There's only the sound of the lone sentry's tread As he tramps from the rock to the fountain; And thinks of the two in the low trundle bed, Far away in the cot on the mountain. His musket falls slack—his face, dark and grim, Grows gentle with memories tender, And he mutters a prayer for the children asleep— For their mother—may Heaven defend her.

SKATING SONG.

Last week there was much skating on the ponds of the Central Park, New York, and a skating tournament is shortly to take place there, the prizes being silver and ether skates. A party of skaters from Utica who recently visited New York, while skating, sang the following lively song to the tune of " Dixie."

Come girls and boys, come young and old, Fair the sky—the air is cold, Away, away, away, away. The crystal ponds with beauly beam, The frost has mirror'd lake and stream. CHORUS-Away, away, away, away, We all will go a skating, A skating, sk ting, The skater's song we all can sing, With merry notes the air shall ring, Away, away, away we'll go a skating Away, away, &c.

Don the furs and mittens warm, Don the furs and mittens warm, Healthy air will never harm. Away, away, away, away. Exercise will give yon health-kicher far than sordid pelf. Away, away, &c. Oh ! listen to the joyous hoise, Oldest men again are boys. Away, away, away, away. Marrons of the silver hair. Matrons of the silver hair, Never looked so fresh and fair. Away, away, &c. Swiftly on the winged steel, Hear the happy voices peal. Away, away, x c. Rosy lassies, laddies gay, Sweetly pass the time away. Away, away, &c. The Queen of Night is shining bright, And softly sheds her siver tight. Away, away, away, away. Merry hearts and beaming eyes, n ight nights and starry skies. Away, away, &c.
