considerable trouble to Ministers, but, eventually, after consultation with Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Treasury official, the various provisions were approved. It is also understood that the general lines of the Premier's offer have the approval of Austin Chamberlain, Government Leader in the House of Commons, Sir Robert Horne, Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Secretary for War, and other Ministers, and that probably with some modifications the entire cabinet will assent to the proposals, which will be produced in writing for presentation to De Valera. Whether Lloyd George has succeeded in overcoming the reluctance of Sir James Craig, to join in a tripartite conference, is not known, but the announcement that Sir James is coming to London again probably next week, is considered a favorable omen, and in any case no hint of a breakdown in negotiations is apparent. However, they may be more protracted than has been generally expected. General Smuts is holding himself in readiness to go to Ireland again if needed.

PRELIMINARY MEETING ABANDONED.

LONDON, July 20.

It is believed that the idea of holding a preliminary Disarmament and Pacific Conference in London is abandoned. Such conference was originally proposed by William Morris Hughes, Premier of Australia, and William Ferguson Massey, of New Zealand, who will be unable to go to the United States during the autumn, owing to the coming of their respective wives. A London conference is supposed also to have been strongly favoured by Japan. Instead of the proposed preliminary conference there will be held here a conference between the British Cabinet Ministers and Dominion Premiers. For this purpose Premier Meighen of Canada, has postponed indefinitely his idea of sailing for home. This conference will be devoted, first to the discussion of the policy and representation of the British Empire at the Washington Conference, and second to the advisability of asking the Washington Government to postpone the Disarmament and Pacific conference to some later date than Nov. 11. Such postponement would not only be agreeable to Dominion Premiers, who are unable to go to Washington in November, but it would be convenient to the British Government, because in the event of Irish negotiations proving successful it might become necessary to hold an autumn session of Parliament to legislate for the new Irish settlement.

THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE.

TOKYO, July 20.

Subsequent to a cabinet meeting held to-day, which discussed the report of Kijuro Shidehara, Ambassador to the United States, it was announced that the United States, Great Britain and Japan probably would change views in an effort to outline a programme for the coming Washington Conference.

JAPAN AND SIBERIA.

TOKYO, July 20.

Announcement by the press that Hayime Matsuhima, Permanent Secretary of the Foreign Ministry, had gone to Siberia in connection with negotiations for a general agreement with the Far-Eastern Republic, and also for the evacuation of Japanese troops, received to-day what appears to be official confirmation.

STANDARD OIL AND ROCKEFELLER.

NEW YORK, July 20.

John D. Rockefeller has disposed of all his vast holdings in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, with the exception of one thousand shares of Common stock, valued at $106,875, according to an account published by the World to-day. The paper's list shows that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., now holds 452,980 shares of Common stock and 58,790 shares of Preferred, the Rockefeller General Education Board, 170,220 Common and 58,779 Preferred. The Rockefeller foundation, 126,000 Common and 58,000 Preferred; and the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Fund, 40,000 Common and 19,000 Preferred.

REPARATIONS.

PARIS, July 20.

The Reparations Commission to-day issued an official statement announcing that the German Government had just paid to it thirty-one million gold marks in European currency on account of three months notes given the latter part of May in settlement of one billion gold marks due before June 1st.

A VATICAN DENIAL.

ROME, July 20.

At the Vatican to-day semi-official denial was given to statements that have appeared in the press at Rome that President Harding has notified Pope Benedict of plans for a Conference on the limitation of armament. It also was denied that there had been any attempt by the Holy See to participate in the Conference.

A GREEK CLAIM.

LONDON, July 20.

The Greeks claim to have taken Atakual, 20,000 prisoners, many guns of Russian origin, a large quantity of ammunition, and stores and 5000 camels, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Smyrna.

PACIFIC PROBLEM AND PREMIERS.

LONDON, July 20.

President Harding of the United States has been informed of the desire of the Dominion Premiers that advantage be taken of their presence in London to a subject the Pacific question at least to preliminary examination here, according to the London Times. The Premier's hope to be in a position at their meeting on Wednesday, adds the Times, "to take a definite step forward in this matter with the concurrence of the United States."

U. S. AND SILENSIA.

LONDON, July 20.

It was stated in authoritative quarters to-day that suggestions have been made for United States intervention in the Upper Silesian trouble, which, it is feared, will threaten open hostilities.

A SENSATIONAL STORY.

LONDON, July 20.

The Daily Express makes a sensational statement respecting Canadian bodies on the battlefields. According to this paper one of the startling allegations made by a responsible Canadian Government official, working on the War Graves Commission, in re-iterating the fact, is that "many graves in the great war cemeteries of Flanders and France, marked with the names of fallen soldiers, are in fact empty of remains."

JAPANESE FORCIBLY DEPORTED.

TURLOCK, July 20.

A general exodus of Japanese field laborers and their families from this district is taking place to-day following deportation to Keyes, five miles North, of fifty-eight Japanese male workers by members of the Union Fruit and Melon Pickers, authorities announced. The Union is composed principally of white-throats.

Irish Leaders May Meet in Belfast.

Hope of Conference Between Craig and De Valera -- Negotiations With Prime Minister Have Ceased -- Disarmament Now Holds the Stage.

A LITTLE BRIGHTER.

LONDON, July 20.

The possibility of a meeting in Belfast between Eamonn De Valera and Sir James Craig is foreshadowed in official quarters, and in several newspapers this morning. There seemed for a time to be the end of all hope for an amicable meeting between the two, but the moderating influence of General Smuts, Premier of South Africa, coupled with Belfast despatches to the effect that Sir James does regard the peace pourparlers as interrupted, have gone a long way toward reestablishing confidence. Mr. De Valera now is reported willing to go to Belfast and meet Sir James, after he has discussed with his Dublin followers certain proposals, which, it is understood, Premier Lloyd George will submit to him on Thursday. Staunch union members of the British Parliament are reported to be increasingly nervous respecting the progress of Irish affairs, and it is shown that about forty of them met privately yesterday to discuss their views.

PROGRESS OF NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, July 20.

Events which apparently had been proceeding smoothly and with fair rapidity toward a common ground upon which the British Government, Irish Republicans and Ulsterites could find a basis for a settlement of the troubles in Ireland, have fallen into a lull and for the moment negotiations, both official and private, have ceased. With Sir James Craig again in Belfast, having taken his departure from London and delivered a pronouncement, which at the time to spell an end of the discussions between the three parties, English people are trying to figure out what will eventually happen with respect to Ulster, and more particularly with respect to the whole of Ireland at the next conference between Lloyd George and De Valera, which is set down for Thursday. In the meantime General Smuts, South African Premier, may proceed to Belfast as intermediary and the fact that the Ulster leader has declared that his services and those of the officials under him, "are available at any moment," leads to the hopeful view that the final word of the Ulsterites has not yet been spoken. Notwithstanding the attitude of Ulster, as expressed by Premier Craig, the spokesmen of the Republican delegates to-day declared that they were still not unhopful, while another Sinn Féin representative said, "It is not a question of Belfast being subservient to Dublin, or vice versa, but that both must be servant to Ireland." The King, deeply concerned in the outcome of the Irish discussion, was visited to-day by the Marquis of Londonderry, Ulster Minister of Education, who, it is understood, gave His Majesty details of conversations the Marquis had with Lloyd George yesterday. The continued presence of one of the Ulster Cabinet in London is considered significant, and of good augury. Lloyd George is believed to have certain propositions to present to De Valera at Thursday's meeting, which have been approved by the British Cabinet. The Republican leader and his colleagues will probably return to Dublin on Friday or Saturday in order to review the events of their visit to London and take under advisement whatever proposals the British Government has offered.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS.

LONDON, July 20.

The British Cabinet sat for two hours and a half this evening, considering Irish plans, after which Premier Lloyd George went to Buckingham Palace and laid before the King, whose interest in the Irish settlement is the keenest, proposals for submission to Eamonn De Valera at tomorrow's conference. The Prime Minister presided at the Cabinet Council, which was held in the House of Commons, and outlined for the benefit of those Ministers, who had not been closely concerned in the Irish negotiations, the history of recent events, and the Premier's new offer to Ireland, which is described as being drawn on generous lines. It is understood that financial arrangements in the new offer have given

The ROYAL STORES, Limited

Railway Resolutions Pass House.

Brute Majority Takes Millions From Treasury--Contractors Presented With Bag of Gold.

The House met at 10.15 p.m. yesterday. Sir Michael Cashin gave notice of a number of questions. Several questions on the Order Paper were answered orally and one asked of the Minister of Education was answered in writing.

Mr. Walsh drew attention of the Minister of Shipping to question on Order Paper July 18th.

The Prime Minister in moving the second reading of the Council's amendments to the Public Roads Bill said he was prepared to accept the amendments or ask the Legislative Council to withdraw them and he wished to have the opinion of other members on the matter.

Mr. Bennett said that his objections to the amendments was the peremptory manner in which he believed they were submitted, but as the Motor Association did not raise any objection he would not labor the point.

The amendment and Bill was then read a second time.

Mr. Warren, when the Bill was read, said the point that should not be lost sight of was that it was objectionable for the Legislative Council to interfere with a money bill.

The House resolved itself into Committee on the Railway Bill.

Mr. Macdonnell in speaking on this bill took the opportunity of presenting to the House the speeches of Messrs. Scammell and Capt. Jones when they moved the address in reply. He compared the rosy outlook which they predicted with the present state of the country. They had high hopes, and today they were asking the House to vote a revenue of $3,700,000 when not a man in the Government could state that 5 millions would be returned. He quoted Mr. Scammell as saying that the Regulations benefited the fishermen, and asked him if that statement were true, and the Prime Minister held the same opinion, why was it that by a unanimous vote of the House they were withdrawn. Referring to the Railway Resolutions Mr. Macdonnell said that in spite of the fact that the Prime Minister said that the Reids paddled their statement, he was asking the House to vote them a million and a half dollars on their own auditing. He had not the courtesy to make any explanations but coolly slapped the Resolutions at the members of the House as if they were 36 wax figures in Madame Tussauds show. Going back to the purchase of fish by the Government last fall he said that only some sections of the country had benefited. Burn, Burgeo and LaPelle, St. Mary's and Placentia, St. George's and Conception Bay, except for Mr. Gosse's sale, did not participate. It was, said he, a case of many being called but few chosen. The loan of 5 million dollars, he said, was obtained on a false statement. Mr. Macdonnell taking a copy of an appeal issued to some charitable people in the United States by one Mr. Wm. W. Howard read it for the House, and asked that a vote of censure be passed on its author, addressing Mr. Scammell he asked if there were any truth in the statements contained in the article, as no doubt all of it was not false. Did Mr. Scammell think that the fishermen approved of the regulations.

Mr. Scammell—"Yes, they did and do, in my district."

Mr. Macdonnell—"Could you prove it?"

Mr. Scammell—"Yes in 1923."

Mr. Macdonnell—"Why not now? Are you afraid to face the people?"

Mr. Scammell—"I am going there shortly."

Mr. Macdonnell—"Then you will find yourself like MacGinty 'lost and gone forever.'"

Mr. Scammell—"I could be elected there now and I don't want the vote of Bonne Bay to do it, either."

Mr. Macdonnell—"The story that this man Howard pictures makes us out worse than Turks, more poverty stricken than the Armenians."

Mr. Samson—"Do you believe the story?"

Mr. Macdonnell—"Yes, until it is denied by the member for the district which was particularly referred to. If it is not true, I will second a vote of censure on the man who wrote it."

After dealing for some length of time with the Commissions report and the Report of Sir George Bury on the Railroad Mr. Macdonnell asked why was not the report of an engineer which the Reid Co. had been submitted to the House. He believed there was a report and it was a correct one. Sir George Bury's was not, as he was brought in to camouflage the back-down of the Government. The Reids said he had brought down both railway men. Why was not both reports submitted he asked.

Mr. Coaker—"Because Mr. Rodree's report was confidential."

Mr. Macdonnell—"Have the employees had their wages reduced?"

Mr. Coaker—"I believe the Reid Co. have notified them of a reduction."

Mr. Macdonnell—"Are the Reids operating the Railroad now on their own account?"

Mr. Coaker—"Yes, for the past eighteen days."

Mr. Macdonnell—"And we are told they are insolvent and can't run it." Before closing the member for St. George's asked why were the Reids allowed to put their assets into subsidiary companies, but he received no reply. He said he would vote against the Resolutions and advised the members of the Government that before registering their votes that they should read St. Luke, chap. 19, 44, to 47 verses.

Mr. Small promised to go into the matter of Mr. Howard's appeal in a day or two, and if his statements were not correct he would move a vote of censure on him.

Mr. Samson said he had listened attentively to the debate on the Railway Resolutions, in order to find out what was best to be done. When the Government held a party meeting on the matter he was not favorable to the proposition, but promised to vote for it if nothing better came in sight. With Mr. Sullivan's suggested amendment he was in accord, but as it was not put he would vote for the Resolutions before the House.

Mr. Bennett—"We could not make suggestions when the Government refused to give us the information which we need."

Sir John Crosbie—"I have asked for information of a most serious import, and that is, where is the million and a half dollars coming from? I have not yet been told and will vote against the Resolutions because there is no money in sight to pay the amount demanded by the Reids. This financing is the stone wall the Government is up against."

Prime Minister—"In the Budget speech, which we will have an opportunity of discussing later, this amount has been provided for. I am glad to state that I have, through an error undetermined, the revenue by a sum of $500,000. This fact was discovered a few days ago. He predicted that the country would yet have to pass through strenuous and trying times."

Sir John Crosbie—"It is my opinion that we cannot make a revenue of 6 million dollars for next year. There is already a deficit of $150,000 as against the first two weeks in July last year, and without contradicting the Prime Minister how can we pay 1 1/2 millions to the Reid Co. when we must find 3 millions for interest on public debt, 1 million for Education, 1 1/2 millions for civil service and millions for other expenditures, with a revenue of 6 millions.

Sir Michael Cashin took occasion before the Bill passed to refer to the Prime Minister's manifesto. He said it was a strong appeal to passion. Under his management a revenue of 9 million dollars was collected, but when the Reform Government took 12 millions in taxation was taken from the people, this making the per capita tax $48, where it was before $38. This was the Reform Government's policy to reduce the burden on the people. After all the abuse that the Prime Minister heaped on me and my party, he had the impudence to ask us to help the Government out of a hole. He had squandered the 4 millions left in the treasury and had to ask us to help him out of a hole. He had taken 12 millions from the people and had to ask us to help him out of a hole. He had squandered the 4 millions left in the treasury and had to ask us to help him out of a hole. He had taken 12 millions from the people and had to ask us to help him out of a hole.

section lately in company with a couple of gentlemen, and though travelling was almost impossible, and it cost nearly $400 for the trip, these two gentlemen would not have missed the beauties of the scenery for $5,000. If, said Mr. Walsh, the Government has not sufficient revenue and can't get it from the present Controller's system, why not adopt the suggestions of the Moderate Prohibitionists. As it was, there is more revenue now being collected from the sale of liquor than in the palm days of the open saloon. The policy of drift, Mr. Walsh thought, was designed to bring about Confederation, but the men who were trying to adopt the scheme for this would go down in the dust; it was certain that they would not die on feather beds if he understood the people.

Mr. Sullivan, following Mr. Walsh, said that though the debate on the Resolutions had continued since the previous Thursday, and the Opposition had asked time and again for information before consenting to the measure, not one word of what was to be done had been given by the Prime Minister. He insisted on the House voting an immense sum to help Reids meet a deficit. Nor did he inform the House how that money was to be spent. Was part of the 1 1/2 millions to be devoted to paying fat salaries to the Reids and the Directors of the Company? Doing this deliberately, he said, was a most contemptible stewardship of the people's money, he asked. If you had no ulterior motive, the money if you vote it, should be earmarked for operating expenses only. Mr. Sullivan promised that if the Resolutions passed the first reading in their present form, there would be a lot more to be asked on them in committee, and pointed out that a great deal of the losses on the operation of the railroad occurred in the motive power department. He stated that the machine shops dismantled at Whitbourne some years ago were more modern than the present shops at the dock, where some of the machinery was over fifty years old. How can repairs be done economically with this outfit, he asked. What was needed was a competent supervisor of this department and he recommended to the Government Mr. Fred Angel as a suitable man. Mr. Sullivan asked Mr. Coaker what man he had in mind for the job while he was Chairman of the railway.

Mr. Coaker—"Mr. Fulmore."

Mr. Sullivan—"What about Crummev. Did he know anything about the railway?"

Mr. Coaker—"Yes, he knew from the bills."

Mr. Sullivan—"As a result of your management the Reids made more money last year than they did since the telegraph awards when they made one million dollars." He then referred to the new engines and said that they were not tested anywhere else except here, and that this country was being used as an experimental station. Continuing on the resolutions Mr. Sullivan said if you propose to pass them, why not loan the money and take their lands and other resources as security. The proposition now is of "heads I win tails you lose." It had been rumored, he said, that the 1 1/2 million dollars through the offices of Lord Shaughnessy were going to be paid over to the Argentine and Placentia schedule, the member for Placentia was promised by the Premier that these places would be included in the transfer by the C.P.R. Railway. The statement had been made by a high Canadian official and should be sufficient to make a Newfoundland think. Referring to the Argentine and Placentia schedule, the member for Placentia was promised by the Premier that these places would be included in the transfer by the C.P.R. Railway. Forty-Two Years in the Public Service--The Evening Telegram to the Reid Co. when we must find 3 millions for interest on public debt, 1 million for Education, 1 1/2 millions for civil service and millions for other expenditures, with a revenue of 6 millions.

Sir Michael Cashin took occasion before the Bill passed to refer to the Prime Minister's manifesto. He said it was a strong appeal to passion. Under his management a revenue of 9 million dollars was collected, but when the Reform Government took 12 millions in taxation was taken from the people, this making the per capita tax $48, where it was before $38. This was the Reform Government's policy to reduce the burden on the people. After all the abuse that the Prime Minister heaped on me and my party, he had the impudence to ask us to help the Government out of a hole. He had squandered the 4 millions left in the treasury and had to ask us to help him out of a hole. He had taken 12 millions from the people and had to ask us to help him out of a hole.

Railway Resolutions Pass House.

The Prime Minister replying said that the matter had been referred to a Select Committee, who will bring in a report in a day or two.

Mr. Archibald—"As you are on your feet why not prove the statements the Opposition members and myself are making are false. Why not prove that we are lying about these resolutions?"

Mr. Warren—"I would wish to correct the impression created by the last speaker that the failure of the Government to have the Bell Island Agreement settled, resulted in the stoppage of work at Bell Island. It had nothing to do with the stoppage. The Government had made a proposition that if the Company would operate at full blast they would allow the free export of ore for one year. Stating his position on the resolutions Mr. Warren said that as far as he could see the position of the country was that the Reid Company had during the past few years worn itself out for the benefit of the country, and this being the case they came to the Government and said they could operate no longer. The Government was placed in the position that they must either operate the railroad or close it down. The obvious thing to do was to run it, but he opposed operation under Government control. It was suggested that it be put up for tender, it would take a long time before the tenderers could figure on the costs of operating. The Reid's absolutely refusing to run the road, unless they were guaranteed 1 1/2 million dollars, left no other course open to the Government but to give it to them.

Mr. Archibald thanked the Attorney-General for the explanation of the Government's position, but thought it was very unsatisfactory. He asked the Attorney-General if he believed the figures submitted by the Reid's were correct.

The Attorney-General—"I have no reason to doubt them."

Mr. Archibald—"But you differ from the Prime Minister who said they were not reliable."

Mr. Higgins—"I may explain that the position is, the Prime Minister stated that he did not believe the Reid's figures, because they came from the Reid's, and Mr. Warren states that he believes them because they did come from the Reid's."

After referring to a sum to the credit of the Colony which the American auditors found when enquiring into the famous corruption charges and Sir John Crosbie's connection with it. The following encounter took place between Mr. Archibald and the member for St. Barbe.

Mr. Scammell to Mr. Archibald—"Is it correct that your brother sold 1000 qtls. fish to Sir John Crosbie either one week before or after you took an independent seat?"

Mr. Archibald—"No. Neither I nor my brother ever sold a fish to Sir John Crosbie in our life."

Mr. Scammell—"I understand that Sir John corroborated this and incidentally treated Mr. Scammell to a whole lot of information not to that gentleman's taste."

Mr. Archibald on resuming, repeated that he never sold fish, his brother never sold a fish, nor any one connected with him, ever sold a fish to Sir John Crosbie. Mr. Scammell accepted the answer in all sincerity, and a very warm episode closed.

The debate on the Resolutions continued up to early morning. Capt. Lewis speaking for a short while, clearly stating the stand he was taking.

The following amendment was proposed by Sir M. P. Cashin and seconded by Mr. J. R. Bennett:—

"That all the words following the preamble in the Resolutions be stricken out, and the following inserted in place thereof:—

"WHEREAS the Liberal Reform Party in the general election of 1918, through their Manifesto and in their public utterances went to the electorate on behalf of a policy against any concessions, whatever, being given to the Reid-Nfld. Co., and on the policy that the Reid-Nfld. Co. should be made to carry out to the letter their obligations to the people of the country, as contained in the contract of 1901;

"And WHEREAS the people at the Polls endorsed that policy;

"And WHEREAS the contract in the schedule hereto is in direct opposition to the policy as endorsed by the people at the polls;

"BE IT RESOLVED that in the opinion of this House this contract should not pass until the country has again pronounced on the same at the polls at a General Election to be held as soon as possible."

The Amendment was put and those who voted it down are:

Squires Wing Coaker Wing,
Sir R. A. Squires W. F. Coaker
W. R. Warren W. W. Hallyard
W. H. Cave E. Barnes

F. P. LeGrow Geo. Jones

J. Guppy

R. G. Winsor

The members who voted for the Amendment are as follows:

Sir M. P. Cashin R. Bennett
Sir J. C. Crosbie W. J. Higgins
W. J. Walsh P. F. Moore
M. S. Sullivan E. Sinnott
C. Fox Dr. W. H. Jones
Capt. Lewis N. Vinlecombe
J. MacDonnell F. Archibald

The Original Resolutions were next put and voted for by the same gentlemen, who practically presented the contractors with a bag of gold. And thus ends the first chapter of the Railway Resolutions. What the conclusion of the second one will be, let the people consider.

The House adjourned at 3.30 a.m. until 3.15 p.m. to-day.

Successful Garden Party

The Kilbride Garden Party, held at Aylward's Farm, Bay Bulls Road, yesterday, proved a most successful affair in every way. The programme, which was arranged by Rev. Fr. Rawlins and an energetic Committee, was an excellent one and was greatly enjoyed by the many citizens who were present.

The chief events were the pony and horse races, which caused considerable excitement. A large number of competitors entered for each. Cowan's won the Pony Race with Hallett second and Tobin third. There were four heats in the horse race, three entries being in the final heat. The race was won by Baird with Squires second. In the baseball between the B.I.S. and Cuba, the former won by 3-0 and received a fine cup donated by Father Rawlins. The City Band discoursed music during the day. Refreshments and teas were served by the ladies of Kilbride and a substantial amount was raised for their efforts. An excellent concert was later held at Littledale after which a dance held in the Kilbride club house brought the affair to a close. To all those who helped to make the Garden Party so thoroughly successful a great deal of credit is due.

I have lived long enough to learn The things which are of great concern. And I would write them down to-day For him who follows in my way; I would impress upon his mind The peace that comes of being kind And I would teach him there's no fame That can exceed an honored name.

Unto the eyes of youth it seems That most important are its dreams, Yet high-frown dreams come tumbling down. And few attain the world's renown. And even those who rise to power Must live through many a troubled hour: The thing that counts through peace and strife Is, above all, a well-lived life.

Better by far than glory famed, Is to meet all men unashamed; Greater than fortune's glittering gold Is love of friends when man is old; Who earns his neighbors' high esteem Need never mourn some broken dream. Who knows true friends are standing by Has peace which wealth cannot supply.

At Time, the great teacher of us all, Shows us her glories, large and small, Much that we once thought splendid pales. And the great joy of conquest fails; Richer than days of victorious glow The kinder days of long ago. He knows true glory at the end Who's played the man and played the friend.

HALF TRUTHS.

It is often blamed for the character of newspapers that they are liars. The newspaper, however, is not as black as it is printed, in spite of the fact of the printer's ink used, and when it lies it always tells little white ones.

Especially is this true of the newspaper that is a party organ. Half truths are so much more useful than outright lies, and the party backs know that.

A lie that is all a lie may be met and fought with outright.

But a lie that is part of the truth is a harder matter to fight.

That there are lies and lies.

We take it that a lie is not so much a mis-statement of fact as a deliberate attempt to deceive.

A mis-statement of fact may be made entirely unintentionally and because of part knowledge, and with no desire whatever to deceive.

On the other hand a part truth may be deliberately used in order to deceive, by omitting certain other facts which would alter the impression conveyed by the half truth.

The general public is apt to overlook this, and consider the mis-statement as a lie, while the half truth told with intent to deceive slips and is accepted.

One of the cleverest half truths is that being repeated by the Advocate when he says that two million dollars were spent about two million dollars more than during 1919. That is a half truth told with intent to deceive.

That is the truth. It is that the Government is collecting two million dollars less revenue than in 1919 because imports are less, duties are less, and the excessive duties are so high that people are forced to buy.

The present Government have added to the taxation that existed in 1919 a further surtax of 25%, and a surtax of 5% on not only the duty but on the freights and costs as well, so that even commodities that were previously duty free—like coal—are now taxed, not only on the value but on the freight, so that the higher the freight the steeper will be the duty.

The Advocate knows all this perfectly well, but it cleverly twists a half truth to suit its own purpose.

We repeat our definition—A lie may be a half truth told with intent to deceive, while a mis-statement of fact may be made in perfect good faith from lack of information only.

YES, BUT—

We have a Government (yes, yes, we know, but keep cool and reserve your crosses till you see the whites of their eyes next election time) which seems to believe in the principle of doing a thing first, and finding out if it is wise or legitimate afterwards.

Recently an edict went forth that all herring had to pay ten cents a barrel for inspection! Now had the edict come into force a little earlier before business had calculated the price it was going to pay for herring the fishermen would likely have been soaked that extra ten cents for inspection. But the announcement did not materialise until the price had been fixed, and then the business man found he couldn't take it off the fisherman he kicked, and it was found that he could evade it.

But—and this is the point—would the fisherman have been as successful had he been soiled with the tax? Would the Great Up lifter of the Underdogs have seen to the removal of the burdensome tax? Did not he, this same Mr. Wm. F. Coaker impose this ten cents a barrel taxation?

The fishermen are apparently rid of it because it touched the merchant, but would the fisherman have been rid of it so soon had it been placed on their shoulders? Put that in your pipe and think it over.

DIAMOND DUST

Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

LIONS SUCCESSFULLY DEFEND THEIR TITLE.

'Twas a balmy summer evening, And a goodly crowd was there To see the good-old Lions Get their fill of beer.

Overcrowded bleachers and thronged baselines saw Walter Callahan brilliantly twirl the doughty champs of two seasons to a 7 to 5 victory over the much advertised Cubs on Thursday evening. As a matter of fact Walter should have the honour to-day of hanging up a shut-out were it not for the fielding errors of his mates. 'Twas really a pity to rob him of his laurel wreath for his wonderful work in the box deserved it. The way he held the Cubs base runners to the bags was a revelation.

Eight weeks of continuous practice for the big event failed to produce much from the Cubs other than weak hitting in the pinches and fielding errors at the crucial periods, though Canning strove manfully and well on the mound but received poor support. In view of the tales of their prowess we will be frank enough to say that we were very much disappointed at their exhibition, and there is great danger of their being regarded as little old salt boosters. The Lions stole everything they had last night, with the exception possibly of their shoelaces, as they cavorted around the sacks.

Canning gave Cooley Munn a walk, who thereupon stole second, and a line drive by Walter Callahan scored him amidst great applause. In the second half was passed up but must have fallen asleep at the initial switch as a snap throw by Walter to Hiltz caught him off his bag. Canning worked the same stunt on Hiltz and got him trapped between first and second. The third round was the Lions', and they had Claude's outfit hanging to their noses dazed and helpless. It started by Kielly being hit by a pitched ball. Now no one would ever suspect Dan of outbouncing Ty Cobb but he reached second the basis of a second ahead of Delmar's peg. Cooley "announced," and on Canning's windy the Istropid Daniel no doubt in a moment of mental aberration, meandered down to third.

and was called safe on a close play. Then Quick sacrificed, scoring him. Walter was safe on Murr's error bringing in Cooley. From this until the 6th, firing was desultory, both moundmen mowing down the opposing sluggers. Suddenly like a bolt from the blue, Joe Murphy sent a slider down through second which Billy Callahan failed to stop and it got through both Kielly and Quick, though they had their hands on it. Murr kept on going like the mill tail of Halifax and beat the throw home. It was a fine exhibition of speed and daring. This perked up the Cubs' spirits and those of their fans, especially when Robbie's fumble let Clouston on. It looked as this juncture as if the Lions were aeroplaning as Robbie's peg of Duggan's tap was away wide, and Hiltz's throw home to choke off Clouston went over the score box, but Walter was still master of the situation and moved down the three succeeding batters in quick succession. The Lions were determined however to maintain their lead, and Bill Callahan got on. Walter singled, Canning's error letting him in. On a scratch hit by Hiltz, Bill died at the plate but Walter got home. Freddie Phelan now replaced Hall and smashed the first one for safety. Duggan sacrificed. Phelan got third by a narrow margin and came home on a passed ball. But right here their hopes died. Ellis singled. Kielly was hit by a batted ball and Fred Chesman entered a fracas that the railway deal had nothing on. Not calling time, Ellis stroled to second. Then the Cubs entered the argument and wanted him sent back. The game was held up for about three minutes but eventually Ches succeeded in effecting an armistice. Quick brought home Ellis. The Cubs could do nothing in their final frame but Bill Callahan again worked the oracle on Cooley's bunt which Clouston fumbled.

The game was a good one in spite of the score, and kept the fans on their toes right to the end. The next baseball game will be this evening when the Irish will try their luck with the Lions. The former have been working very hard with Dick McGrath as coach and may throw some surprises in the ranks of ballroom before the season advances very far.

Medicine for Plants.

AMMONIA AND WEAK TEA ARE GOOD. WHILE SALT BOTH KILLS AND CURES.

A maidenhair fern which has lived in an Oxfordshire country house for fifty-six years was recently threatened with its first illness. It was treated with a dose of cod liver oil, whereupon the ancient plant recovered, and is as flourishing as ever.

Plants, like animals, have curious appetites, and very different ones. Most ferns seem to appreciate a small dose of weak tea, and many other pot plants are benefited by this mixture.

A drop or two of ammonia in a tumbler of water is a specific for some plants, especially those with soft stems, such as primulas. But the mixture must not be too strong or it will kill instead of cure.

Most plants require lime, but rhododendrons hate it. Most of the heaths, too, do better on peaty soils, where there is no lime at all.

Their Favourite Foods.

Charcoal, while not a true fertilizer, has an extraordinarily good effect on most pot plants. Especially in the case of hyacinths, a little powdered charcoal mixed with the potting soil makes the flowers more brilliant in colour than any fertilizer. Salt spread on the paths is used to kill weeds, yet salt in smaller quantities is a splendid fertilizer for carnations and pinks, and all plants of that tribe.

YARMOUTH, N.S. The Original and Only Genuine. Beware of imitations sold on the merits of MINARD'S LINIMENT.

Soot, again, a fertilizer which will kill some plants is one of the best things possible for the onion bed.

Talking of this mixed effect, there is a fertilizer known as "lawn sand," which, if spread on the lawn, will kill weeds, while, at the same time, encouraging the growth of the little grasses and cloves which make good turf.

Potatoes and cauliflowers are partial to seaweed, hope flourish on ground-up rags, while there are some greedy plants, like strawberries and roses, which seem to appreciate any form of food which may be given them.—Answers.

WHICH DO YOU LIKE BEST?

"Which do you like best of them all?" I asked the Authorman after a group of friends who had been visiting us had gone. "Oh, I don't know," he said. "I would have to think that over and then I probably couldn't tell. And what's the use anyway?"

A typically masculine answer, I suspect. For I think most men hate that kind of weighing and measuring, and are less analytical than women.

But when I came to think the matter over myself, I found that I couldn't say anything more definite than the Authorman had.

One likes different kinds in different ways, and for different things, and at different times.

Each Friend Fits a Different Mood.

Of course down deep, one always loves all one's true friends, but there are certainly times and moods when one enjoys one more than the other.

Take your Letter Friends, for instance—are there not days when you feel like writing to some particular friend? You can sit down and pour out your heart to him or her, whereas you might find it hard to write to some other friend, even though you like him or her just as much, so far as this imponderable quality can be measured.

Different friends answer to different moods in one's nature. There is the friend with whom one can talk of books and literary interests and abstract ideas; there is the friend with whom one can go off on a trip and chat of simple things and be foolish and gay for a day; there is the friend who has the same business interests as oneself. One likes them all. But when it comes to saying which one likes best, that is almost impossible to do.

Not Justifiable.

It is perfectly right and natural that we should feel this way. But there is an extension of this feeling which is natural enough perhaps, but unbecoming. And that is the way some people have of turning from one friend to another whenever the first friend fails to act as a mirror, showing them to themselves in exactly the light in which they wish to appear. Let a friend disapprove of anything they do, let him fail to minister to their vanity in any way, and straightway they rush off to the next friend, justifying themselves and complaining of the other. By and by they wear out the second friend and go back to the first or on to a third. But that is no way to treat friendship.

In the words of Emerson, "If I have shrunk unequal from one contest instantly the joy I find in all the rest becomes mean and cowardly. I should hate myself if I then made my other friends my asylum."

Why Unlucky to Go Back.

How many people would be willing to acknowledge that they believe it is bad luck to return, after leaving the house, for something they have forgotten? Some popular superstitions can be explained psychologically—and this is one of them. The psychologists agree as to the bad luck part of it, but say that the bad luck consists not so much in the forgetting of it in the first place. This shows that you do not keep your mind sufficiently upon the details of what you are about. Having to go back for that letter or package you were to take with you is a symptom of lack of concentration of the mind on immediate matters. Lack of concentration on "the instant need of things" is "unlucky." Things will appear to go wrong all day, and you will attribute it to the fact that you went back after your umbrella; whereas the truth is that your mind is not functioning properly.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mr. R. W. Strong arrived in town by Saturday night's train on a short visit, returning again yesterday to the city.

Schooner Winnifred, Captain E. T. Hobbe, went on dock on the 15th inst. and came off again yesterday, after having some painting done. The tug Hugh D. arrived in port at dinner hour the same day and towed the schooner to St. John's. Capt. George Runsey of St. John's was here superintending repairs.

Mr. Allan Parsons, who was undergoing treatment at the General Hospital, St. John's, came to town by Saturday night's train and spent Sunday at his home. He returned again to the city by yesterday afternoon's train, as his treatment is not completed. We are all pleased to know he has benefited considerably since his stay in the institution.

The motor boat Zaida B. arrived from Bell Island on Friday night, bringing several in to spend the week-end here. She returned again Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. John Gordon and Wm. Tapp were passengers by Friday afternoon's train, having arrived by S.S. Rosalind from Halifax to St. John's the day previous. They will spend a few weeks visiting their homes. All are pleased to see them in the old town again and trust their stay will be very enjoyable.

Schooner Lucid arrived in port yesterday and went on dock this morning to undergo repairs.

Mr. H. Ford of Heart's Content, spent a holiday here with his uncle, Mr. T. G. Ford, (H.M.C.), and friends.

On Sunday night last about 8.30 o'clock four young lads belonging to Bear's Cove, who while seated upon or leaning against, what is commonly known as "The Bridge," met with an accident, which almost ended the life of one of them. (This bridge, no doubt, is quite familiar to all who have had the pleasure of visiting our town, especially lovers, who very likely hold pleasant memories of same.) It seems they had been resting there for some time, and noticing that the rails did not appear to be very strong—rather quite shaky—one of the boys remarked, "We'll be on this ill in breaks," or words to that effect. However, scarcely had the words been uttered when the rails gave way, falling into the ditch beneath—which is usually filled with water, excepting in the dry season. The bottom is covered with rocks and small boulders. Three of the boys managed to hang on to the lower part of the bridge and saved themselves from injury, but the other one named, William Peddie, son of Mr. Cecil Peddie, was in such a position that he could not prevent himself from falling, and when the rails crashed, after turning a somersault, he was dashed to the chasm beneath, inflicting thereby a severe wound in the head and rendering him unconscious. He was picked up and taken into a neighbour's house, who did all possible to alleviate his sufferings, while Dr. Cron was being rushed for, who arrived in a short time and dressed the lad's wounds, having to put several stitches in his head. He was then conveyed by the Doctor's car to his home, and yesterday was reported to be doing fairly well. We trust he has not sustained any internal injury and that his recovery will be speedy. This accident occurred just after the different congregations were coming from church, consequently quite a number gathered around the scene and several also were present and witnessed it.

During the last few weeks the Road Board has certainly done a great deal to the building up of the rails along the waterfront, and we hope they will "not grow weary in well doing," and not forget that the East End of the town needs their attention also, as this incident easily shows.

OUT OF DATE.

As I pursue my useful courses I often am submerged in tears, for all my friends have had divorces—I've had one wife for thirty years. It makes one feel so out of fashion, backward, behind the date; divorces seem the ruling passion with nearly every modern skate. My wife and I have walked together down the slope of life's long hill, encountered every kind of weather, and every brand of good and ill. And as we thus pursued our journey the marriage lines were never lost, and neither ever hired attorney to see just what divorce would cost. We've thought a marriage contract binding, in every chapter, every verse and even if results were grinding, it was for better or for worse. The vow we made beneath the steeple is ancient now, but still it serves, for we are old time, simple people, and are not wise to modern curves. I sometimes feel outside the running when friends come up and blithely tell how for divorces they went gunning, and shook off Jane or Kate or Nell. But then I light another stogie, and to Jimmie thus I speak, "I'd rather be a mossback fog than have a new wife every week." And she replies, "You're off annoying, you try my patience much, my dear, but I would find it rather cloying to be a bride nine times a year."

"Devil's Corkscrew."

Of the many fossils which have come out of the mountains and plains of the West, few have excited wider interest than the "devil's corkscrew," found in rock of the Miocene period, in northwestern Nebraska. They are usually white, and stand out clearly against the bluff background of the rock which incloses them, often attaining a length of fifteen feet, with many twists and turns, ending at times in a large bulb, with occasional side passages. When first discovered it was thought that these gigantic "corkscrews" were huge petrified vines or roots of some strange plant.

Study of the "corkscrews," however, failed to reveal any trace of plant structure. Later the skeleton of an animal like the badger was found in a large bulb near the end of the "corkscrew," and bones of a small camel and small deer were found in others.

After that it was discovered that many of them contained bones of a small burrowing animal about the size of the western prairie dog. Excavation of actual recent prairie dog burrows, after filling them with thin plaster of paris, showed an interesting fact; the burrows of the prairie dog and the prehistoric "corkscrews" were closely similar. The mystery is considered solved.

Conroy, Mr. J. Parker and the general committee of the Corps, was amongst those present. Laid to Rest.

Yesterday afternoon, in brilliant sunshine, all that was mortal of John M. (Jack) Squires was laid to rest in the General Protestant Cemetery, to await the resurrection. The deceased, who was just in the bloom of manhood, passed away at the General Hospital, Monday morning last, following an operation. The funeral which was largely attended, was in charge of undertaker Bursell. Several beautiful wreaths, the last tribute of friends rested on the casket. The burial service at the house and graveside was conducted by the Rev. T. W. Atkinson. To the bereaved father, sisters and brothers the sympathy of the community goes out in this their hour of bereavement.—Com.

To-Night at Donovan's.

Everything has been arranged to make to-night's outing the most enjoyable time dancing enthusiasts have ever experienced. For more social entertainment, with no thought of profits, the weekly outings to Donovan's have been offered to the public, and while the first two have been proclaimed successes, to-night's promises to be vastly superior to anything yet witnessed. The musical programme appearing in another column, will be rendered by the B.L.S. Orchestra and several new pieces will be presented for the first time. For the benefit of those attending the baseball game to-night, special motor buses have been engaged to run from St. George's Field to Donovan's immediately after the game. The special train leaves the station to-night at 7.45 instead of 7.30 as on previous occasions.—adv.

Animals and Music.

A violinist recently gave a free performance to the inhabitants of the London Zoological Gardens, and the effect of his playing upon some of his audience was rather curious to observe, according to a correspondent. The serpents, lizards, and scorpions seemed to be most appreciative of them all; some of them became quite agitated, while others hurried in the direction whence the sound proceeded and listened attentively. The bears, sheep, boars, bison, and zebras all evinced keen interest in the performance. But the wolves, foxes and elephants slept the sleep of the bored. The monkeys were divided in their regard; some of them craned their necks with curiosity and listened with their hand behind their ears, while others chattered menacingly, or critically rebuked themselves away. Sports, Dance, Supper and Train Fare included in ticket for Columbus Ladies' Association Outing at Donovan's, Aug. 10th. Come one, come all.—1520, 41, m. th. th
