

WATER ORDER CREATES A STORM NO TYPHOID TRACED TO SUPPLY

Dr. Hutchinson Admits the City Is Practically Free of Disease.

BOARD OF HEALTH ARE VERY ANGRY

Members Says a Meeting Should Have Been Called Before the Sensational Story Was Spread.

Not a single case of typhoid fever in the city of London this year can be traced to city water.

That was the statement of Dr. Hutchinson, medical health officer, to the Advertiser at noon today.

Superintendent Heard reports that 14 cases have been treated at Victoria Hospital.

The analyses of the water showed in two samples from the east pond at Springbank, and from well No. 3, there are traces of coliform bacilli.

What He Thought. "The samples showed infection," declared Dr. Hutchinson.

There is likely to be considerable trouble over the report. Several members of the board of health consider that there should have been a meeting of the board called before such an announcement should have been made.

Appeal to Toronto. It is also rumored that the provincial board of health will be called upon to adjust matters.

Now the members insist that it be held, as the water question must be dealt with.

The Vital Statistics. At the city clerk's office, only one case of typhoid fever is reported in the vital statistics.

How About the Children? "The matter is not going to end here, if it is so necessary to boil the water at home, why is not some effort made to protect the children at schools?"

Wells Are Cut Off. The wells are cut off at the present time and are not supplying the city with any water.

Man Escaped From the Institution, But Was Soon Recaptured. About 6 o'clock last night word was received at the high constable's office that there was a crazy man on the premises of Mr. William Nichols.

LOOKS LIKE 50,000 POPULATION IF THE STUDENTS ARE FIGURED IN

Claim Is Made That About 600 People Were Impossible to Get at Owing to the Vacation Season—Some Figures to Hand Are of Much Interest.

It is claimed that the population of the city of London would be shown to be considerably over 50,000 at the present time if a census of the educational centres of this city were taken.

Additional Population. The numbers as given are as follows: Normal School 187, Western University about 150, Huron College 25, Business Colleges about 50, Collegiate Institute 178, Medical College 75.

On the other hand there has not been any exodus. Houses have filled up and the streets are busy as in the past.

More Employment Here. In addition there is a decided increase owing to the fact that the large industries of the city have been calling for more help.

The Grand Trunk have been adding crews as well as mechanics to their staff of late, a considerable number of them coming from other places.

Other industries report that they have added to their numbers of late, a large percentage of them coming from outside places.

On the other hand there has not been any exodus. Houses have filled up and the streets are busy as in the past.

A LITTLE CASINO DRINKS ON SIDE

Charge of Gambling Against Hotel Proprietor Was Dismissed.

Money Found on the Table Had Been Put There When About to Order Refreshments.

C. C. James, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, appeared before Magistrate Love this morning on a charge of allowing gambling on his premises.

John MacArthur, on being called, said that he was in the back room and had been playing cards.

Charles Robinson, alias Brown, told a similar story, although he suffered from serious loss of memory at times.

Chief Williams put the bar-tender searching cross-examination, and finally told witness that he did not believe he was telling the truth.

Hard Fishing. "It certainly is pretty hard fishing," said the magistrate.

Francis Flanagan stated that they had only had one hand at casino when the sergeant came in.

"We never got the drinks at all," he said ruefully.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 5.—The excitement over last evening's bold robbery of the Canadian express office and the slugging of Cashier Dobson, is unabated.

The robbery was committed in broad daylight, with a score of the station employees within 50 feet of the office. Dobson was alone at the time.

ROOSEVELT KILLED IN AFRICA RUMOR WIDESPREAD IN U. S.

The Former President Is Reported to Have Met Death While Hunting Big Game in the Heart of Central Africa.

Washington, Nov. 5.—A rumor that ex-President Theodore Roosevelt had been killed on his hunting trip in Africa was doing the rounds in Washington this morning.

The state department, which would be most likely to be notified by its consular representatives in Africa had received no such news.

New York, Nov. 5.—Reports that former President Roosevelt had lost his life in Africa were not credited today by close friends of the former president, nor could the report be traced to any authentic source.

Douglas Robinson, Mr. Roosevelt's brother-in-law, and the only close relative in the city, said that he had not heard the report and declared that had Mr. Roosevelt suffered any injury he would have been informed immediately.

Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, of which Mr. Roosevelt is an associate editor, also said he had not heard of any accident or injury to Mr. Roosevelt.

"I think we would have had word if anything had happened to Mr. Roosevelt," said Mr. Abbott, "and I attach no significance to the rumors of his injury or death."

NO TEACHERS HAVE AS YET RESIGNED

Have Until November 22 To Do as the Board Has Ordered.

None of the kindergarten teachers have resigned as yet.

Secretary McElheran, of the board of education, has not received a communication from any of the teachers, and he does not expect any for some days.

According to the resolution of the board they have until Nov. 22 to place their resignations in his hands, after which the reorganization of the staff will be undertaken.

The reorganization of the staff will take place at the first meeting of the board in December, and there is likely to be a keen debate on the subject.

There is at the present time a considerable difference of opinion as to the advisability of making the change, and it is probable that something will crop up in the interim making it possible that such a step will not be taken.

HALLEY'S COMET COMING

Expected to Pass Over Face of the Sun on May 18.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 5.—The famous Halley's comet will pass over the sun's face May 18 next, if the calculations made by Rev. Father G. M. Scoble, C. S. C., and sent to the Harvard College Observatory here are correct.

Scoble's observations were made at Mount Hamilton, California, Sept. 12, 14, and 16, and at Williams Bay, Sept. 26 and Oct. 13.

Concluding the table of deductions, Father Scoble says: "The comet will give a geometric conjunction in longitude of the comet with the sun on May 18, 1910, which means that the comet's geometric longitude being then 144 degrees fifteen minutes. Though the result is not yet accepted as final, but it is thought that there may be a transit."

McKEE IS CONFIDENT HE'LL BEAT WILCOX

But Election in North Essex Promises To Be a Hard-Fought Battle.

Windsor, Nov. 5.—From now until the morning of Nov. 11 citizens of the North Essex riding will witness a battle for the votes. The question was decided at the nominations held in Sandwich, Essex County seat, yesterday afternoon. It will be a fight to the finish between the Liberal and Conservative parties.

At the meeting, which was attended by nearly every voter within the riding, W. J. McKee was chosen as the Liberal candidate, while the Conservatives cast their lot on Oliver J. Wilcox, a farmer, residing in Rochester Township. Speeches were made by both candidates and also by some of the most prominent speakers of the province.

Until next Thursday, when the by-election to choose a member of the House of Commons will be held, there will be one continual round of speeches and political gatherings.

Mayor Wigle has volunteered to take the reins in behalf of the Conservative party, and nothing will be left undone in an effort to place Wilcox in the seat in the House. Already a large sum of money has been raised by subscription for the carrying on of the campaign.

It is estimated that the North Essex riding contains a Liberal majority of about 600. Promoters of the McKee campaign have figured it out that they will be given a majority in the city. Friends of Wilcox are confident of victory.

Mr. A. H. Clarke, M. P. made a splendid speech in favor of Mr. McKee. The cheers at the close for McKee drowned out the feeble efforts of the Wilcox supporters.

Hon. George P. Graham will address a meeting here next Tuesday.

WALTHER DISCHARGED

United States Government Refuses To Extradite Him at Request of Ontario.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Mrs. W. L. Russell, Lima, Ohio, won her fight for her husband's freedom and bustness honor today, when Russell was discharged by United States Commissioner Walther.

The Canadian Government tried to extradite him on a charge of fraudulently advertising mining property. Mrs. Russell owns the opera house in Lima. She furnished $5,000 bond for her husband when he was arrested.

Russell represented the Blue Bell mines, near Cobalt. The property was controlled by Law & Co., of Toronto. Several who had bought stock in the company claim that the value of the mine had been exaggerated in advertisements, which caused them to buy.

Walther ruled that the testimony showed Russell acted in good faith.

BRIDE GOES INSANE

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 4.—A bride of but 48 hours, Rapiella Carbino, a pretty Italian girl, 18 years old, was taken to the State Hospital for the Insane today, a raving maniac.

Mrs. Carbino came to this city from Italy three weeks ago to marry Alfonso Carbino, who had been a playmate with her at home. The nuptials were celebrated Tuesday morning, and the couple went to live at No. 174 Carroll street. Yesterday Mrs. Carbino disappeared. Early today Policeman Eckert found her lying between the railroad tracks in the Hydraulics beyond Smith street, her face cut and bleeding from her having buried it in the cinders. At the police station she grew violent, and a straight jacket was secured. When the husband arrived the bride tried to break out of the jacket to throw the wedding ring at her husband's feet. He wanted to take his young wife back home with him, and cried when they took her away.

A DISCREDITABLE CAMPAIGN.

No one appears to know what Mr. McLachlin properly represents in the West Middlesex contest, least of all Mr. McLachlin himself, if he is to be judged by his pitiful remarks at the nomination meeting. He contrived to utter a dozen sentences, the gist of which was that "West Middlesex farmers had no use for a lawyer," and that Mr. Ross wanted the seat because it carried a larger salary than one in the Legislature. If Mr. McLachlin has one idea about public questions, he is keeping it a profound secret.

THE BRITISH CRISIS.

The finance bill, which is virtually the budget, passed the House of Commons yesterday by a vote of 379 to 149. The majority was unexpectedly large. The Opposition had been counting upon a defection from the Ministerial ranks of at least a score of wealthy members. Apparently there were only two Liberal dissentients, and these abstained from voting. The Nationalists, who are opposed to only one feature of the budget—the liquor taxes—also refrained from voting, with the exception of nine, who went into the lobby with the Unionists. Mr. Redmond, however, made it clear that the Nationalists would be with the Commons to a man if the Lords asserted the right to block the legislation of the popular chamber. The Laborites voted solidly with the Government.

THE CONGO.

The Belgian Chamber of Deputies has now before it a government bill relating to the Congo country. Besides opening up the river and country to international trade, this legislation is said to insure a reform of the Congo administration. Such details of the measure as have reached this part of the world are too meagre to enable anyone to form an opinion as to its effect. It may be taken for granted that unless the proposed reforms are adequate Great Britain will continue to withhold recognition of Belgian annexation of the Congo. As explained by Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary, in Parliament, what the British Government insists on before it can recognize the annexation is an answer to two questions: First, is a great part of the native population of the Congo still subject to labor compulsory for the greater part of the year under the guise of taxation? Second, is the country still closed to trade? Until these questions are satisfactorily answered it is impossible for the British Government to recognize the annexation, because it cannot by a positive act of its own countersign the system which existed in the old Congo State, and which successive British Governments have so frequently denounced as incompatible with treaty obligations.

M. Renkin, the Belgian colonial minister, recently returned from a prolonged tour of investigation of the whole Congo basin. He admits that many arbitrary acts have been committed there, but claims that published reports have been greatly exaggerated. The fact, however, that almost immediately on his return he introduced the reform measure, seems to indicate that he has taken to heart the utterances of Sir Edward Grey, particularly his significant declaration that "if the situation is prolonged indefinitely it must result in undesirable complications."

IRISH PROSPERITY.

All witnesses agree that Ireland is enjoying a degree of prosperity hitherto unknown to it.

In a recent article, Mr. J. P. Boland, M.P., shows that the progress is commercial as well as agricultural. Not only have efforts put forth to secure the home market been fairly successful, but trade is being pushed abroad by means of retail stores, and the writer hopes that "before long the Irish store will become a feature in every community where Irish people are to be found—in Australia as well as in North and South America."

The establishment in the new National University of chairs of national economics and political economy is a timely move. Mr. Boland says that for many years observers have noted with pain that success in the learned professions and in the securing of posts in the English civil service, was the goal to which Irish education in every grade was directed. In the new and freer conditions created by a national university, and in the formation of a peasant proprietary in place of the old vicious system of land tenure, fresh vital forces have come into play. The young men are now expected to look forward more than has been their wont to a successful career in trade.

Official figures quoted by Mr. Boland fully support the claim that brighter prospects are opening up before the country. In 1904 the aggregate trade of Ireland amounted to $255,888,109, while in 1907 it reached $610,692,389. In 1904 the imports were $279,700,375; in 1905 they had increased to $277,404,843; in 1906 to $288,058,720, and in 1907 to $302,606,225. In exports, too, there has been a steady increase. Their value in 1904 was $255,187,725; in 1905, $262,827,740; in 1906, $286,168,490, and in 1907, $302,606,225.

Whatever may be the political differences among the Irish people, they are all of one mind when it comes to their business interests. This spirit of self-interest is fostered by the all-Ireland industrial conference, which is held annually, and is serving an excellent purpose.

THE KINDERGARTENERS.

The school board will not deny that London has had for years a kindergarten system in the highest state of efficiency. It has been praised by educationists of other cities. It has not been expensive as compared with work of the same quality elsewhere. The salaries are small. Ladies who go in for the kindergarten branch, seldom rely upon it as their only means of subsistence. The whole educational world testifies to the value and necessity of the system; it is sanctioned by theory and experience.

The board of education has not acted in the real interests of the ratepayers; it has been somewhat ruthless in its treatment of the kindergarten staff. One effect will surely be the impairment of the efficiency which has been the slow growth of years. The sudden demand for the resignations of all the teachers must be dispiriting and disheartening, and the new conditions under which those who are re-engaged will be obliged to work will prevent them from giving the best they are capable of. The Froebel Society also has been a quiet but uplifting force in the community. Its activities have been many-sided and its influence has gone far beyond the school walls.

Are the school trustees certain they have acted wisely? There was certainly no data before the board to convince citizens that so harsh a policy was necessary.

For the House of Lords, it seems to be a choice between eating the leek or drinking the hemlock.

There are differences of opinion about Sunday cars, but all citizens would be glad to know the city had a population of 50,000.

The sneers of some Canadian public men and newspapers at the proposed Canadian navy suggest that what this country needs is more national self-respect.

The fact that the Winnipeg Tribune and the Kingston Standard could think of no one but George E. Foster as an alternative to R. L. Bowden is a sorry reflection upon the Ottawa Opposition.

"Hon. George E. Foster has survived his enemies. The most traduced and slandered member of the House of Commons has defeated and put to rout the politicians and the newspapers that set about his undoing."—London Free Press.

The day after the election, the Free Press held Mr. Foster partly responsible for the Government's victory, and said he would have to disprove the charges against him before he could presume to fill his old place in public life. Those charges are still before the courts. Isn't the F. P. somewhat previous with its whitewash brush?

the assertion that Hon. Mackenzie King said something derogatory of the farming community at the West Middlesex nominations. He merely invited the electors to compare the two men. If the result may be disparaging to Mr. McLachlin, but not to the West Middlesex farmers, the great majority of whom are above him in intelligence and political information.

Every heart that has beat strong and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world.

Mr. A. J. Small, after considerable correspondence, induced Mr. Henry Woodruff to give a matinee performance of "The Prince of Tonight." It is not customary for this production to play matinee performances on one body—and Londoners can congratulate themselves that they will be able to have two performances of this clever musical comedy. The Grand is always well patronized when musical comedy performances are given, and in "The Prince of Tonight" theatregoers will see one of the prettiest performances of the year. There are lots of topical songs, handsomely dressed women and funny comedians.
Henry Woodruff has already made a reputation in London. His first appearance here was with "The Genius and the Model," with Edna Goodrich, now the

DUNCRIEF'S STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Building and Contents a Total Loss—Accident to Cousin of Capt. Robson.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Vanneck, No. 4. On Wednesday, Mr. C. C. Robson, after finishing threshing his own place, was sliding down off the straw stack, expecting to catch with his feet a short ladder that was set up, when his foot went all between two rungs, and both he and the ladder fell, his leg being between the two sides of the ladder. In the fall Mr. Robson broke his thigh near the body—a very serious break. The swelling was so bad that Dr. Robson could not set the limb for some time. Mr. Charles Robson is a cousin of Capt. T. Robson and a nephew of A. C. Attwood.

About 2 o'clock this morning the Duncrief store and all its contents, owned by Arthur Barclay & Son, was destroyed by fire. There was no insurance. Great sympathy is felt for the Barclay families, as this wipes out Duncrief, the store being all that was left.

MR. GLADSTONE ADVISED MANNING BLESSED

Stenographic Account of That Spirit Communication to Editor Stead.

London, England, Nov. 4.—A stenographic report of the amazing interview with the spirit of the late William E. Gladstone, which was gained at a seance arranged by William T. Stead, is printed in full in today's Telegraph.

According to this stenographic report, the test was most successful, and a definite statement from the "Grand Old Man of England" was secured. The seance occurred Saturday at Mowbray House, with a medium, a stenographer and Mr. Stead among the mortals present, while the disincarnate personalities taking part included Julia, Cardinal Manning, W. Stead, Jun., and W. E. Gladstone.

The seance opened with prayer and a hymn, and then the clairvoyant reported that on the previous evening she had received a message from Gladstone, involved and with even more than the usual Gladstonian periphrases, wherein Gladstone expressed a considerable disinclination to return to the limited and melancholy arena of party politics.

"From my present outlook where a century counts little more than a moment, a paragraph on the printed page of time, the ebb and flow of mundane events from day to day matters little."

Gladstone's Spirit on Vibrations. After discussing how the mind is occupied in the manifestations of the omnipresence, Gladstone confessed: "An immense current of reiterated and ever reiterated vibration is drawing me towards another centre of energy. I understand you have not here the roar of distant thunder and feel a consciousness of suspense, anticipation, turmoil and strife and of ignoble party warfare."

"Finally Gladstone agreed to speak, but before he had the opportunity Cardinal Manning intervened with a blessing, saying: "I am pleased to be with you for a few moments. You have not here an atmosphere of the religious world. I am delighted to feel the vibrations of praise and thankfulness ascending from your circle. I hope that Gladstone is about to come into contact with you. I hope the church atmosphere will be of service in linking him with you, Gladstone."

"A spirit named Julia has told me that some one desires to come in touch with me concerning the present position of my old party, and also the state of English political economy. The arena of the political world is distasteful to me; nay, it was distasteful to me."

Gladstone on the Budget. Gladstone was induced to express his views on the budget, and said: "In my opinion, the upper chamber will act most unadvisedly if they reject this financial measure. I can well understand there being much in its provisions which the Lords will distinctly object. Nevertheless, it would be wise policy for them to pass this measure. In agreement with the principle of which I am in favor, I am in favor of proposals to obtain my support, but with the licensing clauses I am only partly in sympathy. This section of the bill should not be too rigidly insisted upon, as some of the clauses are too crudely constructed and will tend to produce much friction and confusion in their application."

Gladstone confessed that the old instincts of political enmity were roused within him, but he desired to get away from the turmoil, but I induced him to say: "All my old instincts for battle, all that made me what I was as a politician, are against the dominance of the Lords."

Gladstone, when pressed, gave this battle cry: "Away with that inert mass of unrepresentative opinion. The time is now pressing for a distinct and clear issue on which to fight. Let my people let my old warriors appeal to the country on this definite issue. This is a war cry which will rally to them many of the forces, many of the units which at the present moment are in the balance. Let the cry be definite, clear, precise. It would not be advisable for a dissolution of parliament to occur immediately. A compromise by the Government is advisable, but when the issue has been narrowed, when the die is cast and the step taken—then definite, clear, united action must be taken quick and at once."

Favors a House of Lords. "That means 'Down with the House of Lords altogether!'" said one of those present. "No," retorted Gladstone, "only with the Lords as they are at the present constituted. I am distinctly in favor of a second chamber."

"Would you," it was asked, "give the Lords any financial control?" "No," answered Gladstone, "I should be vested entirely in the Lower House."

It was endeavored to ascertain upon whom Mr. Gladstone was willing to place his mantle of leadership, as mentioned, Lord Morley was dismissed as lacking the fire and energy so necessary at this juncture. Lloyd-George was said to have the necessary fire and energy for the purpose, but to lack carefulness of expression, steadiness and balance which will be necessary.

"How about your old friend, Balfour?" was the next question. "He is on the other side," said Gladstone, "but it is difficult to arouse in him the feelings of intense fire which this campaign will arouse."

"Do you keep in touch with the people at Westminster?" "Predicts Victory. Gladstone answered: "I occasionally come in contact with them. The energies liberated through this bureau have more strongly linked me with the political sphere, and I shall endeavor as far as possible to throw myself into the conflict, inspiring and encouraging those whom I can affect to carry onward and forward the grand old banner of Liberalism. I will do this. We are going on to victory. Notwithstanding the forces of self-interest and obscurantism we shall win. The struggle will be severe, as many subtle as well as open foes have to be overcome. This is one of the most critical periods in the history of the British race, and upon the result will depend the advancement or retardation of the nation. Let the nation not be narcotized by the noxiousness of tariff reform. Purging itself of selfish heresies, let it turn its attention not only to the understanding of its real prosperity, but to the comprehension of the vital factors in the health of its national life."

TORONTO YOUNG MAN SHOOT A GIRL

Declared She Was Endeavoring to Take Sweetheart Away From Him.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Enraged because it is alleged, she had tried to take his sweetheart away from him, George A. Nelson, a young man living at 737 King street west, tonight shot and seriously injured Esther Tucker, a 19-year-old girl, firing three bullets into her as she walked along a few paces ahead.

The shooting took place near the corner of Henderson and Clinton streets, a stone's throw from the girls' home. As the girl fell with a groan into the arms of her escort, R. Ho-ward Nelson, who was walking with Alma Tucker, of 846 Queen, ran away. He was found at the Tucker girl's home.

The wounded girl is in Grace Hospital and will recover.

SHIPMENTS FALL OFF FROM MONTREAL

Because of Season's Grain Now Going Via American Ports. Boston, Nov. 4.—Grain shipments from Boston during the past two weeks have been very heavy, and a dispatch from Montreal, stating that that port was losing trade to this city in the grain traffic, has been received. Although a Thief Detective Man Was on His Trail. Brockville, Nov. 4.—For the past two days Detective Murphy, of the Thiel Agency, has been in town making efforts to locate Rapely, the commercial traveller, who disappeared from Nanawate two weeks ago yesterday. He discovered that Rapely was on a local drygoods firm of this town, but did not have any samples with him. He learned, this morning that a well-dressed stranger called at the home of A. M. Latham, a drygoods west of here Tuesday, requesting something to eat. Mrs. Latham questioned his identity. He said, however, that he had been in Prescott at noon, and will make every effort to locate the man.

THE TIMES SUED.

Hamilton, Nov. 4.—The members of the building committee of the board of education have instructed S. N. Biggar, K. C., to issue a writ for libel against the Times Publishing Company for a statement which appeared in that paper last evening. The article concerned the fact that the trustees had turned down a tender of Orpen Brothers, of Toronto, for the brickwork of the new Victoria avenue school and had given it to a local contractor, whose tender was $227 higher than the Toronto firm's offer. The article went on to say, "The people connected with the concern openly declare that it is a case of graft on the part of the trustees."

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, including in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Mrs. Herman Dickenson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I am troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. WANT FRENCH USED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

French-Canadian Congress Will Ask for Bi-Lingual Education. A special to the Toronto Star says: Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The French-Canadian Congress to be held in Ottawa during the week commencing Aug. 8, will be of an educational character.

French-Canadian organizations were made at a meeting of the general committee held here Oct. 13, at which it was decided to call the congress to be held at Ottawa on the 8th of August, 1910. The committee, presided over by Judge Constantineau, was attended by members from Eastern Ontario and points in Ontario as far west as Sudbury. At the meeting of the general committee a report on the school system of Ontario in regard to the teaching of French, which question has been thoroughly studied by a sub-committee appointed for the purpose by the general committee, was presented to the members present. This report was unanimously adopted by the meeting, which expressed its appreciation of the work of the sub-committee. The report recommended the necessity of having all children of French origin taught in their mother tongue throughout the different branches of the school system in Ontario without in any way interfering with the teaching of English.

Other business of minor importance was also transacted, including the reception of reports of the finance and the meeting adjourned until Monday, Nov. 8, when a definite programme of subjects for discussion and procedure will be laid down.

It is expected that the delegates to the congress will number over five hundred. They will be selected from districts in Ontario in which there are French-Canadian settlements, it being the policy of the congress to bring into touch with these districts and little societies, under the auspices of the congress, the necessity of having a permanent institution, which will assume the part of the mother body of all the smaller societies.

The primary object of the congress will be to see a better means of education for French children in Ontario. The members hold that the schools should be bi-lingual, in order to give French children an opportunity of learning English. The congress will be presided over by Judge Constantineau, and among the members of the executive are Sir Elzer Taschereau, P. M. Cote, secretary of the justice department, and A. D. Decelles of the Parliamentary Library.

SURE WOMEN WILL VOTE

Mrs. Pankhurst Confident Suffrage Movement Will Win. Washington, Nov. 4.—Firm in the belief that the suffrage movement will triumph not only in the United States and England, but in other countries as well, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, noted English suffragette leader, arrived here today from New York to plead the cause of the suffragette. Expressing herself as enthusiastic over the situation in this country, Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the movement is a militant one and that the fight would be kept up until won.

"The women's suffrage idea has grown to enormous proportions in England within the last three years," declared Mrs. Pankhurst, "and I believe that it won't be long before the women of my country will be given the right of the franchise."

Concerning this country, Mrs. Pankhurst said the proposition to give French the right of the elective franchise is daily gaining momentum, and in favor of it. "Ultimately, woman suffrage is obliged to come in your country," predicted Mrs. Pankhurst, "and it will be a good thing for America, too."

A SPECIAL SHRINE FOR ITO'S BURIAL

Thousands Attend the Solemn Services Over the Body of Assassinated Diplomat.

Tokio, Nov. 4.—Followed by representatives of the Emperor and Empress of Japan, ambassadors and others directed to personally represent their Governments, the body of Prince Ito was conveyed to its resting place today. The burial, conducted with the shinto rites, was made at the mausoleum erected at the late country residence of the prince in Omori, a suburb of Tokio.

The state funeral was conducted with magnificent solemnity. It began with simple ceremonies at the Ito city home at 7 o'clock this morning. Only members of the immediate family and the closest personal friends were present. At 9 o'clock the procession formed and, headed by the imperial band playing Chopin's Funeral March, moved to Kiyba Park, a mile and a half distant, where public services were held. The park was crowded with men in evening dress, and women gowned in black. Many of these were foreigners.

A special shrine had been erected and in this the catafalque rested during the ceremonies, which occupied three hours. Floral offerings were made in the name of their Governments by British Ambassador Macdonald, Count Montegias, German charge d'affaires, and representatives of the Governments of France, Russia, Austria and Italy. These were also floral tributes from Field Marshal Lord Kitchener in the name of the British army, and from the delegation of Koreans now in this country.

At the conclusion of these rites the catafalque was again placed upon the gun carriage and at 2 o'clock the march to Omori, where the interment was to be made, began. Along the route of six miles thousands looked on in silence. The interment was made at dusk in the immediate presence of the family and a few personal friends, representatives of the Emperor and royalty.

Does Not Think Northcliffe Used Language Credited to Him. Montreal, Que., Nov. 4.—Hon. Geo. P. Graham, minister of railways, does not credit the language attributed to Lord Northcliffe, printed in the Halifax Dispatch, in which his lordship is stated to say in the course of an interview that the Intercolonial Railway service is slow and antiquated. The whole interview was a scathing roast of the people's railway, and compared the service with that of Spain, to the advantage of the latter. We Cannot Improve It

Taylor's Infants' Delight represents over forty-three years of constant effort along one line—the effort to make a perfect soap.

A liberal reward is waiting for any one who can tell us how to improve it in the slightest. We ourselves believe it to be perfect and can conceive of no way of improving it. The choicest oils from the Orient enter into its composition—olive oil from the first pressing of selected fruits—coconut oil, the best the market affords, and that refined with extra care—and with all this just sufficient otto of roses—that choicest perfume from the Sultan's Domain—to impart a delicate, wholesome fragrance to the skin. In we have produced a soap so mild and soothing—so wonderfully cleansing and healing, that it is universally used in homes of wealth and refinement where the best is considered none too good for the toilet.

We ask you to try at least one bar and know that we have not exaggerated its goodness.

WOMEN SUFFER NEEDLESS PAIN

Every woman has so much pain, work and worry in life that any needless daily suffering from backache, dizziness, languor, or other kidney ills is unfortunate, indeed.

Booth's Kidney Pills have brought new life, health and strength to thousands of women afflicted in this way, by curing the kidneys. If you don't just understand your condition, don't forget that it may be the kidneys.

Women easily fall victim to kidney ills. The continuing work a woman does, the tight, heavy clothing she wears, the constant bending, reaching and lifting of housework, the cares of bringing up children, are all trying. Any fever, cold, chill or strain may weaken the kidneys, and set up congestion, with backache and disturbances of the urine.

Too many women have come to think that backache, pain through the hips, headache, "blues," dizzy spells, sick headache, nervousness and swelling of the ankles, wrists or limbs, are troubles peculiar to the sex. Don't make that mistake. Suspect your kidneys first. Men have similar aches when the kidneys are sick.

to the Pacific with alfalfa. At each edge of the right-of-way also will be planted a row of pine trees alternating with elms, there being a tree at intervals of every two rods. Three-fourths of typhoid patients are under 30.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why? To be filtered and purified from its impurities. This is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood. Then these impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

LABOR DELEGATES PULLED UP STAKES

Withdrew From Municipal Committee Because They Had Not Time to Make Selection.

A LIST WAS PRESENTED

Chairman Jones Said It Was a Good One, and He Would Not Hesitate a Moment to Vote for Any Man Named.

There was considerable surprise at the meeting of the joint committees of the Board of Trade, Trades and Labor Council and real estate owners last night, when the secretary read a communication from Mr. W. Dixon, chairman of the committee, and one of the Trades and Labor delegates, stating that he would have to withdraw from the committee, and that the whole committee of the Trades and Labor Council would probably withdraw also, as they could not really act on account of not being able to get in touch with all the different branches in so short a time.

Mr. Archer's Statement. Mr. Harry Archer, in addressing the meeting, stated that the Trades and Labor Council felt that while they might be able to choose perhaps five or six candidates they were not able to select 25, as had been suggested.

Selections Were Made. The real estate owners and board of trade selections were then read, and the two lists contained 56 men. Many of the same names were in a number of instances attached to both lists, and the names submitted were all those of men who would make first-class representatives.

Some discussion took place in regard to whether there should be a complete new slate or whether members of the council would be eligible. It was decided to leave the matter entirely to a vote of the committee, and all the members were asked to submit all the names they thought suitable for the final vote.

A Full Slate. Dr. Wilson moved that there be two candidates for mayor, seven for the board of aldermen, and one for the utility board, and one for the hospital trust.

Mr. J. M. Parsons moved in amendment that a full slate be selected, and on a vote being taken it was decided to run a full slate. In making his motion Mr. Parsons drew the attention of the members to the agitation that is on in Toronto for a lower tax rate.

PREMIER TELLS LABOR NAVY IS NECESSARY

Canada's Naval Policy Strongly Defended by Sir Wilfrid Before Deputation.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Canada's naval policy was strongly defended this morning by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at an audience a committee of the Government gave a deputation of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which presented the resolutions passed at the recent meeting in Quebec, one of which condemned the proposed naval policy.

The delegates had maintained that the policy was the product of adjustments of the local and municipal administration rather than of the Federal authorities. Sir Wilfrid said that he had been struck by this, that strife was not at an end between man and man. He had also been struck by the declaration that when labor differences culminate in a strike, while not actual warfare, it was a desperate struggle between man and man.

Military aid by Canada to the empire and protection by Canada of her own shores were not new ideas, Sir Wilfrid maintained. In 1900 Canada decided to go to the aid of the mother country in the South African struggle. In 1907 at the imperial conference it was decided that Canada, with other overseas dominions, should do something to aid in the defence of the empire. No immediate action had been taken, but the judgment of the people had been given time to mature. Now Sir Wilfrid declared that Canada could defend Canada, if necessary, and to aid the mother country should this be required.

STOP WASTE SAYS PROF. LAWLER

Interesting Address on Forestry Delivered Last Night in the Normal School.

SOME STRIKING FIGURES

Showing What Has Taken Place in the Past—Lecture Under Auspices of Canadian Club.

Mr. James Lawler, of the provincial forestry department, spoke last night at the assembly hall of the Normal School on "The Conservation of Our Resources." The lecture was given under the auspices of the Canadian Club, and Mr. C. B. Edwards was in the chair. There was a fair-sized audience present, in which the Normal students and the residents of South London were largely represented.

Mr. Lawler presented an amazing array of facts and figures, which left a very strong impression that there had been a great waste in Canada's great asset of her forests, and that it was time that this waste was stopped and decided steps taken towards re-forestation. Mr. Lawler illustrated his lecture with a number of very fine stereoscopic views, that added greatly to the interest of the evening.
The department of forestry and the Canadian Forestry Association are doing good work and it is gratifying to learn that their efforts are bearing fruit, in an increased interest and in practical steps being taken to conserve the forest wealth of Canada. Addressing the Normal school by Mr. James Lawler, secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, cannot do otherwise than stimulate interest, for it brought out facts and figures that were astonishing.

Area of Forests.
The area of the forests of Canada has been very much over-estimated. Estimators have dwelt on the size of the belt of timber stretching from Ontario, and thence north of the prairies to the Peace River country. But the timber on much of this is not merchantable. Except for firewood it is scarcely serviceable to man, and firewood cannot be transported long distances. Nowadays while the matter is still keenly debated, the best estimates fix the amount of Canada's merchantable timber at from one-third to one-half that of the United States. A very generous estimate places the available supply at 532 billion feet board measure. This seems an enormous quantity, but at the present rate of consumption, this would last the United States only twelve years, or England, which is a more careful user, 60 years. A recent Ontario estimate was to the effect that the timber of this province will last at the present rate 30 years.

Forests Are Limited.
All these estimates made with the hope of arriving at some idea of the situation. They differ widely, but all point to the fact that authorities are agreed that our forests instead of being inexhaustible are so limited that a period can be set when they will be used up, unless some plan of conservation forest management is adopted in the meantime.
As to the claim that substitutes will be found. This has not proven to be the case so far. Nor has it in other lines until the cost of the original rose so high as to render it profitable to search for a substitute. A paper making many fibres may be used, but all these cost more to gather and prepare than does sprucewood.
We are using more steel and concrete in the erection of buildings than ever before, yet the amount of timber consumed has been steadily increasing. In Canada the consumption of sawn timber is figured out to be 730 feet per head per year. That is to say, there is every year cut up into lumber in Canada enough timber to make a board walk ten feet wide and 73 feet long for every man, woman and child in the country. Taking in the quantities used for fuel, posts, etc., it amounts to nearly two cords (235 cubic feet) for every person in Canada.

The Loss From Fire.
But huge and wasteful as this is, it is not so huge as the dead loss from fire which it is estimated destroys every year at least twice as much timber as is used by man. During the nineteenth century more than half the forests of Canada were swept away by fire, but on the other hand they were accompanied by the destruction of other property and even of life. While the fire fiend has been somewhat checked in recent years a complete railway system with ties, keep every citizen of Canada warm in the winter, and would supply all the lumber required to build a good-sized city.
But the people of this country are deeply interested in the forests in a financial way.
In Ontario the annual revenue received by the Provincial Government is nearly $1 per head, or say $5 for the average family. The last return was $2,082,873.

Trade.
Besides the revenues which the country receives there is the immense trade arising out of timber which goes to enrich the people. The total exports of lumber for which the returns are available was (1908) $45,168,265. To this must be added all the home consumption, which is estimated by the census at $50,000,000 per year. The exports for the 41 years following Confederation amounted to $1,129,534. This makes an average of nearly $28,000,000 a year. This is 1-3 times the value of agricultural produce exported in the same period.
If this enormous trade were to cease, look at the industries that would be lost to Canada; sawmills, pulp and paper mills, furniture factories, wagon works, sash and door factories, and all the smaller industries that depend on lumber. One Ottawa mill alone employs 3,500 men during the season.

A Tremendous Loss.
There would follow the loss of all the industries supplying the lumber trade. These include machine shops, boiler factories, the makers of axes, saws, tools, drygoods, groceries, etc., while the farmer would lose a market for his feed, meat and live stock. The railways draw a large part of their trade from the lumbermen, and much of the shipping of our carrying forest products. The special census of 1906 shows that 75,000 families or 400,000 people in Canada are dependent on the forest industry, which amounts to about 6 per cent of the total population.

In speaking of forestry as related to the power question, he said that all Central Canada is without coal, and it would appear that Nature had compensated for this lack by providing an abundance of water power. It is estimated by some authorities that Canada has 40 per cent of the water powers of the world, and these powers are most abundant in the central parts. Smith in a recent paper, said there was probably now developed in Canada 350,000 horsepower of water-power. Considered only on a basis of a ten-hour day, this represented a saving of 1,750,000 tons of coal as compared with about 6,000,000 tons annually imported. The near future will be stated, see this doubled and trebled. Central Ontario has 200,000 to 200,000 horsepower developed or to be developed outside of Niagara Falls. The amount of power now developed, it means that we are allowing the equivalent of five thousand to ten thousand tons of coal for every ten thousand tons of power developed. In the year to flow away in our precipice and lost forever at this rate we would soon take steps to let it go. However, the public is waking up and every day sees more harness put on our streams.

The Case of Palestine.
Palestine was once described as a land flowing with milk and honey. It is today largely desert because of the destruction of the forests, which once covered the hills.
Because of the ruthless destruction of the forests, Northwestern Ontario has become a desert and this desert is rapidly extending. To keep the desert from the mountains, from washing over and destroying the lower fields completely, the inhabitants have been forced to terrace with stone whole mountain sides.
A largely desert from this cause, and one of the reasons for Spain's decadence is the decay of her agricultural industry. Much of Southern Europe is in the same position, though not so affected as is not so large as in Spain, and the Governments of those countries are now spending large sums simply to get back where they were a few decades ago. Here we will see what is in Canada to take warning, and save the forests upon which so much depends. Otherwise the lesson written in the history of that we will be reduced to the level of China, Spain, Syria, France and many other of the older countries of the world.

Story Is Repeated.
Perhaps the best story is only a case of "The Gobelins" in the old "Ye Don't Look Out." But right at our doors in fertile Southern Ontario the story is being repeated. The desert-making process has gone on for the Ontario department of agriculture has issued a report on the reforestation of waste lands in Southern Ontario. The Government has set aside a sum for the purchase of a portion of these lands in Norfolk County. Prof. Zaytze, of the Guelph Agricultural College, has been selected to have charge of this work, and already the work has been begun. The forest nursery has been moved from Guelph to Norfolk County where the conditions are better suited for it, and by the close of this year one thousand acres will be under the control of the department of agriculture and much of it planted. Prof. Zaytze, speaking of the quantity of such lands, says that in Old Ontario there are at least 8,000,000 acres which should be managed for forest purposes. The annual increment he estimates at $3,000,000.

The Remedy.
What can be done to stop the progress of these evils?
In the first place probably 60 per cent of the province of Ontario is fitted out for the growing of trees. What should be done in regard to this is to retain it in forest, and manage it so that it shall continually be producing crops of trees. In this part of Canada they will be scarcely any actual replanting. Various methods are in use by which as the crop of mature trees is taken off, sufficient trees are left to grow, and by the time the last mature trees are cut out there is a good stand of young growth. Fire is kept out, thinning is done from time to time, weed trees are cut out and in 60, 80 or 100 years a new crop of timber is ready to be cut.
Such systematic cutting has been carried on in Germany for over a century, with the result that the forests of that country are constantly growing better and constantly producing more timber. Prussia's net revenue from 7,000,000 acres of forest is $17,000,000 per year. The net revenue has risen from 50 cents per acre in 1850 to a little over $2 50 in 1907.

Saxony has 400,000 acres, or 625 square miles of forest. That is to say, these forests would cover a square 25 miles a side, or about half the area of an ordinary Ontario county. The net revenues from this forest have risen from 95 cents per acre in 1820 to $5 25 in 1905. Thus the forest revenues of Saxony and Ontario are about equal. In the possession of Ontario has still in the possession of the crown 114,980,000 acres, or 290 times as much. If Ontario secured from her timber land as much per acre as Saxony does from hers, Ontario would have a revenue from this source of $99,000,000.

The Duty of the Public.
What is the duty of the public in this matter?
First and foremost, every citizen should study this subject so as to be able to give intelligent support to the Governments of the Dominion and the provinces in their efforts to make laws and regulations and to enforce them so as to secure the best results.
As soon as possible a survey should be made of all the land in the hands of the crown and a decision arrived at as to whether it is fit for agriculture or not. If not fit for agriculture it should be set apart for a permanent timber reserve, and all efforts of settlers to get into it should be resisted. If they are honest settlers, it is a crime to let them by any means to get into it. If they are dishonest, it is a crime to let them by any means to get into it. If they are dishonest, it is a crime to let them by any means to get into it.

A Great Service.
Another great service that every one can do in this country is to preach and practice the doctrine of fire protection. Annually much more timber is destroyed by fire than the lumbermen cuts. This is particularly true of the young growth, which while it has little present value is the hope of the future. Most forest fires are due to carelessness of railroads, settlers, campers, and the incendiarism of prospectors who wish to let them burn. People who wish to lay bare in horror from the thought of doing anything that might result in the burning of $200 barn are strangely careless of setting fire to a $50,000 forest with all the added loss of the destruction of the soil, which will prevent the re-growth of that forest within the lifetime of two men. This is a great moral question and forest fires will never cease until the public conscience is aroused to the criminality of carelessness in this matter. We have been very wasteful in the matter of fires. The fire loss in America being ten times what it is in European countries.

The Obvious Duty.
In settled areas where land is not fit for agriculture, as on the same lands, the obvious duty is to get this back into forest as quickly as possible. The Ontario Government is buying certain sections back at $5 per acre. It should be supported in this work. Then as the municipalities are directly interested there might well be developed a system of municipal forest reserves in which the lands would be owned by the municipality, but managed by the provincial bureau of forestry, the profits over the cost management to come back to the municipality.

AN AMALGAMATION OF MANUFACTURING INTERESTS.
The Siemon Company, Limited, is incorporated to take over a number of manufacturing concerns that have been in successful operation in the past. In the prospectus issued by the company a list of the mills, factories and timber limits is given.
They include a number of very valuable properties, and as timber is bound to become more valuable year by year, the company's offering is well worth the careful consideration of conservative investors.
The mills and properties are well known and the directors of the company are men of high standing who have been associated with timber, lumbering operations and manufacturing for many years.
The head office is in Toronto.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Are Overcome By
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The kidneys have a very important work to perform in preserving health. All the blood passes through them over and over again and they filter it, removing all the impurities and worn-out muscle and tissue which the blood gathers up, in microscopic particles, in its flow through the body. These impurities are then expelled through the urinary system.
When the kidneys for any reason fail to perform this function, and the impurities are left in the blood, about the most distressing series of ailments which afflict mankind follow. First there is the aching back and a feeling of weariness, and then, as conditions grow worse, comes Rheumatism, Gravel, Diabetes, Gall Stones, Inflammation of the Bladder or the dreaded Bright's Disease.
The man or woman who allows kidney trouble to develop into any of these diseases is doing himself or herself a grave injustice, particularly when a cure can be had so readily. One of the constituents of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills is a Diuretic, which strengthens and stimulates the kidneys, enabling them to do their work thoroughly and with ease. These Pills also increase the action of the bowels and the pores of the skin, which remove some of the impurities, thus lightening the work of the kidneys.
Mr. Geo. Whitney, of Buffalo, N.Y., says they worked wonders for him. He writes: "Your Doctor Morse's Indian Root Pills have worked wonders in my case. I suffered for six years from liver trouble and kidney ailment. If I tried one medicine I tried a dozen, but without good results. Your pills were recommended and they cured me after using four boxes."
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills should be taken at the first sign of back-ache, of rheumatism, or of any difficulty in urinating.

BUDGET PASSES

THIRD READING

Goes to the Lords With a Big and Solid Government Majority.

PREMIER DEFINES ISSUE

The Taxes as Proposed by Financial Measure or Tariff Reform.

London, Nov. 4.—A motion made by the Opposition in the House of Commons tonight to reject the budget bill was defeated by a vote of 379 to 149, and the bill was then passed on its third reading.

It is long since there has been a greater attendance of members, and the diplomatic galleries were crowded to their utmost capacity.

Chancellor Lloyd-George, Premier Asquith and Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, all spoke during the evening, and there was tense excitement throughout the session.

The premier in a brief speech said that it was incumbent upon those who objected to the Government's taxes to provide some alternative scheme to meet the nation's necessities. Where was this scheme? he asked. Sooner or later Mr. Balfour must show his hand, and it would be a tragedy if that would suit the game of the tariff reformers.

The Government, continued the premier, might well be content to rest themselves in patience. There were only two issues before the House—the taxes proposed by the budget or tariff reform.

Government's Big Majority. Division was then taken, and the announcement of the vote showed the Government's majority to be larger than had been expected, was greeted with prolonged ministerial cheering. The Conservatives had counted upon a score of Liberal abstentions, but apparently only a handful of Liberals joined the Nationalists in the voting.

Irish With Commons. The abstention of the Nationalists is a declaration of war against the House of Lords which the struggle is carried into the country at the general election. Timothy Healy, Nationalist member of Parliament for the north division of Louth, tried ineffectually at yesterday's meeting to induce his party to vote against the budget, but he only secured nine colleagues to support him.

In announcing his party's decision to abstain John E. Boyd, in a speech in the House later, emphatically declared that if it was to be a question of the Lords' power to block the country's legislation permanently he would not be on the side of the Lords, but on the side of the Commons, and he would not allow himself to be called from this attitude by reason of his opposition to increased taxation in Ireland.

At their meeting the Nationalists also refused to call upon the Government to reject the amendment made in the House of Lords to the Irish land bill.

The Liberal press tomorrow morning will express pleasure that the budget has left the House of Commons by a solid majority, representing the whole strength of the party, including the Labor members. The only matter of discontent is the refusal of the Nationalists to support the budget. Their support, however, could hardly have been expected, in view of the fact that they opposed the Government on the second reading.

ANALYSIS OF STRONG'S BAKING POWDER

By J. T. SNELL, Professor of Chemistry, Macdonald College, Quebec, Canada.

Dear Sir,—I have recently had occasion to test a sample of your baking powder for alum and acid phosphate of lime. I have found your product entirely free from these substances. I have not determined the efficiency of your powder, but note that Bulletin 174 of the Laboratory of the Inland Revenue Department, not only classes yours among the pure cream of tartar powders, but gives such results on the amount of zinc produced per pound of powder as would place your brand among the most efficient powders of its class.

GIBSON MAY GO ON THE STAGE

Alluring Offer Has Been Made to Him to Appear in Vaudeville in New York.

George (Mooney) Gibson is the recipient of numerous letters daily. Many of them are letters of congratulation, while others are decidedly of a business nature.

WEST LONDON NEWS

The Latest Happenings in the Growing Suburb to the West of the City.

George (Mooney) Gibson is the recipient of numerous letters daily. Many of them are letters of congratulation, while others are decidedly of a business nature. One arrived this week from New York City, from a fair young damsel, who has made a great name in the theatrical world, requesting Mr. Gibson to consider an offer to appear on the vaudeville stage with her in a specially-prepared sketch. He has received a number of such letters lately, but has given none of them a serious consideration, and has made no reply as yet in regard to the last offer. The communication stated that if he would consent to appear before the footlights for the winter season, at least, the salary would be a fat one.

"I don't think I could make anyone laugh," said Mr. Gibson, "nor do I think I would have nerve enough to do a test every day." With his wife and family he left yesterday for a week's hunting near Wyoming. During his pleasure jaunt he will give the proposition his serious consideration, only by the time he returns to this city he will have made up his mind whether he would care to be a matinee idol.

Mr. Gibson was in attendance at St. John's minstrel show on Wednesday night. "Mooney" was presented with an honorary membership ticket by J. C. Johnson, the president of the club. In making the presentation, Mr. Johnson spoke a few appreciative words, which were responded to by "Mooney," thanking them for their remembrance. He was also the honored guest on Tuesday night of little Helen Williams, daughter of Mrs. E. J. Williams, 36 Charles street, when a pleasant evening was spent. Songs and recitations were contributed by Misses Margaret Gibson, Audrey Williams, Madeline Earl, and Master Charley Stevens. Refreshments were served at the close of the much-enjoyed evening.

A pretty wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, at the corner of Richmond and Oxford streets, when their daughter Annie was married to Mr. Elliott Hickson, of St. Andrew's street, West London. The affair was a quiet one, only the relatives and near friends of the young couple being present. Handmade and costly were the presents received, which, in the high esteem in which the popular young couple are held by their many friends.

Mrs. Culbert, whose residence is at the corner of Kensington street and Wilson avenue, West London, mourns the loss of a large pan of taffy, which she had prepared for the proprietors of the "Taffy" shop, when the taffy outside to cool. West Enders are good at giving "taffy," and are also good at taking it away again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clugstone, Wyatt street, West London, left Wednesday for Rockport, N. Y., to be present at the funeral of Mr. Clugstone's sister-in-law, who resided in that city. Death came as a surprise, the deceased lady being ill only a short time.

Employees of the McCormick Manufacturing Company, numbering about 50, assessed Miss Gladys Ocker, on evening this week, at her home, 75 Albion street, when they called, prepared to spend the evening with her. The usual games and different kind of entertainment were indulged in, which helped to pass away a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments were very popular at the close.

The fifth anniversary of little Audrey Williams' birth was celebrated at her home, 30 Kensington street, last evening. A number of little playmates were invited to her home for the occasion, and the party was a very merry one, after which dainty delicacies were served. The children journeyed to their homes, wishing that they would soon be invited to another such happy event.

Some mischievous person placed a cartridge or other explosive on the car tracks in West London yesterday. A report was the result. At the time a horse driven by a young man was passing. Had the driver not been on the alert an accident might have happened, as the animal took fright, but was soon under control.

Fortune has certainly smiled on a number of residents of West London. York Loan checks by the hundreds are arriving daily at homes across the breakwater. The amounts received by many are very small. In addition to the Alexander street resident who received and successfully cashed her check for 12 cents, there are many other like amounts. One receiver cashed one for 15 cents, and the latest report is that Mr. Russell Smith, of Blackfriars street, has accepted the record-breaker so far learned of that of 12 cents. He says he will not cash it, but have it framed and keep it for a souvenir.

There was a specially called meeting of the local chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held in the schoolroom of St. George's Church, West London, last evening. The meeting was called to meet Mr. Birmingham, the traveling secretary of the brotherhood. Mr.

Recital in Dundas Centre Methodist Church by Mr. Clarence Eddy, of New York.

The organ recital given last night in the Dundas Centre Methodist Church by Mr. Clarence Eddy, of New York, in conjunction with the choir of the church, under the leadership of Mr. J. Parrell Morris, was one of the musical treats of the year. Mr. Eddy would need no introduction to any audience, as his reputation as an organist marks him as one of the greatest artists on the continent. This programme last night was one of very unusual interest, and was so happily arranged that it appealed strongly, not only to the finished musical critic, but also to those who were not versed in organ music. His numbers were beautifully varied, and exquisitely rendered throughout.

The debate which was to have been held at the university last night, was held over for a future meeting, and in its place the literary society provided a literary and musical programme. Miss E. V. Clarke sang a couple of his folk-like songs in his usual delightful fashion, and violin solos were rendered by Miss Blackburn and Miss Brodick. Readings were given by Miss Boss and Mr. Charles Evans. The literary society decided to purchase the leading periodicals and magazines for the university reading room.

SHUDDERS AS HE TELLS OF CRIME

Witness in Hoine Case Shows Jury Where Orendorf Met His Death.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—Second street dock was the scene of the greater part of yesterday afternoon's session of the trial of John R. Hoine, the young United States sailor charged with killing Charles Orendorf, of Ridgeway, Ont. It was on that dock that the flat encounter is said to have taken place which resulted in Orendorf's death, and Judge Connolly took the jurors to the dock that they might more fully understand the matter.

The jury, Judge, prosecutor, defendant and his counsel, and witnesses were loaded in two patrol wagons and taken from the recorder's court to the dock. Joseph Rybicki, the fisherman who was on the dock at the time Hoine is charged by the prosecutor with having started a fight with Orendorf, was the leading witness in the out-of-door session.

First, he showed where he was sitting when Hoine is said to have come on the dock, and walking up to Orendorf, said: "Now I have got you, you ———." He declared that after Hoine struck Orendorf he jumped up, grabbed his lantern, and running to front street, turned toward the Michigan Central station in quest of an officer.

Saw Man in River.
"I was unable to find an officer," he declared. "Then I went back to where I was fishing and sat down on the edge of the dock. I sat there for awhile, and then decided to pull in my lines to see if I had any fish."

"When I pulled on the first line I felt something very heavy and thought that I had a fish on the hook. I kept on pulling, but the hook caught in the heavy that I looked down to see if I could see anything that was holding it. The moon was shining and I saw

Here Rybicki stopped and looked toward Hoine, who stood nearby handcuffed to an officer.

"And what did you see?" questioned Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kilpatrick.

"I saw two feet sticking out of the water," continued Rybicki, looking away from Hoine and shuddering.

Shows Little Concern.
After Rybicki had been summoned several waters from the Wayne casino, one of whom sent in a telephone call for the coroner, the court journeyed back to the Municipal Building. During the trip to the scene of the alleged killing, Hoine conversed with a young lady in the patrol wagon and showed apparently little concern.

Before the court went to the dock Charles Van Gordon, barber at 91 Jefferson avenue, went on the stand and testified that about 11 o'clock on the night of Aug. 23, Hoine and Taylor were in his shop and that Hoine made no mention of having been held up and robbed during the evening.

"What did Hoine talk about while in the shop?" was asked of Van Gordon.

"Oh, he spoke about his home in Milwaukee," returned the witness.

"And what did Taylor do?" asked the prosecutor.

"He went to sleep," smiled Van Gordon.

Court was adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

PRELIMINARY DIAGNOSIS.

A writer in Tit-Bits says that a wealthy gentleman living in North Devon, who took a great interest in the church, offered to give the choir a treat, and decided on the really princely one of taking them for a week to Paris.

He escorted them himself to places of interest and beauty in that charming city, but not once during their whole stay, or even on their return, did one of the men say to him that he had liked the trip or had enjoyed himself.

CHANGE DRAIN INTO A SEWER

The Board of Works Last Night Found a Way Out of the Langarth St. Difficulty.

MATTERS DEALT WITH

Little Row Between City Clerk Baker and Sergeant-at-Arms Merritt Was Aired.

There was a meeting of the board of works at the city hall last night, with Chairman Gerry presiding. The most important business before the board was the matter of the Langarth street sewer.

Mr. J. C. Judd was present to safeguard the interests of the residents of that locality, as well as a representative of the residents themselves.

How It Was Settled.

After some discussion it was moved by Ald. Saunders, that the city engineer connect the Langarth street drain, east of Cathcart street, with the sewer now under construction on Cathcart street, having first cut off all gutters, and any other connections from the street or lands into the aforesaid drain on Langarth street, between the Wortley road and Cathcart street, and provided always that the property owners on Langarth street, east of Cathcart street, give the city an agreement consenting to the said drain (which was laid under the municipal drainage act by the town of St. George's minister under bylaw 422, dated the 6th day of July, 1896), being changed and diverted from its original use and intention of a drain for land drainage only to a sewer.

The motion was finally carried.

Will Be Done at Once.

In reply to a question of Mr. A. E. White as to whether the residents could expect the work to be done before the winter set in, the city engineer stated it would be done immediately, and the deputation expressed themselves as eminently satisfied with the action taken.

There were several other petitions heard.

Mr. Walters drew the attention of the board to the condition of Piccadilly street between Richmond and St. George's street, "I don't mind mud up to my ankles," he remarked, "but I object to it up to my knees, and I wish you would either gravel the road or build a bridge across it."

"Nothing will be of any use," said Engineer Graydon, "except a storm sewer. That is the only way to change the condition. All the gravel you could pour there would change the condition without that."

Ald. Saunders said that the city should do something in the matter. He thought if the residents of that street would sign a petition, and were willing to pay for the putting down of a sewer from Richmond to St. George's street, that the city would be responsible for the matter.

Mr. R. M. McElhannon complained of the condition of the sidewalk street. The roadway was practically impassable, and the sidewalk in many places was below the level of the surrounding property. This led to the water, which got up to his ankles, and the engineer was instructed to visit the place and see what could be done towards remedying these conditions.

Right Street Grievance.

Mr. A. Tancock was the next petitioner. He wished to know what the board was going to do about granting him a driveway into his property on Piccadilly street, between St. George's street and the city hall.

The engineer had promised that the driveway should be laid, but the engineer when spoken to about the matter had said that he would have to pay for it himself.

"I would like to know," said Mr. Tancock, "who is the boss?"

Ald. Saunders acknowledged that such a promise had been made, but that it had been changed by the engineer had changed the complexion of the matter somewhat. Still he thought that the city should do something, and he suggested that the city and Mr. Tancock should go to the council and see what could be done.

The Furnace Matter.

Mr. Tancock then brought up the matter of his furnace, which had been removed from his house and placed in his cellar by reason, as he claimed, that the drains from his house were not properly connected. The city had offered him $25 to remove it, but Mr. Tancock presented an elaborate array of testimony to prove that sixteen years was an average life of a furnace, and that his had been used for three years.

He had lost three-quarters of its value, and therefore made a claim for $75.

"If you don't grant it," he concluded, "I'll have to try to get it."

After other business had been disposed of it was finally decided that Ald. Rose and Ald. Saunders, in company with some expert, should examine the furnace and see what it would cost to put it in repair again, that the council might be able to act intelligently on the matter.

Water on Egerton Street.

Mr. Gilmore on Egerton street, demanded to know what the board was going to do about the water in front of his place.

"You bought a hole in the ground and you can't get the water away," replied the engineer. This remark nettled Mr. Gilmore, who requested Mr. Graydon not to use the expression "hole in the ground," in that matter was asked to drop Mr. Gilmore's request for a crossing in front of his place of business on Egerton street, was, however, acceded to.

Objects to Curb.

Mr. R. Michell objected to a curbing being placed in front of his property on Wellington street, and after some discussion it was decided only to carry the curbing as far as Louisa street.

Eliza Daw petitioned for a crossing at Pegler street on the Hamilton road. It was decided to put in a gravel crossing for the present, pending further action in the spring.

Bad Walks.

Ald. Rose called the attention of the board to the condition of the sidewalks in the business portion of Dundas street, where there were puddles as he graphically explained, "deep cuts a groove a full-grown foot out." It was decided to have the curbs cut out deeper so that the water might be carried off. It was also the opinion of different members of the board that it would help somewhat if the store-keepers would take the trouble to sweep off their sidewalks.

Row Over Chairs.

The refusal of Mr. Merritt, the collector of the city, to carry up some chairs for a deputation of ladies at a recent meeting of the board of health, brought him into the limelight. City Clerk Baker had asked him to do so, and he refused, and Mr. Baker requested to be informed as to who was responsible for seeing that the caretaker did his work. Mr. Baker also made some other charges as to the unhealthy condition of the basement and the failure to have the offices properly cleaned. The board, however, did not seem to take these matters very seriously.

"If women want to come as a delegation," said Alderman Cooper, "let them stand. If they attended to their own duties it would be better than having them coming down to the council meetings. We have enough to bother us without a lot of women coming."

The matter was concluded by a motion that the janitor should take his instructions from the city engineer alone.

The Scanlon Drain.

The question of the Scanlon drain made under an award by the city and county was then brought up. The city's share of this will be $260, which will be assessed on the ratepayers. The president of the grand jury at the recent assizes, advocating a new heating and ventilating system for the court house, was introduced to the board, and gave an opportunity for a few more shocks at the time-honored edifice. The sooner the city gets a full of its own the better," was Alderman Cooper's opinion, just why he did not state.

Alderman Gerry mentioned the fact that the county engineer was empowered to spend $1,000 of the city's money on its maintenance yearly, without any reference to the city council. It was the greatest mistake the city ever made. Finally the inevitable happened, and the recommendation was filed for reference.

The pay sheet, amounting to $482.90, and a number of minor accounts were passed, bringing the business to a close.

PORT ALMA.

Port Alma, Nov. 4.—Port Alma has much improved lately by the addition of two new houses erected by the Gas Company who are sending gas to Sarnia.

They are having their regulators at Port Alma and are building houses for the men who are to look after them.

Things are stirring in this neighborhood on account of the number of gas lines being put down and a number of men are being employed at good wages.

A number of farmers are shipping their apples to Leamington.

Mr. A. Milfin and John Coffell have returned up the coast from their trip to the West. Mr. Milfin expects to go back there in the spring with his family.

Mr. Alva Coffell will have an up-to-date house on his property when completed.

Mrs. Joseph Simpson had a pleasant visit at Stratford.

Thelma School is having a red and blue button contest. Miss Besse Dawson and Miss Besse Shanks are the champions, and whichever side brings the most new pupils to the school by the end of the year is to be maintained by the other side. There is great interest in the contest.

Mr. Louis Wigle was around Thursday buying up the last of the tobacco in this neighborhood.

The public school under the superintendence of its teacher, Mrs. Harvey, gave a very pleasing concert to the ladies of the section recently. A good programme was well rendered by the children, after which they were given a lunch, and the ladies felt they were much honored by the kindnesses they received.

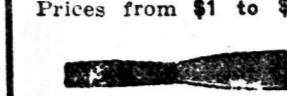

Mrs. McKinn, sr., had slight stroke of paralysis on Tuesday, but we are glad to report she is better.
