KINRADES ABSENT ONLY FOUR MINOR WITNESSES HEARD IN QUEST ADJOURNS

Mother and Florence ignore subpoenas to attend and determined effort will be made to have them present to-night.

MRS. ERNEST KINRADE HAD ENGAGEMENT WITH ETHEL

HAMILTON, April 22.—(Special.)—"Isabelle Kinrade," "Isabelle Kinrade." Three times in an impressive silence was Mrs. Kinrade's name called at the inquest on the death of Ethel Kinrade here to-night. No answer.

"Call Florence Kinrade," said George Tate Blackstock, K.C., and three times in a still deeper silence the strong voice of a policeman rang out and the corridors echoed the name of the girl who has been the chief feature in the enquiry of the past two months. Still no reply.

It was after an hour's examination of several witnesses when this dramatic moment was reached and Mr. Blackstock proceeded: "Mrs. Kinrade and Florence Kinrade were notified to be here to-night, and it was our expectation that they would be here, as we received no notification to the contrary. I must ask an adjournment to-night, as it is necessary to secure their attendance at this court."

Adjournment followed immediately about 8.45, to reassemble at eight o'clock to-morrow night. It was said later, however, that the non-appearance of the Kinrades was not as "startling" as it first seemed.

Crown Attorney Washington recently wrote a letter to T. L. Kinrade, and wrote, telling him that his wife and daughter would be wanted to give evidence. Yesterday Detective Miller saw Mrs. Kinrade and told her that her husband had been staying with her at the Adelphi, and that the Kinrades would not attend.

Interest cannot be said to have been fluffed in any degree in one of the most mysterious crimes that have ever occurred in Canada. To-night's proceedings aroused interest in the excitement of the trial of March 25.

The witnesses to-night were not apparently of great weight, but the later developments increased the interest, especially of the contradictions and especially of the contradictions involving Mrs. Ernest Kinrade, and especially of the contradictions involving Mrs. Ernest Kinrade, and especially of the contradictions involving Mrs. Ernest Kinrade.

Texas on the weather. Mrs. Ernest Kinrade was asked to go skating with Ethel next day at the rink if it was clear enough weather. The next day she swore, was mild and not a day for skating, so she did not go. She did not communicate with Ethel.

The next witness, a man Dietz, who worked for her husband, affirmed positively that the day was a very cold one, and that he walked home with Ernest Kinrade and Ethel into the yard he slipped and fell on the ice.

"Florence could not skate," was the evidence given by Mrs. Ernest Kinrade when asked why Florence did not accompany her to the rink. This is interesting from a psychological point of view looking to some previous evidence.

Next to the non-appearance of the Kinrades women the greatest sensation was caused by the evidence of Miss Erskine, employed in the Stanley Mills Co. She swore clearly and definitely that she saw Florence Kinrade in the blouse department of the store on the day of the tragedy, and that she did not fix the time and was not aware if she bought anything. She knew Florence Kinrade, who was frequently in the store, very well by sight.

Florence Kinrade swore a month ago that she had not been out of the house the day of the murder, and did not get up till late in the morning.

15,000 KILLED BY FANATIC MOOSELS

Terrible Tales of Slaughter From Asiatic Turkey—Women and Children Are Not Spared.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—The situation in Asiatic Turkey, according to the latest intelligence received here, is distinctly threatening.

The wave of fanaticism which originated in Adana some ten days ago and found its expression in the killing of the Christians, apparently is spreading generally thru the eastern provinces. Upward of 10,000 Armenians were massacred in Syrian towns and villages, principally in the Vilayet of Adana, during outbreaks in the spring festival in honor of Mohammed and upon the receipt of the news of the overturn of the "heretical" government at Constantinople. One embassy places the estimates of killed as high as 15,000.

The government has sent urgent commands to the vilayets of Adana that the mob must be put down and the leaders harshly dealt with. The attacks on the Armenians appear to have been instigated solely by the reactionaries. A despatch from Mersina says the Armenian town of Mardin is besieged by Moslem tribesmen, who are only waiting sufficient numerical strength to rush the improvised defences erected by the Armenians. The Armenians, however, are well armed, and will put up a vigorous defence.

Another despatch from Tarsus dated April 20, and sent by courier to Mersina, sets forth that the missions there were giving shelter to 800 refugees and were well protected. Martial law has been declared and the situation was showing some improvement. Five hundred houses had been burned in the Armenian quarter of the city, where fifty persons had been killed. Others had been killed in the surrounding villages.

The town of Kirken, which is located a short distance from Rellian, and southeast of Adana, has been sacked and burned. The French mission at Ekbaz is besieged by fanatical Moslems. The Armenian village of Daurly is surrounded and according to a messenger who crawled thru the Arab lines at night made his way here for help, the situation there is hopeless.

The buildings on the edge of the town already were in flames when he escaped. The massacres are being carried out with the greatest violence. Neither women nor children are spared. The motto of the Moslems is "no twigs of the accursed race shall be suffered to live."

The Armenians recognizing that the massacres have been organized and carried on by adherents of the old Turkish regime, are looking to the Young Turks for future protection. American Women in Danger. BEIRUT, April 22.—Five American women missionaries are in danger at Kadjin, in the vilayet of Adana, Asiatic Turkey. One of them, Miss Lambert, has sent a message down to the coast asking for their protection.

The villages surrounding Hadjin, are in flames, and Hadjin itself is invested by nomad tribesmen. Hadjin is eighty miles north of Adana. Miss Virginia A. Billings, Miss Olive N. Vaughan, Miss Emily F. Richter and Mrs. Mary P. Rogers, who lost his life in Adana, are stationed at Hadjin.

PARLEYING WITH SULTAN Not Yet Certain How Negotiations Will End. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—The Young Turks have won another victory over Sultan Abdul Hamid, but whether the sultan will remain as sovereign of the empire is yet to be decided, although he has offered to place the affairs of government entirely in the hands of the ministers responsible to parliament.

Tevfik Pasha, the grand vizier, today arranged a compromise with certain influential constitutionalists, and this was approved by the sultan personally, but it is not clear whether this agreement will be accepted by the majority of the committee of union and progress or by enough of the military group to carry it into effect.

In addition to promising to withdraw himself from administrative activities, the sultan agrees to a change in the personnel of the troops guarding the palace, and the replacing of the Constantinople garrison by troops from a neighboring corps which he practically is investing the city for four days.

The chamber of deputies and some of the senators met to-day at San Stefano and are now discussing the question of the deposition of the sultan. The warships have gone to that place and officers are being ordered to that place. The constitutional party, Mahmoud Scheffer Pasha, commander of the third army corps, has arrived at that place, and the constitution of the investing army is now complete. Doubtless the next 24 hours will decide the fate of the sultan, who remains

WHEAT PRICES TUMBLING PATTEN SEEKS SECLUSION

"Grain King" Said to Have Disposed of His Holdings—Exciting Day in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 22.—That James A. Patten, hailed thruout the country as the "wheat king," has withdrawn from the market after disposing of his heavy holdings of May and July wheat, was asserted in many quarters here to-day.

Prices have tumbled over nine cents during the last week and Mr. Patten himself has sought rest in the fastnesses of a New Mexico ranch. Whether he has eliminated himself from the so-called "deal," and, if so, whether he came out with profit or loss, are questions which can be answered only by Patten himself.

The session of the board of trade was a sensational one to-day. "Bulls" had expected that after the six cents decline of the two previous sessions a recovery would ensue. Taking the Patten view of a big crop shortage as correct, the reaction was due.

But the first quotations were a startling disappointment. From nearly every point came the news of normal or stop-loss orders added to the confusion. Frequently it was impossible to make a sale within three-quarters of a cent of the price designated by a customer to his broker.

A tremendous liquidation market and Patten might have been bought house. From him there has come no word that he has changed his views as to the value of wheat. He called it still thinks so, it is pointed out that the same option at $1.21 to-day was an excellent investment. The same was said of July at $1.09 1/2. These prices are approximately nine cents under a high price of last Friday. Many a fortune has been wiped out by the decline this week.

"It is a fact that Mr. Patten ran away from the newspapers," said one of his friends to-day. "He was not manning a corner and published statements to the contrary were him out."

ICE PACK WEAKENING DUE TO THE ELEMENTS

Water Last Night Had Dropped Six Feet and Encouraging Signs Are Noticing.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 22.—The level of water in the lower Niagara is dropping rapidly. At 10 o'clock to-night it was six feet below this morning's level.

YOUNGSTOWN, N. Y., April 22.—A marked improvement is reported in conditions between here and Lewiston. In some places the pack shows marked evidence of the scouring of the ice and the sun. Above Lewiston there is little ice compared with what there was there Sunday and Monday.

The whirpool is almost free and the Devil's Hole Rapids again run on almost their wonted speed. Farther up the stream the pack still holds. When the middle section of the pack went out to-day, two towers of the Ontario Power Company on the Canadian shore were borne down stream, crippling the service to Syracuse and other cities, whose public service corporations Ontario current. The gorge road, however, is still lost to view, the shore-locked ice hiding it.

There was considerably less run of ice to-day from Lake Erie and that helped conditions greatly. Many believe that the ice pack is no longer menacing.

ASK FOR SPECIAL POLICE Dominion Coal Co. Want 625 Men For Strike Duty. SYDNEY, N.S., April 22.—(Special.)—The county council at this afternoon's session received a communication from the Dominion Coal Co. asking for the appointment of 625 constables, for service in the event of a strike of miners. The appointments will be made to-day.

Miners Preparing For Strike. HALIFAX, N. S., April 22.—Two members of the international board of United Mine Workers have arrived at Glace Bay direct from Indianapolis, and deposited $20,000 in the Union Bank as a strike fund in case negotiations with the Dominion Coal Co. fall thru. The union ask that the company receive their committees in respect to grievances. Mr. Acland, deputy minister of labor, may come here to try and help settle the differences, which the recent arbitration board failed to do.

This edition will doubtless be eagerly looked for, therefore, and every citizen interested in sports should get a copy.

CHARGE WESTON LABORED WITH "BLACKHAND" GAME

Wm. Stonehouse Alleged to Have Demanded $400 Under Pain of Fire and Injury.

William Stonehouse, a York Township laborer, was yesterday arrested by County Constable Walter Stewart and Provincial Constable Robt. Burns on a charge of attempting to extort money by threat.

Stonehouse was later brought before Magistrate Ellis of West Toronto and pleaded not guilty. He was subsequently released on $400 bail, himself in possession of two sureties of $1000 each.

Stonehouse, who is a potter by trade, living on the Weston-road, is a tenant of George Plant and some time ago suffered loss in the burning of his house. Later Stonehouse wrote to Plant asking for some assistance, a request which was ignored.

The first appeal was made by letter, but subsequently, the authorities allege, Stonehouse wrote a number of postcards threatening that unless his land-lord advanced him the sum of $400, he would destroy his buildings and that harm would befall his daughter. The letters were turned over to Igh. Constable Ramsden, and the latter deputized county officers to investigate.

The postcards were in many respects duplicates of the "blank hand" letters at Aurora and modeled along similar lines.

Stonehouse is said to have named his own letter box at his front gate as the place where it was required that the money should be left.

Stonehouse has always borne a good reputation and the authorities are said to attribute his action to reading about the Aurora affair.

He will appear before Police Magistrate Ellis on Thursday, April 23.

WAIT TO LOWER THE TARIFF WALLS

Important Congress of Commercial Delegates at Detroit to Discuss Trade With Canada.

DETROIT, April 22.—(Special.)—A Canadian reciprocity conference, called by the Detroit Board of Commerce, to thoroughly discuss and investigate the matter of more cordial trade relations with Canada, was called to order in the new Y. M. C. A. auditorium in Detroit at 2 o'clock this afternoon by President E. A. Sumner of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

There was a large attendance of delegates from more than ten states, a great majority coming from New York, Chicago, Boston and from states bordering on the frontier. Many of the largest trade organizations in the country are represented. Following Mr. Sumner's opening remarks, the conference received an official welcome from Gov. Fred. M. Warner, who said in part:

"The subject to be considered by this conference is of paramount importance. It is well worth the time and attention and best thought of men of large financial and industrial interests, men of extensive business experience, such as I see before me this afternoon, to take 'Coming as you do from various sections of the country, which are most concerned in the movement, to take steps which will, at an early day, let trade relations between the United States and Canada, you are prepared to discuss this important question in all its bearings and map out a course of procedure that will be mutually satisfactory and beneficial."

"Of Paramount Importance. "Situating the two countries are, separated only by an invisible line, populated by people of the same race and of like attainments and ambitions, it would seem that there should exist between them trade relations of the widest possible scope and the greatest cordiality."

"The rapid development of the Canadian territory and its marvelous resources make the improvement of our trade relations with that country of great importance."

Immediately following Gov. Warner's address, the conference organized for the purpose of discussing the question of reciprocity with Canada. Among the prominent men present who made a speech were called to order by Henry R. Towne, representing the Merchants' Association of New York; James R. Garfield, formerly secretary of the International Association of States with headquarters in Toronto; J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Toronto Globe, and Ryerson Ritchie of the Merchants' Association of Boston; James J. Hill of New York was expected to attend, but was prevented from coming by illness.

Other speakers were present from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo and Philadelphia.

Ex-Gov. Herrick was given close attention thruout. After expatiating at length upon the extensive trade and commercial relations at present existing between the United States with all countries, Mr. Herrick created great enthusiasm when he closed his speech with the statement that "with Herrick in the States as willing, nay, so national, to increase, preserve and maintain trade relations with the citizens of that nation than with any other people, in great measure, the United States, in whose veins flows the same Anglo-Saxon blood and with whom we are already in any other nation in the world."

Disley Bill Criticized. The Disley tariff bill, introduced in a previous session at the hands of C. W. Ketcher, one of the most prominent of Michigan lumber men, and his minor associates, has been the subject of no words in declaring the bill as a "senseless" and one which had already cost the State of Michigan more than $12,000,000 within the past 12 years, on account of its ridiculous impost of $2 per thousand on lumber.

Henry R. Towne of New York, representing the Merchants' Association of that state, delivered a rousing address, in the course of which he said: "If we face squarely and with open eyes the problem of trade relations between the United States and Canada, we may come to clearer notions of what free citizenship in a free country requires. We on our side of the line have long boasted of our freedom under the republic. On the Canadian side you boast just as truly of your freedom under the monarchy. If there were less extravagance of devotion to mere form, more freedom and more jealous concern for the common and every-day rights of the average citizen. While we protest our loyalty to this or that form, our loyalty to this or that form is hampered by primal liberties may be."

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram"

The "Evolution of a Lie" would be a far more significant title than "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" for the clever farce which was presented at the Grand last evening by Rose Evans and an unusually capable company. It would be difficult in the extreme to crowd more entangling complications and humorous situations into a comedy, and while the play accomplishes just what was intended—keeps everyone in successive fits of laughter from one in a suburb, missed the last train and remained all night. Mrs. Temple doubts a telegram from John Brown, the name given by her husband as that of his fictitious friend living at what the husband supposed to be a fictitious address in a fictitious suburb.

Living Pictures at Star

It is doubtful if many of the numerous patrons of the Star Theatre who have witnessed the "Living Pictures" are familiar with the mechanical part of the production. "The pictures," says Manager Sam Williams, "are taken direct from Parisian paintings. In fact one of the poses originated in Paris and we made an arrangement to reproduce it in the States over two years ago. She is now appearing with us. We had special curtains painted in New York and we trained the girls steadily for over two months before they were efficient enough to suit us. It has always been my principle that unless a girl takes part does not fully understand her role or the character that is being reproduced the effect is completely lost. I always explain to them, no matter how character ready is and try to get them to lose their personality for the few minutes they are before the audience."

Trade With British Guiana

LONDON, April 22.—In the common court of British Guiana recently passed a resolution in favor of a preference, a resolution to Canada, pending the appointment of a royal commission on trade between Canada and the West Indies. The government will now take steps in the matter.

In Police Court

The following cases were dealt with in police court yesterday morning: Lotte McLaughlin, 60 days for shoplifting in the Eaton store; Rose Kavanagh, 30 days for shoplifting in the liquor dealer, and Robert Miller, Dominion Express Co. driver, theft from the company, committed for trial; Emma Simpson, shoplifting, 30 days.

Legs Crushed

An employee of the Massey-Harris Co. for two days, J. F. McCrae of 112 Do vercourt-road, is now in the Western hospital. He was working near a load of iron, when something broke and it fell on him. Both feet and legs were crushed badly and one bone was broken.

R. S. Neville addressed the pupils of

The only individuals allowed within the scene enclosure were Mrs. Blackstock, her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch-Staunton, K.C., counsel for the Kinrade family, and her junior counsel, Mr. Ernest Hoskin, coroner's clerk. Dr. W. Bruce Smith and Dr. Clarke of Toronto Agency were again present, and also a number of medical specialists interested in pathological research.

It was 8:15 p.m. when Coroner Armstrong, seated at 8:30 p.m., started had been made, and report spread that Mr. Blackstock was conducting a private inquisition of one or two of the men at 8:40 Mr. Blackstock and Mr. Washington appeared.

Saw Strange Man. Mrs. Taylor, Markham-street, back of 104 Herkimer-street, was the first witness. She said she was at home on the afternoon of the tragedy and noticed a strange man in a yard in workingmen's clothes. He was looking about the house, and she saw him come out into the street thru a side exit. The time was about ten minutes to four. The man didn't show any great haste.

Mrs. Ernest Kinrade, called, said she had been married seven years. She said she and Florence the night before the murder, having invited the girls to her house. Her husband, sister and father were also present. She thought the girls left at 9 p.m. She often saw the girls and knew of no disagreements whatever. Witness was "Isabel Kinrade," said she was always in thought they were a very affectionate family," she said.

Heard of Miss Elliott. Asked whether she had ever heard Florence speak of Miss Elliott, she replied in affirmative. She had seen Miss Elliott. As to Florence's having been away before on a two or three days trip in 1917, she did not remember. Florence several times had sent her cards from Canadian towns, but she could only remember Goderich, She learned also of Florence's trips from Mrs. Kinrade or Ethel.

Mrs. Kinrade said Florence said on her return home from the south that she had had a "glorious time" and had been singing, but she did not understand that Florence got any cash remuneration. She did not know from the family whether Florence was accompanied by anyone. Florence on return from one tour had spoken of meeting Mrs. Brown. She knew of a trip by Florence to Syracuse, but not whether she was accompanied. She learned about the southern trip while Florence was away.

"Did you hear whether she went alone?" "I think that she had some one with her as far as Buffalo." "Was it Miss Elliott?"—"I think so." She wrote to Florence about once a week while the latter was away and received a number of letters from Florence, preserving none. Some were from Portsmouth and some from Richmond. She understood Florence was singing in a church and didn't know of the theatrical connections until since the murder.

Mrs. Kinrade was told by Florence before the latter left on her second southern trip last October that she was going back to the church. She saw members of the family frequently while the girl was absent, but they didn't mention Florence's travels. When Florence came back last December she didn't speak on the subject.

Questioned as to whether she knew of Florence ever having an attachment for any person, she answered in the negative, and so replied to a similar

A peculiar birthday party was held at 25 Homewood-avenue, the home of Mrs. Christian Underwood, who has just attained her 80th year. The guests were limited to those who had passed the 70th milestone of life. Those who were present at this unique gathering were: Miss Phoebe McGee, 351 Carlton-street; Mrs. Gordon and Miss Miller, 15 E. Beach-street; Mrs. Edward Tyrrell, 285 North Mutual-street; Mrs. Blackstock, 20 Homewood-avenue; Mrs. Adeline Byam, 87 Homewood-avenue; Mrs. M. J. Wilson, 18 Suffolk-place; Mrs. J. J. Blackstock, 86 Homewood-avenue.

A wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Ald. Albert Welch, in Orange-avenue, when Albert Welch, 18 Orange-avenue, was married to John Melville Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Wilson, Rev. Dr. C. O. Johnston officiated. The bride was given away by her father, who was attended in an emerald robe of Bruges lace over ivory tulle with a deep brocade in pearls, the deep girle embroidered in pearls, the gown being a large baroque pearl. A tulle veil crowned with orange blossoms and the end of her hair ring, the groom's gift, and carried an exquisite shower of lilies and roses. Miss Ethel Ryerson was bridesmaid.

ANNUAL SCHOOL GAMES

Surprise For Teachers—New Race Added—Invitations to Parents.

The committee on school games met yesterday afternoon. R. R. Davis was elected chairman. Saturday, May 23, was selected for the annual games. A double five mile race was added to the usual events. There will be prizes for the first three from both the high and public schools. They will start simultaneously and public interest will be increased by the battle for supremacy between the high and public school contestants. Trustee Levee offered to present a gold watch to the winner of the public school section of the race. The board of control will be asked to place 5000 chairs in the grand stand for lady visitors. A letter will be issued intimating to the school teachers plain that their attendance will be expected by the board and absences recorded. Invitation cards to parents will be furnished to all the children. The school staffs of East and West Toronto will be included in the list of officers of the day.

NEW SEALING ARRANGEMENT

Important Changes in Present Conditions Are Foreshadowed.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 22.—The United States may abrogate the Paris Award of 1904 governing pelagic sealing in Behring Sea as a result of conditions which have arisen owing to the influx of Japanese sealers not bound by the regulations, as Japan is not a party to the award according to statements made by Joseph Bosworth, a prominent local sealing schooner owner, who has returned from London, Washington and Ottawa, where he had interviews with officials regarding the sealing question.

The abrogation of sealing treaty under which the United States forbids her vessels to leave United States ports on a sealing cruise and spends nearly half a million yearly in patrolling the sea and guarding her fisheries, will result in United States sealers being permitted to go sealing after twenty years. Mr. Bosworth said he was informed at Ottawa by Hon. L. G. Brodeur, minister of marine, a few days ago that the question was to be taken up and the whole matter thoroughly gone into.

The probable eventual outcome would be cessation of sealing and the compensation for sealers for the loss of their industry, many being probably engaged in seal herds of Behring Sea and the owners and others who are interested in the industry given compensation. Arrangements to the same end will probably be made with the Japanese.

A New Down Town Restaurant. Mr. Albert Williams, the cafe man, has returned from New York after a pleasant holiday, and will commence alterations for his new restaurant at 83 Yonge-street, near King. This will be one of the most up-to-date dining rooms in the city and will be on the popular priced system. The equipment will be the most modern and the decorations mostly of marble, with a view to cleanliness and sanitation. This location for a restaurant is very desirable, and no doubt will be appreciated by the many patrons of the Williams' establishment.

Trade With British Guiana. LONDON, April 22.—In the common court of British Guiana recently passed a resolution in favor of a preference, a resolution to Canada, pending the appointment of a royal commission on trade between Canada and the West Indies. The government will now take steps in the matter.

In Police Court. The following cases were dealt with in police court yesterday morning: Lotte McLaughlin, 60 days for shoplifting in the Eaton store; Rose Kavanagh, 30 days for shoplifting in the liquor dealer, and Robert Miller, Dominion Express Co. driver, theft from the company, committed for trial; Emma Simpson, shoplifting, 30 days.

Legs Crushed. An employee of the Massey-Harris Co. for two days, J. F. McCrae of 112 Do vercourt-road, is now in the Western hospital. He was working near a load of iron, when something broke and it fell on him. Both feet and legs were crushed badly and one bone was broken.

R. S. Neville addressed the pupils of Hurbin College Institute yesterday afternoon on the British Empire and the importance of British Tradition. He was introduced by J. Stewart Carr, president of the United Empire Loyaldists, a former teacher in the school.

She will be remembered as Nance Olden in "The Bishop's Carriage."

Deputation Make Request of License Board. A deputation from the ward one license reduction committee, waiting on the license board yesterday afternoon, requested a clean sweep of the licenses not only north of Carlton and College, and west of Bathurst, as requested by the deputation, but also east of Sumach-street. The deputation was composed of Rev. S. W. Pollock, A. McElhenry (salvation Army), and W. S. B. Armstrong. Mr. Pollock declared that the clearance of areas was an object which the deputation had clearly in view in the campaign, and Commissioner Miller said it was not indicated in the reports of the public meetings.

S. W. Burns appeared for those interested in the Power House license, including Joseph Power and the Dominion and O'Keefe Breweries, as companies. He asked that the police court case against the holder of the license, J. I. Lattimore, be not prejudicial. If the case went against Mr. Lattimore he would surrender the license and leave.

Frank Slattery made a plea for a reversal of the Parliament House license, 332 East King-street. The estate had been forced to expend $30,000 in improvements and if forced to sell the property the proprietor's widow would require penniless.

Chairman Coatsworth said informally there were many such cases. Provincial Secretary Hanna referred to a deputation from the Citizens' League of St. Catharines yesterday that the question of reducing the licenses from 19 to 12 rested with the local commissioners, and the department could not interfere.

SENTENCE BOYS TO WHIPPING

Have Been Stealing Copper Wire From the Street Railway. KINGSTON, April 22.—(Special)—For some time boys have been robbing the street railway of copper wire from tracks where it is used in completing circuits. The loss of the wire caused the company a great deal of trouble, as it meant extra electric power must be furnished. Detective unearched 50 pounds of stolen wire in a pawn shop, and put four youngsters, all 12 years old, under arrest. Three found guilty to-day were given cat-o-nine-tails by the police, and the other discharged.

Moses A. Ellenson was fined $5 and costs for offering bad wire for sale. Several convicts have been transferred from Dorchester, N.B., penitentiary, to Kingston.

Heavy rains have put a damper on seeding operations.

The only individuals allowed within the scene enclosure were Mrs. Blackstock, her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch-Staunton, K.C., counsel for the Kinrade family, and her junior counsel, Mr. Ernest Hoskin, coroner's clerk. Dr. W. Bruce Smith and Dr. Clarke of Toronto Agency were again present, and also a number of medical specialists interested in pathological research.

It was 8:15 p.m. when Coroner Armstrong, seated at 8:30 p.m., started had been made, and report spread that Mr. Blackstock was conducting a private inquisition of one or two of the men at 8:40 Mr. Blackstock and Mr. Washington appeared.

Saw Strange Man. Mrs. Taylor, Markham-street, back of 104 Herkimer-street, was the first witness. She said she was at home on the afternoon of the tragedy and noticed a strange man in a yard in workingmen's clothes. He was looking about the house, and she saw him come out into the street thru a side exit. The time was about ten minutes to four. The man didn't show any great haste.

Mrs. Ernest Kinrade, called, said she had been married seven years. She said she and Florence the night before the murder, having invited the girls to her house. Her husband, sister and father were also present. She thought the girls left at 9 p.m. She often saw the girls and knew of no disagreements whatever. Witness was "Isabel Kinrade," said she was always in thought they were a very affectionate family," she said.

Heard of Miss Elliott. Asked whether she had ever heard Florence speak of Miss Elliott, she replied in affirmative. She had seen Miss Elliott. As to Florence's having been away before on a two or three days trip in 1917, she did not remember. Florence several times had sent her cards from Canadian towns, but she could only remember Goderich, She learned also of Florence's trips from Mrs. Kinrade or Ethel.

Mrs. Kinrade said Florence said on her return home from the south that she had had a "glorious time" and had been singing, but she did not understand that Florence got any cash remuneration. She did not know from the family whether Florence was accompanied by anyone. Florence on return from one tour had spoken of meeting Mrs. Brown. She knew of a trip by Florence to Syracuse, but not whether she was accompanied. She learned about the southern trip while Florence was away.

"Did you hear whether she went alone?" "I think that she had some one with her as far as Buffalo." "Was it Miss Elliott?"—"I think so." She wrote to Florence about once a week while the latter was away and received a number of letters from Florence, preserving none. Some were from Portsmouth and some from Richmond. She understood Florence was singing in a church and didn't know of the theatrical connections until since the murder.

Mrs. Kinrade was told by Florence before the latter left on her second southern trip last October that she was going back to the church. She saw members of the family frequently while the girl was absent, but they didn't mention Florence's travels. When Florence came back last December she didn't speak on the subject.

Questioned as to whether she knew of Florence ever having an attachment for any person, she answered in the negative, and so replied to a similar ing her father, James Pane, in St. James-avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Pitton, Brantford, will spend the summer in England. Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilson have left for Atlantic City. Mrs. H. D. Lumsden, Ottawa, is in town. Canon Starr, Kingston, is the guest of Sir Henry and Lady Pellatt. Mrs. Albert Austin is visiting her mother in St. Thomas. Mrs. A. F. Stephen of Kaslo, B. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. Stouffer, in Charles-street. Mrs. W. W. Squire of Hollywood Cal., youngest daughter of the late Dr. Winstanley of this city, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Squire, which is to attend the marriage which is to be solemnized at St. Simon's Church on the 23rd inst. of her niece, Florence Dunbar, second daughter of W. H. Banks, of the British American Assurance Co., in Herbert Thomas Fairley of Melbourne, Australia, son of the late James Fairley of that place. Mrs. Squire is accompanied by her daughter and will reside during her stay (about two weeks) at 40 Huntley-street. Miss Lauretta M. Gray, pupil of W. E. Fairclough, assisted by Miss Lillian Wilson and Miss Lillian Smith, accompanist, will give a recital in Northheimer's Hall on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Walter J. Barr, 98 Walmer-road, will not receive to-day, nor again this season.

A peculiar birthday party was held at 25 Homewood-avenue, the home of Mrs. Christian Underwood, who has just attained her 80th year. The guests were limited to those who had passed the 70th milestone of life. Those who were present at this unique gathering were: Miss Phoebe McGee, 351 Carlton-street; Mrs. Gordon and Miss Miller, 15 E. Beach-street; Mrs. Edward Tyrrell, 285 North Mutual-street; Mrs. Blackstock, 20 Homewood-avenue; Mrs. Adeline Byam, 87 Homewood-avenue; Mrs. M. J. Wilson, 18 Suffolk-place; Mrs. J. J. Blackstock, 86 Homewood-avenue.

A wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Ald. Albert Welch, in Orange-avenue, when Albert Welch, 18 Orange-avenue, was married to John Melville Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Wilson, Rev. Dr. C. O. Johnston officiated. The bride was given away by her father, who was attended in an emerald robe of Bruges lace over ivory tulle with a deep brocade in pearls, the gown being a large baroque pearl. A tulle veil crowned with orange blossoms and the end of her hair ring, the groom's gift, and carried an exquisite shower of lilies and roses. Miss Ethel Ryerson was bridesmaid.

Rudolph Pitches Leafs to Victory Newark Fans See Pets Humbled

Royals Wallop Providence Nine, While Skeeters Defeat Bisons—Orioles and Bronchos Play 12 Innings Without Scoring.

NEWARK, N.J., April 22.—(Special).—Joe Kelley's Maple Leafs not only humbled Wolverton's Indians here today in the opening Eastern League game, but applied a coat of balmainine to the dismay of the 10,000 fans present.

Early this morning it was thought the game would have to be postponed, but Manager Wolverton of the locals, on viewing the grounds at 11 o'clock, decided that the game would be played, and his word not only gave joy to the Newark fandom, but seemed to enthrall the crowd.

The customary parade was held, and the Leafs, in their new uniforms, started at 1 o'clock from the Continental Hotel, the Toronto team following in a big eight-seater automobile.

AN INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE OF PEACE.
In his presidential address to the Peace Society of the City of New York, Mr. Carnegie put forward a weighty plea for the establishment of an international league of peace. That was indeed a consummation devoutly to be wished and it cannot be described as but visionary. Notwithstanding all the rumors of wars which have been conspicuous of late, and the cry for armaments and yet more armaments, international conditions are more hopeful and promising than at any previous period in the world's history. There has been a steady movement peaceward and were the issues of war and peace in the hands of the people themselves there would be little cause for real apprehension.

On one point Mr. Carnegie's view of the international situation is open to challenge. He appears to assume that it is the peoples of the United Kingdom and Germany who are at variance and that only their governments stood between them and war. In this we think he is mistaken. There is no racial antagonism. All impartial observers who have gone beneath the surface agree that nothing but the friendliest spirit prevails among the classes that are truly representative of national sentiment. Recent years have brought with them an increasing exchange of visits and courtesies by and to representative delegations. In the case of Britain and France, this happened as the natural result of the entente cordiale, but it has been equally conspicuous with Britain and Germany, and the beneficial effect of close personal intercourse on international relationships can hardly be exaggerated.

Mr. Carnegie, while animating at some length on European rivalries in the matter of armaments, did not allude to President Taft's advocacy in his inaugural of a further enlargement of the United States navy. Commenting on this recommendation the other day, a British cabinet minister described it as sounding the death-knell for a long time to come. This perhaps is too pessimistic an opinion, although there is some inconsistency in a country doing the very thing which its press and public men are apt to condemn with a self-satisfied complacency that it is not as other nations. For many years no nation has worked harder in the interests of European peace than Great Britain, and Mr. Carnegie was scarcely justified in suggesting by implication that Britain might decline a conference or refuse to consider a league of peace as proposed by the late premier. Only a short time ago the German Government was again rounded up to a restriction of naval armaments, but again declined to entertain the suggestion. Mr. Carnegie admits that Britain has a strong case in resolving to retain her advantage in sea power. Her naval supremacy has not been used for aggressive purposes and nowhere will a genuine league of peace be more warmly welcomed.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.
No one who has heard the utterances of the provincial ministers on the question of technical and industrial education can be altogether satisfied with the position assumed. It gives the impression that a desire exists to side-step a difficult problem. The main contention is that the question should be dealt with by the federal authorities, a view which the minister of education emphasized before the Empire Club yesterday.

Dr. Pyne did not ignore what was being done in other countries. The immense technical institutions of Germany and France were alluded to, and the great schools in England, Ireland and Scotland, which he had visited, were described. The conditions in none of these countries resemble those in Ontario. Germany and France with their dense industrial and agricultural populations cannot be compared with Canada, although a better example of the results of technical education can be adduced. But only in Ontario and Quebec does the problem of a population in any degree concentrated present itself. The province provinces do not find technical education imperatively demanding attention, as is certainly the case in Ontario.

But Ontario should not wait until the case in the west is necessitous, Ontario as her own pressing problems, and Dr. Pyne's experience in Belfast and Glasgow must assure him that the question is very largely a local one. Toronto has not ignored this, nor Hamilton, nor will any of the cities where the matter is urgent. But the provincial government has a distinct duty in co-operation with, or by encouragement of, the local authorities to advance this important aspect of education. Action by the provincial government would unquestionably incite the Ottawa people to do something.

THE WATERWAYS TREATY.
Ratification of the waterways treaty with the rider appended by the United States Senate should certainly not be given. That rider was intended to secure for United States use between 77 and 85 per cent. of the possible power to be derived from the St. Mary's River rapids, and is in direct opposition to the general principle underlying ing the proposed agreement. This of itself is sufficient to condemn the rider, but there are other important reasons for withholding ratification based on the special interest the Canadian Sault has in securing its proper share of the St. Mary's River water power. It seems to have been assumed by the United States Senate that the claim made on behalf of the Michigan Sault to three-quarters of the flow was supported by the terms of the Treaty of Ghent and the later conventions. This assumption, however, is not warranted, for strong arguments can be offered showing that under present conditions Canada can fairly claim nearly one-half of the total flowing.

The matter of water power is vital for the proper development of the Canadian Sault, and a vigorous protest against acceptance of the modified treaty has been made by its board of trade. That protest and the grounds on which it is made ought to receive the most careful consideration of the Dominion Government. No concession should be made which is likely to injure Canadian interests, or which may be construed as an admission that the contention put forward by Michigan is supported by the governing treaties or by the actual facts and circumstances. Still more on the point of principle and in order to establish a valuable precedent should acceptance of the rider be refused. It destroys the give and take character of the agreement and introduces the very causes of difference which the treaty was intended to remove. Canada made considerable sacrifices in order to facilitate an arrangement and the federal government should take its stand firmly on the treaty, as originally adjusted and accepted by its negotiators.

TOO MUCH EDUCATION.
Architect F. W. Fitzpatrick of Washington, D.C., has stirred up a very lively discussion in foreign circles by a paper from his pen in the recent number of The International Review of Education, published in Paris, the leading "educational" journal of the world. His paper is entitled "Too Much Education," and deals almost exclusively with conditions in America. It is passing strange that the paper has not been translated and more widely commented upon by the American educational press. The London, Viennese, Russian and German educational periodicals have given that paper most serious attention, and seem to be about equally divided pro and con that writer's views.

He deplores the theory we seemed to have worked upon here for the last generation in insisting upon the maximum of instruction for everyone. Mr. Fitzpatrick states that in the past he was one of the most enthusiastic in favor of obligatory instruction and the greatest amount of schooling possible for everyone, but the consequences of such wide-spread education have been so different from what was expected that he has changed his mind. "The people, the proletariat," says he, "are loaded down with education and scholastic training and to-day we find ourselves with nothing but embryo presidents, senators and captains of industry upon our hands, a race of managers, of directors, of superintendents. All must do brain work, and you insult the man if you ask him to work with his hands. All are above that, they are educated, why should they work as does the laborer and the tiller of the soil? Our farms are abandoned; the young people are crowding to the cities and every farmer's son must be a doctor or a lawyer, or at least, a school teacher or a stenographer."

He gives exhaustive figures and statistics to show that in our solicitude for the education of the lower classes we have made huge additions to the criminal class and contributed to the general unrest and woe of the urban classes. He suggests as a partial remedy that only the most elementary instruction of a bookish nature be obligatory and that industrial and agricultural schools be established everywhere. That the lower grades of the common schools be less diversified in the information imparted and more thorough along the elementary lines. The present light touch upon so many subjects but encourages frivolity in the young and lack of application and the sense of satisfaction in the possession of a mere glossary information upon many things, where a thorough grounding in one or two would be infinitely more beneficial.

He says that the state should exercise still more paternal care of the schools, and by the keenest physical and intelligent examinations, the children who have passed through the elementary stage be divided at the earliest possible moment and only those who show exceptional mental ability be carried on up through the higher grades into the high schools and thus prepared for the scholastic and educated lines of life's work, while the others should be carried along in the trade or agricultural schools.

"Since the state supplies the education," says he, "it is certainly the state's privilege and duty to instruct the children along the lines for which they are best fitted and so that the state may have citizens capable of carrying on all the branches necessary to the complete and perfect economy of the whole. As it is now, it would seem that the state were bent upon developing clerks and professional men only. The agricultural and industrial schools are for the exceptions and few in number, while they should be in the majority. The subject is a most serious one and certainly deserves the profound attention of our educators and public men, and a perusal of Mr. Fitzpatrick's article would assuredly give abundant matter for deep thought and revolutionary change.

A RARE INVESTMENT

Is a Forty-Year-Old Canadian Industrial.

There is being offered for public subscription 1,000 shares of 7 per cent. preference stock in the Slater Shoe Company, Limited, with dividends payable quarterly.

The announcement is made that these shares will be offered at the par value of $100, with a bonus of 20 per cent. in common stock. There is not in Canada a better known industrial enterprise than the Slater Shoe Company. This business has been established for forty years, and during the past five years the output has been more than double that of the previous period. With the good reputation of making high-class and dependable shoes there is coupled with the industry a Trade Mark which is known and highly thought of in every civilized country. Those who know believe that instead of a million dollar business the Company will soon be doing a business of two and three millions yearly.

The Slater Shoe is a standard priced shoe, and is sold at a profit of 25 per cent. everywhere. Its method of selling protects the wearer and protects the maker. The Company is under no temptation to cheapen the shoe or to subtract from its durability, and the Trade Mark compels them to make each shoe as good as they know how. In every town and city the Slater Shoe is the most sought after agency, and the best shoe men handle it. The Company occupies an impregnable position with the trade, and its large turnover enables it to make safe and reasonable manufacturing profits.

This month the Slater Shoe Company adds an adjoining property to its present factory, and this addition will enable it to double its factory capacity, as well as to resume the making of $5.00 and $4.00 shoes for men and women. It is chiefly to meet the extension of business that the present issue has been subscribed and paid for by the present shareholders.

Subscription lists open to-day at all the branches of the Bank of Ottawa in Canada, as well as at Gault & Ewing's offices, and at the head offices of the Slater Shoe Company.

MAN WITH BLOOD STAINS HELD IN MURDER CASE

No Charge Preferred—Macedonian Laborer on Eastern Ave. Beaten to Death.

Met in the semi-darkness of the basement of his lodging house at 16 Eastern-avenue as he returned from his night's work, Evan Simoff, a Macedonian ash cleaner, employed near the O. T.R. roundhouse, was battered to death with a hatchet sometime after seven o'clock yesterday morning.

With what appears to be fresh blood-stains on his coat, overalls and shirt, Palla Steffoff, an unemployed Macedonian, living in the same house, is held by the police on the tentative charge of being a "material witness." Steffoff tells of finding the body and his story is not altogether satisfactory to the police.

Simoff, who was a married man with a wife and child in Europe, left his work at 7 o'clock. Three other Macedonians left with him. One of these rode to his home in Trinity-street, while the others say that they walked westward in the main light, on West Market-street, when Simoff left them to go north to King-street to buy honey.

Here Palla Steffoff takes up the tale. He says that he got up at 6 o'clock and set out in search of work. He went to the corner of Front and King-street, where he saw a man, but asked some Macedonians whom he saw outside. He then went back to the house about 8, buying meat and groceries on the way.

Saw Legs, Seated Murderer.
He found the back door, by which he had entered, locked. He entered by the front door and was on his way to the basement where he rooms with his wife when he saw a man, who he saw the legs of a man. He did not know, he says, whether the man was dead or drunk, but was afraid and rushed to the police station where he met George Bailey, whom he told that a man had been killed.

Bailey got P. Forbes in King-street. They found Simoff's body with the head at the bottom of the stairs, battered almost beyond recognition. On the floor was a pool of blood and brains and blood were spattered on the wall to a height of four feet.

A small, but heavy hatchet, which belonged to the house and was used for making kindling, was about two feet away. There were no signs of a struggle, but there were marks about the throat as if the man had been tightly held.

Detectives Macle, Kennedy, Moffatt and Huthrie and the chief constable went to the house. Later Inspector of Detective Duncan also visited the scene. Don't Get the Money.

The body was removed to the morgue. The trousers were torn open as if the assassin had been in search of the money which was in the Macedonians' wear. He left considerable money on the body, however. Sewn in the lining of the vest were found twenty-one dollars worth of $4 each and three smaller ones of half that value. In a purse in a pocket $2 in Canadian money was found.

A number of the inmates were taken to police headquarters, where they were searched and rightly questioned. Steffoff alone declined an invitation to go to the country about six months, coming via the States. He had on him when he was arrested a $100 Bank of Commerce bill and four $10 bills, he explained by saying that he had brought some money, about $80, from the old country and the $100 of his own and his brother's money from the States. His brother bears him out in the story that he received all the brother's money and paid the general expenses of the two. The brother has been steadily employed at Kemp's, receiving $11 a fortnight.

Explanation of Blood Stains.
Small spatters of what appears to be fresh blood were found upon the back of the man's coat, on his overalls and on the right wrist-band of his shirt. He explains this by saying that he worked at the Harris abattoir six weeks ago and also by saying that he has been sick lately and has been subject to slight hemorrhages of the bowels.

Chief Coroner Johnson will perform a postmortem to-day and fix a day for an inquest.

It is very hard for the police to get the truth from this class of foreigners, who preserve a stolid demeanor, generally shaking their heads or muttering a "me not know," to pertinent questions. Last year a Bulgarian was shot and killed at the foot of John-street in a navvies' camp, and no conviction could be secured.

Zam-Buk

Zam-Buk is used by eminent doctors in serious cases, is applied to the gravest cases of eczema and blood-poisoning, and is widely used in the Army and Navy. BUT, Zam-Buk is just as useful for cuts, burns, and bruises, sustained by the housewife in the kitchen, as for the serious wounds sustained by the soldier!
Children, too, like Zam-Buk, because it stops the smarting of a cut, or burn, or scratch, so quickly. Zam-Buk combines the "Doctor" and the "Insurance Co." Applied to a cut, a barbed-wire scratch, or a wound filled with dirt or dye, it kills all the poison and disease germs, and "insures" you against all danger from blood-poisoning. At the same time, it stimulates the cells to rapid action, and heals the injury in quick time.
Zam-Buk cures eczema, scalp-sores, ringworm, eruptions, festering sores, blood-poisoning, open wounds, boils, abscesses, varicose ulcers, and all diseases of the skin and tissue.

All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. box, three for $1.25, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.
