

THE GENEALOGY AND HISTORICAL SKETCH
OF THE
STOUFFER FAMILY

TORONTO, CANADA :
THE SOOLE PRINTING COMPANY
(STOUFFER & LEE)
1918

Introduction

THE following historical sketch, taken from the histories, gives the origin and meaning of the name, as well as the important positions occupied by some of the early bearers of the name.

While the direct genealogy of persons bearing the family name is lost for a considerable length of time, there is no doubt that the family and name survived, and there is also strong reason to presume that the modern Stauffer or Stouffer are direct descendants of those early Stauffers who attained Imperial dignity. The genealogy can be taken up in 1630, from which date our family record can be positively traced.

“Hohenstauffen,” meaning Grand Cup Bearer, was originated in the year A.D. 937. It was a hereditary office, established by Emperor Otto the Great, given to the Duke of Swabia for the honor he did the Emperor in filling the position of Grand Cup Bearer at his Coronation. Members of this family were Rulers in Germany, Switzerland and Italy, as heads of the Holy Roman Empire, from 1137 to 1254. “Stauffer” was the name given to the head of the family. Seven Stauffers were Emperors, namely:

Conrad III.....	1137—1152
Frederic I.....	1152--1190
	(Barbarossa)
Heinric VI.....	1190—1197
Philip.....	1197—1208
Otho IV.....	1208—1212
Frederic II.....	1212—1250
Conrad IV.....	1250—1254

S T O U F F E R

After an interval of about four hundred years, we take up the genealogical sketch of Abraham Stauffer, later Stouffer, who came from Pennsylvania to Canada, A.D. 1804.

We have been able to trace back his ancestry five generations, to Daniel Stauffer, who was born in Switzerland, A.D. 1630.

This sketch also traces his descendants to the present date, August 1, 1918, and includes five generations and a few of the sixth and seventh generations.

On account of the family having become so numerous, it is not thought wise to attempt giving the names, dates of birth, marriage and death of any beyond the third and fourth generation. After that, only the numbers in each family are given. Any family, commencing with these records, will be able to trace their own genealogy, if they so desire.

EXPLANATION ABOUT THE NAME.

No doubt "Stauffer" is the original and correct way of spelling the name, and not "Stouffer," as was adopted by our forefathers who are concerned in this sketch. The Government, wishing to do honor to the first settlers in that locality, when naming the Post Office, abbreviated the name and called the place Stouffville—as they thought, better to accord with the English language—which accounts for the change. Because of the age and importance of the present town, it would be difficult for those who have remained in the vicinity of the old town to revert to the former name, though some, who years ago moved away and settled in other parts, have done so. It, however, does seem a pity that the name was ever changed from the original.

S T O U F F E R

This explanation seems necessary in order that the younger generations may know that, though slightly different in the spelling of the name, we are still one and the same people.

This little sketch is divided into two parts.

Part I. commences with Daniel Stauffer in A.D. 1630, and ends with the immigration of Abraham Stouffer to Canada in 1804.

We are greatly indebted to Edward Stouffer, of the fourth generation of Canadians, who is now living in New York, a son of Christian Stouffer, of Stouffville, Ontario, for his painstaking research into the history of the family, as contained in Part I.

To Christian M. Stouffer, of the fourth generation, also a son of Christian Stouffer, of Stouffville, we express our appreciation and thanks for the mechanical share of the work done at his printing establishment in Toronto, and also for procuring the Coat of Arms and family crest—shown in the booklet—which is suggestive of the influential position occupied by the family in olden times. While we in our day do not place very much importance on titles of that description, yet, in those times, to be the Cup Bearer of a King or Emperor was looked upon as quite a distinction.

Part II. is undertaken by myself. I am now living in Toronto, although until eleven years ago I was a resident of the old town of Stouffville.

We thank all who have contributed towards making this sketch as complete as possible under the circumstances, and trust it will be a source of information and satisfaction to the whole numerous family.

A GENEALOGICAL ACCOUNT

OF THE

STOUFFVILLE BRANCH OF THE STCUFFER FAMILY
FROM A.D. 1630 TO 1804

PART I.

The family name "Stauffer" came from the Canton of Berne, Switzerland, and was originally a title of an official position, "The Cup Man or Cup Bearer." This title became a family name, descending from father to son. There are many of this name now in the Canton of Berne and throughout Switzerland and also in Germany.

We commence our record with Daniel Stauffer, who was born in Thun, a town in Switzerland, at the head of Lake Thun, in A.D. 1630.

It is not known when or to whom he was married. Hans Stauffer, who was a son of Daniel, started for America 1709. The evidence goes to show that Hans, with his wife and three sons, Jacob, Daniel and Henry, and one married daughter, arrived in Philadelphia in the summer of 1710. Where Hans first settled is uncertain, but on December 31, 1712, his eldest son, Jacob, bought from Samuel Powell, of Philadelphia, five hundred acres of land on the west branch of Perkiomen Creek, in what is now Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

His third son, Henry, married Magdalena Hess, to whom were born eleven children.

Abraham being the sixth child of Henry.

The records of this Abraham tell us that he, with his two sons-in-law, Metz and Shetter, bought a large tract of land, out of which they made three farms, about a mile east of Chambersburg, Pennsylvania.

Abraham built a flouring mill about 1793, which was operated by his direct descendants for ninety years, and from which the present Stauffertown received its name.

S T O U F F E R

Abraham had six children. The fourth, Abraham, was born January 9, 1780, in Pennsylvania. He married Elizabeth Reesor. They came to Canada in 1804, bringing with them their two children, Christian and Elizabeth. He died October 27, 1857, at the home of his son Abraham, at Stouffville, Ontario. His wife, Elizabeth, died April 7, 1835, being 61 years of age.

PART II.

It may be of interest to our people, and to those who shall follow, to know that in 1802 Peter Reesor, 22 years of age, a brother-in-law of our revered grandfather, came to Canada on horseback, in order to investigate the prospect for settlement. He was favourably impressed, and made his arrangements for locating in the township of Markham, near what is now Cedar Grove. He returned to Toronto—then Little York—and was offered four hundred acres of land near the centre of the township of Whitchurch for his horse, saddle and bridle. Though not having seen the land, he accepted the offer, and returned the five hundred miles on foot to his home in Pennsylvania. Mr. Reesor then busied himself in making arrangements to emigrate to Canada, which the Reesors, Stouffers, and others did in 1804.

Their means of transport were four large, strong, canopied waggons, drawn by four and six horses to each waggon. These families brought their possessions through the trackless forests, in many places having to cut their way, fording rivers or making bridges over them, until, after six weeks of strenuous work and adventure, they arrived at their destination, to hew out of the forest their future homes.

S T O U F F E R

Peter Reesor and his people settled in Markham, on the western branch of the Duffin's Creek, where he built a saw mill, a grist mill and also farmed extensively.

Abraham Stouffer followed the same creek up about seven miles almost to its source, where he also built saw and grist mills and did farming.

These were days of hard work and many privations but they were a healthy, hardy, hopeful, honest race, and soon became prosperous and highly respected families.

They never regretted having settled in this country, and Canada is much the richer and in every way the better for having these and similar families make their homes here.

We may say that the motive which prompted our fathers to come to this country was their loyalty to Britain and their preference for her government and institutions. They were, therefore, part of the people called "United Empire Loyalists," an ancestry to be proud of.

As stated above, Abraham Stouffer and Elizabeth Reesor, his wife, with their two children, Christian and Elizabeth, came to Canada in 1804, and settled on 600 acres of land on the townline between the township of Markham and Whitchurch, County of York, then Upper Canada, being lot 35, Markham, 200 acres, and lots 1 and 2, Whitchurch, 400 acres, in the 9th concession—now the village of Stouffville.

From this small beginning in 1804 has come forth a numerous family, a great many of whom have gone to the various parts of our Dominion and some to the neighbouring states of America.

S T O U F F E R

A goodly number of the fourth and fifth generations have engaged in this terrible and almost world-wide war, some of whom have given their lives for the cause of liberty and truth, while others have been wounded, gassed and taken prisoners.

The occupation of our forefathers was principally farming. Some of their descendants have entered into professional, mechanical, industrial and business life.

In religion our grandparents were Mennonites, and some of their descendants still belong to that Church, but many of the later generations have become identified with other Churches, principally Methodist, Baptist, United Brethren and Presbyterian denominations.

So far as known, the whole connection has always taken a lively interest in all temperance and moral reform movements, and are delighted that in this year (1918) our Governments have given us such excellent legislation along these lines.

We revere the memory of those who preceded us and who met and overcame the physical and moral obstacles with such indomitable courage and strong faith. They have left the world much better than they found it, and given to us a goodly heritage. It is for the present and future generations to carry forward the work so well begun.

May we all have a share in the establishment of righteousness and peace on the earth—that "Righteousness which exalteth a nation," and that "Peace on earth and goodwill to men," of which the angels sang at the birth of the "Prince of Peace."

A Bit of History

AFTER the fall of the Roman Empire in 476 A.D., the Dark Ages intervened, and the barbarians overran Western Europe until Christianized. Then, in 800 A.D., Charlemagne, having conquered France, Germany and Switzerland, was crowned by the Pope in Rome as first Holy Roman Emperor. This office passed from family to family by election, usually falling to great Teutonic landed families, not always by inheritance, or to eldest sons. It was not a German Empire over which they held sway, but embraced in theory all the Christian world, and was the successor of the old Roman Empire. Kings of England, France, etc., acknowledged in theory its suzerainty in temporal affairs, as they did that of the Pope in spiritual affairs. Its heads clashed with the Popes, their fields overlapping. The Popes used the smaller rulers, kings and barons, etc., in all countries against the emperors, undermining the papacy's only rivals to world dominion. The Empire's actual power declined after the Reformation to a shadow, which Napoleon I. declared non-existent in 1803, the then Archduke of Austria being the last of the line.

The Emperor Frederick I. (Barbarossa or Red Beard), a Hohenstauffen, became a fabled hero among Teutonic peoples, was famed as a soldier, and had much actual power. The next to last of the Hohenstauffen, Frederick II., an able man, lost spiritual standing and much political prestige through papal enmity.

Happily, Switzerland became detached from the Empire and from connection with oppressed mediæval Germany and oppressing modern Germany long before the Hohenzollerns or High Tollers or Taxers came to power.

The most famous account of that extinct but brilliant institution, the Holy Roman Empire, which in the Eighteenth Century it came to be regarded, in view of the rise of Prussia and Austria, "neither Holy nor Roman nor an Empire," is that of Viscount Bryce, entitled "The Holy Roman Empire," wherein tribute is paid the remarkable ability and interesting personality of several of the Hohenstauffen line.

Notes and Comments

Here is a question in "Mathematical Progression:" Work it out to your own satisfaction. If in 118 years the descendants of two persons number 674, how many descendants, at the same ratio, will there be, at the end of another 118 years, from 674 persons?

If in some cases the family dates are not as complete as we would like them, it is because the desired information was not forthcoming.

In a number of cases we received very full information of names and dates, even down to the fourth and fifth generations. We are very thankful for this willing response, but regret that we cannot find room beyond the third generation. This may be a disappointment to some.

S T O U F F E R

There is only one exception to the above rule, and the reason for this will be understood when you read the facts. It is the case of the family of John Stouffer, of the second generation, whose daughter Maria married Wm. Pingle. They had three sons. Theodore William and Frederick died unmarried. Harry Walter, the second son, married Alice Ann Dalziel, to whom were born four children, only two of whom—Clara Louise Pingle and Frank Choate Pingle—are living, neither of them as yet being married.

As by the aid of history we see that our family started out very auspiciously, and that to this day it has flourished and grown in a commendable way, so may it continue to grow in physical, intellectual and moral power, taking its full share of the activities and responsibilities of life, which make for the betterment of this world.

It would be a great satisfaction and joy to us all if we could, in this booklet, show the pictures of Abraham and Elizabeth Stouffer—the central figures in our family history, but in their day photographs were unknown.
