Perhaps You Need a Tonic

A tonic is necessary in all run-down conditions, after colds, fevers and illnesses of all kinds. When a person is anemic, undernourished, nervous, tired, listless, he needs a tonic. If you can't sleep, have no appetite, feel miserable and depressed, a tonic will fix you. The tonic best suited for general use is Carnol. It can be given with perfect safety to a delicate child, a convalescent, or to an aged person. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician. Hundreds of doctors prescribe Carnol in their practice. Here's what Mr. Davis says about Carnol:

"We have sold Carnol for two years. During those two years we have seen many other so-called tonics tried out, but they did not repeat, and people did not advise their friends to buy them. Carnol has been bought by people who used it before. It has been recommended by people to their friends and has enjoyed a good sale. We believe that it has the ingredients that go to make up one of the very best nerve and body builders ever put before the public."—Davis the Druggist, Columbia and 6th Sts., New Westminster, B.C.

Carnol is sold by all good druggists everywhere.

The Countess of Landon.

CHAPTER XV.

The quarter of an hour before dinner had been called the worst in one's existence, but Seymour was not at all awkward or embarrassed, and talked to one and all with fluent ease.

He had something to say on politics to the Earl of Balfarras, discussed the agricultural prospect with the baronet, exchanged gossip with the officers and talked eloquently and feelingly of the mission to Timbuctoo with the rector.

As the bell rang for dinner, Irene entered the drawing-room. She came in quietly and noiselessly enough, but nevertheless her appearance created, what is called in newspaper parlance, a sensation.

The lady maid was dressed entirely in white. Her frock was of soft white silk, which, colorless as it was, did not dim the glorious ivory of her neck and arms. She wore no jewelry, but a white rose nestled in the silken folds of her golden hair, and another rested on the bosom of her dress.

The officers, all the young men, in fact, opened their eyes, and found their hearts beating at this vision of loveliness, and even Seymour was startled. He had never seen Irene in her "war-paint," and to-night she was a revelation. The blood quickened in his veins as if had never done at anything before—excepting baccarat.

He had valued her hitherto for her money, but to-night he realized her indescribable beauty, and it made his pulse quicken.

The dinners at Monk Towers were always perfect, and sometimes magnificent, when, as to-night, the table groined under the gold plate for which the family was famous. They were all some times slow, but to-night no one could complain on that score, for the famous author had caught fire at Irene's beauty, and for once gave rein to his eloquence.

They all, encouraged by his example, talked more or less, excepting the countess and Irene, who sat and listened—the first with impassive calm, the latter with a smile of interest.

The young officer who had taken her in, and was more than half afraid of her celestial beauty, fell head over heels in love with her before the third course, and, though he was a silent man as a rule, found himself trying to amuse and interest her.

He did not know who she was, and had no idea that she was the countess's ward and living in the house, but regarded her as a guest of the evening, like himself.

He told her some anecdotes of barrack life, which delighted her because Royce had been a soldier; but presently he made her start and turn pale.

"I had hoped to see the earl's brother, Mr. Royce Landon, to-night," he said.

"He is not here," she said in a low voice.

"No! I am sorry for that, for I wanted to see him very much. A young brother of mine is in the same regiment, and he is quite mad about him, and will talk about him by the hour together—in fact, as long as he can get any one to listen to him."

"Mr. Landon has—left the army," said poor Irene.

"I know; and I suppose he's in a sort of disgrace. His people have 'sent him to Coventry.' Isn't that so?"

"Yes," faltered Irene.

"Well, I think it's rather too hard on him, and not fair." Irene's face flushed, and her heart beat fast.

"Why do you say that? Tell me," she said.

Delighted at having interested her, the officer went on:

"Well, I fancy the whole truth of the business isn't generally known. I've got the rights of it from my brother, and I'm convinced that if young Landon had stood his ground, he would not have had to resign. My brother says that the colonel was and is a perfect brute, and that he exasperated Landon beyond mortal endurance. The colonel had got a grudge against him, and lost no opportunity of rounding on him—I beg your pardon; that's barrack slang."

"I understand; I know. Go on," murmured Irene, breathlessly.

"Not a day passed but Landon had to endure some open or covert insolence, and he bore it wonderfully until the night when the other man threw wine in his face. Why, in the old times, such an insult would have had to be wiped out with blood. And I'm afraid you, being a lady, won't agree with me—but I'm not sure that in such a case a duel wouldn't have been quite fitting and proper."

"Royce—Mr. Landon would have killed him," murmured Irene, with a shudder.

Science and Invention

THE MOON ROCKET AGAIN.

The rocket that will be able to travel from the earth to the moon in less than eleven hours may soon be a reality. It is explained that though the rocket could easily reach the moon, it will not be called upon for so useless a journey, but will be employed in scientific exploration of the higher atmosphere, thus making available invaluable scientific data from an almost unknown region. Prof. R. H. Goddard, of Clark University, who has been carrying on investigations aimed at this result for the past fourteen years, has recently announced to the American Association for the Advancement of Science that he is now near his goal. Says Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin (Washington):

In early experiments under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution, Professor Goddard used smokeless powder as a propelling force, but he has recently solved the problem of utilizing liquid fuel, burning it continuously and gradually in pure oxygen without overheating the combustion chamber. By this means it is possible to give the rocket a speed of 6.6 miles a second.

The average distance of the moon from the earth is close to 240,000 miles. A rocket traveling at a rate of six and six-tenths miles a second would traverse this distance in about ten hours and five minutes, or about the time it takes mail planes to go from New York to Chicago.

A Romanian professor, H. Oberth, in a paper published recently, suggests the possibility of some such overnight limited service to the moon, but Professor Goddard has only in mind the more modest and practicable plan of obtaining records of the intensity of the sun's radiation, and of the composition, electrical conditions, and temperature of the atmosphere at heights hitherto entirely inaccessible to man.

Dr. W. J. Humphreys, professor of meteorological physics in the U.S. Weather Bureau, and an authority on commenting to Science Service on Professor Goddard's scheme:

"It would be a great advantage to the meteorologist to know the composition and temperature of the upper atmosphere at heights above those already explored by sounding-balloons. On both these points observations and theories based upon meteors and auroras are in radical conflict with each other, and both differ entirely from the hitherto recognized orthodox theories. The Goddard rocket gives promise of definitely settling the question of conditions at such high altitudes. It would be possible to construct apparatus that would bring down samples of the air at any desired height and at the same time register temperature and pressure without using the delicate and expensive recording instruments now employed.

Knowledge of the upper atmosphere has come mostly in recent years from that of sounding balloons. These are about three feet in diameter and carry up a set of recording instruments which come down fastened to a parachute after the balloon bursts. None of these balloons has reached a height much greater than twenty miles, while the Goddard rocket can easily go three or four times as high or even be driven off into space. Its location at a given point in its flight can be made known by an explosion of flashlight powder.

There is great diversity of scientific opinion as to conditions existing in the upper atmosphere. Some think it contains frozen crystals of nitrogen floating in a temperature of 513 below zero Fahrenheit or lower, while others believe that the temperature is not lower than about 60 below zero.

The velocity of the Goddard rocket, which is propelled on the same principle as the familiar Fourth-of-July firework, depends on the velocity of the gases expelled, and on its altitude. It starts slowly and increases in speed as long as the fuel lasts, for several reasons. It encounters less resistance in the thin upper atmosphere or the near-vacuum of interstellar space. It carries less weight as its fuel is used, and it becomes less and less affected by the force of the earth's attraction which decreases in proportion to the square of the distance from its center of gravity.—Literary Digest.

"And serve the ruffian right," he said, warmly.

Irene lifted her eyes to his with a grateful glance that thrilled while it puzzled him.

"All the sympathy was with Landon," he went on. "He was the favorite of the regiment, and the colonel was detested. According to my brother, Landon was just what an officer should be: kind and considerate to the men, and as full of pluck and generosity as—as this glass is full of wine. He was the best horseman in the brigade, and there was nothing too daring for him to attempt. If we'd had one of our little wars, Landon would have got the Victoria Cross for a certainty." Irene could not see her plate—her eyes were so full of tears.

"My brother—I'm afraid you'll be sick of my brother, Miss Treslyan," he laughed, apologetically.

"No, no. I—I should like to see him. I am sure he, too, must be brave and generous."

"Oh, he's a smart enough youngster," he said. "Well, I was going to say, he took Landon's resignation so much to heart that he called upon the earl, Lord Landon."

"Called upon the earl?" said Irene.

"Yes; rather a cool thing to do, but he has plenty of cheek. He went to him and laid the whole case before him, gave him the full particulars, and begged him to use his influence at the War Office and get Mr. Landon back again; and my brother is convinced that there wouldn't have been any great difficulty in reinstating Mr. Landon."

Irene looked across at Seymour, whose face was beaming with an unconscious smile.

"And—did he, the earl, try and do what he could?" she asked, breathlessly.

"I don't know," replied the officer, with some hesitation; "but I think not. I suppose he thought that it was of no use. We should have been sure to have heard of it if he had applied to the War Office—these things always leak out, you know. My brother is awfully cut up about it. He adores Landon—simply adores him—and I fancy he has been trying to find him, for since his resignation Landon has completely disappeared. I suppose, though, that his people know where he is, and what he is doing?"

Irene shook her head.

"No, they do not know," she said, sadly; then, with the color coming and going in the lovely face, which she turned to him anxiously, she asked, "Do you think that it is not too late now—to restore Roy—Mr. Landon?"

"No, I don't think so. The earl, I believe, has a great deal of influence with the Government, and could bring tremendous pressure to bear at the War Office. But I don't think he himself is very hopeful. Perhaps he fancies that it would only make the unfortunate affair more public than it is. I'm afraid I've bored you to death, Miss Treslyan; but the fact is, my brother is always drumming the business into my ears, and I've caught something of his enthusiasm."

"I am not bored in the least," said Irene, so sweetly that her voice rang like music in the young fellow's ears, and kept him silent for a minute or two.

Every now and then Seymour glanced keenly across at the two. He saw the sensation Irene had produced, and it set him thinking that he had better not postpone his attack, unless he wanted to see her borne off by some other man.

The dinner was got through at last, and the ladies retired.

The Choice of Femininity.

My neighbor, Smilax, was in trouble, he had two broken limbs; and to him went old Mrs. Bubble, with tracts and helpful hymns. And to his home went many neighbors, a good, kind-hearted crew, to hope he'd soon resume his labors, and be as good as new. The village optimist proceeded to his dire couch of pain, & turned some sunshine loose & pleaded that he would smile again. The brethren of his lodge were present at every crucial hour, to make the sickroom sweet and pleasant as any maiden's bower. And I alone refrained from calling upon that tortured guy, though sympathetic tears were falling, at times, from either eye. And people said, "Your heart is hardened, you visit not the sick; believe us, you will not be pardoned for such an evil trick. You hear your neighbor Smilax yelling until his larynx cracks, and yet you visit not his dwelling to ask him how he stacks. You carry him no pies of custard, no bowls of wholesome soup, you pack no sandwiches, with mustard, to Smilax in his coop." But when the invalid was better, and feeling pert and smart, he said to me, "Oh, don't worry. I thank you from my heart! When sickness laid its shadow o'er me, and made me wilt and droop, you, alone refused to bore me with sermons and with soup!"

The Fall of the Franc and the way to Deal With It

THE NEW TAXATION AND PROSPECTIVE CHANGE OF POLICY SHOW THAT FRANCE REALIZES THE TRUE POSITION OF AFFAIRS.

The demand for foreign money is increasing on the home market. Huge purchases of pounds and dollars have been made by the importing houses, especially at Havre, in the industrial north and east, and generally in the ports. Therefore (and we cannot insist on this too strongly) it is Paris itself that is pulling the franc down. London and New York are only following passively the tendency of Paris.

Under the painful impression made by the debates in the Chamber and under the influence of an imprudent campaign of pessimism, manufacturers and traders have lost confidence. Having waited in vain so far for a remedy, they are taking fright and are covering themselves precipitately at no matter what price, and beyond their needs. This non-trading public seized, too, with pessimism is more or less following. The banks, which indulged in large purchases of foreign bonds and money at the beginning of January, look on indifferently while the cord is being tightened.

"If his sort of thing is prolonged it will overthrow our whole economic system."

The above quotation from a leading French journal and many others could be quoted to show that even France herself realizes why the franc is falling. This decline in credit is the European event of the moment, but there are signs of wiser counsel prevailing.

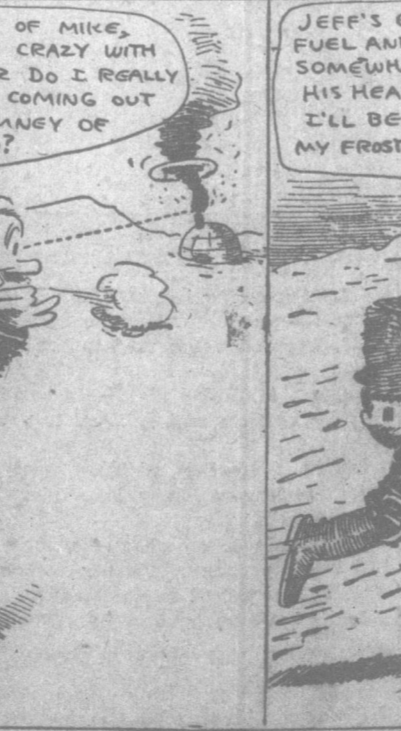

The French Government has approved its twenty per cent increase in taxation and the franc has steadily improved this week, largely on account of this and the disposition to keep the European situation.

"It is no more use being angry with the fall of the franc," says the Times. "I am with a thunderstorm. But, whereas a thunderstorm cannot be revealed, the fall of the franc might have been prevented if the obvious precautions had been taken long ago."

"The prolonged and heated sittings of the Chamber, where, among other things, the twenty per cent increase of taxation has at length been carried by a majority of sixty-one, are an indication that the urgent need of financial reforms is at length coming."

Great Gathering of Daughters of the Empire

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 20.—(By Canadian Press).—It has been announced that the national gathering for 1924 of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire will take place in Toronto from June 2 to 7. The delegates who will come from all parts of Canada, will represent the approximate 35,000 patriotic women who make up the membership. Toronto is the head office of the order.

37 1/2 Millions to be Saved

Cuts in Civil Services and Revenue Departments — Pensions economy — More for British Museum and Public Art Galleries.

First results of the Socialist Government's economy show a reduction of £37,338,145 for the coming year in the Estimates for the Civil Services and the Revenue Departments.

Notable prunings are two millions at the Ministry of Agriculture, seven millions on Colonial services, and three millions on the Middle East. Liabilities for shipping liquidation and compensation for damage due to enemy action in the war are practically wiped out, and the Pensions Ministry is budgeting for seven millions less.

Extra demands include another million for old age pensions and about £2,000,000 each for war graves and payment of compensation in Ireland. One curious fact is that the cost of the British Museum and the art galleries is increasing.

During the Great War the work of the Order furnished an outstanding memorial to achievement. Empire Annexes to the King George and Queen Mary Leaf Clubs were equipped; the Daughters' X-ray apparatus and operating theatre were furnished to the I.O.D.E. Hospital, London, England; ambulances, motor trucks, machine guns, automobiles and field kitchens were donated; one thousand cots in military hospitals were endowed and equipped; nurses were maintained overseas, large sums were subscribed for prisoners of war, relief was given to the sector especially adopted by the Order in France and in addition enormous quantities of comforts to soldiers both in the field and in the hospitals were given; every campaign was assisted and in all the colossal sum of $5,500,000 was raised for war purposes by the Order. After-War activities upon many of which the members are still at work are War Memorials; Public Health, especially Child Welfare, and secondary education for soldiers' children. This last includes distribution of pictures and libraries to schools, publication of pamphlets and historical contents.

Recognition of the sacrifices made during the war was given expression when at the Annual Meeting of 1919 a resolution was passed pledging the members to raise $500,000 for the establishment of Bursaries in Canadian Universities for children of deceased soldiers, for annual post-graduate scholarships in British Uni-

Sowing Tares.

Our surmise on Saturday that the comments on the Walker Report published in the Weekly edition of the Advocate were for outport consumption only was amply proved when the daily issue of that paper made its appearance on the street. Of the Walker Report there was not a word, and to all appearances it was preserving the same silence that it has maintained ever since the scathing indictment of our political affairs were first published. Why does it assume the character of Dr. Jekyll in the city, and of Mr. Hyde elsewhere, if it is sincere in the convictions expressed in the Weekly Advocate?

A question, which naturally arises is why should the Advocate be so anxious to convince the members of the Fishermen's Union that the Findings of the Commissioner were incorrect? The question is all the more pertinent because of the trouble taken to impress upon them that not even a shadow of dishonesty was thrown upon a single member of the present Government. If the Report was based on ignorance, it is a mere scrap of paper, and it follows as a matter of course that no one whom it involved can be charged with crime. Why stress the point? Has the Advocate ever heard of the French saying that he who seeks to excuse himself accuses himself?

In its desire to whitewash everyone concerned, the Advocate finds it necessary to establish a false premise—the Commissioner's ignorance of conditions in Newfoundland. To most of those who followed the proceedings, his grasp of every aspect of the situation was a revelation, and to some, it was most disconcerting. As to his Findings, based on evidence taken under oath, they are so definite, so comprehensive and so damning as to make further discussion of them superfluous, and they leave to the Minister of the Crown the alternative of taking proceedings against the accused, or of resigning.

Not for a moment have we imagined that this Report could be made the subject of newspaper discussion, nor have we any intention now of permitting it to be used for such a purpose, however desirous our contemporary may be to have it battered out of all recognition. We dragged the Editorial of the Weekly Advocate out of its obscurity, and held it up in the light in order to expose one of the methods that are being adopted by those, who for personal motives, are attempting to delude a section of the public. Shall we mention other underground channels that have been used to belittle the Report and to undermine the honour and integrity of the Commissioner? They are known; they were even known to Mr. Walker himself, but beyond showing his contempt for them in a brief remark, he passed them over as beneath his notice.

This attempt to scatter the seeds of suspicion and untruth has been the work of a paper which is admitted to be the organ of the President of the Union, W. F. Coaker, a Knight of the Realm, and an Executive Member of His Majesty's Government. Will he repudiate its utterances or will he stamp them with his approval? If the latter course is taken, then surely an explanation of the following remark of the Commissioner is in order:

"The Trading Company appear to have made a profit of $10,000 out of it, but it is difficult to see where it produced any advantage to the Government."

This work was undertaken by the Government to relieve distress. True, the poor may have received the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table but was that the principle upon which the distribution of relief was based?

"Alas, that in this world 'tis ever so! For men might be as gods if it were not that greed of power goes mad from power."

Magistrate's Court.

A few ordinary drunks were discharged.

A resident of the Higher Levels, charged with being drunk and tampering with a fire alarm box, was held over pending further investigation.

A fireman named Kennedy, employed at the General Post Office, was charged with procuring women for immoral purposes. Three women witnesses for the Crown, stated to the Court that the accused sent letters to their homes by a messenger of the department at frequent intervals, sometimes at all hours of the night, asking if they would keep appointments with other men. The basement of the Post Office was the chief resort while a schooner at Job's wharf was also left at their disposal.

Two of the women in their evidence stated that they fulfilled the requests of the accused on several occasions. The evidence also showed that the defendant kept up a steady practice of writing the women for the purpose of accompanying others. The women becoming very much annoyed reported the matter to the police. The defendant had very little excuse to offer for his outrageous conduct, and after receiving a sound lecture from Judge Morris he was fined $100 or three months' imprisonment.

Daisy Returns to Port

CREW SECURED 50 OLD SEALS.

S. S. Daisy, Capt. Couch, arrived in port Saturday at 9 p.m. Wednesday last the ship was despatched to the rescue of the four men of Greenop who went adrift whilst out seal-hunting. Returning to port Capt. Couch was advised to keep a lookout for the schooners which had broken adrift at Bay Roberts on Friday. When the Daisy was passing Cape St. Francis the schr. Poppy was sighted and Capt. Couch managed to take her in tow, but as night was approaching he had to abandon the vessel and return to port. During the few days that the Daisy was out her crew managed to pick up about 50 old seals. Had they been on a sealing trip, they say they could have loaded the ship. The schooner Poppy was picked up again yesterday by the tug John Green and brought to port during the afternoon.

Coastal Boats.

Kyle left Port aux Basques 9.15 a. m. yesterday and arrived at Louisbourg 10 o'clock last night.

Glencoe arrived Port aux Basques 3.45 p.m. yesterday.

Argyle left Flat Islands 10.25 a.m. Clyde sails to-morrow for Argentina to relieve the Argyle, when she will come on here for repairs.

Drifting Schooner Brought to Anchorage

All the schooners which broke adrift from their moorings at Bay Roberts on Friday have been secured. One of the vessels, the Poppy, was towed in here yesterday by the John Green. The other four vessels were picked up by the Hugh D. before they had gone far out in the bay and were towed into Harbor Grace.

Arrest Squires and Give Him Trial

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Surely this report, given out in this morning's News today, is not true! Surely the authorities have not allowed him to leave the country—a man charged with misdemeanour by a Royal Commission. In common with all loyal Newfoundlanders, we call upon Premier Warren to arrest him in Halifax and bring him back for trial. Yours truly, JUSTICE.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES

HITCH IN RUSSO-RUMANIAN CONFERENCE.

VIENNA, March 31. The refusal of the Soviet delegation to the Russo-Rumanian conference to recognize the Rumanian pact with the Entente Powers entered into in Paris in October, 1920, granting Bessarabia to Rumania, caused a hitch in the conference to-day. The proposal by M. Krestinsky, the Soviet representative, was that the territorial questions should be a fixed subject of discussion and the non-acceptance by M. Rascoiusa, the Rumanian delegate, with provisions that the Bessarabian question be excluded, halted negotiations before they fairly began. The Russian delegate categorically announced that the Government would not consent to the annexation of Bessarabia by Rumania.

ITALIAN ELECTION CAMPAIGN BEGINS.

ROME, March 31. The election campaign is extending and entering upon its final week, balloting will begin April 6 and the leaders of Fascism are making the most of the short time at their disposal. Four of them spoke at various cities to-day. The vigor of the campaign is increasing in cities and towns where trolley cars carry huge placards and cartons designed to tell how Fascism has strengthened Italy's financial and international position and restored order. Up to the present there has been no announcement of opposition candidates. There have been speeches by those opposed to the Government, but no official candidates have appeared.

FAMILY RESCUED.

CUMBERLAND, Md., March 31. The family of John Davillius reported lost in the flood at McCool's, twenty miles west of here, was rescued from their home to-day after having been marooned since Saturday morning, according to advices from McCool to-night. The house was surrounded by ten feet of water and the family, consisting of parents and four children, were rescued by boats.

FOURTEEN DEAD AS A RESULT OF STORM.

KANSAS, March 31. The number of known dead from the severe storm that swept the southwest Friday stood at fourteen to-night, with the total damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Hundreds of persons were injured. Eight lives were taken in the tornado that ripped across Central Oklahoma centering at Shawnee. Other cities that reported heavy property damage were Enid, Guthrie, Frederick, Noble, Billis, Holdenville.

CANADIAN POSTAL EMPLOYEES THREATEN TO STRIKE.

TORONTO, March 31. A strike of the postal employees, national in character and affecting all branches of the service, will begin on April 14 unless the Federal Government by that date has revised upward the salaries of thousands of employees of the Postal Department. It was decided at a mass meeting of the Postal workers here to-day by vote of the local branches of the different organizations which comprise the Canadian Federation, that the Postal employees are ninety-six per cent. in favor of a strike if the Government fails to meet the demands that have been sent from every part of Canada to the officials of the Federation in Toronto.

LYNN HIGH SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE.

LYNN, Mass., March 31. One fireman was killed and property loss estimated between one million and two million dollars was caused when a fire of undetermined origin totally destroyed the Lynn high school here late to-night. Fireman Arthur Preeblich died from injuries to his head and half a dozen firemen were injured. The school was built to house 2000 pupils.

THE PRINCE SETS THE FASHION.

LONDON, March 31. The Prince of Wales is responsible for the large West End window displays of handkerchiefs with highly colored and decorative borders. Recently the Royal Hair appeared with such a handkerchief prominently displayed in his breast pocket. Hairdressers have learned from long experience that to follow the Prince in his fashions is money in pocket, hence they are selling the young bloods' hankies by the dozen. None of them can hope to compare with the Prince in the number of handkerchiefs kept in his wardrobe, the Prince's valet says, for he has very definite ideas upon this minor but necessary article of dress.

ARMENIANS STRIKE.

LONDON, March 31. The latest strike movement and an unprecedented one is that among civilian air pilots and mechanics at Orroydon Airdrome whence the British air mails start for points on the continent. The question at issue is that of rates of pay and the strike is threatened for to-morrow when a new combine, "The Imperial Air Transport Company" takes over the services.

ART KILLED BY THE DANCING CRAZE.

LONDON, Mar. 31. Night dance club life has gone so rapidly forward in London within the year that all art galleries and exhibition rooms of any size have been commandeered for this purpose. The artistic life of London is threatened by this course of events, Sir David Murray, R.A., at the head of a delegation of artists, has represented to the owners of exhibition halls.

PRINCE OF WALES OUT AGAIN.

LONDON, Mar. 31. The Prince of Wales was out yesterday for the first time since his recent fall while racing. He looked fit and well and will probably fill some engagements this week, but his physicians are said to have forbidden him to follow the Oxford-Cambridge boat race in a launch owing to the prevalent cold weather.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT TO INTREPID AIRMAN.

ATHENS, Mar. 31. Stuart MacLaren in the round-the-world plane was compelled to descend on Lake St. Matthew, in the island of Cyprus, according to a message received here. No one was injured and the damage to the machine was slight. After repairs the flight to Athens will be resumed.

POINCARÉ MEETS COOL RECEP-TION.

PARIS, Mar. 31. In presenting his ministry to the Chamber of Deputies to-day, Premier Poincaré reaffirmed all the policies of the late Government and expressed the "firm hope" for a rapid liquidation of Germany's reparation after the Expert Committee have handed in their report. The Chamber gave Poincaré a fairly cool reception when he mounted the tribune. A large number of deputies broke into laughter when the Premier said none of the men chosen for the new ministry had abandoned any of his opinions. The Republican policies practised in the formation of the new Cabinet, M. Poincaré declared, had as its object the pursuance of international policies of the former Government and the pursuance also of the economic and financial policies which had been approved by the majority of the Chamber.

SEALING NEWS

The messages received from the sealing fleet on the Northern front since Saturday night are very encouraging and should the steamers get clear of the jam, the prospects of securing full loads look very bright. The "Baby Avro" aeroplane made a successful flight at 1 p.m. yesterday and reported a large body of seals lying about 5 miles to the N.W. of the Eagle, which is estimated to contain about 50,000. The Eagle reported her position as 10 miles E. by N. Partridge Point, two miles from the Terra Nova, with the Neptune alongside. There is every reason to believe that all the steamers are in the vicinity of the herd, and should a heavy swell heave in to open up the ice, the ships would be enabled to get within the thick of them in a few hours. Since the Terra Nova struck the whitecoats, the crew have done well, accounting for 4,500 on Saturday, which now brings her total catch up to 17,500. Judging by the message received from Capt. Abraham Keane, very few of these seals have been hauled on board owing to the bad ice conditions. It is impossible for the ship to steam about and pick them up.

BORN. On March 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor, 11 Dunford Street, a daughter. On March 30th, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Moore.

DIED.

This morning after a long illness, Albert Bay, aged 26, beloved husband of Ella Bailey, leaving to mourn their sad loss a wife, one daughter, father, mother, and two brothers, three sisters. Funeral on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m., from his late residence, 3 George Street. Friends please attend without further notice. Thou art gone to be with Jesus. Thou hast suffered thy last pain; Only for a little while, we are parted Until we meet in Heaven again.

IN FOND REMEMBRANCE of our dear father, George Hiscock, who died of pneumonia, on board S.S. Viking, March 15th, 1923, aged 48 years. —Inserted by his 3 Daughters.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of my dear son, Gregory Greening, who lost his life in the S.S. Southern Cross two years ago (to-day), March 21st, 1914; also his brother Francis, who died January 22nd, 1918. "Gone but not forgotten." May the sacred heart of Jesus have mercy on the souls. Call not back the dear departed. Anchored safe where storms are o'er; In a brighter land they're resting, Until we meet to part no more. Far beyond this world of changes, They have passed to that land of rest; Dwelling with the smiling angels, In that happy home so bliss. —Inserted by their mother.

IN FOND AND LOVING MEMORY

of a kind husband and father, James Cooper, who was lost in the S.S. Erna, March, 1912; also his son, Christopher, who was lost in the S.S. Dunholm, 1914. In our hearts they are fondly remembered. Sweet are the memories that cling to their names; Hearts that loved them in deep affection Do love them in death just the same. Many a tear is shed in silence In the home they loved so well; How in our lonely hours we miss you Only God alone can tell. Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on their souls. —Inserted by their loved ones.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of our dear son and brother, John Thomas Chatman, who died March 31st, 1923. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is still; A place made vacant in our home Which never can be filled. He is gone but not forgotten. Never shall his memory fade; Loving thoughts will ever linger Around the place where he is laid. Just a thought of sweet remembrance Just a memory fond and true; Just a token of affection And a heartache still for you. We who loved you sadly miss you As it dawns another year; In our lonely hours of thinking Thoughts of you are ever near. —Inserted by his Parents.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of Benjamin Squires, who died March 31st, 1917, aged 63 years. He is gone to his rest and his conflicts are o'er. He is free from his sorrow and pain; The life of this life which he patiently bore Shall never distress him again. —Fondly remembered by his Wife and Family. Also of Frederick Squires, drowned in S.S. Southern Cross, March 31st, 1914, aged 22 years. His mother's heart is aching. And well-nigh broke with pain; For the loss roll o'er the son she loved. And never will see again.

He sank to his rest in the ocean's breast. No flower can strew his grave; No stone can mark his resting place Beneath the bounding wave. A place was waiting for him, Among the angels bright; Weep no more for him, dear friends He rests with God to-night. —Inserted by Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY. England Won All Four Games. LONDON, March 30.—The English team won the International Rugby Championship. The English team did not lose a game in the series.

THE GRAND NATIONAL. Run At Liverpool On Saturday—Won By Sir Gallahad An 11 To 1 Chance. LIVERPOOL, March 29.—Under ideal weather conditions the Grand National was won here to-day by Sir Gallahad 11-1.

The Grand National, like most other things, started in a modest way. It was inaugurated in 1839 by a syndicate of sportsmen who desired to improve the status of steeplechasing. During the first four years it was run on weight-for-age lines, but was then converted into a handicap, which it has remained ever since.

The "National" course covers four miles and 855 yards of formidable country, in which no less than 30 jumps have to be negotiated. The fence for the most part being larger and more difficult than those found elsewhere. The obstacles were not so stiff in the early days of the race, and the original idea was to restrict the event to amateur riders, but this intention was not adhered to.

BOWLING SCHEDULE FOR THIS WEEK.

- Monday, March 31, 7.30—Masonic vs. Gaelic. Monday, March 31, 9.00—C. L. B. vs. E. I. S. Tuesday, April 1, 7.30—Dunfield vs. Oddfellows. Tuesday, April 1, 9.00—Feldians vs. Star. BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP OPENS TO-NIGHT.

Three Games 300 Up. The much-talked of Amateur Billiard Tournament Championship, for the silver cup, kindly donated by the Prime Minister, Hon. W. K. Warren, will open in the Star Hall at 8 o'clock to-night. The tournament games will be played under Ashcroft rules, 300 up. The balls will be sent rolling by Mr. J. Fawell, an Englishman, who recently came to this country to reside, and pitted against him will be Mr. D. J. French, a local billiard player of repute. All arrangements have been perfected to seat the large crowds who are expected to be on hand. Seats numbering 300 have been fitted in and raised up according to the latest ideas, the last row being elevated as high as possible. Three games have been carded for to-night, as follows:— 8.00—J. Fawell vs. D. J. French. 9.15—N. Wadden vs. R. C. Power. 10.30—E. J. Johnson vs. J. Edwards. The games promise to be closely contested and highly interesting, as the participating players have enviable reputations in local billiard circles. For the benefit of those attending the Star Ladder Association will serve soft drinks, pop corn and candy during the progress of the tournament. An innovation will be tried out after the games each evening. That is, the balls will be left in the position they are in when the game ends and spectators may see what score they can make. The person making the highest break at the end of the season will receive a billiard cue.

INTER-CLUB BILLIARDS.

B. Lq. Players Make Steady Gains. The Inter-Club Billiard Tournament between the Masonic and B. I. S. is adding new interest in local billiard circles, and an even greater attendance on Saturday night, than on any previous evening. The B. I. S. players emerged victorious in the two games played. The breaks were as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Player Name and Score. Includes Merner (B. I. S.) 260-12, 10, 20, 13, 10, 16, 17, 19, 19, 14-180, Foster (Masonic) 207-11, 15, 23, 11, 10, 10, 10, 20, 11-121, Walsh (B. I. TOTAL (B. I. S.) 2943. The B. I. S. players are now leading by 465 points.

NEAR RIOT AT PARIS BOUL.

PARIS, March 18.—A near riot developed to-night at a boxing show over the decision of the referee at the finish of a 15-round bout between Fred Bretonnel and Paul Fritsch, lightweights.

Previously Ted "Kid" Lewis had won the main bout of 15 rounds on points from Francis Charles. Lewis displayed only a shadow of his old-time welterweight form.

Bretonnel and Fritsch fought like wild cats throughout the entire 15 rounds and both were on the verge of a knockout at the finish.

RUTH MAKES HOMER FOR BOYS.

NEW YORK, March 21.—A few hours after they had calmly marched out of their flame swept building, 500 boys and girls of McDonough School sat in the grandstand at New Orleans and cheered Babe Ruth when he hit his first box score home run of the year in the world's champions 12 to 4 victory over the Pelicans yesterday.

FIRPO DENIES STORY THAT HE HAS DECIDED TO RETIRE FROM RING.

BUENOS AIRES, March 20.—Reports cabled to the United States that Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, had decided to retire from the ring were the result of a desire of Firpo's to get some advertising for his tour of the United States this summer. Firpo denied that he had any intention of retiring from the ring in a personal statement and from his close friends it was learned that he never had any intention of giving up such profitable business.

DEMPSEY TO PROMOTE GIBBONS-CARP. FIGHT AT MICHIGAN CITY.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 20.—George Carpenter, French ring idol, and Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavy-weight, have been matched to box in Floyd Fitzsimmons outdoor arena here, July 4, with Jack Dempsey, the champion, as one of the financial backers, it was announced to-day. Fitzsimmons made the announcement. It was explained that Jack Dempsey had become associated with Fitzsimmons by paying the taxes due on the arena. Dempsey long has been a personal friend of Fitzsimmons.

St. Thomas's Church Notes

A meeting of the congregation will be held to-day, Monday, at 8 p.m., in Canon Wood Hall, for the purpose of considering the appointment of a new Rector for St. Thomas's Parish.

The Rector and his family expect to sail on the Sachsen or Silvia this week. The kindness which greeted them on their arrival is only paralleled by the many kindly expressions of goodwill and affection which are being shown to them as their departure draws near.

The Llewellyn Club will hold a meeting of special interest on Thursday next, when A. B. Morlan, Esq., K.C., will address the Club on "The Walker Report."

George St. Church

MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARY. The service yesterday at George Street Church constituted the annual celebration of the remarkable fact, but true, which familiarity tends to relegate to the commonplace—that of the enterprise of Christian Missions.

The Rev. S. Bennett of Grand Falls, President of the Conference, preached in the morning; the Pastor of the Church assisting in the service, Mr. Bennett started from the incident of the deaf and dumb man whom Jesus "took aside" to cure. Pointing out that Jesus Christ is the key to all the problems of human life, the speaker with force and eloquence, showed that "to go aside" with Jesus meant finding a place of Divine quiet, the place of healing for disease of body and soul, and the place of power and life.

Rev. R. E. Fairbairn gave a brief financial report. Mr. W. Peters, answering the assumption that Christian Missions were not effective described the transformation in Fiji, the settlement of Canada and the establishment of religious institutions in Newfoundland.

Then followed a most effective solo rendered with feeling by Mr. Stephen Tucker—"If With All Your Hearts Ye Truly Seek Me."

Rev. Mr. Bennett drew a contrast between the reluctance of the Christian world to provide twenty thousand Christian students for Christian warfare and financial support to equip and maintain them, and the readiness with which the nations had sent their students by the hundred thousands into the trenches and poured out dollars by the million for lesser warfare. Reviewing world conditions including the remarkable resurgence of the East, he showed clearly that unless the world situation would be Christianized, it would inevitably lead to chaos through conflict sooner or later. Mission work is more than a pious duty it is essential to the salvation of the Christian Church, to the prosperity of the individual religious life and the salvation of the individual soul through loyalty to the command of Christ.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

(Financial Times March, 21st.)

We have always favored Canadian Pacific Railway as one of the best investments offered in this country among stock securities. At the present level, around $150 a share, it is giving a yield of a shade under 7 per cent. Being listed on the New York Exchange where it is dealt in mainly by Canadians as well as United States investors through that medium, it is subject to more fluctuations than it would be if its activity were dominated by its appearance on the Canadian exchanges. That is why C.P.R. is an unattractive stock to purchase as a mere speculation. Looking at it, however from the position of an investment to be held over a term of years, we think that you would be well advised to purchase same. Not only are present earnings, which were an even 12 per cent. in 1923, reasonably assured, but there is being piled up behind the capital stock most valuable reserves which should in time result in some sort of distribution for the common shareholders. So that in C.P.R. you have an investment with an assured return that must be considered ample, considering the quality of the security and in addition the likelihood of a considerable appreciation in the price in the next few years.

ANACONDA MINING CO.

This Company passed their dividend some weeks ago and stock is now selling at $33.50 per share. The Company can't very well make money at the present selling price of copper, 13c, and we do not look forward to a resumption of dividends or higher prices for stock until the copper market improves. We believe it advisable to hold on to your stock and await higher prices.

McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd., have opened up in a wonderful manner below the 2,000 ft. level and we understand that the ore reserves are rapidly increasing. They are reported as treating approximately 1,000 tons of ore per day producing in excess of $300,000.00 per month. We look for higher dividends and prices for this stock.

Delegates to Meet Government

There arrived by express to-day Mr. P. Maloney, a delegate of the workmen at Deer Lake who were on strike last week. Interviewed by a Telegram reporter as he stepped from the train, Mr. Maloney stated that the men were working away, but under protest. He and another delegate, Mr. J. Thompson had been sent by the workmen. By appointment the delegates will meet the executive Government on Wednesday, when the case of the men will be presented. Referring to the causes which led up to the strike, Mr. Maloney would not say anything beyond the fact, that when told that rumors were current here that the men in addition to being dissatisfied with the general rate of pay felt that they were not being fairly treated by some of the outside bosses, and that equal pay was not being given for equal work, he said there was some truth in the rumor. Mr. Thompson, who accompanied Mr. Maloney, detained at Brigus for a brief visit to his home, will arrive by the next shore train.

Early Morning Blaze

PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT GUTTED BY FIRE.
At 8:10 yesterday morning the Central and West End Fire Companies were called to the premises occupied by Messrs. Barnes & Co., Printers, 421 Water Street, where a fire was in progress. The firefighters made a hurried response in answer to the alarm and upon their arrival they found the main floor in a mass of flames. With the aid of the pumper two good streams of water were soon put 'nto play, and after thirty-five minutes work, combating with the flames, all danger had passed; but not before considerable damage was done to the structure. Machinery and stock valued at several thousand dollars were rendered useless, and the loss to Messrs. Barnes & Co. is a very heavy one. The only insurance carried was a policy for $2,000.00 by Mr. S. A. Shortall, the owner of the building.

DUSTIN FARNUM STARS IN "BUCKING THE BARRIER."

The opening show at the Majestic this week is one that the management recommends highly to patrons. The feature "Bucking the Barrier," is one of the outstanding features which made Dustin Farnum the popular star he is, in the movie world. It is followed by a genuine comedy entitled, "Dance or Die," and a news reel. The Fox News Reel is now in demand in every movie theatre worth while, in the big theatres in Canada and United States this service is recognised as the best and the people of St. John's have likewise shown their appreciation of this most interesting feature. It is with much pleasure the announcement that Mr. Cameron Geddes will sing "I am a Roamer Bold," comes to the many who are desirous of hearing this rendition from Mendelssohn. It is this song that gained high favour from Mr. Geddes during his three year uninterrupted tour. "Cuckoo Clock" is his second offering, whilst his third is Victor Hubert's success, "I Want What I Want, When I Want It." The Majestic show to-day should prove very acceptable to every lover of film and music.

Obituary.

MRS. O. W. LAING.

The Angel of Death has again visited the bereaved settlement of Champneys West and removed a faithful wife and devoted mother in the person of Mrs. O. W. Laing. The deceased lady who was in her 57th year, was in excellent health up to within a few days of her death, when, in some unknown manner, she contracted that dread disease pneumonia. Good hopes were held out for her recovery, but death came unexpectedly on March 14th. The funeral, which took place on St. Patrick's Day, was largely attended, including many from nearby settlements who came to pay their last respects to the departed. Her's was a busy life but she was always at hand when needed, to give a cheery smile to the sick or a helping hand to the needy. Left to mourn are her husband, a retired teacher; one daughter, Mrs. Frank Drover of White-way; and four sons, George, at home; Gerald, of the Bank of Nova Scotia; Ernest, at St. John's; Ernest, C. of E. Teacher at Winterton, and Cecil, master mariner of Vancouver, B.C.

ARTHUR C. SHEPPARD.

The almost sudden passing away of Mr. A. C. Sheppard of Lark Harbour, came as a surprise to many friends in the village, and general regret is felt for the loss of a beloved citizen. The deceased, who was the second oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sheppard, and who had only reached his twenty-fourth year, had not been in very good health for some time passed, having sprained himself, thereby causing heart trouble, but still he attended to his little business of which he endeavoured to establish. The writer sympathizes very much with the family of bereaved. The funeral took place from his late residence and the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery of St. Mary's Church, in the presence of a very large attendance. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, for they rest from their labors." "Now the labourer's task is o'er, Now the battle day is past; Now upon the farther shore Lands the voyager at last. Father in Thy gracious keeping. Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."

JAMES POWER.

On Wednesday, 19th inst., there passed away at Cupids after an illness of two months, James Power, an old and highly respected citizen of that place at the advanced age of 75 years. Deceased was enjoying good health up to two months ago, when he was stricken with Jaundice from which he never recovered. He was a fisherman of the old school, and followed his calling up to last summer at his fishing stand at Grady, Labrador, where he successfully operated for upwards of 40 years. Left to mourn are his widow, three sons, Thomas, in the U.S.; Patrick and Michael at Cupids, and one daughter, Mrs. Ambrose Miller, at Roxbury, Mass. Besides these are his brother John and one sister, to all of whom we extend sincerest sympathy. —Requiescat In Pace.

St. Thomas's Sunday School

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION YESTERDAY.

The annual distribution of prizes to the children of St. Thomas's Sunday School, took place in Canon Wood Hall, yesterday afternoon. The Hall was full to overflowing and the short programme of song was well rendered. The Superintendent's report showed the school to be keeping upward in the parish work, and giving promise of continuing advance. Short addresses were given by Rev. J. B. Elliott and Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., the latter a former Superintendent who contributed thirty odd years of continuous services.

The Rector, Rev. Canon Earg distributed the prizes and delivered an address the memory of which will not soon fade from those who heard it. The Rector's words were most impressive, full of cheer and hope. In leaving the school he was separating from a combination of willing workers whom he would remember and of whom he said many kind things.

Following is the prize list:—
GIRLS.
Senior Class—1st, Lizzie Carter; 2nd, Violet Diamond; 3rd, Leah Nichol.

Another Big Programme at the Crescent

TO-NIGHT'S SHOW OFFERS UNUSUAL BILL.

In keeping with the Crescent policy another big show has been arranged for to-night and to-morrow night, and by looking over the advertisement in this issue, you will see what we are offering to the amusement-loving public.

Ivan Abramson's dramatic production, "A Child Per Sale," will be seen at this theatre to-night. This is a straight-from-the-shoulder, hard-hitting, condemnation of the present-day evils of rent profiteering. The cast includes Gladys Leslie, Creighton Halle, and Julia Swayne Gordon, besides the two talented children, Bobby Connelly and Ruth Sullivan. This is the first picture which puts forth in dramatic form the story of the injustices practised to-day by unscrupulous landlords. It is the kind of a picture which will not fade from the memory when you leave the theatre and it is the kind of a story that will do a great deal towards alleviating the horrors of unjust rents.

Oporto Market Report.

The following report in reference to the Oporto Market, and dated March 6th, was received by the Secretary of the Board of Trade on Saturday:—

Sales last week were 2,300 quintals British, 750, quintals, Norwegian, and 650 quintals Danish, ect.
Sales of British fish are now somewhat better. There is more demand, however, for inferior qualities than for firsts this month, and this month, when field labour commences, we expect to see the demand for inferior qualities increase. Small fish is also asked for, as the Portuguese cure, still on hand, consists almost entirely of large fish. Unfortunately the improvement in exchange advised in our last, did not hold, and the rate has fallen back almost to where it was before.

Unusual Weather

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING STORM

Within the past 48 hours unusual weather conditions prevailed. Yesterday afternoon hundreds of people strolled countrywards or wended their way to Signal Hill, to bask in the warm sunshine. After nightfall the weather became cold and there was a fall of snow which covered the ground to a depth of several inches. Shortly after daylight this morning, a thunder and lightning storm came on and lasted for over half an hour. This was followed by sleet and rain.

Special Lenten Attraction at the Nickel Theatre

"THE ETERNAL LIGHT" WILL BE SHOWN WITH APPROPRIATE MUSIC.

It is with mingled pride and pleasure that the management of the Nickel Theatre announces for screening to-day the magnificent Lenten attraction "The Eternal Light," the wonderful story of the Cross; being a classic reproduction of The Passion Play. The picture has been produced under the auspices of The Catholic Art Association, an organization whose object is to offer to the world such productions that will uplift the amusement-lovers to a higher plane of entertainment. The task of making this film has been a gigantic one, and the characters portrayed therein are carefully interpreted by artists of proven ability. See this story and you will be the better for it.

The musical programme to go with this great picture has been specially arranged under the capable direction of Prof. P. J. McCarthy. Miss Ida Howlett will render that beautiful Sacred solo, "The Cross of Calvary," by Guonod, and Prof. McCarthy will sing "The Palm." Miss Howlett and Prof. McCarthy together will render the duet by Cormetti "O Jesu Mi Dulcissime." During the showing of this picture appropriate music will be discoursed with organ accompaniment.

The price of admission will be 30 cents for night performance and in the afternoon the regular admission will prevail. The management is particularly desirous that all should avail of this rare opportunity to witness this film which will be shown for three days, and urges that patrons attend early as the first show commences sharp at 7.15.

Confirmation at St. Mary's Church

The Bishop of Newfoundland administered the rite of Confirmation in St. Mary's Church yesterday afternoon. A very large congregation completely filled the building and the full choir was in attendance. His Lordship was attended by Rev. H. L. Pike as Chaplain, and the Rector, Rev. A. E. S. Stirling, who presented the candidates numbering nearly eighty. The service throughout was one of inspiration and uplift. The Bishop's addresses to the candidates, before and after their Confirmation, were very impressive, especially when reference was made to some of the present day dangers which young people must encounter—late hours, evil companions, and neglect of prayer.

duces an unhealthy condition of the throat it may in rare cases prepare the soil for the actual cause of the disease. But the cigar is no worse than the cigarette or the pipe.
With regard to pipe smoking, Sir James Dundas-Grant, consulting surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, is of the opinion that when a pipe is always held in the same position in the mouth a bad condition is found on the area of the throat opposite, and this may lead to cancer.

Mr. J. C. Buchanan, secretary of the Cancer Hospital, Brompton-road, S.W., said he had never heard of a case of cancer of the throat in that hospital caused by smoking, but cancer of the lip and tongue have been attributed to smoking a clay pipe.
Dr. A. Leitch, director of the Cancer Hospital Research Institute, said: "I don't know anything about it. I smoke myself, and so do a great many others in touch with cancer."

THE JEWETT BROUGHAM
Luxury For the Thrifty

The rule of thumb is unknown in the Jewett works. Before the days of pneumatic tools the art of coach building was a tedious and laborious task. When automatic tools came in they lightened the labour of mankind and left their mark in the progress of the world.

This precision in the Jewett works has resulted in the construction of a roomy five seater tonneau by master craftsmen in the coach building art. Comfort is enjoyed in every seat with its rich upholstery and its special Jewett construction. Supreme comfort, however, is found in the surplus power of the engine which propels the car with the smoothness of gliding.

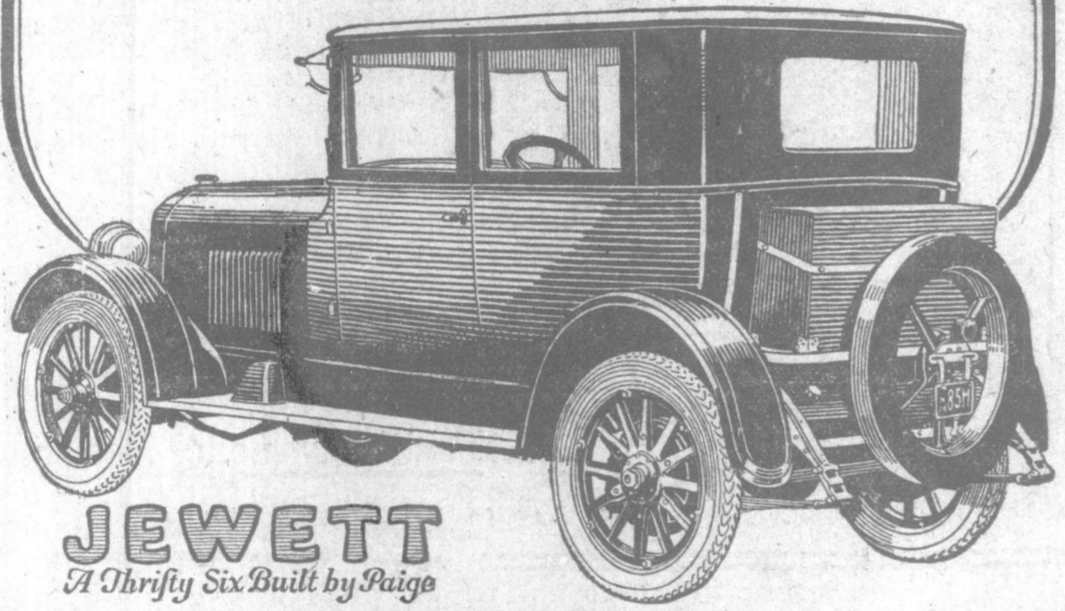

It is truly a luxury to ride and operate a Jewett Brougham. As cool in the warm season as an open car, but a greater protection in inclement weather. The Jewett Brougham is constructed with all the appointments for those of wealth, however, at a price within the reach of those of thrift.

JEWETT SPECIFICATIONS:

Engine—6 cylinders, 3 1/2 x 5; lubricated by high pressure oiling to main and connecting rod bearings; two ball electric starting and lighting; thermostatically controlled automatic spark advance; Paige-Thinker axle; extra heavy 6 inch "I" beam steel frame; improved type four speed transmission; dry plate clutch; special alloy steel springs, 36" in front, 54" in rear; all-steel universal joints; forced-feed chassis lubrication.

Special models furnished at slight extra cost with additional equipment: Special Robin—egg blue finish with upholstery to match; spare cord tyre, tube and protector; bumpers front and rear; sideled radiator and motor; trunk and trunk rack (except on two-seater); automatic windshield wiper and rear view mirror; rear stop signal; sun visor; parking lights on cowls. London Letter

(By PANTON HOUSE.)

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(Canadian Press) Canadians in London probably know only that portion of the Regent's Canal which passes through Regent's Park. This waterway, constructed in 1812-20, which has an average width of 66 feet, curves through North London and joins the Grand Junction Canal near Paddington, which places it in connection with a network of other canals navigable by barges. It carries every year to the various railways having yards on its banks about 700,000 tons of heavy goods. A member of Parliament has just had the brilliant idea of converting the canal into a 60-foot motor road, the middle 40ft. being reserved for fast traffic, with 10ft. on each side for vehicles loading and unloading. Such a road, he believes, would carry at least 7,000,000 tons of goods every year, and would materially relieve London's existing roads of the great and growing press of traffic. The cost of turning the eight and a half miles of canal into a road, with a bed of some 2 1/2 feet of concrete, is estimated at $14,000,000; and this allows nothing for the purchase of the canal itself.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

Buckingham Palace is known to the public by its east front, looking across a spacious forecourt at the Queen Victoria Memorial and St. James' Park; at no time is its interior accessible, save to the exceptionally favored traveller. It was originally Arlington House, built in 1674 and rebuilt in 1703 by John Sheffield, Duke of Buckinghamshire, who named it Buckingham House. George III. bought it in 1762, but Queen Victoria was the first British sovereign to live in it. It was not known as Buckingham Palace until 1825, when it was remodelled by Nash for George IV. The east wing mentioned above, was rebuilt as recently as 1913. The royal apartments are out of sight in the north wing. The palace has 40 acres of garden such as might be found in the heart of the country.

WORLD'S CHAMPION DANCERS.

Two hundred and forty couples competed this week at the Queen's Hall for the title of World's Champion Dancers and for silver challenge cups, presented by the London Daily Telegraph. For several weeks beforehand the eliminating rounds had been taking place in dancing centres in London and the provinces, and the 240 were the best of an enormous entry. They were invited to show their paces in four dances—fox-trot, tango, waltz and one-step. As there were three classes, amateur, mixed and professional, with a separate championship for each, this made twelve events, in each of which 20 couples competed. There was a large gathering of the general public to witness the finals, the spectators themselves "taking the floor" between events. The results of these competitions are important to professional dancers, as managers of big dance halls and hotels are always anxious to offer engagements to the winners.

On the whole, the men who work the lifts and the men who shepherd us on and off the trains on London's Tubes (underground electric railways) are polite and patient folk. But Underground Railway authorities appear to think that there is still room for improvement, for they have caused a film to be prepared, showing how to handle passengers. Photographs have been taken during the "rush hours" showing Tube officials doing the wrong thing when confronted with the type of traveller who delays everybody and wears out tempers; or, again, showing examples of impressive courtesy. All employees are to have an opportunity of seeing the film.

GRANDMA SEES HERSELF.

Nearly 200 elderly ladies have been invited by the producer, Cecil Hepworth, to a matinee performance of the film "Comin' Thro' The Rye," which is based on a favorite old novel by Helen Mathers. Mr. Hepworth thinks it will be interesting to discover the opinions of people who actually remember the costumes and the ways of 1850, the story's date. Seventy years of age and the title of "Grandma" were the qualifications of his guests. Forty old soldiers from Chelsea Hospital will also be present as a guard of honor.

THE CHELSEA PENSIONERS.

Mention of the Chelsea Hospital reminds us that this refuge for old and disabled soldiers is one of the interesting London buildings which Canadian visitors often overlook. Built by Sir Christopher Wren in 1682-82, it stands in grounds which are, if anything, more beautiful than itself. Charles II. was the founder, and his statue in the central court is still wreathed with oak each 29th of May. Legend will have it that Nell Gwynn inspired him to make this provision for old soldiers; history coldly asserts that the scheme was originated by Sir Stephen Fox, paymaster-general in the latter part of the 17th century. About 550 pensioners, selected from among the many thousands who receive pensions from the Army, are boarded, lodged, clothed, nursed when ill, and provided with pocket-money. In summer, beginning on Royal Oak Day, they wear picturesque long scarlet coats. The old boys are delighted to show their Hall and chapel to visitors in return for a small gift.

NATIONAL PONY SHOW.

This week, following the Shire Horse and Hunter Shows, is held the show of the National Pony Society, the central organization for the preservation and development of all the well-known breeds of British ponies. These breeds have been known for centuries, and include the Welsh, Exmoor, Dartmoor, New Forest, Fell, Dale, Shetland and other types. The Society is also interested in the breeding of polo ponies, and their development from our native breeds. The Arab Horse Society takes part in this show. Several classes of pure bred Arab are exhibited. Perhaps the most popular events are the mounted competition for children, among whom are always a number of very clever little fellows.

TRAINING BRITISH GOODS.

The National Training School of Cookery, founded in 1874, is keeping its jubilee this week with an exhibition of work by its students, of whom 400 are now attending. The school was the first to teach cookery as a class subject; about half its pupils became teachers of cookery, the other half taking engagements as professional cooks, or applying their learning in their own homes. Recently a number of naval cooks have been studying at the school, with excellent effect on the Service rations which they handle, as shown by a specimen dinner of tomato soup, steak pie, rice mould and stewed prunes exhibited by an expert from Chatham. Examples of work shown ranged from eggs and bacon and plain stews and puddings to a ball supper. Other branches of housewifery—laundry work, dressmaking, upholstery, carpet repairing—are taught in other departments.

Salvationists and Secret Societies

GENERAL BOOTH AND THE U.S.—"ARMY" SPLIT POSSIBLE.

New York.—The dissemination of orders approved by General Bramwell Booth in London, calling upon all Salvation Army officers to sever their connections with any secret societies of which they may be members, has created a profound sensation in the United States. General Booth is now on the way to India. Consequently it is impossible for anyone in America to communicate with him except by wireless. Yet the issue which his orders have broached is regarded as so important that it may not possibly result in the secession of the American branch of the Salvation Army.

The New York World, which maintains the closest touch with Salvation Army officers in this country, states that they interpret the general's orders as a renewal of the attempts to make the three great divisions of the army which are under the command of Evangeline Booth tributary to London. This interpretation is disputed by Commissioner Estill, of New York, who says that the association of officers with secret societies has long been a source of anxiety here. The fact remains that a large percentage of American Salvation Army officers are either Freemasons or belong to the Elks or other societies which are described in the orders published in the Salvation Army Staff Review as "openly worldly" and as condoning habits, such as the use of intoxicants, which are "too often at variance with our teaching and standard."

These societies have been liberal contributors to the funds and work of the Salvation Army in America. During the war their co-operation was particularly close. Buildings which have been erected in nearly 1,000 cities in the United States have been built with money largely raised by them.

American Salvation Army officers contend that to antagonize them would fatally cripple the operations of the army. General Bramwell Booth is spoken of with the utmost reverence in this country, but there is a widespread impression that he fails to understand the peculiar problems of America, which are very different from those of England. The best friends of the Salvation Army are convinced that the existing differences can only be healed by a visit to the United States by the general. Without such visit it is feared that the cry of British domination is destined to spread.

THE ONES WHO KNOW HIM BEST

Let it be written here and now.
Little but this has life in store;
A patch of ground where the blossoms bow.
A welcome smile at the open door.
This of a man is the final test—
The faith of the ones who know him best.

How does the money go, and why?
What has fashioned the yoke of debt?
What does the husband toil to buy?
What does the father work to get?
Here is a joy denied to kings.
Built on countless little things.

A child to love and a wife to please.
A rose to rear at the kitchen door.
Who has treasured his life with these,
Shall come to peace when the day is o'er;
And whether the house be great or small,
The same joy waiteth for one and all.

Babble of fortune and talk of fame.
But these are glories of strength and skill;
These are all that the great can claim:
A house where the voices of hate are still.
A home at night that is sweet with rest.
And the faith of the ones who know him best.

Out of his years he can take no more,
Strive as he will for the yellow gold;
Love to welcome him at his door.
Friends to cherish the days of old.
This of a man is the final test—
The faith of the ones who know him best.

Trade Schools

TO REPLACE APPRENTICE SYSTEM.

OTTAWA, March 24.—(Can. Press)—That Trades' Schools must be established in Canadian cities and the sooner the better to offset the effects of the collapse of the apprentice system, is the emphatic opinion expressed by Dr. J. H. Putman, Senior Inspector of Ottawa Public Schools, in his annual report for the year 1923.

Analysing the "immediate destination" of the 2,094 pupils who left grade classes in the Public Schools during 1923 and commenting thereon, Dr. Putman remarks that "the number of boys who left school to learn skilled trades is insignificant and its inevitable consequence alarming." Dr. Putman instances some of the obstacles he sees being put in the way of technical training and comments that what he wishes to emphasize is that union, whether of professional men or artisans, will not solve the problems of society. "Eventually," he says, "we come to a deadlock and our social organization cracks. Every union, while it increases the social ties of its own members, has in it an element that is anti-social. It carries within itself the seeds of its own ultimate destruction. In the end only freedom can establish anything on a permanent basis," says the inspector. Human beings, he urges, must have houses, and houses cannot be built without carpenters, bricklayers, painters, plasterers, and plumbers. "Society must protect itself. The apprentice system in these trades, at any rate, has become a joke," maintains Dr. Putman, who urges that trades' schools would not only assist in solving what is becoming an alarming economic problem; they would also help to solve a very difficult educational problem. Trades' schools would not involve the abandonment of technical schools which attempt to teach the underlying principles of all forms of industry. Trades' school classes would make it possible for boys between the ages of 14 and 16 years to attend school from November to April and find steady employment at a remunerative wage and at the same time be perfecting the theory and practice of their trades' school instruction. Dr. Putman maintains also that such a system would provide a mental, moral and physical discipline of incalculable value for scores of city boys, who now secure working permits to engage in blind-alley jobs, or who are held in school under compulsion pursuing courses in which they have little or no interest, he says.

WILL GUARD CANADIAN BUILDINGS AT WEMBLEY.
MONTREAL, Que., March 10.—(C.P.)—The picked detachment of Mounted Police who are to mount guard over the Canadian buildings at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley has passed through Montreal on its way to England. The detachment consists of ten men of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who will appear at Wembley in the full glory of their smart scarlet tunics, black breeches with the yellow cavalry stripe, immaculately polished brown top boots and broad-brimmed Stetson hats. Of the ten, six are Canadian-born, two are Englishmen, one an Australian and the other a Belgian. Four of the detachment are from Alberta divisions, two from Vancouver, and the others from various Ontario stations.

Motoring Laws
American's Report to a Magistrate
An American who had been in this country about two months, Thomas Ashkins, 35, of Bridge-street, Southport, was summoned at Rochdale for leaving the engine of his motor-car running and unattended. He said: "I guess I'm right sorry that I have broken your regulations, but I have just come from America, and ours are different from yours."
The Mayor: We think our laws are better than yours. Not knowing them will cost you 5s.
Mr. Ashkins: I guess, judge, you have no grounds for that observation. As we have 14,000,000 cars in our country, a deal sicker more than you have here, and so we know more about them. (Laughter.)

Men Who Look Down

"J. B." writes in the Manchester Guardian a studied contribution that is the men who interpret for us Parliamentary public opinion of the nation the record and description of what happens day by day in the Houses of Parliament.

the most famous of "Gallery" men. "J. B." says:—"A recent ceremony in the Press Gallery of the House of Commons gave to some outsiders an opportunity to behold in their own environment the denizens of that famous place who render so wonderfully to the nation the record and description of what happens day by day in the Houses of Parliament.

have never seen a collection of men who, despite their natural diversity of race and individual, struck one as having so much in common, and that much so deeply ingrained. It would be strange if it were otherwise, for the majority were men in their maturity who had spent at least half their lives in the Press Gallery of the House doing a particular duty, which entailed a habit of life and poise, physical as well as mental, in an unchanging environment in an unchanging atmosphere. Those who report from the Gallery (and most Lobbyists, I believe, have been reporters at some time) or write 'sketches' of Parliament looks down on the House as a ship's officer looks down from the bridge, alert and experienced, with their eye ever on the strain for the changing political weather below them. But there is this difference, that the Gallery-man's eye is focused on a space of some sixty feet by forty feet. This is his ocean. On all his working days or nights he is looking down, and looking sharply down. Many of the company had focused Gladstone, Disraeli, Chamberlain, Parnell, Keir Hardie, Randolph Churchill; figures that have passed like line-of-battle ships and privateers and one day vanished like shadows. They have seen them in exactly the same space and at the same distance as they now see Miss Margaret Bondfield and Mr. Prindle and Mr. Jack Jones. To the old men looking down, does it seem like looking down at specimens through a microscope?

is the reporter's honor, and the sketch writer, who does not know his own mind (or in some cases his newspaper's mind) is in sorry case. Curiously enough, despite the one atmosphere and the one interest, youthfulness surprisingly persists. (One man who, I was told, is qualifying for fatherhood of the Gallery looked so young that you would swear his grey beard was dyed grey!) In the end one came away haunted with the image that there was a perfect Gallery man somewhere whose image one knew well yet somehow could not connect with the Gallery. At last, one remembered—the beetle-brows, the hair, the personal look, the firm mouth, the well-packed face. Why, of course, Rudyard Kipling!

der the skin, and already Dr. Ernst Salen, of Sweden, has met with some success in this method by mixing the insulin with olive oil. Another method is being studied by Dr. A. Wallgren, of Gothenburg. He rubbed the insulin, dissolved in water, on the skin of a number of diabetic children and found that some of it was absorbed, causing a reduction of sugar in the blood. The objection to this method is its expense, as about ten times as much insulin was found necessary as when given by injection. Bits of leftover fish can be used in timbales.

Cheaper Insulin

Suggested New Methods of Treatment Research work on insulin in the treatment of diabetes will be greatly stimulated by the announced reduction of price from 12s. 6d to 6s. 8d. per bottle of 10 doses. Efforts are being made to find a method of administering insulin by the mouth instead of by injection un-

SIDE TALKS.

WILL IT GET TOP-HEAVY?

It is the same with houses. At first, houses were just made for shelter. Then men began to make them more comfortable and then more beautiful, and then again, as modern inventions came along, still more comfortable. It is said that the home of the average working man of to-day is more comfortable than a king's palace three centuries ago. Go back still further and try to look through the eyes of the savage who lives in a mud hut, upon a house furnished with the bare necessities and the simplest comforts of to-day.

What We Ask Of A Watch.

We seem to go through this same process with everything which is originally produced to satisfy a simple need. Watches were originally to tell time. Now we want them to gleam and sparkle and have whatever odd shape is the proper thing for watches, and to excite envy by their value.

A Long, Long Road.

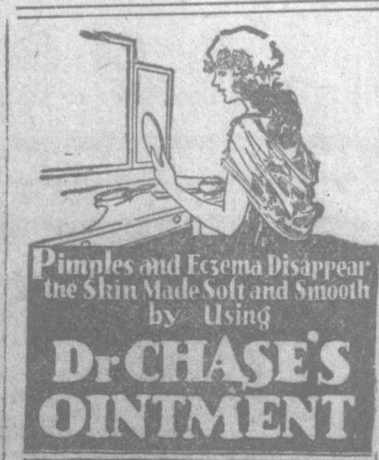

I don't know why it was, but somehow the slight difference between the two garments and the immense stress she placed upon the matter set me thinking of the long, long road we have travelled since man first made clothing to protect himself from the cold.

In these remote days, that was what clothing was for; just to keep men and women from suffering, and perhaps perishing, from the cold.

And then gradually, as soon as this basic need was satisfied, came the next requirement. Clothing began to be for beauty as well as use. Factors of color and line entered into women's choice of clothes. The virtuous woman, in Proverbs, "maketh herself coverings of tapestry; her clothing is silk and purple. All her household are clothed with scarlet."

Yet It Would Keep Her Warm.

And then along comes fashion with her demands, and the complexity of the business of keeping oneself clothed is increased a hundred fold. "I simply must have a new coat," we say, "that one is so shabby and so out of style." If we wanted only to be warm, that coat would last ten years more. If the average upper middle class woman were not to buy a single new garment for the rest of her life, she could probably protect herself from the elements with what she has. Please understand that I am not suggesting there is any reason one should dress for warmth only. I am just trying to bring home to you the way we have complicated and elaborated the simple processes of keeping alive into the intricate requirements of modern civilized life.

STAFFORD'S Sarsaparilla Blood Purifier

Skin Diseases, Anemia, Lack of Blood, Paleness, Impure Blood, Lack of Ambition and Vigor, Debility, Weakness, Tired Feeling, Boils, Pimples, etc.

THERE is no Remedy of more universal application than a genuine true-and-tried Blood Purifier and Blood Builder. A medicinal preparation that will truly purify, revitalize and renew the blood, restores hope and pleasure, ambition and happiness, vigor and vitality. It is of inestimable value not only as a strengthener of the system, fortifying it against invasion of disease, but also as a cure for Chronic Diseases which depend upon an impoverished condition of the blood. Diseases of this nature are usually caused by impurities in the blood deposited through the inactivity of the Liver and Kidneys.

These secretions if not removed from the circulation, gradually form poisons which deteriorate the condition of the blood and allow other diseases to obtain a more ready entrance to the system. In the effort of nature to throw off these impurities, frequently pimples, boils, carbuncles, etc., appear, and it is wise to respond promptly to the Warning of Nature.

is a genuine preparation scientifically prepared from the best and purest remedies for the purifying and rebuilding of the blood. It should be taken every spring, as at this season the blood is more apt to become impure and impoverished. Keep your blood in perfect condition and you will be prepared to fight life's battles with greater success.

One Bottle of this Blood Purifier is all that you will need to take to produce results.

Dependable Transformers

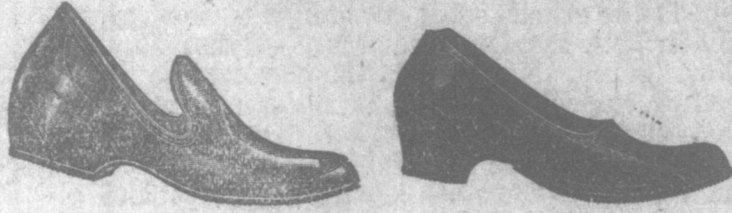

The widespread use of alternating current is really made possible by the transformer. This apparatus changes the high voltages, at which the current is economically transmitted, to low voltages, at which it may be safely used in the home and works. It is very necessary, then, that the transformer be very carefully chosen for efficiency and dependability.

Westinghouse and the users of Westinghouse Transformers are proud of the excellent records which Westinghouse Transformers have made.

Spinning Tops at $200?

Seems expensive for a small child's toy, but a little tot's daddy recently tripped on a top at the head of a stairway and when he arrived at the bottom
he had a dislocated shoulder and a fractured forearm.

Summed up, this Company gave him $200 for his
