THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Words of Encouragement to Childless Women.

Motherhood is woman's natural destiny, but many women are denied the happiness of children simply because of some curable derangement.

Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its marvelous power to overcome such derangements, as evidenced by the following letter:—

Worcester, Mass.—"I suffered from female ills, and was advised to have an operation, but a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and who has six children, told me to try it. It has helped me so much that I am now well and have a baby boy who is the picture of health, and I thank the Vegetable Compound for my restoration to health."

—Mrs. BERT GARVEY, 20 Harker St., Worcester, Mass.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice—it will be confidential.

A Child of Sorrow.

CHAPTER XLII.

"If you'll be so kind, my lord, I wanted you to draw up a will for me. It ain't much, I mean it won't take much time and paper. I can see by your eye that you know who I am, I'm Josiah Purley, Mr. Carrington's old pal. I'm the cause of all the trouble, worse luck! But if I'm going to hand in my checks, I can put it all straight, thank God. You see them two young ladies—God bless 'em—wouldn't take a penny from me while I'm alive—I can see that beautiful one with her eyes flashing and her mouth drawn straight, at this moment!—nothing would induce her to take a penny, not while I'm alive; but I can put it all straight now. If you'll be so good as to get a piece of paper and write down what I say, I shall be grateful to you; for it will take a load off my heart and make it easy for me to pass away, as you may say."

Heroncourt went to his writing-table and cut a sheet of paper and sat beside the bed, waiting.

"Just write that this is my last will and testimony," said Purley. "That I am sorry that I ever turned up and rounded upon Mr. Carrington in the way I did; that the money was rightly his, for he bought the shares right out; and I leave everything that I'm possessed of, all the shares in the Roaring Jane that they gave back to me, and everything else, to the young ladies, poor Carrington's daughters; and say I wish them well and every happiness. The money ain't been any use to me—I wouldn't have touched a penny to save me from starvation—and I hope that it will make it all straight for them. Mr. Carrington was a pal of mine—he gave me money—helped me to a fresh start!—it weren't his fault that the start went wrong. I'm a kind of Jonah, I am; everything goes wrong. Why, I'd sooner get to Dartford than them chaps rose and burnt the house down!"

Heroncourt wrote out the will and read it over.

"That's it," said Purley. "You couldn't have done it better if you'd been a lawyer, Mr. Tudor; but that comes of education: it's a fine thing. 'Just hoist me up, Mr. Baxter, will you kindly?'"

They raised him, and he signed the will and Heroncourt and Baxter put their names as witnesses. Then Purley looked at Heroncourt in a troubled kind of way.

"There's something I want to say to you, my lord, about—about—Miss Carrington—the beautiful one, you know. Something about her marriage—but I can't think what it is. My mind was so set up upon this will that it's druv everything else out. Can you help me, Mr. Baxter?"

"Never mind," said Heroncourt. "You've done enough for one day. You must try and be quiet and rest. And don't talk of handing in your checks, David; you're too good a man for us to let slip; good men are scarce."

Purley looked at him gratefully and soon afterwards closed his eyes and fell asleep. When Sir Jeremiah came in later in the day he smiled more than ever while he was in the presence of the injured man, but he was rather grave and short in his speech when he went down stairs with Heroncourt to the sitting-room.

"That man means to die," he said. "Obstinate old fool! And he'll die, too, if we can't raise him up a bit. I've seen cases like that before. There's no spring, and without a spring you can't get either a watch or a man to go. If you could hit upon something that would knock this nonsense of wanting to die out of him you might pull him round. If you can't, I tell you frankly, he'll slide off. Seems a decent old chap. I had a similar case some time ago: a young girl who had lost her father and had some kind of love trouble. Let me see, what was her name—that young lady who recites, Miss—Miss Carrington; ah, yes, that's it! She was in a bad way, going into decline; I got her out to Australia and that pulled her round."

Heroncourt bit his lip and sighed, but with a touch of bitterness. She had soon forgotten her love trouble! He went upstairs to Purley who was awake and greeted him with a smile but with a troubled expression in his eyes.

"I can't think what it is I want to tell you, my lord," he said. "It's about Miss Carrington and a marriage and a man named—I forget his name."

An idea came into Heroncourt's head.

"Would you like to see Miss Carrington, Purley?" he said.

"Ah, yes," he said. "I should greatly; but it's only more trouble—she'd come fast enough, for she has a gentle heart; I could see that, though she was so firm and hard with her. Yes, I'd like to see her, but—"

"You shall see her," said Heroncourt, in a low voice.

Half an hour later his cab pulled up at Coleridge Street—he had got the address, the old address, from Lady Glassbury—and Sarah, all in a flutter at his appearance, tore upstairs and knocked at the sitting-room door.

"There's that gentleman, that swell, a-asking to see you, Miss Maida," she panted, breathlessly.

Heroncourt entered, and Maida rose, white to her lips. He, too, was pale, and there was a stern look of repression in his face as he stood and looked at her. Poor fellow, he was saying to himself: "This is not my Maida. She is married, married! I am only here on business."

"Byrne!" cried Carrie; but Maida said not a word, but stood with her hands tightly gripped, and her eyes fixed on him. He did not know that all her heart went out to him, that she longed to shelter herself in his arms.

He stood, hat in hand, grave, almost stern.

"I have to apologise for this intrusion—Miss Carrington," he said. Seeing that she wished her marriage to be kept secret, he must call her by her maiden name. "I am a messenger from a sick man, I fear a dying man. It is Josiah Purley—"

"Josiah Purley," murmured Maida; "he is found at last!"

"Yes; I am sorry to say that he has met with an accident, a serious accident. He is dangerously ill. He wished to see you. Will you come? He is lying in my rooms. Will you come?"

"Oh, yes, yes!" breathed Maida. "Of course I will come."

CHAPTER XLIII.

They reached Bernard Place, and Heroncourt opened the door with his latch-key, and took them into his sitting-room.

"We have been fortunate enough to get Sir Jeremiah Jordan," he said; "we have also got a capital and devoted nurse. He was run over in the Strand while following me across the road. Will you not sit down while I go and prepare him? You will find him very weak and a little hazy in his mind, perhaps. He is very anxious to see you."

They sat down; and when he had left the room, Maida's eyes wandered round it with that quick, all-comprehensive glance peculiar to a woman. It was the room in which the man she loved had lived; but she noticed every little detail; the books, the pictures, his cigar-cabinet and pipe-rack—everything. She was sitting in his own chair beside the fire, her hand resting upon the arm in which his hand had rested. Even in that moment a thrill ran through her and her heart ached with love and wistful longing; but she put the emotion from her and arose instantly Heroncourt came into the room; but quick as she had risen he had seen her in his chair; the colour rose to his face and he stifled a sigh.

"Will you come up?" he said. "I am afraid Carrie must remain here; two might excite him too much."

Maida followed him upstairs, went to the bedside, and, bending over Purley, took his hand.

"It's very good of you to come, miss," he said. "Pears I'm bound to be a trouble, right up to the end. You're like your father, miss—there's something about your eyes—He was an old friend of mine. I wish he was living now! Yes; it is good of you to come, for I want to see you badly; I wanted to tell you how sorry I was to be obliged to go off, into hiding, so to speak; but there weren't no other way, for nothing would have induced me to touch that money which belongs to you, every penny of it."

The tears were in Maida's eyes but forced a smile and managed to keep her low, sweet voice steady as she said:

"You must not think, talk, of that; you must not worry about anything, but try to get well."

Purley looked at her with a curious expression in his pale eyes.

"As to getting well," he said; "but don't talk about that. It seems to me that some people are better out of the world than in it; they are what you may call general nuisances, though perhaps it's more their misfortune than their fault. I don't know that I'm particularly anxious to pall through. But don't let that trouble you, miss—would you mind my calling you Miss Maida? I heard him—your father—calling you that night at the big house of yours; and I thought then what a pretty name it was, and if I'd had a daughter—"

He sighed and shook his head slightly. "Yes; call me Maida," she said. "You were my father's friend. Are you in any pain?"

She sank into the chair beside the bed and passed her hand gently and soothingly over the wrinkled forehead. He looked at her gratefully.

"You're very good to me, Miss Maida; better than I deserve. And his lordship, too"—he looked round the room, but Heroncourt had left it and was pacing up and down in the passage—"he had been more good to me than I can say. Ah, Miss Maida, there was never anybody like him, so brave and noble—yes, that's the word; he's a nobleman every way, every inch of him. If you'd seen him that night at Dartford—"

He broke off and began to look about him a little vacantly; then, as if with an effort, he brought his wandering mind back. "Put your hand on my forehead again, Miss Maida; it soothes me and eases me; if makes me think that you've forgotten all the trouble I've brought you."

Fashions and Fads.

Russet shades with touches of grain ribbon ties are very becoming. Plain felt hats with simple grooved bright gold and green are favored for autumn.

Silver lace over pale rose chiffon is a lovely combination for an evening gown.

Fur pompons are seen on the girldie belts of the new half season sports coats.

Black satin and white pique are constantly combined in the making of chic frocks.

Black charmeuse relieved by a little rich color is in high favor for afternoon gowns.

The waistcoat front idea for coats seems to be indorsed by all the leading dressmakers.

Velvet and silk muslin is one of the latest combinations for smart afternoon gowns.

A swirl of ostrich feather peeps from above on the brim of some of the smartest hats.

There is a fancy for tailored underwear to wear with the severe tailored outer dress.

A crown of white pique and a brim of black satin, makes one of the very prettiest of hats.

Dinner gowns with high backs, low fronts and transparent sleeves serve for all ordinary evening occasions.

Tassels have lost much of their rank in fashion, almost all belts and girdles end frankly without trimming.

The new pique is a soft light material which comes in all the soft, charming shades. Paris is wearing pique now.

Broad sash belts will be seen in new autumn dresses, and often these belts will show colored fringe and embroideries.

Child Welfare.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In your editorial of the 25th instant on Child Welfare you rightly say that the principal cause of the infantile mortality in St. John's is the dirt of the city. One of the most experienced authorities on sanitation, speaking of infantile mortality, says "the first thing and the principal essential towards preventing disease is to eliminate the causes. It is, therefore, highly necessary to see that back yards, closets, alleys, streets and surface drains are kept absolutely clean."

Until some effort is made by the Mayor and Council to free our streets and drains from the festering filth which one sees, even in our principal streets, it is useless to hold educational meetings and delegate to committees of citizens the work of teaching mothers how to bring up children.

Too much time is wasted by the City Council in discussing such matters as whether Jones & Co. may extend their office accommodation, whether Mrs. Brown may have a porch, or whether the employees should have increases of salaries and such like matters. I do not remember having seen any discussion about the filthy drains and the filthy streets, and how they might be made clean. Any person who has not got an automobile, and has to walk, cannot pass through certain thoroughfares during this hot weather without realizing that the side drains are pestiferous.

Until the city authorities awake to this fact that the cobble surface drain is a breeder of disease, we will have contagious diseases of all kinds in our midst. If it were not for the rain fall in this country it would be far worse, but the rain only cleanses those drains which are on a steep slope. Those which are on the level are not affected by the rain, as the spaces between the cobble stones hold the sediment and the water flows over it, so when the sun comes out, and acts on the sediment, putrefaction takes place. Any one walking along Water Street West, by what is known as Gallaghy's West, or along Duckworth Street east of Prescott Street, can verify my statements. I have, during this hot weather, seen drain sweepers sweep the drains and collect and leave the filth in little piles, presumably to wait until a sanitary cart removed them, and I have seen small children, as soon as the sweeper had gone, deliberately commence to make mud pies of the filth.

The sweeping of the drains does not clean them, because it is impossible to clean a cobble stone drain with a birch broom. If other streets in congested areas, like Lime Street, Casey Street, etc., etc., are looked after in the same manner by the civic authorities, is it any wonder that the rate of infantile mortality is so high in St. John's? I believe there is legislation which prohibits the throwing of dirt into surface drains, but it appears that no one has authorized to put it in force. We have had outbreaks of diphtheria, there are 22 or 23 cases now in the city, outbreaks of scarletina and similar contagious diseases, but no effort is made by the authorities to trace their origin and cause.

It is said that the sand, brought here as ballast by vessels from Pernambuco and Bahia, is dug from the shore where the sewers of these cities empty, and in Halifax, and even in Sydney, it is not permitted to be deposited within the city limits, but here it is deposited right on the principal city thoroughfare, one dumping place being near Kavanagh's Drug Store and the other eastward of the Custom House. In both of these dumps scores of children play, children that should not be allowed on Water Street and should be hustled to the parks. Another source of danger to the public health is that part of Rennie's River between Rennie's bridge and the King's bridge where both boys and girls are allowed to bathe. The surface drains from Rennie's Mill Road, the drainage from the Tannery and from some of the houses adjacent flow into this river and certainly the authorities, either the police or the Council, ought to prohibit bathing there, which is not only dangerous to health, but is not conducive to morality.

Mr. Editor there is a great deal more that might be said, especially about milk supply, but I am afraid I have already trespassed too much on your space.

Yours truly,
A. B. T. W.

Pedestrian Complains.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Yesterday afternoon between 5 and 6 my daughter was coming out the road with a lady companion when a motor driven at railway speed came down from the Allandale Road or Burton's Pond Road coming down the lane between Quigley's and Exon to the Long Pond Road and swerved in on my daughter who was then close to the wire fence, causing her to tear her dress in the wire fence. Now, Mr. Editor, they don't care a damn for the lives of pedestrians and they must cause or let the public will take the law in their own hands by shooting at sight. This is not the only occurrence this season. My wife and daughter were coming out Freshwater Road a short time since and another motor driven at terrific speed went right in on the footpath and very nearly killed them, and the cloud of dust concealed their number, so they cannot take action. On another occasion I was going up New Gower Street when a car came along without blowing and nearly ran me down, which caused the ladies to giggle. They think it equal to a Nickel show for them to make people jump out of their way. But I here warn motorists this furious driving has got to cease.

Yours, etc.,
PEDESTRIAN.

And the Worst is Yet to Come

League Football.

This evening the C. E. I. and St. Andrew's will compete and a fast exhibition is expected, as both teams are evenly matched.

On account of the recent decision to play an extra round the football season will be exceptionally late in closing. There are yet five more games to be played.

Although the attendance latterly has not been as good as it might have been, it is estimated that the net receipts of the entire games will approach closely a thousand dollars, which amount will be handed to one of the patriotic funds.

In Milady's Boudoir.

USE PURE SOAP.

One cannot be too careful about the soap used upon the face. Any castile soap that sells at bargain prices is not the best. Ointment mixed with almond cream meal is admirable for cleansing the face for awhile and then carefully remove it, with the dust and powder of the day, by means of absorbent cotton.

After this comes the hot bath to cleanse and open the pores of the cuticle, and the cold bath to stimulate the skin and make it firm and taut. All massages with skin food to nourish it, remove wrinkles and fill out hollows.

While massaging the face do not hold the muscles firmly during the manipulation but allow the face to fall in a natural manner so that no strain upon the muscles exists during the exercises.

The wrinkles or crease which is most disfiguring is that which comes beside the mouth in the inner crease of the cheek. To smooth out this wrinkle constant massage is necessary with cream or oil.

Always the motion of the finger should be outward and upward rotary and very gentle.

Every night some good skin food should be rubbed into the cream and a dab of it left on to become absorbed.

But while all these various beauty messages are taking place do not neglect your own efforts by bathing the face with a cheaply scented soap the next morning.

Your Boys and Girls.

In teaching little girls to cook it is essential to make the work attractive and interesting to them and to prevent discouragement from failures. It is better to use the smallest quantities of materials. The cooking of a single chop or frying of a few slices of bacon is much more apt to prove a triumphant success than a bigger undertaking.

The measurements are not hard to learn. The average little girl will soon grow quite an adept at dividing the teaspoon lengthwise for a half spoonful, and making another dividing line at right angles, but a little nearer the handle than the dip, to allow for the tapering of the spoon for the quarter spoonful. The youthful cook will enjoy proving that three level teaspoonfuls make one level tablespoonful, and that two cups of milk just fill a pint measure, and four cupfuls a quart measure.

By gentle massage a very young baby's nose can be often vastly improved. Grasp the nose between the thumb and middle finger and gently massage it downward for a few moments twice daily.

At the Crescent.

The week-end variety picture programme at the Crescent Picture Palace is a dandy. "Three Ways Out" is the title of the Essanay Black Cat feature with Harry Dunkinson and Gertrude Glover. Scenes on "Lake Tahoe, California," is a splendid travalogue. Helen Gibson features in "A Daring Chance," one of the most exciting episodes of the "Hazards of Helen" railroad series. "The Animated Nooz Pictorial" is a film of comic cartoons by Wallace A. Carlisle. "The Luck of Jane" is a ton; and "The Lack of Luck" is a viagraph laugh producer. Madame Timmons, who closes her successful engagement with the Crescent this week, sings in the afternoon "I'm Going Back to California," and at night "Tolstoy's Good Bye."

Eggs Seized and Destroyed.

There is a considerable quantity of bad eggs offered for sale in the city and yesterday Food Inspector O'Brien seized and destroyed fourteen cases, an equivalent of four hundred and twenty dozen. From information received from a reliable source we are informed and are glad to state that there is no complaint whatever about our local eggs.

What a Boy at the Front Thinks.

Flanders, July 28, 1917.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I would like to say a few words as regards recruiting from Point Lance to St. John's, that is if you will kindly give me space in your much esteemed paper. I do not think that the above named places are keeping up their end of the plank with the other districts as far as the Army is concerned, and in my opinion it's about time that they woke up to the fact that there is a war on. I do not think very much of them as far as their patriotism is concerned, as their names do not figure very largely in the patriotic subscription list; Branch in particular and other places in between which are not necessary to mention. I will admit there are a number of men needed to keep things going, but on the other hand there are also a number of slackers without any very great responsibilities, and it is only fair to their comrades in arms that they should enlist before the war is finished. What will they say when the boys come home and they are asked, What have YOU done to help win the war?—and their answer will be, nothing. Do not let it be said that the people of St. Mary's Bay were slackers and take a quiet walk countrywards when there is a recruiting meeting about to be held, as it appears they have done in the past. I am not a very long-winded chap usually, but I would like to have enough wind to be able to tell them what I think of them. I hope they will come forward soon, or at least subscribe to help the boys who are out here to carry on. Now, Mr. Editor, I will close by wishing your paper every success.

Yours truly,
PTE. THOS. MEANEY.

GAME POSTPONED.

Owing to the sodden condition of the diamond and the lowering skies, the interesting clash between the Wanderers and B. I. S. had to be postponed last night. In any case, both pitchers—Brown and Carew—were indisposed yesterday, though in this connection Manager Hartnett deserves the congratulations of the whole Wanderer team and supporters for the very able manner with which he conducted the negotiations. When he receives his call to the colors, we hope his post will be in the diplomatic corps where, we think, he would be able to serve his country best.

LEAGUE MEETING.

A meeting of the League delegates will be held to-night at 9 o'clock with the object of making arrangements for the proposed Grand Falls' trip. Also, to decide whether instead of playing on Saturday night, that a doubleheader be played on Wednesday afternoon next, as owing to the shortness of the evenings it seems to be impossible to play a full game with satisfaction; and in addition the necessary early starting hour imposes a great hardship on the fans.

TO-MORROW'S GAME.

We feel sure that it is with great delight that both players and fans will welcome the reappearance again on the diamond of a Bell Island team. Some little friction two years ago in regard to the Inter-Town series caused them to "stay in their own backyard" but now they feel anxious to do their little bit for the Red Cross Fund. Therefore to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock will witness a contest between them and a representative City nine. The lateness in starting will thus enable the fans to witness at least part of the game despite the inconvenience of the evening,—and incidentally to chip in a dime for Our Broken and Wounded Soldiers and Sailors now at the Waterford Hospital and Jensen Camp.

Our Baseball Column.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

THEIR PLAYERS.

The "Ironmen" will likely line up as follows:—Pitcher, Archibald; catcher, Blackwood; 1st base, Winter; 2nd base, Proudfoot; 3rd base, Burroughs; s. stop, Harvey; r. field, Morley; c. field, Burnham; l. field, Ridge, Unipire, Dr. Lynch; Scorer, Mr. F. Jardine; Manager, Mr. G. A. Harvey.

THE CITY TEAM.

The picking of the City nine will be in the hands of Manager Collins and Mr. F. V. Chesman, both of whom should have a fairly good knowledge of the players of all the Clubs. We hope however that infielders will not be seen playing outfield positions and vice versa as has often happened in the past with representative city teams, and that due attention will be given to those who have creditable batting averages.

LAST NIGHT.

Dark, and the rain is falling— Now we are sorry we came, Somewhere a voice is calling, Calling the game. See the old pitchers stalling— Isn't this rain a shame? Somewhere a voice is calling, "Double Header Wednesday."

The Labrador Service.

Well founded complaint is being made of the manner in which the sailings to Labrador are being managed, or mismanaged. The Thetis arrived from the north on Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday the Diana sailed for Labrador ports and yesterday the Thetis left again in her wake. In other words, she left as soon as her freight could be loaded, and sooner than many firms could attend to the bare reading and answering of the correspondence she brought, not to speak of business arising out of it. Apparently only one interest needs to be consulted, that of the Reid Newfoundland Company. If we had a Government, or if the mixture that calls itself a company does not approve everything this Company does and fulfil everything it orders, such a state of things would be impossible. The absurdity of two steamers prosecuting this service with an interval of a day separating them should be sufficient on the face of it to make it impossible. But nothing that is absurd, irregular or otherwise objectionable is impossible in Newfoundland—witness its administration. A few short weeks ago the present proceeding would have evoked a loud protest from the Advocate. Now circumstances are altered and a wrong becomes a right. Schedules are admirable, services unequalled, the ones extortionate rates eminently fair and reasonable. The Advocate has changed its politics.

Not St. John Ambulance but a St. John's Ambulance now! Emulation of the patriotic citizens who presented it might increase the number without difficulty.

Question of Jurisdiction

A civil action of an unusual character occupied the attention of the Central District Court for a while this forenoon. A woman of Torbay sued a male resident of the same settlement for slander. The case was heard before Mr. Morris, K.C. Mr. Gibbs, lawyer for the defendant, raised the question as to the jurisdiction of the Court, on which grounds the presiding J.P. gave a dismissal. We understand that the case will go to a higher tribunal for adjustment.

Newfoundlander Drowned

WHEN SHIP WAS TORPEDOED.

About July 30th last the British steamer Shimosa, on her way from France to an American port, was torpedoed and sunk. Twenty-four of her crew were drowned, among them the chief officer, R. J. Morgan. Mr. Morgan was a Newfoundlander, a native of Clarke's Beach. He was engaged for a number of years with the Reid Newfoundland Company before taking up the avocation in which he lost his life. Numerous friends and acquaintances in the Island and elsewhere will learn with regret of his death, the quietly heroic death of many a brave seaman under the British flag.

On Dock.

Machinists Making Big Money.

The Danish steamer, which came off the dock yesterday to allow a sailing vessel to be refloated, went back on the docks this morning and this afternoon workmen will commence stripping the plates from her bottom which were damaged when the ship struck a rock on the Southern Shore a few weeks ago. It is estimated that the job will take two weeks before the ship is ready for sea. The Neptune which is leaking badly after her trip to the Far North, also went on the docks and will undergo a general overhauling.

Off for the Front.

Mr. W. H. Crowley received word from his daughter, Miss Elsie Crowley, of the Volunteer Ambulance Division, Kensington, England, that she had volunteered for the front and at the time of writing was putting in a fortnight's hard training in order to become more familiar with the different part of machinery that go to make up a motor car. Miss Crowley has been promised an ambulance car in the same division as that in which Miss A. Gosling is now working.

Back from the far North

S.S. Neptune, Capt. Bob Bartlett, Reached Port—Ship Damaged.
The S.S. Neptune, Capt. Bob Bartlett, which went to North Greenland on a relief expedition, returned to St. John's yesterday afternoon, having been successful in rescuing Professor McMillan and his party of explorers. 11 all told, who were sent north in June, 1913, by the American Museum of Natural History and the University of Illinois to locate and survey Peary's Crockerland, which McMillan says is mythical.

The Neptune left Sydney on July 7th last, proceeding direct to Etah where the explorers were supposed to be and where they were found. Considerable heavy ice was met all the way and every day the ship had to butt her way through. The floe was closely packed on account of a continuous southerly wind and this impeded progress materially. Notwithstanding conditions a good run was made and Etah reached on July 31st. McMillan and his party of scientific adventurers were located and taken on board. They were not short of food when found, although they were provisioned for only two years at the outset, because they had a goodly supply of ammunition and game was plentiful. The relief ship was delayed four days at Etah taking on board a vast amount of specimens of animal, flower and sea life collected by the members of the party and which are of great value. Capt. Bartlett says, He also is of the opinion that the mission of the explorers was a very successful one and it will give to the world a tremendous amount of scientific and useful information as a result of exploration and surveys within the past couple of years. Another important work done by the expedition was the mapping out of the geographical position of newly discovered Finlay Land. The return from Etah occupied twenty days, similar conditions regarding ice being experienced. The ship arrived at North Sydney on Sunday last where the McMillan party landed and left the following day en route to the United States. Prof. McMillan, who had contracts with the New York Journal, was reticent on all matters except trivial ones. On Tuesday the Neptune left for this port, arriving as mentioned. The ship is leaking badly as a result of contact with heavy ice and will be dry docked as soon as possible for repairs. Capt. Bartlett is looking splendid after his trip. It is said that our doughty explorer will head an expedition next summer for a three years mission in the Arctic regions.

A 'St John's' Ambulance

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Some months ago I heard from my daughter, who is driving a motor ambulance at one of the large hospitals bases in France, that the ambulances driven by the V. A. D. convey had been given by various cities in Canada, and were becoming somewhat the worse for wear. She suggested that St. John's should be represented by an ambulance, and hoped that she would be allowed to drive it. Having ascertained through His Excellency the Governor, that an ambulance would be accepted, I appealed to various friends for subscriptions with the following result:

Cassandras.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Is there anything any sweeter and at the same time any sadder than to be the mother of a girl of sixteen to twenty, full of energy and reaching forward toward the full possibilities of life. Perhaps you wonder why I say sadder. I was talking the other day with a neighbor of mine. We spoke of mistakes. She is the mother of a girl of eighteen. "I have made a great many unnecessary mistakes in my life," she said, "and sometimes I have been very unhappy over them. But nothing in the world ever made me half so unhappy as to find out that my daughter can't profit by them. She says that every one must learn by their own experiences. She doesn't know what she is saying and yet I am afraid it is true."

And Never To Be Listened To.

Another mother who has two daughters, one just entering her teens, and another just passing out of them, was present. "It certainly is," she affirmed vigorously. "I have made up my mind long ago that those mothers are Cassandras doomed to always prophesy the truth and never to have our prophecies listened to."

It is a clever characterization, isn't it.

And as sad as it is true. We Want To Take Experience's Job From Her.

Experience is the best teacher in the world but she is the cruellest. And not to be able to take her place for those we love; not to be able to give to them the wisdom we have bought with suffering; to have them thrust it away when we offer it and say "You learned for yourself I want to do the same," is one of the bitterest things a mother must learn to bear. Many of them do not hear it patiently and that is one of the reasons why a wall of misunderstanding and strangeness so often grows up between the mother and daughter in her teens. There are few relationships in which there is need of more self-control, forbearance and above all things, tact.

Don't be fretful Cassandra mothers, be patient, watchful, loving, forbearing. Teach yourself the great lesson of keeping your hands off at the right time and who knows but what some days you shall find yourself throwing off Cassandra's curse and speaking to ears no longer deaf.

Lachute, Que., Sept. 1908.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen, — Ever since coming home from the Boer War I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and liniments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. Two bottles completely cured me and I have worked every working day since.

Yours gratefully,

JOHN WALSH.

SUCCESS.

Success is a process which consists in climbing to the top of the ladder and sitting tight. Some men are born successful at a tender age and are able to denude their playmates of marbles and jack-knives with monotonous regularity. Others achieve success by working sixteen hours a day while their companions are trying to keep step with a five-piece dance orchestra, and a large number have success thrust upon them by the unexpected demise of a rich relative who intended to leave his money in another spot.

As a rule success is measured in money. It is a great surprise to a man who never had enough ready money to stock a chiffonier to fall headlong into 400 acres of alfalfa land and a herd of registered short horn cattle, and then discover that he is about to run for Congress by admiring friends. Some of the most startling social successes on record in this country have been achieved by people who struck oil at a time when they were about to substitute middlings for wheat flour. Money will oftentimes enable a man to succeed where sterling worth can't get a check cashed without being identified by the resident pastor.

Success can be defined by the way you look at it. In every town and village in this country there are men and women who have to scrimp on the meat bill in order to meet the taxes, but who are never too tired or busy to sit up with a sick neighbour or nurse a neighbour's child. Nobody but the recording angel can keep track of the men with big hearts and small salaries who slip into the back door of the grocery and order provisions sent to a needy home, or who fill some unfortunate's coal bin out of an already slim purse. When the great day comes there will be a lot of shining faces in heaven, worn by people who on earth never seemed able to get two jumps ahead of a writ of attachment.

There are times when success seems to land on the side of the fakir, the quack and the crook. This causes many people to wonder if the Bible is true, and tempts others to invest in securities which yield 120 per cent. interest if acted upon before the stock is all gone. Success which gets there by picking the pockets of the ignorant or simple-minded usually winds up in remorse and a uniform furnished by the state.

TO WAR'S CREDIT.

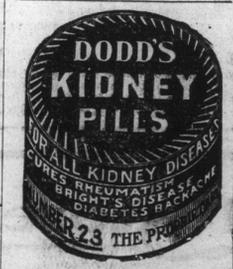

The war has done some good, at least for it has maimed the foulest beast that ever fed on men; Boozee is the hungry monster's name, and governments have kicked its f r a m e again and y e t again. The divers governments uprose and said, "If we would swat the foes, and knock them galley east, our soldiers must be sober guys, without bad tastes or bloodshot eyes, and so we'll curb the Beast. No man is fit to bleed and die who's tanked himself with old red rye, no soldier should be stewed; and so, if we would hope to win, we'll have to put the lid on gin, and all of Boozee's brood." We read about the millions slain, of dead men lying in the rain, and of war's horrors yawp; but all the dead o'er whom we weep make but a trifling little heap compared with Boozee's crop. The governments are kicking Boozee with large steel spikes upon their shoes, they slug him with a brick; and Boozee is scared and hollow-eyed, he snuks where once he strode in pride, the heart within him sick. The Beast is doomed, so let it die; the war has shown the critter why it's neither safe nor sane; so we may view the world-wide fray more patiently, the while, and say, "The war is not in vain."

Obituary.

Another Newfoundland Has Paid the Supreme Sacrifice.

Sincere sympathy will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richardson, of Banerman Street, who have received the sad news that their beloved son, 66 Corp. Frank Richardson, was killed in action on August 16th, 1917. Corp. Richardson left here Oct. 4th, 1917, with the 1st Nfd. Regiment and as his number indicates he was one of the first to answer his country's call. He was a veteran of the Gallipoli campaign. Corp. Richardson was slightly wounded in that memorable charge on July 1st, 1916, and was brought to Wandsworth Hospital to recover from wounds received on that Glorious Day. After being granted a furlough which he spent at Ayr. On Dec. 28th he was transferred again to France where he remained until April 14th, when again he was in action at Monchy-Le-Preux and came through unscathed as letters received by his mother saying he was well and enjoying good health after that drive. But on August 16th, 1917, he paid the Supreme Sacrifice. This young life was cut short at the age of 22 in the bloom of manhood. He was an ex-pupil of St. Patrick's School, and a life-long member of the C. C. C. and also the Holy Name Society. For those left it is indeed hard to lose a loved son, but be brave in your sorrow (as he was brave) and proud of your gallant son.

For greater love hath no man than to lay down his life for that of his friends. R. I. P.

Municipal Council.

Mayor Gosling presided at the regular weekly meeting of the Municipal Council yesterday.

The Colonial Secretary wrote the Council in relation to a sewer which was used by the Reid Nfd. Co.

The Council will consider the matter.

The Engineer will arrange to take away a quantity of gravel from the residence of R. Bowering, Cookstown Road.

F. Smallwood wrote the Council that he would be responsible for the amount of repairs to the sidewalk in front of his Water Street shoe store. The Council afterwards accepted Mr. Smallwood's actions in that respect.

A. H. Willis was refused compensation for replacing an earthen connection with the main sewer by an iron one, as in the first instance Mr. Willis should not have been given permission to lay earthen pipes to his house. The amount claimed is $60.00.

Plans were submitted for the proposed new S. A. Citadel. The Engineer will have to receive more complete plans.

P. Hanley's letter complaining of conditions of King's Road and Duckworth Street reached the Council after the work in question had been completed.

The sprinkler system at the Royal Stores had been erected and was working splendidly.

A Burt, Lower Battery, wrote that he was not prepared to pay $50 for the extension of the water service to his home, but as the Council holds a letter in Mr. Burt's handwriting guaranteeing that he would pay the amount he will be asked to make good his promise.

GERMANY AND MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. Jas. Keeley, a Chicago publisher, declared here to-day that he had personal knowledge to confirm former Ambassador Gerard's published statement that Germany had proposed to Britain joint intervention in Mexican affairs and the ending of the Monroe doctrine. "Last winter, when in London, I read a long editorial in a well-informed London paper," Keeley said, "which stated that England might have had peace at any time within the preceding nine months by consenting to give Germany a free hand in Central and South America. I already had an appointment with the British official in question. I asked him whether any such proposal had been made to his Government. So far as he knew, he said, it had not been made in documentary form, but he said it had been made to him personally. This official told me that just before the war started the German Ambassador in London had sought an appointment with him for a personal representative and close friend of the Kaiser. It was granted. The German had not conversed with the British official two minutes when he said, 'Would it not be a good thing for your Government and my Government to block the evident design of the United States for conquest in Mexico? I am ready to give you the highest official assurance that your country and mine would have no difficulty in arranging our respective spheres of influence in Mexico.' To this the British official replied: 'I had not known you were coming here for such a proposal. Neither I nor my Government has any desire to discuss the question. I now bid you good afternoon.' This remarkable proposal was known to officials of the British Government. Keeley stated, though he had not known that it had been talked of in Germany, the source of Gerard's information.

FULL WOMEN'S RIGHTS IN RUSSIA.

RESTORING DISCIPLINE.

LONDON, To-Day. At the conclusion of the Moscow conference Premier Kerensky announced the partial re-establishment of the death penalty as a necessary measure of army discipline, according to the Central News Petrograd correspondent, who quotes the Premier as saying: "As Minister of Justice I abolished the death penalty, but as Minister of War I decided it necessary partially to re-establish it. It hurts to the very soul, but for the salvation of the country we will kill with all our souls. The army must be organized and disciplined, each combatant in his proper place and each recognizing his duty as well as his right. The disciplinary tribunals will be conserved and will receive the authority indispensable for the maintenance of the army as an efficient organization."

A PAUSE FOR PREPARATIONS.

LONDON, To-Day. The Past week has been marked by a pause on all the Western fronts, a pause which was inevitable after the great successes of the previous week, a pause accentuated by bad weather, which affected the operations all the way from the North Sea to the Italian Sea Coast, said Major General Maurice, Chief Director of Military operations at the War Office, in his weekly talk to the Associated Press to-day. At the moment it is the Italian front where the situation is most interesting. Here also, after a really important advantage, there comes a pause pending re-adjustment of the artillery positions. There is much work to be done during these pauses. The problem is whether General Cadorna will be able to get his guns posted for a renewal of operations before the Austrians get up adequate reserves, some of which are being brought from the Russo-

Rumanian front. That is the problem in the pauses in all these battles, a race between the preparations of the offense and defence. In Flanders the process of wearing down the Germans by a continuous bombardment continues. Air fighting and continuous infantry raids are being kept up and are having far greater effect than the man in the street realizes. This effect is shown in the constant necessity imposed on the Germans of withdrawing and replacing units. The best way to illustrate this is to refer to the battles of former times in which, as the text books tell, the first part of the day's battle was an attempt by each side to draw in and exhaust the enemy's reserves, thus preparing for the second phase of the day, namely a decisive attack. So we are in the first phase of the Flanders battles; we are exhausting with good success the German reserves. Later will come the second phase, to which we are all looking forward confidently. On the Russian front there has been another regrettable incident, namely, the voluntary withdrawal of certain Russian units near Czarnowitz, result was negligible, but it serves to show, in conjunction with General Korniloff's speech, the state to which the Russian army has come, and makes it even more remarkable that the Germans have been unable to achieve more. On the Rumanian front Field Marshal von Mackensen's attack failed, owing to the gallant Rumanian stand and the necessity of Austrian withdrawals to the threatened Italian front. In the past month I have received a remarkable number of letters from the United States showing how widespread is the belief that the British have let Allied and Colonial troops do much of their fighting. This is part of the German propaganda in the United States. I have prepared for you a few statistics to show how far this is untrue. At the present moment British troops in France are six to one as compared with all Overseas troops, and the total casualties in France throughout the war have been in the proportion of 6.5 British to 1 Overseas. In the Ypres fighting since July 31st casualties have been nine British to one Colonial.

COPPER FOR GERMANY STOPPED.

NEW YORK, To-Day. A Swedish ship outward bound for a Swedish port was boarded by Government officials to-day and, according to a report, two hundred tons of copper were found in the hold of the vessel. She was ordered to return to her dock, and it is said the entire cargo will be searched before she is again allowed to proceed.

A GENERAL PAUSE.

BERLIN, To-Day. supplementary statement issued by General Headquarters this evening says that nothing important occurred on the various fronts.

THE PITY OF IT!

LONDON, To-Day. The Athens correspondent of Reuters' Limited says that full report of the speech made by Premier Venizelos, on August 26th, throws a new and important light on the Dardanelles campaign, and shows that if the plans he contemplated had not been arbitrarily vetoed by Constantinople, then King Serbia might have been saved, Bulgaria forced to keep neutral and Turkey defeated early in 1915. At the time he proposed intervention in the war, in February, 1915, Gallipoli was defended by only six thousand Turks scattered among different fortresses with scanty supplies of ammunition. From a Greek representative at Constantinople it was learned that the Turks then were actually preparing to evacuate the capital and he declared that if his policy had been carried out a Greek army could have been secretly landed at Gallipoli and could have entered Constantinople within a fortnight. Thus, said Venizelos, Turkey (Russia) would have been enabled to export her grain and would have escaped the offensive of 1915. Bulgaria on her rear, and Franco-British armies on her east and the war would have ended one year earlier. As it was the Allies undertook the Dardanelles campaign more than a month after the Turks began their defence works at Gallipoli, having, said Venizelos, no longer any confidence in Greece.

AMERICANS FIGHTING SUBS.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. The American Naval force conveying merchant craft across the Atlantic was disclosed officially at the Navy Department and examination records show that the loss in convoyed ships by submarines has averaged less than one half of one per cent. Details of the convoy system are withheld. It was said the American war vessels are regularly escorting fleets of British, French, or other Allied merchantmen over, protection being supplemented when the danger zone is reached by destroyers and other patrol craft. American Naval officials believe that an effective system for checking the submarine menace is being built up gradually, but certainly many devices and many methods enter into the task. Among other things depth bombs are proving effective. Official reports indicate that American destroyers have accounted for several U boats with these weapons. No announcement of such incidents will be made unless absolute proof of the fact is available. No U boats have been captured by Americans, but it is the best judgment of high officials that several have been sunk by Admiral Sims' destroyers. They are confident, more confident than ever before, that the submarine menace will be substantially abandoned as the number of destroyers and other craft available for the work is increased. The effect of an increasing patrol, of the employment of airplanes and of the addition of new devices to the anti-sub weapons has been to force the U-Boats under water to a greater degree and their effectiveness is limited in proportion. They cannot run down a merchantship of average speed if kept under water. They can operate only against ships that almost stumble upon them, and all the time they are under water they are consuming the stored power of their storage batteries, and decreasing their range of underwater action, compelling them to come up at night and lie idle on the surface, while their oil engines are served to charge the batteries. The decision of the Department to spend $350,000,000 on new destroyers and destroyer building facilities approved yesterday by President Wilson is based on the effectiveness of swift fighting machines as proven by Admiral Sims' forces. Every effort to speed new programs as well as old will be made, and during next year the American destroyer force in European waters probably can be more than doubled. Destroyers now under construction are being rushed to completion and reports of progress are satisfactory. American experts here have developed a depth bomb for use against subs. It is deadly at a considerable range. A bomb containing high explosive is dropped from a destroyer over a spot where the presence of a submerged boat is indicated.

It is timed to explode at a certain depth. If the explosion occurs below the U-Boat and within a reasonable distance the hull of the U-Boat cannot withstand the pressure but is crushed like an egg shell.

ANTI-CONSCRIPTION RIOT IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, To-Day. Four policemen were injured, one man was shot through the left arm and a score or more received cuts and bruises and the windows in half a dozen establishments were smashed to-night, when the police and anti-conscriptionist paraders clashed. The trouble started at Phillip's Square. Deputy-Chief Grandchamps giving command to disperse the parade, the police charged and their ranks broke and fled in various directions. Some of them made a stand and stones were thrown and some revolver shots were heard but the police used their batons and won out. Part of the crowd went down Beaver Hall Hill followed by a score of policemen, who were under the impression that an attack was going to be made on the Gazette or Star Offices, but the rioters dispersed when they realized the situation with cries of "Down with Conscription" in French. The rioters smashed shop windows and street car windows, at Water Avenue and St. Catherine Street prior to their appearance on Phillip's Square and they were exceedingly noisy before the police took a hand in the affair.

Never before in the history of the Reid Nbd. Co. have machinists been given so continuous employment, and with the fair rate of wages paid, the majority of the men draw big cheques.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT ON WILSON'S REPLY.

LONDON, Aug. 30th.
In going beyond the ruling caste to the German people themselves, the "Pall Mall Gazette" says, President Wilson may appear to some to be over sanguine; but for ourselves we believe he is right because we see no alternative but complete military victory. When the enemy masses learn as they must sooner or later that it is the abominable doctrine of blood and iron which stands between them and their deliverance, we believe clouds will have gathered for the house of Hohenzollern.

The Westminster Gazette says the reply strikes the right note for the allies and continues: Firm and defiant against the German system but not threatening ostracism and ruin. The German people and their system may be too much at one for any disintegration from within, but there is no reason why we should perpetually stoke up fire eaters who are trying to persuade the German people that the allies are bent on conquest and destruction, and do nothing to help the growth of moderate opinion.

The Evening Standard says: President Wilson brings us back to the bedrock of fact, that Germany is a leper state and until she has cleansed herself, communion with her means corruption. In the light of the President's note talk of Stockholm takes on an additional tinge of absurdity. Stockholm stands for communion with an unclean thing, for that very condonation of evil which the President repudiates.

The Globe says: "We perhaps are not quite ready, as is the President to assume that the strangely pro-German spirit which permeates the suggestions of his Holiness is entirely free from all Austrian influence, nor are we prepared to admit that the German people do not share the culpability of their rulers for the desolating war; but these things are matters of opinion and do not affect the sincere concurrence of this nation in the main principles which Mr. Wilson has laid down."

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

ROME, Aug. 30th.

Our aircraft successfully renewed the bombardment of enemy batteries in Panovizza Wood on the Carso, on Tuesday evening. An enemy attack between Vippacho and Dosse Falt was broken by our troops. On the Trentino front from Stelvio to Carni, concentrated fire and numbers of reconnoitering actions kept the enemy busy. In the Tofans region the enemy after intense artillery preparations attacked our positions at the mouth of Travenanzes valley three times, and with great violence, but was repulsed completely.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 30th.

(Official). Western Front—Firing was more intense in the direction of Vilna.

Roumanian Front.—In the region of Radautz on Tuesday evening the enemy attacked our positions in the neighborhood of Sochka. He was repulsed by our rifle fire and machine guns. In the region south of the village of Buzha our scouts made a successful reconnaissance taking ten prisoners. In the Ocna region the enemy made several attacks on our positions in the sector south of Grozhetchi; he was repulsed. In the direction of Vassaretly an enemy attack northeast of Sovela was repulsed. In the direction of Foksham on Tuesday evening the enemy attacked our positions in the region east of Treshiti and dislodged our troops. The battle in this neighborhood was renewed yesterday. In the course of this engagement the large proportion of men composing two of our regiments occupying trenches in this sector abandoned their positions and retired to the north. Following this one of our regiments was dispersed. Messengers have been taken to restore the positions. A battle is in progress in the direction of Pendjavin. Our troops occupied two villages southeast of Lake Zeribar, taking prisoners.

MORE ARTILLERYMEN THAN INFANTRYMEN.

PARIS, Aug. 30th.

The number of artillerymen employed in the recent operations in Verdun region was greater than the number of infantry men put into the battle line. This surprising fact is explained by the correspondent of the "Temps" at Verdun as being due to the difficulty of the gunners' tasks, in addition to the immense number of cannon and heavy shells that had to be carried to the guns for hours at a stretch by men who were compelled to wear masks, which rendered breathing difficult and obstructed their view. The correspondent states that the object of the artillery now is less directed to destroying enemy guns than to forcing German gunners to suspend service and seek shelter. For this purpose, he says, gas shells are employed largely.

A HUN EXAGGERATION.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30th.

An Entente aerial squadron attempted to attack Frankfort on the Main last Sunday. The Berliner Tageblatt reports the squadron, which came from the West, is said to have been forced to return when half way between Main and Frankfort because of the activity of the anti-aircraft guns.

FRENCH SHIPPING LOSSES.

PARIS, Aug. 30th.

Out of 820 ships which entered and the 1,103 which cleared from French ports during the week ending August 26th, three ships of more than 1000 tons were sunk by submarine or mines. Four steamers were attacked unsuccessfully by submarines in the same period.

THE WOODEN GODS.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30th.

German newspapers print long commemorative articles on the battle of Tannenberg, in which the Russians were defeated in August, 1914. They praise Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Lutendorf, the German Commanders in the battle, and have their appointment to power at the decisive turning point in the military leadership of the Central Powers.

REPLACING TONNAGE.

LONDON, Aug. 30th.

The first of the British Government's standardized merchant steamers to replace the tonnage lost through submarines, it is announced, has been commissioned after completing a most successful trial. The keel was laid down in February, and the hull was launched in June.

WAITING FOR ORDERS.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30th.

The Commission appointed by the German Chancellor to consider a reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict, held its first session on Tuesday, according to the Lokal Anzeiger, at Berlin. Chancellor Michaelis presided at the meeting. It lasted about two hours, but no decision was decided upon until the results of the decisions over the note are available from Vienna, Constantinople and Sofia.

AUSTRALIA DOESN'T WANT LARKIN.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 30th.

Questioned in Parliament concerning a report that James Larkin, head of the Transport Workers' Union in England, and well-known as a strike-leader, is on his way to Australia. Premier Hughes said instructions had been given to prevent the landing of Larkin anywhere in Australia.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

LONDON, Aug. 30th.

The birth of an attempt to establish a new political party in Great Britain was announced yesterday in a long manifesto, signed by twenty-seven persons, members of the Commons and others, who have seceded from the union party to take independent action in which national consideration will be the sole concern.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Aug. 30th.

The official statement says attacks on the Verdun front last night were repulsed. There was pronounced activity by artillery in the region of Bray en Laonnois, and in the sector of Caronne. At attack by the enemy on our small posts south of Chevreux, was repulsed. In the Champagne, east of Teton, we succeeded, without sustaining any losses, in a detailed action, in the course of which our troops penetrated the enemy line and brought back eleven prisoners and a machine gun. Two German attacks in the same region were repulsed after spirited fighting. There was active artillery fighting on both banks of the Meuse. On the Verdun front, a German attempt north of Cumieres Wood, and against our small posts north of Vaux les Palameix, met with a complete check.

Trenching AT GALLIPOLI.

By JOHN GALLISHAW.

The personal narrative of a loyal Newfoundland soldier in the disastrous Dardanelles campaign. An adventure-story stranger than fiction, as well as a reliable account, by an unusually keen participant, of the gigantic failure at Gallipoli.

For obvious reasons not a great many details of the Dardanelles campaign were permitted to be published while it was running its dramatic and terribly costly course; nor should either, for that matter, Mr. Gallishaw, a student at Harvard when the war began and now, wounded, again in this country, is at liberty to write about what happened. His book, moreover, gives an extraordinarily vivid impression of what trench-digging and trench-living is like.

local congresses in which they consider the only sure means of rescuing the Church from its erstwhile servility to the State, cleansing of its dogma and ritual, and inspiring its formalism with living faith and zeal for social patriotic service. In this fervent spirit to-day all of Moscow and thousands of pious pilgrims from elsewhere are congregated in the city, chiefly in and around the historic Kremlin to witness the imposing inaugural ceremonies.

RESENTS GERARD'S HONOURS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30th.

An Associated Press despatch from Washington to-day says, a bill that would prevent former Ambassador Gerard from accepting the order of the Bath with the honours of Sir and Knight recently conferred by King George was introduced to-day by Senator Overman and referred to the judiciary committee. It would prohibit any citizen of the United States from accepting any present, emolument, office or title from any king or foreign government under a penalty of a fine of $10,000 and forfeiture of citizenship. The only prohibition of the kind existing now is constitutional but it only affects persons holding office.

GERMANY CONTEMPLATED WAR IN 1906.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 30th.

Germany's military preparation was known to the Russian War Office, and it was also aware that Germany contemplated a declaration of war in 1906 and again 1913, according to testimony given yesterday by General Michaelis at the trial of General Soukhomlinov, former Minister of War, for high treason. The witness was an attaché of the Russian Embassy in Berlin from 1906 to 1911. He swore that he had reported the German military activity to the Russian Government. The President of the Court asked General Michaelis what Powers Germany proposed to ally herself with in 1913 against Russia. The witness asked permission to reply to the President only, and the request was granted.

German newspapers print long commemorative articles on the battle of Tannenberg, in which the Russians were defeated in August, 1914. They praise Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Lutendorf, the German Commanders in the battle, and have their appointment to power at the decisive turning point in the military leadership of the Central Powers.

REPLACING TONNAGE.

WAITING FOR ORDERS.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 30th.

The Commission appointed by the German Chancellor to consider a reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict, held its first session on Tuesday, according to the Lokal Anzeiger, at Berlin. Chancellor Michaelis presided at the meeting. It lasted about two hours, but no decision was decided upon until the results of the decisions over the note are available from Vienna, Constantinople and Sofia.

AUSTRALIA DOESN'T WANT LARKIN.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 30th.

Questioned in Parliament concerning a report that James Larkin, head of the Transport Workers' Union in England, and well-known as a strike-leader, is on his way to Australia. Premier Hughes said instructions had been given to prevent the landing of Larkin anywhere in Australia.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

LONDON, Aug. 30th.

The birth of an attempt to establish a new political party in Great Britain was announced yesterday in a long manifesto, signed by twenty-seven persons, members of the Commons and others, who have seceded from the union party to take independent action in which national consideration will be the sole concern.

Gorton Pew Co's Big Fish Business.

According to a late issue of the Western Star when the vessels now loading have sailed, the Gorton-Pew Company will have shipped 25 cargoes of cod from the West Coast, from Port aux Choix to Cador, the present season. Twenty cargoes have already reached market. They have paid out for cod and herring $250,000 in cash to date, besides goods, and have used 7,000 hogheads of salt. Before the end of the season their outlay will have passed the quarter million mark. Up to the present they have about reached the total of any previous year. Their cod purchases from this coast amount to 4,000,000 pounds.

The W. S. also states that the Bay of Islands Fisheries Company have shipped one and one-half million pounds of codfish and five thousand barrels of herring to date. The Company has on hand yet two and one-half million pounds of cod.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas Range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. THE CLOW GAS STREAM RADIATOR WAY. may 23.17
