INTERESTING DISCUSSION

Evangelical Alliance Takes Practical Subject AT TODAY'S MEETING

W. Frank Hatheway's Paper on Industrial Disputes Investigation Act Induces Spirited Debate--Report of the Week of Prayer Services.

The Evangelical Alliance met this morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's church parlors, and held a very important meeting.

MONDAY. Carmarthen street Methodist, S. E. Number present, 120; collection, $2.88.

TUESDAY. St. Andrew's--Number present, 160; collection, $4.40.

WEDNESDAY. Victoria street Baptist--Number present, 60; collection, $6.91.

THURSDAY. St. Matthew's Presbyterian--Number present, 300; collection, $4.70.

FRIDAY. St. Mary's--Number present, 68; collection, $2.21.

SATURDAY. Queen Square Methodist--Number present, 50; collection, $1.32.

It was suggested that there be one central place in future for the week of prayer to be held.

It was reported that the collection taken on Friday was for the chaplain of the Industrial Home. Miss Stackhouse's class raised $3.00 for the chaplain.

Rev. E. C. Jenkins was introduced and welcomed at the meeting.

W. Frank Hatheway then spoke on "The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act." He first dealt with the question of strikes, and said that as the result of strikes the bill was brought about.

He said it included steamship companies, and consequently there is where St. John is interested. The ship laborers are concerned in this question.

Mr. Hatheway said that there was one notable provision in the act and that was that neither side was allowed to have legal assistance.

The speaker then read clauses 59, 60, 61, 62 and 63 of the act. The first section dealt with lock-outs, which he defined as a fine of not less than $100, and not more than $1,000.

Dealing with the trouble between the employer and employe Mr. Hatheway said that by the act both were compelled to submit to arbitration.

Section 62 and 63 deals with men who incite other or aid others to lock-out. Each one guilty is liable to a fine of not less than $50 or more than $1,000.

Mr. Hatheway said he thought the penalty should not be as severe for one who incites the employe to lock-out as the person who incites the employe to strike.

He also said that in view of the fact that longshoremen get but 30 cents an hour here, those who incite strikes here should not be fined as much as the employe who incites a lock-out.

Mr. Hatheway said that he did not know what the Alliance thought of unionism, but he personally thought it was beneficial. He thought that clause 63 was directly against unionism, and tried to have things so arranged so that there would be no strikes.

Mr. Hatheway said that he had submitted the report of the week of prayer. The speaker said:

TO RECOGNIZE THEIR BRAVERY

Mayor Sears Will Present Address and Money to J. J. Kelley and J. J. Doherty Today.

The common council meets this afternoon in monthly session. At this meeting the mayor will present an address and $25 in gold such as J. J. Kelley and J. J. Doherty, in recognition of their bravery in rescuing William Daley from drowning in the harbor last December.

The question of a grant for the Champlain memorial fund will be considered. It is expected that Ald. Bullock will present his proposed pension scheme for civic employes.

One of the aldermen, speaking of the pension scheme this morning, said he had already received five applications from men who wanted to be placed on the list. There was one ex-mayor and four ex-aldermen, and he thought all the present aldermen would want to be on it, as they might not get back next year.

The finding of the board was not compulsory. Judge Forbes--"Did you ever hear of a case where arbitration was acceptable to both parties?"

Mr. Hatheway--"No, I don't think I ever heard of a case."

The compulsory arbitration law is working out to the letter in New Zealand," said Mr. Hatheway, "notwithstanding newspaper reports to the contrary. Wages are increasing there 24 per cent. This act is very much the same as the law in New Zealand except (and the exception is an important one) that there is compulsory arbitration in New Zealand."

Mr. Hatheway said that the strike in St. John two years ago he considered was justifiable. Men in Maine were paid a higher wage than the St. John laborers.

The speaker went on to say that those present were in a position to understand the poor class, who got up at daylight and worked for 60 hours during the week. Girls worked for 60 hours for $1.50 and men also were poorly paid.

Rev. D. Lang asked what would result if the two parties concerned in a dispute industrial would not accept the decision of the arbitration board. Mr. Hatheway said that in that case a strike would be declared.

Judge Forbes said that he wished to enter his solemn protest against Mr. Hatheway's remark that the strike was justifiable two years ago. "All strikes are wrong," said the judge. "A man may quit work if he likes, but he has no right to incite other men not to work."

Rev. D. Lang said that he noticed that the Bessie's Society had placed certain fees for the drawing of certain documents, and he asked Judge Forbes if that wasn't a union. The judge replied that no one lawyer was forced upon any man seeking legal services.

Rev. P. J. Stackhouse said that in many cases he believed that strikes are justifiable. He also stated that he thought that the compulsory arbitration law should not be introduced as the law of the land should exist between the employe and employe.

He referred to girls in the cotton factories and said that a female factory superintendent should be appointed.

He moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Hatheway for his paper.

Rev. D. Fotheringham said that he had been in St. John 25 years and he knew from experience that the skilled workman and better class of laborers did not want unions. Dr. Fotheringham said that he thought the bill an excellent one and seconded Mr. Stackhouse's motion.

Judge Forbes said that he wished to say that he believed that trusts were consolidated by the unions.

A Voice--"Or vice versa, which?" "No, not vice versa," said the judge.

Mr. Stackhouse--"Do you know how much per hour the longshoremen get?" Judge Forbes--"Thirty cents, I think."

Mr. Stackhouse--"And some of them work three days a week."

Judge Forbes--"And that is three days too much for some of them."

Rev. Mr. Pritchard said that the union men did not work to strike but the vital question is "What constitutes a living wage?" He said he knew of a case where a man worked for $1.20 per day and worked hard. He often asked him why he did not ask for an increase and the reply was "The business cannot afford it."

Mr. Pritchard said that he believed that the laboring men are entitled to have unions and are not to blame in many cases when strikes are declared.

THE HAW TRIAL IS ON WITH MURDERED MAN'S SON AS FIRST WITNESS

Assistant District-Attorney Garvan Opened for the Prosecution--He Spoke Less Than Ten Minutes, and Called Lawrence White as First Witness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.--The Haw trial is on. Assistant District Attorney Garvan opened for the prosecution.

Mr. Garvan spoke less than ten minutes. All witnesses, except experts, have been excluded from the room. May MacKenzie, Mrs. Harry Thaw and Mrs. Wm. Thaw, were included in this order.

Lawrence White, son of the late Stanford White, was called as the first witness for the prosecution.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.--There was a delay in resuming the trial of Harry K. Thaw before Justice Fitzgerald today, owing to the formalities attending the postponing of the February term of court, which was scheduled to begin this morning.

The regular panel of 100 February jurors added to the list of the special jurors in the Thaw case, some 120 in number, crowded the court room to overflowing, and kept even the newspaper men from their assigned places.

Thaw's trial has been begun in January term, this term will hold until the case is disposed of.

During the wait for Thaw's trial to go on runners continue to fly thick and fast to the possibility of two more jurors being removed before District Attorney Jerome would be content to have the case proceed.

No confirmation of the reports was possible, and it was said that if a decision had been reached no announcement would be made until court had convened.

When the February jurors had been dismissed and Justice Fitzgerald had taken the bench, there at one began a conference of attorneys at the judge's desk.

Mr. Garvan arose and he took his place at the end of the table assigned to his counsel.

Back of him sat his mother, Mrs. Wm. Thaw; his sister, Mrs. G. L. Caraggio; Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, and May MacKenzie. Edward and Josiah Thaw were also present, the only family "spectators" were the Countess of Yarmouth.

All the witnesses for the prosecution were in court this morning. They were only the witnesses of the tragedy on the Madison Square roof garden. Some witnesses, said to have been summoned by the defense, also were in court, though the list of those who are to appear for Thaw has not been made public.

At the end of the last conference on the subject, Mr. Garvan arose and began the opening address for the prosecution. Mr. Garvan congratulated the jurors on their body having been completed and outlined the purport of the law, which was not seeking for vengeance but to uphold the security of the state.

He stated that a strict observance of the law and a strict observance of the law and a strict observance of the law.

SMUGGLING CHINESE EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 4.--On returning yesterday from a trip of investigation at Mexican ports and along the border between the United States and Mexico, Marcus Braun said he had found extensive organized means for smuggling Chinese into the United States.

The investigation was undertaken for the information of President Roosevelt. Mr. Braun declined to give details as to his discovery. He said that one remedy would be to have mounted line riders in sufficient numbers to patrol the borders.

Percy W. D. Campbell went to Ottawa Saturday in response to a summons sent out to the chairmen of the various railway organizations, to meet there and discuss the proposed pension scheme.

JUDGE FITZGERALD PRESIDING AT THAW TRIAL.

ence of the law in order that a just verdict might be reached. It was the claim of the people, he said, that on the night of June 26, 1906, the defendant, "shot and killed with premeditation and intent to kill," one Stanford White. He then briefly outlined the movements of Mr. White before the shooting, and the Saturday preceding the tragedy, and ending with the actual commission of the shooting on the Madison Square roof garden.

As Mr. Garvan took his seat, District Attorney Jerome sprung a decided surprise by asking the court to exclude all witnesses in the case except the experts. By doing this, Mr. Jerome disclosed the fact that Mrs. William Thaw and Mrs. Harry Thaw are both to take the stand for the defense. On advice of Thaw's attorneys they did not desire to cross examine the witness and he left the stand.

White was on the stand but a few minutes. He told of accompanying his father to the Cafe Martin for dinner, and said that when he left him to go with his chum, a boy named King, to the New York roof garden, it was the last time he saw his father alive.

USUAL MONDAY MORNING CROWD

Half a Dozen Cases Heard in Police Court Today.

This morning's police court docket numbered half a dozen cases and but little time was lost in disposing of the prisoners.

John Degan, arrested by Police Sergeant Baxter, was charged with drunkenness. He had also refused to pay John Pollock $2 for coach hire. He was fined $8 or two months in jail.

Fred Keith, charged with being drunk in the L. C. R. yard, off Pond street, was also fined $8 or two months. The docket sheet also shows a charge of 25 cents for cartage.

On Saturday last Keith was given the price of his breakfast, but instead of regaling himself with a good wholesome meal, he took himself to a liquor saloon, where he expended his money on liquid refreshment and later went to the Salvation Army shelter where he lay down on the floor and fell into a drunken sleep.

When he awoke an officer was made to him to take a bath and clean up a bit, but he preferred to wander about the streets, and after leaving the shelter was picked up by the police and carted to central station.

It will be remembered that on or about the 22nd of December last Keith managed to escape the police at Water street lock-up, but was arrested the following day and sent to jail. Before his term was up he was released and sent to work in the woods, but returned later to the city.

Wm. Cummings was fined $8 or thirty days for drunkenness and his fine was paid.

Arthur Murphy and Chas. Cain were fined $8 or two months each, also for drunkenness.

James Abery, a common drunk, was fined $8 or thirty days.

Arthur Cain was examined by Dr. Barryman and found to be suffering from the excessive use of alcoholic stimulants.

Richard O'Connell, an aged prisoner, who has been in the county jail since Jan. 2, having been sentenced to a two months' term for drunkenness, was today taken to the hospital as he has been ill for the past few days.

If he recovers before his term is up he will be sent back to jail.

NEW PLANS FOR WHARF BUILDING

J. A. Waring Submits New Proposal to Mayor Sears.

Another proposal in connection with wharf extension on the west side has been submitted to the mayor. J. A. Waring, draughtsman to the C. P. R. employe, has prepared a plan, in which he shows an extension of the wharves to the north of the present ones.

The plan includes the moving of the ferry slip toward Navy Island to a point at the end of King street. Two additional wharves are provided for between the new building and the proposed ferry extension. They would be about 80 feet in length, 25 feet across the end and 30 feet between them. Another wharf to the north of the ferry is also planned. Railway tracks, cattle pens and an elevator would be situated at the head of the wharves, taking in the entire space east of Union street.

Mr. Henderson then went to the police station and notified the police. Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen went on the case and soon came to the conclusion that the victim of the drowning was George Palmer, son of the late Charles Palmer, barrister. The unfortunate young man resided with his mother on Queen street.

Saturday night Palmer called at the Central Station and asked for protection. Knowing his mother's name, he was ordered by the deputy chief to take him home. On reaching there Mrs. Palmer asked the officer to remain, as her son had been mentally unbalanced for about two weeks. The officer could not do that, however, and got G. Fred Sanction, an uncle of the young man, to remain with him.

About 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning Palmer became violent and succeeded in getting out of his home, while scantily clothed. He ran towards the railway track in the direction of the oil tanks. He was met by Frank Killen, son of Detective Killen, and young Killen noticed his peculiar manner. He followed Palmer until the latter disappeared and then thinking that the young man had gone into one of the club houses, young Killen went home.

George Palmer was 20 years old and by the age of associates was familiarly known as "Pedlar." He played with the Y. M. C. A. base ball team in 1904 and 1905. Besides his mother he has one brother, Arthur, at present away.

On Saturday Dr. Anglin, of the Provincial hospital, was notified of young Palmer's case by Mrs. Palmer, and the doctor arrived at the house yesterday morning shortly after the young man had escaped.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

A SIGN OF SPRING. Our esteemed fellow citizen M. J. Jamesy Jones became convinced this morning, like Hamlet of old, that the times are a o u o joint. Jamesy had wrapped himself up very cozily in his heavy winter clothing.

When he arrived at his office Jamesy discovered that one of his ears was frozen and that he was generally chilled to the bone.

Residents along Paradise Row were startled an hour later when they observed a man with a gun stealing about under the trees, apparently seeking some object among the branches. This was Jamesy gunning for the robin.

Jamesy halted instantly and gazed up into the branches of the trees along the avenue. It came again--the glad, joyous note of a robin. Presently Jamesy discovered the feathered songster, and listened in rapture to the song. Pushing up the rim of his cap, which had been down over his ears, and throwing open his coat, Jamesy strode blithely along, thinking of Mayflowers, and budding leaves and rippling waters.

CORA MCKINNON TAKES STAND IN SYDNEY SCANDAL

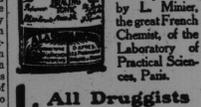

Declares Father McAdam Forced Her to Tell How She Was Treated by Dr. Rice.

Sydney, N. S., Feb. 3.—Something in the nature of a surprise developed at the preliminary hearing today of the case against Dr. W. H. Rice, who is charged with procuring a criminal operation, when Cora McKinnon, the principal witness against him, testified to having told distressing stories as to her condition. She said that the Rev. Father McAdam threatened that he could have her put in jail if she did not tell all about what had been done to her. This story she again repeated to Crown Prosecutor Hearns. It was at the instance of Father McAdam that Crown Prosecutor Hearns was called in. She said she was frightened and that was why she told different stories. She denied having brought the matter up on the train with Constable Edwards. He himself brought it up. She did not know how the doctor had treated her. She said nothing to him about payment.

Nervy Woman Invites Him into House; Gives Him Money; Gets Him to Unload Weapon, and Then Notifies Police.

Pittsburg, Feb. 3.—Ernest Davis, 18 years of age, who says his home is in Toronto, Canada, was looked up in the central police station in Allegheny today charged with threatening to shoot Mrs. Charles A. Mann, a retired millionaire steel painter, wife of a retired millionaire steel painter, at her home in Western avenue, Allegheny, yesterday.

Young Davis, who says he is well connected in Canada, met Mrs. Painter as she was leaving the house. He drew a revolver and said he had no money, that he had nothing to eat for some time and was desperate. He demanded that she give him money and food and said if she refused he would "blow her brains out."

Mrs. Painter expressed sympathy for his distressed condition and invited him into the house. Inside she gave him a silver dollar and asked him to take the cartridges from the revolver. He broke open the gun and took out three shells. The remaining three were tightly fastened and at her request Davis handed her the revolver. In a short time she extracted the remaining cartridges. She gave Davis another dollar and he left the house.

Mrs. Painter immediately called police headquarters on the telephone and told her story. Early today word was sent to headquarters that a man named Davis had robbed his roommate of a gold watch and a sum of money. Several hours after the robbery Davis was arrested and confessed that he had listed the Painter home.

Mrs. Painter said tonight that if the police ascertained that the story told by Davis was true regarding his unfortunate circumstances she would not prosecute him. Senator King, of Chipman, has received a telegram that his son, Malcolm B. King, manager of the King Lumber Company at Cranbrook (P. C.), is critically ill with blood poisoning. The senator will leave for Cranbrook early in the week. It is understood that Mr. King has been operated on but complications are feared.

Col. Anderson and F. J. Harding, of the marine department, went to Ottawa Saturday.

Dr. Nuttall, Lord Archbishop of the West Indies, to carry out proposals for the rebuilding of the city, met Saturday and passed a resolution to ask the imperial government to advance a loan of $5,000,000 at a low rate of interest, to be repaid in 20 years.

WINNIPEW WINS THE EARL GREY TROPHY

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—(Special)—Winnipeg won the governor-general's trophy in the dramatic contest and the Quebec Symphony Club won the musical trophy. These trophies are to be competed for annually.

The Release of Allan Danvers is the name of the piece given by the Winnipeggers and it was decided by all to be well put on the boards. They were held to be the winners as soon as it was over.

Rev. Christopher Burnet, of Winnipeg, formerly of St. John, has broken down in health and is to go south to recuperate.

(Continued.) "Alarmed! Not she," was the scornful answer, "she will be glad enough to get rid of me, though she'd have rather got me, don't you understand? What I said was true—she tried to poison me." "Oh, my dear!" Mrs. Gray's voice was very shocked and grave—"indeed, I think you must be mistaken. Why should you imagine such dreadful things?" "I don't imagine anything," Molly's eyes opened wide with surprise, "certainly I'd go about imagining people wanted to poison me, is it? And I'm not the sort that's easy scared by nothing. I've seen too much unpleasantness in my life," she added philosophically. "But—Molly dear," Mrs. Gray bent over the bed and stroked the girl's luxuriant hair that lay spread round her on the pillow, a gorgeous mass of color, "tell me the story clearly, and try to explain to me why you should suppose Mrs. Bedworth would wish to do anything so terrible. I cannot understand it; a lady of her birth and in her position does not go about poisoning people." "She may be a fool," Mrs. Gray said, "but she's not a fool." "I've always known she's got a queer notion, but I never thought she'd go so far as she's gone today." "But what reason had she to wish you harm, dear?" Mrs. Gray asked, "monstrous! It was a positive advantage to her to have you in her house. Why should she want to hurt you?" "Molly turned her head and looked full into Mrs. Gray's puzzled eyes. "Shall I tell you what I think?" she answered, instinctively lowering her voice as though she feared to be overheard. "I think I tell you what's been running round in my mind all the time since I came along in that queer way. I think you made me feel a bit queer at first, but I think anybody could wish me harm like that, and I could not seem to see daylight through it anywhere. And then, all at once, it came into my mind what it meant—sort of flashed in, and I was righting flashed." She was silent for a moment, and Mrs. Gray asked softly—"What flashed into your mind, dear?" "Why—that if I was dead, it would be all the better for Stella, seeing that Mr. Dayrell will get the money then—and 'Get that money!' Mrs. Gray started. "My money," Molly answered calmly, "when I made my will the other day, a few weeks ago, that is, I left most of my money to Mr. Dayrell. If Mrs. Bedworth knew that, it was worth while putting me out of the way, wasn't it?" She spoke with a certain quiet indifference, her usually philosophical attitude of mind restored now that she was safe and free from the strain and terror of the day before. "That's the only reason," she said, "for her wanting to poison me; and she very nearly did it too," she ended with a shudder. "If I hadn't turned round and caught her at it, I shouldn't have been here now."

PREMIER McBRIE WINS

Premier McBride, of British Columbia, has been successful in his appeal to the province to support him in the stand he took at the conference of premiers in Ottawa, demanding exceptional treatment for the Pacific province.

The McBride government in British Columbia appears to have won a substantial victory. A notable feature of the elections was the defeat of the Socialist and Labor candidates.

There were several natives of New Brunswick among the candidates in Saturday's election. Messrs. J. F. Garden and J. W. Bower, conservatives, and Dr. J. H. King, son of Senator King, liberal, were elected.

INTOXICATED BOYS

Who is selling liquor to boys in the city of St. John? The Times has asked this question before, and will continue to ask it as long as the present shameful conditions exist.

Among the men and boys who crowded the rooms of the Every Day Club on Saturday evening were at least half a dozen minors under the influence of liquor.

The continuance of blizzard weather in the west marks this as the worst winter for many years in that region. In isolated districts the suffering of the people and the loss of live stock must be a very serious matter.

Henry Clews shows that fourteen leading stocks have declined from ten to over fifty, and in one case, Great Northern preferred, 182 points, from the top figures of 1906.

The death of Mr. J. Morris Robinson has removed a worthy citizen, who was largely interested in a number of industrial enterprises, and contributed in many ways to the advancement of the city's interests.

Logan, the St. John skater, won new laurels at Montreal on Saturday, and this city is now the home of the amateur skating champion of Canada.

Another has been added to the list of St. John tragedies of the present winter. Scarcely a week passes but the community is shocked by news of a death under the most painful circumstances.

The new chairman of the Moncton police committee declares that the Scott Act must be enforced the same as any other law. Moncton is likely, therefore, to enjoy a sensation.

Profound sympathy goes out to Senator King, who must hasten from the grave of his wife to the bedside of his son, who lies critically ill at his home in British Columbia.

Commander Peary is ambitious. He wants the Americans to plant their flag at both the north and south poles. Our Capt. Bernier must get busy again.

Albert county tragedy.

The shock of the murder, and the subsequent events, upon the mind of one who for so many years had gone about among his people, devoted to the ministrations of his sacred office, hastened his own death.

The so-called French Apostolic church has been inaugurated in Paris, with a full-fledged archbishop. It is destined to meet with powerful opposition.

Making comparisons between a social habit and a recognized crime is not conclusive. Drinking liquor is a habit; theft and murder are recognized crimes.

The millions which the late Russell Sage spent his life in accumulating, and for which he sacrificed the better instincts of his nature, are to be distributed by his widow, who has just presented $1,000,000 to the Emma Willard Seminary, of Troy, N. Y., and $250,000 to the Y. M. C. A.

SEND CONSUMPTIVES INTO THE FOREST A Plan to Set Them at Work in Forest Reserves to Care for Trees. (New York Tribune)

The brain of a thinker in the Keystone State has evolved a plan for the utilization of natural advantages in the cure of consumption and the safeguarding of the community from tuberculosis infection.

Pennsylvania combines among its public utilities large state forestry reservations a state school of forestry devoted exclusively to training young men for forest service, liberal foremen and a staff of improvement plantings, and a camp for the consumption of the state's forest products.

"The unguarded consumptives are probably more dangerous to the community than the insane persons who are now under state care would be if liberated. The latter would be restrained to a certain extent by their friends, whereas the public is seldom so guarded against consumptives who are scattering the germs of disease in all directions.

"I believe a wide reaching, economical system is possible, by which most, if not all, of each persons may be provided for. Pennsylvania has nearly a million acres of forest reservation land. Most of it must be replanted in young trees. To do this work not less than a billion seedlings must be raised and transplanted into the ground where they are to grow. It would require a large force of men to raise and transplant annually a million trees. Even if this were done the task of re-foresting the state would require 1,000 years. A work so slowly done would fail utterly to meet the economic exigencies which demand for the prosperity of the Commonwealth that all of our rocky watersheds should be devoted to the growth of timber. It would be only a drop in the bucket if the state transplanted annually 4,000,000 forest seedlings. That would simply cover 4,000 acres, or 64 square miles.

"Little of the labor required in raising and transplanting seedlings is of a hard or exhausting character. Most of it is very light. It is all out doors, and it would be in our health belt where the air is pure. Life under such conditions would be for the convalescent consumptives more desirable in every way than life on a farm, and I believe it would also be safe for the community. In addition to this, the manufacture of baskets and other wicker work could be extensively conducted. Small articles of rustic work would furnish an endless opportunity for those who had a constructive turn."

As a practical beginning, Dr. Rothrock points to the work of the Mountain Camp Sanatorium, in Franklin County, Pa., where the consumptive unable to pay for treatment is received and treated free. "The proposition is to send all the consumptive patients from this sanatorium to the state school of forestry, where the life of the forest ranger, a pure, healthy, outdoor occupation, would not only serve to keep the convalescent from falling back into the old condition of ill health, but would prevent danger to the public from spreading of germs that might still be dormant in the system of the consumptive. Dr. Rothrock ends his plea for the consumptive with this significant argument:

"It will cost something less than any other plan proposed, and bear in mind, if you will, that, whether you cure these persons whose poverty appeals to your generosity or whether you support them in hospitals or country homes and finally lay them to rest in a plain coffin, you must and do ultimately bear the expense. It is cheaper to cure them and restore them to their natural state, are being restored by the bountiful nature whose work they are assisting. Dr. Rothrock estimates that 10,000 citizens of Pennsylvania are now in the early stages of tuberculosis, and could be restored to reasonable health under proper conditions. Turn them loose in our forests," he urges, "and let them restore themselves while restoring the wooded ranges. A plan so economical, safe and beneficial to all is not likely to find a single opponent."

ROOSEVELT IS CONCERNED OVER JAPAN'S SITUATION

Taft Gets Increased Fund for Defence in Honolulu—"Agitation Must Cease"—Californians Astounded at the Revelation of Possibility of War.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Japanese situation apparently is giving the administration great concern. This is either a genuine or assumed concern. It is either based on genuine information of gravity or assumed for the purpose of compelling the acceptance of the administration's Japanese policy by California. The facts are striking. Yesterday the president and Secretaries Root and McCall met the California delegations, two senators and seven representatives. A long conference ensued. At its conclusion the educational authorities of California telegraphed to come to Washington immediately for a talk with the president. A dispatch was sent to the governor of California, urging him to suppress the anti-Japanese agitators. Immediately prior to the White House conference, Secretary Taft appeared before the senate military committee and asked that the appropriation for the fortification of Hawaii be increased from $100,000 to $200,000, there being still $200,000 of an old appropriation available for that purpose. The request was granted. Secretary Taft's explanation in making the request was entirely unlike his usual manner in appearing before a state committee. He was serious and brief, and thoroughly impressed the senators with the imperative necessity of giving the increase. FEARFUL OF A "RUPTURE."

Some details of the White House conference have been learned. The president and Secretary Root were talking. The president said that he was much concerned. He was not certain "that a rupture could be avoided." He referred to the recent statement that the decision of the California courts in the school matter would be taken as the attitude of the nation—an attitude to be adjusted by diplomatic negotiations. "And you know what that means," said the president. SAYS AGITATION MUST CEASE. Some one suggested that Japan's resources would not permit her to make serious trouble. The president gave the visitors some surprising information calculated to undeceive them on that point. This information the visitors decline to disclose. They were informed, however, that does not want a continuance of peace, that new conditions have been suggested from time to time making an agreement more and more difficult to either. In conclusion, the Californians were informed, it is necessary to give no further cause for irritation to the Japanese government, all agitation against the Japanese must cease and that strong efforts

GIVE BIRDS FAIR CHANCE

(The Nation) The Hamburg authorities have decided to appoint a special "Vogelwart," whose duty will be to protect the birds from the best schemes for preserving bird life. This important step which, it is hoped, will be taken as a precedent by the whole world, is prompted by the international association of women for the protection of birds. The German branch, which has nearly doubled its membership within a year, has just issued its "Jahrbuch" for 1905, a volume of 120 pages, containing some startling figures as to the wholesale slaughter of birds in various countries. Italy, Dalmatia, Belgium, the United States, Morocco, Egypt and Turkey lead in this war of extermination. In Italy alone perhaps 200,000,000 useful or ornamental birds are killed annually; the number of birds destroyed according to the secretary of the Florence branch of the association, 12,000,000, which means the loss of 60,000,000 birds. In Madrid, it is estimated, some 300,000 larks, robins, finches and other birds are served as daily food. In four-fifths of the area of the United States birds are exterminated. Though our country figures in the list as one of the best protected, there is reason to believe that the tide has turned and that the birds have once more a chance to live and multiply. While there are, no statistics, observers have noted during the past spring and summer that there are more songsters in our meadows and trees than a few years ago. For this result, thanks are due largely to the work of the Audubon Society. The first duty of its members is to denounce the use by women of all feathers except those of the ostrich and of domestic fowls. The society's report for 1904 indicates a gain of 200 per cent. in its receipts over those of the preceding year. Of this money excellent use is made. Much has been done in the way of influencing legislatures to pass laws for the protection of songsters and game birds. There are already six reservations where birds are guarded during the breeding season. The Louisiana heron has taken a lease of twenty-two islands, each of which is the breeding place of large colonies of birds, such as Laughing Gulls, Foster's Cormorant, Royal and Cabot's Terns, and Black Skimmers. The number of wardens has been steadily increased. A stream of educational lectures is issued from the headquarters, at 141 Broadway. Clubs are being formed in schools, and in militia matters and for many years has been the greatest hope of the permanency of the Audubon movement. Through the work of the society, farmers are impressed with the importance of birds as enemies of the destructive insects and worms, whose ravages are annually increasing. Foresters are appealed to in view of the damage done, and the much greater damage threatened, by caterpillars. "No shooting" signs have been distributed in large numbers to landholders, by which means protection has been provided on very large farms and estates. The Audubon Society has been provided on very large farms and estates. The Audubon Society has been provided on very large farms and estates.

OBITUARY

John Lenihan One of St. John's best known citizens passed away suddenly at 8 o'clock last night in the person of Sgt. John Lenihan, who died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Patrick F. Killen, 214 Queen street. Sergeant Lenihan's death will be heard with deep regret by many. He was a well known figure about the city and enjoyed the esteem and friendship of many. In his early days he was active in militia matters and for many years in quarter-master sergeant in the 62nd Fusiliers. During the Fenian trouble he was one of the volunteers on the despatch force. He was a prominent member of the Irish Friendly Society and when that organization was changed into the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society, continued its membership and was a member at the time of his death. Last evening he went out for a walk and returning about 7:30 o'clock retired to his bed. About 8 o'clock his heavy breathing attracted the attention of members of the household and a doctor was called but, before he arrived, Mr. Lenihan had passed away. Heart trouble was the cause. He was 73 years of age and a native of Youghal (Ire.). He had lived in St. John for fifty years and for a long time carried on a meat business in the country market. He retired from business three or four years ago but had since been inspector of hides. Two sons and three daughters survive. The daughters are Mrs. James McAvity, of Boston; Mrs. Maggie McDonough, of Boston; Mrs. P. F. Killen, of this city, and Miss Kate Lenihan, of Boston. The sons are John, in the western States, and Patrick F., of the country market.

Dr. Samuel F. Wilson

In Montreal on Wednesday, Jan. 30, Dr. Samuel F. Wilson, formerly of this city, but late of Montreal, died. Dr. Wilson was a son of the late J. H. Wilson, M. D., of Springfield, Kings county. He was educated at the University of New Brunswick, from which he was graduated B. A. in 1876, taking his M. A. degree in course two years later. During the following two years he was principal of the Sussex Grammar school and afterwards entered McGill University where he took his medical course, and was graduated in 1884. Returning to New Brunswick he entered into a medical partnership with the late doctor, the Hon. E. A. Vail, of Sussex. He was president of the board of health for Kings county, and surgeon of the 7th Battalion of militia, from which he was retired as surgeon major. In 1879 he went to London and spent a year taking a special course in the hospitals of that city. He then returned to St. John where he practiced until 1883 when he moved to Montreal. During the last nine years Dr. Wilson had visited at different times Chicago and other large United States cities, making a special study of electrical therapeutics, in the practice of which he was most successful, his office being fitted with as complete apparatus for medical purposes as any in Canada. His general practice, also, was an extensive one. Dr. Wilson had been in failing health for some time. He leaves his wife, daughter of the late W. H. Keith, of Havelock, and one daughter.

The bridesmaid wore a garnet chignon broadcloth with picture hat. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and the bridesmaid was escorted by Miss A. I. Gibson, of Andover. On their entrance the wedding march was beautifully rendered by Miss Regina Langan. High mass was also celebrated. After the ceremony they returned to the bride's home, where a dinner was served to a number of guests. Immediately after dinner the happy couple departed for Grand Falls, which is to be their future home, followed by the best wishes of their friends. The bride received many beautiful presents. They are swift of foot and good at song, and there will be other acts equally good. As usual, there will be a complete series of animated pictures on the bio-cop. The business of this nature is in the bio-cop. There will be no lack of either.

One of the extensive new developments in Japan is in linen and drawn work. The linen is brought from Ireland and given out by contract in large quantities by piece-work and all designs of table linen, dress work, etc., are produced and exported to Europe and America. A MONK'S APPEAL FOR TEMPERANCE

Calls Upon All Persons in Authority to Join in Crusade Against Drink Demon.

(Montreal Witness.) The Press publishes a very interesting review of the work of the temperance crusade in the Diocese of Montreal during the past year, written by the Rev. Father Charles of the Franciscan Order. Father Charles points out that the official registration of the crusade in the Diocese of Montreal during the past year, suggests an anti-alcoholic crusade which is not only a moral but a political movement. A prolonged sojourn in two colonization regions has shown that alcoholism stands there as a much more dangerous enemy than the most powerful lumber dealers; that licenses are in flagrant disproportion with the population; that the intemperance of the law are less punished than anywhere else.

Reference is made to the support given by the press, and in that connection the Rev. Father makes the following remarks: "The public mind is hereby led to question whether the writer is not opposed to alcoholism in its influence."

After mentioning also the influence of the temperance crusade, the Rev. Father says: "The inertia of the municipalities leads me to place before the councilors a very serious case of conscience. They are kings and masters in the distribution and sale of licenses, and they have sworn to abide by the law in that matter. Through ignorance of the law, and for petty considerations of friendship or relationship, they go against their oath and against the law; they place and maintain stumbling blocks in the way of the temperance crusade, and they endorse such responsibility without shame."

"The government is then called into the case as follows: 'We have no doubt that the government is well disposed, but could it not do more than it does in the national campaign inaugurated? Alcoholism is killing thousands of citizens in the land, and our statesmen are not content about it to the extent of taking the desired interest in the battle which we are fighting against the monster. What we ask of them is so little, after all, that it is no question of making new laws. There is no question of making new laws which we are pretty well satisfied, respect why has it become almost impossible to have infractions to the license law punished? What, again is the meaning

And you may make a start.
Said Swettenham to Davis,
We don't want you to save us,
So now, Skiddoo—depart!

"SPEED VS. GRACE"
Prof. Walls, the world's champion fancy roller skater, says: "If the lady and gentleman roller skaters who persist in going fast could see themselves as others see them, I am certain they would soon cease speeding. The majority of skaters skate as though they were practicing for a race, and they will never become graceful and prize to be given to the most graceful roller skaters." Intending competitors for the roller skaters at the carnival in the Queen's Rollaway should remember this, and roller skaters in general should not forget it.

ADDRESS BY H. A. POWELL

H. A. Powell, ex-M. P., was the speaker at the temperance meeting in the Every Day Club room last evening. He addressed a large audience, and held their close attention for nearly three quarters of an hour with a well-conceived, thoughtful and eloquent speech.

A. M. Belding was in the chair and a quartette composed of Messrs. Titus, H. S. Mays, Plummer and Long sang two selections in a manner that charmed the audience.

Beginning with a comparison of present conditions with those of past centuries, Mr. Powell showed that in temperance as in all other reforms there had been great progress. He contrasted in this connection the conditions in this province today with those of the old stage-coaching days. The driver of a stage-coach might make better time if he were warned up a little before he started, but nobody wanted an intoxicated man at the throttle of a locomotive. Steam and electricity and other factors in modern progress had made for sobriety, and today in every position of responsibility the demand is for sober men. Mr. Powell at this stage addressed himself directly to the many young men and boys present, pointing out to them that if they desired to achieve success in life they should remain total abstainers, for however much an employer might be a man sympathize with one who drank, the interests of his business would compel him to dismiss such a one from his employ.

Dealing with the subject of moderate drinking, Mr. Powell said that while a degree of credit might even be given to the man who could pursue such a course without becoming a drunkard, yet there was the fact of his influence on weaker men, and the still more weighty one that any course which generally pursued is injurious to the nation is a proper subject for restrictive legislation. And, just as habitual moderate drinking lessens a man's powers and the powers of his offspring, a nation of moderate drinkers deteriorates and cannot hold its place in the van of nations, when it is opposed to total abstainers who concentrate their energies on national advancement.

Mr. Powell gave apt illustrations to emphasize the various points made, and in an eloquent peroration declared that as the race advanced to a higher plane of moral development the liquor traffic would gradually cease to exist. He was generally applauded by the audience, and the chairman expressed to him and to the quartette the thanks of the club for their timely response to the invitation to participate in the meeting.

The chairman also referred again to the number of boys in St. John who are becoming addicted to the liquor habit, and to a particularly sad case of habitual drunkenness that had come to his notice Saturday. From the ranks of the boys come the moderate drinkers, and from the ranks of the latter the habitual drunkards. He desired to enter a plea for the boys that they might not be deprived of their opportunity to develop a clean, healthy, useful manhood.
