U.M.W. Head Says Nova Scotia Strike Directed From Moscow

OPPOSE CITY WATER PLANS

RADICALS
ATTACKED
BY LEWIS

Says Laws of U. M. W. Will be Upheld While He is President.

REDS DENOUNCED.

Miners' Leader Attacks the Labor Elements Who Set Aside Rules.

(Canadian Press.)

Portland, Ore., Oct. 8.—A protest against playing factions
of the labor movement against each other was made in an address at the convention of the American Federation here Saturday by Max S. Hays, of Cleveland.

When he had reached the climax of his attack upon those who have stigmatized certain unions, radicals and Bolshevists, and declared that 1,000,000 had withdrawn from organized labor
on account of dissensions.

John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. of America, denounced those elements in union
labor which attempt to set aside
union rules and traditions.

N. S. Strike Matter.

"Aside from being the victims of attacks of organized business," he said, "we have the difficulty of being the breeding ground of theorists that are often at variance with the laws of the organization and the land."
"Directed by agents from Moscow,
a strike was recently called in Nova Scotia. The U. M. W. revoked the charter and rehabilitated the union.
Production was resumed and we are now disciplining the men who revolted."
"So long as I am president of the U. M. W. of America, I shall uphold the laws of the organization."

ROTARY HEARS
OF NAVY LEAGUE

The address of Sam Harris, President of the Navy League, before the Rotary Club today, held his hearers
with the grip of a deep and sustained interest, and was greeted with the most hearty applause. He told of the formation of the League, its work in war-time
and its peace-time programme.
The latter includes caring for the dependents of men who gave their lives
at sea, caring for shipwrecked and pen-niless sailors, providing Sailors' Homes to save them from the harpies and the wolves of society, getting reparation
for men who are helpless as a result of injury in war, encouraging the training of boys for a sea life, and doing a share to sustain the first line of defence of the Empire and its commerce.
Mr. Harris declared that Canadian trade should go through Canadian ports and be protected on the high seas
by Canada.
Guy Short presided at today's luncheon. Several matters relating to the club's work were advanced a stage.

BOY BICYCLIST IS KILLED BY TRUCK

9-Year-Old Hurled to Death
While Trying to "Hook" Ride.

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 8.—Trying to "hook" on the rear of a motor truck
while riding his bicycle cost Kenneth Virchow, nine, his life last week. With other boys when near the corner of Beacon and Concord streets he tried to take hold of a truck owned and operated by Frank Martinus and loaded with cordwood.

As he reached out to grasp the truck body, his bicycle wheel caught in the electric car track and he was thrown under the truck, the rear wheels of which passed over his body. He was buried in a passing automobile to Memorial hospital, but had died before reaching there.

Martinus was questioned at police headquarters, but no blame apparently attaching to him, he was allowed to go.

Young Virchow was the son of Mr.
and Mrs. H. A. Virchow, 2 Stark street.
His father is at the head of a large department of mill No. 2 of the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company.

Storming Party Enter Building After Filling it With Ammonia Gas.

(Canadian Press.)

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 8.—A storming party last Saturday entered the mess hall fortress here of the Kentucky State Penitentiary, held by the three convict murderers since Wednesday when they killed three prisoners guarded in a desperate bid for freedom, and found a bomb.

Entrance to the bullet-torn two-story building was effected by a detail of seven picked men after the deserters stronghold was filled for an hour with ammonia fumes. Bodies of the convict gunmen, all of whom had been dead for several hours, were found on the floor of the second story of the building.

Two Take Own Lives

Monte Walters' body was found near the northwest wall, with a bullet wound through the head and horribly burned from a bursting rifle grenade.
Bodies of Lawrence Griffith and Harry Ferland, Walters' companions in the spectacular "last stand" stripped to the waist, were partly shrouded under a table against the wall on the northwest side. Powder burned bullet wounds over the heart indicated the direction in which Griffith and Ferland died. Ferland's gun hand, stiff in death, still gripped a heavy caliber automatic pistol.

Ferland and Griffith's arms were folded as though the bodies had been arranged after death. These two lost heart in hope of escape, fluttering and committed suicide to avoid capture, or were slain by Walters, who then fell under the heavy fire from the besieging forces.

Opinion last night was that the men had been dead for at least two days, but physicians said Walters apparently was the last man to die.

Nova Scotian In Touch With Arctic

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 8.—Joseph Fossett, amateur radio enthusiast, whose station, 1 A. R., is located at Woodside, near here, said today he had been in "two way" communication with Donald B. MacMillan's ship, the Bow-doin, in the Arctic, twice, on July 11
at Battle Harbor, and July 15, at Grady Harbor, Labrador.

A Calgary message today stated that a communication was received by Radio on Sunday by W. W. Grant at the station in that city and that this was the first time the Bowdoin had been interpreted by a Canadian station. Mr.
Fossett believes he is the only Canadian radio fan who has exchanged communications with the Bowdoin. Mr.
Grant, mentioned in the Calgary message, is a native of Halifax.

character, but the driver insisted Joseph was entirely innocent. He was released by Magistrate Hood-ingham in Essex Market court.

of gas in the Midwest Coal Mine at Palladium, Colo., yesterday, killed six of the seven men working in the mine.

that was fighting the fire in the Book

OLDEST BUSINESS MAN AT STORE

Francis McGoldrick at 96 Still Able to Attend to Business.

(Special to Times.)
Fredericton, Oct. 8.—Ernest W.
Shiels, of this city, had one of the bones of his right wrist broken Saturday afternoon, while cranking his car.
Mr. Shiels formerly was a traveler for the Imperial Tobacco Co., but is now in the grocery business with his son here.

Francis McGoldrick, believed to be the oldest man in Canada in active business, is in daily attendance at his clothing store in Queen street, although in his sixty-sixth year.

Mr. McGoldrick is not able to cover the distance from his residence to his store alone, but has to be furnished with transportation. He is able to spend much of each day there, however, and still takes a part in business affairs.

For the greater part of the summer he was not able to be out, but his condition has been better recently.
In addition to being the oldest man
in Canada in business, he is also Fredericton's oldest man. He was born in Ireland, in 1828, and came to Canada in 1847, with his parents. He was a resident of both St. John and Eastport, Me., and some sixty-six years ago
came to Fredericton with the late Owen McGoldrick and began business in partnership. His brother died about thirty years ago, Mr. McGoldrick continuing the business. A branch of Mr.
McGoldrick's business which he developed to a considerable extent was the purchase of raw furs. In former years he covered large areas of New Brunswick in connection with this business, and he has a number of near relatives in St. John.

British Cemetery In Turkey Desecrated

Constantinople, Oct. 8.—The British Crimian memorial cemetery was desecrated some time within the past 48 hours. The crosses on 17 graves were overturned, trees were broken and shrubbery was stripped. Officers and private, are buried in this cemetery
and the affair has caused a most painful sensation, particularly in view of Isnet Pasha's assertion when the Gallipoli cemetery were under discussion at the Lausanne conference that the Turks revered all sepulchres.

Inasmuch as all the greenery was carried away, it is believed to have been the work of persons who stole to sell for Saturday's decorations.

Boston Man Is In Trouble In Capital

Fredericton, Oct. 8.—W. McNulty, of Boston, arrested early on Sunday morning in connection with an attack
on a young woman in Charlotte street,
pleaded guilty today to being drunk and was remanded till the 11th on a charge of assault.

The latter may be amended to a more serious charge.

Sixty People Injured When

Explosion of Gasoline Bottles in Market Stalls Increases Terror.

(Canadian Press Cable)

London, Oct. 8.—Shouts of "earthquake, earthquake" in a crowded
district of the east end of London yesterday caused a wild stampede
in which a number of persons were trampled and hundreds of stalls
destroyed and a quantity of miscellaneous property ruined or stolen.

The scene of the disaster was the narrow Spalter street, Bethnal Green,
a noted center for the sale of animals for domestic pets. Local traders say that an auction was in progress in the open street when a sound of thunder from a side thoroughfare and rushing into the throng of thousands of marketeers and spectators, yelled
"earthquake."

Screaming crowd fled
towards both ends of the street, while the stalls
with which it was lined, were overturned. The cages birds and animals were scattered, hundreds of cats and dogs of the most varied breeds were scattered among the creatures being sold. Many of the canaries and other small cage birds, besides parrots, cats, dogs and chickens were crushed within their cages. Women and children screamed, many dogs howled, parrots screamed and chickens squawked. A number of birds escaped, fluttering wildly about the street after gaining a freedom which was destined to end
in starvation.

Sixty Are Injured
The Daily Mail gives the casualties
both sides of the street, while the stalls were taken to hospitals, 2,000 small cage birds either killed or escaped,
and dogs and cats and scores of poultry
killed.

The terror of the crowd was increased by the explosion of bottles of gasoline in one of the overturned stalls.
This led to the belief that shooting was in progress, as the district abounds in ruffians. The dealers assert that the whole affair was an organized raid by a gang of thieves. Anyway, there seems to have been wholesale looting during the panic.

LACHINE REOPENED

Thirty Vessels With Mill-
Bushels of Grain, Pass Through.

Montreal, Oct. 8.—After being blocked for three and a half days, navigation on the Lachine Canal was resumed yesterday, when engineers succeeded in partially moving the wrecked
St. Pierre bridge on the south bank.
The canal was again closed temporarily at nightfall in case some vessels might strike the end of the bridge, which still projects some distance out over the canal. During daylight a total of 30 vessels passed up and down the canal, carrying nearly 1,000,000 bushels of grain.

The Ville St. Pierre bridge was put out of commission last Wednesday afternoon when the 900-ton balance weight used in lowering and raising the bridge suddenly collapsed, rendering the bridge impassable.

Rhineland Republic at Early Date
Is Plan of German Separatists

Paris, Oct. 8.—The Separatists intend to attempt the establishment of a Rhineland Republic at an early date, says a Mayence despatch to Le Journal.

The Republic will be proclaimed simultaneously in all the principal cities on the left bank of the Rhine and in the Ruhr, according to the correspondent.

He adds that there is good reason to believe it will be successful, the Separatists having made their plans carefully and taking elaborate precautions to avoid bloodshed.

Is Killed by Train

Providence, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Mary C.
Arnold, 50, of Riverside, R. I., was killed by a work train on the Consolidated division of the New York,
New Haven & Hartford railroad.
She had been to the store for groceries
and was taking a short cut to her home along the tracks. The crew of the train, which was backing,
knew nothing of her presence on the tracks until she screamed. Her husband, in their home nearby, saw the trainmen's lanterns and learned of his wife's death when he went to inquire what was going on.

Crist Mill Burns
At Andover, Victoria

Andover, Oct. 8.—The grist mill, owned by James B. Porter, was burned to the ground at an early hour this morning. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Porter carried only a small insurance and feels his loss greatly as this is the beginning of the busy season and there were several grists in the mill awaiting grinding.
This is the fourth mill Mr. Porter has lost by fire and he has the sympathy of the community.

ENGINEERS
IN FAVOR OF

Public Works Department
Against Extending Deep
Water Terminals.

COUNCIL GETS NEWS

Correspondence is Read by Commissioner Bullock
at Today's Session.

Engineers of the Federal Public Works Department and of the C. N. R. have reported against the proposed plan to erect deep water terminals for the C. N. R. at Reed's Point in St. John harbor and are of the opinion that any further development for C. N. R. terminals at this port should be made at Courtney Bay, according to a letter received from Hon. Dr. J.
H. King, Federal Minister of Public Works, and presented to the members of the Community Council at a committee meeting this morning. This announcement occasioned considerable discussion on the part of the Council members and the consensus of opinion was that the city should not take "No" for an answer, but should continue to press for further development of the harbor project. During the meeting there was some criticism of the Government's attitude regarding the Port of St. John.

Commissioner Bullock read correspondence exchanged between himself and Hon. Dr. King in the matter. Dr.
King, writing on October 4 had said that the department engineers had been consulting that matter of the proposed development and had had a lengthy report from Alex. Gray, engineer in charge of the work at the inauguration of a soldier memorial, a fact that did not escape the attention of the youthful adherents of Leon Daudet, who tried to upset the meeting. In the ensuing scuffle, M. Malvy was hit in the back with a knuckle-duster. Several revolvers went off, but no one was hurt.
The police arrested four Royalists and invited the rest to leave the district.
M. Malvy sufficiently recovered from the excitement to announce at a banquet last night that he intended to be a candidate for Parliament at next year's elections.

to Max Star's home and relieved him of several dollars and his watch. They did the same at the home of William Presser, but failed to make an entrance
at the home of Jake Brodie.

SPIRITED HYDRO DISCUSSION FOLLOWS CALL OF E. A. SCHOFIELD AT CITY HALL

Says People Want to Know More—References to Expropriation.

A lengthy and somewhat spirited discussion on the civic hydro question was precipitated at a committee meeting of the Common Council this morning...

Mr. Schofield expressed the opinion that the city should obtain the exact situation at Musquash, what was being expended in the civic operation...

Mr. Schofield said the principal concern of the people was to know what the cost of getting the system into operation would leave the total cost well within the $600,000 mark.

People Starving, Send Call For Assistance

Quebec, Oct. 8.—"We are starving, send us help in God's Holy Name," was the text of a pathetic appeal of the people of Old Fort Bay, nearly seven hundred miles from this port on the North Shore, just received by Hon. E. Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

In their letter the residents give the reason of their destitute condition to the fact that ice floating into the bay in the spring, destroyed their chance of fishing, by driving the fish out. Fishing is their only means of gaining a livelihood, and this being destroyed, they are left with nothing.

Radio Beats Sun Across Continent

Hartford, Oct. 8.—Amateur radio operators virtually beat the sun across the continent during the recent tests when a message starting at dawn from the east coast reached Los Angeles before the sun appeared above the horizon. Transcontinental communication was completed in one hour and twenty-five minutes with only two relays.

An early start clinched the laurels for D. McR. Parsley, operator of amateur station 4TT at Wilmington, N. C. The average daylight range for amateur transmitting stations is 100 miles and had it not been for the fact that the message beat the sun and passed into the dark belt, it would have required relaying 30 times.

There were 137 American and Scotch passengers in the cabin, the latter looked for the United States, besides 44 returning Canadians; new Scotch Canadian settlers and right visitors from Scotland to Canada, while in the third class there were 40 returning Canadians, 389 new Scotch and Irish to settle in Western Canada and 170 booked to settle in the United States.

His Lordship Was Dining.

(Morning Post, London.)

Lord Shaw of Dunfermline tells an amusing story of an experience in the old days when the Scottish Beach in Edinburgh were accustomed to dine at four o'clock in the afternoon, then went on till late or early, according to the cases before them. At two o'clock one afternoon a client called on a distinguished lawyer, and was told by the serving-maid that he was at dinner, "At dinner at two o'clock in the afternoon!" exclaimed the visitor, incredulously. "Yes," replied the maid, "but it's yesterday's dinner he's eating the now."

DO YOUR SHARE

This is Fire Prevention Week, and the good to come out of it depends directly upon getting both individuals and organizations to think and to act with the determination to prevent their share of the terrific annual loss, in property but life and limb also, resulting from preventable fires. In the matter of carelessness about fire Canada is one of the worst offenders in civilization, and that fact, proved by statistics not to be disputable, is unworthy of an enlightened people. Not counting forest fires we in Canada, in the last ten years, have suffered the loss of more than 4,000 lives and of $200,000,000. The worst of it is that things have been getting worse instead of better, for the fire loss of 1922 was made a new bad record, amounting to a total of $51,250,000, and that, be it remembered, did not include the immense loss due to forest conflagrations.

Some definite suggestions for this week of inspection and precaution are made in the federal order-in-council signed October 7-18 as a period of national activity for the reduction of risks. Among the things urged are:

The inspection of every dwelling and its surroundings by the occupants, to detect and remove that which is likely to cause or promote the spread of fire.

The examination of all public buildings, stores, warehouses and factories, and the removal of rubbish, to prevent fire and promote health and safety.

The inspection of all hotels, theatres, restaurants and other institutional buildings, and provisions for any changes necessary to the safety of the occupants in the event of fire.

Fire drills in the schools, for the inmates of institutions, and for the employees of large establishments to promote a greater degree of safety and to make sure that all are acquainted with the quickest mode of exit.

That special instructions on fire prevention be given by teachers and by municipal officials in the schools and that the pupils receive appropriate literature.

Other suggestions include instructive activities by Boy Scout leaders to the owners of lumber camps, and precautions are urged upon hunters and all whom business or sport calls to the woods.

Good citizenship and self-protection alike should commend these activities to all. Too often we think little of the fire danger until it is too late. The very figures are amazing proof of the common lack of precautions—the failure to be sure rather than sorry. And in these matters no individual's carelessness may mean loss of others, perhaps death or injury to others.

MORE WINTER BUSINESS

That the people of the Atlantic ports can and will do more to conserve Canadian shippers and importers to use these ports to a greater degree is true enough, but still more people will have in mind how much the federal government and the Canadian National Railways themselves can do, how much they are in a position to do, in bringing to reality the policy of all-Canadian transportation in their hands. It is not only the perfection of the equipment of the ports, but also to a great extent the direction of traffic. In theory the shippers may route as they please, it is true, and to a great extent in practice also; but the government railway system—a great direct lever of public business, and the getting of business for their own ports is as much the duty of the C. N. R. as it is to provide rolling stock. What builds up the public railway system as well, and will give it the additional volume of traffic and the augmented revenue which must ultimately enable it to expand its equipment and lower its rates likewise. The day when it can do so will come.

Sir Henry Thompson's offer to place a special train at the disposal of business men and public representatives from St. John and Halifax to make a tour of Western Canada and present the advantages and claims of these ports suggests, as he would be the first to realize, but a part of what can do an immense amount along that very line in presenting individually to the shippers with whom its agents are constantly in touch the merits of these ports, the proof that for practical as well as patriotic reasons traffic should go through them, not through alien harbors. Whatever direct efforts the people of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick make to educate the West in this respect, they will act with more effect and with greater confidence when they know that the directors of the Government system are exerting themselves to the utmost to have Canadian ports absorb the greatest possible percentage of export and import traffic.

Here in St. John particularly our people recall the tremendous volume of freight handled with the facilities then available during the war. There was only one thought then, to get the freight to its destination in the shortest time possible. We had an object lesson in those days as to what Canada's Atlantic ports, St. John especially, could do when the railways eased the traffic through them.

The increase in the British preference on direct imports has improved matters somewhat so far as imports are concerned. It is said officially that during July ninety per cent. of the goods imported under the preferential tariff came through Canadian ports. That tariff change in itself should mean more business for the Atlantic ports this coming winter, and an increase in importations makes it easier to secure return cargoes. Some day our preferential tariff may be used to a still greater degree to invite direct imports. That would be good for the ports and for the whole country. The people of the Atlantic ports will welcome any action showing that the sea and business of securing more traffic for the ports is being carried on by the government-owned system, not merely because the ports want the business but because it is true that, under proper conditions, it can be handled to the best advantage in the end through the all-Canadian plan. This winter, with a great wheat crop harvested, and with rising exports, the country should see an increased utilization of its ever-open winter harbors.

Confirmation of Hon. Mr. Finlay's statement that more favorable rates for the Maritimes are coming soon will be awaited hopefully.

A REVOLUTION

Speaking of revolutions in the way of living, not so many years ago there were no motor cars, and now the people of Ontario spend nearly $130,000,000 a year in operating, repairing or replacing their automobiles. The statistics published recently that the people of Nebraska spent $133,000,000 on motor cars last year, and several Ontario folk began to work out a comparison. Ontario issued licenses for 210,000 passenger automobiles, 24,000 commercial cars and 470,000 motor cycles last year. The Toronto Star figures that "allowing an annual outlay for operation of $400 for each one of the 231,000 cars means a total of $94,000,000, and supposing cars cost on an average $1,000 each and allowing fifteen per cent. for replacements gives us $25,000,000, or a total of $119,000,000." The Orillia Packet, a bit horrified by this array of dollar figures, proceeds to enlarge the comparison. Ontario's most valuable iron crop is hay, which in 1921 was valued at $70,000,000, and the Packet adds the second crop, oats, $36,000,000, and says it "would still be necessary to throw in the greater part of the cattle sold and slaughtered, value $37,500,000, in order to pay 1922's automobile bill. Or to put it another way, the total value of Ontario's field crops in 1921 was $32,000,000, and more than half of it was spent on automobiles in 1922—much more than half if the expenditures on roads and other incidentals is considered."

This, looking back to the not distant day when there were no motor cars, and the Star asks where the people of Ontario get the $119,000,000 to meet it. The answer is not far to seek. They get it by working. The new age has brought more money to meet the added necessities and luxuries, and most of the motor cars are not luxuries or proof of reckless extravagance in spite of frequent arguments to the contrary. There are people, to be sure, who buy cars, and much else, that they cannot afford, but they are the exceptions. A great many of the automobiles are used partly or chiefly for business. The figures are extraordinary, it is true, but the people of Ontario, or of other provinces, where the number of cars in operation is large and on the increase, are not plunging into ruin any more than they were before the motor car was invented. They are, in fact, growing in material possessions, in income, and in comfort year by year, though not all of them are all ways ready to admit it. Even in the villages today, in New Brunswick and throughout Canada, one finds a high proportion of the people driving cars of one kind or another. People say ours is an extravagant age. It is. Every generation seems more extravagant than the preceding one, but each generation lives in circumstances unknown to the one before. Very likely the next generation will be talking of extravagant expenditures on flying machines. Anyhow, next year will see a new high record in the sale of automobiles, for times will be better and there will be large additions to the army of purchasers.

SHADOWTIME

(Allen Ward in N. Y. Herald.)
Sometimes when shadows of the night are falling,
Between the pines where elfin people creep,
I seem to hear the sweetest voice low-calling,
From out the darkness magical and deep.

With the tall eerie trees I'm vigil keeping,
And musing gaze across the still lagoon,
Staring from the doorway of the sky
As poppies, at that old witch mysterious, the moon.

The magic spell with hours of night is blending;
Along the sands the idle waters crawl;
Fond memory the quiet way is wending,
When purple shadows come, and dreamfolk call.

Empire Year

(By Sir John Foster Fraser)
There are dates which stand out boldly in the story of our race, the coming of William the Conqueror, the Magna Charter, the birth of Shakespeare, the death of Nelson, Waterloo, the outbreak of the Great War. Next Year, 1924, will go down through history as Empire Year.

A strange, unparalleled thing is our Empire which came into existence almost as an accident, which is held together by no written code but by the silken thread of loyalty to the Crown and the affection of brothers scattered throughout the world. I am old enough to remember when home-staying Britons regarded what were called the Colonies as something of a nuisance and with no regret at the prospect of the time when they would break away from the old home and fend for themselves; but I am proud to have lived to see them advance from being the children of Britain to lusty, adventurous, progressive grown-up sons, independent Commonwealths, Dominions, Unions, co-equals with ourselves in the Empire. Rome, with all its pomp had not a title to show compared with the wonders of the British Empire.

Next year we will celebrate the unity, the solidarity of the Empire, the slow-moving but sure-footed giant of the world, the sturdy, the energetic and experimental New Zealanders, the men who are making South Africa prosper, the men of the Crown Colonies and the innumerable possessions scattered throughout the seven seas, the brave, the bold, the India, men of many races and religions, but living in freedom under the Great Union.

At Wembley, within the least heartbeat of our race called London, thousands of men are toiling and toiling, finding fault with their own work, not only will be exhibited the best of the Empire, but there will be a display of the best of the human race as well. The banks require counters that nobody can climb over from the outside. And they require government inspection that no one can get away with the assets. The inside and get away with the assets.

Nothing New Under the Sun
(Montreal Gazette)
There is nothing new under the sun, not even in the way of sayings of great men. Several newspapers have sought "human interest" by getting the latest stories of men who have achieved notable things or done great deeds. One of the latter, described as a "multi-millionaire" was lately asked by an interviewer to give his ideas on money making. As reported, his pithy and sage observation was that "it is easy to make money, but difficult to keep it." The remark strikes old memories: after much counselling of brains and starting up of fifteen years' experience of the subconscious mind and taking down of books from shelves, those great thoughts.

Signs and Portents
(Montreal Gazette)
To those who believe in signs and portents, the sum of this year's figures, 1923-15—may afford some ground for the belief that events of importance, the last time the total of the year's figures amounted to fifteen years' experience of the subconscious mind and taking down of books from shelves, those great thoughts.

Shelby Starts Back on Road To Normalcy

JIM JOHNSON, SHELBY'S MAYOR

Shelby, Mont.—So this is Shelby. Such is the more than likely explanation on the lips of countless tourists purposefully misandering their way homeward through the now quite deserted streets of this bereft metropolis.

Shelby, which only a short time back basked in undiminished publicity as the training site and battleground of the new historic Dempsey-Gibbons fight, is getting back to normalcy.

But by no means has she lost her pluck. She is still a pretty well kept town. Her fling at pugilistic high finance and made her life the unenvied specimen of a Montana county seat with a bank.

With the morale of her populace who being the children of Britain to lusty, adventurous, progressive grown-up sons, independent Commonwealths, Dominions, Unions, co-equals with ourselves in the Empire. Rome, with all its pomp had not a title to show compared with the wonders of the British Empire.

Bank Robberies
(Toronto Star)
It is the demerit of surprise which makes robbers to succeed in holding up the employees of a bank. A teller may have a revolver in his case, but what use is it when it is six feet away from him and the muzzle of the robber's revolver is within six inches of his face?

After one of these burglaries has occurred the teller is often heard finding fault with the bank for not having done this or that. As to this we would not say that one of the earliest discoveries of the human race was that it is easy to talk.

For Health Centre
(Perth Mail, West Australia)
Washington counselled his countrymen not to interfere their destiny with that of any part of Europe, not to entangle their peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, humor or caprice. That was sound advice, but today no nation, especially no great nation, can live in isolation. Economically, financially, commercially, the world has become a unit with all its parts closely interdependent.

Earnest appeals on behalf of the Health Centre were made in all of the city churches, yesterday and today. Members spoke in commendation of the good work which the Health Centre is accomplishing. They urged the members of their congregations to support the tag day for the Health Centre, as the institution was relying upon a gift of $100,000 as a source of revenue to enable it to carry on its most essential and most beneficial and far reaching work.

THE ROUT OF THE PROPHETS

(New York Times)
In recording the complete defeat of German plans in the Ruhr, one ought not to forget to set down the entire failure of a large number of eminent prophets in England and the United States. It would be almost cruel to recall their forecasts in detail and by name. Yet every one knows how dire were their predictions. France was about to ruin herself forever. The franc was quickly to go as low as the mark or the ruble. Moreover, all social cohesion and political order in Europe was to disappear. Civilization itself was in danger of being hurled into the abyss. One belated prophet, Mr. E. D. Morel, a member of the House of Commons, sums up the general predictions of those who could see nothing but gloom and despair, and mainly writes it down that today "Europe totters to damnation."

It is needless to dwell on the fact that the event has almost cruelly refuted the forecasts of those who were public men and writers for the radical press who foresaw the wreck of the European world. But it is desirable to remind them of their egregious misreading of the signs of the times, because they are obviously ready to come forward now with an equally positive set of prophecies. They think that people will forget their past monumental blunders and give credence to them when they set about predicting a new collection. A sense of modesty, if they had it, would seem to dictate that they retire from the prophetic business for a decent period.

NEW YORK UNDERTAKER DOES BIG BUSINESS WITH MUSICAL HEARSE

Report Says That Many are Dying to Have a Ride in it.

New York, Oct. 8.—Since John Petrucci has been using a musical hearse, his own invention, his undertaking and embalming business has increased 143-4 per cent. This fact became known when Mr. Petrucci, at his main office, 72 Thompson street, denied that the five white enameled wooden angels carried in kneeling postures on top of the $19,875 vehicles revolve when the wheels turn.

Mercury Doubles Engine's Power

Its Vapor Used Instead of Water Vapor in Steam Model.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—A new steam engine, the power of which will nearly double that of present types with the same expenditure of fuel, by the use of mercury vapors instead of water vapors, is being developed by the General Electric Company.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The development of the mercury boiler steam engine has reached the point of experimental installation, but not commercial use, it was said at the local works of the General Electric Company.

Although the mercury boiler was invented by the company a year ago and mention of it was permitted in the press, the company regards the boiler as not yet ready for the market and is therefore withholding details of its construction and operation.

SPECIAL DAYS IN SHOPS SUCCESS

Sale Showed St. John Good Place in Which to Buy.

The three days co-operative sales event conducted by about forty-five prominent St. John merchants came to an end on Saturday night. During the three days in which the sale was in progress a large amount of business was transacted and the event was generally regarded as a complete success. The idea of the sale was to give the public a good opportunity to make their fall purchases and at the same time demonstrate to the people of the city and vicinity the fact that it pays to shop here. It is felt that a real step has been made in advancing St. John as a buying centre as large numbers of people came to town for the sale and made purchases throughout the province. Many of these people took advantage of a special offer by which they were able to have the price of their railway tickets refunded. The merchants generally regarded the sale as satisfactory and are of the opinion that it will greatly stimulate fall buying.

FALL POSTPONES FAMILY REUNION

Mrs. A. Beattie of West St. John, Aged Ninety, Injured.

Because she must remain quiet for several days, as the result of a fall on Saturday, Mrs. A. Beattie, 264 Prince street, West End, who will be 90 years old tomorrow, had to postpone the pleasure of family reunion and celebration, which had been planned for the event.

Mrs. Beattie has retained her faculties to a remarkable degree and is more erect and active than many women of half her age. She performs household tasks with enjoyment and regularity and on the street she walks briskly and alertly. She has a memory which is unusually retentive and delights to recall earlier days in St. John. Mrs. Beattie has been for the greater part of her life. She was born in the north end of the city and, after residing for a short time at Lepreau and St. John, she had large tracts of lumberland in Lepreau district.

When she was about eighteen years of age she married Hoyt Sylvanus Beattie, of West St. John, who was employed as caulker. Her husband died twenty years ago. Mrs. Beattie is the oldest member of the Ludlow street church and has taken a keen interest in all the activities of the church. In her younger days she sang in the choir.

There were eleven children in the family and seven lived to grow to maturity. One son, Edward, of Boston, died recently and the other children are: John, William, Walter and James, Mrs. Wellington Lord and Mrs. James L. Lord, all of West St. John. She has also twenty-eight grandchildren, thirty great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

THE CITY OF CONTRASTS

(Boston Herald.) What an astonishing spectacle New York presents just now! As soon as there was verification of the extent of the Japanese disaster, the city organized for relief with feverish haste and efficiency, "dug" the trade by trade organization by organization, and produced a large sum while some other cities were wondering just how to go about it. One newspaper is calling for a total of a hundred million.

Supporting a distant people of another race six or seven thousand miles away, and going about with a mourning band on the arm, New York is also preparing for the most astounding prize fight of modern times. Dempsey and Firpo will appear next Friday before 80,000 spectators at the Polo Grounds. The hotels, numerous as they seem, will not be able to accommodate the crowds adequately. If the fight lasts as long as the law provides it may, the pugilists will be in action for 45 minutes. The experts say that the actual duration will not be more than 15 or 20 minutes. For that brief period of enjoyment, New Yorkers and some others are going to pay almost $1,000,000. Dempsey will take $500,000, and Firpo will take away a paltry $175,000.

It is not surprising that O. Henry preferred to the great city as background the Subway that it is drawing the writer and the artist with a lure stronger and stronger. In a metropolis so diverse in its characteristics, so bent on pleasure today, so wrapped in grief tomorrow, so prompt at all times to support what is good, so apt to cheer what is bad, so huge and so petty, about anything can happen, and about everything seems to be happening.

BOBBED HAIR TYPISTS

The modern girl with bobbed hair has at least one valiant defender in the person of a local manufacturer who employs a good deal of feminine help. "Bobbed-hair girls" he explains "comb their tresses at their desks and are at work again in a few minutes. Long locks mean a trip to the dressing room, several minutes fussing with the hair, and usually a long conversation with long-haired co-workers." This means a daily loss in time that figures probably an hour. Besides, the long-haired girls are more likely to be late mornings—it takes them longer to fix up. "That is why I hire only bobbed-haired stenographers."

KING SAYS FAIR SHOULD PRESENT POSSIBILITIES OF ARTS OF PEACE

Premier Says Empire Should Develop Industrial Type of Society

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Oct. 7.—Speaking of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley
Park yesterday afternoon, Premier Mackenzie King, of Canada, urged that the exhibition should represent the Empire in miniature.

"All through the history of nations,"
said Mr. King, "two antagonistic types of activities have struggled for the ascendancy—militant and industrial. The world has had its great object lesson in the outcome of the former within the recent past. In this exhibition we would have an object lesson of the possibilities of the latter.

"We of the British Empire would have the world witness here the limitless possibilities for progress and plenitude of the arts of peace. To develop the industrial type of organized society to its highest possibilities should be the aim of our combined British communities. As we accept that end—and vast contribution toward it will be made by this exhibition—we shall make our contribution of permanent value not only to our Empire alone but to the well-being of mankind."

The Duke of Devonshire, Secretary for the Colonies, who presided, said that the intention of the board of management was to make the exhibition
British in the widest sense of the word.
In submitting a message of greeting to the Prince of Wales at Ottawa, the Duke of Devonshire observed that he knew E. P. Ranch, Alberta, perhaps better than anyone present, adding:
"If I had my choice I should be there today."

MORE RESERVATIONS GIVEN ABORIGINES

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Because there is grave danger of "the bona fide aboriginal natives of the Northwest Territories" being reduced to want and starvation unless further areas are reserved as hunting and trapping preserves for their sole use, the Government has passed an order-in-council making additional reservations in the Northwest Territories. The order states that increasing numbers of foreign and other non-resident hunters and trappers are going into the country and depleting wild life and fur resources. It provides that no license shall confer the right to hunt or trap
on Victoria Island, Banks Island or on several other prescribed areas to be known as Peel River Preserve, Yellow Knife Preserve, Backs River Reserve and Slave River preserve.

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS IN OTTAWA

joyed a quiet week-end in and around Ottawa.

round on the Royal Ottawa Golf Club
course with His Excellency, Lord Byng, as opponent. On Sunday morning he attended service at St. Bartholomew's Anglican church, which has witnessed many visits of members of the royal family and other celebrities.
Lord and Lady Byng also attended.
At night a small dinner party was held at Rideau Hall. During the afternoon Lord Renfrew was seen riding around Rockcliffe and also at the experimental farm.

1,500,000 WORKLESS IN ENGLAND, ESTIMATE

London, Oct. 7.—The Labor Party and Trades Union Congress are calling an emergency meeting to consider the unemployment problem. Arthur Henderson, M. P., Labor leader, speaking at Derby, said that at the present time there were probably 1,500,000 unemployed in the country and by Christmas
there would be 2,000,000 working people totally or partially unemployed. The Government's plans for relieving unemployment, he said, fell far short of the dire necessities of the situation.

HE OWNS THE TOWN--LOCK, STOCK AND BARREL!

HAS MOST EVERYBODY, INCLUDING TEACHERS, ON HIS PAY ROLL

Here are two popular types of houses owned by Wilson. How would you like to be able to rent one at those prices?

By NEA Service.
Wilson, Ark.—What's Robert E. Lee
Wilson going to do with his one-man
town?
It's getting to be a complex problem,
not only here in Wilson, Mississippi
county, but for grazed pioneers, railroad magnates, bankers in surrounding towns and financiers in St. Louis, Little Rock, Memphis and Chicago who wonder just what Lee Wilson, now 61,
is going to do with a fast-growing town of 2,000 population and which he owns—lock, stock and barrel.
Like some feudal land baron of old,
this man owns everything in sight on a vast expanse of nearly 50,000 acres.
His property, including the town of Wilson and the thousands of acres surrounding it.
Eighteen plantations that will produce this year 6,299 acres of cotton.
There are 6,900 acres planted in corn.
The cotton is produced from 8,000 acres. He has 1,200 acres in wheat and 800 acres in alfalfa.
Thousands of acres of virgin timber.

Box Factory.
A sawmill that represents an investment of $250,000.
A mill that produces 300 barrels of flour and meal daily.
A $125,000 box factory.
An eight-gin stand, electrically driven, which cost him $40,000 and has a capacity of 80 bales daily.
A model ice plant.
The Bank of Wilson, with a capital of $25,000 and a surplus of nearly $85,000.
A department store, where one can buy anything from a toothpick to a river.

A modern school structure Mr. Wilson built at a cost of $200,000. He also set aside 100 acres of land surrounding the building. There is an annual deficit of $10,000 in the maintenance of this school with its staff of 20 teachers, but a check from Mr. Wilson's secretary wipes out the deficit without argument.
A drug store, garage and filling station, a church edifice, a hotel, a cafe,
blacksmith shop and meat market.
A Community Center building.
Waterworks plant.
Electric light and power plant.
Wilson rents from himself. He pays himself $45 per month for his nine-room house and that's the maximum rent paid by any citizen of Wilson.
The scale of rents run from $12.50 to $37.50 per month, according to the size of the home.
Funny thing, nobody can live in Wilson without renting from Mr. Wilson, and nobody can work in Wilson without working for Mr. Wilson.
Wilson isn't very talkative with strangers. But he's dynamic in action and he doesn't employ hangers-on.
"Work hard when you work and play
hard when you play," is his idea
of life.
Wilson, Ark., is 41 miles west of Memphis, 125 miles from Little Rock and 284 miles from St. Louis.

Mother Dies On Homeric In Gale As Son Is Born

Woman, on Way to Home In Australia, Perishes at Sea.

New York, Oct. 8.—Passengers arriving here last week on the White Star liner Homeric brought the tragic story of the death at sea last Monday of Mrs. George Coates, following the birth of a baby boy. The vessel at the time was being buffeted by heavy seas, lashed up by a gale that swept northward from the West Indies and for several days had wrought havoc with coastal shipping.
Shortly after the Homeric left Cherbourg she encountered inclement weather and rough seas swayed the big liner, so that some of the voyagers became seasick. Mrs. Coates, who was traveling with her husband, en route to their home in Ballarat, Australia,
became ill on Sunday and failed to respond to treatment by Dr. R. S.
French, the ship's surgeon.

Tragedy on Mother's Birthday.

On Monday the storm became more violent. At noon the wind had attained a velocity of eighty miles an hour
and the seas piled up in huge mountains. Three hours later the child was born, but Mrs. Coates was too weak to survive the ordeal. She died on her twenty-eighth birthday.

The bereaved father turned his son
over to the care of Mrs. Nellie Marshall, a third-class stewardess, and yesterday arranged for her release from the steamship company, so that she could accompany him to Australia and nurse the child. The Coates family had been in England and was on the way to this city, where Mr. Coates planned to obtain some special motion pictures for distribution in Australia. He plans to ship the body of his wife to his native
city for burial.

After the Homeric had plowed through "high and dangerous seas," as Captain F. B. Howarth described them, for more than twenty-four hours the ocean again became calm. Late Tuesday afternoon another child was born
—this time to Mrs. Martha Frick, a Polish woman, who is on her way to Chicago to join her husband. The boy and his mother were reported as doing well by the ship's doctor.

DIVERT TWO SHIPS TO HALIFAX PORT

Halifax, Oct. 7.—Diverted from New York to Halifax so that a thousand of her passengers might enter the United States under the October immigration quota, the White Star liner Baltic arrived here Saturday and within a few hours three Canadian National Railway specials were away, two of them on the thirty-six hour run to New York
via Portland, Me., and Worcester, Mass., and the third for United States
cities by way of Montreal, Port Huron and Detroit. The local United States immigration staff was augmented by help from Vaneboro, Me., St. John, N. B., and Yarmouth, N. S. They will have the White Star liner Havertford's passengers to handle tomorrow, that ship having been diverted here from Boston and Philadelphia.

WOMEN'S CLOTHES.

(New York Herald.)
"Business women are justified in spending 20 per cent of their earnings on clothes," according to Miss Lillian H. Locke, addressing an audience of women at Columbia University on the "Clothing Budget."
"In starting to plan a clothing budget," Miss Locke said, "it is not well to plan on a yearly basis, since clothing does not have a yearly turnover. The average for a complete turnover in clothing is three years, therefore the budget should be built on that basis."
She exhibited a chart showing relative expenditures for various items of costs, wraps and dresses; 14 per cent should go for outer clothing, such as coats, wraps and dresses; 14 per cent for underclothing, 8 per cent for shoes, 8 per cent for hats, 3 per cent for accessories and 7 per cent for care, cleaning and repair. She estimates the average woman's expenditure for clothing is from 12 to 15 per cent of the total income.
"There is a variation in the scale to suit different classes," she said. "For instance, the bare headed college girl will require fewer hats and gloves than the business woman who rides to work every day on the subway." She stressed color and careful selection as important factors in buying. "The woman with few clothes must consider color carefully or she will find herself with a red hat and a henna coat. LONDON AND NEW YORK

The population of the five boroughs formerly styled Greater New York, but now comprising the city of New York, was 5,620,048 in 1920. The so-called "Metropolitan New York," which has no statutory boundaries and is interpreted in various ways in popular parlance, comprised in 1920 a population of 7,910,415, within an area extending an arbitrary distance of ten miles from the city limits and taking in a number of New Jersey cities and towns. The boundaries of Metropolitan London, with a population of 7,476,168, are clearly defined by statute. The administrative county of London and the city of London had a combined population of 4,496,955 in 1921. From the foregoing you will see that there is no common basis on which to make a comparison of the population of the two vast aggregations.

Shattuck Jewel Thief Shot And Jailed In France

Mouray, Who Locked Couple In Vault and Fleed, Is Captured.

Paris, Oct. 4.—Gabriel Alphonse Murray, jewel robber, who was shot while resisting capture at Chelles, twelve miles from Paris, at first claimed death and then serious injury, but was found at the hospital to be not dangerously wounded.

Mouray, under the alias Henri Bollet, is wanted for the theft of $800,000 worth of jewels from the Washington Square home of Albert H. Shattuck, retired New York financier, in April, 1922. He is said to have posed as a butler to the Shattuck household and to have led the band of criminals who locked Mr. Shattuck, his wife and a number of servants in the wine cellar of their home and rifled the house.

The police, searching all of France, finally found Mouray at Chelles and surrounded his villa with a dozen agents who rush in at dawn. Mouray opened fire on them through a window with two automatic pistols and wounded one of the policemen before he was cut down by the police bullets.

May Be Sent Back.

He probably will be able to leave the hospital within two or three weeks, when, it is understood, he will be arraigned on a charge of attempted murder in consequence of the shooting. It is understood, however, that the French authorities should official request come from New York for Mouray to be turned over to the United States courts, as the policeman shot by Mouray was only slightly injured.

"I am glad it is all over," Mouray told the police inspector who visited him at the hospital. "The last few months have been just plain nightmare. Old man Shattuck is sure spoiled."

He expressed the wish to be tried in France on the latest charge rather than face the American courts. Two of the members of his gang were sent to prison on conviction of participation in the Shattuck robbery. Mouray escaped in 1918 from Devil's Island, the French penal colony, where he was serving seven years for murder, and is said to be wanted also in Indiana for burglary.

Police on Trail Since July.

The police had been hot on the trail of Mouray since the arrival in France last July of Mr. Shattuck, who offered a reward of $20,000 for the capture of Mouray.

Mouray was successively reported to be in Lille, Marseilles and Bordeaux, under different aliases. He always was successful, however, in getting away, each time getting a few hours' start on the police. Photographs of him were sent throughout Europe by Police Commissioner Enright of New York, and these were posted in prominent places in every French city.

The French police several weeks ago entirely lost track of the fugitive, but through the extensive use of "stool pigeons" finally followed him to Chelles. A search of Mouray's villa after he had been shot down failed to produce any of the Shattuck jewelry.

The Shattuck robbery took place Sunday, April 2, 1922. Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck and eight servants were locked in a wine vault in the cellar and almost suffocated before Mr. Shattuck managed to unscrew the lock with a pocket piece and the blade of a pen-knife. About $800,000 worth of jewelry was stolen.

Mouray—better known to the Shattucks as Henri Bollet, a former butler, who several years before had robbed them of $120,000 worth of jewels and escaped—was said to be the leader of a quartet that early Sunday morning broke open a small window at the front of the Shattuck home at 19 Washington Square, and hid in the cell.

Besides Bollet there were Eugénie Diasset, a French sailor, temporarily strangled; Maurice Bagnoli, a dishwasher, and a man believed to be Francis Earle, alias "The Jockey."

All the robbers, except Diasset, escaped that day. He was captured in an alley on Macdonald street. He told how he and his three companions had stayed in the cellar until noon, how they had held up the servants and put them in the vault and then had gone to the library and found "the patron," "Madame" they found in her boudoir. He told how, after forcing them into the vault, they had ransacked the house.

Prisoners Nearly Overcome.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Shattuck is young. The vault was stifling hot. Only Mr. Shattuck and his secretary were at his home. Mr. Shattuck was inside the vault. It was only a matter of time before the ten who were imprisoned would be overcome. Mr. Shattuck turned on the electric light and went to work with his dime and the pen-knife. Mrs. Shattuck was about to faint when Mr. Shattuck's trembling fingers opened the door. The servants ran to call the police. Mr. Shattuck went up-stairs for intel-

FORTY HOURS IN 2 CHURCHES END

Special Catholic Observances Sunday—Rosary Sunday and Holy Name.

The Forty Hours Devotion in the Cathedral closed last evening with a very large congregation present. The Rosary was recited by Rev. Roy McDonald, the Litany of the Saints chanted and an eloquent sermon on the Real Presence preached by Rev. H. Ramage. Also taking part in the special services were Rev. W. M. Diast and Rev. E. Reynolds. The Blessed Sacrament was borne in procession through the church by His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, attended by Fathers Duke and Ramage. The canopy bearer and acolytes and the altar boys M. Burns, John J. Coughlan and Charles Mitchell. The procession was led by Father McDonald. Cross bearer and acolytes and the altar boys followed, the little Sunday School girls dressed in white, followed by Sunday School boys. Then came the Children of Mary, Altar Society of St. Ann and prefects of the Holy Name Society, each organization preceded by its banner, carried by altar boys. Preceding the Blessed Sacrament were eight little girls in white, strewing flowers. The service closed with Benediction. Yesterday was Holy Rosary Sunday and Holy Name Sunday as well, and there were large numbers in the Cathedral at various times throughout the day.

The Forty Hours' Devotions were closed in St. Rose's church last evening. The exercises were begun with the recitation of the Rosary and the Litany by Rev. R. Nugent, followed which Rev. William Hogan, C. S. S. R., rector of St. Peter's, preached a powerful sermon. Father Hogan took his text from the sixth chapter of St. John: "My flesh is meat indeed and my blood is drink indeed." He gave the Catholic doctrine of the Real Presence. Father Hogan was celebrant at Benediction with Very Rev. Dean Collins as deacon and Father Nugent as sub-deacon. The exercises were closed with the singing of the Veni Creator and Pange Lingua.

Mission Closed.

The mission for married women closed at St. Peter's yesterday. Rev. Andrew McAnn, C. S. R., was preacher. The mission for single women was opened last evening. He did not expect to find the burglars, but there they were, in his wife's room. They ran, and all but Diasset got away. About $200,000 worth of jewelry was found in his pockets.

An April 19 Bagnoli was dragged from beneath a bed in the attic of a roadhouse in the Watching Mountains, near Plainfield, N. J.

Among other things, Diasset had said that the robbery was planned at a restaurant at 331 Eighth Avenue. So Diasset, Diasset and Gilbert got jobs there as waiters. Gilbert could play a bit, and between trips from the kitchen to the tables he sang, and ingratiated himself with the patrons. Bit by bit the detectives picked up information about Bagnoli. One day they learned he was in a road house near Plainfield. Fifteen minutes afterward detectives were in an automobile ramming the road house in the Watching Mountains.

Bagnoli admitted his part in the robbery, but denied having received any part of the loot.

Part of Loot Given to Woman.

In due time Diasset and Bagnoli were sent to Sing Sing for six years. And Francis Rossi was arrested on May 24, 1922, charged with harboring at least two of the robbers and was sent to jail for two years.

It was rumored that Bollet had gone to France. A watch that had been part of the loot was found in the possession of a woman in San Francisco. She said Bollet had given it to her. But all efforts on the part of the police to find Bollet or "The Jockey."

Mr. Shattuck and his wife sailed for France soon after the robbery. They did not feel safe in the house on Washington Square. Mrs. Shattuck had been ill from the shock, and was nervous. And Mr. Shattuck had made up his mind that he would pursue Bollet to the end of the earth if necessary to bring him to justice. He announced on sailing that he would devote the rest of his life to find Bollet.

Aboard Mr. Shattuck enlisted the aid of Scotland Yard and the Paris police, and authorized the announcement of a reward of $10,000 for the capture of Bollet, and $5,000 for "The Jockey."

After vainly following several clues Mr. Shattuck returned here on April 17 of this year, leaving Mrs. Shattuck in France. He stayed only a short time, returning to take up the hunt in France on July 16.

His persistence seems to have been rewarded. "The Jockey" is more or less unimportant. Bollet was the man he wanted.

Y. M. C. A. OUTING AT LOCH LOMOND

Business Men's Class Have Pleasant Time—"Y" Activities.

They are busy at the Y. M. C. A. On Saturday the "Comers" began their gymnasium classes, directed by C. M. McCulley. The Community Bible Class met on Saturday afternoon. It is taught by Rev. R. P. McKim.

Starting from the Association building at 2:30 o'clock a large number of the business men's class went on their annual outing to Johnson's at Loch Lomond, where they spent the afternoon and evening very pleasantly. There was a hotly contested game of baseball, remarkably chiefly for the large number of errors and in this sporting event the team captained by Arnold Kee defeated the team captained by King Hasen. Mr. Kee's team also was victorious in a very exciting game of volley ball. Adjournment was made to the hotel where supper was served. Fred Gitman, the president, was in the chair for the business session, which was preceded by a hearty sing-song. The election of officers for the ensuing year took place and resulted as follows: President, Walter R. Pearce; secretary-treasurer, George J. Smith; convener of committees, volley ball, King Hasen; entertainment, John McKinnon, and bowling, Stanley Webb.

The health of the Y. M. C. A. was proposed and honored and the singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close. The outing was thoroughly enjoyed.

The last event at the Association building on Saturday was the senior school boys opening social for the year. The boys met at 7:30 and with Mr. McCulley in charge enjoyed games, stories and a sing-song. Refreshments were served.

On Sunday morning at 11:30 the first Sunday service of the season was held at the D.S.C.R. Hospital, in Lancaster, with A. M. Gregg, the Y.M.C.A. general secretary, in charge. The Y.M.C.A. conducts a service at the Lancaster hospital each Sunday during the fall

YANKEES END SERIES 16 GAMES IN LEAD

Set Record for American League—Giants Have 4½ Game Margin.

New York, Oct. 8.—The New York Yankees, losing the final game of the series to Philadelphia, 9 to 7, finished the season with a greater lead than any other team in the American League has ever boasted. The Yankees are sixteen full games ahead of the Detroit Tigers, who defeated St. Louis yesterday 7 to 6 and took second place over Cleveland by a half a game.

The Indians beat the White Sox 9 to 6, Washington, by defeating Boston 5 to 2, while St. Louis lost to Detroit, took fourth place by half a game.

In the National League the New York Giants finished the series only four and a half games ahead of Cincinnati. Both teams lost in yesterday's games, the Giants to Brooklyn 0 to 1 and the Reds to Pittsburgh 7 to 5. The Pirates were well entrenched in third place, four games behind the Reds and four ahead of the Cubs, who split a double-header with St. Louis, winning the first 10 to 3 and losing the second 6 to 3.

Ruth Ties Williams.

Babe Ruth, recently voted the most valuable ball player in the American League, and regarded as the great diamond star in baseball history closed his 1923 league season in a blaze of glory yesterday when he crashed the first ball pitched to him in the Yankee stadium. That home run permanently cracked Babe and Cy Williams for the home run honors of the 1923 season, each having registered 41 and was generally pleasing conclusion to the tight race for such distinction in the history of organized baseball.

Although tying Williams for home run honors, Babe was unable to overtake Harry Heilmann for high batting average of the year for the unofficial averages quoted at the conclusion of yesterday's games found Heilmann with a mark of .402 and Ruth with .394.

CHICAGO GIRL WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Edith Cumming Beats Alex Stirling in Final Round at Rye.

Rye, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The United States national women's golf championship, so long the property of the east and south, when west Saturday when Miss Edith Cumming, plucky Chicagoan, triumphed over Miss Alex Stirling, New York, a native Georgian who had held the title three times.

The western girl won by a margin of 3 up and 2 to play after a tense and brilliant struggle in the 36-hole final round match at the Westchester-Biltmore country club.

It was through a fine display of grit along with brilliant golf that carried the Chicago girl, a member of Onontario Country Club to victory over Miss Stirling, in the morning round when play was alternately ragged and perfect it seemed that the greater experience of the three-time champion would play her. But, however, Miss Cumming came back strong in the afternoon.

TO BOB OR NOT TO BOB.

Ears will come and bobbed hair will go if the American hairdressers, soon to assemble in national convention, have their way. There seems a contradiction in terms in this war-cry. More ears and less hair sounds like better sense. But bobbing is loose and poetical word by this time. There is bobbing that leaves the front elevation unaffected while scraping the nape of the neck like a boy's frizz, from the too-efficient care of a country barber. Ears come and go, but the art of hair-dressing goes on.

Ears, as a matter of fact, have been gone for a long while now. They are overdue, and may well turn up any day. But will bobbing be banished by any resolutions of hairdressers? Not judging by the view with which the bob is regarded in this war-cry. It is, of course, not difficult to bob one's hair. But it is most difficult to persuade those who dislike bobbed hair to like it, and present indications are that the cleavage with respect to the issue is just as deep and wide as ever. If only the question could be dismissed as a matter of looks! Faces exist which cry for bobbing. For them by all means let the snipping commence. But what of the heads that have always shined in long locks? Will they, at best, achieve a totally different and unfamiliar charm when short? Must the breakfast table reading of the morning paper be disturbed by such revolutionary doings? Can a husband be required to become addicted to a totally new wife for as her head goes? The strain on the social system is great and a unanimous vote will always seem requisite for action.

Unless, of course, what is desired is not beauty or comfort, but a debate rage; but a symbol. If bobbed hair is to be the symbol of a new era, as they will, and the sooner hairdressers learn how to sound a bugle call with loops and knots and waterfalls, the better for their art.

Contributed Joke.

Bridegroom—Mother, do you mind if Georgia's mother weeps at the wedding?

Mother—I certainly do. If that woman carries on as if her daughter was being taken away by marrying you, I'll faint just to spite her.

LONG RUNS IN THE THEATRE.

Five plays now on view in New York are hovering about the one-year mark. Some have already rounded out their twelve months and others are approaching it. This period of time is by no means regarded as a necessary limit to the popularity of a play in the metropolis. Of one of these plays it was recently said that there seemed to be no reason why its performance should end for several years. It appeals strongly to two predominant elements in the city, and their support, combined with the number of spectators who seek out the play merely because it has stood the test of time, ought to insure audience a long time to come.

Among managers John Golden of course holds the present long distance record with "Lightning" and its three-year run. The comedy could have remained here for another year, but other cities were clamoring for it and its star, the late Frank Bacon. Simultaneously with the duration of this play came the long draws out popularity of "The Gold Diggers" and "Irene," which put more than a year to their credit. It may truthfully be said that from the successes metropolitan managers were first convinced that their opinions as to a possible run in New York would have to be readjusted. It came to look as if a year were the minimum life here of any play to which New Yorkers really took liking.

In comparison with such public support it is a contrast to look on the little old New York that supported Edwin Booth in "Hamlet" for a hundred and one performances and the proud of itself over the achievement, and to the long runs of "Adonia," "A Night in Chinatown," to such runs as were later achieved by David Warfield in "The Music Master," Laurette Taylor in "Peg of My Heart," and the other former successes by which endurance in the theatre was once judged.

The theory used to be that after a while a play ran its course through having been seen by all who might be supposed to take an interest in it. Doubtless the same rule determines today the length of life a drama may enjoy. Since the earlier records were made, however, the population of New York has increased until the supporters of the theatre are more numerous than ever before. More important to the manager is the vast increase in the number of visitors to the metropolis. It used to be said that 250,000 a day came here in the two years that have elapsed since that estimate was made their number has doubtless increased. Such a floating population might

MUST HAVE MARKET TO BE SUCCESSFUL

E. A. Schofield on Land Settlement in the Maritimes.

HOME FROM HALIFAX

Says C. N. R. Must Help—Why He Spoke Out at Conference.

That it would not be a wise expenditure of money to place more people on the land in the Maritime Provinces without being able to provide them with a market for their products is the positive opinion of E. A. Schofield, expressed by him with good effect at the colonization conference in Halifax.

Mr. Schofield said to The Times-Star this morning that he felt compelled to speak out in Halifax because the conference seemed to be drawing toward a close without getting down to practical business. The representatives of the C. N. R. wanted something done to get more settlers, and consequently more business for the railway. They wanted the people of the provinces to organize and go after the settlers, and they would co-operate.

Two N. B. Directors.

To his mind, this would not solve the problem, and he pressed for something more than mere co-operation, pointing out that financial assistance would be necessary. If it were proposed to get more traffic for the railways, the people of the provinces had a right to expect from the railways something more tangible than co-operation. After discussion, the railway representatives admitted the force of the argument and expressed a readiness to aid in a substantial manner if a practical scheme were submitted. With this understanding, the Maritime Colonization and Development Association, with Mr. Schofield and Angus McLean as New Brunswick members of the executive, was organized.

This executive will endeavor to devise workable plans to improve conditions, and will submit these for the consideration of the people. If they are regarded as sound and practicable, the C. N. R. will be asked to give real assistance in having them carried out.

Settlers on the Land.

With regard to putting more settlers on the land, Mr. Schofield has very decided opinions. The farmers do not want more competitors in their present market. To make competition keener would certainly not make farming attractive, or stop the drift away from the farms. To be a successful farmer today a man must not only work hard, but be a very capable agriculturist.

This being true, Mr. Schofield would not induce people to settle on the land unless it were possible at the same time to ensure them a market. He believes it would be possible to secure a tract of land, place people there who would engage in the different branches of agriculture, provide factories and canneries which would take care of their whole surplus product; have the whole enterprise under competent executive management, provide the settlement with schools and means of entertainment that would brighten the lives of the people, and so establish a settlement that would be permanent and a constant producer of wealth for the province.

Mr. Schofield says there are localities in this province where such settlements could be placed under ideal conditions. He would not be as much concerned about bringing settlers from the other side of the Atlantic as in bringing back our own people. Moreover, there are people in our towns and cities who have come from farms and have not made a success of city life, who, he believed, would welcome a chance to return to farm life under favorable conditions. In any case, wherever the people are found to go on the farm, if a market for their products is not assured, the experiment will not prove a success.

Touching the matter of industries apart from farming, Mr. Schofield said he had not given it sufficient study to have matured opinions, but that also would be considered by the executive of the new association.
