KING'S CONFIDENCE HIGH AFTER REVISITING FLEET

Navy Will Surely Add Fresh Triumphs to Glorious Traditions When Day of Battle Comes, He Says in Message to Jellicoe.

LONDON, July 11.—The belief that the British navy will win fresh laurels, "whenever the day of battle comes," is expressed by King George in a message to Admiral Jellicoe after a visit to the grand fleet.

"I have had the pleasure of seeing the greater portion of the officers and men of the fleet," said His Majesty. "I realize the patient and determined spirit with which you have faced long months of waiting and hoping. I know how strong is the comradeship that links all ranks together. Such a happy state of things convinces me that whenever the day of battle comes my navy will add fresh triumphs to its old and glorious traditions."

every other country went in for state-owned railways. Not one of these would think of changing to private ownership. The railway situation in England is the most costly, the most intricate, and had to be organized into a state machine the day war was declared. The American railways are at the end of their tether; they have been located allowed the start out and deliver the messages in the morn-ing and the business that will be done! That's only one thing.

And instead of having Sir Harry Dray-ton and a costly railway commission and railways are at the end of their tether; they have been located allowed the railways do fair by the public start they have been looted, allowed to run down, to engage in a competition that cost money without improving service, and are now represented by securities that the investing public, after long and bitter experience, consider it wise to avoid or get rid of. It isn't the legislation that has been passed in the States of the regulate railways that has brought lic! them to their present demoralized condi them to their present demoralized condi-rion, but the way they've been looted by their managers and directors, most of all by the men of "high finance," who ex-ploited them on Wall Street! And Cana-dian railways have gone or are going the same way. Public ownership is the cure, and it's here.

Public ownership of railways is, next to the war, the question nearest to Canadians. It was never to be, they said, because it was visionary, it was Utopian, it was impracticable; anyway, Canadians were the last people who were fit to tackle it; they were corrupt and given to spoilation, and would run anything they took charge of into the ground. Yet wer un the postoffice pretty well and we'd run it better if the express companies, controlled by the private corporation railways, didn't do their best to check it and to queer our postal order and money note system and our parcel post. As if the institution that did the postal business shouldn't do the railway business shouldn't do the railway business that carried the postal bags and baskets!

And public ownership isn't it running the distribution of electrical energy in the corporations so much as we wish to make our people see the wisdom of substituting state ownership for private course, we want, too, to bring the tailways to the dea of assisting in the change. They may pretend that they are in fair while the roads that are willing to come in if they are in fair they are in fair they are in fair they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to come in if they are in fair willing to

What the action of the American Govern will be is doubtful largely in the sense that the means of expressing the ideas and purposes of the United States have not yet been decided. It was authoritatively indicated that obvious ly there would be no surrender or rights and no acceptance of the Ger

There is no intention, from indications in official quarters, to force a situation, but in whatever policy is followed, the American endeavor will be to place full responsibility on Ger-

The chief obstacle, it appears, to permitting virtually a status quo to continue while further notes are exchanged is the treatment which many has given to the Lusitania case. The United States had asked for disfor reparation, altho the latter had been subordinated to the greater consider tion of whether Germany legally Justified the action of the submarine commander or would admit liability. Bartley, preached from the text, "As thy days, so shall thy strength be." "God gave grace," he said, "just as we need it." During the past week strength had been given to the church to bear up under the awful disaster in which many of its members had been victims.

Day by day numbers of men apply for work or aid, and we can send them only to the House of Industry or recommend them to go into the country to do farm work. Thousands have applied at the city hall for work since the beginning of the year and many more will do so before the year is over. We feel that we are not at all competent to make complete suggestions how to meet the difficulty of providing for the unemployed but we believe that your honorable body might ap-point a small commission of experts consider the question in its relation to the citizens as a whole and various classes in particular and take the required action at once.

The Grave Difficulties. We know that there are grave diffi-culties in aiding the unemployed, for there are different classes to deal with one class composed of honest, industrious men anxious to work, and another class who strive to live comfortably with a minimum of labor at the expense of others.

As he gazed in amazement something stirred behind a gorgeous curtain, and then out came a little woman, so tiny that it was funny even to think of her, but beautiful as perfection itself.

She carried a watering pot in her hand, and she watered the flowers, and then she put coals on the fire, trimmed the lamp, settled herself among the

What she read amused her greatly, for she threw back her little head so sweetly that the heart of the young man thrilled within him, and from that hour the young man was never lonely and never sad, for he carried with him always the little box, and it was his delight and joy to wait for darkness so that he could look through the cracks and see the pretty room, the dancing fire, the soft light of the shaded lamp and the lovely little creature who lived there.

But he could never read the name of the book, although he shifted the box to every angle in the world to get the correct range of vision, and so he never knew what it was that made the lovely lady of the box laugh so gayly when she read it.

I think the young man was going to fall in love with the lovely lady the box, but I never knew, for I was called away from the story before I had a chance to finish it, but I have often thought of the young man and of the secret joy that made him happy when every one thought he must be

The New Friends.

Every summer I make it a point to make a new friend-not a new acquaintance, a new friend—some one that I really love and some one who may, perhaps, be able really to like me. And sometimes my new friend is clever, so clever that she hasn't time to be comfortable, and there are no cushions in her room at all, and no curtains, but it is heart-warming to see her at work there, after all.

What a joy it is to look at life through the kind eyes of a new friend. There is always a new angle, a new point of view, a new field of vision. Last summer my new friend was the hard-working landlady of a summer boarding house. Perspiration the Regulator of the Heat of Your Body

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

TONEST labor bears a most lovely face when man works by the sweat of his brow. It was, indeed, a divine inspiration when the ancient Hebrew scribe wrote that "in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou/returnest unto the ground." The burden and the heat of the day make perspiration, but muscular deeds and physical effort make a sweat so sweet with rewards of health and efficiency that he who has it not is indeed a hissing and a mocking.

Nowadays everybody knows about that greatest of numan mysteries, that Pandora's box of wonders—the thyroid gland in the front of the neck. Few persons, however, seem to give a hoot to know much about those DR. HIRSHBERG equally important glands, the bunches of tissues which manufacture the perspiration as well of the hands and armpits as of the brow. The sweat glands are a much abused,+

The sweat glands are a much abused, yet most worthy outift.

Willows are weak, yet they bind stronger than oak. Perspiration is as thin almost as water, yet it is more powerful than gold. Without it you die.

Two Million Sweat Glands.

The little sweat glands are distributed in the skin all over the body. There are only two or three small spots of the whole dermal texture that lack them, and one of these is the canal of the ear. The palms and soles are abundantly equipped with them. Two million of these sweat glands have been counted in the human skin, where they look like little snakes coiled with the head upright.

The amount of sweat made by these tubes of tissue varies with the emotions, work, health, strength and atmospheric heat and moisture. A quart a day is an average amount for most persons, but heavy clothing may run this up to there quarts, and cold, dry weather cuts the amount down.

Perspiration is not an acid as some persons may tell you. True enough, a greasy, dirty skin may make it acid for a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or a brief interval until this is washed off, but otherwise sweat is anti-acid or alkaline, although uric acid, phosphates and table salt are always present in the perspiration. CONSTANT READER-Q-1-I have a large heart, high blood pressure, and get short of breath in going upstairs. What ought I to do?

In mankind profuse sweating accompanies fear, nausea, anger and a pallid skin. Any overactivity of the thyroid and some other tissues cause perspiration to break out on the face and skin. Contrariwise, the flushed skin of fever exhibits a conspicuous absence of sweat, due to the evaporation as well as the checked activity of the partially poisoned glands.

The drugs called pilocorpine and atropine act in opposition to each other as far as perspiration is concerned. The former augments, the latter dries up and retards the action of the perspiratory glands. Many other chemicals, foods, poisons and juices act similarly. Even copious draughts of water, other conditions being equal, will add to the output of perspiration.

The agreeable coolness feit on a hot, dry, midsummer noon, though the thermometer registers over a hundred, is traceable to these tiny automatic spigots in the epidermis. Torrents of sweat are poured forth as a mechanical bath to so lower your blood heat, just as baths are given artificially in very high fevers or delirium to reduce the temperature.

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

One of the advantages of asparagus is that it can be served cold in so many different guises. A cold French or mayonnaise dressing poured over asparagus placed on lettuce leaves makes an excellent saiad. A specially good, rich sauce is made by mixing the following in a double boiler:

2 tablespoonfuls of sweet cream.

1 egg yolk.

The juice of half a lemon.

Grated autineg to inste.

These ingredients are mixed thoroughly while the water is boiling, and must be briskly beaten for about five minutes, then one tablespoonful of butter is added, little by little, until dissolved.

This is strained into a sauce bowl and gives the asparagus a most piquant flavor.

Canada and Germany

Canada has a notable part to play in the working out of the problems raised by the great war, as well as by the contribution of men and materials to the conflict. We take it for granted that the conclusion of the war will be a decisive victory for the allies in the physical sense. But there are even greater victories than those of arms. General Botha, who has done so much to show the consolidating influences of British principles of liberty and justice, was won over to the British ideal thru the benevolent treatment of South Africa by the imperial government. There were some who hesitated at first, and some even who were assured of the certain failure of the plan to give self-government to South Africa. Had British statesmen had the gift of prophecy, and known about the German war ahead. they could not have acted more wisely than in giving self-government to the Boer states. The effect was to make friends out of former enemies, and to defeat all the calculations of the Ger-

Canada has had a longer period of it was gained by agitation, which in 1837 got as far as the bearing of arms. We are apt to forget these things today, but they should not be forgotten when we come to consider a nation like Germany which has yet to pass thru practically all the preliminary stages of agitation and revolution which Britain, Ireland, Canada. Australia, New Zealand, the United States. France and other democracies have had at one time or another to experience. It becomes the duty of Canada then; along with the other self-governing nations, to prove to Germany that our methods and our ideals are superior to those of the kaiser. This may be a matter of profound difficulty, if we do not realize for ourselves the importance of loyalty to the great principles upon which our democracy is founded. We have defects and inefficiencies in our government and our methods the modern Huns, by any trick of of administration which are not calculated to impress the intelligent German with the advantages of our ways. The kaiser might very well point to Manitoba and ask his people if they wish to exchange his rule for that of Winnipeg. We in Canada are quite sure that the people of Manitoba will be able to grapple with the problem there, a problem which arises in the first instance out of the rankest disloyalty and treachery to the people of the province. Treachery of this kind is as bad as treason to the nation, and if we considered the bearing such events as have occurred recently in Manitoba must have upon German opinion, our condemnation might

More German Arrogance

Public opinion in the United States has not been slow in recognizing that the German reply to the secretary of state's protest against the sinking of the Lusitania is a mere evasion of the grave questions it raised. With true German clumsiness the attempt to ugar the pill of refusal to comply with the demand that the rules of international law must be observed will only strengthen the president's determination to have the issue squarely met. As for the labored effort to show if they think nothing is known in the United States about the cause of the war and the nations responsible. This latest specimen of German arrogance simply adds insult to injury. By continuing to insist that the Lusitania was armed the German Government directly impugns the good faith of the United States officials and in effect charges them with wilful deceit. Even this will not change President Wilson's temper, which, we believe, under a velvet glove of courtesy, conceals a very settled purpose to vindicate the rights of neutrals on the sea.

Offer to Lift Embargo on Raw Hides Made - Flour Also Desired.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—France has offered to lift her embargo on raw hides in return for a supply of American leather goods for military purposes, according to advices received today. The plan, if worked out, will release for manufacture in this country a vast quantity of raw hides which accumulated in France as a result of the embargo, and because of the extensive slaughter of French cattle for food.

Paris despatches also contain re quests for American wheat flour for the use of the civilian bakers. The French flour supply, not only for troops in the field, but in the departments where the concentration and the entrenched camps are located, has been taken over by the government. It is sold to private bakers at the prevailing market price, subject to a rebate of two francs, about forty cents per sack, if the bread is sold at prices prevailing before the war. Commercial agents in Paris are prepared to market 100 000 tons of pared to market 100,000 tons of American flour if it can be delivered in France, and American millers have been asked to furnish that amount.

The Mississauga regiment, however with the audacity which has cnaracterized their recruiting campaign late, went ahead and ordered their sign and had it strung across the street before the departmental officials at the city hall were aware of what was being done. It remains to be seen what action the board of control will take. In the or the spirit of independence in the Canadian bred, that produces this sitbreezes, and can be seen from a distance of half a mile.

They not only lend suggestions to regimental heads but are contributing money and material to further the movement. The Mississauga Horse has received over $3000 from private donations to purchase uniforms for the regiment. So far 250 new uniforms have been purchased. The Mississauga are co-operating with the Governor-General's Body sent to their vacation address whole battalion for the cavalry regrement. erovingian military road. Every day since then some sections of the German trenches have been taken lost, or retaken

Each side has been employing for-midable artillery, both of small and heavy calibre, the French guns being somewhat the more numerous and served with unlimited quantities of high explosive shells.

100,000 Germans Lost. A correspondent of the Associated Press today went thru five or six miles of the trenches formerly held by the Germans, and reconstructed by the French, who now have abandoned-them to move forward. Upwards of 100,000 Germans have fallen or been captured in these trenches, according to the French official count, since the second week of March. The French losses, the correspondent was confi dentially informed while serious, have been much smaller than those of the Germans There are thickets of little crosses made of twigs tied together marking the graves between the trenches. Some of these graves have been torn up by the shell fire. Almost every square yard of this region is marked by miniature craters, caused by exploding shells. Spots where shells penetrated the earth without exploding are indicated by signs bearing the words, "live shell."

Grenades by Basketful.
One line of the German works was just below the summit of a steep slope which, from the nature of the ground could not be shelled without danger to the French position a little higher up. The Germans were sheltered in dugouts under the hillside and their dugouts under the hillside and their French assailants, sliding or jumping down into the trenches, were shot or bayoneted from caves. The line fin-ally was taken by tossing grenades by the basketful into the trenches until so many of the defenders in the con-ceived shelters were killed or wounded that they were too weak to resist an they were too weak to resist an cult. Every curve or angle in the miles of labyrinthian cuttings has its of tragedy and heroism. In the party which went over this ground and into the firing trenches within calling distance of the German lines with the Associated Press cor-respondent were Owen Johnson, Arn-old Bennett, Walter Hale, the artist, and George H. Mair of the British foreign office. As they approached the lines, one shell from a four-inch gun burst within 25 yards of them, while others exploded only thirty or forty yards away. This incident seemed to greatly amuse the soldiers in the trenches who laughed heartly at the embarrassment of the civilians. The visitors were invited by the sol-diers into their shelters which are dry caves with narrow entrances and clay floors covered with matting or sacking and faintly illuminated by the light which filters in front of the entrance or by bits of candle on the inside. Men who had been on duty thruout the night were sleeping in these caves.

The men on the firing line express the utmost confidence that what was can keep on doing until the war has been won. They never hear the vague, unverified reports circulated in Paris sometimes of tremendous and impossible victories or sinister hints of disaster. They know what they have done since March 9, when ordered to act upon this part of the Aisne. They talk as a matter of course of another winter campaign because, they say, it will take another year to break the German power. The principal occupations of the soldiers, when off duty, instead

WATER LADY WINS FORT ERIE STAKE

Scores a Galloping Victory in Feature for the Closing Day of the Season.

FORT ERIE, July 10.—The Fort Erie Stakes, a dash of six furlongs, to which a purse of $1500 was added, was featured by the Niagara Jockey Club for its closing day's program at Fort Erie. An immense gathering turned out, the attendance being the largest by far of the meeting. There was a decided improvement in track conditions, and interesting contests were in order. Iron Mask and Valas were withdrawn from the stakes, and of the other eight that were left in Water Lady and Encore were coupled as the Arthur entry, and Bob Hensley and The Norman as the Elkins entry. The race proved an easy thing for Water Lady, who won in a gallop after being eased up the last dozen yards. Squeeler and encore set a fast pace until rounding the far turn, where Water Lady went to the front with a rush and, in the stretch, kept increasing her advantage. Vogue was second and Bendel third. ROSEDALE DEFEATS THE TORONTO C. C.

Bowlers Have Better of the Batsmen in McGaw Cup Game-Saturday's Cricket.

Great interest was centered in the McGaw Cup cricket game on Saturday at Rosedale between Toronto and the home team. The day was fine and the crease first-class, tho the bowlers had a good margin on the day. Toronto batted first and were all out for 60 odd runs. Wookey and Raeburn bowled thruout. The former started badly and was somewhat extensive but he finished in form accounting for seven wickets rather deadly. On the other hand, Raeburn kept a good length, and while he only bowled two wickets little scoring was done off his delivery. Not only did this pair perform well with the ball, but they secured the bulk of the runs. Raeburn and Wookey were on the defensive for a long time, but after both had been retired wickets fell fast, and the total was less than 80 runs. Heward's slow breaks proved very effective.

EVANGELIA TIES ST. MATTHIAS. The above game was played on Saturday at Riverdale Park, resulting in a tie after an exciting finish. Evangelia, batting first, knocked up a score of 60 runs. Watson 13, Gaunt 10, were chief scorers. St. Matthias 60, Horton 14, Porter 14, Townsend 12, batted in good style. G. Amos for Evangelia got 6 wickets for 25 runs.

New York Stocks Made a Substantial Recovery on Saturday.

BUYING WAS ACTIVE

Heavy Sales From Europe Were Absorbed Quite Readily.

NEW YORK, July 10.—To what ex-tent today's substantial recovery of the stock market was due to the latest turn in this country's relations with Germany is largely a matter of con-fecture or individual opinion. The fact remains that the German note seemed mainly responsible for some-thing more than a hurried rush to cover by the short interest.

In the initial dealings gains of 1 to

In the initial dealings gains of 1 to almost 2 points from yesterday's weak close were registered by the higher grade shares. The advance was promptly offset by further sales for European account, which resulted in material reactions. No sooner had this movement run its course than fresh buying brought about another and more vigorous rebound, Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central and United States Steel leading the advance to the accompaniment of inand United States Steel leading the advance to the accompaniment of increased activity. The entire list shared in greater or lesser degree at the strong close. Total sales amounted to 213,000 shares.

Some Weak Spots.

During the mid-session while prices were wavering, new low quotations were wavering, new low quotations were made by Chicago and Northwestern and Rock Island, while New Haven fell below yesterday's minimum. Missourt Pacific and others of the southwestern group showed no the southwestern group showed no disposition to retrieve recent severe losses.

American Coal Products added another 11 points to its phenomenal advance of the week, selling at 150, a gain of 26 points for the week. War gain of 26 points for the week. War shares were not conspicuous, their movements being especially narrow. American Woolen was among the few weak specialties, losing six points. Unfilled tonnage orders of the United States Steel Corporation, issued after the market's close and showing an increase of 413,000 tons over the preceding month, more than confirmed the most favorable forecasts and accounted for the steadiness of Steel in the face of other adverse conditions.

Good Bank Statement.

Actual loss of cash by local banks for the week amounted to less than $4,000,000 which was far below general estimates. Loans contracted moderately, as against the previous week's enormous expansion and reserves decreased nominally.

There were more future sales of bonds at slight concessions. Total sales (par value) aggregated $2,310,-006.

PORCUPINE, the Land of Gold

And in Porcupine, Sovereign Unquestionably the Best Located of the Undeveloped Claims.

With Three Vipond Veins Uncovered, 5000 Feet of Cross Trenching Done on Them, Machinery on the Ground Ready to Continue the Development Work, Sovereign Will Shortly Attract the Interested Attention of the Mining World.

Until it is producing the yellow metal, any claim is regarded as unproved. Yet sufficient work has already been done on the Sovereign to show that the Vipond veins continue in its territory. It is known that the Hollinger expects to find some of its richest deposits of gold on the Acme claim just north of the Sovereign. This means that the Vipond veins undoubtedly traverse half the area of the Sovereign. And other veins have also been uncovered.

The Early Investors in Mining Stocks Are the Ones Who Reap the Harvest

Hollinger was "put out" at $3.50 for each $5.00 share. It is now quoted at $26.00 a share, and, after having paid back the initial investment one and one-quarter times, pays 52 per cent. per annum in dividends.

Sovereign Shares (Par Value One Dollar) Are Offered Now at Twenty-Five Cents.

Sovereign Porcupine Gold Mines, Limited, owns four claims outright, two below the one shown on the plan above, and one adjoining the Davidson mine. The Company has no liabilities. The proceeds from the sale of stock, less necessary expenses of selling, are, therefore, applicable for development work—to take out the gold which is known to exist.

The Directors are well-known business men, and include Mr. George C. Crean of Toronto, one of the largest hat manufacturers in the British Empire; Mr. W. J. McCormick, a wealthy retired wholesale grocer of this city; Mr. A. C. Thompson, president of Thompson & Sutherland, North Sydney, N.S.

The Company is interested only in making a mine—a real, every-day-in-the-year gold producer—and thus adding to the wealth of the Dominion—and the early purchasers of stock.

The Hollinger section of Porcupine, in which the Sovereign is so fortunately situated, is in its infancy. The surface has hardly been scratched. For every fortune thus far taken from that section, hundreds more are undoubtedly buried in the rock waiting to be blasted out.

Hollinger is undoubtedly a good investment at $26.00 a share, but not so good as at $3.50 a share. Sovereign, no matter to what price it may go, is a better buy today than it ever will

We offer the unsold balance of $300,000 of the $700,000 Treasury Stock, par value One Dollar, at Twenty-Five Cents a Share. Stock will be delivered free of charge through any bank with draft attached. Mail orders promptly executed.

BIG MOVEMENT OF NEW WHEAT

Prospects Frightened Bulls and Prices at Chicago Reacted Sharply.

EXTENSIVE THRESHING

Reports of Exceedingly Light World's Shipments Soon Lost Effect.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Prospects for a heavily increased movement of the new crop brought about sharper declines today in the value of wheat. The market closed steady but 1 1-8 to 2 3-8 under last night. Corn suffered a loss of 1-4 to 3-8 to 1 to 1 1-8, and oats of 1-4 to 1-2 to 5-8. In provisions, the outcome varied from 32 1-2 decline to a rise of five cents.

Reports that threshing was being rushed in southern Illinois and that cutting was general as far north as Bloomington, made the bulls in the wheat market decidedly uneasy, and wheat market decidedly uneasy, and led to selling on a liberal scale. The ensuing break in prices forced the execution of many stop loss orders. Lowest quotations of the day were reached after word came that cash wheat in St. Louis had suffered a break of 8c to 12c a bushel on account of enlarged receipts and because of amplified arrivals expected next week. Previous to the downward swing of the wheat market, a material advance

Previous to the downward swing of the wheat market, a material advance had been scored here as a result of unwelcome rains in the west and south-west and because of higher cables. The forecast, however, was for clearing weather, especially in Kansas and Ne-braska. Gossip that world shipments for the week would be the smallest in seven years was soon lost sight of seven years was soon lost sight of, and no attention at all semed to be and no attention at all semed to be given to rumors of fereign buying. Whatever export sales took place were said to have been chiefly due to the augmented rural offerings and to the consequent break in prices.

Other Grains Lower.

Corn fell in sympathy with wheat and owing to somewhat improved crop reports. Shipping demand was not so active as heretofore of late.

Oats averaged lower, influenced mainly by other cereals. The recent urgent call from the seaboard was missing.

Liquidating sales weakened provi sions. Late in the session, packers bought ribs, but otherwise the market was without support.

New York Brokers See a Wave of Prosperity in Sight.

Catlin & Powell, 36 Wall street, say: "Can any one doubt that America, the land of plenty, is about to come than it has ever known?

"Crops are most bounteous this year, corn alone being backward. Live stock, which largely increased in numbers last year, should show a further great increase in 1915. In many lines of manufacturing business is booming; thruout the country optimism rules. Metals are being consumed as never before. Railroads are beginning to buy much needed equipment. The politicians have ceased to harass business. The nation has paid its debts abroad and foreign nations are becoming our debtors. The trade balance is $1,000,000,000 a year in our favor. The markets of the world, partly closed to the warring nations of Europe, are entirely open to us.

"Can any one doubt that a great wave of prosperity is sweeping in our direction?"

NEW WHEAT ARRIVES. ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Fifty cars of new wheat arrived today.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE. LONDON, July 10.—The money market showed little change in rates. Discounts, however, hardened further on heavy subscriptions to the war loam.

The stock market, altho inactive, was quite cheerful, the belief that business would expand now that the war loan was out of the way. It is the general opinion that the latter will prove a great success when the figures are announced. Copper stocks were dull, while gold shares continue to receive benefit by the victory of Gen. Botha in Southwest Africa. The old war loan was a shade easier.

The American department started below parity, but varied little during the session, and finished somewhat uncertain in tone.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCEZ. MONTREAL, July 10.—There is no improvement to note in export grain trade, and the market in consequence in this respect is duli. The tone of the local market is steady with a moderate amount of business doing in carlots of corn and oats. Demand for flour continues slow for both export and domestic account and prices show no change. Supplies of milited are scarce at firm prices. There is a steadier feeling in the butter market. Receipts for the week were 18,191 packages, as compared with 17,758 for the same week last year. Cheese continues quiet and easy. Eggs are fairly active and firm. Of the total for this week there were 7,458 cases received for the United States for export account.
