MILLION OFFER FOR DEMPSEY FROM O'ROURKE

Bouts with Wills and Two Other Aspirants

Expect Proposition Will be Put Up to Kearns Today—Regina Skater Jumps Over Eleven Barrels—Late News in Sport World.

(Canadian Press) New York, Jan. 25.—The value of a knockout blow to Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, is going up. He awoke today to see in the papers that Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker of the Polo Grounds, is prepared to guarantee him $1,000,000 to fight Harry Wills, negro challenger, and any two of the other aspirants who now are crowding him for the limelight.

O'Rourke may place such an offer this afternoon, when Kearns expects a flock of other offers for bouts to be presented to him. The champion's manager declared that a Dempsey-Wills bout will be held this year, if (Kearns) must stage it. Before meeting Wills, however, Kearns proposed that Dempsey have a return match with Willard and one other selection. Kearns said two bouts are necessary to prepare Dempsey for the negro.

Regina, Jan. 25.—Clearing eleven barrels in an exhibition here last night, Walter P. Everett of this city, tied the Canadian indoor barrel jumping record held by Phil Taylor, formerly of Saskatoon.

N. B. Hockey. Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 25.—The Fredericton Hockey Club team here this morning for Sussex, where they will play a N. B. and P. E. I. Hockey League game tonight with the leaders of the western section.

Charlie Fleet, captain and centre of the Fredericton club, was unable to make the trip, and his place is being taken by Val Boudreau. The team will not return until Saturday, playing in St. John in a second league fixture tomorrow night.

London, N. B., Jan. 25.—In the New Brunswick and P. E. I. Amateur Hockey League last night, western section, at Shediac, the Campbellton team defeated Shediac by a score of 7 to 6.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 25.—Harry D., nine-year-old gelding, the son of Barndale and Turnaway, has established a record which racing officials say is unequalled in American turf annals.

Harry D. yesterday ran his fifteenth race at the Turfiana track this season and scored his eleventh victory. He has run the money twice and has been out-side the money twice. The horse is owned by C. B. Irwin of Wyoming.

A Boston Mix-up. Boston, Jan. 25.—Hockey fans trooped to the Arena today to obtain a refund of the cash they paid last night to see the Westminster of New Haven, and team members barred forever from the amateur hockey association of the U. S. and Canada.

The largest crowd of the season had gathered and it was not until after game time that it was learned that the Westminster players had remained at New Haven.

The trouble arose from failure of the Westminster management to receive playing certificates for some of the players who came from Canada. President Haddock at Pittsburg last night said he had prepared to forward the certificates as soon as desired information was received from Canada.

A. T. Turgeon, Que., Jan. 25.—Sons of Ireland, champions in the first half of the Provincial League, played a draw here last night with the local hockey team. The score was 1 to 1. A supplementary period of ten minutes failed to change the score.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 25.—No appointment has been made to the office of registrar of deeds, made vacant through the appointment of Hon. W. J. O'Hearn as attorney-general. It is indicated, however, that this is one of the matters to be taken up at once. The two most likely applicants are said to be W. W. Walsh, barrister, and Harry C. Murphy, manufacturers' agent.

Picked As Best Singer By Jeritza, Girl of 19 Wins Paris Study Trip

special scholarship to complete her New York, Jan. 25.—A hundred girls came—a hundred sang—and, as must always be the case in a competition of any kind—ninety-nine went away disappointed.

But there could only be one winner, and Miss Susan Steel of New York City was acclaimed the "most talented American student singer."

A hundred girls from all parts of the United States entered the competition, of which Jeritza, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was the sole judge.

The prize tendered Miss Steel is a training under Mme. Blanche Marchese, mother of Baron Popper, the singer's husband, in Paris.

Miss Steel, who is just 19, is the daughter of Willis Steel, on the editorial staff of a New York newspaper. She is a member of the Junior League of New York City, and is prominent in the Y. W. C. A. in New York and Long Island.

"Miss Steel gives greater promise of a successful operatic career than any young singer I have heard since I came to America," said the Austrian prima donna, who has helped a number of young women to secure training.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "you ought to be Lieutenant-Governor."

"What about yourself?" said Hiram. "My business," said the reporter, "is to make Governors and Senators and Cabinet Ministers and things like that. It suffices me. Of course, if—"

"Ah!" said Hiram. "Why do you say 'Ah?' demanded the reporter.

"These here 'ifs,'" said Hiram—"they're the milk in the coconut. What was you figuring on getting if I was made Governor?"

"You wrong me," said the reporter. "My motives are above reproach. I love you, Hiram. You are a credit to New Brunswick. You should have lofty ambitions. I would do you a great service. I would take you away from the humble toil of the farm and let somebody else raise the pigs."

"Ah!" said Hiram. "Why do you say 'Ah?' demanded the reporter.

"Ever hear about the pork bar?" queried Hiram.

"Well," said Hiram, "the gin'ally one somewhere round when fellers talks like you do—yes, sir. Great weather—aint it?"

Stern Measures By France Are In View To Bend Hun Resistance

General Weygand May Take Over Control—France to Stay Till She Gets Complete Satisfaction, Says Minister—Railroad Strike Spreads.

(Canadian Press.) Paris, Jan. 25.—The departure of Gen. Weygand and M. Le Trocquer, minister of public works, for the Ruhr late last night, marks the opening of the second phase of the occupation, so it is believed here.

When the French entered the Ruhr the Paris government assumed that the Germans would accept the move as inevitable, but events have proved that the contrary. Therefore, the French, it is declared, are about to change their methods.

In the first place, the occupation will be put on a systematic basis. According to some reports, the occupied territory will be practically cut off from the rest of Germany. Secondly, it is understood that M. Coetz, head of the occupation mission, had complained to the government that General Degoutte does not collaborate satisfactorily with the Rhineland commission set independently of M. Coetz and General Degoutte.

It is to obtain a report on these points that M. Letrocquer and General Weygand have undertaken their mission. Consequently nothing definite will be decided until they return, but the press generally assumes that General Weygand will take command of the occupation as a whole. M. Loucheur, the former minister of liberated regions, is said to have declined to undertake the task.

That France contemplates immediate steps to strengthen her hand in the occupied area is seen in the announcement that 3,750 railwaymen have been sent to the Ruhr for a period of instruction of limited duration.

France's determination to carry on in her undertaking is reaffirmed in an address by President Millerand to a deputation from the League of Patriots.

"Victorious France demands from the conquered respect and the application of the treaties, nothing more," the president said. "She has decided to obtain that. Her tenacity and calm will overcome every resistance."

President Millerand assured the delegation of his confidence in the firmness and coolness of the government, and exhorted them to have confidence in themselves.

STAY UNTIL THE DEBT IS PAID. Duesseldorf, Jan. 25.—France is here to stay until she gets complete satisfaction from Germany," said M. Le Trocquer, Minister of Public Works, upon arriving here from Paris today.

General Weygand, Marshal Foch's chief of staff, who accompanied the Minister, immediately went into conference with General Degoutte to consider the application of sterner military measures.

Mayence, Jan. 25.—General Marchal, commanding the French post here, today issued a proclamation declaring that henceforth all local German police would be under the authority of the French military. This step was taken because the authorities failed to make any effort to repress a demonstration yesterday that followed the conviction of the German mine directors.

General Marchal informed the population that the French troops had received orders to use their weapons to put down any attempts to disturb order. Yesterday's crowd was not dispersed until French cavalry intervened, arresting some of the disturbers.

Yesterday's Trials. Mayence, Jan. 25.—Fines, totalling 307,444 francs, were assessed by the court martial after a trial yesterday continuing but two short sessions. The sentences were limited to fines instead of imprisonment upon a recommendation of leniency from the French prosecutors, who admitted that the Germans acted from patriotic motives in refusing to deliver coal to the occupation authorities in the face of the instructions to the opposite from the Berlin Government.

The finding of the court that there were extenuating circumstances was not unanimous, it was learned, but was reached by a majority vote of the court members.

Railway Strike Spreads. Duesseldorf, Jan. 25.—The railroad strike has spread with great rapidity since the mine directors were fined at Mayence, and today it was effective over the greater part of the Ruhr. No north, south or east-bound passenger trains left after six o'clock this morning and the Paris-Berlin train was stalled here. Service to Essen was completely interrupted.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Beyond designating the arrest, trial and conviction of the German mine operators as illegal procedure, official quarters here denied last night to indicate the government's further attitude towards the mine penalties imposed at Mayence.

At the foreign office it was said that the government reiterates the position it has taken in its various notes of protest to the Premier that the occupation mission, in view of the federal controller's instructions, had no choice but to disregard the French orders, otherwise they would have been liable to indictment before the German courts.

Less Tense in London. London, Jan. 25.—A calmer view of Great Britain's position in the occupied zone is taken today. A friendly conversation between Lord Crewe, the ambassador to France, and Premier Poincare in Paris, has resulted in an understanding, it is said, that the British will not again be placed in a position of a notional nature not known.

CLEAR STATE OF TRAMPS

Head of N. Y. Police Reports $500,000 Yearly Saving in Fines.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24.—The State of New York has been cleared of tramps, once so numerous, since the Department of State Police...

"We have the authority of the fire insurance companies," the report said, "that at least $600,000 a year is being saved as a result of the elimination of fires that were formerly caused by the presence of tramps in barns. Organized chicken stealing has been broken up and likewise the organized robbing of truck gardens."

The report states that the enforcement of the highway laws presents the most difficult problem. It says the number of motor vehicles owned in the state, together with that of visitors from other states, would make a New York chain extending from New York City, through Albany and on to Montreal.

"Then, when it is taken into consideration," says the report, "that this tremendous number of cars is mostly traveling on the 11,000 miles of improved highways, the congestion on those highways may be realized. When it is considered that in this congestion hundreds of thousands of persons are being transported in high-powered machines day in and day out, no more than 2,000 persons were killed in the whole state last year, it would seem that police protection has been fairly good. It is 2,000 too many, to be sure, but the proportion of accidents to the number of cars is diminishing."

Now a word about speed. It is not speed that causes accidents, for more accidents occur when motors are going under fifteen miles an hour than over.

The report also says that the present conflict is between the automobile and the pedestrian. "And the automobile will win the fight in the roads," "Pedestrians," it says, "will have to keep off the highways, crossing them at certain protected places, and in cities eventually will go over or under the streets, leaving all streets in possession of the motorists."

HOSPITAL MATTERS. According to a report from R. H. Gale, superintendent of the General Public Hospital, every bed with the exception of those in the recovery room, were filled yesterday. There are 166 patients receiving care.

A meeting of the special committee on equipment for the epidemic hospital, held yesterday, M. E. Agar, president of the board of commissioners, presiding. Surplus on Current Revenue Account is $70,576—This Does Not Include Valley Railway Charges.

The financial statement of the Province of New Brunswick, covering the fiscal year ended October 31, 1922, was made public yesterday. The report of the auditors, Price, Waterhouse & Company, shows a surplus on current revenue account of $70,576.22. It must be borne in mind that Valley Railway charges are included in the figures as reported, as has been the case in recent years, and are not in any way a legitimate charge on the revenue of the province. These charges are included in the figures as reported, as has been the case in recent years, and are not in any way a legitimate charge on the revenue of the province.

The territorial revenue was greatly reduced in 1922 to $710,055.29; in 1921 it was $1,809,566.99. The province received through the New Brunswick Board of Liquor Commissioners $340,489.12, from which is deducted $35,000, the cost of the Queen Hotel property in Fredericton. The tax on liquor exported amounted to $219,994.33, and there was collected under the Provincial Prohibition Act $68,924.68. The prohibition act enforcement cost $70,644.

Auditors' Letter. In submitting their report, Price, Waterhouse & Company wrote as follows:

Montreal, Jan. 19, 1923. To the Honorable the Province of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N. B. Sir:—In accordance with your instructions we have examined the books and accounts of the Province of New Brunswick for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1922, and we have obtained all the information and explanations which we have required. The additions to the capital accounts of roads and bridges represent expenditures classified as "permanent" by the provincial engineers. Other construction and development expenditures have been properly approved by the engineers in charge of the work.

We certify that the attached accounts are in our opinion properly prepared and exhibit a true and correct view of the financial position of the province as at October 31, 1922, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the province.

We have the honor to be, sir, Your obedient servants, PRICE, WATERHOUSE & CO.

Pet "Peke" Helps Cupid; Comes $50,000 Gift

(New York Tribune.) Florence, "the $50,000 Pekinese," was made much of in the third floor flat of the Anello Sorrentino, 78 Mulberry Street, yesterday. Friends who called to congratulate the Sorrentinos on their stroke of good fortune patted the dog and listened to Anello's enthusiastic account of how he brought it about.

For Anello believes that if it had not been for Florence he would not have been able to marry Josephine Pescatore, and if he had not married Josephine he would never have received a $50,000 gift from Josephine's father. This is the way Anello told the story, with promptings from Josephine and the excited approval of Florence: How Romance Began.

A year ago last June August Pescatore sailed for Italy on the steamship Guglielmo Pierle with his daughter, Josephine. Anello Sorrentino, head of the printing firm of Sorrentino & Julian, 114 Mulberry Street, was also a passenger. On the way across Anello and Josephine became acquainted, and August Pescatore, who is seventy-three, noting it, cautioned his daughter.

"Do not have too much to do with this fellow," he said. "Remember your father is an old man and he leans on you. It would not be well for you to marry until I am gone and you are not even take each other's addresses. So ignorant, in fact, was each of the other's whereabouts that neither knew the other had taken passages on the liner Crete, which sailed for home in October of 1921."

Florence Helps Cupid. Here is where Florence enters. The first day out the Pekinese, which had been purchased by Josephine in Florence and named for her birthplace, strayed from her mistress' stateroom and—you have guessed it! In the midst of a frantic search by Josephine and a corps of stewards, Anello came on deck bearing Florence in search of her owner. The dog, it seemed, had gone with unerring instinct to Anello's stateroom of the seventh hundred on the ship which she found herself lost. At least the Sorrentinos regard it as a display of unerring instinct.

Cupid had plain sailing for the rest of the voyage, and although Papa Pescatore did not relent in his opposition there was Florence as a constant reminder and bond.

Eight months later Anello and Josephine were married in the Church of the Precious Blood in Baxter Street. Pescatore objected until the last moment, but finally accompanied the bride to the service. But he was unhappy and the wedding gift he sent expressed the disappointment.

Yesterday morning—six months after the wedding—Mr. Pescatore, who owns as much of Mott Street real estate as any man, aroused the Sorrentinos early by a knock on the door. Rather Floence aroused them, having heard the knock.

Mr. Pescatore sat down heavily in a chair.

"Bring me a cup of coffee, Josephine," he announced. "I have something to say to Anello." The son-in-law sat opposite him, apprehensive.

"When you married my daughter six months ago I did not approve," he said. "But you have made good, and I hereby give you $50,000 for you and the coming children."

Whereupon Josephine cried and Florence barked and sputtered with emotion.

"She's a $50,000 dog," suggested a visitor, and Anello repeated that to all the friends who dropped in later.

EXPLAINS THE 'MAULEY CHARGE'

Dr. Warwick, M. H. O., on Matter of Shipment of Infected Cattle to St. John.

Councillor J. E. McAuley's statement made at the morning session of the Municipal Council at Hampton yesterday that tubercular infected cattle in Kings county had been killed and shipped to St. John for human consumption was dealt with immediately by Dr. William Warwick, medical health officer for the district, who attended yesterday's session in connection with the health assessment dispute.

Dr. Warwick told the council that he displayed a lack of knowledge regarding tubercular cattle when he made such statements as this without qualification. The doctor said that Councillor McAuley was making a serious charge against the Federal inspectors who carefully examined all cattle killed because of tubercular infection.

"The explanation is," said Dr. Warwick yesterday, "that in an effort to stamp out tubercular disease among cattle, the Dominion government agreed to compensate the farmer by giving him the value of the value of the animal killed because of disease. In this way it was hoped in time to stamp out tubercular disease among cows."

"To compensate the farmer and further to protect him for his loss, the Federal inspection officer, carefully examine animals killed and if he finds traces of disease in parts, that part immediately is condemned and ordered burned. It would be an economic blunder, he said, to burn the entire body merely because of a disease which is located in one part of the body. So the Federal officer looks for this minutely and his certificate should have explained fully and not have made such alarming statements."

"There are cattle slaughtered by the farmers and shipped into St. John and discovered, whatever, in fact, we have had cases where our inspector has happened in the market and discovered tubercular cattle. They were ordered to be destroyed immediately for the protection of the public. The Federal officials, I might add, inspect on this account for inter-provincial and export purposes only and not for shipments within the limits of a province."

"What we need is a municipal abattoir where cattle can be sent for slaughter in the cleanest way possible. The farmers, I believe, would not favor such a plan. In fact, we have had cases where our inspector has happened in the market and discovered tubercular cattle. They were ordered to be destroyed immediately for the protection of the public. The Federal officials, I might add, inspect on this account for inter-provincial and export purposes only and not for shipments within the limits of a province."

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis

Lesson No. 215.

AMPLIFICATION PLUS REGENERATION.

(All rights reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction prohibited.)
If a regenerative circuit, consisting of a vario-coupler, plate and grid variometers and associated apparatus, is combined with radio and audio-frequency amplification an extremely sensitive method is obtained for the reception of short wave signals radiated from distant transmitting stations.

There are two types of regenerative circuits, in general use, which operate very efficiently for the reception of short waves such as the broadcasted signals with wave lengths of approximately 800 or 400 metres. These two types of circuits are, namely, the "tickler circuit" and "tuned plate circuit". Either of these circuits produce magnification of signal by transferring a portion of the plate circuit energy to the grid circuit and superimposing this energy upon the original radio wave. As this action is cumulative, up to a certain point, a considerably reinforced oscillation is secured.

The "tickler circuit" obtains increased strength of signal by inserting a "tickler coil" in the plate circuit, coupling this coil to the secondary coil and transferring the amplified oscillations of the plate circuit, by induction, to the grid circuit. The "tuned plate circuit" uses an adjustable inductance, such as a variometer, to replace the "tickler coil" and this inductance need not be coupled to the secondary coil as coupling between the plate and grid circuits is obtained by utilizing the capacity existing between the grid and plate of the vacuum tube itself.

If the energy contained in the waves, radiated from a distant transmitting station, is too feeble to properly operate the detector it is necessary to build up the weak signal by inserting one or more stages of radio-frequency amplification between the detector and the antenna and thus amplify the original radio wave at the same frequency with which it is transmitted through the other. The strength of signal may thus be increased to a point where proper detection is secured and the signals converted from a "radio" or inaudible frequency to an "audio" or audible frequency. If it is desired to further increase the signal audibility so that a loud speaker may be used it is necessary to add one or more stages of audio-frequency amplification.

The accompanying diagram illustrates an arrangement whereby two stages of radio-frequency amplification and two stages of audio-frequency amplification are combined with a short wave regenerative circuit, of the "tuned-plate" type. By proper adjustment of these circuits, a weak signal, intercepted by the antenna is so strengthened as to efficiently operate a loud speaker thus reproducing without distortion and with intensified energy the sounds of music or speech which originated at the transmitting station.

The tuning coil (L) and the series condenser (C) are adjusted to the frequency of the incoming wave which is then amplified by two stages of radio-frequency amplification. The transformer in the plate circuit of the second tube consists of a standard vario-coupler which is tuned by the variable condenser (C-1) having a capacity of 0.001 microfarad. The radio wave is further amplified and detected in the regenerative system containing the grid variometer (V-1), the plate variometer (V-2), the grid condenser and leak and the secondary coil of vario-coupler. The by-pass condenser (C-2) provides an easy path for the oscillations of high frequency which otherwise would be checked back by the reactance of the primary coil of the transformer in the first stage of audio-frequency amplification. After being detected the signal is amplified by two stages of audio-frequency amplification and reproduction of the original sounds of music or speech is obtained in a greatly amplified form in the receiving telephones or by inserting in their place a loud speaker.

The "A" battery is the usual six-volt storage type and across the terminals is connected two potentiometers each having a resistance of 200 to 400 ohms. One of these potentiometers is used as a "stabilizer" for the radio-frequency amplifier tubes while the other is used to obtain the proper plate voltage for the detector tube. A potential of approximately eighteen volts of "B" battery is used in the plate circuit of the detector tube and from forty to sixty volts in the plate circuits of the amplifier tubes. It is advisable to Flight of Petrograd Professor Aggravated by Fall of the Ruble.

A cable dispatch from Moscow to the New York headquarters of the American Relief Administration says: "Of the first sixty-seven students of the University of Petrograd who, since announcement was made that the American Relief Administration was prepared to ship clothing material into Russia, inquired how they could secure clothing, not one had purchased a new garment within a year, and some of them not in five years."

"A professor of mathematics at the university who had a suit and an overcoat stolen from him last fall found that the cheapest suit he could buy would cost him a month's salary, and that the cheapest overcoat would cost him two months' pay. He started saving, but the depreciation of the ruble has been so rapid that, according to present indications, he will not be able to buy an overcoat before next fall. The money he had laid by in August is worth in gold exchange only one-tenth what it was then."

COUNTLESS LOST SUIT TO RECOVER FOR PEARLS

Jury Decides Salesman Did Not Misrepresent His Ware in $6,000 Deal.

Minneapolis, L. I., Jan. 25—A jury in the Supreme Court, after eleven and a half hours' deliberation, returned a verdict for the jewelry firm of Black, Starr & Frost, sued by the Countess Dorothy Ryle De Bernard of Fifty-fourth street, Manhattan, for $6,000 she alleged she paid after a salesman had misrepresented pearls she purchased. The case was tried before Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis.

The testimony showed that in December, 1917, the Countess purchased a number of pearls for $6,000 and had them set in rings. She charged that Rudolph Travart, at that time a salesman for the jeweler, told her the pearls were true Orientals. She said when she attempted to have her gems insured the appraisers told her the pearls were of the American fresh water variety.

Travart testified that he never told the Countess the pearls were Orientals. Experts testified that if the pearls were Orientals they would have cost between $40,000 and $50,000.

Scared by a Boche Shell—Jules Strimelle Seized by Poilus When Birds Were Seen Flying from Smyth at Bousois.

(Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette.)
Paris, Jan. 25.—Guy de Maupassant in his most powerful tales of the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 does not attain the heights of simple tragedy of the pitiful story of Jules Strimelle, the village blacksmith of Bousois, who was wrongfully shot as a spy on the ramparts of Maumeuge in 1914, and whose innocence was proclaimed today after eight long years of sorrow by his widow.

It was September 14, on the very eve of the fall of the fortress, that Strimelle fell from the bullets of his own countrymen, who believed he was a traitor to France.

Strimelle's smithy was situated in the little village of Bousois, on the outskirts of Maubeuge, close to the fort bearing the same name. On September 1 the village was bombarded heavily by the enemy. All the men of military age were gone excepting Strimelle, who, because of his utility to the military, was kept working at his forge. Women, old men and children were hiding in cellars. Suddenly the soldiers from the fort saw amidst the bursting shells two pigeons rise from the smithy.

That was enough for them. A few moments later three soldiers rushed the smithy and seized Strimelle and dragged him before the military officers. Strimelle was a spy. They had seen the pigeons released from his house while he was the only living being above the ground. Only one conclusion was possible. He must die the ignominious death of a traitor.

Mobbed by Poilus.
While Strimelle was being dragged through the streets of Maubeuge by the excited soldiers—three territorials who had lost their heads completely under the strain of events—the furious populace fell upon Strimelle, and when he reached the military headquarters it was as a shattered, man-handled wreck, bleeding from countless wounds, hardly able to stand up and with one of his eyes gouged out.

Stunned and hardly conscious of what was happening, Strimelle was unable to say a word in his own defence, even to deny the accusation brought against him. His silence was considered an admission of guilt, and three days later, on the eve of the fall of Maubeuge, the unfortunate smith fell, riddled with the bullets of the firing squad.

But the truth he was unable to tell is being told today by his widow, who has opened proceedings to have her husband's memory freed from the shameful verdict and proclaimed an innocent victim of those terrible days. Strimelle, like many another blacksmith, was a great big simple fellow. He loved his two children passionately, but in his big, warm heart there was place for other affections, including his favorite pets, two pigeons, which he kept close beside him in a special cage in the forge. A German shell which burst on that fateful morning just outside the smithy hurled the cage to the ground and the frightened pigeons escaped and fluttered through the open door. The soldiers saw them and that was enough evidence to condemn the poor man.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT TO OPEN ON JANUARY 31

The opening will be attended by social festivities of pre-war brilliance, before the members settle down to the sober affairs of government. The opening will be conducted by His Excellency, Lord Byng, of Vimy, representing His Majesty, the King. Premier Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, and the leaders of the opposition parties are seen in the picture, Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party, and Robert Forke, the new leader of the Progressive party. INDIAN TRIBE LOOKS
UP CLAIM TO BIG PHILADELPHIA TRACT

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Two Oneida Indian chiefs from Green Bay, Wis., have been here looking up valuable property in the wholesale district which they had been told belonged to their tribe. The chiefs, Dr. War Eagle and Amos S. Baird, told Mayor Moore that they were interested in Indian affairs and also by a Philadelphia lawyer that their tribe still owned a big tract known as the "Wampum Belt Tract" in the vicinity of Second and Walnut streets, and that the reports had caused considerable agitation among their people. The Mayor told his visitors that many unwarranted claims had arisen through certain lawyers imposing upon alleged relatives of William Penn, Stephen Girard and others, and advised them to exercise caution in any proceedings that they might contemplate instituting. He instructed Assistant Director of Public Works Wagner to escort the Indians through the district to show them that no wigwam sites or other Indian appurtenances were located there.

AGAINST POISONS

Secretary Weeks Says Research is Providing Protection from Every War Gas.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Inquiries at the War Department as to the possible use in war of the botulinus bacillus, discovered in connection with deaths resulting from the eating of certain preserved foods, drew a statement from Secretary Weeks that the army was making progress in finding means of defense against all new gases or poisons.

"It is reassuring to know," Mr. Weeks wrote in a letter made public, "that for every poison there is an antidote and that for every war gas there is a protective mask or protective clothing devised or in the process of being devised."

The secretary added that army research work had produced as its most outstanding result "the means of saving life rather than the discovering of startling means of destroying life."

Among the discoveries enumerated was the finding of chemicals for use in gas masks to protect against carbon monoxide gas, frequently found in coal mines, and ammonia gas. It was said new methods also had been discovered for fighting germ diseases and agricultural pests.

Avenue, the Bronx, and is employed as cashier for the Automatic Wire Goods Manufacturing Company, at 386 Canal Place, the Bronx. The firm banks at the Twenty-third Ward Bank, 137th Street and Third Avenue, which is three blocks from its office.

Following her usual procedure, Miss Schwartz left her office a little before noon to go to the bank. A short distance from the factory she encountered a good-looking, well-dressed young man who sat at the wheel of a rakish automobile of the speedster type. He raised his hat as she passed him and suggested a lift. Miss Schwartz did not answer, but continued on her way to the bank.

Upon her return with the pay roll cash in a leather bag she found her admirer standing on the curb by the side of his car. Again he suggested that she take a ride. She pointed her chin a little higher and strode coldly past. The idea of an attempted hold-up was not in her mind. She was satisfied that the man was merely flirtatious and did not consider him dangerous.

She had reason to change her opinion quickly, for the man leaped suddenly upon her from behind, throwing his right arm around her neck, choking off her cries. She struggled against his grasp and he struck her in the face with a clenched fist. The girl clung with both hands to the bag which contained the pay roll money and her assailant hit her again, this time in the mouth, cutting her lips and drawing blood.

Miss Schwartz collapsed and the bandit, seizing the bag, jumped into his car and vanished, leaving the girl on the sidewalk. When she had recovered sufficiently to walk she reported the robbery to Patrolman O'Rourke. A general alarm was sent out from Bronx Police Headquarters. Miss Schwartz gave the police a detailed description of the man.

DeGoldi Left Dying in Doorway by Companions.
Boston, Jan. 25.—Shot and fatally wounded within 100 feet of the Hanover street station, Antonio DeGoldi, who, the police say, was a bootlegger, was left dying in a doorway at Cross and Salem streets by several of his companions.
Sergeant Butler and two patrolmen were sent from the Hanover street station, but could find no trace of the participants. While they were still searching, a man entered the station house and said that "someone was dying" in a nearby doorway.

Taken to the Relief Hospital, the man died a few minutes before midnight.

Although DeGoldi's address was given as 818 East One Hundred and Twelfth street, New York, he has lived in Boston for some time.

LOCAL HOCKEY

Things are beginning to look interesting in the City Hockey League. There are three teams with two wins and no losses to date. They are the Law School, Gyro and St. George's. The Trojans, Y. M. C. I. and G. W. V. A. have each lost two games and won none. Some fast hockey is anticipated especially when the lawyers and the Gyro meet next week. A win will mean much to the team which comes out on top. This game will bring at least two of the stronger aggregations together for the first time and a little royal is looked for. The Law School are overjoyed today at their overtime victory last night. They staged a great game come-back with a goal lead in which their opponents got in the first period. The barristers were crippled last evening with Drummond and Montgomery out of the game and only one sub. there. However LeBlanc arrived in time to save the day.

FOR PROVINCIAL APPEAL BOARD

Recommendation at Halifax in Matter of Pensions and Soldier Treatment.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 25.—A provincial board as to the method of procedure whereby ex-service men may appeal from decisions as to pensions or treatment, was recommended by Dr. Smith Walker, honorary secretary of the central committee for the ex-service men, which has in hand the presentation of evidence before the Ralston Commission. His suggestion called for three members who would form a judicial body with power to take evidence under oath. The members should be composed of one each of the medical, legal and technical professions.

Colonel Dubuc asked if a Dominion Appeal Board which would travel about the country to hear complaints at stated intervals, would not be more efficient, and Dr. Walker replied that the objection would lie in their lack of local knowledge.

Dr. Walker urged action facilitating the handling of re-applications for pensions and treatment, contending that the applicant should not be sent before the same practitioner as before, and that his file be laid open for his own information. He referred to the privilege afforded a soldier facing court martial that he be allowed to read the evidence against him, and reasoned that a soldier applying for treatment or pension should have the same privilege.

J. Paton, Secretary of the Board of Pension Commissioners said that much on a man's file would be confidential. Colonel Ralston said that even so the man had a right to know what was on his file.

$45,000 Increase In The Public Works Estimates

Heavy Bill for Snow Removal, New Street Equipment and More Paving Responsible for Jump—Other Matters Before Common Council in Committee.

The estimates of the City Public Works Department, presented to the Common Council in committee by Commissioner Frink this morning, show an increase of nearly $45,000 over those of last year. While reductions are shown in some of the items, the large increase is due principally to the cost of snow removal this year, for which $18,000 more than last year is asked; $2,500 for street equipment, including a one-ton truck and a new Ford passenger car, and a $17,000 increase December, Commissioner Frink said, some $22,000 had been spent in removing snow from city streets, which was more than the total amount allowed last year for snow renewal, watering, sanding and cleaning.

The committee heard Mr. Trueman in connection with the Mayor's application for permission to repair a building in Charlotte street, and heard Richard O'Brien and Duncan C. Lingley regarding the annual grant to the Free Public Library. The electrician's annual report was tabled.

Commissioner Thornton presented the report of the city electrician, which was ordered printed with the annual reports. Permits issued totaled 1,145 for which charges of $2,293.85 were collected. Inspections made were 1,472; permits completed, 1,118; new services authorized, 285. Forty-six special inspections were made.

The board of examiners held five meetings and three examinations. Five employing electricians, two journeymen and one chief electrician were licensed, and twenty-six employing, forty-seven journeymen and twelve chief electricians released.

The electrician felt that the cost of lighting the exhibition buildings for 1923 would be greatly reduced. Among the buildings wired or re-wired for lighting were No. 1, H and L station, Nos. 4, 5 and 6 engine houses, No. 2 salvage corps, police court, county jail, market building and city shops, West St. John.

Commissioner Thornton was authorized to call for tenders for 1,600 feet of hose.

Richard O'Brien, for the Free Public Library board, said the library would need more money. The city had granted $8,800 last year and the total receipts were about $7,000, which was over expended by $1,800. He thought $8,000 was not too much. He particularly referred to the necessity of keeping up the reference library. Especially needed were modern volumes of the encyclopedia and a modern atlas. After the ordinary expenses were paid but $1,800 was left for the purchase of books.

Duncan G. Lingley said there were some 1,600 taking books out and more than 900 children. He felt that neither the National History Society nor the library was receiving the support of the citizens and council of the city. He thought that the free library should be brought to such a stage that the lending libraries would be put out of business. Ontario he said, had a law by which each citizen was taxed fifty cents a year for free libraries.

The total circulation of books last year was 80,000, Mr. O'Brien said, and in the reference room 7,000 volumes were consulted. The circulation in 1921 was 87,000. He said that 785 new cards were issued last year.

The matter will be considered when the grants come up. The application of the Mayor for permission to repair a building in Charlotte street damaged recently by fire, was taken up. The building was one storey in front and two in the rear. The Mayor retired and Commissioner Frink took the chair.

J. M. Trueman who appeared for the Mayor said that the fire marshal agreed with his interpretation that the law permitted the repair of the building. The Council did not agree to allow the repairs being made, the matter under the law could be referred to arbitration.

Commissioner Thornton said he did not want to argue the legality of the matter in Council.

Mr. Trueman said that the building in question was built before the act became effective in that block.

Commissioner Frink said if the building inspector issued a permit and the Council permitted the repairs to be made, then it would be extinguishing the building inspector.

The building inspector expressed the opinion that the present building law should be either revised or a new law prepared.

Public Works Estimates
The estimates of the Public Works Department were submitted by Commissioner Frink.

Last year's appropriation was $247,878.89. This year the total is $292,773.85. Last year $238,745.16 was spent. Street maintenance was estimated at $128,000 as compared with $110,800 last year. The principal increase was noted in the item for cleaning, sanding and watering streets, which was $39,000 last year, and for which $65,000 was asked this year. Since Dec. 15, $32,028 had been expended for snow removal alone, and today's storm would mean bringing the expense up to the level of the whole appropriation last year. About $18,400 was due from the N. B. Power Co. on this item. Commissioner Wigmore said the Public Works Department was to be

MAN KILLED BY TRAIN ON WAY TO WORK IN STORM

Michaud Mallet Found Near the Track Between Fairville and South Bay.

Michaud Mallet, aged fifty-six years, was found dead on the right way of the C. P. R. on the south side of the railway track near Spurr Cove crossing, between Fairville and South Bay, about six o'clock this morning. It is presumed that he was going along the track to Wilson's Box Factory, where he was employed, when he was struck by a train and killed. The body was found by S. Corliss, another employee of the Wilson factory, while he was going to work.

Mr. Mallet left his boarding house at Pleasant Point before six o'clock and started for his work and so far as is known this is the last seen of him until he was found dead alongside the track. As there was a heavy snow and sleet storm raging about the time it is thought that he was walking along the track and, owing to the wind and the density of the storm, failed to see or hear the approaching train.

H. Berlioz, who was in charge of C.P.R. train No. 40 due here from Montreal at 6.35 local time, reports that there was a very heavy snow fall about that time and he could not see very far ahead of the train. He did not notice anyone on the track. The engine was examined, but nothing was found to show that anyone had been struck by it. It was said that the body was not mutilated to any extent.

When the body was found word was sent to C.P.R. officials at Fairville Station and Coroner F. L. Kenney was notified. He gave permission to have it removed to Fairville station and later to O'Neill's undertaking parlors in Main street.

Mr. Mallet was employed as a laborer at Wilson's Factory and had been working for that firm for two or three winters. He was unmarried and boarded at Pleasant Point. It is said that he is survived by one sister.

Coroner Kenney said this afternoon that he had not received full particulars regarding the fatality but from information he had at hand he did not think that an inquest would be necessary.

PLAN BETTER MAIL SERVICE

Announcement by Superintendent Woods to Moncton Board of Trade.
Moncton, N. B., Jan. 25.—H. W. Woods, district superintendent of postal service at St. John, has notified the president of the local Board of Trade that in future mail service on night trains between St. John and Moncton will be more satisfactory to business men and commercial travelers. He points out that arrangements have been made to have the mail transfer agent at Moncton station open the train No. 9 to St. John and points west. On the other hand, mails will leave Moncton on train No. 10 on Monday, Tuesday and Saturday mornings for Halifax and Nova Scotia points. Previous to this arrangement all mails had to be in the local post office at 8.45 o'clock the evening before. As conditions now prevail it will be unnecessary to have mails posted in the post office. They can be deposited at the station and this will be a great convenience to commercial travelers and others.

TO SAIL FOR ITALY
Fredericton Gleazer:—Augustina Mazucci left this morning for St. John together with his son, Gabriel, from where they will sail on Friday for Italy.

congratulated for the work they had done this year in handling snow removal.

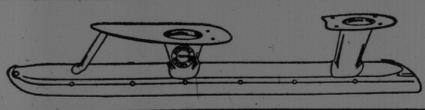

Up to the present time last year, Commissioner Frink said the expenses for snow removal were $11,678. Estimate for stone crushers was reduced from $12,000 to $9,000. The appropriation for asphalt manufacturing last year was $16,000, but there was an unexpended balance of $6,462. The estimate this year was $14,250.

For street stables, $9,387 was asked last year; $10,088 was asked which included $600 for a 500-gal. gasoline tank, $1,165 for a new Ford 1-ton truck, and $875 for a new closed Ford car.

New asphalt pavements last year were estimated at $8,000; $25,000 was asked this year, for work on both sides of the harbor, including Queens street from Carmarthen to Wentworth; Duke street, Sydney to Carmarthen; Union street, Prince Edward to St. Patrick street, and King street West, Union to Ludlow.

Disposal of ashes and paper was increased from $3,500 to $4,000. The amount was over-expended by $404 last year. The appropriation asked for public squares was $9,000, an increase of $1,000 over last year. This was to provide something for Queen square, in West St. John, Victoria square in North End, and the triangle at the foot of Garden street.

Halifax, N. GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

WATCH UNIQUE'S WEEK END SHOW

Popular Cruise Serial Closes and New Serial Begins—Hoot Gibson's Greatest Picture—Theatre Opens at One O'clock Saturday.

The Unique management offers what is claimed to be the most attractive programme in its long career this week-end, beginning today. To accommodate the anticipated rush at Saturday matinee, the theatre will open at one o'clock, the show starting at 1.30. The Cruise serial, which has been playing to capacity week-end audiences, will close, and what is promised as the most interesting serial ever made, "Around the World in Eighty Days," will begin. This is said to have the Jules Verne story excelled in novel and exciting interest, and will probably test the Unique capacity for twelve weeks. Last, but not least, will be Hoot Gibson, the peer of all Western stars, in his greatest feature, "The Lone Hand." Some programme this. Early attendance will be necessary both afternoon and evening.

CENSOR BOARD REVERSES ITS DECISION FOR "A FOOL THERE WAS"

Some time ago the Queen Square Theatre announced to its patrons some of the coming attractions, among which was the William Fox super-special production, "A Fool There Was," taken from the successful play by Porter Emerson Brown and inspired by Rudyard Kipling's poem "The Yampuk." As it was necessary for all pictures, "A Fool There Was," was presented to the New Brunswick Censor Board for their approval before being shown on a public screen, and at that time the production was condemned as unfit for public exhibition, and later on appeal was made from this one-man decision, but it was unfortunately condemned again by the entire board. A second appeal was made, and with very slight changes the production was passed, and will be shown by this theatre for the remainder of this week. The Queen Square management intend to let the public judge for themselves the merits of this production, and the decision of the St. John public will be a large factor in the future showings of this picture throughout the Maritime Provinces.

Brilliant "Come-Back" for Johnny McTaggart Who Lost Nerve In Spill

New York, Jan. 25.—Five years ago Johnny McTaggart was one of the best jockeys on the track. With his brother Tom he was one of the leading riders of the country, and his services were always in demand. One day in 1918 he went down in a bad spill and was badly injured. About the same time he became the daddy of a little girl, and the fall and his new responsibility shook his nerve. He was scared stiff, and even a 19-year-old youth will not take risks when he has a wife and baby to look out for. McTaggart slipped gradually into oblivion. He began to lose races; nobody would hire him. One day he announced that he was going to Canada. Years slipped by. Word came east that Johnny McTaggart was back on the smaller tracks in the United States, making a game fight to "come back."

OPPOSITION HOPELESS.

Fredericton, Jan. 25.—(Canadian Press).—The opposition party's standard bearer in the bye election which is impending in Gloucester county, will probably be elected by acclamation. The opposition party is hopelessly defeated in its present unhappy position in an ineffectual combination from which nothing can be expected and, although their leader is still without a seat in the legislature, he evidently does not intend to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the vacancy in Gloucester to test public opinion.

MORE OUT OF WORK IN CANADA

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—(Canadian Press).—The volume of employment in Canada as reported by employers to the Dominion bureau of statistics at the beginning of January, showed considerable contraction. It is said this was largely on account of the temporary cessation of work in many establishments during the holiday season. The percentage decline was slightly smaller than that recorded last year, but since payrolls generally have recently been higher, the shrinkage involves the release of a large number of workers.

Maurice Moore a former officer in the British army, calls on the British Government to release nine Irish political prisoners held in British prisons, who were not included in the general amnesty or the subsequent amnesty of the "Communist League" who outlined in India "a protest against the treatment accorded Ireland."

A bill was proposed in the Dail to grant amnesty to all British soldiers held for any acts committed in the execution of their duty during the Anglo-Irish hostilities. BLISTER-RUST CAMPAIGN

State of Vermont to Fight White Pine Pest. The eradication of the white pine blister-rust is to be given considerable attention this year by the Forestry Department in the State of Vermont. This disease, which first came to this country from Europe, is gaining rapid headway. White pine rust is a fungus growth which gradually girdles the tree and penetrates the trunk, thus causing the death of the tree. The disease originates on gooseberry and currant bushes and from them is spread to the white pines. After about a year's time the disease begins to be visible in the form of small blisters; these blisters enlarge as time goes on and in about three years most of the work is done and the tree dies.

STERNER MEASURES TO FORCE GERMANS

(Continued from page 1) the embarrassing position of seeming to endorse the French policy, as was the case in the Lausanne incident at Cologne. Nevertheless, the morning newspapers regard the situation as a delicate one and believe that avoidance of difficulties depends almost entirely upon the tact and discretion of the men on the spot. The British Government has made no statement to allay public anxiety, but it is understood that it will not consent to British co-operation in the application within the Cologne area of any "sanctions" to which the French and Belgians agree unless the London Government gives its assent. It now seems most probable that the French, henceforth will avoid awakening British feeling in this matter and thus it is expected that the excitement occasioned by the arrest of Herr Lauenauer is not likely to recur.

Duesseldorf, Jan. 25.—Virtually the entire railway system of the Ruhr Valley and the occupied territory immediately adjoining, was paralyzed today by the strike of the railway men. Two trains of foodstuffs from Holland represented the only movement by rail into the interior of the Ruhr during the morning. The telegraph and telephone employees of the postal service informed Gen. Denvignes today that the operators would strike at midnight. The threat that the leaders would be sent to jail. A mobile crew of telegraphers which customarily follows President Millerand on his expeditions is ready to take over the service in the event of a strike.

"Of the new regime the Herald says: 'The future is likely to be full of political troubles for Premier Armstrong. The party throughout the province are not in good heart. The public are in militant mood in regard to provincial administration.'"

The Chronicle's comment in part is as follows: "The retirement of Hon. George H. Murray from the office of Prime Minister brings to a termination a career of public activity as leader of a government, which, we believe, is unmatched in the records of British constitutional government. He goes out in the heyday of his political prosperity, with his personal prestige high and his place as leader of his party beyond rival or challenge. Best of all, Mr. Murray retires from office without blemish on his public or private character. No man can point the finger of reproach at any personal or private act of his."

FELLOW CLERICS
WANT REBUKE
FOR DR. GRANT

Episcopal Clergy Outspoken in Condemning Recent Sermon

Bishop Manning Silent—
Head of Church of Ascension in New York Declines to Answer Critics or Retract His Statements.

(New York Tribune.)
While Bishop Manning, head of the Episcopal diocese, preserved strict silence yesterday on the utterances of the Rev. Dr. Percy Sweeney Grant in the Church of the Ascension on Sunday, various Episcopal clergymen expressed the opinion that some action should be taken against him. They felt that this is the climax of a long series of unconventional moves on the part of Dr. Grant. One prominent clergyman went so far as to say that he should be brought to trial for heresy, adding that he fully expected Bishop Manning to take some action.

In a sermon delivered on Sunday morning Dr. Grant attacked the constitution and personnel of the Episcopal Church, describing the consecration of the Church as a form belonging to the age of witchcraft, charging the clergy with ignorance and credulity, and saying that such of them as were versed in the sciences did not believe Jesus had the might of God or that His miracles were anything more than auto-suggestion.

Long Considered a Radical.
For several years Dr. Grant has been a thorn in the flesh of fellow Episcopalians. His championship of the Socialist, his views on marriage and divorce, his radical forays into the Church of the Ascension and, recently, his publication of a book of love poems, have made him more or less of a controversial figure in the Episcopal Church and among churchmen who regard his previous unconventionality with a tolerant eye. At last, he has gone too far and has virtually broken his pastoral vow.

When the Rev. G. A. Carstensen, rector of the Church of the Holy Rood, Fort Washington avenue, was questioned he was loth to pass any comment because he has figured as a critic of Dr. Grant.

"I have spoken so much and so often about Dr. Grant that I don't think what I say would be of any great force," he said. "I am sure there are others who think even more positively than I do about him. Dr. Grant is only one of a number of men to whom notoriety is due. I don't think I can understand the ethical or moral problem of a man who can eat his church's bread and vend that church. He has already exhausted the patience of his superiors. His present attitude reminds me of a bootlegger posing as an enforcer of the Eighteenth Amendment."

The canons of the Episcopal Church require that two presbyters bring charges against a minister before he can be brought to trial. Dr. Carstensen said he hesitated to take the initiative because he would be accused of persecution, and he would gladly join any one else who might be disposed to take this step.

There was a general disinclination among the Episcopal clergymen to make any comment for publication. A few seemed to think that Dr. Grant would cease to trouble the church after he had been rebuked. Others took the offense more seriously, and said that the church could not afford to overlook it.
Dr. Grant was described by one prominent clergyman as "a good man gone wrong."

"In the church we all know Dr.
Grant, and nothing he says gives us any concern," remarked this Episcopalian. "It is very much better to ignore him."

A former vestryman of the Church of the Ascension was authority for the statement that for the last two years
Dr. Grant has practically eliminated the Apostles' Creed from the service in his church in direct violation of the Episcopal ritual. He has his choiring liturgy, making it practically unintelligible to the congregation.

Dr. Grant refused to give any further statement yesterday. He intimated that he had said as much as he had to say on Sunday.

Indignation was registered in the theological colleges which were indirectly attacked in Dr. Grant's sermon.
Dr. Raymond H. Hedges, president of St. Stephen's College, Barrytown, N. Y., said yesterday:

"On the basis of newspaper reports of Dr. Grant's utterances, I wish to say that six of the faculty of St. Stephen's College for Men, which is owned by the Episcopal Church, are priests, all graduate of the great universities and well trained in science. They all believe in the deity of Christ without mental reservations.

Questions His Training.
"I am curious to know just what scientific training Dr. Grant has had himself. I think his sermon was not just a ludicrous exaggeration, not just the facts either here or abroad, in regard to scientifically trained priests."
The Rev. Herbert M. Denlow, secretary of the General Theological Seminary, Ninth avenue and Twenty-second street, was inclined to think that Dr.
Grant, indirectly denying the divinity
of Christ, denied the fundamental doctrine of the Church.

"Dr. Grant seems to have forgotten his ordination vows," said Dr. Denlow.
"What he said is not true. As for his statement that church consecration is an inheritance from witchcraft, we have an intimation to set apart certain times and persons for something special. It is not the church itself, but the feeling one has for it."
"The Church may well overlook this incident. One does not mobilize an army when a mosquito bites one. Dr.

Grant may be a trifle embittered for being under discipline and he may have forgotten his ordination vows."

It is a fact that on various occasions
Dr. Grant has smarted under discipline from the bishopric. Some time ago Bishop Manning forbade any clergyman to exercise his jurisdiction to marry the rector of the Church of the Ascension and Mrs. Philip Lydig, who has twice been divorced. In January, 1920, the late Bishop Burch verbally charged him for "unpatriotic and unchristian acts." He could not punish him because there was no law of the Church that had been specifically violated.

Had Bad Pains
In Her Heart

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No. 4, St.
Catharines, Ont., writes—"I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nervousness, doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not be still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out.
My stomach was also very bad and I could eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made my heart worse."

"I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better, I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I am not afraid."

Questions His Training.
"I am curious to know just what scientific training Dr. Grant has had himself. I think his sermon was not just a ludicrous exaggeration, not just
the facts either here or abroad, in regard to scientifically trained priests."
The Rev. Herbert M. Denlow, secretary of the General Theological Seminary, Ninth avenue and Twenty-second street, was inclined to think that Dr.
Grant, indirectly denying the divinity
of Christ, denied the fundamental doctrine of the Church.

"Dr. Grant seems to have forgotten
his ordination vows," said Dr. Denlow.
"What he said is not true. As for his statement that church consecration is an inheritance from witchcraft, we have an intimation to set apart certain times and persons for something special. It is not the church itself, but the feeling one has for it."
"The Church may well overlook this incident. One does not mobilize an army when a mosquito bites one. Dr.

Grant may be a trifle embittered for being under discipline and he may have
forgotten his ordination vows."

It is a fact that on various occasions
Dr. Grant has smarted under discipline from the bishopric. Some time ago Bishop Manning forbade any clergyman to exercise his jurisdiction to marry the rector of the Church of the Ascension and Mrs. Philip Lydig, who has twice been divorced. In January, 1920, the late Bishop Burch verbally
charged him for "unpatriotic and unchristian acts." He could not punish him because there was no law of the Church that had been specifically violated.

How I Got Rid of Burning Feet

And Pains from Corns and Bunions
Without Soaking, Powders, Plasters, Etc., After Suffering In-scrutable Foot Misery for 20 Years.

Prof. F. T. McInayre, well known world tourist and lecturer, says: "For years I was compelled to wear shoes two sizes too large, to be able to walk with any comfort at all. I tried soaking my feet in medicated baths, powders, plasters and foot-treatments galore, but the burning callosities and soreness refused to go, while the pains from corns and bunions continued to torture both mind and body, which upset my entire nervous system. One day, very fortunately, I met a lady from Egypt who gave me a little box of Gypsy Foot Relief, which she said was a secret from the desert. After using it a short time, the awful burning stopped, the callosities came off in chunks, leaving the skin of my feet clean and smooth, while the pains from corns and bunions seemed to disappear as if by magic. From that time I have worn a size smaller shoe to over 20 years of indescribable foot misery. I would not take a hundred thousand dollars for the wonderful Gypsy Foot Relief."

Note.—Gypsy Foot Relief, referred to in a minute, without fuss or bother. Sure, quick relief comes three minutes later, or the makers give back the small amount you pay. It is sold in this city by

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—Ah Sing Ching of Ewa Oahu, Hawaii, a fourteen-year-old boy of Chinese extraction, won first prize in the American Legion's essay contest for American school children on the subject, "How Can the American Legion Best Serve the Nation?" The results of the contest were announced by Garland W.
Powell, director of the Legion's national Americanization commission.

Second prize in the contest, which was open to all school children between the ages of twelve and eighteen, was awarded to Miss Pauline Virginia Chaustain of Indianapolis. Joseph Glandston of Bridgeport, Conn., won third prize. Honorable mention was made of the essays of Phillip E. Mossler, Westfield, Mass., and Ralph R.
Sullivan of Twin Harbors, Minn.

The board of judges for the Legion contest was composed of John J.
Tiger, United States Commissioner of Education; Chancellor E. Brown of New York University, and S. S. Mc-Clure, the publisher. National prizes were First, $750; second, $500, and third, $250, the money to be used as scholarships in any college or university. They were awarded by Harford MacNider, former National Commander of the Legion.

"The fact that a boy of Chinese descent won the essay contest is a testament to the splendid work of Americanism, which Legion posts in Hawaii are emphasizing, as well as to the excellent scope of the Legion," Mr. Powell said. "The Hawaii department is to be congratulated on the development of a national winner in a contest in which more than 20,000 school children participated."

Mr. Powell said that the essay contest would be an annual event.

SERIOUS DISEASES
Spring From Colds

Prompt Attention Necessary to Avoid Lung Trouble.

Just as "fall" oaks from little acorns grow," so is a common cold often the seed from which spring serious diseases, such as pleurisy, pneumonia and other lung troubles. Taken at its start, a cold yields to proper treatment.
Neglect it and it not only causes inconvenience, but is very liable to develop into diseases which are rightly dreaded by all.

That cold can be relieved in a single night by starting to take Grip-Fix as soon as the trouble appears.

This remedy strikes right at the root of the complaint. It keeps the system open, relieves the muscular pains. It relieves the feverish conditions. It comes in capsule form and acts promptly.
Have a box of Grip-Fix in the house.<

HEAVY TOLL OF STORMS ON THE NORTH ATLANTIC

Twelve Vessels Lost in a Seven-Week Period

Eight are Placed on Missing List—Deaths Numbered 28—Gales at Times 120 Miles an Hour.

New York, Jan. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—The hurricanes, whole gales, half gales and storms which have been sweeping the Atlantic for nearly two months, have spent their force, the weather bureau reports, but in those weeks they have left stranded and sunken ships, unsolved and mysterious tragedies of the sea, and a series of "delayed runs" for transatlantic liners which has not been equaled since war days.

Now comes the worst month of the year, January brings more vicious pounding gales to Atlantic ships than any other. But the weather bureau joins with maritime experts, this year, in the belief that it cannot equal the late November to January 1 record.

That seven week period which came to its end on January 7 left a record hard for any like period to approach. The Atlantic claimed 12 ships; it took twenty-eight men to their deaths; it made twenty-three giant liners more than 12 hours late—most of them were from two to three days behind schedule; and it left the unsolvable mystery of what happened to eight other ships.

In addition there occurred or near occurred on the Sea of Manora, the Pacific, the Great Lakes, the Baltic Sea—but the hurricanes which crossed the Atlantic were the worst.

Secretary Hughes brought the first great hurricane with him when he returned from South America in November. It swept out from behind Bermuda with a force of more than 100 miles an hour. It tore across the Atlantic, hit the French coast and tore right back again. And on November 28 there began to be reports of trouble at sea.

Five Canadian fishing schooners failed to report that day. "Anxiety is felt for them" said the despatches. Later four got in; the fifth is in the list of missing ships.

On the same day a bootlegger went to pieces on Long Island, and residents of the vicinity got most of the cargo, according to the prohibition agents. Towards night a bottle was washed up on Long Island with the story of six men who had fought death two weeks in an open boat.

Two days later the Italian liner President Wilson crept into quarantine here, and with her came the first reports of what actually was happening out on the Atlantic.

"Storms" said her officers, "storms" we have never experienced anything like it. The gale at times was 120 miles an hour.

For seven weeks since then incoming liners have told the same story. So often has it been retold that it had to be a particularly desperate fight to get into the new.

But from then until January 7 hardly a ship entered New York harbor that did not show the scars of its fight. And daily there were reports of what actually was happening out on the Atlantic.

"Storms" said her officers, "storms" we have never experienced anything like it. The gale at times was 120 miles an hour. For seven weeks since then incoming liners have told the same story. So often has it been retold that it had to be a particularly desperate fight to get into the new.

THE RUINS OF THE WESTMINSTER OF CANADA

The famous Basilica of Quebec, with a history stretching back to the days of the French occupation, as it appears today. Workmen have begun work on removing the debris, shown in the interior of the building, in the picture at the top. At present the church authorities are debating whether to use the old walls, still standing, and incorporate them in the new Basilica, thereby saving some $200,000, or to pull them down and plan an entirely new church on modern lines to meet the needs of the community. The first scheme was to rebuild the church by its original plans, which are still in existence.

reported 100-mile gales and ninety-foot waves.

Ships put into Halifax to get out of trouble. On December 28 four small boats crashed to the beaches near New York harbor. They were all ill-fated bootleggers.

The Heinrich Kayser, a freighter, joined the mystery ships on December 6. A wireless from her said her rudder chains were broken. She was drifting. Her owners at last are ready to admit her a probable loss.

The Valencia, a freighter, came in January 8 with a story of two dead and nineteen hurt because a cable drum was torn loose by a huge wave and sent crashing among the crew.

The Weather Bureau says it cannot estimate the average force of the gales for those seven terrific weeks.

"Well, seventy-five miles is not too low," says the bureau. "It is probably nearer eighty-five. But be conservative, for seventy-five-mile gales blowing almost constantly for seven weeks is pretty close to a record for the Atlantic."

On the same day a bootlegger went to pieces on Long Island, and residents of the vicinity got most of the cargo, according to the prohibition agents. Towards night a bottle was washed up on Long Island with the story of six men who had fought death two weeks in an open boat.

cept as above outlined, in Peary's Arctic expedition—even on the trip when he reached the Pole itself—neither he nor any of his people suffered from colds at all! But they caught them, like any one else as soon as they got back into civilization, where they encountered people who had colds already. While they were away from colds they caught none—how could they catch them when there were none there to catch? Stefansson and Amundsen and all the Arctic explorers back to Sir John Franklin and then back of him again had just the same experience. Ask all the people you know who have fallen through the ice in Winter and then gone home through the cold Winter day in their wet clothes whether they had colds following their immersion. Ask them and write in to us and tell us what you find out. You will be surprised, probably, to find that not one in ten of them showed any had effects from their sudden chill at all. We will tell you later what a tabulation of your answers shows, if you like.

"Colds are infectious diseases almost always. Persons with colds should avoid giving them to others—people without colds should avoid catching them from others. Carrying out these ideas would cut our colds by 50,000,000 attacks per year less than we have now—cut them in two at least—and then we would not, as a race, lose any more time from colds than we do from tuberculosis. We lose twice as much time now, you remember!

GRIM EXPERIENCE IN HEAVY STORM (Moncton Transcript). Charles Simmons, a young man of Harrisville, had a thrilling experience during the recent heavy storm, suffering much as a result of being frost-bitten. He left a camp in the woods, north of Harrisville, with a span of horses in the storm on the 18th inst., and was held up on the homeward journey owing to the deep snow. For hours he tried to extricate the team from the drifts, and finally had to give up, leaving one horse on the road. He protected the animal as well as he could by covering it with blankets, and went back to the camp with the horse that he had succeeded in getting out of the drift.

The young man had left for home about noon on Saturday, and it was evening before he was again sheltered from the terrific storm. He showed great pluck and perseverance in the effort to get both horses to a place of safety.

Next morning he reached home on snowshoes, and the remaining horse was removed from the snow alive, but considerably affected by the exposure. The young man had both feet, his face and parts of his hands frost-bitten, but is recovering from his injuries.

NEGRO KILLED ON TRAIN AFTER SLAYING FARMER

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 25.—John Richards of Beatrice, Ala., a discharged negro soldier, shot and killed U. E. Hennencamp, aged about 60, a farmer of Rockwood, Pa., after terrorizing passengers on Baltimore and Ohio Passenger Train 6, New York to Chicago, and in turn was killed by Captain Harry D. Schmidt, Division Chief of the Baltimore and Ohio police.

The negro got on the train at Washington and was flourishing a revolver in the presence of passengers all the way to this city. He was alternating between the smoker and the women's coach. At Martinsburg a wire was sent to Captain Schmidt to meet the train here and arrest the man. In the meantime the negro sought refuge in the washing compartment for women, and passengers steered clear of him.

When the train stopped here, the officers were in waiting but Mr. Hennencamp started to get aboard ahead of them and the negro began firing, evidently thinking he was a plain clothes officer. Hennencamp was shot twice through the heart. The negro then fired twice at Captain Schmidt who came up behind, but missed him. Schmidt fired three times, one bullet passing through the negro's mouth and two through his abdomen, he fell dead in the compartment. The negro had a ticket for Chicago.

Mr. Hennencamp came here to see his wife, who has been a patient at Allegheny Hospital since Oct. 25, and had been for weeks in a critical condition, but was on the way to recovery.

The police at first thought the negro was George Brown, wanted in New York for the murder of his wife last August at Coney Island, but papers found on the body showed that it was that of Richards, who was drafted in 1917 and discharged in 1921.

Miss Bessie Allingham left last night on the Boston train for New York, where her marriage is to take place in the latter part of this week to James Weston, managing director of the Imperial Life Insurance Company in Toronto. Many friends were at the station to bid Miss Allingham good-bye and to wish her all happiness. She has been popular among a wide circle of friends and was the recipient of very many gifts. After the wedding there will be a wedding tour in the south.

N. Y. Health Commissioner Asserts They Cause Twice as Much Loss of Time as Tuberculosis.

Those who happened to be listening in the other night when one of the radio health talks, inaugurated by New York State Health Commissioner Hiram M. Biggs, was being delivered heard some unusual facts about common colds. H. W. Hill, Director of the Institute of Public Health of London, said that there were 100,000,000 common colds in the United States in a year, to estimate them conservatively. Of these, 50,000,000 were contracted directly from one person to another. That is, the common cold is infectious.

"Listen," said he: "Do you think tuberculosis is a serious disease, that it causes loss of time, loss of wages, financial distress and poverty? Sure enough—and all that comes on a relatively few people—those who suffer from tuberculosis. But cold in one year cause double the loss of time that tuberculosis does! True, the loss is distributed over the whole population and to one person notices any great effect on himself. Nevertheless, in the one item of loss of time (not of course in suffering, disease, and death) infectious diseases—tuberculosis—in fact colds do just twice as much damage in this item."

"What spreads colds? Just the same things exactly that spread other infectious diseases—the transfer from the patient to others of the discharges of his nose and mouth. Colds are spread, also again like other infectious diseases, by hands, and really more by the hands than in any other way. 'Oh, ridiculous. Catching cold through your hands.' Yes, that is the way most infectious diseases—90 per cent, for a guess—are caught, according to the very best of our leading public health authorities all over the world—90 per cent. of infectious diseases—and this includes colds.

"As long as we have colds, our mouths and our hands are dangerous to those we share them with. Those who have colds must keep away entirely from people they don't wish should catch cold from them—or wear a mask. Those who have no colds run and don't wish to catch cold should keep away from people that have colds already—from their sneezes and coughs, from their conventional mouthspray, from their hands.

"But this is nonsense—you catch colds from drafts, from chills and so on." Not if the cold germs are absent. Try this the next time you are in a draft and feel a cold coming on, as people say. Warm up the part of your body that is chilled—the top of your head, perhaps, especially if you are bald—your back, or wherever it is the draft chilled you. Nine times out of ten, if you warm up the chilled area—by friction of the hand, by a hot water bottle, by 'toasting it before the fire' in the good old way, your 'cold' will disappear. But was it the draft or the cold germs that chilled you? In the meantime you encounter some one with an infectious cold. Then their germs, coming into your system already chilled will flourish and grow—just as they would even if you hadn't been chilled first, but perhaps more vigorously.

Colds are not produced by cold exposure.

THE OTHER SIDE

Many men are inclined to believe that the Great War has upset everything; that men and women are frivolous; that there has been a decided turn for the worse.

But if you look in at the New York Public Library day or night you will be likely to find a thousand men and women delving in the books and the files that interest most are those of serious character.

Great in Washington Square the great structure of the Night School of the New York University has every room alight for long hours every night. Booksellers report an extraordinary demand for volumes on economic subjects.

These are but a few instances. Others might be given.

The Night Life of New York does not typify the Great City. It is only a phase and many of those who make up its multitude are visitors from the length and breadth of the land escorted and entertained by the men from whom they are buying goods and who will see in good time that their broad hospitality is included in the bill.—Richard Spillane, in Forbes Magazine (N.Y.).

TRAGEDY OF TOO GREAT SUCCESS

(New York Tribune.)

Wallace Reid was a better actor than most motion picture stars. Either from his own choice or because he was intelligently directed, the plays he appeared in were clean and suited to the times. He was blessed with good looks, a fine physique and a sense of humor. These together with his talent enabled him to earn thousands of dollars a week. And that cost him his life.

Prosperity is never fool proof. In recent years it has been allowed upon the fate of Reid and that of other young men and women because of the power of the film to broadcast reputation. Few of them are obliged to undergo the severe training necessary to succeed upon the speaking stage—a training which involves sacrifice and makes for mental discipline.

New York, Jan. 25.—If its costs two cents to mail a letter to a next door neighbor in New York City, how much does it cost to send the letter 8,500 miles from Berlin to New York? The answer, one-fourth of a cent, is given by a New York business house, which has taken advantage of the depreciation of German currency.

New Organization to Promote Development of the Port of St. John.

A new club has been formed, the object of which is to promote the development of the port of St. John as a port and to promote its development. The organization is to be known as the Canadian Transportation Club and the meeting last evening was held in the Board of Trade rooms.

There were representatives present from most of the shipping offices, from two express companies and from the Canadian National Railway, while reports strongly in favor of the organization of the club were received from the Canadian Pacific Railway and from the other steamship men not present.

HE SEES NO CAUSE WHO'D AID BOYS FOR PESSIMISM WHO "GO WRONG"

People Still Respond to Call of Public Duty—A Sane Philosopher.

(David A. Curtis in New York Tribune.) Now and again a doleful cry is heard in the market place, raised by some gloomy soul who foresees disaster to the community, even to the extent of the true failure of the system of government devised by the systemists who founded our Republic.

We read and hear impassioned pleas for drastic action to prevent the summation of awful threats. We are surrounded by peril, seen and unseen, which will, if not speedily averted, result in ruin, inevitable and complete.

Horde of barbarians; bloodthirsty Bolsheviks; sublimely deluged; ignorant peasants; belittled seaholers from all quarters of the world; empires of hostile governments; remorseless competitors of our native laborers; all these, and countless others, bent on destruction by this means and that, are pouring into the country at such a rate that they will eventually crowd us out of existence.

We are suffering from the conditions of overcivilization and from our lack of the development that is only to be attained by the experience of centuries. We are hopelessly crude in our appetites and must be restrained by strict sumptuary legislation. We are inordinately sophisticated and must return to the simple life to find salvation.

We have become overcivilized in behalf of the downright geniuses of ill-governed countries and are neglecting our own affairs in Quixotic attempts to regulate the affairs of the universe, and we are so hopelessly self-centered that we do not concern ourselves with the problems of any who live outside our own home town.

The worst of it is that all these things are true. They have, I venture to say, been in every respect and to some extent true of every nation that ever advanced far on the road of civilization. It is stated that the petition for probate states that the estate is valued at $400,000 and upwards. A statement issued by the Wanamaker counsel said this "is simply a nominal figure for the purpose of the preliminary fees for the register of wills."

The text of the will was not made public but a statement summarizing the contents of the will was made. It stated that substantial provisions were made for Mrs. Wanamaker, her children and her grandchildren. It was also stated that "Mr. Wanamaker several years ago disposed of a large part of his estate by gift to his beneficiaries.

Large Trusts Created. Large trusts were created for the benefit of Mrs. Wanamaker, her children and her grandchildren. It was also stated that "Mr. Wanamaker several years ago disposed of a large part of his estate by gift to his beneficiaries.

Other bequests included: To his surviving sister, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Fry, $50,000; to the wife and children of his deceased brother, F. Marion Wanamaker, in trust, $60,000; to his nephew and niece, children of his deceased sister, Mrs. May W. Fales, $25,000 each; to each of his grandchildren $10,000.

The will is dated May 14, 1914, and has an executorial date of Jan. 17, 1918. The executors and trustees are Rodman Wanamaker and William L. Nevin, an officer in John Wanamaker, Philadelphia.

TAKING COURSE IN PULP BUSINESS. Montreal, Jan. 25.—A total of 170 students have already enrolled for a pulp and paper correspondence course initiated last June by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, according to a report to the annual meeting of the association here yesterday. It was also said that university men were being employed in mills, working from the ground up.

GRAIN FROM PORTLAND. Portland, Me., Jan. 25.—The Anchor-Dorland liner Cabotia sailed yesterday for Glasgow with 44,000 bushels of grain and a large general cargo. The Seattle Spirit sailed for Rotterdam and Hamburg with 106,000 bushels of rye.

Many Russians Returned. Twenty thousand Russians returned to their native land from Canada and the United States during the past two years and many more are expected during the next two years, according to an announcement by the Soviet Government, reported by the Canadian Press in Montreal by a Russian agent of the company. Most of the Russians took with them a good supply of working tools, in addition to money.

It is estimated that prohibition in the U. S. has increased the demand for manufacturers 30 per cent. Then it votes again, it cannot be de-ned that many fall in the performance of civic duties and, as one critic has said, leave their neighbors to starve while they are busy sweeping up their doorsteps.

But to accuse the people generally of the sins of individuals is to even the people have accomplished. Even the government itself blunders badly and often, but it has a long life ahead.

Loos Pro Champion.

Los Angeles, Jan. 25—Eddie Loos, Chicago and Los Angeles professional, won the open golf championship of Southern California yesterday.

SKATING.

Wins Championship. Springfield, Mass., Jan. 25—Walter A. Thorne, of the B. A. A., New England, won the open skating championship of the state yesterday in the Central Massachusetts open championship.

What They Think of Jewraw. The skating season thus far can just about be summed up in the performances of Charles Jewraw of Lake Placid. If any doubt about his ability existed prior to the Gold Cup races at Plattsburgh last week it was dispelled by his showing in that meet. In the three-day tournament at Plattsburgh Jewraw tied Maurice Wood's world record of 19 seconds for the 220-yard dash, won that event, won the 440, the three-quarter mile, the mile, and then finished second in the half and three-mile races. Truly a wonderful performance for three days of competition.

Jewraw not only won the Plattsburgh meet, but he led his nearest rival, Richard Donovan of Johnson City, by 160 points to 80. As a result of the meeting and the one at Johnson City which preceded it, Jewraw has now scored 800 points toward winning the Gold Cup which goes to the Adirondack champion, and Donovan is second with 120 points in the total score.

The final meet will be skated at Lake Placid beginning Feb. 8 and only a miracle will prevent Jewraw's winning the title. Nor is the Gold Cup the only competition in which Jewraw has a commanding lead in points. In the Maxwell "800 point" cup, which will also be skated for the Lake Placid meet, Jewraw has 160 points against 150 for Joe Moore of New York and 140 for William Silver of Chicago.

The Maxwell Cup, a three-foot silver trophy presented by Harry Maxwell of New York, will be won outright by the first skater scoring 300 points in the major skating meets held annually at Lake Placid.

If Jewraw can continue the fast pace he set at Johnson City and Plattsburgh and take both the Maxwell Cup and the Adirondack championship, which will make the meet a banner one indeed for him.

SHOULD LICENSE BALL PLAYERS

Ban Johnson, President of the American League, is in Favor of Such a Bill.

Boston, Jan. 25—President Ban Johnson of the American League is in favor of licensing ball players.

As a condition to being licensed, each player should be required to pass a thorough examination, he thinks. Licenses would be revocable for misconduct on the field or off.

The league leader's opinion was expressed in a letter received today by Joseph A. Collier of this city, who has introduced a bill in the Legislature providing for the licensing of professional baseball players in this State.

President Johnson's letter in part follows: "To license a ball player is unique. It is my thought that each individual should pass a thorough examination before he is granted a license. It occurred to me a board could be created, for this purpose and the funds for its maintenance could be secured by an assessment against all Sunday games where admissions are charged throughout Massachusetts.

"The conduct and habit of a professional player would be of necessity be of a high order, as he serves as an example to the young men of our country. As you can well understand, a player should conform to all rules so imperative in the making of a perfect athlete. He should abstain absolutely from the use of intoxicating liquors, and his deportment on and off the field should be of high order.

"In failing to comply with the requirements prescribed, the license should be revoked. By this course of procedure we would insure to professional ball a better class of men. "I would be glad to co-operate with you at any time in the furtherance of your legislation."

Mr. Collier's bill provides that all persons playing baseball where an admission fee is charged, or a collection taken up, must be licensed by a State commission. Violations would be punished by sentence of 30 days in jail. Provision is made for temporary licenses good for three days, issuable by chiefs of police.

Any attempt to play without a license would be punished by a sentence of one to twenty years. Any betting or pools on baseball games would be punished by a sentence of from one to twenty years.

Sunday baseball would be permitted on condition that 25 per cent. of the proceeds go to churches.

President Johnson said he would have the money devoted to charity instead of to churches, and said that any effort to strike at the gambling element in baseball had his full support.

Boston, Jan. 25.—Home as the Hollywood of Europe, cluttered with film outfits, was the picture of the Eternal City presented by Signora Olivia Rossetti Agresti in an address to the New England branch of the Farm and Garden Association. Everywhere one turns in Rome, the said there are to be seen re-enactments of scenes from the fall of the Roman Empire; everywhere are places devoted to the production of films.

The cinema and its people have become a dominant note in the Roman capital, she declared.

VALENTINO'S PLEA GRANTED

Film Star's Bonds to Famous Players are Loosened and He Can Now Sing at $6,000 a Week and Dance at $5,000. But He Mustn't Act.

(New York Tribune.)

The sorrow of Rodolph Valentino was somewhat assuaged yesterday when the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court modified for his benefit an injunction obtained sometime ago by the Famous-Players-Lasky Corporation, under the provisions of which the screen star was permitted to eat, sleep and breathe according to his own ideas, but very little else.

It was a harrowing tale that the motion picture idol told. There are many things he could do with pre- to the Valentino bank account, but under the original injunction he was barred from all activities based upon his personality in public.

Forbidden Nearly Everything.

Not only was he not permitted to appear in motion pictures outside the Famous Players lot, but he was forbidden also to dance, act, pose, write or do anything else. In the legal terminology he could not "render any service for himself or on his own account" or "pursue any business of any kind whatsoever."

It was a pitiful plight for a young husband to be in. While photographers and newspaper syndicates bombarded him with questions, he was permitted to read, write, and to receive visitors, but he was barred from all other activities.

TWO GOOD GAMES IN CITY LEAGUE

St. George's Win 6-0 from the Veterans, and Law School Trims Trojans, 6-3.

Two games were played in the City Hockey League last evening, the first between the St. George team and the G.W.V.A. and the second between the Law School team and the Trojans. The first game resulted in a 6 to 0 victory for the St. George team, while in the latter Law School won out 6 to 3 after twenty minutes overtime play. The St. George team outclassed their opponents and had little difficulty winning. In the second game the Trojans seemed to be having it all their own way until LeBlanc entered the fray and his great playing turned the tide soon victory to defeat.

The following players participated: St. George—Harris, Taft, McAvity, Doyle, Short, Monteith, Skinner, Hill, Merrill and Rathburn.

G. W. V. A.—Lahay, E. J. Mooney, MacKenzie, Warren, Winslow, Mountain Lavioie and McKinnon.

Law School—Nicholson, Knowlton, McGuire, Jonah, McLatchey, Fitzgerald, Bennett and LeBlanc.

Trojans—MacGowan, Speedy, Brewster, Howard, Rowley, Cromwell, A. MacGowan, Cross, Hevevor and Taylor.

OLD VENTILATING THEORY WRONG?

New York State Commission Reports on Findings of the Last Five Years.

(New York Times.)

After nearly five years of thorough study of the whole problem of ventilation from the scientific and practical points of view, the final report of a body of six eminent biologists, physiologists, public health and ventilation experts and psychologists, appointed by the Governor of New York in 1918, establishes for the first time the scientific basis of ventilation practice. The conclusions reached by this commission tend to upset the orthodox notions of the proper standards of ventilation for health and efficiency and the best mechanical means of meeting them.

The popular ideas on fresh air, as well as the elaborate science of ventilation engineering, have grown up largely on the basis of tradition and hearsay. The basic facts of the effect of atmospheric conditions on health and efficiency have, up to the present years, never been put to a thorough test.

By its exhaustive experiments on the relation between various conditions of temperature, humidity, freshness and movement of the air on physiological and psychological functions, as well as its study of the operation of various types of ventilation systems in use in schools and public buildings, the commission believes it has laid the foundation for the new science of ventilation that has recently been growing up. Public health agencies, social workers, industrial executives and the man in the street have by their attention forcefully called to the importance of determining, on a scientific basis, the best standards of ventilation to be aimed at in living and working conditions.

Experimented With Individuals.

The commission subjected scores of individuals to various atmospheric conditions in a specially constructed experimental chamber for varying periods of time, and on the basis of its findings with regard to the effects of these conditions on health and efficiency examined the working of the various types of ventilating systems in use in schools. It found that in many respects the whole of our ventilation theory and practice had hitherto been wrongly conceived.

The chemical composition of the atmosphere — its freshness and carbon dioxide content — which had always been regarded as the fundamental basis of ventilation standards, was found to be of secondary importance and to have little effect on health and efficiency, except in relation to appetite for food and to capacity for physical work. The injurious effects of closed and stuffy rooms, which had been ascribed to the foulness of the air, were in reality due to another factor altogether — the high temperatures and humidities which usually resulted where many persons were confined in small, unventilated quarters. Such high temperatures — over sixty-eight degrees generally — were found to have a detrimental influence on health and working powers, not only increasing the pulse, respiration and blood pressure and lowering the tone of the circulatory system, but exposing the individual to respiratory diseases on passing into lower temperatures.

The chief importance of humidity in atmospheric conditions was found to be in the fact that high humidities emphasized the evil effects of high temperatures. Dryness of the air, of itself, was not found to have any influence in producing nervousness and irritability, such as had been ascribed to it.

Window Ventilation Inadequate.

The various mechanical means of ventilation in use in public buildings were found to differ widely in their effectiveness. Ventilation by means of windows alone did not prove satisfactory, but a modified system of window ventilation with special devices for tempering and deflecting the air and with proper means for allowing the foul air to escape through a gravity exhaust duct, was found to be the most satisfactory of all methods of ventilating a schoolroom. It provided a direct variety of air conditions in the room, and tended toward a lower temperature, both of which were conducive not only to greater comfort, but reduced the spread of respiratory disease in crowded rooms.

Fan ventilation was found, tended toward greater uniformity of air conditions, and, while giving a more lavish range of air, appeared to favor over-heating and the spread of colds and other infections. Recirculation of air, in some mechanical ventilating systems, was found undesirable. It was found desirable to provide means for avoiding drafts from the windows, and to regulate the temperature in each room individually. Drafts had been

Revival of The Sleighting Party

(Toronto Globe)

There is a revival of sleighting parties. The late snowfall, the heaviest in years, has brought many groups into night enjoyments, piercing the winter with shrieks, their laughter and their horn-blowing. It is possible that some young folks will, in this way, get their first ride behind horses at least in years, so universal has motor travel become. Thus the horse has another come-back, and under the happiest of auspices.

There is something epic about the sleighting party. It is an adventure of youth, or of those with youthful spirits in life that are still left. There are men and women who went to sleighting parties in 1900, and who still yearn for them. There are people to whose houses the party will go when the ride is completed; they have still the spirit that goes with such fun.

There is a sort of standard equipment, as a railroad man would say. It is an "old clothes" party, as a rule, for sweaters and heavy woollens, are necessary in the clear, cold night air. Good voices are necessary, too, for they are always in demand. It is one road from start to finish. Men with lots of noise and lots of talk are as necessary here as conversationalists are sought for dinner parties. There is a perpetual fund of good nature, and no one must resent snowballing or other horse-play within reason.

The pedestrians who are encountered seem to belong to another world, for they are greeted uproariously, as if they might have just arrived from Mars of Siberia. The whole spirit of approach is exaggerated; it is a state of buoyancy and intoxication of spirits that scarcely ever exists at any other time.

And when the drive has continued for a couple of hours, through common place streets at other times without the least interest, but now glorified by the high adventure, there is a rendezvous at a private but hospitable house, the snow is brushed off, the heavy clothing laid aside, copious refreshments swallowed amid more fun, and then a "little dance" and home.

NEW BISON HERD FOUND.

They Live Unmolested in the Northern Part of Canada.

(New York Times.)

A new buffalo herd has been discovered ranging free and unmolested in the Canadian North, which, added to the herd of tame buffalo located in Wainwright Park, will help this country in its efforts to preserve the bison from extermination on the American Continent. Arrangements have been made to provide a sanctuary for these wild beasts, in order that they may be protected from wanton destruction.

According to the trapper who first brought the report of this herd to the government authorities, the animals appear to be increasing in numbers. They live in a territory which is thick with vegetation. In the summer they range in the hills, and toward fall wander to the lowlands, where they live on the plentiful red top hay in the sloughs, which provided them with food during the winter months.

They are not molested by wild animals. Wolves have not been seen in the vicinity of the herd, and the care with which a few of the older hunters mount guard over the rest of the herd ensures safety from attack. The animals are accustomed to run in small herds, but they have been seen in groups of thirty to forty and once in a bunch of fifty.

There is plenty of land for the herds to roam over. There are no settlements within miles, and occasionally trappers and stray Indians visit the territory during their round of the traps. The animals show little signs of nervousness in the presence of human beings, and it is possible to get within 100 to 150 yards of them before they take flight. The buffalo are in splendid physical condition and a snap judgment of one of the trappers places the weight of many of the animals at well over 2,000 pounds.

"The Canadian Government has met with gratifying success in their endeavor to preserve the buffalo from extermination," says a Canadian Pacific bulletin. "The original herd of tame buffaloes numbered 700, purchased in Colorado about twelve years ago. Today it numbers around 6,000. These are enclosed in a park at Wainwright, Alberta, approximately 100,000 acres in extent. Instead of being depressed by coming into contact with civilization and gradually dying off, as a great many people expected, these animals took to their surroundings immediately, resulting in such rapid increases in numbers that the government has considered it necessary to put into operation a plan for the killing off of a certain number each year in order to keep up the herd. The undertaking will involve much expense and labor, but will make Canada the proud possessor of the two greatest known herds of American bison in existence."

a speed of eighteen knots or more, whole would differ from present practice in that if by reason of a collision some few hundred feet of the side were torn away, the cargo contained in this they should be practically double buoyancy on account of the fact that the collision would cause a breach in one section of only one half of the lower structure, the "torpedo" which these torpedoes would hold the cargo being subdivided by bulkheads and also separated, by reason of openings of access being at the top, from the superstructure and from the parallel torpedo hold. If a thousand-foot ship were loaded with coal, and a breach made by some collision, a writer in the "Eclair," of Cherbourg, suggests, the damaged vessel would take up an angle of only 16 degrees. If the hold were right at the bottom of the hull, the coal would fall out and the ship would more or less regain its normal stability. If the other torpedo were broken into simultaneously over the same length and at the same depth the ship's stability or draft would be for practical purpose as they were before the accident.

The Laparmentier hull would also have transversal bulkheads, but also Chicago was first settled in 1793.
