalities, Camden and Dawn, which gave majorities of 28 and 5, respectively to Hon. David Mills, were ignored by the returning officer, because the deputy returning officer in each instance had omitted to sign the certificate concerning the ballot. To any unprejudiced mind it will seem strange that the inadvertence or criminal neglect of a deputy returning officer will have the effect of disfranchising the electors of the subdivision under his supervision; and if the contention be allowed that the returning officer was justified in discarding the ballots of Camden and Dawn on a technical quibble, it will be seen that in a close constituency an incapable or knavish deputy can easily void the election of a candidate. This ground was evidently taken by Judge Bell, before whom a final addition of the Bothwell votes was held on Monday last, as he decided that Hon. David Mills was elected by twelve of a majority. The jubilation of the Tories over the election of Mr. J. J. Hawkins was under these circumstances, a little "too previous."

TORY Argument.—We cannot beat Cameron at the polls, but we will see if we can't count him out somehow.

The official majority of Mr. John McMillan in South Huron is 507. He scored majorities in every municipality in the riding except Bayfield, which gave 29 against him. In McKillop, which the Tories calculated would roll up 150 against him, Mr. McMillan succeeded in getting a majority of 7.

MR. M. C. CAMERON is not made of the stuff which will permit any political tool to swindle him out of a seat. He has polled a clear majority of votes, by Tory as well as Grit count, and that in the face of the unscrupulous stuffing of the ballot box in No. 2, Ashfield, by the bogus Tory farmer's sons. Had only good votes been counted Mr. Cameron's majority instead of being 30 would have ranged from 50 to 75. Any attempt to deny Mr. Cameron his seat will prove the death-blow to Toryism in Huron.

The official count in West Huron, which was to have taken place on Tuesday last, was postponed until to-day (Friday) at noon, owing to the fact that the deputy-returning officers in six polling sub-divisions had neglected, through ignorance or intent, to forward the certificates with the ballot boxes. The consequence of the omission of duty on the part of the deputies has placed the returning officer in an unenviable position, and we understand he has been forced to take legal advice as to what course he should pursue under the circumstances.

The condition of affairs is at present very similar to the Bothwell embroglio. In the Bothwell case the services of the county judge were called in owing to the obstreperous conduct of the returning officer, who was so blinded by party spirit that he was unable to do right. In the West Huron case we do not fear the judgment of Mr. Wilson, as he has the reputation of being an upright man. The case is a simple one. Mr. Cameron was admitted on all sides—Grit and Tory—to be elected. When the day of the official count arrived it was found that some of the deputies had failed to comply with the requirements of the law, and the official count was adjourned. Since that time the delinquent deputies have complied with the law, and forwarded certificates. The count will take place to-day, and we have every reason to believe that Mr. Wilson will declare the candidate who received the majority vote to be elected. In which case Mr. M. C. Cameron will be the representative of West Huron.

A Voice from Clinton. The Conservatives may henceforth make up their minds that when M. C. Cameron is a candidate, they have to take a back seat, for he will most assuredly grow stronger in the constituency for which he has been elected, and his majority will hereafter be much larger.—New Era.

The feeling up North. When the news reached Lucknow that M. C. Cameron had defeated Mr. Porter in West Huron the excitement knew no bounds, and cheer after cheer rent the air for over half an hour. The Tories were terribly crest fallen, and went home utterly disgusted. Large crowds of them had assembled in the village from the surrounding townships to hear the result of the contest, but five minutes after receiving the news that Mr. Cameron was the man, not one was to be seen.—Lucknow Sentinel.

Meeting of the High School Board. Goderich, June 26th. The Board met pursuant to notice. Present—The chairman, Rev. Dr. Cree, Dr. McLean and Mr. Jordan. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. An application from Miss Oliver for an increase of salary was read. Moved by Dr. Cree, seconded by Mr. Jordan, that the Board desires to express its great satisfaction at the successful receipt of the pupils of the High School who have recently passed examinations at the Toronto University, one of whom has taken the gold medal in classics, another a scholarship in classics, and another a scholarship in medicine, which reflects a high degree of credit upon the Head Master, Mr. Strang, and the staff associated with him in the school. The Board having brought under its notice the fact that the Literary Society in connection with the High School has during the past year contributed, for the purchase of a magic lantern the sum of $115, place on record its great satisfaction at the success of the Society and their contribution for the objects above referred to. Carried. Moved by Mr. Jordan, seconded by Dr. McLean, that the secretary be instructed to request the Town Council to provide the sum of $1,700 for the support of the High School for the current year. Carried. On motion Board adjourned.

McKillop. Archbishop Ferguson, of the 7th concession McKillop, died last week, having been a resident of the township for over thirty years. Sir John tried to prevent criticism by gerrymandering the ablest Liberal's seat. Yet nearly every one of them is sent back to stand side by side with Edward Blake.

FAREWELL SERVICE.

Rev. Dr. Williams' FAREWELL SERVICE to His Congregation. Notwithstanding the intense heat on Sunday last, large congregations assembled at the North Street Methodist Church, to hear the last sermons of the Rev. J. Williams, D. D., who is removing to St. Catharines, where he will be Chairman of the diocese. Both morning and evening discourses were of a farewell character. In the evening the preacher took for his text the following words, contained in 2 Tim. 1: 13: "Hold fast the form of sound words which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus." He brought to the minds of the people the leading truths which he endeavored to lay before them in the past, and impressed upon them the importance of right views of God, of Christ and his salvation. In closing he said: And now what remains but for me to say "Farewell." I trust I utter no meaningless word. I speak in view of the interest which has accumulated in three years of intercourse, in the going in and out amongst you at your homes, and in knowing your joys and sorrows, your wants and your blessings. I pray for your welfare. May all things go well with you. May you prosper in your business. May you have peace and blessing in your family. May your children grow up to be an honor to you and to the church. Above all, may the Holy Ghost dwell in you richly. I could leave you with more satisfaction did I know you were all saved. That greatest of all facts, saved, ready for the other world. Shall we ever meet again? Never all. Then I shall take my leave of you by pressing upon you the importance of religion. I ask you to consider the things that make for life. Ye men and women whose names are enrolled in the membership of this congregation, shall bear record how I sought to lead you from strength to strength—to a mature piety and a richer experience of the things of God. Ye young men and young women whom I have met in this assembly and in Bible class shall bear record how I have sought to lead you to a noble manhood and womanhood, and how I have taught you to value religion and religious life as the chief good. Ye men and women of this church, whose prayers have encouraged me, and whose works have blessed me, continue your efforts for the good of your fellow-men. Maintain affinity with God; let him behold in your faithful mind the reflection of Himself. He hath built an everlasting world, at once the shelter of victorious goodness, and the theatre of its yet nobler triumph. If we lean on God, and find comfort in His society; if we feel we are beneath his all sheltering wing, he will envelop us in his immensity, and sustain us by his love. Distance will not separate us in feeling, in purpose, in aim. Separated, but not exiled from the great family, I shall often be with you in thoughts when the mournful cry, and grief asks pity, and the tempted call for help, and the weak implore fresh strength in this house, as they have often done. I shall think of the time and gathering, and my heart will ascend in prayer for the desired good. I go to another people, but with the same purpose, the same gospel,—to

Dr. Orion's Escape. Dr. Orion, the Tory member for Centre Wellington, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at Queen's Hotel. All went well with the member until dinner time, when he became very disordered. It was then ascertained that the doctor was very much intoxicated, and that they would have to hand him over to the Police for safe-keeping. The head waiter tried to smooth matters over by the Doctor's "sake" as he said, but the Doctor became enraged and threw a glass of brandy at the waiter. A couple of constables were then sent for, and the Doctor was seized and carried off to No. 1 Police Station, where he was kept in custody for some time. Subsequently some friends called at the station and bailed him out. He was then escorted back to the Queen's Hotel, but here he was refused admittance, and his name was erased from the register. Ex Mayor Beatty then came to the rescue and consented to provide the Doctor with a night's lodging. Centre Wellington has reason to be proud if the high moral character of its representative is a globe of Friday.

LEGAL NOTICES. AUCTION SALE OF VALUABLE LANDS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF SHEPPARD, IN THE COUNTY OF HURON. Pursuant to the order of William Richard Squire, Esquire, Judge of the County Court of the County of Huron, made in a certain suit or matter of the County of Huron, bearing date the 12th day of May, A. D. 1882, there will be offered for sale, with the approbation of the real representative of the County of Huron, on Saturday, the 8th of July, 1882, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, at White's hotel, in the village of Exeter, in the County of Huron, by James Oke, Auctioneer, the following valuable lands in two parcels named as follows: Parcel No. 1. The North half of Lot No. 15, in the 6th concession of the township of Sheppard, in the County of Huron, containing by admeasurement 50 acres of land, more or less. This property is well cleared and on it are erected a large two-story brick house and kitchen, a large brick barn, a brick stable, a large brick cowshed, a frame granary, a frame driving house, also a very valuable brick yard. There is also a good bearing spring. The purchase will be by cash or by mortgage, and will be subject to a mortgage of 25 acres of fall wheat now in the ground.

PERSONAL.—Master H. Horton has been visiting friends in Hullett.—Miss Jane Murison, of Ashfield, is spending a few days in this neighborhood.—Mrs. J. C. Currie and Mrs. Black, Goderich, spent a day or so with friends here last week.

Shepparton. Mr. Chas. Hawkins and wife have gone to reside at Bay City, Michigan. Miss Bessie Hawkins is home again after a visit to her friends in the States.

RETURNED.—Mr. Thos. Thurlow and Mr. Robert Dudgeon have returned from Uncle Sam's domains. They look as if life across the lines agreed with them.

A JOVIAL TIME.—On Friday last a logging bee was held on the farm of Capt. A. Bogie. The lads worked with a will, and fatigues of the day were soon forgotten as the lads and lasses entered into the mazy dance on the floor of the barn. The building was lighted with Chinese lanterns, and dressed with evergreens. Miss Macdonald, of Dunlop, and Miss Bogie, played on the organ, and Mr. George Carroll, of Ashfield, accompanied on the violin.

DUNLOP.

Dunlop, who, of Clinton, has been in this village during the past week. Sturmont will be dispensed in the Presbyterian church here on the second Sabbath in July. Miss Kirkpatrick, milliner, of this place proposes removing from here, and stating on a larger scale in Chicago, in about two weeks. Her many friends here wish her every success in her new enterprise.

The young people of this place propose having a grand picnic at Wright's Point on the first of July. Complete arrangements have been made for the convenience of a large crowd and all are anticipating a grand time. Now that the hot summer weather has fairly set in, the boys are having their heads shaved, and in the heavy white, middle aged men in shaven heads, and the bald-headed old men stoop and with his hat in one hand and naps his bare pole with a surprising vigor, with the other. While talking in the weather question, it might not be out of place to remark that the preachers would confer a great favor on their congregations if they would preach in inverse ratio to the thermometer. When the thermometer is skipping round among the nineties the preacher would please his audience well by preaching a limited number of minutes, and not by the hour.

Leoburn. There was moderate excitement here on election day. The polling for No. 4, Colborne, took place in the Temperance hall here. Mr. Geo. McKee, of Dunlop, was returning officer; Messrs. A. Allen and J. O. Stewart watched the interests of their respective candidates, and Mr. A. McAllister, armed with a blackthorn by way of a baton, maintained order. The I. O. G. T. furnished the voters with copious draughts of Adam's ale. Sleepy voters were hurried along by the teams of Messrs. Graham and W. G. Young. The Conservative candidate had a majority of 18 at the roll division. Number of names on the roll 105; number of votes polled 84, or exactly four-fifths of the available vote.

THE CROPS.—The recent rains have freshened up the crops. Barley has taken quite a change for the better; the Spring crops are in splendid order, and the fall wheat looks up. Our Dunlop cousins will have to look to their laurels. We understand that Mr. Hugh Chisholm has offered to give a fine turkey to Mr. Tobin if he can beat him in the yield of fall wheat per acre. Dunlop is now to be heard from.

FRESH.—Patmasters, Shaw and Striding have finished their stretch of statute labor. The boys turned out in large numbers on the beats, and as matters were permitted to be discussed matters went harmoniously. But it was hard work for some of the lads to stick to the rules.

PRESENTATION.—On Thursday evening, of last week, a number of the friends in connection with the Primitive Methodist Church, drove to Wingham and called at the residence of Mr. Fretwell, Rev. R. Weatherill and wife's present home, and made the rev. gentleman the recipient of a purse containing about $30. A very suitable address was prepared and read by Rev. J. Markham, and the presentation was made by Miss Oliver, after which Mr. Weatherill made an excellent reply, thanking the donors for their handsome present, and the kind wishes with which it was accompanied. After partaking of refreshments the party started for their several homes the evening having been enjoyably spent by all. Rev. R. Weatherill and wife leave for their new home in Walkerton about the 4th of July. Rev. Mr. Jones is appointed as Mr. Markham's colleague for the ensuing year.

Goderich Township.

The ladies of Union Presbyterian Church intend holding a Strawberry festival at the church on Friday July 7th when a good time may be expected. Refreshments served at 4 o'clock. Admission 15c.

HOLMESVILLE, June 19th, 1882.

Council met to-day pursuant to adjournment. Members all present. Minutes of last meeting read and passed. Moved by J. Lathwait, seconded by J. Whitley, that David Baskerville be refunded $7 on account of having sustained loss by fire to about $1400, and got no insurance—Carried. Moved by J. Lathwait, seconded by J. Peacock, that motion No. 52, notifying R. Beason, J. Elliott, Jas. Rutledge, W. Elliott, John Woods, J. Burk, J. A. Naffel to remove their fences according to Mr. Bay's survey in minute book, July 5th, 1880, be rescinded, and that the clerk notify the above parties to remove their fences according to the stones placed by Mr. Peacock as per by-law—Carried. Moved by J. Lathwait, seconded by J. Peacock, that the clerk be instructed to write to the different parties who have subscribed money to be expended on the 11th of July, and to remit from Holmesville to Maitland river, as well as to the Clinton corporation, and request payment of the balance of their subscription before the 10th of July, present year—Carried. Moved by J. Cox, seconded by J. Peacock, that I. F. Tomes, Esq., be exempt from taxes on $600 of his assessment, as he has had buildings destroyed by fire to the amount of $1400—Carried. Moved by J. Cox, seconded by J. Whitley, that J. Miller, be paid the sum of $75 a year for boarding one Jos. Miller, an indigent; same to be paid quarterly—Carried. Moved by J. Lathwait, seconded by J. Peacock, that by-law No. 6, of present year, now read three times be passed—Carried. Moved by J. Peacock, seconded by Jos. Whitley, that Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Loves be exempt from statute labor for the present year—Carried. Moved by J. Peacock, seconded by J. Lathwait, that the following accounts be paid:—Mar office, printing, $12.75; J. Miller, indigent, $18.75; T. Disney, underdrain, two crossings, Maitland com., $3; John McCartney and others, for work on S. L. between 14th and 15th con., $10; J. Sterling, for selling property of person deceased, $2. Council adjourned to meet on the second Monday in July.—JAS. PATTON, Clerk.

Colborne.

Statute labor is doing a good deal for the road some places just now. Rev. T. J. Sabine has been stationed by the B. C. conference to Colborne circuit.

The lecture in Zion by Rev. F. W. Bourne, of England was well worth going out to hear. The speaker, no doubt, travelled a great deal, and has an excellent way of putting into words what he has seen.

A large barn was raised on the premises of Mr. W. Hill, 1st con., on Wednesday, June 14th. The building is 60 x 66 feet with stone cellars, &c. The framing was done by Mr. D. Patterson, and bespeaks credit for his ability as a carpenter. At the rising Hullett contested Colborne, the former winning their side by several rafters.

On the evening of the 21st inst., previous to the departure of the Rev. T. Broad from the circuit, a number of the members of the Bethel B. C. church, Colborne, met at the parsonage to pay a farewell visit to their pastor. After they had taken possession of the parlor, Mr. Broad was called in, and a very nice address was read to him, expressing high appreciation of him, both as a minister and as a man, by those amongst whom he has labored for the last three years, and also their sorrow because the bonds of friendship must soon be broken, by his removal, praying that the Divine blessing might rest upon him in his new field of labor. And as a more tangible proof of their attachment they presented him with a well filled purse, which will greatly aid that people to their pastor. A little later in the evening a number of the members of the Ebenezer appointment in Hullett drove over. They also took possession of the parsonage, and in behalf of the members, and congregation of that appointment they read to him a very nice address, expressing their appreciation of him as their pastor for the last three years, also their deep regret at his having to leave them. They had found that the ties of Christian friendship, had grown stronger, the longer he was with them, and now in parting they felt it very acutely, but as it seemed to be the order of Divine Providence they bowed in submission to that will. They also, to show their sincere respect presented him with a well filled purse. Never did a pastor leave a circuit with feeling of deeper respect on the part of the pastor, and people. Which is as it should be.—Cox.

The Wichita (Kansas) Eagle thus refers to a former resident of the county of Huron:—"Mr. Isaac Humble, who for a long time was connected with the delivery and mailing departments of the Wichita Post office, but who for the past few months has been at the head of Mr. Harding's book and stationery establishment, is going to leave us. He has been offered an advantageous situation with a heavy Chicago book and wall paper firm which he at once intends to accept. We regret his loss to the city, as he is a most worthy and competent young man. In integrity, honesty and business tact excelled by no younger man in this city. He will honorably and successfully fill any station in life which he may be induced to accept, and as we said before we are sorry to lose him and his example and influence."

with an absolute certainty of curing you. ZOPESA (from Brazil) cures Dyspepsia and Biliousness. A single dose relieves; a sample bottle convinces; a 75 cent bottle cures. It acts directly upon the Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys. Cleansing, Correcting, Regulating, Zopessa gives energy and vim to the Brain, Nerves, and Muscle, simply by working wonders upon the Digestion, and giving activity to the Liver. Cut this out, take it to any dealer in medicines, and get at least one 75 cent bottle of Zopessa, and tell your neighbor how it acts. It is warranted to cure Dyspepsia and Biliousness.

An Ungrateful Daughter

"You've got a neat little spot here," remarked Farmer Hayes to his friend Mr. Johnson.

The two old men were sitting upon wooden seats, which were placed on either side of the rustic porch, that formed a kind of arbor entrance to the front door of the dwelling.

The speaker was a spare, little man, with dark hair, thinly sprinkled with gray. He wore a swallow-tail coat, adorned with brass-buttons; corduroy breeches, fastened at the knee; thick, blue, worsted stockings encased his legs, and a pair of low shoes covered his feet.

His visage had a placid expression, as he glanced first at the well-kept garden, with its rows of potatoes and other vegetables; then to the little paddock adjoining, where two cows were grazing; and next to the wide, undulating meadow land beyond, his eyes resting finally on the far distant hills.

Mr. Johnson was a noble-looking man; his snowy hair and long, white beard gave him a patriarchal appearance. His countenance lacked that acute, intellectual expression which is so often stamped upon the visage of a middle-aged "town-man."

"You've got a neat little spot here," remarked Farmer Hayes to his friend Mr. Johnson. "You know my Jennie's ago in to be married to Robert Meadows. She's my only child, so of course she'll have all my belongings when I'm gone; but I've been a-thinkin', that, soon after she's settled, I'll have a deed of gift drawn up, and turn everything over to her; then there'll be no proving the will, and all that fuss; and the lawyers won't have a pickin' out of my bit of property."

"I don't like it," he said. "He shook the ashes from his pipe and began leisurely to fill it again with tobacco. "I never seed a play but once," he began, in slow, measured tones, "and that was many years ago, when I was a young man. I was in London, and my friends got me to go to the theatre to see a grand piece that had been made up by a great man hundreds of years ago."

"Well, I went, and the sight of the lights, the gay dresses, and the flash folks, I shall never forget. But it was the play that struck me. There was a good old king who had three daughters, and he thought he'd divide the kingdom amongst 'em. They was very pleased; the eldest went down on her knees, and swore how she loved him more than anybody else; and said as how he was the kindest, and best father that ever lived—or words summat like them. The next said about the same, only a great deal more; but I thought both on 'em looked too big and handsome and wide-awake to stick to their word."

The third daughter said very little; but I thought she was the nicest looking of all the lot. The king was huffed because she would not own she loved him. So he divided the kingdom between his two eldest daughters. I thought he was a silly old fellow to put the reins into them spirited-looking creatures' hands. But he did it, and he rued it. They treated him very well at first; but after a time they began to alter, and let him know he wasn't master. Well, one night they turned him out of the castle, when there was a dreadful storm that it was not fit to turn a dog out; and he who had once been a king, had to roam about like a beggar. The poor man went nearly crazed. I almost forgot how it ended; but I think they was all killed at last."

"And what has this to do with what I was saying?" inquired Mr. Johnson, testily. "I was talking about deeds of gift and not plays."

The other began to smoke—puff—puff. After a few minutes the full meaning of his friend's words dawned slowly upon his mind.

"Well, I was a-thinkin' as how, when June got possession of the house, she might, maybe, after a bit turn you out, as the king's daughters turned him out. Keep the reins in your own hands, man—you can draw them tight, or let them loose, when you please; but don't give them up till you die. That's my advice, friend Johnson."

There was a little flash in the other's eyes, as he replied:

"You don't know my Jennie; she's the loveliest, best, truest girl that ever lived. She would never wrong her father."

In the meantime Jennie and her lover were in the orchard at the back of the house, slowly walking up and down the path between the trees.

"When two more days have passed, you will be my wife!" The young man looked down lovingly into the shy, dark eyes raised to his, and clasped the hand that rested on his arm.

"I am so glad, Robert, that I shall not have to leave my home," she said, after a pause; "for I was born here, and here my mother died. It was very kind of father to propose that we should live with him. Now you can keep all the money in the bank that you have been saying so long to buy furniture with, and if we are careful we shall soon add some more to it."

"Your father is very good, Jennie; we must be kind to him." The wedding day arrived.

Mr. Johnson was placed in the seat of honor; he moved among the guests, with a kind word and cheery greeting for all.

Jennie was a blooming, bonnie bride, and seemed proud of her stalwart husband.

Jennie was installed as housekeeper in her father's home. After a time Mr. Johnson presented his daughter with the deed of gift, and the young people were formally acknowledged as master and mistress of the farm, with the understanding that Mr. Johnson was to reside with them.

All went well for a time. Then gradually there came a change over the serene atmosphere of the dwelling; and the old man became conscious that he was no longer treated with courtesy nor his wishes respected.

"Would your mind sleeping in the back bedroom for a few weeks?—we have a visitor coming!" said Jennie, one morning, about six months after the wedding.

The old man stared in great surprise. "Why can't the visitor go into the back room?" he asked.

"Oh, it's such a little, poky place! I don't mean that exactly!" she exclaimed, checking herself in confusion. "The room is very clean, and there is really a beautiful view from the window and a good feather bed. But Miss Martin is very particular; she has such a grand home that we cannot put her anywhere."

Mr. Johnson leisurely crossed his legs, put his newspaper on the table, took his spectacles off, rubbed them, put them in the case, and then slowly rejoined: "If there is such a fine view from the window, your visitor may enjoy it, and she can lie on the feather bed. I've slept in the front room five-and-forty years, and I ain't a-going to be turned out now. If Miss Martin ain't satisfied with the accommodation, she may stay away!"

"Stay away indeed!" cried Jennie. "It's just like you, father. I call you selfish."

She hastily left the room, shutting the door with a bang.

The old man took up the newspaper, but the words ran into one another, for large tears gathered in his bright, gray eyes, and his lips quivered painfully.

Miss Martin came, and informed Jennie that her father was the most aristocratic-looking gentleman she had ever seen; but during her stay Mr. Johnson was subjected to many slights, as Jennie and her husband were ashamed of some of his old-fashioned ways.

One evening Mr. Johnson returned from the village where he had spent the day with a friend. He walked leisurely up the garden path; but suddenly paused, and uttered an exclamation of astonishment.

A fine hawthorn tree, which had stood near the house, and had been full of pink blossom in the spring, lay upon the ground. On examining it, he discovered that it had been cut off near the roots. He turned hastily to enter the house by the front door, when he observed that the monthly rose tree, which had twined the porch and been full of bloom all summer, lay across the garden path, cut into a number of pieces, and an attempt had been made to dig it up by the roots.

"Robert! Robert!" cried Mr. Johnson. "What's the matter?" queried a voice from an inner room.

"Who's been cutting them down?" cried the old man, excitedly, entering the apartment, and waving his hand towards the garden.

"I have," answered Mr. Meadows, complacently. "Why did you do it?" "Because I chose to."

"There, don't quarrel," said Jennie. "It's all my fault, father. The hawthorn tree was close to the parlor window, and made the room dark—so I asked Robert to cut it down. The rose tree is not much good; we are going to have a finer one put in its place."

"That hawthorn tree your mother set with her own hands, and the rose tree I planted the day you were born. Your mother loved them both, and heaven forgive you for what you have done!"

He turned away, ascended the stairs, entered his own room and closed the door.

"If Farmer Turner calls, just send round for me, will you, Jennie?" asked Mr. Meadows, one morning, at breakfast. "He's coming to look at old Bettie."

"Yes, I'll send," replied his wife. "What's the matter with the cow?" inquired Mr. Johnson.

"Oh, nothing," replied the young man. "I'm going to sell her."

"Sell her?" repeated the other. "Yes; she's old, and don't give much milk. I'm going to buy a young one in her place. Jennie's been complaining of the butter for a long time; it don't come up to our neighbors'."

"But I won't have her sold!" cried the old man angrily. "You have nothing to do with her; she is mine, and I shall do as I like," rejoined the other, haughtily, as he rose to leave the room.

Mr. Johnson turned to the window, without uttering another word. A few hours later he saw Farmer Turner's man driving old Bettie out of the yard.

"Ah, it's the one she used to milk!" he soliloquized. "And tears gathered thickly in his eyes, as he watched his late wife's favorite cow driven by a stranger."

"Here's a letter from my sister Jane," remarked Mr. Johnson, one afternoon, to his daughter. "Poor thing, her husband has been dead only two months. The bailiffs have sold her furniture; she is destitute, and is staying with a neighbor for a few days, and she don't know where to go. Poor Jane!" mused the old man, as a dreamy look came into his eyes and his thoughts reverted to the past.

"She was a pretty girl when she was young, and many a handsome fellow came after her. But she took no heed to any, except Tom Jones, who became her husband. Then she had such a pretty, blue-eyed child, with soft, golden hair. She lived to be six years old and then died. I thought Jane would have broken her heart. Then her son grew up to be a fine man, and was a-going to be married in a week. But one morning he tried to stop a horse and wagon that was a-running away, when the horse threw him down, the wheel went over his head, and he was killed on the spot. And now her husband's gone, and now she's left alone. Poor Jane!"

"Hasn't she any money to live upon?" inquired Jennie.

"No; and I've been a-thinkin' we'd better have her here. She can't starve."

"Have her here?" repeated his daughter, in astonishment. "What can you be thinking about, father? There's plenty of us to keep her."

She broke her cotton with a jerk, and threaded her needle impatiently. "We're going to have company this afternoon," resumed Jennie, after a pause, in a conciliatory tone; "and as they are very fine people, I think you'd better have your pipe in the kitchen, father. You would not enjoy yourself with us."

"Very well, my dear," he answered, quietly. He put his slippers feet on the fender, and gazed over his gold-rimmed spectacles into the blazing fire.

"I've been a-thinkin', my dear," he resumed, quietly, after a pause, "that there's a little error in that deed of gift."

"An error!" repeated Jennie, as she dropped her work, and looked up with a scared, white face.

"Yes; I'm sure there's an error. It wouldn't be pleasant for you, if the property was to be thrown into chancery, after I'm gone, would it?"

"Oh, father!" "Well, fetch the deed down to me; I'll look it over, and set it right."

Jennie hastened up stairs, and soon returned with the precious paper.

"The old man took it in his hand, smoothed out the creases gently, read it over, and said: "Ah! it is all one great mistake!"

Then with a quick movement, he threw the document into the blazing fire, and pressed it down with the poker.

Jennie screamed; and, darting forward, attempted to rescue the deed from the devouring flames; but her father held up his hand sternly, and said, in a tone of authority: "Stand back!"

At this instant Mr. Meadows entered. "What's the matter, Jennie?" he inquired. "Father, what have you been doing to her?"

The young man confronted Mr. Johnson, who stood with the uplifted poker in his hand.

"I am master of this house!" cried the old man; "and I'll allow no one to dictate to me."

"We'll soon see about that!" exclaimed the other, sneeringly. "If you're going to put on such fine airs, I'll have you turned out."

"O, Robert! Robert!" cried his wife; "the deed—the deed—" "An hysterical fit of weeping checked her utterance.

"What do you mean?" queried her husband, with a white face, and a touch of fear in his tone. "Father's burnt it!" "Father is master of his own house, and will have you turned out; if you don't behave yourself!" returned the old man. Angry words passed. Robert declared that he would go to law; he would not be done out of his rights; the house was his and Jennie's.

"Prove it!" grimly retorted his father-in-law. "You may have your company this afternoon, Jennie," he continued, after a pause. "but it will be your last party in my house. I shall send for farmer Hayes, and we shall enjoy our pipes together this evening, in the best parlor, as we did before you were married. As for you, Robert, you haven't provided a home for Jennie at present; but you'll have to do so now. There's a cottage to let in the village, which I think will suit you. A month to-day I shall expect you to be clear from my house; and you needn't think I give you any more for what. I mean to give you—if I give you anything at all—you'll have to wait for it until I'm dead. No more cutting down my favorite trees—or selling my old cows—or making me sit in the kitchen when you've got fine company. I'll send for my sister Jane, and she shall have a home with me as long as she lives."

Jane, the sister, came to live at the farm-house, and passed away at the advanced age of eighty-six. Mr. Johnson lived ten years after her, retaining all his faculties to the last, and died in his ninety-ninth year.

Jennie and her husband had to work very hard in order to bring up their large family respectably. Robert's hair was silvery white, and Jennie's thickly streaked with gray, and their sons and daughters were men and women, when the formerly ungrateful couple were again allowed to take possession of the old farm-house.—Oriental Casket.

The "Tin King" Talks. From Maine to Manitoba, from St. Johns to British Columbia, Mr. Thomas W. McDonald, the Tin King of the Dominion, whose large works extend from 153 to 157 Queen street, Toronto, and cover a solid block, is recognized and respected. Mr. McDonald's experience with the Great German Remedy is thus announced by him: "It is very gratifying to me to be able to give a written testimonial respecting the unequalled merits of the world-renowned remedy, St. Jacobs' Oil, as an alleviator of pain. I was for years sorely troubled with a swollen leg. In vain I tried all the prescriptions of medical men. At last in deep despair I resolved to test the virtues of St. Jacobs' Oil, the Great German Remedy, and to my great joy before one bottle had been exhausted I found myself completely cured. Trusting that St. Jacobs' Oil may meet with the success it deserves, I close this statement, by reiterating my endorsement of its efficacy."

Do Your Children Have fits, convulsions, and their teeth, pick their nose, have a bad breath, or a changeable appetite? Are they restless or feverish at night? If so, ask your druggist for Dr. Smith's German Worm Remedy (made no other), and it only costs 25 cents. It is simple, safe, and pleasant to take. If there are no worms, it removes the same and kills the lice, lice, lice, and will save many a doctor's bill. A word to the wise, etc. Thousands of testimonials. Sold by Jas. Wilson, Goderich.

Cathartic Pills. Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine. In proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effective remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and efficient treatment. AYER'S PILLS are especially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and of all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Kinetic, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal. While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.
