FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

WILL HARRIMAN RETIRE?

It Has Been Understood That He Will Relinquish His Activities But His Bankers and Business Associates Do Not Confirm it.

(N. Y. Journal of Commerce.) Edward H. Harriman declared early this year that when he reached the age of sixty, in February next, he would probably retire, and, according to private advice received in Washington, the administration has been given to understand that Mr. Harriman will from now on be some less and less a factor in the railroad world.

At the headquarters of the Union Pacific system, however, it was declared emphatically that Mr. Harriman has not taken any steps looking to an early withdrawal from participation in the management of the vast transportation interests with which he is connected.

His bankers also state that Mr. Harriman is as active as ever, and that so far as they know he has not begun to curtail his activities. "It would seem, therefore, that thus far at least, Mr. Harriman has made no arrangements to withdraw from public life on the sixteenth anniversary of his birthday.

The Washington gossip is to the effect that the administration agreed not to prosecute Mr. Harriman in the criminal courts on the strict understanding that his financial supporters would gradually curtail his arbitrary exercise of power over the enormous network of transportation which he has built up at such a rate, and with such untoward consequences to his reputation in the investment world.

It is added that these terms were insisted upon by President Roosevelt, and that, moreover, they will gradually be carried into effect. When, early this month, it developed that the Harriman influence in the Chicago & Alton had been eliminated, there were those who regarded the step as one of many about to be taken.

This view may or may not be correct; there is little in sight to lend confirmation. The new "Directory of Directors," to be published yesterday, does not contain much evidence of the dwindling of Mr. Harriman's power, but it is true that whereas in 1906 he was on the board of forty-nine companies, he appears now as a director in only forty-one companies, but the changes have come about through the evolution that has been taking place in the transportation world, and not from any steps taken by Mr. Harriman looking towards withdrawal from his multifarious official positions.

Discussion of Mr. Harriman's future seems to recall his appearance before the Interstate Commerce Commission last February and the revelations he then made of his insatiable ambitions. On the 8th of February, he made his most impressive statement. It was in the evening. As the courtroom darkened Commissioner Lape leaned across the bench and began a sketch of the enormous acquisitions of the Union Pacific under Harriman. He began with the issue of the $100,000,000 in bonds and traced its purchases out to Portland on the coast, on to the Orient by steamship lines, back to San Francisco, to Ogden, to New Orleans, to New York by steamships, into the Northern Pacific and out again, into the Alton, the Illinois Central, the Santa Fe, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the New York Central. His face paled and his voice grew more impressive as he continued the recital. He was faintly the witness, and, pausing for a moment, said: "Where is that thing going to stop?"

The master operator smiled and then somewhat nervously said: "I don't think it has stopped. I don't think we have any more—I would go on if I thought we could realize something more than we have got from those securities. I would go on and buy some more things."

Commissioner Lane—"Suppose you concentrated two or three more you might take some other line and go right into New York?"

Mr. Harriman—"Suppose we had a line from New York to San Francisco? I suppose that is what you mean; would it not be a good thing—not that we have any idea of doing it, but would it not be a good thing?"

Commissioner Lane—"Suppose that you made the Santa Fe?"

Mr. Harriman—"You would not let us get it?"

Commissioner Lane—"How could we help it? I think you would bring out your power to influence the condition that the Sherman Anti-Trust act pretty quick. If you will let us I will go and take the Santa Fe tomorrow?"

Mr. Harriman—"You would take it tomorrow?"

Mr. Harriman—"Why, certainly I would. I would not have any hesitation; it is a pretty good property."

Commissioner Lane—"Then it is only the restriction of the law that keeps you from taking it?"

Mr. Harriman—"I would go on as long as I lived."

Mr. Harriman ended his testimony with this startling admission: "I think the railroads themselves are more to blame than any one factor for the condition that exists today, the antagonism between the people and the legislatures and the railroads. Since then the truth of this statement has been amply demonstrated."

CONDUCTOR EDWARDS' WIFE DIED IN BOSTON. ANNAPOLIS, June 27.—Word was received here Monday of the sudden death in Boston of Mrs. Gertrude E. Edwards, wife of Conductor Harry Edwards, of the Halifax and South Western Railway, and daughter-in-law of J. P. Edwards, station master here of the D. A. R. Mrs. Edwards had been despondent for some time and in the morning the inmates of the house where she roomed found the smell of escaping gas, and breaking in the door of her room, found her nearly dead. A physician and the police were sent for and the physician ordered her removal to the City Hospital, but on arriving at that institution she was found to be dead. The deceased was thirty years of age and highly respected.

THE HOTTEST COON IN DIXIE. There were good singers and dancers in the colored troupe that held the boards at the Grand last night, presenting The Hottest Coon in Dixie, and at the price the show was one of the kind seen here this season. There was plenty of action in the play, and the performance went with a dash. It was on the same board as Williams & Walker's in Abyssinia. However, some of the costumes were very pretty; colored stage folks generally have good tastes.

There were some pretty solos, duets, trios and choruses. Andrew Copeland, in the title role, sang several songs and won a good reception. The hit of the evening was made by Wylie, Evans, and Reid, who did a clever specialty act. One of the best specialties presented was presented by the "Great English Hoop Rolling Marvel."

Those who like good old negro melodies and want a good laugh should not miss seeing The Hottest Coon in Dixie—Hamilton Times, May 27. The company will be in the Opera House here three nights and one matinee, commencing July 2.

WHAT WILL ST. JOHN DO?

If a dozen influential men in St. John would interest themselves in the development of a more general interest in amateur athletics they could in a single season revolutionize public sentiment.

The question should appeal especially to parents, but should command the attention of all citizens. The supervision of the ground offers a partial solution of the problem, and should be made of service to as many as possible of the city's little ones.

The Times has already referred to the meeting of the Playground Association of America in Chicago last week, at which many cities, including Toronto, were represented by persons of note.

The Chicago Record-Herald, in an editorial on "Playgrounds as Social Insurance," makes the following observations, which the Times commends to its readers:

"The speakers at the convention of the Playground Association of America have taken a large, philosophical view of the cause they are seeking to promote, but no one who has given attention to the question will charge them with indulging in glittering generalities or rhetorical exaggerations. Their view is entirely sound and intensely practical, and every city that has conscientiously and unhesitatingly acted upon it will gladly testify to the moral and social benefits that have resulted from the establishment of recreation centers, small parks and playgrounds.

These benefits are reflected in the crime, vice and delinquency statistics of municipalities. More healthy recreation and rational play means less disease, less youthful hoodlumism, less disorder and less pauperism. In other words, the playground should be regarded as an effective insurance against the evils of congestion, dull monotony and sordid environment.

Children must have room and opportunity for play, and if municipal and private enterprises will fail to provide them the objectionable dance halls and the suspicious resorts will flourish like a green bay tree and spread demoralization among the young. Dark alleys and sidewalks will be converted into playgrounds, gangs will be formed and all manner of nuisances invited.

Another admirable idea emphasized by the speakers at the convention is that play has distinct value in training the young for the responsibilities of citizenship and adult life. It teaches discipline, self-subordination, co-operation, order and method.

The playground movement is new in the United States, but, judging by the earnestness, breadth and enterprise of those more or less prominently identified with it, its future progress will be extraordinarily rapid."

A REACTIONARY

Archbishop Langevin is completely out of touch with the spirit of the modern world, and especially with that of the young, vigorous and assertive Canadian west. His voice is an echo from the returning years when the headship of the church in matters temporal was seldom questioned. In an address at Winnipeg this week he is reported to have said that the clergy should be recognized as the political and social advisers of the people, and that it is the great heresy of modern times to exclude them from these spheres. The French-Canadians, he said, should recognize no political leader but the Pope and their bishops.

Archbishop Langevin should have lived several centuries ago. Life to him in this age must be a series of disappointments. Even in Quebec province bishops have more than once received a broad intimation that their claim to be political leaders was not recognized. The world will not relinquish its freedom in this regard. The appeal to men must be the appeal of reason, not of authority. The changes in conditions is aptly set forth by Mr. Spofford of the Congressional Library at Washington, in a recent interview on the decline in the demand for books of sermons. He says:

"In the old days the preacher was always the great man of the community. He was the oracle; perhaps the only learned man, the only college graduate in the parish, and was therefore looked up to with the reverence that was due to his cloth and the admiration that was due to his learning. Today our clergymen do not exercise that influence, for obvious reasons. They are apt to have men in their congregations who are just as well educated as themselves and in whose opinions and learning the public have quite as much confidence. Therefore the clergyman is no longer dictator in social, moral, spiritual and often political and commercial affairs as he was two hundred or even one hundred years ago."

There never was a time when the religious teacher would be heard with more respect than at present, in the discussion of political and social questions, so long as he did not attempt the role of dictator, but applied in these realms the same high principles and lofty ideals as are associated with true religion; indeed there is some ground for complaint that the church does not get close enough to the people in respect to these matters—that it does not touch their lives as many vital points as possible, or as it should do. But religion is vital and enduring; and institutions are passing forms of expression. Humanity, which makes and modifies and unmake institutions, in its search for truth, will not become their slave. In matters political the church may uphold high standards of personal conduct, but it cannot appoint the people's rulers.

AMATEUR ATHLETICS

If a dozen influential men in St. John would interest themselves in the development of a more general interest in amateur athletics they could in a single season revolutionize public sentiment.

PARALYZED BY LIGHTNING

Wm. Cooper and his wife and daughter of Upper Gagetown, were struck and paralyzed by lightning in yesterday's storm. The electric fluid entering the house through the chimney and passing into the kitchen stove.

A relative of the family arrived at Gagetown from St. John while the storm was in progress and was driven to the Cooper house.

There she found Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and the daughter helpless as the result of the shock and had a doctor summoned. The injured were put to bed, but were still unable to get up when the storm had passed. The lightning struck the house and did damage to the house.

IT WOULD FIDGET.

"The word 'fidget,' explained the teacher, 'means to move about.' Now, children, I want one of you to step to the blackboard and write a sentence containing the word 'fidget.'"

Forth stepped the little Wise boy, who wrote: "This stove will fidget June first."

"But who ever heard of a stove fidgeting, Johnny?" asked the teacher. "I don't know," said the boy, "but the sign on a store down town says that it will move about June first."

In a little village in Illinois the school mistress saw one of the little boys crying. She inquired the reason. "Some of the big boys made me kiss a little girl in the school yard," was the reply.

"Why, that was outrageous! Why did you not come right to me?" "I didn't know you would let me kiss you," he said.—Chicago Tribune.

"Bill, old boy," said the prisoner to the judge, "when you pay particular attention while I'm making of this here statement."

"Don't address the court as 'Bill,' sir," said the judge. "Or I'll fine you for contempt."

"That's all right, William," replied the prisoner. "I was growed up together an' I reckon you feel as dignified as an alligator on a log in a mill pond up thar, but if you decide this case again me, heaven help you when I ketch you in the middle of the road. Go on with your proceedings."—Atlanta Constitution.

One night two lovers sat spooning under an apple tree in an orchard. It was autumn and the ripe apples were falling around them when the young man said to the girl: "Dearest Ann, will you give me a kiss for every apple that falls?" To this the girl readily consented. The apples did not fall very fast and there were few kisses exchanged.

Soon after he called on the girl again and they lost no time in finding their former place in the orchard. He again told her that he would kiss her for every apple that fell, and this time they fell so fast he could not count them, but kept near the number.

Along toward midnight they were startled by a voice, coming from some foliage overhead, exclaiming: "Sister Ann, if you think I'm going to shake apples down all night for your measly ten cents you are very much mistaken.—Buffalo Times.

WITNESS FELL DOWN IN SWOON

Mrs. Dooley Collapsed in Circuit Court Yesterday Afternoon.

The case of Dooley vs. the City of St. John was resumed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Dooley, the plaintiff, after giving her testimony, fell in a swoon and had to be removed from the court room. Dr. Emery, who was hastily summoned by her counsel, Daniel Mullin, E. C., worked over her until consciousness returned, when she was conveyed to her home in Carleton in a coach. It is understood that a $5,000 bond will be issued to take her evidence in her home.

Court adjourned till ten o'clock this morning.

Immediately after the suit of Dooley vs. the city is disposed of, that of Francis E. Haley will be called. Haley was injured in the same accident in which Dooley was killed, but recovered. Mr. Mullin will appear for the plaintiff.

The case of Monahan vs. O'Leagan will also come up this term. This is a libel suit, the libel complained of is contained in a letter drafted by the defendant and handed to his typist. The cause went to the supreme court, where the defendant, in addition to the plea of not guilty, also pleaded that the drafting of the letter and handing it to his typist was a privileged occasion.

The plaintiff entered a demurrer to this plea, which was argued before the full bench at Fredericton in February last. The decision there given was in favor of the plaintiff, so that the only issue to be tried in the circuit court is that raised by the plea of not guilty.

PROSPEROUS CANADA

(Toronto Globe.) The official returns of Canadian development and manufacturing industries during the past five years must be highly gratifying, not only to the manufacturers as a class and an organization, but to the people and interests in the Dominion. A general increase of about 33 per cent. in the period covered by the comparative figures of the report shows that manufacturing enterprise has taken full advantage of the excellent opportunities provided by our general development, abundant natural wealth, and reasonable fiscal policy. This success must be doubly gratifying to the Liberal statesmen, who, in the face of persistent attacks and condemnations by those who did not recognize the favors thrust upon them, relieved the pressure of extreme protection and provided opportunities for the untrammelled play of natural economic forces. It is impossible to say how far the development of the past few years is due to the relief afforded by the British preference and the general revision in which the extreme obstructive features of the National Policy were eliminated. It is certain that Canada has always possessed the elements of abundant success in natural wealth, productive soil, and in an active, enterprising, and industrious people. The fact sustains the belief that the long and discouraging period of comparative stagnation was due to the obstruction of unwise fiscal laws.

NO EXCEPTION WAS MADE FOR HARRIMAN

He Refused to Move His Motor Boat at the Yale-Harvard Race and Was Arrested and Treated Like Any Other Prisoner.

New London, Conn., June 27.—Before the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a race on the Thames river, the Yale crew this evening, rowing on an average of four strokes to the minute less than Harvard, held the big Cambridge crew even until the last half mile, when they let out their speed and won a great race by a scant boat length. Never once in the whole four miles did the long, graceful shells cease to lap each other. The delicate probes jostled between the strokes and the thousand aboard the trains and every kind of floating craft and those who lined the shore cheer upon cheer to the old rivals as they fought out one of the grandest races in the history of Harvard-Yale boating. Yale's time for the four miles was twenty-one minutes and ten seconds; Harvard's, twenty-one minutes and thirteen seconds.

The race was accompanied by one disagreeable incident. This was the arrest of E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, by yard, Lieutenant Billard signalled for a launch and tooted the revenue whistle, which finally caused Mr. Harriman to look around.

"You are under arrest, sir," shouted Lieutenant Billard. "You will give yourself up to this man, who will take you aboard the Cambridge and await my orders."

Then it was discovered that the man in the powerful and speedy motor boat was Mr. Harriman, Chairman Schweppe, of the regatta committee, who very angrily he shouted to Mr. Harriman in tones which the latter could not mistake.

The millionaire levelled his forefinger at Chairman Schweppe and yelled back: "Young man, I will see you later."

Schweppe's friends aboard the Arrow gave Mr. Harriman a gentle laugh.

Mr. Harriman saw no more of the race, but was detained as an ordinary prisoner aboard the Gresham until after the race was over, when Lieutenant Billard went aboard the Gresham and made Mr. Harriman, but ordered his boat tied up at the navy yard. The incident may cost Mr. Harriman a fine of $500. This was the penalty imposed on a yacht owner at last year's race for transgressing the rules governing the course.

It was 7:10 o'clock before Referee Melkham sent both boats away in good style. Harvard at once showed that she was determined to get the lead. Stroke Parley, of the Cambridge, started into the race rowing thirty-six strokes to the minute. Yale started at thirty-three, but quickly dropped to thirty-two when the Harvard got a slight advantage at the start, but although Yale was rowing a lower stroke the Yale went on even terms with Harvard and at the half mile flag they were leading Harvard by half a boat length. Then Yale settled down into her gait of twenty-eight strokes to the minute, which she held up to the two and a half mile flag. Harvard raised her stroke to thirty-four and cut down Yale's lead. The Yale for a few strokes ran their up to thirty-one and at the gain held Harvard even.

The boats did not change positions over the next half mile. At the three mile flag the noses of the shells were sighting. Yale had dropped her stroke, however, to twenty-eight to the minute, while Harvard was still rowing thirty-four.

Yale had dropped her stroke, however, to twenty-eight to the minute, while Harvard was still rowing thirty-four.

At the end of the race, Stroke Bouton, of Yale, let go his first real spurt. Up went his stroke from twenty-eight to thirty, and then to thirty-five to the minute. Bouton at the end of the race was striking the gait which Harvard struck at the beginning of the race. Harvard had made her spurt, and she could not make another one. It was this spurt which won the race for Yale.

With $25,000 In Her Own Right Mrs. Ferguson of Brooklyn Is a Shoplifter—Gave Diamonds for Bail.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Miss Mae Ferguson, of No. 825 Pacific street, Brooklyn, the possessor of $25,000, was held in the Butler street police court, that borough, by Magistrate Tighe, yesterday, on a charge of shoplifting. Miss Ferguson, only monetary way is to whom will her $25,000, as she has no kin.

A woman detective of a Fulton street (Brooklyn) department store swore she had caught Miss Ferguson stealing a cheap pair of gloves on the previous evening. Mrs. Ferguson was so hysterical that nothing could be got from her. Her counsel, Charles Costes, pleaded not guilty for her and asked that the case be continued until Thursday, which was done, when he said, he would change the plea to guilty.

Interest was aroused in the woman by the remark of the lawyer that she was the daughter of one of the best known philanthropic women in Brooklyn, and that she had wealthy connections. This statement had been forewarned by the rather spectacular arrest of the prisoner. She refused to treat the matter seriously, and when bail was suggested at the Butler street station she cried:

"Will jewels do?"

She was told they would answer, and she produced a chain bag that contained five diamond rings, a pair of diamond brooches and a pair of diamond earrings. One of the detectives suggested that she give a fictitious name.

"Why should I?" she cried, "I have done nothing to be ashamed of, nor am I ashamed of my name."

She insisted on affixing her name to the bail bond and she was freed. Miss Ferguson's mother was Mrs. Ophelia Ferguson, many years a widow at her death five years ago, and prominent in the King's Daughters and kindred organizations in Brooklyn. She was known as a friend of the poor and worked constantly among families in the slums. She left $25,000 at her death and her daughter Mae was the sole beneficiary.

"Miss Ferguson has a chronic illness," explained Mr. Costes, "she suffers from loss of memory at times. She cannot explain how she came to take the pair of gloves. She must have taken them, for they were found in her bag. Her age was due wholly to her highly nervous condition."

Miss Ferguson would not consent to talk about her predicament.

MURDERER ELECTROCUTED
COLUMBUS, Ohio June 28.—James Cornelius, the Canton wife murderer who was reprieved three times by Governor Harris, was electrocuted in the annex at the penitentiary at 12:10 this morning. No special incident marked the execution.

Mrs. Thomas Bennett left last evening for Winnipeg, where she will join her husband who has secured a good position with the C. P. R. dining car department.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., BEATS DOWN PORTER'S TIPS ON PULLMAN CAR

CLEVELAND, June 27.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., beat the tipping game on the Pullman car between New York and Cleveland yesterday. He saved fifty cents for each section occupied by members of his party.

"What is the regulation tip?" he asked the porter on arriving at Cleveland.

"Fifty cents or a dollar," was the answer.

Rockefeller, Jr., sternly looked at the shining negro.

"Fifty cents is the regular fee, isn't it?" he asked.

"Yes, as usual," was the trembling reply. Then the oil king's son handed out fifty cents for each section.

The young man also took charge of affairs in the dining car, the result being that each meal cost exactly thirty-one and a half cents. The menu read: "No order less than twenty-five cents to each person," and the junior Rockefeller ordered just enough to retain seats for the party. Before leaving the car he tipped the head waiter a dollar, which was to go around between the waiters who had served the party.

The Rockefeller group included besides John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Miss Spellman, sister of Mrs. Rockefeller, Sr. The senior Rockefeller was delayed in New York by business, and would not reach Cleveland for ten days.

Mrs. Rockefeller, Sr., passed an uncomfortable night on the train, and did not look as healthy as she did last summer, but her physician said tonight that she had improved during the day. The family will spend the summer at Forest Hill, their home near this city.

MARK TWAIN AT WINDSOR

Makes a Sporting Offer to Buy Windsor Castle--The King Appreciated His Jokes and Gave Him Royal Warrant to Improve on History Whenever He Felt Like It--King of Siam Another Guest.

LONDON, June 26.—Three Kings met at Windsor last Saturday, the King of Great Britain and Ireland, the King of Siam and the king of humorists. They all seemed to enjoy themselves. The occasion was King Edward's great garden party to which six thousand invitations had been issued. Mark Twain was accompanied to Windsor by Mr. Henshler Heston, the "father of imperial penny postage," who introduced him to many of the King's guests on his way to the party, including Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Fridtjof Nansen, Sir Henry Mortimer Durand and Ellen Terry.

After tea, which was served on the lawn, Ambassador Reid presented Mark Twain to King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and the King and the humorist spent a quarter of an hour in conversation. The King laughed heartily at Twain's jokes. The Queen also joined in the conversation, and was much amused when Twain asked if he could buy the Windsor Castle grounds from her Majesty. Then the King called on him to meet the other guests. He introduced Twain to the King of Siam, the Duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur of Connaught and others. Prince Arthur is to receive a degree at Oxford at the same time as the American humorist, and he remarked that he would collapse if called upon for a speech. Twain offered to undertake to speak for him.

Mark Twain wore the regulation frock coat and silk hat at the garden party. Speaking of his reception there, he said: "His Majesty was very courteous. In the course of the conversation I reminded him of an episode sixteen years ago, when I had the honor to walk with him when he was taking the waters at Homburg. I said I had often told about that episode, and that whenever I was the historian I made good history of it, and it was worth listening to, but that it had found its way into print and had been badly damaged there. I added that I should like to go on repeating this history, but that I should be quite fair, and reasonably honest, and while I should probably never tell the story twice in the same way, I should at least never allow it to deteriorate in my hands."

"His Majesty intimated his willingness that I should continue to disseminate that piece of history and added a compliment, saying that he knew good and sound history would never suffer at my hands, and that if this good and sound history needed any improvements, the facts he would trust me to furnish these embellishments."

"I think it is no exaggeration to say that the Queen took as young and beautiful as she did thirty-five years ago, when I saw her first. I didn't say this to her, because I learned long ago not to say an obvious thing, but to leave an obvious thing to commonplace and inexperienced people to say."

"That she still looks to me as young and beautiful as she looked thirty-five years ago is good evidence that ten thousand people already have noticed this and have mentioned it to her. I could have said it and spoken the truth, but I have been too wise for that. I have kept the remark unmentioned, and that has saved her Majesty the vexation of hearing it for the ten thousand and one time."

"All that report about my proposal to buy Windsor Castle and its grounds is a false rumor—I started it myself."

The newly married couple will reside in Britain street.

In a Sorry Plight

Edward Thompson, a young English immigrant, who spent Wednesday night as a protectionist in the central police station, sought protection last night also. He is in a sad plight, and when the police found him last night he said he had not had a bite to eat all day.

He has been suffering from rheumatism and was a patient at both the Halifax and St. John hospitals. Last Monday he was discharged from the local institution still somewhat crippled. He says he asked the hospital authorities to make arrangements to get him work at Bloomfield, where he was previously employed. He was told he had better get out, and since Monday has tried in vain to get employment.

McCallum-Spiller

An event which for some time has been anticipated with considerable interest by the friends of the contracting parties took place Wednesday evening at 131 Water street, West End, when Rev. E. C. Jenkins united in marriage Miss Edith Marion Spiller, of Harrison street, and William Henry McCallum, of the west side, in the presence of about eighty invited guests and relatives.

Wilson, of Kennedy street, first bridesmaid, was dressed in pale green silk ecru and carried white carnations. Miss Minnie McCallum, sister of the groom, was dressed in champagne silk ecru and carried pink carnations, and little Miss Hazel McCallum, niece of the bride, who was ring bearer, wore white silk and carried a basket of cut flowers. The groomsmen were James Bond.

WHAT THE SOLDIERS SAY OF THE ROTHESAY STORY

Col. Chipman, of St. Stephen, Talks of the Alleged Looting by Men of the 71st.

Sussex, June 27.—The weather here still remains unsettled and it makes it most disagreeable for those in camp. For a time this afternoon the sun made its appearance but was soon hid from view by the heavy dark clouds that persist in overshadowing the camp.

Throughout the day many of the regiments attended target practice. Perhaps one of the prettiest drills in camp is that of the signal corps. The signalling is done by means of flags of different colors. As a result of the heavy rain of yesterday the water became very muddy and an effort is being made to adopt means to prevent that occurring again. Your correspondent visited the quarters of the 71st regiment this morning to ascertain what the regiment had to say as regards the accusations made against them relative to plundering a store at Rothesay. Col. Chipman, of St. Stephen, the commanding officer, was determined to ascertain the exact facts for The Telegraph. The colonel asked the officers of the regiment individually at luncheon what they knew about the affair. The officers stated that the soldiers left Fredericton having had an early breakfast and were unable to get anything to eat in St. John. The first stopping place was Rothesay and some of the soldiers went to the store, where there was only one boy in the store who helped themselves, asked the price of things, and left the money on the counter. Some of the soldiers told the officers that they went to the store intending to pay for everything and they did that save that they do admit that they helped themselves to some caramels.

Col. Chipman stated to your correspondent that he did not wish his regiment to be ill considered in the eyes of the public but he wished to place the blame where it belonged. The colonel said that the proprietor of the store should have reported the affair to him and he is willing to pay for whatever damage the proprietor of the store thinks has been done by his regiment. The regiment was in charge, while on the train, of Canon Montgomery, who holds divine service every evening and who also has a tent erected in which there is an organ, the latest magazines and papers and different games. It is the only tent of its kind in camp. Lieut. McKenzie, of the army service corps, St. John, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. He was out about the grounds exercising his horse and when near one of the mess rooms did not notice a heavy wire used as a clothesline. The horse was going quite rapidly when the wire caught the St. John boy in the neck. He, however, pluckily hung to his saddle and beyond a slight cut and a stiff neck, he was unhurt and continues to ride his horse. A St. John boy, who was on duty in the army medical corps last night, caught cold and is suffering with a sore throat today. He was conveyed to the hospital. Two of the other four patients were discharged this morning.

PATRIOTISM IN THE HOME

The Wife Declared She Would Not Live on American Soil, and as the Husband Refused to Become a Briton She Deserted Him.

DETROIT, June 28.—A matter of patriotism to their respective motherlands stood between William J. and Anna W. Roepke, according to the story told on the stand in Judge Donovan's court today. "My wife is a Canadian and I am an American," said the husband. "She said she didn't like this country, wouldn't live here, and under no circumstances would have children on American soil. She declared she was too good a Canadian to live here, and she wouldn't come to me if I left her there." The husband was given a decree on the spot for three years' desertion. They were married in Cleveland in 1902.

On Tuesday, June 11th, the degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on Rev. John Archibald Morison, D. D., Ph. D., of the First Presbyterian church, Chicago, by the faculty and trustees of Hanover College, at Hanover (Ind.) This institution was opened as an academy in 1828. In January, 1853, it received its charter as a college, and in 1908 it will celebrate its 75th anniversary as a college. It is the mother of the McCormick Seminary of Chicago, that institution having been a department of the college until 1840, when it was removed to New Albany (Ind.), and later transferred to its present location in Chicago. The graduates number 847; of these 310 have become ministers and 31 have become foreign missionaries. At present the corps of instructors consists of 14. There are ten buildings in good condition, with a productive endowment of $215,000. Rev. Dr. Morison's friends in St. John, where he was pastor of St. David's church will be greatly pleased at this announcement.

The animal trainer having been taken suddenly ill, his wife reported for duty in his stead. "Have you ever had any experience in this line?" asked the owner of the circus and menagerie, with some doubt. "Not just exactly in this line," she said, "but my husband manages the beasts all right, doesn't he?" "He certainly does." "Well, you ought to see how easy I can manage him."—Chicago Tribune.

Fitzpatrick then rendered the solo 'Go North into the Sea of Life' after which the proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Mrs. Dever and Mrs. Skinner, the lady trustees, were present at the St. Vincent's closing. After the exercises the botanical collections of the students were inspected. The collections were good ones and well mounted. Several of the coverings were well executed.

England." participated in by the pupils of these schools was deserving of special mention. Along the same line, but really prettier, was the flower basket drill by the Grade V girls. Everywhere could be heard praise of the performers and their cleverness but it was forgotten that to the instructors was due in great measure the praise for the success of the programme, which was as follows: Song—June, all the schools. Recitation—How It Blossomed, Grade I, girls. Singing song, Grade II, boys. Recitation—Flowers, Grade IV, girls. Robin's Song, all. A short description of some New Brunswick birds, Percy Cunningham, Grade VII boys. Song—Summer Time, all. Recitation—Butterflies, Grade III, girls. Recitation—Go to be like Dad, Grade IV, boys. Song—Pretty Little Zephyr, all. Recitation—My Shadow, Grade II, girls. Physical exercises, all. Dialogue, A Rhyme of the Year, Grade III, boys. Recitation—Story of a Dandelion, Grade III, boys. Song and Chorus, with flag drill, Canada to England, three schools. Recitation—Canadian Born, Grade I, boys. Song—My Own Canadian Home, all. Recitation—What Little Things Can Do, Grade II, girls. Flower Basket Drill, Grade V, girls. Essay—A Short Sketch of St. John, Hyman Marcus, Grade VII, boys. Song—Sunbeams, all. Recitation—Throwing Kisses, Grade I, boys. God Save the King.

ST. VINCENT'S SCHOOL. The music hall of St. Vincent's presented a very pretty scene, for here the graduating exercises were held. There was a profusion of white carnations, tied with navy blue and pale blue ribbon. The white carnation is the class flower, the navy-blue ribbon the color of the diplomas were awarded. Miss Margaret M. Kennedy then read the salutatory address. In the next number the leading lady characters of Shakespeare's plays were delineated. This was the longest part of the programme and the performers acquitted themselves very well. Miss Margaret E. Magee as Ophelia, Miss Helen Carlton as Desdemona, Miss Hilda McPeake as Queen Katharine, and Miss Teresa McKenna as Rosalind, were particularly good. The various characters depicted and the participants were: Prologue... Catherine Higgins, Dramer... Margaret E. Magee, Ophelia... Catherine O'Malley, Cordelia... Teresa McKenna, Rosalind... Grace D. O'Neil, Philip... Louise Holland, Desdemona... Helen Carlton, Portia... Helen Carlton, Cleopatra... Regina Mitchell, Silvia... Helen Hennessy, Lady Macbeth... Nellie B. O'Leary, Queen Katharine... Hilda McPeake, Angelo... Jamie Coll, Isabella... Josephine McGuire, Epilogue... Mary L. Covey. 'The Day is Done' was then sung by the members of the graduating class. Miss E. Josephine Sweeney, the dux of the school, read an address of farewell. In the course of her essay Miss Sweeney paid a tribute to the sisters of the school to whom the class were indebted so greatly. Miss J. Fitzpatrick then rendered the solo 'Go North into the Sea of Life' after which the proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Mrs. Dever and Mrs. Skinner, the lady trustees, were present at the St. Vincent's closing. After the exercises the botanical collections of the students were inspected. The collections were good ones and well mounted. Several of the coverings were well executed.

ST. VINCENT'S GRADUATES. The nineteen young ladies who graduated from St. Vincent's school are as follows:—Emma Josephine Sweeney, Nan Elizabeth McDade, Margaret Mary Kennedy, Mary Catherine Higgins, Grace Dorothy O'Neil, Mary Regina Mitchell, Louis Gertrude Holland, Jane Winifred Coll, Catherine Josephine McGuire, Agnes Regina McKinnay, Agnes Catherine O'Malley, Mary Adelia McMurray, Helen Frances B. er of them will be awarded the bronze medal donated by the Alumnae for annual competition. ABERDEEN SCHOOL.

In the Aberdeen school an interesting programme was produced, the part most appreciated by the audience being the recitation of "What a Boy Has in His Pockets" by Aleck George. He is an Ass-yan and has shown himself to be a clever youngster. His style was inimitable and the audience was convulsed at his cool recital, even when he broke into his mother tongue.

The programme was: Opening—Hymn by school. Recitation—Blanche Mary, Grade I. Recitation—Hazel Finley, Grade I. Song—"Four Leave Clover," by schools. Recitation—Merton Macfarlane, Grade III. WINTER STREET SCHOOL. As there is no assembly hall in the Winter street school, the closing exercises were held in the various rooms, visitors going from one to another during their stay in the building. On the boards were creditable specimens of free hand drawings of the students. An interesting impromptu programme was gone through.

ST. PETER'S GIRLS'. In St. Peter's girls' school Sister Al-berice and the other teachers in the building simply gave their classes a general review of the term's work.

ST. PETER'S BOYS'. In St. Peter's boys' school, of which M. J. Coll is principal, there was also a review of the work done during the term.

DUFFERIN SCHOOL. In Dufferin school there will be no special closing this season. The principal, Mr. Brown, says that so much time and energy were devoted to the concert given at Christmas time, to raise funds for a piano, that it was deemed advisable to have what is known as the "legal closing" for the summer vacation. This was much the same as those already referred to.

ALEXANDRA SCHOOL. Principal Dykeman, of Alexandra school, has also held the "legal closing" and Newman street and Douglas avenue schools adopted the same course. It is not known definitely just how many pupils will pass into High School this year, as the papers have not yet been examined.

DOUGLAS AVENUE SCHOOL. There was no formal closing this season. The work of the term was reviewed and some of the teachers had informal programmes in their own rooms.

LATOUR SCHOOL. In the LaTour school there were two programmes, one participated in by the advanced pupils in the Exhibition hall, and the other by the primary department. The songs and recitations of the children of the primary department were especially good and reflected credit upon the teacher, Miss M. A. Nannary. The programme at LaTour school: Chorus—The Maple Leaf school. Recitation—Words of Welcome, Vida Beatey, II. Recitation—A Boy and a Girl, Gertrude Davis, I. Recitation—Faithful Sandy, Maude Campbell. The Furness steamship Almeriana, Captain Hanks, has arrived from Boston via Port Medway, N. S. At the latter port she took on board 2811 bales wool pulp and will finish loading here with a deal cargo for Manchester, G. B.; she is berthed at the ballast wharf.

The Calais correspondent of the Bangor Commercial says:—An automobile party from St. John and Fredricton, is expected to arrive on the border Saturday, June 29. Twenty autos compose the string, each carrying from four to six persons. The party will remain here over Sunday.

There arrived in port today a large fleet of vessels from the United States ports, consisting of one steamer and ten schooners. Three of the schooners have cargoes of hard coal.

Mrs. J. E. Cox left for Boston and New York on a business trip last evening.
