FIFTEENTH YEAR

EVANS' PINK OYSTERS

The Sharon Poisoning Case Before the Courts.

A SERVANT GIRL'S STRANGE TALE

Has a Fishy Appearance, But May Possibly Be True.

The Friesman Osmann Bought Striptease at a Bradford Drug Store—A Doctor Who Was Summoned Saw the Symptoms From Which Evans Was Suffering. Was Perhaps the Result of Poison, But May Have Been Caused by Hold-A-These-Other-Things.

Before an audience that filled every part of the county court room, Magistrate Wingfield yesterday commenced the preliminary examination into the charge of conspiracy to murder Walter Evans, hotelkeeper at Sharon, York County, made against Mrs. Lottie Evans, Charles Pegg and George Osmann.

The evidence given by Margaret Reid, servant girl at Evans' hotel, was sensational to a degree, and that young lady, during her 2 hours, evidence, made a pronounced impression. She told her story without a break and had every detail on the tip of her tongue.

When at 1.30 the magistrate announced that he was ready the 3 prisoners were brought in. Mrs. Evans, a tall, rather good looking woman, was dressed in black, with black "picture" hat and a large astrachan jacket.

Pegg and Osmann, the former a handsome young man who sat beside her, were also dressed in dark clothes. Both of the male prisoners are young, Osmann wearing a budding blonde mustache. They listened to the evidence with much attention and did not seem impressed by any fears of the result.

In a front bench, Walter Evans, against whose life the conspiracy is said to have been made, sat. He is not a prepossessing looking gentleman, a scar across his nose giving his face a singular expression. Around him were grouped many of his relatives, while the court room was filled with residents of Newmarket and Sharon, interested in the case.

Margaret Reid's Story. The first witness called was Miss Margaret Reid. The young lady stepped forward bravely and in a slight tremor, she was shamed by the attention she drew. She was dressed tastefully in black. Her evidence was given in a clear tone, and never through it all was she at a loss for what to say.

Mr. Dewar conducted the case for the crown and examined the witness. "I was for three months general servant at Walter Evans' hotel at Sharon, Lottie Evans, the female prisoner, is the wife of Walter Evans. George Osmann was hostler at the hotel. Walter Evans was taken sick the day after New Year's. Pegg was there more than once, generally calling on Saturday nights. Sometimes he called during the week. Walter was away often during the week and always managed to get home before daylight.

"Before Jan. 21 I heard a conversation between Mrs. Evans and a man who was talking about Walter Evans, and she called him a drunkard. I heard her say she would rather drink than see Walter Evans' throat than see him draw a line over her nose. I have often heard her say she wished to God she had a gun and would get rid of him some way or another.

Called Her Employer "Lot." "I was very friendly with Mrs. Evans. I called her 'Lot.' She said she hated the name of Evans some time ago. When Pegg came they generally went upstairs and locked themselves in the parlor. I have seen them in Feb. 8, and they were lying on the bed. I saw them twice, but do not know what was the matter. I saw Charlie Pegg upstairs in the parlor with a little bottle, and Mrs. Evans gave him her penknife. George Osmann got some paper from Mrs. Evans' room. When Pegg came he perfumed a bottle. Pegg made three powders. This was two or three weeks before I heard of the case.

"Mrs. Evans' father brought her a bottle of laudanum and oil of cedar. I saw them between Christmas and New Year's. They were labeled, 'The (Mrs. Evans and her father) tried to put the laudanum in the bottle. I saw Mrs. Evans' father drop the laudanum into a spoon and put it in the tea. She left the tea on the sideboard. Walter asked it and wanted to know what was the matter with it and his wife told him it was some of George Osmann's medicine. I took some and Mrs. Evans said, 'My dear, Maggie, you haven't drunk that?' She got me some liquor and milk and tried to make me vomit.

A Visit to Bradford. "Between Christmas and New Year's Lottie sent George Osmann to Bradford to a drug store. I heard her telling him to go, and she told me that he went. This was five or six days before Jan. 21. He brought a bottle about 2 inches long. He gave it to Mrs. Evans. It contained white stuff and looked like salts. I do not know what was in the bottle. I heard Lottie asking George if he had got it. He said yes. She wanted to know how she would give it to him. George said, 'You'll have to see Pegg first.' George put the bottle back in his pocket. I heard him say that he told the druggist he wanted it to poison faces. After Walter Evans was taken sick Osmann took the bottle. Mrs. Evans called him a coward.

"Walter Evans was out hunting the day he was taken sick. He got back in good time for supper. He ate some oysters, which George had brought from New York market. When Mrs. Evans went downstairs to get the oysters she remained about five minutes. Mrs. Evans dished up the oysters for herself and her husband. Pegg knew Walter ate some of his. I don't think he had eaten anything else. He said he felt sick, and shortly afterwards we put him to bed and sent for the doctor.

Try It On Oysters. "I heard a talk between Pegg and Mrs. Evans. I heard Pegg say the only way now is to try it in oysters. This was before Walter took sick. Mrs. Evans corresponded with Pegg and showed me the letters. In one of the letters she asked Pegg to be sure and get the stuff that started with 'The next letter Pegg said he could not get it in the city, but to send George to Bradford or Mount Albert. When Walter Evans ate the oysters he was fed to the table. Mrs. Evans told me to throw what oysters were left out and not to put them into the well, and she said she fed to the table. The oysters were pink before they were put on the table. George Osmann re-

FIGHT WITH NihilISTS

Rioters Killed and Soldiers Shot or Wounded in a Fight with Nihilists. A special dispatch to the Vosisske Zeitung from Perm, Russia, says that a fight has taken place at the large iron works situated at Nishne-Tavriske, in the Ural Mountains, and that 5000 workmen took part in the disturbances, which were attributed to the low wages and the Nihilist propaganda. The local authorities were utterly unable to cope with the disturbance and a strong force of troops was ordered to quell the rioters. A force of 1000 men followed, during which many of the soldiers were killed and a number of the rioters were either shot or stoned to death. The rioters finally made such a fierce attack upon the troops that the latter were repulsed and driven to seek shelter in a position which they fortified while awaiting assistance. An additional force of troops were summoned and the combined force of military moved upon the rioters and quelling the disturbance. The rioters were killed. The troops, though many were killed. The troops police made a number of prisoners who, it is believed, will be dealt with in the severest manner. It is said that the Nihilists are spreading their propaganda in a similar manner in many parts of Russia and that the authorities have been called upon to take the most energetic steps to arrest the Nihilist agitation.

WILL BE NO TARIFF REVISION

SO SAID D'ALTON MCGARTHY AT MILTON LAST NIGHT.

McCarthy, O'Brien and Godfrey Address a Public Audience, But Advance No New Arguments—Not a Word on Separation of Powers—McCarthy Freely Changes in the Matter.

Milton, Ont., Feb. 8.—With so much political excitement in the air during these days of political uncertainty, it would be more than a marvel if the strifeworkers did not feel constrained to come out of their temporary retirement and make an effort to explore some of the questions that are going to be raised by the P.C.A., the prohibitionists and the other political factions. The competition in politics to-day is almost as keen as the competition in business. It will not do for any of the factions to let the grass grow under their feet, they have to keep up with the procession or else fall ignominiously to the rear.

This condition of affairs is no doubt responsible for the appearance of the strifeworkers at Milton yesterday. The intense political excitement of the moment brought them out from their retreat just as the sun brings out the butterfly in May.

The speaker referred to the tariff on blankets. The duty on these articles is both a valorem and specific and operates in such a way that the duty on blankets is 10 per cent. The duty on blankets worth 10 cents in England was 82 cents. This same blanket, when the tariff is raised to 25 cents in Canada, or a difference of 65 per cent.

Ninety suffer that Ten May Live. Fifty per cent of the population of Ontario are engaged in manufacturing pursuits and 50 per cent in farming. He stated a strong belief in the tariff. It is the policy of the Government was a policy that supported the 20 per cent at the expense and the 25 per cent at the expense of the 80 per cent. Every 90 persons in the country, said he, have to suffer that 10 may live. It is the policy of the Government was a policy that supported the 20 per cent at the expense and the 25 per cent at the expense of the 80 per cent.

What is the destiny of Canada? said Mr. McCarthy. What is the destiny of the great North-west? He said that the great purpose here was to spend seven million dollars on the building of the C.P.R. If we are going to spend that money, he said, then from going there to live? What statesmanship is there in a policy of that kind?

Encourage Agriculture. The true policy of Canada will encourage agriculture. You farmers have created a great industry. You have been successful in your markets. With these and other things you have done, you are now being hampered and bled in order that a few manufacturing industries may flourish in a few cities here and there? The manufacturers of this country must live constantly with the rights and privileges of all the rest of the world. It is the duty of the Government to protect the rights of the farmer and the manufacturer.

Who Were There. At about 8 o'clock the music of the town hall was heard making its way towards the hall. The leader of the Third Party shortly afterwards entered the building, accompanied by Col. O'Brien and Mr. Godfrey. They made their way at once to the platform. As they proceeded up the crowded aisle they were greeted with a friendly and enthusiastic reception.

Speeches. Mr. McCarthy opened the ball and unloaded a few political generalities on the audience. He stated during his remarks that he was a member of the Third Party and that he was a member of the Third Party. He stated during his remarks that he was a member of the Third Party and that he was a member of the Third Party.

Col. O'Brien followed in a half hour address. He went over the old ground almost verbatim. He stated that they were not only disturbers of the peace, but they intended remaining so. He went for the French, said we must have tariff reform and introduced his joke about Sir John Thompson being the head and Clarke Wallace the tail of the Government.

Mr. McCarthy says There Will Be No Tariff Revision. The band, which had been accorded by step leader to an elevated platform in one corner of the hall, struck up a brass air, to the conclusion of which the speaker of the evening rose up and faced the audience. He was liberally applauded. Mr. McCarthy early in his remarks took occasion to compliment the fact that both the English and Sir John Thompson had ruled him out of the Conservative party. He went over the old ground and made known story of his gradual severance from the Conservative party. He seems to take special delight in referring to Sir John Thompson's post-graduate remark at Bellefleur, when he said he was glad that the Conservative party was well down.

Congressmen excel all other politicians. In Colonial and other latest designs. The Hon. Mr. Braden (Ontario) and Mr. Milligan (Quebec) and Co., 234 Yonge-street.

MAY BE W. R. MEREDITH, Q.C.

A CITY SOLICITOR NOT YET APPOINTED.

Mayor Kennedy Estimates That He Will Submit Names at the Next Meeting of the Sub-Committee—Proposal to Have a Corporation Counsel and a City Solicitor.

Mayor Kennedy, Ald. Shaw, Lamb, Giffis, McMurrich, Crawford and Atkinson comprised the sub-committee that met yesterday for the purpose of discussing the best means of filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Biggar.

After listening to the advice and opinion of Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., the committee adjourned without taking action for the city to pursue to appoint a City Solicitor to the corporation council. There were some objections to giving the work to a firm, as it might lead to complications. He thought the work of the department should be done by the corporation council, a sensible, practical man, as counsel, to take the bulk of the work, a great many legal matters, and a committee of the corporation council to handle the more important matters.

ENGLAND'S NAVAL PROGRAM

HER SUPERIORITY OVER OTHER NATIONS TO BE MAINTAINED.

Details of the Proposed Strengthening of the Fleet Will Not Be Published, At France and Russia Would Immediately Place New Vessels. On the stocks—England Can Outclass Them All.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Mr. Edmund Robertson, one of the Lords of the Admiralty, addressed a meeting at Dundee to-day. He said that the naval program of the Government for 1904 and 1905 would show no intention to forfeit or even risk in the slightest degree Great Britain's position of superiority over other nations. The estimates that would soon be published would satisfy the rational advocates of a strong navy. These estimates would only be for a year, though the program for the next period of years had been elaborated in all its details.

There was good reason, Mr. Robertson said, for the refusal of the Government to publish all the details of its program. When the last naval defense act was announced France and Russia immediately increased the expenditures to keep pace with Great Britain. The net result was that Great Britain had been left in a position relative to the other nations before occupied. England, he declared, could always build quicker and keep the lead in completed ships, besides choosing types of vessels that would outclass those of other countries.

A $42,000 Suit in Which Ormond SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 8.—Dr. William S. Ross has commenced suit against W. O. B. McDonough, owner of the famous stallion Ormond, to recover $42,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by the failure of McDonough to keep the terms of his agreement involved in the purchase by Ross of the great horse. Ross alleges that he and McDonough entered into a verbal agreement by the terms of which (Ross) should for three years after Sept. 1, 1922, superintend and manage Ormond for McDonough; that the latter agreed to pay expenses for three years, also $500 per month, give him a house on the farm, and allow him to breed two mares to Ormond, the products of which should be equally shared by the two men. In June, 1923, Ross says McDonough violated his contract and damages are claimed as follows: Living expenses for three years, $3000; loss of income of $1500; cost of the privilege of breeding two mares to Ormond, $20,000; salary, $18,000.

Turf Editors Came to Blows. LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 8.—This morning on their way to the horse sale in a car a discussion arose between D. C. Parrish, proprietor of The American Sportsman, Cleveland, O., and Col. R. V. Hardin, correspondent for Clark's Horse Review, regarding the sale of certain stock. Parrish asserted that they were bought in and urged Hardin to give the same a roast for alleged crookedness. He intended doing so, he said, in The Sportsman. Hardin said he would not do so, as he could not prove the truth of the statement. The lie was passed and the Colonel knocked Parrish out of the car window. At the sale Hardin told Parrish if he ever mentioned his name he would hit his heart out and "feed it to the dogs."

UNCLE SAM'S NEW JOCKEY CLUB.

List of Members May Be Ready on Saturday—Members of Horse-Owners Will Probably Be Held.

New York, Feb. 8.—It is likely that the list of members of the jockey club will be made public on Saturday, continues The Tribune to-day, as the committees appointed for that purpose has nearly completed its labors.

The Coney Island Jockey Club moves right along without paying any attention to the "boycott" agreement. It is likely that at an open meeting there will be many changes suggested to the jockey club.

The first in order is the withdrawal of the "boycott" agreement. Western turfmen desire most earnestly that the Coney Island Jockey Club should become a member of the jockey club.

Racing affairs in New Jersey are extremely quiet, as its existence depends on the continuance of the legislature in the Senate. If the Democratic "Highlanders" of that State can upset the verdict of its citizens by preventing legislation, it is likely that an attempt will be made to hold race meetings against the wishes of the citizens.
