Abermen Have Regard For Voice of People In License Reduction

Probability That Close Vote Today Will at Least Favor a Referendum to the Electors in January Next.

MANY RESOLUTIONS PASSED TO INFLUENCE COUNCIL

The feeling that Ald. Hales' motion to cut off forty liquor licenses is an evidence of undue fervor in the cause of "pure and sparkling water" appears to have made strong headway among members of the city council, even though the fact that there is no gain saying the fact that a majority of the controllers and aldermen are blue-ribboners, there is an unmistakable sentiment that the vote of the people two years ago is not to be disregarded lightly, and latest inside indications point to the defeat of the movement in its present form by a small margin, when the issue is voted upon this afternoon.

Ald. Lytle says he will move in amendment that the execution of any license reduction bylaw be made subject to the approval of the electors next January, and it is believed that a number of aldermen will not find it incompatible with their temperance principles to vote for it.

Citizens' Committee to Protest.

A citizens' committee headed by A. R. Boswell, chairman of the committee which fought license reduction two years ago, will wait on the council at the meeting to-day, along with a committee representing the liquor trade, to urge the absolute ridiculousness of the reduction of licenses question.

They will claim in the first place, that the vote of two years ago was a final one, that hundreds of thousands of dollars had been spent in the present system on the ground that the vote was final, and, further, that the question was not an issue in the recent municipal election, and hence there would be no reason for the council dealing with the matter at the present time.

In any event the trade feel that the matter should at least go to the citizens.

Rev. Father Minehan, whose views in opposition to the proposed action have been made clear in a strongly worded letter, said last night he would be prepared to join any body of disinterested public citizens who might wait on council to urge objection.

Aldermen Don't Like It.

It is an open secret that Ald. Hales' motion is by no means a welcome one to an overwhelming majority of members of the council. It is regarded as a means of bringing on a peculiarly unfortunate situation. The members must vote either one way or the other. In voting to support it, they must sacrifice the principle that the people must rule, and deliberately override the decision given by five of the six wards of the city. In declaring against it they must be ready to have the extremist opinion, and be looked upon in certain active quarters as, at least, lukewarm friends of the cause.

Several members frankly admitted to the World last night that while they thought themselves in duty bound to back up any temperance measure they did not think that the people would be dealt with fairly and squarely if the motion passed, and that they personally would never have initiated the move.

It was also intimated that their attitude was not unalterable.

The Line Up.

The members who have come out in flat opposition are: Controller, Ward, Ald. Sanderson, Chisholm, Stewart, Church, McBride, Lytle, McMurrich, Whytock and McNeil. Ald. Adams and Ald. Foster, while no friends of the liquor interest, have refused, so it is learned, to be whipped into line as straight supporters, believing that the action outlined would be arbitrary and unfair.

Should they stick to their attitude there will be a line-up of 11 for the motion and 12 opposed, even conceding several doubtful votes to the Ald. Hales column.

Says It Isn't Fair.

A prominent temperance man, who desired his name withheld, informed the World candidly that he considered the anti-liquor organization in Toronto was guilty of a breach of trust with the people. He said that at a conference held soon after the civic elections of a year ago the circumstance that there was a temperance majority in the city council was carefully considered, but it was decided that it would be unfair to ask them to use their power, as the issue of license reduction had no part in the municipal contest.

"Now, although there was no mention whatever of the question in the election just over, it is being sprung while I'm for temperance, I can't see that it's fair," he declared.

Controller Spence, when asked what he thought of the contention, said he believed that the attitude of every member of council was known before the election, and had been told that the liquor men had written a number of candidates as to their views.

Questions as to what he considered the outlook to be, he replied that he hoped and believed reduction would carry.

Controller Hicken's View.

"I thank God that the chairman this afternoon will have an opportunity to vote for God and for the best interests of the community, and that he is going to do it to-morrow," said Rev. George R. Stuart, Tennessee, who addressed the meetings held in St. James Hall yesterday under the auspices of the Canadian Temperance League. The issue referred to was the bylaw.

LOST HIS WAY IN STORM AND WALKED ALL NIGHT

Alex Boyd of Uxbridge Being Cared for at East Toronto Until Friends Arrive.

Having wandered all night, Alex. Boyd of Uxbridge, aged about 50, and of weak mind, trudged into East Toronto yesterday. He applied for shelter at an hotel, but was refused accommodation.

Constable Tidberry met him shortly afterwards and considerably took care of him, finding him shivering and weak. He was taken to the Bayview Hotel, where Host Meagher will provide for him until his relatives arrive.

Mr. Boyd has been living with his wife on the sixth line, Uxbridge. Saturday he started for town to purchase some clothing. While returning he became confused in a heavy snowstorm and lost his way. He followed the railway track and plodded all the way of the 10 miles or so to East Toronto.

BRITISH LADIES SMOKED.

Not Afraid of Publicity Either, on Board Ship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Lady Juliet Duff, daughter of the fourth Earl of Londsdale, and the Hon. Violet Mary Vivian, sister of Baron Vivian and maid of honor to the queen, were passengers on the "White Star" liner, which reached her dock yesterday after a battle with tempests all the way from Queenstown, and they rather startled some of their conventional American cousins by nonchalantly smoking cigars in the lounge, where men and women are permitted to gather and indulge in tobacco in any form. Lady Duff is accompanied by her husband, R. G. V. Duff, lieutenant in the Second Life Guards, who has the opinion that his wife has just as much right to smoke as he has.

Some of the American women who had been smoking on the liner in their staterooms, as soon as they saw the young English woman openly indulging, went back and got their own packages, and soon there were eight or ten wreaths of vapor going up from the tables in the lounge.

EXPLOSION IN ISLAND TUNNEL

Three Men Have Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

In an explosion of unknown cause in the island tunnel at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Night Superintendent Steve Bradley had his face severely burned, and Engineer John Thompson was also badly burned about the face and arms. Charles Harston, a workman, escaped.

The injured men were taken to this home of the superintendent of the Hane and Miller firm, which have charge of the construction at No. 42 Spadina-avenue, and after being examined by Dr. Walter Scott, the company's physician, Thompson was sent to his home, 271 West Wellington-street.

The boiler at the opening of the tunnel on the island was not steaming properly and, after being examined, it was found that a match was lit and an explosion occurred which threw the three men several yards.

The men were removed by the police ambulance.

WAR OFFICE FEARS FOOD TRIBLE IN INDIA

Plans Said to Be in Making to Send Whole Army Into Hindustan.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(New York Sun Cable.)—It is by roundabout means that Englishmen usually learn of grave crises within the empire.

Such a warning comes now in the shape of orders from the war office to the officers of the auxiliary forces throughout Great Britain asking that they state whether mobilization is immediately possible.

The recipients are instructed to be prepared to join the forces on receipt of telegraphic orders. They must keep their adjutants informed of their movements and must not go beyond the reach of their arms.

The ground for this extraordinary action is the fact that the government is seriously alarmed by the growing unrest in India. The war office has completed a scheme for throwing a large force into Hindustan immediately, if necessary, and the Indian army. The auxiliary forces will then be used for garrison duty in all parts of the empire from which recruits may be withdrawn.

The danger of an uprising in India, which has been promoted by the Transvaal's "vanderkloof" and the Indian residents, has been fully described in these despatches. It has been growing with alarming rapidity, and is now compelled to prepare for any eventualities.

A sinister turn has been given to the situation by certain home comments. It has been hinted during the past few days that the action of the British majority in the Transvaal has been actuated by a desire to embroil the home government in India, with what ultimate object is not suggested, and the sale of other debentures, then there is the Grand Trunk Pacific, whose expenditure cannot be very large during 1908. In fact, the statement was made to-day, after a very careful calculation, that well on to $20,000,000 will be brought into the Dominion by the present year. It is believed that the Canadian Northern debt of the Dominion will not be very much under $20,000,000. Then it is quite probable that the splendid advancement and healthy development of the towns and cities of Canada, including the requirements of Montreal, Winnipeg and several other growing western communities, will necessitate the borrowing of from eight to ten millions for their use.

Street Railway Demands.

The street railways of the chief centres will also require a good deal of money, and in fact, a large amount is already authorized in Montreal and elsewhere, so the calculation is made that from two to three millions will be wanted at least on this particular account. As for the miscellaneous expenditure throughout the Dominion for which large sums of money have to be borrowed, it is always more difficult to calculate than when it refers to well-known enterprises, but it is generally believed that the sum of $12,000,000 is a conservative estimate of the amount of money to be brought in on miscellaneous account. The sum total of all this will give the splendid figure of $100,000,000, and the most satisfactory feature is in the fact that almost every dollar of this money will go into development and will bring about an earning power of considerable magnitude from the very start, or nearly so.

More Producing Power.

The expenditure at least of all these millions brought in by the different railways means so much more producing power added to the already fine capacity of western Canada, and when this operation adds so material-

MONEY, MILLIONS OF IT FOR CANADA THIS YEAR

Railways Will Do a Great Deal to Spread Vast Amount of Wealth Thruout the Country.

By the value of everything in sight, it will be seen at once how comparatively small the interest account, even on $100,000,000, will appear at the end of the year's expenditure. Canadian bankers consider, therefore, that there is no reason why the Dominion should be very much influenced by any depression that may lay hold of the United States in the near or distant future. There are absolutely no more free lands in that country, with the result that the immigration to the American Republic remains to a very large extent around their large cities and accounting for the army of unemployed now described in the newspapers.

In Canada the thousands of newcomers are spread over the west and whether engaged in the wheat fields of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, or in the mines and forests of British Columbia, they become immediately and consequently contribute to the rapidly growing wealth of the country. In a word, the financial outlook ahead is bright, even if she does secure a round hundred million dollars annually to assist her in the development of her untapped resources.

HON. ADAM BECK IN NEED OF A REST, GOES SOUTH

Englishman Disappears From London Boarding House—Vaudeville Performer Arrested.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(Special.)—Hon. Adam Beck left last evening for the south to recuperate his health. He expects to return in time for the opening of the legislature.

Ernest Umney, a young Englishman, disappeared from his boarding-house in this city on Dec. 27, and since then no trace of him has been found. His friends fear suicide because of his inability to find work.

A colored vaudeville performer named Murphy was arrested here to-night on the charge of assaulting Albert Gray, a passenger on the G.T.R. between Paris and Woodstock. Gray, who is a southerner, made a slighting remark about negroes, and Murphy struck him, at the same time removing a revolver from one pocket to the other to show he carried a weapon. When arrested, Murphy had no gun, having handed it to a colored porter on the train. He was released after being taken to the police station in Hamilton last week, and is booked for the local house this week.

The alderman's account, ordered by Ald. Cooper resulted in confirming Ald.-elect Parsons in his seat by six votes.

Extend System Says Minister.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Mr. Hon. Dr. MacNamara at the opening of the home for pauper children at Birmingham, said he could wish nothing better than that the present system of emigration, such as to Canada, should be wisely extended in the case of strong, healthy children. These chargeable to the poor law number 68,000.

PRESSING FOR FULL ENQUIRY

But Big Efforts Made to Hush Up Castle Robbery.

DUBLIN, Jan. 26.—(N. Y. World Cable.)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of the Irish crown jewels from Dublin Castle is one of the most baffling of modern times. The commission appointed by the castle authorities to enquire into the circumstances of the disappearance has not reported, and it is not known whether the report, when made, will become public.

It is now said that in addition to the two keys kept in the control of Sir Albert Vickers, the Ulster king-at-arms, and custodian of the jewels, there were five more in the care of other officers in the castle, one of which may have fallen into the hands of unauthorized persons, who stole the precious $350,000 regalia of St. Patrick. It is a fact that Viceroy Aberdeen, in July last, when the theft was discovered, ordered Vickers to resign, but the latter defied the order, insisting upon a public enquiry into the robbery.

The hesitation of the castle authorities to grant such an enquiry is naturally gives color to the current stories that persons high up in the viceregal court would be smirched by the disclosures as to the odious purposes to which Birmingham Tower, where the jewels were kept, was put almost nightly after Vickers had locked the place up and gone home. It is believed by those acquainted with some of the facts, that the person pointed out as being implicated in the big theft is mentally deficient, and was entirely innocent of participation in the robbery, but was apparently compromised through the agency of other castle officials, members of the "Round Table" clique, as a part of their plot to make it impossible for the authorities to pursue a public enquiry into the theft.

It is one of the most extraordinary criminal conspiracies of the age, and has been successful in tying the hands of the castle authorities for many months, while even now only the sheer weight of public opinion and the sensational stories current everywhere make a public investigation possible.

Vanity Fair says the principal article stolen, a huge diamond star worn by the King as the Grand Master of the Order of St. Patrick, at state ceremonies, is lying at Mont de Piete, Paris, but cannot be redeemed because the ticket has disappeared. It is said that a number of undescribed articles found in the castle office by the police the day after the robbery were produced before the commission as proof that articles had taken place there.

The government will be pressed when parliament meets for a full enquiry, but the official reply will probably be that such an enquiry might defeat rather than promote the detection of the criminals and the recovery of the jewels. Undoubtedly powerful influences are at work to hush up the scandal.

OULD, NOVELIST, DIES IN DIRE DOUBT

Famous Authoress Spent Her Last Years Under Most Distressing Privations.

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 26.—Ouida (Louise de la Ramee), the novelist, died Saturday at Viareggio, after an illness extending over a long period.

She died in most distressing poverty, her only attendant being an old servant woman, in whose arms she expired. She was completely blind in one eye, and the other eye was badly affected, thru her having suffered so much from exposure and privation.

During the last few months of her life she was compelled at times to sleep in the open-air when unable to pay for a night's lodging.

The immediate cause of death is set out as asthma, complicated by heart disease.

Ouida had a passionate fondness for dogs, and up to the very last was surrounded by many of them, depriving herself of even the necessities of life in order to feed them.

The minister of instruction had sent her on several occasions recently considerable contributions which had been subscribed for her aid.

Louise de la Ramee, known to the English reading world by her pen name, Ouida, a childish, distressed, and her own Christian name, was born at Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, England, in 1840. Her father was English, her mother French, her early life shrouded in a mystery which has given opportunity for the wildest, imaginative theories of the past. The story of her life is usually given in explanation of her knowledge of boisterous life—a knowledge which has been the subject of the light of her books. The story that she was educated by her father and by him taught masculine habits of thought seems plausible.

Her Early Writings.

When still a young woman, Ouida appears to have gone back to England and to have lived in a very obscure way in London. From this time on she devoted herself to writing. Her first story, "Granville de la Ramee," appeared in London when she was 27 years old. "Artificial, sensational and indirectly licentious" were some of the adjectives applied to her work by the critics of the time. There was a certain power in her writing, however, which gave her books a vogue from the first, and she was soon known as one of the most successful novelists of the day.

The novelist's view of men and women and life displayed some cynicism, a tendency to her nature and early training, which was only increased after her marriage by her sole romantic affair. A Florentine marquis of cultured tastes wooed and won her, and she became acquainted with a circle of the most distinguished and more beautiful women. Ouida broke with her fiancé and then showed the world that she was a woman of independent means, and that she was a successful rival in her novel, "Friendships." The characters were drawn so closely to life that they were almost indistinguishable from the people who had inspired them withdrew from society to seclusion.

Ouida's work in large quantities and she was accounted wealthy. It has been estimated she made from $200,000 to $300,000 from her writings, and did not make much of her property for her own good. Living moderately in a fine villa near Florence, she entertained friends weekly. This seemed to be only dissipation. But she never turned a deaf ear to any story of need; all who asked help received it without thought of her own future. Her almost unreasoning love for animals also had a great deal to do with her success. She had several dogs, and a story of a dog's fidelity to her was the subject of one of her books. The dogs of Florence fed at her expense.

Britain Granted Pension.

It became known in London last year that the novelist was in great poverty, and a pension of $750 was granted to her from the civil list. A fund was raised to aid her, but the aged woman did not take kindly to the efforts to help her. It is said she even tore proffered bank notes to pieces before the eyes of the would-be benefactors. It was related at the time that she was living in the humble home of a milkman at Mazarossa, having lost her home and her entire fortune. But three grey-haired men were left to her of her former days of affluence. These, it was said, too often ate the food that should have gone to their mistress, but they went on with her and she was still called in Florence "The Lady of the Dogs."

These reports of Ouida's utter poverty were afterward denied—it is certain they were somewhat exaggerated. She was poor, but life itself could not be denied. For months she was beset by correspondents and others who, from varying motives, tried to learn the truth of her condition.

Some of Her Works.

Ouida was the author of forty or more novels which attained varying degrees of popularity. Her "Under Two Flags," published in 1867 and later dramatized by Paul M. Fitzer, probably had the greatest vogue. "Strathmore," "Candos," "Triorin," "Two Little Wooden Shoes" and "In Narenm" were much read. Her book of short stories, "Lady Marabout's Troubles," and "The Dog Story," "A Dog of Flanders" have been accounted of considerable merit. Her former for its cleverness, the latter for its pathos.

Madame Kalich. Who is Bertha Kalich, who comes to Toronto and the Royal Alexandra Theatre next week for the first time in her career?

Three years ago Madame Kalich was unknown to English-speaking people, because she had acted only in foreign lands, tongues, and metropolises as Fedora, at the American Theatre, New York, and at the American Theatre, New York, and at the American Theatre, New York.

Madame Kalich was born in the City of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, Austria. Her initial professional study was in her native city, where it was predicted that her voice alone would win her a reputation.

Madame Kalich has acted in many countries and many tongues, and some of her notable impersonations have been in the leading roles of Jacob Gordin's dramas, "The Wild King," "God, Man and the Devil," "The Citizens," "Hamlet," "Desdemona" and "Ophelia."

That was a great game at Mutual-street Saturday night, and one that will live long in the hearts of those present. A game where hockey was played all the time, with the victory perching on the right side for the crowd.

St. Georges won, but that was all. Kingston have a team that excel in team work, their besting of the hands of Stratford last year having learned them much, and on their showing Saturday night will be a hard team to defeat for the championship.

Down Boston way the game is taking a great boom, and a couple of victories by Harvard over Canada teams make them think they are ready to take the title.

Mr. Trevelyan had been confined to his home, Forest Lodge, near Charlottesville, for many months by an attack of gout, from which he had suffered for many years. Two weeks ago, at a time when his condition was critical, his adopted daughter, Mrs. Arthur Martin, was murdered in Brooklyn by her husband, who killed himself after the crime.

The shock had a marked effect upon Mr. Trevelyan and it was aggravated by the disposition of the Martin family to blame him and his wife for the estrangement that led to the tragedy. He was one of the fine type of English sportsmen.

The men who ran against him were Spotty Clifford, J. Curran, and Nash and Tail Feather. Shrub beat the quartet by five laps, or nearly half a mile. He ran the first mile in 4:22, two miles in 9:22, three miles in 14:50, four miles in 20:02, five miles in 25:10, and the six miles in 30:00. That was his last race prior to sailing for home on Saturday. Alfred says he will return, but under any circumstances he is to start a correspondence school for long distance runners. He will advise his pupils how to win races by mail.

The international primary was the feature event of the bonspiel at Duluth last Thursday. It was necessary to measure for the final point, but the Yankees victory, thus even the best of curlers sometimes go down to defeat.

Visitors Ahead at Half Time 4 to 2 and Locals Finish First 7 to 6--Pro. Games at Ottawa and Montreal.

In the fastest and most sensational game seen at Mutual-street rink for many moons, St. Georges defeated the 14th Kingston in a Senior O.H.A. fixture Saturday night by the close score of 7 to 6, they coming strong in the last period, as the visitors led at the half by 4 to 2.

With scarcely a minute to play and the score a tie, Jimmy Cosgrove slammed the puck in the net, the result being a score of 7 to 6, the result being only a small affair to what happened shortly after, when the whistle blew for the start of the second half.

There was a large crowd present, and the game was justly cheered for its fast and close play. The visitors showed their favorites and the home team showed their own. The game was a splendid team work, more so than the results.

The Saints were lamentably weak in the shooting, Lyke missing chances in the first half, but the local supporters, O.P.A. and the Kingston supporters, were not so keen. As for the other side, if they had been taken advantage of, as they should, the Saints would have had a margin over the visiting team.

St. Georges won, but that was all. Kingston have a team that excel in team work, their besting of the hands of Stratford last year having learned them much, and on their showing Saturday night will be a hard team to defeat for the championship.

Down Boston way the game is taking a great boom, and a couple of victories by Harvard over Canada teams make them think they are ready to take the title.

Referee Fred Wagborne wishes it to be understood that he missed Ottawa connections Saturday because the train he was on from Toronto came to Toronto considerably behind time, and it was impossible to get east, thru no fault of his own.

The international primary was the feature event of the bonspiel at Duluth last Thursday. Four strong risks from each side of the Atlantic met on the ice, and the result, after one of the most exciting competitions on record, was a victory for the Americans by one point.

THE COUNCIL'S FIRST DUTY.

What the City Council of Toronto has got to remember first and always is the emphatic mandate given by the citizens to proceed with a civic distributing plant in connection with the Niagara power scheme of the hydro-electric power commission. That was the main, indeed, the one, important issue presented at the municipal election, and the council must not allow itself to be turned aside from its immediate duty to carry out that mandate in its entirety.

From the recent speeches of cabinet ministers it can be gathered that a heavy program of measures will be presented by the government. Mr. Haldane said at Rhyll that "the next session is consecrated to licensing and education, and one or two other topics to which the government has pledged themselves. The education bill, according to Mr. Asquith, will be introduced as soon as or very soon after parliament assembles, and the premier has stated it will give effect to the principle of the government regarding the control and management of the public elementary schools, while the chancellor of the exchequer described it as a scheme "to establish our system of primary and secondary education upon a really national basis."

Licensing reform is to be in advance of the opinion of the country at large, but parliament is to be asked to take a really effective step in the reduction of the facilities for drinking.

Old-age pensions, if the chancellor of the exchequer's promise last year is to be fulfilled, will occupy considerable time and can scarcely fall to be accompanied by important changes in the financial system of the country since additional provision must be made, not only for these, but of the anticipated increases in army and navy expenditure. Other bills promised in parliament last year and by members of the government during recess relate to the housing of the people, eight hour day in mines, town planning, the port of London, Scottish land and the valuation of Irish land and extension, and river pollution.

These do not complete the list, as an English valuation bill and an Irish land bill have also been threatened. If even a part of this long program is to be carried out, there does not seem to be much room for the prolonged discussion which must ensue from an attempt to restrict the constitutional powers of the second chamber. Apparently the process of filling the cup will be the main occupation of the house of commons. The real effort to force the medicinal draught on the recalcitrant peers will probably be postponed till parliament is nearer its statutory period of dissolution.

Premier Bond to Visit Ottawa. OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—The Robert Bond, premier of Newfoundland, has notified the government that he will shortly visit Ottawa to discuss the relations between that colony and the Dominion. It is understood that the chief subject to be considered is the reference of the fisheries dispute with the United States to the Hague tribunal. It is thought the advantage will be taken of the premier's presence in the capital to consider the question of Newfoundland entering the Dominion.

American Club at Calgary. CALGARY, Alb., Jan. 25.—Last night was a great night for the Americans of the Province of Alberta. They held a large and enthusiastic banquet at the Hotel Macdonald, which was organized by the American Club of Calgary, which celebrated its birth with a big banquet. The club expects to make arrangements with some American speaker of national reputation who will deliver the principal address upon that occasion.

BILL GOES TO PUT GRAIN EXCHANGE DOWN AND OUT

Virtual Emasculation is Probable Effect of Measure Introduced in Legislature.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—(Special.)—Virtual annihilation of the functions of the Winnipeg Grain and Produce Exchange is the intent of a bill which has been introduced in the Manitoba Legislature as a government measure by Hon. R. P. Roblin, the first minister.

It is stated that the bill has been drafted to suit the members of the Manitoba Grain Producers' Association, who last year made an abortive attempt to prove the grain men guilty of illegal combination in violation of trade laws. Last spring a conference of grain men and farmers was held under government auspices to see some agreement could not be arrived at regarding amendments to the charter of the exchange asked for by the grain growers.

The government has pledged to carry out the recommendations of this conference, and farmers being in the majority, the bill is expected to pass. The bill is expected to pass, and farmers being in the majority, the bill is expected to pass.

Features of the Bill. The salient features of the bill are the abolition of the position of commissioner between members; amendment of the expulsion rule giving any expelled member the right to appeal to a panel of three judges within twenty days of such expulsion, and to retain his seat and make trades till the judge hands down his decision; any person or firm or corporation which is refused membership on the ground of not being a reputable has the right of appeal to a judge.

In addition to the above the amendment contains several other provisions, including one to the effect that the public may overlook the trading-room and see the price of wheat at any time. The exchange regards this as a principle, that it is the owner of its own quotations.

The exchange has protested to the legislative committee of the legislature, but there is little chance of the protest being entertained by the majority of the house.

The members are threatening to close the wheat pit and go out of business. The bill is expected to pass, and farmers being in the majority, the bill is expected to pass.

AT NEW ST. ANDREW'S. Rev. Prof. MacNaughton of Queen's Preaches Sermon.

Rev. Prof. John MacNaughton of Queen's preached last night in New St. Andrew's, on the text, "The Son of Man is come to seek and save that which was lost." Prof. MacNaughton easily takes rank among the great preachers of Canada, and his gifts of terse characterization, pungent satire, and whole-hearted humanity are his.

He began with the remark that the interest of Jesus in the outcast classes was more of a nature than anything else to the people of His day. They were paralyzed by the dense medium of respectability in which they moved and lived and had no means as high as the moral condition of his countrymen? Only the pure in heart.

WON FORTUNE, BUT TOO LATE. Inventor's Death Quickly Follows Good News.

TROY, N.Y., Jan. 25.—Chas. Biedinger, an inventor, was found dead in his room in a cheap lodging house here last night. He had been in extreme want lately, and had just learned that the superior court, at Cincinnati, Ohio, had decided a patent right claim in his favor, awarding him $30,000 and interest upon it for several years.

His invention, a machine for making paper wrappers, was patented while he was in a sanitarium, by his financial backers, who refused an advance on the patent. The inventor was charged from the sanitarium. The suit followed with the verdict of a jury in his favor.
