BOOM COMPANY TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Will Spend Considerable Money at Property at Athol.

INCREASED FACILITIES

The Restigouche Boom Company have plans for improvements to their boom property to provide increased facilities for handling the estimated increase in the lumber cut.

For years the cut on the Restigouche River and tributaries has increased until the present facilities are taxed to the utmost to handle the work of sorting and raiting.

Besides improvements to the boom proper the accommodations for the hands will be increased and made more comfortable. A large and modern cook house will be erected and many other improvements made.

The cut this season, it is estimated, will exceed that of any previous year and consequently more men will be required at the boom to handle it.

Manager D. Sheals is busy engaged looking after the details in reference to this work.

TWENTY MINERS WERE RESCUED

After Seven Days in Mine Were Brought to Surface in Very Weak Condition.

HOPE REVIVED.

CHERRY, Ill. Nov. 21.—The hope aroused yesterday by the rescue alive of twenty entombed men from the St. Paul mine just one week after the fatal fire started was dashed today, or at least deferred in fulfillment for not one more of the 310 men caught by the fire was found today.

The day was spent in removing the bodies of the men and in burying the dead. The rescue of the twenty men last Saturday night, 198 are still missing, while 92 bodies have been found and twenty men have been rescued alive.

The fire that broke out afresh last night was smothered today to such an extent that explorers were able to work in the mine, but black damp in one of the galleries defied the men as did the cave-ins and other debris.

It was not even discovered whether there are more men alive in the mine galleries, although the explorers, urged by the extreme condition in which the twenty men saved yesterday were found, worked with almost superhuman strength. The finding of 37 bodies and their removal after the morbid crowd about the shaft had thinned, were the only visible results of today's endeavors. Squads relieving each other at frequent intervals worked frantically all night to remove the obstacles obstructing the east workings, for here if anywhere, it is believed survivors may await deliverance.

Early tonight rain began falling for the first time since the fire began, there was no one save newspaper men lingering about the mine.

All day long the tolling of church bells resounded in Cherry and Spring alleys. Eighteen bodies were buried in a field south of Cherry. At the mine a dozen victims in coffins await removal, while a score of coffins were piled nearby for others that might be brought to the surface.

Services for the dead were held outside the churches, into which Coroner Malm deemed it inadvisable that the bodies should be taken.

From the yet unfilled graves in which the Roman Catholic dead are placed, the priests hurried to the mine entrance to administer the last rites to any dying man who might be brought up. It was declared that the assertion made yesterday that 150 live men had been discovered, was not well founded. Each hour that passes now is looked on as making the chances of escape pitifully less.

The rescuers worked with this knowledge. The fire in the second level was forced back so that early in the afternoon the workers could pass it. But the black damp in the east gallery proved insurmountable for a long time. Through this gallery the bodies of 37 men could be seen. Preparations for taking these bodies out were rushed when the morbid throng about the mine had lessened and the black damp had been overcome.

A crowd numbering thousands apparently careless of grief, pressed against the rope barricade around the mine entrance until dark.

In the mine levels the work of the explorers went on unceasingly. Relays of eager miners succeeded those whose strength failed. Those who staggered from the pit mouth were surrounded instantly and a babel of questions hurled at them.

"We can see the bodies. There are piles of them. They're dead, all dead," was the reply of the first and those who followed gave no more cheering answers.

"But they could be living back there, they could be alive, couldn't they?" asked an anxious relative of a miner still entombed.

"No chance," began the miner and then paused, as he saw the trembling hands of the old man who had pressed to his side.

"Why sure," he added, hastily. "Didn't the others come out?"

Among those who still hope for the rescue of living miners is Richard Newsam, president of the Illinois Mine Inspectors. "Scotchmen are the most resourceful miners in the world, and there are twenty-two of them down there. I can see no reason why they should not have found some refuge just as did those who were found alive yesterday. Eight days have passed, however, and we must hurry if they are not to perish of starvation and thirst. Everything possible to hurry on the work of exploration is doing."

It is reported tonight that labor leaders who have been making a quiet investigation of the disaster, have called a meeting for tomorrow.

Letters written by their underground prison by some of the miners rescued alive yesterday, came to light in various quarters today. One of the most touching was written by John Lorimer to his wife. Lorimer is a young Scotchman. He came to America ten years ago for Ayrshire.

He just laughs and says he will go back to the mine when he is well, "said his wife today, although I'd be willing after what has happened to support him myself, if he would only get safer work."

A graphic description of the rescue of the men from the viewpoint of the rescuers was told today by Father James Heiney of St. Mary's Church, Mendota, Ill. Father Heiney, wearing a miner's cap and flaming torch, was down in the mine with the rescue party.

He said: "Just about 2 o'clock when we were as near as I can tell, 300 feet into the gallery, from the hoisting shaft our party slacked up because of a pile of debris in the way. Suddenly David Powell said: 'Listen boys! I thought I heard something! We were all silent. A faint pounding as if coming through the thickness of a wall, began. 'My God,' said Powell, 'I believe somebody is alive in there.' Some of the other men replied: 'No, that is impossible. Nobody in the world thinks for a minute the men could live down here for seven days.'

"Well, no," I said, "let's listen again." We all listened for what seemed to be a full minute. Sure enough there came the same (Continued on page 2)

MRS. HURLEY DIES SUDDENLY IN N. Y.

Supt. of Elizabeth Home Was Daughter of Late Thos. Spratt, of Chatham.

A USEFUL LIFE.

(New York Herald)

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Hurley, who for fifty-four years had been actively associated with organized charitable work in this city in the Children's Aid Society, and who numbered among her friends thousands of wealthy and poor alike, died of heart disease Monday in the Elizabeth Home for Girls, at No. 307 East Twelfth street, of which she was superintendent. In excellent health until a week ago, her death came as a shock to hundreds. She was more than 80 years old.

Mrs. Hurley's work among the poor for more than half a century was devoted chiefly to the training and care of young girls, and it was said yesterday by officers in the Children's Aid Society that no fewer than 12,000 young women had been rescued or saved from a wrong life and turned in the right direction by her during the many years of her service.

As a young woman with her husband a physician, she did private charitable work among the "squats" along the East River near Fortieth street, a section called in those days "Dutch Hill." Doing work of a general character at first, she later specialized in the training of children, and when her husband, in 1861, left her to go to the war as an army physician, never to return, she went into the service of the Children's Aid Society as a teacher in the East River Industrial School.

There she remained until 1870, when she was placed in charge of the Girls' Lodging House in St. Mark's place. When in 1892 the school headquarters were moved to No. 307 East Twelfth street and named the Elizabeth school for girls in the memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Davenport Wheeler, she became superintendent.

Mrs. Hurley was the daughter of the late Thos. Spratt of Chatham, N. B., and had many admirers in New Brunswick, especially in Newcastle, where she spent a few weeks each year during the summer season. She visited Newcastle as usual last summer.

AT THE SPEAKER'S.

The spacious rooms of the speaker of the house of commons were ablaze with light and life last evening, when the charming wife of the speaker, Madame Marcell, entertained a number of young people at a very enjoyable little dance in honor of a young English visitor, Miss Gilzean Reid, daughter of Sir Hugh Gilzean Reid of London, Eng.

The hostess' dark beauty was set off to great advantage by a lovely gown of rose colored sequins over rose satin. Miss Reid was gowned in scarlet silk with a band of the same color in her hair. Dancing was carried on in the spacious new dining room where later small tables were brought in for supper. Among those present were Miss Tarte and Miss Desmarais of Montreal, who are visiting Madame Marcell. Miss Clare Oliver, Miss May Bickerdike, Montreal; Miss Malcolm of Campbellton, N. B.; Miss Corinne Parent, Miss Emard, Montreal; the Misses Sauvalle, Miss Champagne, Miss Farwell of Sherbrook, who was greatly admired; Mrs. and Miss Choquette, Quebec; Miss Evelyn Boileau, Messrs. Hon. Mackenzie King, W. Pugsley, Arthur Eremont, M. P., Al Jan Keefe, Dr. Gardiner, Dr. J. McDougall, George Parent, M. P., A. de Martigny, Siror Cote, W. Fenton, C. Dion, Douglas McLennan, W. Norris, Le Blanc, Montreal, Belanger, Alec Anderson, Ottawa Citizen, Nov. 17.

HERBERT READ DISAPPEARS

Was Last Seen On His Way to Depot To Catch Maritime Express For Bathurst.

ALL TRACE LOST.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Endeavors are being made here to trace Herbert Read, of Bathurst, N. B., who disappeared while going through the Montreal streets to catch Maritime express on November 3rd, and last evening the missing man's father, H. C. Read of Sackville, arrived in Montreal to aid in the search, but up to the present nothing has been ascertained.

The last seen of young Read was when he said good-bye to friends at 11:30 a. m. Nov. 3rd, and left to catch the noon train which he never boarded, it is thought. Foul play or an accident is feared. He had $10.00 cash on him.

SACKVILLE, Nov. 21.—The Tribune today publishes a telegram from H. C. Read, father of Herbert W. Read, the Sackville young man who disappeared in Montreal on November 3rd, as follows:

"No trace whatever. Police scout found play theory. Had $250 and return ticket for Bathurst on him. Ticket not yet turned in. Detectives working."

GLENCOE

GLENCOE, Nov. 19.—As we feel that a short account of the doings in this quiet little place may be of interest to outside friends, we are sending a few notes, which we hope will be found worthy of a place in the columns of your paper.

Mr. John Cooling, a popular resident of Glencoe, has begun lumbering on Christopher Brook. He already has several men in his employ. Good luck, John.

Misses Georgia and Lily Murray of Glen Levit and Miss Winton, teacher here, were the guests of Misses Lizzie and Mamie Murray on Tuesday evening.

Miss Grace Firth, one of the popular young ladies of this place, spent this week in town, the guest of her sister, Mrs. P. Gerrard. She will return home this evening.

Miss Myrtle Crawford was the guest of Mrs. Harvey Gillis of Tide Head on Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Firth and Mrs. Magnus Firth spent Saturday in town.

Miss Mamie Firth, teacher in Glen Levit, returned to her home this evening to spend Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Laura M. Winton, teacher in Glencoe, spent Saturday and Sunday last in Tide Head, the guest of Miss Ethel Mair.

Our enterprising fellow citizen Mr. Alex. Thompson is engaged in erecting a new, commodious residence.

Messrs. Wesley Devereaux and E. Kerr of Campbellton, who are employed by Mr. Thos. Malcolm to inspect telephone wires on the I. N. R. spent Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Wm. Firth.

Misses Annie E. Robinson, teacher in Dawsonville, and Ethel O. Mair of Tide Head, are spending Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Firth.

The solitude of this part of the country has been greatly lessened, since the I. N. R. placed us within easy reaching distance of town, and if Mr. Malcolm decides to keep the road open the winter he will confer a boon, not only on the lumbermen, but also on the residents along the line. We might say in conclusion that the people of Glencoe are looking forward to

NEW BRUNSWICK IN THE ESTIMATES

Much Money Voted for Improvements to Wharves And I. C. R.

NORTH SHORE VOTES

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Among the New Brunswick items in the estimates is one of $8,000 to provide a third of the cost of rebuilding the abutment at Marsh bridge, the city and the province to pay the remaining two-thirds. There is an item of $25,000 for the Inter-provincial bridge over the Restigouche railway bridge superstructure. The Province of New Brunswick and Quebec contribute $5,000 each toward the cost of the Matapedia bridge.

Mr. E. N. Lewis, West Huron, will again introduce in parliament the question of the export duty on pulp and pulpwood. The resolution will provide for the imposition of an export duty on pulp and pulpwood with the proviso, however, that if the United States will admit Canadian paper free the export duty of the raw material will not apply.

Among the harbor and river items are the following:

Buctouche—Channel, through beach, inclusive of breakwater repairs, $3,500.

Campbellton—Deep water wharf extension, repairs, etc., $8,000.

Dalhousie harbor—Breakwater, $10,000.

Konichoulangue harbor—To complete work of closing a new gap through the beach and preserving the latter with a breakwater, $1,500.

Lamouque wharf—Improvements, $2,000.

Lorneville—Breakwater—Wharf, $10,000.

Neguac—Extension of wharf, on Richmond Bay, $2,000.

New Mills wharf—$5,000.

Point du Chene—Repairs to and stone slope along base of breakwater, $3,000.

Richibucto Cape—Breakwater wharf, $5,000.

Richibucto wharf—Reconstruction of approach and head block, $2,000.

Richibucto harbor—Breakwater, pier on north and south side, $9,000.

Harbors, rivers and bridges in New Brunswick generally: repairs and improvements, $21,000.

Shipigan Harbor—Improvements and repairs at Shipigan Gulf, $3,500, $3,000.

St. John (Lower Caraquet)—Wharf, to complete, $21,500.

Tracadie harbor—Improvements and repairs, $4,000.

New dredging plant in the Maritime Provinces, $25,000.

Among expenditures on the Intercolonial chargeable to capital account which total $1,175,045, there is a vote of $150,000 for diversion of the line at Chatham, and a branch to Chatham wharf, $150,000.

For general protection of high ways, $10,000.

Improvements at Lepperville, $12,000.

The votes for public buildings New Brunswick, chargeable to capital are:

Bathurst public buildings, repairs and renewals, etc., $1,000.

That British Columbia business firm which is supporting the wife and family of an employee, imprisoned for two years for a short age of $6,000 in his accounts surely deserved a more loyal service than that fellow gave it.

H. B. ANSLOW, EDITOR AND MANAGER

CAMPBELLTON, NEW BRUNSWICK TUESDAY NOVEMBER 23rd 1909

A GROWING TIME

The Maritime Provinces will be the workshop of Canada.

This seems to be the opinion of many noted captains of industry and every day we see in part, the prediction being varied.

St. John has of late been besieged with promoters, who are looking for sites for a sugar refinery, a saw manufacturing plant and other industries, which if erected there will mean much to that city as hundreds of skilled mechanics will be employed in such works.

While it is quite natural that St. John, the metropolis of New Brunswick should be thus favored, it does not become the citizens of Campbellton to rest easy and make no efforts to provide new industries for this town.

For natural facilities and resources Campbellton is well favored. It will soon be a railway terminus of some note, and as a shipping centre is becoming more widely and favorably known each year.

What seems to be required at the present time is publicity. Not the kind of publicity that a certain local paper feels called upon to administer at frequent intervals, but the booming kind. We have the best town—everybody except the town kicker says so—in New Brunswick and why shouldn't we let the world know it.

In the West—that much advertised country—they have various methods of drawing attention to their towns. Several have "Booster Clubs," "20,000 Clubs," and all issue special literature setting forth the many advantages of their respective towns and country. Who has not seen the little booklet "5000 facts about Calgary," or the one setting forth the advantages of Regina. And there are thousands of others all printed neatly, and having a mission to perform.

Why not reorganize the Board of Trade into a 20,000 Club and appoint a permanent secretary, at a respectable salary to look after the business. It could be done, and done with very little expense. It is worthy of a little thought. Who will be the first to move in the matter?

Vinol

For Weak, Run-Down People.

"I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength, and am now feeling unusually well." — HENRY CUNNINGHAM, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N.C.

Vinol contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron. Vinol contains no oil, and is by far the Best Strengthening Tonic obtainable. We return your money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it.

TWENTY MINERS ARE RESCUED

heard before. Then we were too much affected to speak. We could not believe our own senses. Grabbing hold of the picks and axes our men then began to tear down the loose pile of earth and rock. Frequently we stopped to hear whether the poundings were continuing. It took us several minutes to make much headway into the obstruction. It took us into the obstruction. Finally I, who had been in the rear, came forward, and with a shovel relieved one of the men who had become tired out.

It was a weird scene. The lights of our torches in our caps kept bobbing up and down as we labored and filed the place with moving shadows.

'Now let's stop and listen again,' said Powell. Much to our glee the pounding sounds came louder. A few more digs in shovelfuls brought down the dirt from the top and a little black hole appeared before us.

Two or three of us climbed over the dirt and yelled: 'Are any of you alive in there, boys?' 'An answer came back, 'Yes.'

'Before another word could be uttered the men began pulling at the dirt again, and soon a larger hole appeared. We yelled in to them: 'Hold one of our torches.'

'How many of you are alive in there, boys?' 'We will save you in a minute.'

'In faint, heavy voices the men called back: 'Yes, we are alive and you bet we are hungry. Have you got some lunch out there?'

'I crawled as near the hole as I could without interfering with the men.

'God bless you men, we will get you out in a minute and give you all the lunch you can eat. Be patient as you can.'

'I couldn't see anything back in there for the men were in total darkness so I climbed back and prayed that God would make the number we were about to rescue from the living grave as many as possible.

'By that time the hole was wide open and a dozen pair of glistening eyes shining out from black faces appeared in view.

'We kept yelling in to the men to keep up their courage, promising them that the way would soon be clear and the cage in the hoisting shaft was down and ready to carry them to the surface.

One of the men inside answered back: 'Most of us are all right and feeling fine, but there's one poor fellow in here—a Frenchman called Frank—who is almost dead in a few minutes if he doesn't get some fresh air.'

'When the pile of dirt finally tumbled down some of the men were staggered by the inrush of air and the lights from our torches. For during seven days they had been in total darkness.

'With a shout we jumped over and met them, throwing our arms around their necks and almost lifting them from their feet. Their joy was inexpressible. They pounded us on our backs and continued to laugh and cry aloud until the whole place reverberated with the cheering.

'We wanted to carry the men to the hoisting shaft in our arms but they insisted they were strong and well enough to walk out themselves. The only trouble was they were practically blinded by our torchlight. We threw blankets over their heads and started to escort them.

'My first concern was to get after the poor little Frenchman who was reported dying. I found him outstretched on his back breathing his last. Holding a torch over his face, which was black from soot, I said, 'Do you give your soul to God?'

'He answered: 'Yes, I am afraid I will never get up alive.'

'That was true. I administered the last sacraments and in a minute he was dead.'

LUMBERMEN LEAVE WOODS—FOOD SCARCE

Heavy Rains Have Made It Impossible to Get Supplies in.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 20.—About one hundred woodsmen left for the lumber camps in the vicinity of Patten, Me. yesterday, owing to the heavy rains which have been almost continuous throughout the fall season. The Maine woods have got into such a shape that it has been impossible to get provisions to the camps. The men were almost starved at some of the camps, so great was the shortage of provisions. 'All we had to eat of late was beans and buns, and the supply was limited at that,' said one of the men today. 'The rain has made it impossible to get teams with provisions into the woods.' At Patten as high as $40 a month is being offered to men to go into the woods and as soon as cold weather comes conditions as to provisions will be all right again.

Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicinal of recognized worth, and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting what you ask for. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.
