Don't Take Any Chances

SEE that the feet are housed properly. Don't take any chances of breaking them in. The shoes we sell are comfortable from the first days wearing. They are stylish, too, and keep their shape because the leathers are of good quality.

Hints to Fruit Growers.

Preparations for Flanting.

Piow and subsoil, so as to thoroughly pulverize to a depth of 12 or 18 inches. Be sure the land in well drained, as no kind of fruit trees will thrive where the soll is saturated with stagnant water, except cranberries. New land requires no fertilizing, but old land should be so fertilized as to be in a condition to grow a good crop of corn or wheat. When planting uponthe lawn or grass plots, remove the sod for a diameter of 4 or 5 feet, and keep this space well worked up and free from weeds. Dig the hole deeper and larger than is necessary to admit all the roots in their natural position, keeping the surface and subsoil separate. Cut off broken and bruised roots and shorten the tops to half a dozen good buds, except for Fali planting, when it is better to defer top pruning until the following Spring. If not prepared to plant when your stock arrives "heel in," in by digging a trench deep enough to admit all the roots and setting the trees therein as they can stand, carefully packing the earth about the roots, taking up when required. Never leave the roots exposed to the sun and air, and "puddle" before planting.

Planting.

Fill up the hole with surface soil, so that the tree will stand about as it did when in the nursery after the earth has settled, except Dwarf pears, which should be planted deep enough to cover the quince stock upon which they are budded, 2 or 3 inches. Work the soil thoroughly among the roots, and when well covered tramp firmly. Set the tree as firm as a post, but leave the surface filling (of poorer soil) light and oose. No staking will be required except with very tall trees. Never let manure come in contact with the roots.

Mulching,

A covering of coarse manure, straw, marsh hay or loose chip dirt, during the first season, will effectually prevent injury from drought, and is a benefit at all times.

How to Winter Trees Procured in the Fall.

The practice of procuring supiles of trees in the Fail is becoming more and more general as each season demonstrates its wisdom. To insure success you have only to get the trees before freezing weather, and bury them in the foiiowing manner: Choose , dry spot where no water will stand during the Winter, with no grass near to invite mice. Dig a trench, throwing out enough dirt to admit one layer of roots below the surface, and place the trees in it, inclined at an angle of 45 degrees or more. Widen the trench, throwing the soil among the roots in position; place another layer in the trench, reclining the tops on the others, and so on until all are in the trench; then finish by throwing up more soil until the tops of the trees are nearly or quite covered. It is also well to bank up the earth around the sides to insure more thorough protection. The exposed tops should then be covered with pine boughs, which insures against any possibility of injury. Care should be taken to flii solid all the interstices among the roots. In the Spring the roots will be found to have formed the granulation necessary to the production of new spongioies, and when planted at the proper time will start to immediate growth.

Pruning.

Use the greatest care in digging and packing, but the ioss of some small roots and fibres are unavoidable, and to preserve the natural balance between roots and tops a proper and judicious pruning is in most cases absolutely necessary. All broken or bruised roots should be cut off with a sharp knife, as a smooth cut heals much sooner than a bruise. The tops of Fruit Trees should be cut back to the extent of one half the growth of the previous season, taking care to prune in such a manner as to secure a head properly shaped and sufficiently open to the sun and air. Evergreens and other Ornamental Trees, the beauty of which depends on preserving their natural form, should be pruned but little. Hence great pains should be taken in planting and caring for them.

Plant Young Trees.

Select young trees, especially for orchard planting, instead of selecting the largest than can be had, to secure more immediate effect. They can be taken up with more perfect roots, and will become sooner established in a new location. They can also be more readily trained to any desired shape. The largest and most successful planters invariably select young, thrifty trees, as the surest in the end t ogive thorough satisfaction. For small grounds, or street planting, when it is necessary to make—show as soon as possible, large trees are often desirable, and when handled with care should not fail to do well, but with the general planter, the average of loss will be much less, and both time and money will be saved if young trees are selected to commence with.

 σ

Distance for Planting.

Standard Apples
Standard Pears and strong growing Cherries 20 feet apart each way
Duke and Morello Cherries
Standard Plums, Apricots, Peaches, and Nectarines 14 to 16 feet apart each way
Dwarf Pears
Grapes rows 9 to 12 fet apart, 7 to 12 feet in rows
Currants and Gooseberries4 to 5 feet apart each way
Raspberries and Blackberries 3 to 4 by 5 to 7 feet apart
Strawberries, for fleid culture
Strawberries, for garden culture

Note—A most excellent way in planting an apple orchard 30 feet apart is to plant peaches or plums in between. By the time the apples require the ground the peaches will have passed their prime and cane be removed.

Number of Trees to an Acre.

30	feet	apart	each	way	48	10	feet	apart	each	way	436
25		4.6	6.6		70	8		4.6			680
20		64	44		110	6		44	44		1210
18		46	4.6		135	5		44	44		1742
15		6.6	64		205	4		4.6	44		2723
12		44	6.6		300	3		66	64		5840

RULE—Multiply the distance in feet between the rows by the distance the plants are apart in the rows and the product will be the number of square feet for each plant or hill; which, divided into the number of feet in an acre (43,560) will give the number of trees to an acre.
