REASON NO 7
WHY YOU SHOULD USE
Red Rose Tea
Because it is put up in sealed packages.
These packages protect the flavor of the tea and protect you in weight and guarantee of quality.
No article of food is so easily tainted as tea—it absorbs the flavor of everything it comes in contact with.
Place an orange beside some tea for an hour, and then taste or smell the tea—orange tea.
Very few tea bins are tight enough to prevent tea
from absorbing the odors of fruit, vegetables, cheese, etc., etc., usually mixed together in a grocery—and the ordinary tea chest is very little protection.
The Red Rose Tea sealed lead package preserves all the original flavor and freshness of the tea—open a package and smell its fresh fragrant aroma.
Packages of Red Rose Tea are always full weight and uniform in quality.

Poetry.
Love's Help
(James Buchanan)
Love said, "Alas! how helpless I,
That bring no increase to thy store,
But only make thee toil the more,
And trouble thee with many a hurt I
I would, sometimes, that thou wert
From his, thine added cross of care.
Bitter it seems that thou shouldst
Dear heart! life with me but weary,
The thankless yoke of toil for me!"
Love answered love, and thus he said:
"Thou art my comfort, and my stay, Sweet! Thus art thou to me and All that I am, or do, thou art.
No cross I bear because of thee,
But wings that lift and lighten me.
Dear heart! life with me but weary,
If thou shouldst cease to cheer and bless."

Selected Story.
MRS. BUSBY'S IDOLS.
Mrs. Busby eyed the sky as he leisurely walked from the barn to the house. The morning sun was veiled by a heavy mist, which lay low in the valleys, and hid the dark gray clouds from view.
After a prolonged scrutiny, Mrs. Busby pondered the matter. It was not the picture of the stars, but the face in the back kitchen porch and entered the room where his wife was taking up the breakfast, that she said:
"Pears like it might rain."
"That is what you always say if there's a cloud in the sky," Mrs. Busby said tartly. "I'll thank you to sit that boiler on just the other side of the door."
"Goen to work! It's enough to irritate me to see you here."
"Let it rain. I haven't any patience with such weather," Mrs. Busby rushed down cellar for a pitcher of cream.
Her husband never hurried. He put the butter carefully on the stove, built up a good fire, and, in obedience to a gesture from his wife, took his place at the table.
Mrs. Busby always thought before she spoke. This time, after a brief but earnest blessing, he devoted himself to ham, eggs, and potatoes for five minutes before saying in his drawling voice:
"That was a powerful sermon of the elder yesterday, Miranda. I always thought that text about Ephraim being fined to his idols might apply to some of us. Most everybody here has idols of some sort or other."
Mrs. Busby stirred her golden brown coffee seductively. "Perhaps so. I hope the people who need it took Mr.
Banton's fine application. As for me,
I once had an idol, but God took it."
There was a pause. The thoughts of both husband and wife travelled to the parlor where hung the picture of a child, a wee maiden with laughing blue eyes and dimpled arms. It was the picture of little Leah, their only child, whose death twenty years before had left the old farm desolate.
Mr. Busby's child was never stirred by memories of his child to speak.
But when a dash of rain came against the window-pane, his wife exclaimed crossly:
"There, it's raining. And if it don't wash on Monday, nothing goes right
all the week."
"Rain's an idol, is it, Miranda?"
The good man might apply to some of us. Most everybody here has idols of some sort or other."
"Yes, I did buy them," and a look of disgust crossed the face opposite Mrs. Busby. "What I want is understand. I am not going to use 'em. I will work my fingers to the bone before I'll set my table with anything but a white cloth," and she stroked the glossy lines approvingly.
"I know, Miranda, but maybe that's another idol. You see, you think a piece of such things."
"Now, Joseph Busby, if you are going to talk such nonsense as that, you better get to work. Just see there, the sun is shining. So you see it was right for me to wash after all."
"Maybe so," and the eyes of the child before her child's picture.

She opened the blinds and looked long and earnestly at the laughing baby face.
"Do you want me to, dear?" she asked tearfully. "Do you want me to take a noisy, troublesome boy into this home? Is it an idol, Leah, my wanting everything so quiet and orderly?"
Ten minutes later she was back at her washing. The parlor blinds were closed and all things were as they had been, excepting Mrs. Busby's eyes, there was a new light in their grey depths. At half-past nine the last clothes were on the line. Returning from hanging them out, Mrs. Busby found her neighbor, Mr. Vance, at the door.
"I've been down to the station," he said, and the sight of old Leah's face, looking at her for you, or Busby, rather.
"A what?" demanded Mrs. Busby, catching her breath.
"A baby." It was plain to see that Mr. Vance was enjoying the situation.
"A woman who was going East on a visit brought it from Kansas. Said it belonged to some of Busby's folks.
She left it in care of the ticket agent,
and he sent it over to me. It's down to the road in my wagon, and a trunk too. The little fellow's clothes drying most ever since the woman left him."
Mrs. Busby took down her green gingham sunbonnet and prepared to follow him out to the wagon without a word.
"Were you expecting it?" Mr. Vance asked, somewhat disappointed at her quietness.
"Not today," she replied briefly.
It was a plump, but tear-stained little face that met her eager gaze. There were great blue eyes, a rosy mouth, and cheeks like the yellow wax of the child was unmistakably dirty, and began crying again in a piteous fashion.
Mrs. Busby held up her arms. "Come to auntie, dear," she said coaxingly.
"You want some bread and milk, don't you, and to see the dear little thing?"
At the same leisurely gait of the morning, Mrs. Busby again traversed the path from the barn to the house.
Miranda's time of sitting in the in the sun brought to his mind the conversation of the morning, but he expected no reference to it from his wife. A surprise awaited him. The table was laid for three, and at the guest's place stood a clumsy high chair for the twenty years old son empty in an upper room. And on the table were a tin of yellow wax, a tin

The Weekly Monitor

ISSUED ON WEDNESDAY.
Bridgetown, Annapolis Co., N. S.
M. K. PIERCE, Proprietor and Publisher.

WEDNESDAY, FEB 15TH, 1905

Many who are interested in the provincial game laws (and all provincialists ought to be) will read with approval the following editorial from the San Francisco Examiner, which contains points of practical application to our provincial needs.

GAME LAWS MUST BE FOR THE BENEFIT OF ALL THE PEOPLE. Several bills have been introduced in the Legislature on the pretense of protection for game. Practically all of them are intended to confer the privilege of taking or setting game on a small and privileged class of the community.

There are bills to make it a misdemeanor to sell shot or snipe or other game; bills to impose a license fee on non-resident hunters; bills to confer the privilege of killing game to owners of land; and other bills that have the same object more or less disguised.

These bills are all wrong both in purpose and method. But nobody is surprised that they are introduced. The idea has grown up among the men who belong to the game club or own an interest in game preserves, that the wild game of the State belongs to them, and that nobody else has any rights in the matter. Former Legislatures have done something to foster this idea by passing laws that have restricted the enjoyment of some kinds of game to a small class, and it is not surprising that these men have come to the conclusion that it all belongs to them.

Now is a good time to end that idea and put the whole matter of game preservation on the right basis. The wild game of the State does not belong to the gun club, or even to the man who owns the land on which the game runs. It belongs to the whole people of the State, and the Legislature to protect it must be drawn in the interest of the whole people. It is not to be preserved for the whole people, the State has no business legislating about it in any different manner than it legislates about other forms of property.

The first essential of a game law is that it should be equally open to all persons. Whatever restrictions are necessary, let them apply to all; whatever privileges are granted, let them be enjoyed by all.

Legislation that confers the privileges of hunting to rich men, to owners of preserves, or to land-owners who go out from time to time for a day's shooting, or that forbids the sale of game, should not be taken by the poor man, who likes to hunt about the same preserves as the rich man who likes game and does not care to hunt ought to have the privilege, if he should like to have the privilege, of hunting about the same preserves as the rich man who likes game and does not care to hunt.

The kind of game laws that ought to be passed are those limiting the time in which game may be killed, and limiting the size of the gun that may be taken by any one hunter. Let these limits be drawn as closely as may be necessary to preserve the game in undiminished numbers. These are legitimate laws, being equally open to all citizens. But such hunting as is allowed should be open under equal conditions to all citizens, and the privilege of buying the game once it is killed should be open to any citizen who can afford the expense.

Much distress was experienced in North Sydney several days during the past week, as a result of a scarcity of coal. For two days, or until Thursday, it was impossible to get a pound of coal. The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co.'s railway was blocked owing to the storm, while the trouble was such that the teamsters could not be induced to go to the Granger mine. HYMENEAL

Pierce-Poster. Hillside Farm, North Framingham, Mass., the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoyt Foster, was the scene of a pretty wedding February 5th, when their daughter, Grace Young, was united in marriage to Mr. Owen Pierce, of Somerville, Mass. Relatives and intimate friends were the invited guests.

The day was the most beautiful of the winter. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and was daintily robed in white muslin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. F. K. Whitcomb, of the Methodist Church, a relative of the bride. The wedding march was played by Mrs. LaMont Foster, and the bride was given away by her father. The presents were many and valuable, among them being a number of framed pictures, an exquisite clock, and many pieces of silver and gold, and other kinds of remembrances, all attesting the esteem in which the bride is held. The hour for the ceremony was four o'clock, and after a wedding repast, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce took the wedding train for Providence, New York and other cities. They will reside in West Somerville, Mass.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN ANSLY. The death occurred on Sunday morning last of Mrs. John Anslay, at the age of eighty-one. Mrs. Anslay was almost a life-long resident of Bridgetown, and for many years, following the death of her husband, successfully conducted a millinery business in Bridgetown. In this she was assisted by her daughter, Miss Lizzy, who predeceased her mother by a little over a year. A younger daughter, Ella, passed away in early childhood some years ago. Mrs. Anslay was a woman of much sincerity and strength of character, and was highly esteemed for her genuine worth. By good business judgment and management she accumulated a neat property of several thousand dollars. Though the particulars of her life have not been given to the public, it is enough to say that her estate is bequeathed to religious and charitable institutions. The funeral services took place on Tuesday afternoon at the Church of England, of which she was a devout and faithful member.

Clayton Legge's Success as a Playwright. A romantic drama in four acts, "Robert Burns," written by Mr. Clayton Legge, son of Mr. Wm. Legge, of this town, was produced with gratifying success at the Carnegie Lyceum on January 28th, Mr. Legge playing the leading part. The New York Telegraph says of its production: "We recently had the Irish Patriot, Robert Emmet, at one of our local theatres, so it was not out of the ordinary to have a chance to see Robert Burns, the Scotch poet. Clayton MacKenzie Legge wrote a four-act play with Robert Burns as the hero, and Mr. Legge played the leading part at the Carnegie Lyceum on Saturday evening. It was an interesting performance, starting with the humble home of Burns and finally we see the poet in Edinburgh in the height of his career. Mr. Legge played the part of the poet in a many way, at the same time revealing with naturalness Burns' hesitating weakness. He recited one or two of Burns' best known poems in a way that won applause. With the others, he recited a number of certain ones. Mr. Legge has a fine figure, a splendid delivery and acted with much sincerity. The play was well put on, and played in every way."

Only Thirteen Deaths in the Year. Dr. deBois, the health officer for the town of Bridgetown, in his official report, makes the following statement regarding the mortality during the past year: "In regard to births and deaths within the town limits, the former I could not ascertain the number, there being no public register; but of the latter, with the help of Mr. Reed, undertaker, I have been enabled to make a very accurate report. There have been thirteen deaths during the whole year, viz: Four infants under a year old. The deaths of three were due to convulsions and inflammation of the brain, and one to tuberculosis of the lungs. Six old people (3 males and 3 females), aged, respectively 74, 74, 89, 69, 81 and 75; cases of death paralytic and old age. Two cases of consumption, ages 19 and 24, and one case (female) chronic blood-poison, age 32. I consider the above a remarkably good record, and one that shows the adult population due to acute inflammatory disease."

Improved Services.

D. A. R. and Midland Amalgamation Will Give Direct Trains From Yarmouth to Sydney. Truro, Feb. 9.—On the isolated C. P. R. which arrived this morning was P. Giffins, manager of the D. A. R., on his way home from Montreal, where he has been attending to certain details connected with taking over the Midland Railway. As soon as legislation is effected, the D. A. R. will assume the road. In the meantime, Mr. Giffins is appointed consulting manager with Mr. H. Y. Harris, present manager. The price paid for the road is $1,250,000, not $1,500,000 as reported by the morning papers. The Midland Company reserves the right to all earned bonuses and legitimate claims they now have outstanding, and also a claim of $70,000 against the Dominion Government for extras on the Stuenabec Bridge.

The Midland office will be continued in Truro, and direct connection from Yarmouth to Sydney established by means of a new night train from Truro to Sydney. Freight and passenger traffic for the rest, instead of going around by Windsor Junction, will all come through via the Midland, and the two rates system now necessary on express and freight from Truro west will be abolished, as there will be no competition to the express trains were running. WEEKLY MONITOR

COUNTY NEWS.

PORT LORNE. (Feb. 13th.) Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis welcomed a son on the 10th.

(From another correspondent.) (Feb. 5th.) Our school has been closed during the past week, owing to the illness of our teacher, Miss Mary Kinley.

Mr. Young Anthony is still confined to the house with a severe attack of bronchitis and asthma.

Mr. Jesse Foster, of Lynn, Mass., is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Foster.

Mr. Goldert, of Halifax, was with us on Thursday evening last for the purpose of re-organizing North Division, S. of P.

After delivering an interesting lecture on the evils of intemperance, Mr. Goldert proceeded to reorganize the Division, with the following as officers for current quarter—W. P. Demission, Secretary; W. A. Foster, Treasurer; R. S. Edith Starratt, A. R. S. George Beaulieu, F. S. Frank Anderson, Treasurer; Alfred Charlton, Chap.; Rev. R. B. Kinley, Con.; Eliza Brinton, A. Con.; Winnie Foster, J. S. Adbert Johnson; O. S. Johnson, Beaulieu.

BEAR RIVER. (Telephone, Feb. 10th.) Miss Annie Wale is spending the winter in Roxbury, Mass.

Mr. F. B. Miller is home from an extended trip in "the woods."

Miss Jessie Piggett, of Granville, is the guest of Miss Hattie Wade this week.

Regular communication of Keith Lodge, A. F. & A. M., was held on Monday, 6th inst.

Mr. and Mrs. Theobald Rice entertained a number of friends Friday evening last.

Mr. J. Wilkes Rice, agent for Dickey and McGrath, Tuxedo, spent Sunday here with his family.

Deacon Edward Clarke was in Digby several days last week, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Morse.

The first carnival of the season was held in Evangeline Park on Tuesday evening, in spite of the freezing temperature, a number of spectators were present, and a good percentage of slaters.

Some of the costumes were decidedly pretty and original, while many of the costumes were not lacking, and a good percentage of slaters.

Miss Blanche Purdy, as "Tennis Girl," had a most striking and unique costume. Miss May Dunn as "Canada" and Mrs. W. Wade as "Britannia" were rival patriots, and made a very fine appearance.

Miss Helen Dunn as "Miss Muffet" was a very pretty and interesting picture. Mr. Atley Clarke as "Duke" and Mr. Harry Anthony as "Sunny Jim" were favorites, as their costumes were decidedly "kitching" among the spectators.

In short, the costumes were all very creditable indeed. Mitchell's Orchestra, from Annapolis, furnished the music. The following were in costume: music.

TUPPERVILLE. Miss Clara Willett is visiting friends at Port Williams and is not expected home for another week.

Mr. P. W. Bond, manual instructor at the Consolidated School, Middleton, has resumed his duties after a month's absence at the Fredericton Military School, at which place he qualified as a lieutenant. He will now be able to instruct his young charges how to walk and hold themselves properly.

Mr. F. B. Chisman has returned from his trip to the Sydney, and is now busily engaged in shipping furs to the old country. Up to the present, new fur hats have been in good prices in the English market.

Bentville has its share of surprise parties, and those who have had part in the rounds of merriment are not bad judges as to where to find royal entertainment.

The crossing is particularly good at present, in fact never better, and we hope will remain so, at least another week. We mention this fact because the ladies intend holding a bean social in the Bentville Hall on the evening of the 21st, and we hope to see many Granville friends present.

HAMPTON. Nothing to write about but piles of snow, fierce gales, blustering snowstorms, with here and there a glimpse of sunshine.

Most of our folks are done hauling wood, and are now trying to get it ready for the stove. Many wood-piles are totally hidden in the snow. Snow-birds are extremely plentiful, but sparrows are scarce—too cold for the tiny creatures.

The hay was showing lots of ice last week, but the fierce westerly gale has driven it back home.

Although we have four mails per week from Bridgetown and two from Parker's Cove, the roads are so bad that we hardly know when to look for our papers.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Snow fell in St. John last week for the first time in twenty years.

Dr. Lorenz has performed in Vienna a successful operation on Miss Fielding, daughter of the Canadian Finance Minister.

A suspension bridge in St. Petersburg collapsed on Thursday, and thirty men with cable wagons for the horses, went through the ice into the river.

A fir tree was cut in Oregon recently which made nine saw logs averaging fourteen feet in length, scaling 21,483 feet broad measure. The product of this one tree will bring over $1,000.

A court in Philadelphia has decided that a wife may search her husband's pockets, but that he has no legal right to look into his wife's pocket-book without her permission.

The Mayor of the Island of St. Pierre has arrived in Paris and is seeking government assistance for his population who are starving, owing to the disastrous failure of the fishing season.

The report of the Minister of Justice for 1904 shows that the average penitentiary population of the Province in that twelve months was 1,228 souls, an increase of five per cent. over the preceding year.

Four Christian Scientists, one of them the mother of the young man who died, have been committed for trial in Toronto on the charge of manslaughter. The case has caused a great sensation in that city.

Friday's St. John Times says—The people along the line of the Southern Railway have decided to appeal to the railway commission. At St. George they have had no mail since Monday. Supt. McPhee is said to be at LePaux, and to have borrowed a load of coal to keep fire in the engines until Monday.

There are two engines between St. George and LePaux and fire, it is said, has been kept up by means of wood got from the neighbors. The people along the line are in arms against present conditions and see no hope of relief unless an appeal is made to the railway commission. Their present state of isolation has become unbearable.

In a sermon on "Child Labor" at St. Peter's cathedral yesterday, the Right Rev. M. J. Hoban, Bishop of Sherbrooke, came out unequivocally for permitting working boys to play athletic games on Sunday.

After picturing the hardships many of the boys of this community are put to in the mines and mills, day and night, six days a week, he criticized those who protest against their enjoying the Sabbath in harmless recreations, and added: "I say let them play baseball, or football, or any other kind of ball to their hearts' content. The good Lord will be pleased to see them do it, I aver, providing they are good boys."

Trouble Still Rife in the East. St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—St. Petersburg is again face to face with a renewal of the labor upheaval, the immediate incentive being the failure of the workmen to secure payment for the time they were out on strike, added to the fact that their demand for adjustment of the demand which led to the strike last month. The Petroflov works, where the former strike originated, is playing the same role. There are 30,000 workmen already out within the metropolis, and the workmen at the torpedo factory in Kolpino, 13 miles distant, have also joined the strikers. There is a strong prospect of the movement extending.

Only energetic measures by the troops and police prevented the resumption today of the former tactics of strikers marching from factory to factory and inducing or compelling employers to lay down their tools. Thus far there has been no disorder in St. Petersburg and the authorities appear to have the situation well in hand in this respect, and it is believed that such precautions have been taken as will preclude the repetition of the scenes of bloodshed of January 22.

Reports that revolutionary movement is liable to join with the strikers and resort to bomb throwing are causing grave apprehensions. The workmen today held a number of orderly meetings in open fields, and big assemblies are scheduled for tomorrow. Sunday will be the crucial time. The position of the workmen is distinctly weaker than it was three weeks ago, for they are without money, while the authorities are not repeating the mistake of under-estimating the gravity of the movement or neglecting precautions.

GOPON'S SECRET ORGANIZATION. Father Gopon's organization still exists, but secretly, and it is less effective. On the other hand the employers do not realize the importance of prompt settlement of the workmen's grievances, but have allowed weeks to slide by without deciding on combined action. A few have made concessions, but the majority have refused, claiming that to allow the demands of the workmen would mean bankruptcy for the employers, and have resigned themselves to the care of the government. They appear to think the government is trying to make them shoulder the business of settling a political difference. Reports from many factories show that the hands are ripe for trouble and liable to strike.

Warsaw, Feb. 10.—Over a hundred strikers were killed or wounded by the military at the conflict which took place at the Katherin Iron Works at Mosowic yesterday evening. The strikers were attempting to put out the fire in a furnace of the smelting department of the works. The military fired three volleys and finally scattered the workmen.

MILLS.—At Mahone Bay, 10th inst., Sarah, wife of John Mills, merchant, of pneumonia. Deceased was formerly Miss Debris, of Grande Perce.

CROPLEY.—At Port Lorne, Feb. 10th, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cropley, of pneumonia.

Colonel John Willett, a native of Granville, Annapolis County, a successful captain of industry of Mexico and Texas, died in his 79th year at his home in Saultille, Mexico, on December 23rd, 1904. He was for more than fifty years a prominent figure in the development of Northern Mexico and Southwest Texas. He was born in Granville, Nova Scotia, on March 14, 1826, of English parentage, being a great-grandson of Thomas Willett, the first of New York City's long list of English-speaking mayors.

After the war he moved to Monterey, Mex., and engaged in cotton raising at Hacienda Payitas and at Lerdo, Durango. Later he moved to Saultille and began exporting hides and skins, combining this with a banking business, which was extended to embrace eighteen branch banks from Zacatecas and Monterey to Mexico City. For a number of years the volume of the export business exceeded $800,000 a year, and there are still numerous mercantile houses throughout Mexico who were his customers for New York, London and Paris exchange.

In 1878 he closed his exporting and exchange business and purchased the Hacienda Nacimiento, an estate of 275,000 acres in the northern portion of the State of Coahuila, and made a number of real estate investments in Kerr, Burnett, Williamson and Webb counties, Texas.

He gradually disposed of his many interests and invested his entire fortune in the Padre Island Harboer company, becoming its president in 1888, which office he retained at his death. He lived long enough to see three railway lines building in one year—1904—through Southwest Texas; to see these vast grazing grounds begin to develop as truck and market gardens; to see the dawn on the lower Rio Grande of rice fields and sugar farms; long enough to close a contract for the construction of a harbor on the Texas coast that accommodates deeper draft vessels than any other on the port of New York, and enters an area of a third of Mexico and two-thirds of the United States from any other port which he had given fifty-six years of his life.

Commercial legislation in the interest of frater commerce he assisted in securing in Texas and in the United States Congress.

In his possession of his faculties, surrounded by wife, children and grand-children, he passed peacefully into the beyond. His last words were: "Son, let me go to sleep," and in this sleep sailed out from the troubled seas of life into the quiet harbor of eternity.

He was laid to rest in the new cemetery on the mountain side at Saultille, his tomb being hidden by the floral offerings of his friends.
