RECRUITING CAMPAIGN FOR N. B. KILTIES

Beacon Fires Lighted and Public Meetings Being Held in Every County in Province

A very large number of people assembled in the court house, Dalhousie, on Monday evening, it being the first meeting held in Restigouche Co. in the interest of the 236th O. S. Battalion, New Brunswick Kilties (Sir Sam's Own). Mayor W. S. Montgomery was chairman of the meeting and the speakers were Hon. Judge McLatchy, Hon. C. H. LaBillois, Max. M. Mowat, Lieut. A. A. Gillis, Lieut. Mowat, Sergeant Sargeant.

The large audience listened attentively to the stirring addresses delivered by the young officers making a splendid impression as they described their experiences at the front.

The dramatic features of the opening were adhered to in the carrying of the flaming torch, the recitation by Miss Jean Jardine, "Light, Light the Fire on Craig-Gowan Height."

Piper Corporal Alex. Stewart rendered several selections during the evening.

One brave recruit signed in the person of Percy Lebans, who has two sons at the front at present.

The meeting, which was a great success in every particular, came to a close by giving three cheers for Col. Guthrie and his officers and by the singing of the national anthem.

At Campbellton much interest was centered upon the Beacon Light on the Sugarloaf. Promptly at 8 o'clock the torch was put to the pile, and the beacon flared brightly against the sky. A large number of citizens motored to Dalhousie to attend the meeting.

The following meetings will be held in this county:—

Thursday, Sept. 28—Balmoral.
Friday, Sept. 29—Campbellton.
Saturday, Sept. 30—Charlo.
Sunday, Oct. 1—New Mills.
Monday, Oct. 2—Nash's Creek.
Tuesday, Oct. 3—Jacques River.
Wednesday, Oct. 4—Flatlands.
Thursday, Oct. 6—Robinsonville.
Saturday, Oct. 7—Kedgwick.
Sunday, Oct. 8—Anderson.
Monday, Oct. 9—Boom House.

It is hoped that these meetings will all be well attended, and that our young men will respond to the call.

The meeting at Dalhousie Junction Tuesday evening was very slimly attended, the young men keeping away, probably through fear of having their delicate feelings hurt.

Fredericton, Sept. 27.—The results of the first two days of the recruiting campaign for the 236th Battalion are about sixty recruits.

Reports received up to noon show that Northumberland and Carleton counties are tied for leadership in providing recruits for the Kilties in this open campaign with eleven each for the first two days.

Restigouche has a reputation to uphold. Many of its young men are of Scotch descent, and this is their regiment. The young ladies should take a more active interest in recruiting. Many a young man would join the battalion at a word from his best girl, but the best girl does not give him the word. Every Scotch lassie should uphold the traditions of her race and scorn to associate with a youth who has not the courage to fight for his country.

CAMPBELLTON MEETING
The most interesting meeting of the Restigouche series will be held in the Empress Theatre Friday evening, Sept. 29th at 8 o'clock. Lt. Col. Guthrie, the hero of Ypres and other battles, who was severely wounded, will speak. Also Dr. A. W. Thornton, of the McGill University staff, will also speak. His address will be illustrated with a number of official pictures of the Canadian boys at the front, and this feature will be very interesting.

Miss Jardine will recite "The Bonfire of Craig-Gowan" and Lt. W. Emery Shaw will sing a number of songs. Let every young man, who has no ties of family or business be present, fully determined to do his duty.

FIRE DAMAGES OLD MOFFAT HOUSE

Alarm Rung in During Progress of Recruiting Meeting at Dalhousie

Dalhousie, N. B., Sept. 27th.—When Hon. Judge McLatchy was just about finishing a very eloquent address at the recruiting meeting on Monday evening in the court house and the Star theatre packed with people, the fire alarm so often heard during recent years was sounded and a rush was made by the people attending the two meetings towards the fire scene. Mayor Montgomery, who was presiding at the recruiting meeting managed to establish order. He was called to the fire which was raging in the old Moffat house now owned by James Eslinger and located on Renfrew street. As usual the fire brigade did good work, and the house was saved after considerable damage was done by fire and water. There is some insurance. Most of the furniture had to be moved from the building. The wind was blowing from the west so there was no danger for the town.

GRADUATES IN CASUALTY LISTS

Two Campbellton Boys of the High School Class of 1912 Now on Roll of Honor

Aubrey McLean, who was killed in action on the 15th inst., and Austin Murray, who was killed in action on June 16th last, were classmates and fellow graduates in the class of 1912 at the Campbellton Grammar School.

Aubrey McLean was Valedictorian and Austin Murray Class Historian of that year.

The other members of their class were:—Dominique Benault, Margie McLennan, Jean Henderson, Irene Murray, Kathleen Dickie, Lilly Wheeler, Muriel Mowat, Hazel Mowat and Florine Nelson.

Both Austin and Aubrey also attended a course in Signalling together and qualified as signallers in the Canadian Militia. Austin afterwards qualified as a Lieutenant in the artillery and Aubrey as a bombardier in the Grenadiers. Both boys crossed the Atlantic in the same boat, the "Metagama", and both fell fighting for the cause of right and justice on the battlefield in Belgium and now they lie side by side in a Canadian Soldiers' cemetery, in that little country, in whose defence our country had embarked in the present terrible war. These boys, with many others, gave up their lives in order that others who cannot or who will not fight for their country might enjoy more freedom at home.

DOMINION LOAN OVER-SUBSCRIBED BY $69,000,000

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—Cash subscriptions to the dominion war loan recorded by the department of finance up to midnight on Saturday totalled $169,000,000. This includes the $50,000,000 subscribed by the chartered banks. When it is considered that only $100,000,000 was called for, some idea of the success of the loan may be gained. "I am confident," said Sir Thomas White, finance minister, today, "that when the subscriptions now in the mails are received the total will reach $180,000,000 and probably more. Nine-fifty per cent. of the subscriptions is Canadian. The number of subscriptions may reach 30,000. The lists closed on Saturday and no further subscriptions can be received."

The question of the amount of allotment to the subscribers cannot be considered until the returns are nearly all received, that is to say, until about the middle or towards the end of next week. It is regarded as probable that the banks will receive no part of their $50,000,000 subscriptions and that the smaller subscriptions will be allotted in full. The cutting down will be done in connection with the larger subscriptions. The banks' subscription of $50,000,000 may be taken later by the government when the present loan of $100,000,000 is exhausted.

Campbellton has again been called upon to sacrifice another of her bright young boys to the God of War. Word was received last Friday that Bomb Signaller James Aubrey McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McLean, had been killed in action on Sept. 15th. The news has cast a gloom over the whole community.

Deceased was a graduate of the Grammar school in the class of 1912. He attended Normal School, and was teaching in Carleton county, and was a very clever boy and a general favorite with all.

Two brothers are serving the King. One with the 132nd and another in a Western battalion.

The heartfelt sympathy of the community will be extended the bereaved family in the loss of so heroic a son and brother.

ELOQUENT SERMON
BY REV. R. J. MILLER

The following is a much abbreviated report of a sermon delivered by Rev. Hugh Miller in St. Andrew's Church last Sunday evening, and which has been published by special request of some of those who heard it, and who thought it should be given to the press for wider public circulation.

THE CHALLENGE OF THE BEACON
"Set up a sign of fire (beacon) in Bach-haccorem; for evil appeareth out of the north, and great destruction." Jeremiah 6:1.

A few years bring many changes, some for good and others for evil. The last two years have been no exception. They have witnessed wonderful progress in certain lines, most particularly in the art of conducting a war. He who is responsible for the war is responsible for the calamity of history, a calamity not yet over and not yet fully realized. The Empire found itself confronted with the greatest task of its career, calling for the fullest and best equipment possible. Much of that equipment had to be created, and, necessarily, the mother of invention, gave a necessary stimulus to the discovery of better ways and means of performing the enforced task.

If there was progress forward, there was also progress backward. Methods and implements of warfare that long since were condemned and relegated to oblivion were revived with success. The hand grenade, so extensively used in the present war, is an ancient weapon in a more perfect form. The steel armor for centuries was an attraction of the museum, a relic of the past, recalling the day when warriors fought at close range, hand to hand, with no power except that invested in their brawny arms and bodies. Today, part at least of that armor is worn in the helmets that protect the head.

YOUNG WOMEN
MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N.Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MARY KURTZWEIG, 523 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

country was its challenge more quickly accepted, nor greater acts of valor performed by those who accepted the challenge. Eager eyes watched the crags, and when they burned, her brawny sons lost no time in joining their clans. The shirker, if such there were in those days, had no peace, and the shame of his cowardice drove him into exile.

Now, when new methods are used in summoning Scotland's sons to war, this ancient custom is to be revived. A new challenge is to issue from flaming tongues that speak across the sky. May Scotland's sons accept that challenge as their fathers accepted theirs when the foundations of their country were being laid wide and deep, and defended against the enemy. "They labored and we have entered into their labors."

Many have already obeyed the call and nobly did their part, many of them making the greatest sacrifice possible. A man in Old Scotland has given all his young men, and many a home in all the lands where the Scotch have found a place, has given one or more of his sons to defend a proud and mighty foe, to uphold the best traditions of the race. A Scot's hand will strike the match that will light the beacon, a Scot's hand will bear the "Fiery Cross" from center to center, the Scotch blood will leap at its sight; and at the shriek of the pipes, Scotch patriotism will heed the call and the "grit" of the Scot will see them through.

The call is strong with the challenge of a worthy cause—as worthy as when a few Spartans, who had sworn not to retreat, surrounded, met an overwhelming foe in the pass of Thermopylae; as when the English of every race and creed united to defeat the Armada, as when Scotchmen under James, the fourth, stood at Flodden and went down to defeat, or under Bruce at Bannockburn won a glorious victory. The call is now on behalf of a cause as worthy as any of these, or any other that marks the annals of history irrespective of age and country. Every blow struck in the present war is aimed at a foe as tyrannical, as blood-thirsty and as merciless as ever desecrated the earth; and more so, because no army so disregarded international law, so lightly esteemed honour, so out-raged virtue; and consequently, no people whether savage, pagan or civilized, so alienated the respect and sympathy of the world as did "kultured" Germany.

It is a call to a victorious cause. Its end will be victory and not defeat, a victory that will mean the safe-guarding and perpetuation of all that makes life worth living. There was a time when we feared that it would be otherwise, when there was no advance but retreat and when the enemy appeared to be able to attain his end. There were nights as black as death, and days as dark as the night when the foe "hacked" his way through Belgium, swept the northern France and drove back the "contemptible little army of England." They came the change. The mighty army on which Germany pinned her hope wavered, was driven back, never again to advance at such a threatening pace. Few in numbers, but strong in courage and strong in Right, the English and the French threw themselves against the enemy, stopped his march and drove him back. We believe that man alone is not to be credited with the victories then won. Another Power was allied with him, and to say so is to enhance the valor of his deeds. Jehovah had bare His mighty arm at the Marne, at Mons, at Ypres and His side won. That arm is not withdrawn. In it our faith and our faith will not be in vain. Those who then and since have fallen; those who then fought and those who are now fighting are calling to all who have no sufficient reason to offer to come to their assistance. They call through the beacon, their courage and sacrifice add fuel to its

"RED INDIANS IN KHAKI" IS GERMAN NAME FOR CANADIANS

They Stalked Bavarians Silently With Cold Ferocity

The Morning Post correspondent at British headquarters, writes that the taking of Courcellette by the Canadians last Friday was an unexpected blow against the enemy. The Canadians were told to take the sugar factory there and the German third line trenches, and to sit down at the edge of the village. They did this so speedily that the Bavarians were driven into Courcellette and had no time to re-organize. Then the Canadians, confident of their superiority, sought leave to advance again, and captured the village with little trouble. The Canadians, the Post correspondent says, stalked the Bavarians silently, and with cold ferocity.

There is the Morning Post's correspondent believes no doubt about the Germans' dislike for the Canadian type of foe. The Teutons acutely dislike being stalked "by red Indians in khaki."

fire and speed the "Fiery Cross." "Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, for the good or evil side."

The greatest and strongest appeals are those which touch our religious consciousness and command the exercise of our religious convictions. To do this the appeal must have a religious content, and the person to whom it is made must exercise his convictions. Our souls must be stirred by a spiritual impulse if we are to properly rate the task before and our duty be done.

Civilization, freedom, liberty, rights are empty, meaningless words if they do not possess a religious content and are not founded upon the convictions of our souls, which convictions are the causes and explanations of the religious consciousness and life of the individual and the nation. Lesser things we might permit the enemy to seize with consenting hands but not these. The nation's honour, as invested in solemn treaties, by all means, had to be defended by the nation. To do otherwise was to forfeit its honour and renounce its claim to be a nation that protected the weak and valued righteousness. A man is never so great as when his soul is stirred and he is moved by religious motives. If this be a Holy War, and who can dispute it, then it is our duty to regard it as a religious duty to do our part. We must put more of our religious life into it. When Admiral Bessy sent word home from his place in the North Sea that England would not win this war till she gave herself more faithfully to prayer, he uttered an undisputed and eternal truth, and never did he appear so great as then. When he gave his commands, manned his guns as he engaged the enemy and carried out his plans for their destruction, he was forming a religious duty. He fought best who prayeth best. Other motives have actuated many who have enlisted, but those who have enlisted from a sense of religious duty can fully value what is at stake and fully appreciate the fruits of victory. Righteousness exalteth a nation, and a nation's struggles must increase its righteousness or largely fail. What the anchor is to the ship, religion is to the individual and to the nation. If the anchor does not hold, the ship drifts upon shoals and rocks.

Out from either bank of the Saint Lawrence River there projected two arms of steel waiting to grasp the ends of the center span that would complete a transcontinental railway. Each of these arms projected far beyond the pier upon which it rested. Without some other support they would immediately fall into the river. What holds them? Mighty anchors of steel sunk in cement on the bank sufficiently strong to hold the entire structure and its traffic.

Edith Cavell was no ordinary person. She might have escaped death had she so willed. It was not sentiment that drove her to her task, nor a passing love for her country, for she nursed foe as well as friend. Her duty was (Continued on page 5)

TALKS TO SOLDIERS. There is something I want to ask your opinion on and it is this. A couple of Sundays ago there were a number of soldier trains went through and after church in the evening there were four of us girls went for our usual walk. I may say we had with us a lady of forty-five who happens to be a nurse, and of course we went to the soldier trains, at the upper end of the train we found four very nice young men who seemed to be very eager to talk to some one, so we were talking to them quite a while and they seemed to be very nice. While standing there a lady passed and made a very uncalled for remark about girls making for the dark end of the train to talk to soldiers. This same lady has three great big strong brothers and not one of them has any notion of enlisting, do you think it wrong for us to be talking to them. I have an only brother at the front and if he were going through and girls went up and talked to him, I would think it perfectly right and proper, when you consider what the poor boys are going through for our sakes. A SOLDIER'S SISTER. Ans.—Chaperoned as you were, I should think your behaviour quite correct.—Montreal Star.

Bill Smith went off to the shore for a week or two, and on his return took Sam Jones to task severely. "Look here, Sam," he said, "I understand that while I was off at the shore you took advantage of my absence to hang round Mabel Green almost every night."

"No, Bill," said Sam, "you're mistaken. It's her sister, Sally Green, that I've been hangin' around." "Well," said Bill, "that makes no difference, I got my eyes on both of them girls."

Willie came to his mother with an expression of anxiety on his face. "Ma," he asked, "if a poor, hungry little boy was to come to the back door and ask for something to eat, would you give him that piece of pie that was left over from dinner?" "Yes, Willie, of course I would," said the mother.

"All right," he said, "just wait a minute till I run around to the back door."

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD. Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels. Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

THE RESTIGOUCHE OFFICIALS AND MR. J. L. STEWART'S CHARGE

The Campbellton Graphic in a libel suit the other day upon a matter which clearly should not have been brought into court, lost the case in the hands of an incompetent jury. Its local contemporary seems to gloat over the fact, and pretends that it is a vindication of a local politician, who apparently knowing the facts best felt that his reputation as a politician needed vindication. However, without interfering in this phase of the discussion we ask The Campbellton Tribune how it can remain silent and not demand that the authorities in Restigouche take proceedings to vindicate themselves against a much more serious charge which has been made against them than any which was ever made by The Campbellton Graphic.

What is that charge? Mr. J. L. Stewart, M.P., the editor of The Chatham, N. B. World, an Independent Conservative newspaper, speaks of the verdict in these words:— It is against the public interest that publishers should be cribbed, cabled and confined in this way. THE VERDICT LOOKS TO BE THE RESULT OF INFLUENTIAL MANIPULATION OUTSIDE OF THE JURY ROOM AND POLITICS AND ILLITERACY WITHIN IT. This is a straight suggestion by a member of the local parliament through his newspaper that improper manipulation outside of the jury room and politics and illiteracy had produced that verdict. The Transcript has no reason for believing that this is true, but it does say that the authorities at Restigouche County, who were connected with the court, cannot defy public opinion by resting silent under that charge. They ought to disprove it. If the statement is true, the officials of the county, if any are so responsible, this is doubted, should be dismissed from public life. If it is untrue, they ought to vindicate themselves. It seems to The Transcript that The Campbellton Tribune instead of taunting its local contemporary should have the moral courage to taunt the county officials into clearing their own characters from the World's charge. The Transcript assumes no responsibility for the paragraph. It does not assume that it is true, but it does assume that it is the duty of the officials affected to vindicate themselves. Was or was not that verdict brought about as intimated in The Chatham World? That is the question which affects the newspaper men, not merely of Campbellton, but of the entire province.—Moncton Transcript.

SAME OLD STORY The game season has been open just about a week and already the excuse has been heard "I thought it was a moose." Another unfortunate has been added to the long list of fatalities due to the use of a rifle by boys and inexperienced and incompetent young men. Until some member of the Government becomes the victim of the zeal of some of these juvenile sportsmen, it will be idle to look to any change in present conditions. As things are at present, there seems to be no check whatever in the issuing of licenses; anyone who chooses to apply for one, gets it on payment of the fee.—Revenue appears to be the sole consideration.

Young men who want to go shooting should join the army, where opportunities will be found for them to exercise their desires for some practical good—moreover, there is nothing to pay for the privilege and no limit to the number of game that may be killed in fact the larger the "bag," the greater the credit. Young men who can carry a rifle should be ashamed to be seen with one now-a-days, unless they are intending to use it as a weapon of war against the country's enemies.—Chatham Commercial.

TO THE WOMEN OF NEW BRUNSWICK

About three months ago Her Royal Highness The Duchess of Connaught was informed that it was the desire of the women of Canada to present to her, on the occasion of her departure, some token of their deep appreciation of her active interest in all that concerns the welfare of this country. Her Royal Highness decided that she could not accept a personal gift under present circumstances. It was then suggested to Her Royal Highness that in memory of her association with Canada, a fund might be raised for some patriotic purpose connected with the war. Her Royal Highness thought it unwise to add to the numerous funds now being raised. The earnest wish of Canadian womenhood to commemorate her departure in some worthy manner having been again brought to the attention of Her Royal Highness, she has consented to allow us to supplement her "Prisoners of War" Fund. It seems to us that this would be a most fitting farewell gift. We all know the generous way in which Her Royal Highness has identified herself with the affairs of the Canadian people and her deep and active interest in our well-being and the well-being of our men on active service, as well as those in need of the necessities of life in German prisons. Will the women of New Brunswick make an effort to give as generously as possible to this fund, as it not only means the comfort of our prisoners, but as well, is a parting gift to Her Royal Highness from our Province. Contributions must be sent in before the 12th of October, addressed to Mrs. Josiah Wood, Government House, Sackville, N. B. (Signed) LAURA S. WOOD.

NEW ARMORED CAR CAUSES GREAT HAVOC

Bullet-proof Motor Monsters Cross Trenches and Smash Trees Like Matches

A graphic description of the power of the new British fighting machine is given by Philip Gibbs, who is with the British armies in the Field. Recently I saw prisoners coming off the battlefields in droves, and to-day hundreds of them in barbed wire cages behind the lines. They were fazed men, filled with gloom, tortured by a great bewilderment. "It is your victory," said one of their officers, speaking to me in French. "It is our defeat. I cannot understand." "Germany is kaput," said one of their non-commissioned officers. He meant that Germany is down, "in the soup," as the British soldiers would say. It was an exaggeration, for Germany still has a lot of fight left in her, but it was the belief of her captured soldiers yesterday.

The British were excited, excited by the smell of victory and their gains, in the belief that the last great smash had been made, and that the end of this war was at hand. They went out at dawn yesterday filled with the spirit of victory. Many of them went over, too, in the greatest good humor, laughing as they ran, like children whose fancy had been inflamed by some new toy. They were cheered by a new weapon which was to be tried with them for the first time, the "heavily armored motor machine guns of a new style" mentioned in the official bulletin.

NEW FIGHTING MACHINE

That description is a dull one compared with all the rich and rare qualities which belong to these extraordinary vehicles. The secret of them had been kept secretly for months. Only a few days ago it was whispered to me. "Like prehistoric monsters, you know, the ichthyosaurus," said the officer. I told him he was pulling my leg. "But it's a fact, man." He breathed hard and laughed. It is a queer way at some enormous comicality. "They cut up houses and put the refuse under their bellies, and walk right over them." I knew this man was truthful, yet I could not believe him. "They knock down trees like match sticks," he said, staring at me with shining eyes. "They go clean through their bellies, and walk right over them." I knew this man was truthful, yet I could not believe him. "They knock down trees like match sticks," he said, staring at me with shining eyes. "They go clean through their bellies, and walk right over them." I knew this man was truthful, yet I could not believe him.

"Everything else," he said earnestly. "They take ditches like kangaroos, they simply love shell craters, laugh at them." It appeared also that they were proof against rifle bullets, machine gun bullets, bomb and shell splinters just shrugged their shoulders and passed on. Nothing but a direct spit from a fair-sized shell could do them any harm. "But what's the name for these mythical monsters?" I asked, not believing a word of it. He said, "Hush." Other people said, "Hush, hush," when the subject was alluded to in a remote way, and since then I hear that one name for them is the "Hush, hush," but their great name is tanks. For they are real, and I have seen them, walked around them, got inside their bodies, looked at their monstrous organs and watched their monstrous movements. I came across a herd of them in a field, and like a countryman who first saw a giraffe said: "Hell, I don't believe it." Then I sat down on the grass and laughed until the tears came into my eyes, (in war one has a funny sense of humor), for they are monstrously comical, like toads of vast size emerging from the primeval slime in the twilight of the world's dawn. "The skipper of them introduced me to them."

ATE UP A HOUSE.

"I felt awfully bucked," said the young officer, who was about five feet high, "when my beauty ate up her first house, but I was sorry for the house, which was quite a good one." "And how about the trees?" I asked. "They simply love trees," he answered. When the British soldiers first saw these strange creatures galloping along the roads and over the old battlefields, taking trenches on the way, they shouted, cheered wildly, and laughed, for a day afterwards. Yesterday the troops got out of their trenches, laughing, shouting, cheering again because the tanks had gone on ahead, and were scaring the Germans dreadfully while they moved over their trenches and poured out fire on the German side. These motor monsters had strange adventures and did very good work, justifying their amazing existence.

COMPARISON has sold more Red T Shoes than all our advertising. Reason is plain enough. Red T Shoes receive that unsharred, patier construction that assures good fit and that critical attention to detail that makes for good style. Since only solid leather is used throughout, the fit and style last until the shoes are worn out. People who buy Red T Shoes FOR MEN AND WOMEN once, usually buy them again, for they find few other brands so much value for their money. Jon. Frenette Killed by Ocean Limited at Dalhousie Junction Station

A sad accident occurred at Dalhousie Jct. Monday about noon, when Jon.
Frenette, a French-Canadian laborer, was struck and cut to pieces while trying to cross in front of the fast Ocean Limited. The accident occurred in front of Dalhousie Jct. station, on the main line of the L. C. R., nine miles south of here, while No. 200 was making her usual amount of speed.

The train was in charge of Conductor Milledge Thompson, of Moncton, and Engineer Jos. Moore of Petitcodiac, and was coming south at the time of the accident.

According to information received, Frenette was one of a gang of workmen employed on a work-train, which was standing on the siding waiting for the Ocean Limited to pass. Frenette

NEW CARLISLE

Miss Maguire is at present visiting in Quebec.
Mrs. Marshall returned home to Toronto on Wednesday, after spending a couple of months with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Sutherland.
Miss Sutherland left on a holiday
Wednesday for Quebec, Valcartier, Montreal, Toronto and Thousand Islands.
Word has been received that Sergt.
Percy Chisholm drilling at Valcartier, won the first prize as best marksmen.
The prize was a gold watch. Again
New Carlisle shines.

Harold LeGrand, George LeGrand, Woodburn Sheppard, and the Misses LeBrun motored to St. John last week.
Mrs. C. Hamilton is at present visiting in Halifax with her son Walter.
Miss A. Caldwell and Mrs. LeBrocq, returned home after having a very pleasant visit in Montreal.
Miss Lilian Astles made a short visit to Campbellton to meet her brother, Pte. Wilson Astles of the 189th Battalion, Valcartier, Que., who left for overseas on Thursday.

10 CENT "CASCARETS"

IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE
For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.
Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Salivary Glands and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undig-ested food, which sours and ferments, like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonic will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Local Druggist Repairs What Famous Surgeons Cannot Touch

Shattered nerves are beyond the reach of the Surgeon's knife. What will repair them? Dozens of people right here in your home town will bear testimony to this fact that Zoetic—the health tonic—has set them on their feet again. This famous combination of glycer-phosphates—the actual element of the human body—God Liver Oil and delicious wine, supply the very elements that worn out nerves require. In a quiet way the action of Zoetic is truly marvelous. Without a trace of narcotic it induces sound sleep. And following that, better and better digestion. And following that, final and complete rebuilding of the nervous system—drained of vitality.
Two weeks' faithful use of it will convince you. Because you have been so often misled, expecting much and receiving little, we offer outright to refund the purchase price of Zoetic if at the end of two weeks you cannot report real progress toward better health.
Start trying it to-day. Sold by

ELOQUENT SERMON

decided by her religious convictions. It was her soul that spoke and acted when she went about her task and, when waiting for the guard to lead her to execution, she said to her spiritual adviser, "I must be calm and bear no hatred in my heart."

The writer to the Hebrews speaks of "an anchor of the soul both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that which is within the veil." Our anchor is our faith in God "within the veil" and that holds "both sure and steadfast." It is a faith that can justify itself; that in this conflict is justified by the strongest of arguments and convictions. It will hold.

The Fire of God's Quenchless Love.
I desire to speak of another beacon light, the one that gives meaning and appeal to the other that speaks from the mountain top. It is the beacon-light of God's quenchless love that shone in its full strength on an obscure hill outside the walls of ancient Jerusalem and that since has shone calling the people to a holy war. If that is not the light that lighteth every soul, if that fire is not kept burning on the altar of our hearts, if its appeal is not heeded, other appeals and challenges will pass unheeded.

That fire the Church has kept burning. It must voice its appeal, utter its challenge and continue to do so as long as there is sin, as long as service is necessary, as long as life shall last.
The Church of Christ is composed of the communion of saints, who truly love the Lord in sincerity and in truth, and who serve Him with their whole heart and body and soul. A body of these believers unites and forms an individual congregation for worship and service, resulting in the deepening of their spiritual lives, and assisting others as much as possible.

In the light of that beacon, I desire to summon you to the work that I believe God is calling you to undertake when the other beacon will burn upon the mountain. Not only those who will go have a great task to perform, but also those who will be left behind, and in no way, can they do that work as well as heeding the appeal and obey-ing the teaching that is given to them through their church. What appeal does it make to you? What demands does it make to you? What challenge does your Lord make to you through your church?

First, He calls you to a consecration of life. No man can live as he ought to live, do as he ought to do, believe as he ought to believe, unless he commits himself to Him who is able to keep and guide. The first duty of this church is to stand and repeat this call that all may hear, and to train those who accept that their spiritual lives may be fully developed. The church is first spiritual. "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." The church is the school of the soul. It leads by the light given to it, and seeks to educate the soul by prayer, meditation, fellowship and service.

The future of any cause depends upon the number and faithfulness of those who obey, and especially the cause that calls for voluntary service.
A few are so interested in the welfare of their town as to take their share of their work. A few interested in its educational institutions and that few do the work. A few deeply interested in the benevolent work that at the present is so necessary, and on them fall the drudgery. Many others have responsibilities to discharge in these and other lines of activity. To refuse is to play the part of the "shirker." Many are so disinterested in the welfare of their souls that they do not heed the call, and are negligent of their duty to worship and serve.

Secondly, the church is a training school. As the state trains the recruits for service in the defense of the Empire, the church is called upon to train its people in Christian service. The better we do our work, the easier will it be for the state to do its work. The Truth must be declared, and the principles of right must be advocated. The difference between the savage creaching in his cave from fear of the thunder that speaks and the lightning that flashes from the dark scabbard across the sky, and the operator who sits in the office and sends messages around the world is that one is ignorant of and the other is educated to the nature and uses of electricity. Your church seeks to teach the Truth God has given it in the scriptures for worship, in its classes for Bible and Mission study and in other ways. It calls you to these because it first calls you to Him, who is the Truth, the beacon-light of God's quenchless love.

We believe that the volunteer army is the best. The democracy of England is founded upon that system, and by that system she seeks to get the required number of men from our country for the successful prosecution of the war. If it fails, then she is justified to adopt a method of conscription that will get them and in getting them equalize the contribution of province, class and race, one or more of which,
for reasons unworthy of a British subject, refuses to do its part. Let us remember that in state or elsewhere selfishness worketh its own ruin. The work of your church depends upon voluntary service, and that service is reasonable. God has no system of conscription, except that of His constraining love. He has a work for you to do,

He gives you ability and equipment for the work, calls you to it and leaves it to your reason and conscience. Remember that if you prove a "shirker", another will have to do your work, or it will remain undone.

I have conversed with military men who were recruiting for their battalions, some of whom were encouraged and even elated over the results of their work. The appeal was not in vain and the battalion was quickly getting up to strength. Others were discouraged at the results of their efforts. They spared no means to get recruits and they were met with indifference and even open hostility. If you ever put your heart into some work and toiled long and hard you will know how they felt over the results of their work. Every clergyman is a recruiting officer and he experiences joy and sorrow, encouragement and discouragement, as he goes about his work. He meets the rich and the poor, the out-cast and the redeemed, the true and the false, the mean and the benevolent, the honest and the dishonest, and to each he must bear the message, extend the same treatment, while from one he expects much and is not disappointed, from another, less and receives part, and from others he expects nothing and receives nothing.

Last Sunday evening, I appealed to you who had not already done so, to accept Christ as Lord of your life.
You stood in the place of Pilate when he asked, "What will I do then with Jesus who is called Christ?" I told you that if you went out of this church refusing to accept, that the sin of rejecting your Lord would rest on your soul. I appealed to you for judgment and you played the part of Pilate. I asked you to give your Lord a throne and you gave him a cross. I plead for bread for your Lord and you gave Him a stone.

I repeat that appeal, and in repeating it I widen it. I ask for decision, and I ask for volunteers to carry on the work of this church, our religious home. Be not absent from her regular diets of worship. A prayer meeting, that is the pulse of the church, wants your presence and spiritual contribution, and if it does not receive it all will suffer. A Sabbath School with its classes for the young children, the young men and women and adults.

"The Bible is our great church directory and statute book." To keep on the right path and obey God's laws we must know its teachings. We have a Young Peoples' Society that has done good work, but it is capable of doing better. It appeals to the serious to be faithful, to the giddy and frivolous to take a different view of life, that will rob them of no pleasure and give them a work to do.

The chief of the clan summoned his followers by means of the "Fiery Cross." It was of light wood, the extremities of which were seared with fire and dipped in the blood of a goat slain for the purpose. It was given to a swift and trusty messenger who ran with all speed to the nearest hamlet, where he put it in the hands of another, at the same time telling him the meeting place. The recipient carried it to the next hamlet and did likewise, and so on till the whole clan was summoned. It was also called the "Cross of Shame" for disobedience to its summons implied that infamy. Christ puts His Cross into your hand, thereby, summoning you to your place and work. Will you obey, or will it become in your hand a "Cross of Shame?"

Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 34 years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now that I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."

Harry and James, brothers, were in their playground for a little recreation after supper. Harry hit James with a stick. An argument followed, and in the midst of it the nurse happened in with the news that it was time for them to retire. James was put to bed first. After a few minutes elapsed James replied: "Well, I'll forgive him to-night, but if I don't die he'd better look out in the morning."

PRUSSIAN GUARDS FELL LIKE ROW OF NINEPINS BEFORE BRITISH HAIL OF LEAD

Made Gallant Defence at Leuze Wood, But Unable to Withstand Terrific Fire of British Machine Guns And Bayonet Charge of the Men in Khaki.

In my despatch describing the very heavy fighting at several parts of the line I was unable to give sufficient prominence to the greatest success of the day and one of the best achievements since the beginning of the Battle of the Somme. That we hold Guillemont safely and surely I had the luck to see for myself today, when from neighboring trenches I looked into the ruin of the place—strangely quiet this afternoon, apart from a few German "crumps"—and saw that our men were holding the sunken road 500 yards further on before they made an attack which has given us Wedge Wood and ground to the north of Falfemont Farm.

Yesterday's attack at midday was wonderfully good. Our men went forward steadily in waves after a hurricane fire from a great mass of British guns. By some curious chance the enemy does not seem to have expected an attack at the exact hour it happened. They may have thought that they had balked it by their own bombardment on our lines and behind them, when they flung over 10,000 gas shells, whose poisonous vapor floated over the ground for hours. They know now to their cost that they did not thwart the advance of our troops.

600 Prisoners in a Few Minutes

The enemy's machine-guns swept the ground with a rush of bullets, but our men took cover as much as possible in the dips and hollows of the earth—chaotic after long weeks of shelling—and came along quite quietly to the outskirts of the ruined village. A quarry in the centre of the western edge had been entered and held for a day or two by British troops, but it was no longer in our hands and had to be retaken. On the edge of the village also, on the western and southern sides, the Germans had built their best dug-outs months ago, before our guns concentrated their fire here, so that they had plenty of time to build them deep and build them strong, to panel them and roof them with concrete, to furnish them comfortably, and to decorate them with pictures from German newspapers and postcards from home.

It is too soon to mention the names of our assaulting troops. They rushed upon Guillemont with the finest valor. They were in and about those dug-outs in the first wave, and halted here to see that no enemies should remain in hiding to attack them from the rear. Underground there was no much fighting. A few proud men refused to surrender or did not surrender quickly enough. Most of them gave themselves up easily and gave no trouble in being marshalled back, so that something like 600 men belonging to the finest German troops are now behind our lines—out of it for good and rejoicing in their luck of life.

A Clash of Bayonets
Half an hour afterwards, joined by supporting troops, the British line advanced to the sunken road, where other German soldiers were captured. Here our men found a fine defensive position all ready for them after a little work of reorganizing the shelter.

From that point a number of men went forward again to an attack on Falfemont Farm, but this was too far for one day's work, and they were held on the outskirts of the woods—ringing "strafed" trees—by an immediate counter-attack from the Prussian Guard. For one of the rare times in this war the Germans faced British bayonets, and they stood to their ground so stoutly that they were able to maintain their position. So the battle ended yesterday with the capture of Guillemont (which was good enough) and our line strongly entrenched along the sunken road.

Today I saw another attack upon Falfemont Farm and our capture of the Wedge Wood. The way to the trenches was a most amazing scene of war, more terrible and wonderful as a great battle picture than all I have seen before. Everywhere along the way which leads to the country between Hardecourt and Maurepas there is a great desolation and a ruin of all things that grew or stood upon the earth here. For two miles or so a long avenue of trees is a highway of violence. Not a tree stands whole, and their great writes Mr. R. Howard, Sr., of Bracebridge, Ont. He continues: "For the past six months I have been confined to my bed for six months under doctors' treatment, during which time I did not earn a cent, and in addition, spent some dollars before a cure was effected. Recently I sustained a scratch on my other leg. It became very inflamed and swollen, and finally turned to an ulcer. This time, however, I knew about Zam-Buk, and I acted very differently. I used Zam-Buk at once, with the result that not only was the ulcer healed in much shorter time than the previous one, but I was able to go to work all the time it was healing, and I did not lose a single day's pay. I sincerely hope that my experience may be the means of showing other working men the great value of Zam-Buk and of saving many from needless expense and unnecessary suffering." "Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, all skin diseases, ringworm, boils, piles, cuts, burns, etc." Box, 3 for $1.50. All druggists, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Send 1c stamp for postage on free trial box.

trunks have been slashed and broken by shell-fire and lie with ragged stumps across unending shell-craters. There, in the open country, is a wild upheaval like the pictures of the mountains of the moon, just as barren, just as ghastly in desolation, and more hideous because made by the hate of war. The panorama of war sweeps round for miles north and south of the Somme down to Peronne, and this afternoon along all those miles there was one great unbroken curtain of bursting shells under a blue sky with fleecy clouds piled high like snow-capped peaks.

On the one side was Maurepas, a few brick ruins standing in the midst of bare black trunks and naked branches in a turmoil of shell craters. On the other side was Guillemont—I could see every tree in it and one solitary shell of a barn and a few black German crosses on the dead and blown-out dug-outs on the southern side. The sunken road led down from Guillemont to Wedge Wood in the hollow. British soldiers held the sunken road; Germans were in Wedge Wood. Striking up from that small solitary copse in naked sticks were two white chalky trunks in an obtuse angle, with the apex nearest to Wedge Wood and the broad base up the sloping ground toward Leuze Wood (Lousy Wood, our men call it) on the ridge above. And half-way down the slope, to the right of the triangle of trunks, was Falfemont Farm, without a sign of a farm, but marked by a number of tree stems stuck up like telephone poles.

The enemy was shelling the sunken road intermittently, and some of his heavies—but not many of them—were bursting in Guillemont. Our own artillery, not far behind me, was pounding the enemy's lines steadily, and our heavy shells were falling all over the enemy's ground from Leuze Wood above. And half-way down the slope, to the right of the triangle of trunks, was Falfemont Farm, without a sign of a farm, but marked by a number of tree stems stuck up like telephone poles.

A little after three o'clock in the afternoon I saw our men in the open. They came up suddenly as though by a spell-word along the line of the sunken road and southward below Falfemont Farm, advancing northward to that place. It was astonishing to see all those men in the open after the utter solitude of the scene and splendid to see how few German shells were falling near them. They seemed to have the countryside to themselves. But above the noise of the artillery—stupendous noise—there was a new and different sound. It was made by sweeping waves of machine-gun fire, the worst noise in war except that of a mine in action. A great deal of it,

I am sure, was our machine-gun fire. There was curiously little artillery fire for some time after the attack began. The men advanced in waves. I saw the left waves surging down into Wedge Wood. Some of them wavered a little, then fell. Groups fell—not dead or wounded, but getting below the stream of bullets, yard-high over the ground. The small copse was soon crowded with British soldiers. They seemed to be in a kind of scrimmage, and out of the middle of it came presently a compact little body of men.

"German prisoners right enough, as well done!" said an officer by my side.

I followed the advance of the southern waves towards Falfemont Farm. They went on slowly and steadily and had a long way to go. It seemed to me a frightfully long way. But they crept up nearer and nearer to the edge of the bare poles which were once a wood. Then some of them fell and disappeared into shell craters and broken trenches. New waves came up and disappeared also, as though lying, or dead, in the tall thistles. After a little while I saw that many of them had respired to the living line. They were working up towards the German triangle trenches on the slope of the spur striking down from Leuze Wood.

In a few minutes two figures appeared black against the white chalk of the first trench, and presently they were lost in it. But not for long. Groups of them were up again marshalling another group which seemed separated from them, and then moved back towards Wedge Wood. I guessed they were more German prisoners, but could not see the difference between grey and khaki.

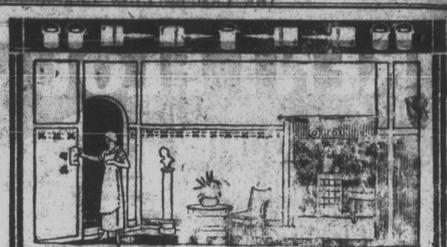

"Hallo! They've got the second trench!" said another man by my side. It was clear enough. The black figures appeared on the second chalk line and then jumped down.

My eyes wandered back to the southern waves advancing on Falfemont Farm. They were heading westwards and northwards in an encircling movement. Over on the south they seemed to be avoiding the scythe which mowed the grass with a hiss of machine-gun bullets.

It was some time after two that strange things began to happen in the German lines. From Leuze Wood parties of men came running down to Falfemont Farm. Sometimes they ran a little way, and then ran back, and then came on again. Presently a number of them reached the edge of the ground with the bare poles which was Falfemont, and here they reformed.

"By the Lord!" said an officer, "a German counter-attack. Get it over the telephone quick. A good target for the guns." Then suddenly the right end of the line crumbled away. Gaps opened in the thick bar of men. Our machine-guns were raking them. I listened to the swish-swish of the fire, like a flame blown in the wind. Then, like a row of ninepins on uneven ground, the Prussian Guards all fell face forwards. The unwounded men had fallen with the wounded to escape our bullets.

His Basic Thought.—Victim—"What has happened? Where am I?" Doctor—"You have been seriously injured in a trolley accident. But cheer up—you will recover." Victim—"How much?"

FLOWER OF YOUTH The following beautiful poem by Katharine Tynan has been a solace to many burdened and bereaved hearts: Lest heaven be thronged with grey-beards hoary, God, who made boys for His delight, Stoops, in a day of grief and glory, And calls them in, in from the night. When they come trooping from the war Our skies have many a new gold star.

Heaven's thronged with gay and careless faces, New-waked from dreams of dreadful things. They walk the crystal and pleasant places And by the crystal water-springs Who dream of dying and the slain And the fierce thirst and the strong pain. Dear boys! They shall be young forever. The Son of God was once a boy. They run and leap by a clear river, And of their youth they have great joy. God, who made boys so clean and good, Smiles with the eyes of fatherhood.

Now Heaven is by the young invaded; Their laughter's in the House of God, Stainless and simple as He made it. God keeps the heart of the boy unflawed. The old wise saints look on and smile, They are so young and without guile.

Oh, if the soulless mothers weeping, And widowed girls, could see inside The glory that hath them in keeping Who went to the Great War and died, They would rise and put their mourning off, And say: "Thank God, he has enough!"

It is with the earnest hope that if you, reader, have been bereaved of your dear son—or sons—you may be comforted with the consolation of reunion; where the surges cease to roll, and the sound of war no more is heard; I send this little message to you with respectful sympathy.

A copy will be sent to any readers of the Bulletin for a stamped self-addressed envelope by:—

MRS. BLANCHE READ-JOHNSTON

Barrie, Ont. "Pray for my boys, dear friend; my dear, brave boys now in France."

How often that message greets me in my letters! In one just read a dear friend says: "Yes,— is in France; and — safely arrived in England. My home is so lonely!"

Yes, many a brave mother to-day goes about her home, business, or patriotic duties with calm eyes, whose heart is lonely, and whose home is empty. Pray for our brave Canadian boys who have developed such heroic qualities. Pray for our boys in the great tragedy of life in which they live.

"Pray for My Boy!" Every day brings this request to my desk. I almost welcome every quiet moment—that my heart and love and petition may turn to the Eternal with the cry for all the mothers—"My boy! O God, my boy!" As a mother wrote me to-night: "It is an anxious time when you start at every step." This mother had just heard of the wounding of one of her boys in France.

Another mother says: "Am so weary and two boys in the trenches." This mother is bravely bearing a great public burden—but, Oh! the heart-weariness sometimes. So sister-comrades, I especially appeal to you to pray more fervently than ever before.

Our men—and we all have an interest—are living in a condition of excitement and pressure so great that the "quiet hour" is hard to find. Let us devote every moment of the silence and solitude of heaven to the stretching towards our God. This not only for the keeping our own altar-fires—heart-fires—but for those, who, in the rush and stress, may sometimes forget their own obligation to pray.

THE COURAGE OF OUR MEN A major doctor in the British army, who has recently returned from the battle-front, tells us that it is simply amazing how our soldiers bear their sufferings. He says that pain, which, in ordinary times, would shatter a man and demoralize his nerves completely, is borne by our men in utter silence oftentimes. He, of course, was admiring the British spirit of endurance.

While not for an instant detracting from appreciation of the wonderful courage and endurance manifested by our men—many of them just gay, happy boys out of schools or colleges, who have developed the highest qualities of heroism; yet we think the season for all this brave and passive bearing of physical discomfort lies deeper.

ALL HAVE AN INTEREST Every man probably has at least one woman—some of them many loving women—praying for them. Unceasingly the earnest petition is kept before love's altar and the rich fragrance of this incense is sent back in an answer of quietness and peace from the heart of the Divine. "For the heart of the eternal is most wonderfully kind."

Too, the wounded man's heart and thoughts naturally turn to the wife, mother, sweetheart, sister, or friend;
