The Commissioners passed this resolution with a great flourish of trumpets, and explained that as the bynaw already passed separating the grocery and liquor trades was being openly violated and circumvented their decision would successfully put a stop to what they termed an eyel. Now it is said the real intent of this resolution was for no such purpose, but on the other hand was simply to direct a thriving trade in grog to a gentleman fiwho is a power in the Reform party. That gentleman, Mr. Robert Jaffray, was known to have a large interest in the firm of Jaffray & Ryan, although Mr. G orgafiray, his brother, appears as a member of of Jaffray & Ryan, although Mr. G orgJaffray, his, brother, appears as a member of the firm of that name.

Jaffray & Ryan, as soon as this resolution was passed, went out of the "dry grocery" branch of their business and devoted themsolves exclusively to "wet groceries."

Mr. Robert JaTa has a record as a manager for the Reform party, is president of The Globe Publishing Company, and it is quite natural that if such gentlemen as "King Bob" were to be assisted in a kindly manner through the commissioners his particular line of Holb' were to be assisted in a kindly manner alrough the commissioners his particular line of a commerce was also entitled to consideration. And his firm have been cetting and are getting a substantial benefit from such a source. Of course this is merely another leaf in the political history of the case, and is withat a good argument why the license boards should be put beyond the reach of the politicians. The government can rest assured that there is a great deal more truth than noetry in this advice now tandered by The World.

The other grosery and liquor houses of the town could give the government some very interesting informatio on this particular place of the existing terror if they would only speak—"speak now!"

If the Chief Inspector Would Talk, The World heard yesterday that Chief Inspector Dexter could add an interesting Inspector Dexter could add an interesting shapter to this business—if he only wanted to or if he only dared to. It is stated that the hense boards of the past few years tave rode roughshod over Inspector Dexter's "recommendations" as to who should be granted licenses and who should be granted licenses and who should be granted licenses and who should not. It is told of him that his reports were oftener thrown into the waste-paper basket than acted upon. For instance, he would report that such a person had not the proper accessmedation, or had broken the law, and therefore his license should be cancelled or refused when he came up again. But the aforesaid gentleman could afford to smile in his sleeve at the Chief Inspector, for did he not have beer from "King Bob" and his grog at the proper place? He had also contributed to the guarantee fund and voted all right during the elections. This saved him! Here is a pointer for politicians of both parties: If any meinber of the Legislature could succeed in getting the government to issue a commission for investigating the whole question of granting luquor hoomes. Chief Inspector Dexter would make an elegant witness. There are plenty of other inspectors in the province who could fill the enteres box with interesting facts!

The intricacies of the license guarantee fund are almost past following. Said a man quite competent to know all about it: "It is nothing else than a scheme for raising money for the party. The press were excluded, but that doesn't signify; the trial will be resumed this morning; and "guilty or not guilty" that is the question in which alone interest centres. Suffice it to say the inquiry was in the Methodist Board-room, Adelaide-street. The church court was composed of Revs. Suther-Methodist Board-room, Adelaide-street: The church court was composed of Reys, Suther-land, Benson, Hooker, Matthews and Pirrette. Br. In 1875 be exain invaded Enghand, but this time as trainer, having a stable of Mr. Sanford's horses, including Preckness, Mack, Bay Final and Brown Prince. He remained abroad three years and in that times won several races and finished second with Brown Prince for the Two-Thousand Guineas in 1871, in 1879 he returned to New York and that season trained for Mr. Pierre Lorillard, who then had Zoo Zoo, Bertha, Judith and Panique. He became connected with Mr. Galway's stable, better known as the Preakness stable, in 1886, where he remained till the fall of 1887 and t'en securist a stable of his own which he now has at Momonth Park.

Therefore it will be seen that Mr. Little field's experience on the turf is by no meaning instead one and his outing of racing matters must be considered valuable. FLOWERY PARKDALE'S TROUBLES.

American Herses as Good as English

The English Jockey Abead,

"Whom do you consider the best jockeys?"

"On a whole the English; they display more horsemanship. Though I consider McLaughlin as good as any in England he certainly would be at a disadvantage on English courses, while Connor or Wood would be the same on our stracks. But taking them as a body the English are superior."

"Do you approve of the English courses, where there is so much straight running?"

"I do, most emphatically. We cannot get too much straight running. That is the reason that public form is so much better in England and not so inconsistent as on the American turf. Say two horses almost evenly matched run in England and one wins by half a length. If the weights are not changed, the winner will beat the other horse mine times out of ten. On the other horse mine times out of ten. On the other hand, in America it is different—the burse that has the track has the advantage, especially in a big field, and this it the cortex of the 'in and out."

terrible disaster is not mitigated by to-day's revelations. It has been raining hard all morning. Towards noon it ceased almost entirely, and by 4 o'clock there was almost entirely, and by 4 o'clock there was every indication that thete would be an entire cessation of the rainstorm. Half an hour afterwards the sun made every effort to penetrate the clouds. The refulgent tints of a rainbow were seen in the eastern sky, and to all appearances portended a beautiful evening sunset. There was a clear sky overhead. This continued for half an hour longer. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coding storm. Dark, heavy banks of clouds marshaled themselves towards the front, and a gloom seemed to have aettled over the city. There was a stillness as of a coming danger. Suddenly the wind whisted, roared and tore in mad confusion. The storm clouds grew heavier still, and louder roared the winds. In the western sky the storm was seen approaching with a thundering noise. The swath it cut was narrow, but its effect was terrible.

was decided to ask the City Solicitor to report as to the city's position in the matter.

The Tannery Hollow sawer was the subject of another clause in the report. It was to the effect that the contractor for the work wished either to be allowed to go on with it or else be relieved of the contract, the city to re-imburse him for the amount he had expended in material. The clause explained that the delay in the prosecution of the work was caused by the difficulty the city existenced in arriving at a settlement with Mrs. Townsley, beaugh whose lands the sewer will have to east. It was decided to ask the County udge to arbitrate as to Mrs. Townsley's lain before the work be proceeded with.

Mr. Sproatt recommended that Bowdentreet be widened from 50 feet to 66 feet as a social improvement, and that C. J. Smith's and of $200, the value of one foot reserved don Smith-street, was excessive, and that City Solicitor be asked to give his opinion a matter. This was adopted:

tore the roadways are constructed. For this series is foreign will ask the Council to have this needed legislation enacted.

This was the last recommendation of importance in the report and it was unanimously concurred in.

The great fight of the meeting occurred overseveral appointments to offices in this department recommended by the Engineer. He again proposed Mr. Charles Rust as assistant engineer in charge of sewers; and Mr. Joseph Meadows as assistant engineer in charge of roadways. He also nominated Mr. Granville Cunningham as assistant city engineer, Mr. Cunningham as assistant city engineer, Mr. Cunningham as a saistant city engineer, Mr. Cunningham being an engineer of large experience, with the best of recommendations from Col. Growski and others, and a man with whom he himself was personally acquainted for many years.
