$1.00 PER YEAR Reynolds, who was sentenced on June 24th, 1891, to fourteen years in the penitentiary, is now a free man and, for it all, he has a woman to thank. When all the rest of Reynolds friends - and he had many - gave up in despair and said that his release was impossible, one young woman said, "Well, I will save him," and she did. At the time of the tragedy shot his brother John, and then in the which cost Myers his life, and Reynolds presence of his mother, shot himself. his liberty, the latter was engaged to be married to a young woman named Annie Bean. Reynolds' release, she had come in contact with a great many men of prominence both in and out of Montreal, and she had a keen appreciation of what prominent men can do when they try. Miss Bean told the story of her work upon the case in a clear, concise manner. She said: "I looked the matter up at the time of Mr. Reynolds' sentence, though I really did not undertake the task until June, 1893. From the day he went to prison, I said I would do my duty and I think I have done it. In June 1893, I visited the penitentiary and brought back with me letters from Mr. Reynolds to the Hon. J. J. THE SAME OLD DOSE.

The puerility of the Opposition mind was never better displayed than in the Assembly debate which closed last night with another wipe-out for the aggregation led by Dr. Stockton. The opening speeches in the debate and Dr. Stockton's amendment to the address will be found in our legislative report. The Opposition leader sought to cram it down the members' throats, that his little amendment was a very harmless affair, not by any means a want of confidence motion, but just a little resolution to set the Board of Works right. AFRAID TO FACE HIS CONSTITUENTS

The Liberals of New Brunswick have drawn first blood in the Dominion contest, which may now be regarded as fairly opened. The announcement is made that Hon, G. E. Foster will not seek reelection in Kings county, being unwilling to face certain defeat in his old constituency. The excuse is given that the Finance Minister's health is so poor that he is not able to canvass so large a constituency as Kings, and that he may seek a seat in either York or St. John. The hollowness of this excuse is apparent to everybody. The fact is Mr. Foster has made such a miserable representative that his friends in Kings have become tired of him and want another man. Besides this only gross corruption of the electorate saved knows that another contest would mean his extinction. If Mr. Foster comes to York he will discover it to be a large county and a harder one to canvas than Kings. Possibly he is counting on election by acclamation, but THE HERALD thinks it can promise him as lively a time as he has ever experienced in his life. Mr. Foster's desertion of Kings is a confession of Conservative weakness all over New Bruns wick, and ought to nerve the Liberals to an active, aggressive and successful cam-

HAZING IN TORONTO.

A Freshman Tells of an Extraordinary State of Affairs in Trinity College.

College, Toronto, has been made and hazing is said to be carried on in that seat of learning to a disgraceful extent.

A freshman was humiliated by a senior on the college grounds the other day in presence of a newspaper man, and after the senior had passed on the freshman inburdened his mind.

"Why didn't you punch his head? sked the scribe as the senior walked off. "And get the tar knocked out of me tonight," was the rejoinder. I guess you don't know Trinity. If I knocked that pup down do you know what would happen? I would be fired into a cold bath or have to run the gauntlet, or beg his pardon kneeling on a table before the whole outfit, or something just as pleasant. You outsiders look upon Trinity as a hall of learning. So it is, a freshman learns what it is to be bullied by a gang who would make the place too hot for him if did not submit. If you think that Kingston is the only place in Canada where they haze, you are wide of the mark." A few questions brought out the story of a condition of things at Trinity of which the authorities are evidently unaware. "You see," said the youth, "a fellow does not have any chance of rebel-

Once More Receiving Attention from the Legislators of New Brunswick.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH IN OPENING THE SESSION THURSDAY.

Debate on the Address and Crushing Defeat of the Opposition.

The New Brunswick legislature is again in session, and at the earliest date for many years. The formal ceremonies took place Thursday afternoon and were attended by the usual large crowd of people, many strangers being present. Long before the galleries was filled, and all available places of vantage were occupied by an expectant th ong of people. A great many seats had been placed within the sacred precincts of the members' floor, and these were also for such measure, when laid before you, promptly filled by those who were lucky enough to have friends at court. The house was constituted at 2.30 o'clock, when Speaker Burchill in flowing robes, headed by the new and dapper sergeant-at-arms, H. C. Rutter, and followed by Clerks Rainsford his seat on the dias. There was no chaplain, Rev. Mr. Weddall baving removed com the city during the recess, but the Speaker was equal to the occasion and kneeling at his chair, recited prayers.

The first business was to swear in the new members, three having been elected since last session. Judge Tuck was present from the Supreme Court to put the necessary oath to each, and they were introduced in this

Dr. Atkinson, of Carleton, by Dr. Stockton and Mr. Phinney. After taking the oath they signed the roll and took their seats. Mr. Veniot is small, apparently not much over thirty years of age, dark complexion, spectacled, and altogether a good looking young man. He is editor of the Courrier, a French paper published at Bathurst, and among the Acadians especially, is regarded as a coming man. Mr. Martin is a giant in physical stature, towering above his fellow members and probably weighs at least two hundred and fifty pounds. Like Mr. Veniotahe is cleanshaven except for a moustache, and is a splendid looking specimen of manhood. Dr. Atkinson's form and features were familiar, but unfortunately he is not the Dr sick looking man physically, and his changed

Was Remarked by Everybody.

He has raised a full beard, too, which changes his looks very much. The swearing-in ceremony was over before three o'clock, and the house and galleries awaited the arrival of Governor Fraser to formally open the session, and His Honor was promptly on time. The booming of cannon and the strains of the National Anthem outside announced the arrival of His Honor at the Parliament buildings, and the crowd inside craned their necks and strained their ears. The Governor and his party were received by a guard of honor of one hundred men from the R. R. C. I., in command of Capt. Chinic and headed by their own band, which made its first public appearance Thursday since its reorganization.

The whole assembly arose as the Governor Entered the Legislative Chamber.

and took his seat on the throne, Accompanying His Honor was a brilliant military staff composed of Major Gordon, A. D. C., Major Campbell, A. D. C., Lieut-Col. Maun. sell, D. A. Mr. Blair - Well, I say if the hon. gentleman whose knowledge of constitutional law is so vast that he does not hesitate to instruct the rising generation, thinks that the production of a written resignation certified in the way the law requires and properly filed, is not an essential but is a mere technicality, then I confess I should not like to sit under my hon. friend's instruction as a Gamaliel in the ream of constitutional law. In my case it would be a case of the blind leading the blind. If that was a mere technicality he (Blair) yearned to be enlightened as to what could properly be termed a substantial condition. The honmember's reasoning on this subject was about as profound as could be expected, perhaps, from a gentleman who declared that, when two counties returned Government supporters and one county returned an opposition supporter, the trend of public opinion was against the Government. Under all the circumstances he (Blair) would ask the hon, members opposite whether, under

THE FOUNDERED SHIP.

(Lake Michigan, Nov., 1864.) The morning broke across the lake Upon a sea so fierce and wild; The trembling sun one moment gleamed Upon a kneeling child: His voice is heard in pleading tones Between the clashing thunder's roar, Amid the waves that swept the deck, His form is bowed in prayer once more "Wilt thou grant us help in this awful hour Great God of love and power Divine! And breathe upon our storm-worn crew

O Father! grant their prayers and mine!" The gallant seamen, tired and faint, Had sunk on deck in numb despair; From all that crew but two remained, One held the helm-one knelt in prayer. The helmsman knew his work was vain, No ship could live in such a storm. The supplicant, in trusting faith,

A gleam of hope from hand of Thine!

Sang: "Praise to God for light, for dawn." His voice, exhausted, strangely wild, Awakes the crew from deathlike sleep; All trembling, they half rise and gaze, Then list enrapt to notes so sweet; The timid sunbeams kiss the waves, And sooth the grand old king to rest, The boy delirious, sang the hymns He'd heard upon his mother's breast,

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow," He sang with plaintive strain-And then they saw the coming ship, His prayers had not been vain: And on the lake, so broad and wild. The sailors sang with the trusting child: "Great God of all' who rules supreme, We praise thy power Divine, Who harkened to our helpless cry, And clasped our hands in Thine!
