Legislative Assembly

(Continued From Page Two.) section (7) of this section carry off, in addition to any or all of the business therein specified, the business of buying and selling real estate, proceeds of the assessed value of the lands sold shall be deemed to be part of the gross revenue of the province.

Mr. Paterson (Island) maintained that the statements of Mr. Bower were extravagant and a confession of weakness on the part of the government.

Mr. Ross said the object was to avoid the double taxation which was possible under the present law.

Mr. Parker Williams (Newcastle) objected to Mr. Ross' amendment on the Bill which had received from the taxation which they might be doing a dual business, coal and lands, real estate and lumber.

Mr. Paterson (Island) thought that the amendment was to prevent dual taxation. Mr. J. A. Macdonald (Rossland) said that the object was to relieve a corporation from paying taxes on land which they had received from the government as a subsidy and subsequently sold at a high figure.

Mr. J. H. Hawthornthwaite thought there was something wrong in the system of taxation of the land now assessed at less than the sale value.

Mr. Hawthornthwaite pointed out that already these corporations have the right to export logs and other timber from the province and they wanted more. They had given nothing for their land, now they wanted a free trade with the empire.

The Bill then passed to committee on the Bill which provided for the cutting of timber in Crown lands.

Mr. Hawthornthwaite moved to add after the word "lumber," in the fourth clause of section 2 the following words: "Provided always, that logs cut or hewed by bona fide hand loggers may be exported."

Mr. Oliver moved to insert between the words "saw" and "lumber," in the 3rd of section 2, the words "or hewn" in the 4th clause of section 2.

Mr. Paterson (Island) did not agree with the chief commissioner. There were timber areas which would never be cut except under hand loggers license, and to do away with this by preventing the product from being exported would deprive the government of an important source of revenue.

Mr. Paterson (Island) said that this was all beside the question. The point was did the province want to permit the exportation of saw-logs or not?

Mr. John Oliver argued that the term square timber did not come under the designation of sawn lumber.

Mr. Paterson (Island) said this was not simple. It passed through the hands of bona fide hand loggers, not "bona fide" loggers but simply using those licenses as a cover for trading in logs, then having crossed the line to rush them to a saw-mill.

often hear the honorable gentlemen speak such words of the trail of the House. That gentleman could in fifteen minutes draft a measure remedying the present most defective scaling laws of the province and resolve the difficulty of the hand-loggers.

Mr. J. H. Hawthornthwaite argued that the Chief Commissioner to amend the bill himself to permit the hand-loggers to continue to export.

Dr. King (Granbrook) said that if the bill passed as proposed it would seriously injure the lumber industry in the upper county of British Columbia.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY COLONIST

One year $3.00, Three months $1.00, Six months $1.50. Sent postpaid to Canada, United Kingdom and United States.

THE GOVERNMENT "DEFEAT."

It is natural that the opposition should seek to make the most of the defeat of the government the other day in the legislature while the members were in committee; but while the government would much prefer that such accidents did not happen, it does not in the least indicate that the administration has lost any of its support or that the result of the vote on the occasion referred to is to be accepted as a precursor of defeat upon a vote of want of confidence. The government is stronger today than at any time since it assumed the reins of office.

A LIBERAL PROTEST.

However much our Liberal friends may gloat over the incident that occurred in the Legislature on Tuesday, they have "troubles of their own" which more than offset the joy which such incidents afford. There is, too, this striking difference, that the incident of Tuesday was merely temporary and accidental in its character, while the trouble among the local Liberals is deep-seated, chronic and apparently without a remedy.

MULTIPLYING THINGS BY THEMSELVES.

It is scarcely worthy of serious reference, but lest some one should be misled by the conclusions of "English School Boy" in the Times, we may say that the multiplication of £19 19s. 11d. by itself is not a fallacy lies at the bottom of the same fallacy lies at the bottom of trying to multiply 23,090,401 times by itself as there is of the quantity in the original form of pounds, shillings and pence. You cannot multiply 19 pence by 19 pence. The product is not mathematically conceivable.

interests of labor, but in the interests of moneyed manipulators, who have been straining every effort to evade the law, and to use the hand loggers' licences as a cover under which to operate.

THE CASE OF THE SALVOR.

The editorial remarks of the Colonist on Sunday morning headed "The Salvor," have been the subject of much discussion in the city, and we believe that any one who reads the article will find it a striking instance of how men in the pursuit of gain can play on prejudices in order to accomplish their ends.

HAND LOGGERS' LEGISLATION.

"O Liberty! O Liberty!" exclaimed Madame Roland, "how many crimes are committed in thy name!" Stand for a great deal in politics. A stand for a great deal in politics, and every supporter of the cause supports the measure quite regardless of its merits.

PRESERVATION OF ELK.

Six-Your suggestions in Sunday's issue of the Colonist have been read with interest and fully endorsed. There is no doubt of the eventual success of the movement.

PRESERVING OUR GAME.

Sir-In reply to Mr. Phillips-Wolley's letter in Sunday's issue of your paper, his assurance that it is not intended to prevent the extermination of the elk is a very welcome news to many of us.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mrs. Sutherland thought she had Serious Heart Trouble

"Fruit-a-tives" cured her when Doctors failed.

Hundreds of people suffer with Irritated Heart. Pain comes over the heart, especially after eating. Palpitation or fluttering—headaches—belching gas—indigestion and constipation follow. And the sufferer takes heart tonics and sees heart specialists, and steadily grows worse.

The heart is irritated by the stomach. The nerves of the heart and stomach are identical. When the stomach is distended by gas—when food sours or is not properly digested—the stomach nerves are irritated and this soreness extends to the heart. That causes pain which makes so many people think they have serious heart disease.

"Heart disease and Dyspepsia cured by Fruit-a-tives."

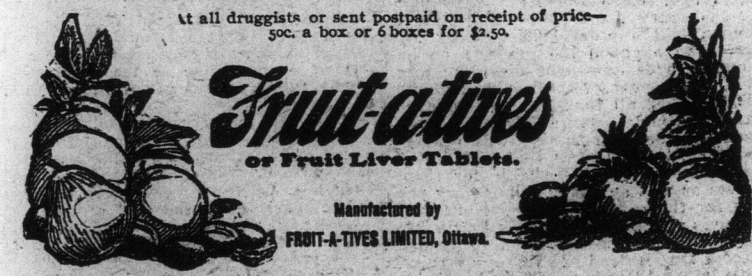

OTTAWA, July 14, 1905.

To Fruit-a-tives Limited, Gentlemen—

I never gave a testimonial to any medicine before but I like "Fruit-a-tives" so much I will gladly do so. I had every symptom of heart disease and indigestion and was unable to eat or sleep. I was placed on a permanent organization was known as the "See America First" League will raise $250,000 for a city purpose, and during the past several months I have been writing their columns to promote the cause.

"Fruit-a-tives" CURE IRRITATED HEART because they cure stomach, bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" set the gastric juices flowing—clean and sweeten the stomach—insure the perfect digestion of every meal. They make the liver give up more bile, move the bowels regularly every day, and strengthen and heal the kidneys, as well as act directly on the skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" are concentrated fruit juices, combined by a wonderful process which increases their medicinal action many times. Tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole made into tablets.

Recovering Wreck Victims

Twenty-One Bodies Have Been Found by Searchers in Vicinity of Wreck.

Tug Fails to Make Landing With Dories—Arrangements for Investigation.

Survivors Tell of How G.H. Jesse Met Death While Helping the Wreck.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) TWENTY-ONE bodies have been recovered from the Valencia, three more having been brought ashore yesterday, and three more are being concentrated on recovering the dead, the last faint hope for the living having gone. Three large tugs, the Bahad, the Olga and Lorne, with dories and sealing boats, each with a party of experienced fishermen, sealers and prospectors on board, the steamer Salvor and the United States revenue cutter Grand went again to the scene. The tug landing parties to relieve the greatly fatigued men who have been scouring the shore since the disaster occurred and to augment the searchers who were organized ashore. The work of recovering the bodies has been systematized, those in charge making full consideration of the wind and tide and current. Indian parties have been sent to the various islands in Barkley Sound.

The Canadian government has commenced arrangements for an investigation to be held in Victoria. Captain Gaudin, local agent of the salvage and marine department, Captain J. G. Cox, Lloyd's agent, and Captain Newcomb of the Canadian cruiser Kezrell have been named as the investigating committee. There are few survivors remaining in the jurisdiction, several Seattle by the steamship company, this afternoon Frank Connors and George Long, survivors who are in the local hospital, and the bodies recovered were subpoenaed and will be held for the investigation.

Whether many more of the bodies found will be taken from the Valencia is problematical. An undertaker and a carpenter and a supply of lumber for coffins, as well as a number of the bodies secured here, were taken to Bamfield by the tug Lorne and the bodies will be taken to the cable car wharf to be shipped, and others will probably be buried at Bamfield.

Steps are being taken to prevent any possible loss of evidence. The lightkeepers at Carmanah and Cape Beale, as his agents to take records of any wrecks of value which ashore, to be held pending instructions, and as there are large quantities of lumber in the wreck, it is probable that this will be destroyed, to prevent it falling into the hands of the Indians.

YOUNG JESSE'S HEROISM In conversation with George Long and Frank Connors, two survivors of the wreck who were picked up by the Salvor and are now at the marine hospital, a Colomat reporter was given a brief account of the brave manner in which G. H. Jesse of this city faced the danger. The Colomat representative was accompanied by the young man, who was the unfortunate young man, who briefly described his brother.

When asked if he had recognized him from the wreck, Mr. Jesse said that he was the only one on board, and he was there when I left, and he was one of the gamiest of the entire party. "Coming to the rescue of my brother, one could mistake him, as he was such a well-built young fellow, and during Tuesday night he was not only himself, but also supported Miss Laura Van Wyck of San Francisco. I did not know who she was till I saw her broken down, and then I recognized her. She was trying hard to keep up her courage, but at times broke down and wept. Mr. Jesse showed his determination by clinging to the best of his ability and at the same time trying to assist a man in a thousand, and when I left the vessel he was still clinging to the rigging with Miss Van Wyck in his arms."

Mr. Long then gave a description of Mr. Jesse, which tallied almost exactly with that given by his brother, and there can be no doubt but that it was Mr. Jesse who acted with such heroism in trying to save Miss Van Wyck.

Frank Connors, like Mr. Long, also recognized Mr. Jesse from the description, and in conversation with him I saw him and once saw him as he would not fall to recognize him again. He was a peculiarly striking young man. He was a little lower than the man that I when the topmast broke. I was carried down with it, and Mr. Jesse had a hard time to get him to come down and take a chance on the life raft, but he said, "No, I have some one to look after here, and will stay and take my chances."

Continuing, Mr. Connors said: "If Miss Van Wyck had been saved she would have owed her life to Mr. Jesse as he did his utmost to save her. He was still clinging to the rigging when I left, and was holding the young lady to himself, from falling."

Concluding, Mr. Connors said: "I am awfully sorry to hear that he was not rescued, as I am certain he was certainly deserved to be one of the lucky ones; but after the way I saw him when I left, I am sure that he was down still trying to save Miss Van Wyck."

During the time the Colomat reporter was visiting Mr. A. W. Ross of this city, who handed him a photograph, at the same time asking the question, "Do you recognize that gentleman on the boat?"

Without any hesitation Mr. Connors replied: "Sure!" He left on the raft with an unimpeded overhead to try to swim ashore.

two days he said he was going to try to swim ashore, and he asked me to go with him. I thought that I would stay with the raft. I did not want him to go, but before I knew it he jumped, and saw him floundering against the rocks. We were unable to help him. The photograph was handed to Mr. Long, and while he was examining it, Mr. Connors asked him if he recognized it. "I do not quite remember him," said Mr. Long.

"Do you remember the fellow with the big piece of tobacco who was giving it away to the boys?"

This brought back to the mind of Mr. Long, and he quickly recognized the photograph as that of one of his companions on the raft, who had met a fate that he had escaped. The two men are improving very rapidly, and expect to be out in a few days.

The party consisting of Lineman Logan, Daykin, and Martin, which was at the top of the cliff, believe the line could have been brought ashore if an intermediary two-inch line had been used. The two men were on the cliff instead of having the five-inch hawser bent to the thin line. The thin line, however, could not have been used as it would have broken under the strain of the hawser. The other two lines shot from the wreck did not reach shore.

A Banded party of six men, which was on the beach, was unable to get up the cliff. The party was led by a man named Harris, who was a seaman of the steamer, was dashed to death on the cliffs while attempting to fasten this line to the hawser. The line was being used to throw overboard with the hope it would drift to the shore rocks and become fast. The party was unable to get up the cliff, and the hawser was cut. The party was unable to get up the cliff, and the hawser was cut.

The bodies of the two survivors were brought to Victoria from the scene of the disaster. The bodies were being put on board tugs at the scene of the wreck to be taken to Seattle by the steamer Salvor. Reported Wreck of Ella G. Was Like Mark Twain's Death "Much Exaggerated."

Tees Returns From Naas—Czar Expected Today With M. Turner in Tow.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) There were rumors current in the city on Sunday night that some unfortunate had fallen into the little fishing schooner Ella G. and on Sunday evening an evener issued an extra stating the schooner was at Naas on Sunday. The vessel, the schooner Ella G. arrived safely at Ucluelet and like Mark Twain the "Sea Wolf" did not drown. Yesterday morning the schooner Ella G. left Victoria on a fishing cruise to the halibut banks off the Vancouver Island coast on Sunday, with a crew consisting of Capt. Fred Forrest, master, Capt. Alex. McLean, who is in charge of the vessel, and a crew of seven men, amongst whom were Capt. Fred Forrest and Capt. Alex. McLean, the sealer who recently won considerable notoriety. Yesterday morning the schooner Ella G. arrived safely at Ucluelet and like Mark Twain the "Sea Wolf" did not drown.

THE O'GORMAN AGENCY, ADVERTISING [JOSEPH T. O'GORMAN] FRUIT EXCHANGE BUILDING, 76 & 78 PARK PLACE, PHONE 1561, CORTLANDT ST. N.Y. C. CABLE ADDRESS, O'GORMAN, NEWYORK

Mess. Weiler Bros., Victoria, B. C. Gentlemen: Your favor of the 6th inst. received this noon and in accordance with the instructions contained therein, we immediately mailed you plates of the three advertisements Nos. 148-138-144. We trust that they will reach you in time for holiday business.

We think you as well as the Colonist Press are to be congratulated on the Christmas booklet. The half-tone illustrations are exceptionally well done, the grouping being unusually artistic—in fact, we haven't seen anything equaling our own work in this respect before, and it is indeed refreshing to have this come to our notice. They are simply fine. The letter-press is equally good. If we had made up the job we would not have used the "Bradley" series in conjunction with another display face. We should have confined the display to one series.
