KILLED 47 IN 1921.
The automobile fatality record for the city of Toronto for the year 1921 shows a marked improvement over 1920 and over 1919 as well.

The Safety League figures show a total of 47 motor deaths in Toronto in 1921. This is just twenty less than in 1920, and is three less than in 1919. This decrease in accidents is not due to a decrease in the number of motor cars in Toronto, as there were thousands more automobiles registered in 1921 than in 1920.

THE SENATE

It is noted that the Conservative press is now finding the Senate an interesting topic of discussion. The Kingston Standard speaks frankly, now that no more Conservatives can be appointed to that body. It says the senate as at present constituted is an anomaly, and adds: "It was established to help in the government of this country as a sort of second thought for proposed legislation. But it has drifted away from that to a great extent. One unsatisfactory result of this is that the senate can be made to represent a party through appointments during a term of years, and that party on being turned out of office can interfere with and defeat if it chooses the legislation of the new government through the senate."

The Stratford Herald is quite cynical regarding senate reform, and does not look for any action by the present government. It says: "Just as soon as enough Conservative members die off and are succeeded by Liberals to change the political complexion, the reformation from a Liberal point of view will be considered complete."

A branch of parliament which is the subject of such comments as these is not as impressive as might be desired. Perhaps the new government may, after all, consider senate reform or abolition worthy of some consideration.

UNHAPPY RUSSIA

"On Jan. 5 despatches from Russia said that at least 5,000,000 persons in that country would die of starvation and of famine-borne disease before the next harvest. Typhus fever is already at work, as might have been expected. In many towns frozen bodies are piled in stacks and windows, waiting burial, while living skeletons of children are being brought as fast as possible to feeding stations. In many cases children are in such a state that death offers the only relief. On Jan. 6 William N. Haskell, director of American relief work in Russia, reported that he believed American and allied aid would save from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 Russians who otherwise would die of starvation or sickness in the next few months. These two despatches do not contradict each other. They are supplementary. Taken together they show what would happen if no outside relief were forthcoming. In that case a minimum of 10,000,000 human beings, inhabiting one of the richest agricultural regions of the world, would perish of hunger and disease dependent on hunger before another crop could be gathered. Nothing like this has ever been known in a white man's land before."

Naturally one looks for the cause of so appalling a condition of affairs, and the Chicago Journal finds it in communism. It says: "The Russian famine is the perfect fruit of communism. The war caused vast loss and distress, of course; but the soil was left, and people enough to till it, so that starvation was needless. Then came the proletarian dictatorship, with its food seizures which took the crops the peasant had raised, without giving him any return. Naturally, inevitably, the peasants cut down their cultivated acreage until there was no margin of production left against a bad season, and then, when all was stored, the bad season came, and the bad season came. While memory of the Russian famine lasts, communism should be anathema among all thinking men."

But Russia's troubles are not yet over. The malign influence of Lenin and Trotsky still prevails. While they have been forced by the conditions they brought about to abandon much of their former policy, they still cling to office and go on humbugging the people, of whom so large a proportion are in dense ignorance.

Mr. Walker McIay, before the Canadian Club last evening, presented with clearness and force the case for having Canadians classed as such in the census. On this point the Brantford Examiner says: "Now that the census returns of Canada are undergoing classification and discussion it would be a good thing if the new government remedied an abuse that has existed a long time in the tabulation of the population of this country. It is a monstrous fact that even in the last census there was no opportunity afforded for the registration of Canadian people as Canadians. This is a condition too ridiculous and indefensible to be tolerated any longer, and the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will make no mistake in rectifying the error as soon as possible. In the last census there were countless numbers of the people of Canada who desired to be classified as 'Canadians' who were denied the privilege."

Montreal Gazette: "A Paris specialist claims to be able to judge character by observing the way in which the subject breathes. It would be interesting to hear his diagnosis in the case of an asthmatic fat man who had just climbed three flights of stairs."

THE TEACHING OF FRENCH

The Toronto Globe offers some biting comment on the attitude of a school trustee who declares that only the "British language" should be taught in the schools and condemns the use of French. The Globe points out that Quebec is a British province, and asks if French is not therefore a British language. It further asks if Quebec is less British than the United States Congress, where only English is spoken, or whether Congress is more British than the Dominion parliament, where both languages are used. The majority of the people of the British Empire speak languages other than English. With regard to French, the Globe points out that a knowledge of it is of great value in Canada, and adds: "French is a language, not a disease. To treat it as a disease will make Toronto look ridiculous in the eyes of intelligent people."

The teaching of French in Canadian schools is most desirable. A knowledge of the language is not only a convenience but it opens to the reader the rich literature of a great people. Those who go about seeking to arouse prejudice against the language are badly advised. Fate has made Canada English and French. Immigration will introduce new national elements, but English and French the country will largely remain. It is well to realize the facts and labor for harmony rather than discord.

Hon. R. E. Finn, addressing the Railway Commission in Halifax yesterday, declared that unless the maritime provinces got lower freight rates the relations of these provinces with central and western Canada will become weak and general dissatisfaction with confederation will be liable to lead to disintegration. Railway freights are not all. There is the question of maritime port development and the recognition by the other provinces of the spirit of confederation.

ONTARIO LEADS IN HOUSING PLAN

Town Planners Told How the Province Took Advantage of Loan.

(Toronto Globe) Speaking on the results of the Federal Housing Loan in the dominion before the members of the Short Course in Town-planning at the University of Toronto yesterday, W. D. Cromarty of Ottawa stated that Ontario had availed itself of the loan to a far greater extent than any other province, and that, on the whole, the efforts of the various Ontario municipalities had met with success. There were, however, one or two failures to be recorded, due to an insufficient study of the problem on the part of the local authorities.

He showed many pleasing examples of modest house building in various parts of the province, together with one or two American examples, and said that Canadian endeavors were, on the whole, superior.

Suit Houses to Climate. An interesting addition was made to this lecture by Mr. Govan of the Parliament Buildings, well known in housing circles, who said that he was pleased to see that on the programme the world Ontario had been stressed, because our ideas in small houses were apt to be turned by the influences of American journals towards houses suitable to Florida and California, but totally inappropriate to a province that has to consider its coal bill for six or eight months in the year.

He pointed out that by proper attention to maximum exposure to the south, together with the employment of insulating devices and materials for the walls, the coal consumption of every six-room house in the province might be reduced by two tons.

The Zoned City. J. B. O'Brien explained how many difficulties even under existing imperfect laws could be overcome by a body of citizens really determined to better their city.

H. L. Seymour continued the subject of zoning, which means the sorting out of a city so that each part of it is assigned to and designed for certain definite functions. Under this system there would be more or less defined business areas, factory areas, residential areas of various types, etc.

TO A FACE AT A CONCERT.

When the low music makes a dusk of sound Above, and the viol or fad-off horn Swells out above it like a wind from the north, That wanders seeking something never found, What phantom in your brain, on what dim ground, Traces its shadowy lines? What vision, born Of unfulfillment, fades in mere self-scorn, Or grows, from that still twilight stealing round? When the lids droop and the hands lie unstrung, Dare one divine your dream, while the chords weave Their cloudy wool from knot to knot, and die— Is it one fate that, since the world was young, Has followed man, and makes him half believe The voice of instruments a human cry?—From Sill's Collected Poems.

LIGHTER VEIN. "So you loved and lost?" "Well, no, I didn't lose exactly. You see when the returned my presents, she accidently put in some of the other fellows'."—Boston Transcript.

A Word to the Wise. A colored preacher in Alabama had at one time served a short jail sentence and was fearful lest his congregation discover a model of recidivism. One Sunday, rising to begin his sermon his heart sank to see a former convict sitting in the front row. Quick thinking was necessary. Fixing his eye on the unwelcome guest, the preacher declared solemnly: "Ah takes mah text dis mornin' from de sixty-fifth chapter an' fo' hundredth verse of de book of Job, which says: 'Dem as sees and knows me, and says nothin', dem will Ah see later.'"

Retiring President of Empire Club Impresses Lesson on Members. "Canada's best line of action is first to determine what is best for the Empire, then what is best for Canada, and how it can be fitted in for the best good of the Empire," declared Brig.-Gen. Charles H. Mitchell in his address last week before the members of the Empire Club of Ontario on retirement from the presidency of the club. Sir William Hearst succeeds Gen. Mitchell as president for the coming year.

In a rapid survey, Gen. Mitchell gave an outline of world conditions as they affected the British Empire, and briefly surveyed the conditions existing at present in each part of the Empire.

Canada the Golden Link. Canada the speaker characterized as the great golden link in the Empire, "golden in resource, golden in industry, and golden in opportunity." The problem for Canada today was as to how she would take her place in the League of Nations of the British Empire. There were other problems that concerned population, finance and stabilization, and these would have to be faced with a courage which only an Anglo-Saxon could appreciate.

"Why should we not be cheerful in facing these problems of today?" Gen. Mitchell asked. "I do not mean to utter platitudes, but we have so much to be thankful for. We are in a position to take part in the Washington Conference for the Limitation of Armaments, the improved conditions in Ireland, the better industrial improvement that had been noted in Britain were all conditions sufficient for optimism, and it was by good common-sense and hard work that the British Empire was held together."

It is no secret here that during the time since the armistice a strong lobby has been conducted in Ottawa for the admission of Jewish immigrants. No matter how poor the Jewish immigrant seemed to have a friend at court with influence and money. Around the corridors of Parliament last session it was often asserted that where a body of immigrants were held for deportation, influence had been brought to bear in many cases to reverse the verdict against the Jews, while men of other races had to go back to the lands from which they came.

In this time of unemployment it is easy to see how much more serious would be the situation if scores of thousands of these people were allowed to enter Canadian cities.

Saved From Streets. With regard to ex-service men who applied to come to Canada from Britain, the Canadian representative approved of only 5,000 out of 95,000 men. If he had not done so, a large number of the extra 30,000 would now be walking the streets of Canadian cities out of work.

It is reported that the influence which has secured the entry of so many Jews already will be brought to bear on Parliament at its next session, and that there will be a strong lobby in favor of the open door for immigration. The problem is not how to get people, but to get those that will go on the land.

PREMIER MARTIN AND MR. WIGMORE. Statement of Saskatchewan Government Leader About Liquor Licensing.

(Special Despatch to The Toronto Globe) Regina, Jan. 18.—A resolution urging the Federal Government to exercise its powers to abolish export liquor houses in Saskatchewan was unanimously adopted by the Saskatchewan Assembly today.

Speaking on the resolution, Premier Martin referred to the fact that Provincial legislation of 1917 to prohibit these houses had been ruled out of the courts, but announced his intention of bringing in legislation this session to restrict the right to stock liquors in the Province to bonded warehouses, applications for which have to be made to Federal authorities. He questioned, however, whether such legislation would stand the test of the courts, but was anxious to do anything that was asked in the hope of restricting the traffic.

Double Export Tax. The Government is also introducing legislation to double the tax on export liquor warehouses, to make $2 annual assessment against each of the 23 houses in the Province had been misrepresented in the Federal House by Hon. R. W. Wignore, then Minister of Customs, who in reply to a question from O. R. Gould, Assiniboia, said the Province was licensing export liquor houses.

The premier produced correspondence in which he asked Mr. Wignore to correct the statement in view of the fact that licensing conveys with it the power of control. Mr. Wignore replied evading the question of licensing versus taxation, but enclosed a list of export liquor houses in the province, "all of which," he said, "I am advised have been licensed by the Province of Saskatchewan."

In his reply, dated May 3, 1921, Mr. Martin repeated his statement that the province had not licensed and liquor houses, saying: "I am quite sure that the reflection you will come to the conclusion that the answer you gave in the House of Commons contains a misstatement, not only as to the position of the province, but as to the constitutional position, and I think some statement should be made in the House of Commons that will correct the erroneous impression that has gone forth."

No further reply came from Mr. Wignore. "He did not think it worthy of reply," commented the Premier.

MOTIVE POWER FROM ALCOHOL. Beaters Agricultural Society, in the Department of Herald, authorized a committee to organize a competition to discover a practical and economical motor fuel, with alcohol as the basis of its composition. Prizes totaling 200,000 francs have been placed at the disposition of the committee, of which 100,000 francs will be awarded to the competitor whose product gives the best results.

The competition will be open from January to March, 1922, and the points cover comparative facility of production of the various substances used; increase or decrease of average power obtained compared with petroleum and gasoline; the possibility of blending the proposed product with gasoline for use in motor engines; the percentage of alcohol and other substances of French origin; average horsepower cost per hour and the originality of the process.

RECENT DEATHS

Dr. Norman McKay.
Halifax, N. S., Jan. 17—Dr. Norman E. McKay, M.D., C.M., M.R.C.S., a prominent surgeon, died at his home here today, aged seventy.
Dr. McKay was operating surgeon at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, for twenty-five years, and professor of surgery at Dalhousie University and port physician of Halifax for the same period. He was chairman of the city health board for years. Dr. McKay came to Halifax in 1884 from Charlotte town (P. E. I.), where he first practiced. Dr. McKay was born at Big Glen, Victoria county (N. S.).

NEW YORK RUSHING INTO HEART DISEASE

Everybody being on the run in New York city, deaths from heart disease are increasing, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner, said yesterday in comparing deaths from this source last year with those of 1920.
"There can be no doubt that conditions under which people live in this city are conducive to heart disease," said the commissioner. "They run up the subway stairs two steps at a time; they hurry from their homes and hurry back again; they stand on the transportation lines twice as often as they sit down, and even when in repose they are nervous. Meals are swallowed hastily, and even the evening's entertainment is taken on the rush."
"So far as its increase is concerned heart disease is about the worst disease we have in this city. In 1921 12,000 persons died of diseases of the heart. This was an increase of 64 over the preceding year."
"One factor in connection with heart disease is an increase in the prevalence of dental defects. Adult life begins to show the effects of neglecting the teeth. More and more attention is being paid to children's teeth and tonsils. So I doubt that another generation will show so many cases of heart disease."

Prisoners' Welfare Secretary Commends Borsal System.

(Montreal Gazette)
Provision by the Federal Government of an intermediate penitentiary for youths between the ages of 16 and 21, to be classed as juvenile-adults, such institution to be conducted on the lines of the Borsal institutions of England, was advocated at Montreal West Presbyterian Church last night by John Kidman, who, as honorary secretary of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association, gave an address on "Our Prison Population." It was a crying shame, in his opinion, that it should be possible at present to commit a boy of sixteen to a penitentiary to herd with advanced criminals. The Borsal system for youths had been commended by Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, chairman of the English Prison Commission for twenty years, and president of the International Prison Commission, who had stated that this system was "an attempt to give expression to the natural and scientific law that up to the age of twenty-one, neither the human mind nor the human body is fully formed or developed, but is still plastic and receptive of good influences, skillfully and carefully applied."

Furniture For the Modern Office

A fully equipped modern business office has been temporarily arranged on the ground floor of our furniture store. It is furnished with a Flat Topped Desk, a Standing Desk with Rotary Stool, Arm Chairs, Rotary Chairs, Side Chairs, Typist's Desk and Chair, Filing Cabinets, Coat Stand and Scrap Basket. You can see at a glance just how convenient and necessary to an enterprising business such an office would be.

The modern business office of today is furnished with an eye to what is convenient, sanitary and good looking just as much as the modern home is. If you spend your days in an old-fashioned office, contrast in your mind the furniture of a few years ago to the sort we are showing just now.

THEN—Office desks were awkward looking, unsightly things made from oak or birch with wood or leatherette tops. The drawer space reached to the floor and the construction at the base made it almost impossible to keep dust and dirt from gathering underneath.

NOW—We are showing for business offices, strong, sanitary desks in most cases made from quartered oak and finished in light golden shade. They are so constructed that the floor underneath can easily be kept clean and they are thoroughly convenient in every way. Sizes range from 32x50 in. to 36x60 in.
$57.50 to $130.00

For professional or private offices we are showing some samples of Fine Mahogany Desks. Your inspection is invited.

BOY KILLED SAVING GIRL.
Struck by Sled After Pushing Child Out of Danger's Path.

White Plains, Jan. 18 — Henry Bertschmidt, a 14-year-old high school boy, met death after saving a little girl chum from being run down while sliding on the North Lexington avenue hill.
The boy and his brother, Herman were on a bob sled and while descending the hill, a little girl whose name Coroner Fitzgerald was unable to obtain, fell off her sled. Henry jumped off his bob and pushed the girl out of the path of the other onrushing sled. Before he could get out of the way, however, another sled ridden by Joseph McConkey ran into him. He was knocked down receiving a fracture of the skull. He died a few hours later in the White Plains Hospital.
Henry was an orphan and resided with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. David Burns, of 44 Water street.

WILSON AFFIRMS CAN DO TWICE AS MUCH WORK AS MUCH WORK

His First Public Utterance on League of Nations Since 1919—Supporters' Pilgrimage.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Breaking the silence studiously maintained ever since he left the White House on March 4 last, Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, has renewed his faith in the vitality of the League of Nations.

Responding to the greetings of several thousand men and women, who met at his street home, following a mass meeting at the new National Theatre, at which the local campaign for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation was launched, Mr. Wilson declared: "There can be no doubt as to the vitality of the League of Nations."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and a member of the official advisory committee to the American delegation in the Washington conference, as the spokesman of those who marched to the White House, addressed Mr. Wilson on the League's domestic support.

Mr. Wilson's renewed faith in the League of Nations is interpreted as meaning that developments during the past two years have convinced him more than ever that the League is a living entity, which, in the judgment of the American nation should, in his judgment, enter.

DECLARES ST. JOHN PIVOTAL POINT IN FREIGHT TARIFFS

Halifax, Jan. 17.—(By the maritime provinces are to live industrially they must have lower railway freight rates, declared Hon. R. E. Finn, solicitor for the Nova Scotia government and the Halifax division railway commission here today.

Otherwise the relations of these provinces with central and western Canada will become weakened and general dissatisfaction with Confederation will be liable to lead to disintegration, Mr. Finn added.

Mr. Finn advocated restoration of the arbitrary prior to the eastern rates case of 1914. Saying that St. John was a pivotal point, he filed comparisons of class rates showing that percentages of increases from St. John were higher than from Montreal, west. In about seven years the relative advantage on shipments to the west of Montreal and Ontario points over St. John had increased nearly 100 per cent.

Hance J. Logan, M. P., representing the maritime board of trade, and E. M. McDonald, M. P., representing the maritime board of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, also presented arguments for lower rail rates.

To them Hon. P. B. Carvell, chairman of the commission, said that while the Intercolonial and the Canadian National management, now operating the I. C. R., all ways accepted the commission's rulings. Appeal could be taken to the minister of railways, Mr. Carvell added.

"I'm a believer in Tanlac, for it not only restored me to health, but also keeps me in first-class trim," said Eli Hodder, Gates Cove, Bay du Verde District, Newfoundland.

"When I first began taking Tanlac I was in a weak and run-down condition. I actually dreaded to eat anything. Tanlac proved to be just what I needed and soon had my stomach in excellent condition. My strength and energy came back and I was able to do twice as much work as I had been doing before. If I'm not getting under the weather I immediately take Tanlac and it acts almost like magic. Tanlac is sold in St. John by F. W. Munro and leading druggists everywhere."

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just plain Mulford's coconut oil shampoo. It is pure and preservative-free, and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulford's will clean the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out, leaving the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulford's coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

LIVER TROUBLE BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach full, and bilious spells occur on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to healthy movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood, instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and thus get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is nothing of the griping, weakening and sickening effects of the old-fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Caron, Bonavon, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with my liver and had severe bilious attacks. I had been advised to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, so I took two vials and I have had no more attacks."

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlooking the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I received two doctor's medicine previous to this, without any good result. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel good all right. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

Gay Hula-Hula Girls Mingle With 'Clergy' at Jungle Party

(Chicago Journal)
Three hundred hula-hula girls, missionaries, pirates, savages, wild animals, hunters and hussies, jungle queens, Burmese, Singalese, Fokinese and what-not, danced through the "jungle" of the morning today at the "jungle" party given by society's "explorers." While most of Chicago was eating breakfast, the "jungle" was hopping into limousines bound for home. Many a young broker had barely time to hurry from the loop to his home, divest himself of his jungle paint, dash into the breakfast room for coffee and hurry off for the opening of the stock market.

Younger Element Reigned.
They came, they danced, they shined and toddled to their hearts' content. The "younger element" reigned. The older generation either were not there or departed early.

The climax of the party was reached when, to the slow, "whangy" strains of the orchestra, the nine persons who had just been selected by the jury of artists as wearing the most unique costumes marched double file into the ballroom. Mrs. Charles S. Dowe, decided upon as the "queen of the jungle," led. Her costume was of white satin, that of a Bengalese princess. She wore a helmet of enormous pearls. Behind her, following solemnly and with measured step, filed Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Noble Judah, Joseph Hysron, Mrs. J. Allen Haines, Mrs. Evan Evans and Robert Eskridge.

They took their places upon the pillow-dais on one side of the room, while the other guests squatted upon pillows or sat upon the floor, to watch a special exhibition by Parley and Oukrinsky and Mile. Nemeroff.

Fashionably Late.
The guests were more than fashionably late. "Slime" at the Auditorium and innumerable dinner parties preceding held up the trip to the jungle. It was well after midnight before the festivities commenced.

The Tiger ballroom of the Sherman hotel was transformed into a miniature jungle under the direction of Julian F. Dore, scenic artist for the Chicago Opera Company. Coconut palms and tropical shrubbery quickly transported one into the heart of India, while gravel paths, winding through, led into the open space cleared for dancing. Piles of stones and sand erupted at convenient intervals, providing nooks for the "twoers," and tables for those participating in the early morning supper-banquet.

Loin cloths, leopard skins and grass skirts were the favorite costumes. Everyone was accompanied by his or her costume or lack of one.

Open Eyes of Society.
Mrs. "Jo" Brown wore one of the "hottest." More than one wide-eyed eye followed her as she flitted about in a Cleopatra uniform of shirred chiffon and bodice. Mrs. Howard Linn in a costume of spun tinsel, silver helmeted so that she resembled a silver-headed turtle, was another who forced society's eye. Mrs. Noble B. Judah,

"So your wife uses REGAL FLOUR"

resembling some tropical pheasant or cockatoo, in a gayly-colored feather outfit, was a third who was much admired. But when it came to "dressing up," no one could out do the men. They stopped at nothing. Joseph T. Hysron was continually in the spotlight. He posed as the original savage with a leopard awning carelessly about him, and an air-inflated monkey on his shoulder. Capt. David Wirtbaugh, commandant of the Great Lakes training station, shared it with him. In a plum-colored plush suit, red striped shirt and cockade hat, always tilted over one eye, he was a picturesque "Capt. Kidd."

Grass Skirt and All.
Mr. and Mrs. T. Phillip Swift arrived early with the Wellesley Stillwells. Mrs. Swift was a red-haired hula-hula girl, grass skirt and all. Mr. Swift, in white jacket and trousers, mushroom brimmed hat and orange sash, represented a general hunter.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase wore one of the most unique costumes and represented a coconut palm tree in full bloom, with snail's coiling about the trunk. The Owen Burton Joneses were a couple of tropical gulls. Lester Armour was a pirate; his wife a jungle princess in cascades of filmy chiffon veils and pearl beads.

Ogra Lihme, one of the twelve debutantes of the season to receive an invitation, was a golden butterfly. Her costume was of yellow tulle set off with a pair of gold-tipped wings and "feeler." She was one of the early arrivals, and was accompanied by a group of hachelors, including John V. Farwell III, Lawrence Williams and Arthur Dixon. Theodore Winterbotham, another of the season's debutantes, represented a baby alligator. A helmet of glistening green sequins and a black sheath-like game furnished her costume.

DRY LAW KEEPS WASHINGTON JAILS NEARLY EMPTY

People are Heartily Supporting the Enforcement Agencies.

(Special Despatch to the Evening Post)
Washington—Since national prohibition went into effect the population of the workhouse of the District of Columbia at Occoquan has dwindled to such an extent that at times the number of prisoners resembles an assemblage responding to a call to donate money for an unpopular cause," said Superintendent Charles Foster when asked to state his observations regarding the operation of prohibition with respect to criminality.

"While it has greatly reduced the working force here, it has on the other hand made the sun shine in many a home and put a smile on many a tea-stained face. Gloom around a workhouse because man power is lacking becomes negligible as compared to the contentment and happiness in places made desolate as a result of an unquenchable indulgence. When jails and workhouses suffer a census decrease the sum total of human happiness is on the increase."

Comparative statistics of the workhouse of the police department, and the Board of Charities all combine to show conclusively that prohibition has been of immense benefit to the population of the District of Columbia. Resolutions and other forms of public expression by representative civic bodies and other organizations prove that the benefits are generally recognized and that strict enforcement of the Volstead act is the popular wish.

In a recent speech before a convention of the Anti-Saloon League, John F. Kramer, former Prohibition Commissioner, emphasized the magnitude of the task of enforcing such a radical law as national prohibition in a huge country like the United States, and he declared that it could not be done without strenuous and efficient aid from local authorities.

EXPLAIN CONTRACT FOR ICE-BREAKER

(Montreal Gazette)
Reasons for the award of the contract for an ice-breaker to the Canadian Vickers Co. were continued in the statement issued yesterday on behalf of the former government at Ottawa.

This contract has since been held up by the Liberal government, but the Minister of the Interior, Mr. King, has notified to the effect that it would not be held to any post mortem commitments. It was explained on behalf of the former government that the contract had been given by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, in the belief that the ice-breaker was needed, and that it would be cheaper to build a new one than purchase the "J. D. Hazen," which had been sold by Canada to the Russian government, and twice sunk during the war, therefore requiring heavy costs for repairs. In addition that vessel was now claimed by both the French and Russian governments.

"The ice-breaker 'J. D. Hazen' was built in Montreal by the Canadian Vickers Co. in 1914," a statement set forth. It was later sold to the Russian government, and was employed by them as an ice-breaker during the war. It was sunk twice during that period, and underwent some very hard experiences, and during the past 18 months she has been at Cherbourg, France.

"The Meighen government looked into this ice-breaker proposition very thoroughly. The J. D. Hazen has been tied up at Cherbourg at the expense of the French government, who claim that they are now owners of the vessel. Reports furnished the Canadian government were to the effect that after having been twice sunk and badly battered it would take a great deal of money to put the ice-breaker into condition for efficient service, while the French government claim the vessel as theirs, and the Russian Soviet government also claim it.

"Therefore the Meighen government, while recognizing that there might be a possible saving on the purchase of this vessel, considered that, with the great need of employment in Montreal at the present time it would be the better course to order a new ice-breaker.

"This was done, at the earnest request of Mayor Martin, who had written both Premier Meighen and Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, while representations had also been made to the government by the labor organizations of Montreal urging the construction of this ice-breaker, both as a national necessity, and as a help to tide over the present period of unemployment.

The government, under the circumstances, felt justified in letting the contract to the Canadian Vickers Co., as the lowest tenderer, at $1,098,000.

You are entitled to the benefit of the doubt Why not take advantage of it?

The law is very careful in protecting the rights of a prisoner charged with a crime.

How about the Law of Common Sense and the man who has committed an error only? Isn't this a good place to use the benefit of the doubt, too?

Take your own case: If you don't know for sure whether tea or coffee is harming you, do you know that many are harmed by the drug element in tea and coffee, and that headaches, nervousness, or high blood pressure are symptoms which often tell that the drug, caffeine, is giving the nervous system too much jolt.

Probably you know, too, that some people can't drink a cup of tea or coffee at bed-time, and sleep well that night.

Where many have been harmed by tea and coffee, and you may be harmed, isn't it well to put the benefit of the doubt on your side before doubt becomes an unpleasant certainty?

There's charm without harm in Postum—a pure cereal beverage, rich in flavor, fully satisfying; the favorite table drink of thousands.

Suppose you try giving yourself this benefit today, and keep the test for ten days; then judge the results. See if you don't feel better and work better. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Special Obstacles Encountered.

This city is one of the most difficult in the country in which to enforce the laws against the use and sale of intoxicants. Here we have a large diplomatic colony, with some hundreds of members who are absolutely immune from both the Volstead act and the Sheppard law. The latter is the local law prohibiting the sale and use of alcoholic beverages within the District of Columbia. The fact that such a group does exist here and that it is the pivot about which so-called "high society" revolves in this city strongly tempts others who are amenable to the law to evade it.

There is another group here which sets even a worse example. There are lawmakers and men holding high administrative offices, who, while they are not legally immune from the prohibition laws, are almost brazen in their flaunting of it, without any fear of repeating the consequences of their illegal acts, knowing that their power over the police gives them practical immunity. It is no wonder, then, that the ordinary citizen who sees these men in high positions in the government fleeing escaping the consequences of their illegal acts should seek to emulate them.

Moreover, the fact that certain bootleggers enjoy the patronage of a certain elite of society, too, and encourages them to carry on their illicit trade among all classes of people. These are obstacles to a strict enforcement of prohibition in Washington, of which both the prohibition enforcement officers and the police are aware, and which they feel themselves powerless to surmount.

In spite of these facts the criminal records are most encouraging, and those who have to deal with the sordid side of city life are emphatic advocates of prohibition. The report of the Board of Charities for the year 1920, referring to the workhouse, where criminals whose sentences are under one year are confined, states that the most striking fact noted in this institution during that year was the continued decrease in the number of prisoners. For the five-year period 1915-1917, inclusive, the daily average of prisoners was 640.

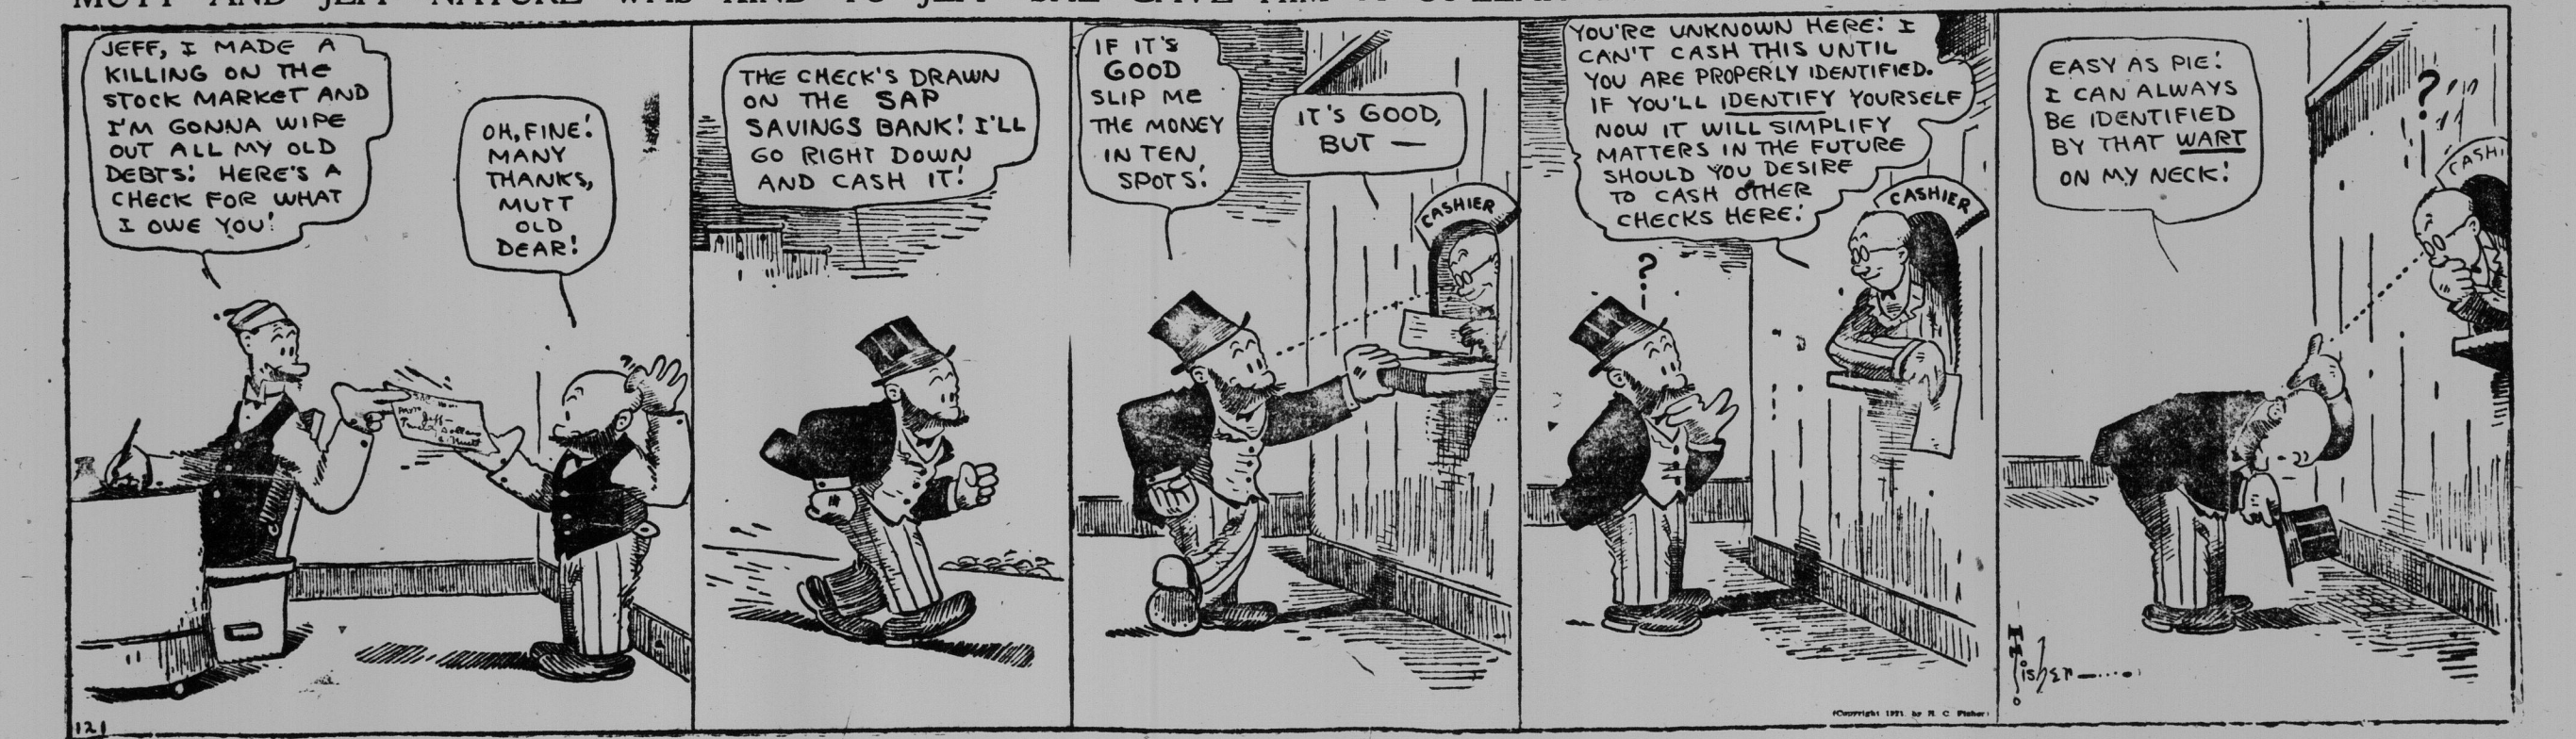

The Sheppard act making Washington dry, but still permitting the importation of liquor for personal use, went into effect in November, 1917. The next year the daily average in the workhouse fell to 378. In 1919 it was 433, and in 1920, 384. The 1921 figures are not available, but the superintendent declares that the average will be lower than 1920.

SCOTCH PINES GROW WELL.
H. G. Cockburn, writing in The Canadian Forestry Magazine, says that on a farm of 150 acres in Wellington county, Ontario, he has a field of worthless sandhills that ten years ago carried a few scattered oak trees. Eight years since he planted 1,000 chestnuts and a like number of Scotch pines. Two years later 4,000 more Scotch pines were planted and last year another 2,000, the whole of the hills now being covered.

The chestnuts have not done well, having suffered from freezing back. The Scotch pines have, however, done amazingly well, those out eight years being now twelve to fifteen feet high.

IN DEFENCE OF STEFANSSON

Meteorologist Denies Charges Against Explorer in Connection With Arctic Expedition.

New York, Jan. 18.—Charges of Dr. R. M. Anderson of Ottawa and Prof. J. J. O'Neill, of McGill University that Vilhjalmur Stefansson has subordinated the interests of science to his own advantage in the official Canadian expedition to the Arctic in 1914-18 were denied yesterday by B. M. McConnell, meteorologist of the expedition. "The charges," said Mr. McConnell, "lead the reader to believe that Stefansson was in charge of one expedition and Dr. Anderson was in charge of the other, that Stefansson virtually tried to hamper Dr. Anderson's operations. Dr. Anderson was in charge of the entire expedition, southern and northern parties, by the Canadian government." Mr. McConnell said that after Stefansson's ship, the Karluk which was to have carried the northern party, was crushed in the ice, the southern party refused to co-operate with the expedition. Stefansson's chief, Dr. Anderson, had his own work to perform, he said. "I was sorry the Karluk had been lost but Stefansson could not expect it to sacrifice our plans for the coming year. Besides none of the men except Wilkins, who is now with Shackleton on his Arctic journey, were willing to accompany Stefansson to undertake the Arctic expedition. There is the further charge by Dr. Anderson of extravagance and the request, familiar to all Americans, that the investigation be made by the Canadian government. The expedition, it must be admitted, like all expeditions and all projects, cost more than the government estimated it would cost. This is to be expected, and it is to be expected, as admitted, like all expeditions and all projects, cost more than the government estimated it would cost. BUILDING HYGIENE.

The lighting and heating of modern office buildings, schools and halls are measured nowadays with mathematical accuracy. It is not sufficient that the light on one's desk appears to be normal. So important a matter cannot be left to chance. The exact amount of light which falls on your desk pad, for instance, is measured by means of an ingenious device known as a photometer, which gives the precise candle power of the illumination, whether it be from the sun or an electric bulb. The instrument consists of a telescopic device containing a small electric light, which is used as a unit of measure. It is equal to the light of a standard candle at a distance of one foot. A white card is held on the desk and the barrel of the telescopic device slid back and forth until, as observed through the telescope, the light equals that of the standard of measure. The relation between the two lights is then recorded on a dial. It is often found that the lighting on the desk in some obscure corner of an office or on a desk in a dark school room is only one candle or that of a single candle held one foot away. Too much light is also bad for the eyes. The glare from a polished desk will also serve to exaggerate the light. As a matter of fact, the light on one's desk should be equal to that of nine foot candles of the illumination of one foot. In modern factories where correct lighting often affects the products, these tests are very important. The degree of moisture in modern buildings is also the subject of painstaking study. Tests are made with a wet and dry thermometer. It has been found that in rooms which have been crowded with large audiences the air is often dryer than that of the desert. The range of these tests varies widely, some rooms having but 10 per cent. of moisture and others 60 per cent. It is still fondly imagined by some that a pan of water placed on a stove or radiator will add sufficient water to the atmosphere of a room. An office building may require several barrels of moisture in its air every day. The exact quantity of air entering a room is building is actually measured by a fan deliberately placed, whose revolutions are indicated on a dial. The speed of the fan is read, and the amount of air calculated with reference to its speed is the size of the room. The amount of air is admitted. Those working in rooms scientifically lighted and ventilated are found to work with much increased efficiency.

ALCOHOL WAS PUT ASHORE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Testimony About Disposal of Part of the Cargo of the Golden West.

Boston, Jan. 18.—Testimony that part of the cargo of alcohol on the schooner Golden West, ostensibly bound from St. Pierre, Mich., to Nassau, B. W. I., was landed on the Massachusetts coast was given yesterday in the trial of five men charged with importing contraband alcohol and landing some of it at Plymouth. Wm. Saunders, cook, who testified that he was engaged for the trip at Halifax by Bruno and Amero, told part of the story. There was waiting lists of patients at the hospital, for whom room would be created if the nurses were able to take up their quarters in the new home. In reply to a statement by Mrs. Small to the effect that she did not think the Gerard street site for the home a suitable one, Dr. Hastings said it was regrettable that space for a tennis court could not be included in the site, as nurses are practically cut off from all social intercourse. This matter will come before the Board of Control next week. Dr. Hastings informed the board that the Nurses' Home at the Isolated Hospital is needed more now than it ever was. BRITISH NOT TO CHALLENGE FOR POLO CUP

New York, Jan. 18.—The International Polo Cup, covered trophy of the Mounted Club of former years, will not be at stake in 1922. This became known last night following the annual meeting of the Polo Association when it was announced that there would be no challenge from the English players. The British, it was said, are seeking to have the intervals between matches for the famous Westchester Cup increased to five years, with a stipulation that play should be alternatively in England and the U. S. Such an arrangement, members declared, would necessitate changing the deed of gift, establishing the trophy. It was reported that American riders will suggest a compromise interval of two to three years.

SHOULD RECORD EVERY BIRTH

(Toronto Telegram) In emphasizing the need of an accurate registration of all births in the city, Dr. C. J. Hastings this afternoon told the new Board of Health, at its first meeting, that a survey of the christenings in the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches and circumcisions in the Jewish synagogues showed a percentage of error of from 5 to 10 per cent. He stated that if there was a percentage of error of 12 for the whole city in the registration of births the infant mortality rate would be down to the seventies.

FORSMAN TO FORE IN SKATING RACES

Entrant in Local Meet Wins Two Victories on New York Ice and Draws Near Metropolitan Title—Pickering and Becker Also Figure.

(New York Times.) Two metropolitan championship events were completed at Becker's Tremont Skating Rink yesterday afternoon, and Paul Forsman of the home rink appears as a result to be well on his way toward adding the metropolitan title to his recently won eastern championship.

The weather was exceptionally favorable and the ice was in rare condition when Starter Tom Lynch called the men out for the 440. Becker, Forsman, Pickering, Houseworth and Mike McLaughlin were the five who survived the trial heats. The field started even, but as soon as the first turn was rounded Forsman was three yards in front.

There were three heats in the 880-yard championship, with an "extra" in the form of a time trial for Charles Schmidt of the Peerless Skating Club, who failed to hear the call for his heat. He started a lonely 980 in 1:26 and was therefore cleared elite to join the select elite in the final. West Becker fell soon after the start of the heat, but he clambered up, set sail again and just qualified. Pickering took the second heat, and Forsman the third.

Through his victory in the eastern skating championship at Dyckman Oval and his total of sixty points for the first half of the metropolitan programme, Paul Forsman has jumped along the centre of the skating spotlight. With Joe Moore, international champion, Leslie Boyd, former metropolitan champion, and Al Bach, junior national champion, all out of town, and not competing in these events, Forsman's task has been made a great deal easier, but the Tremont skater has developed rapidly of late and his victories are convincing.

Fredericton Comment on Refusal to Sanction Hockey Trip to Boston.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 18.—On its sporting page today The Gleaner says: "The most sensible thing that A. W. Covey, president of the N. B. of the A. U. of C., has done for some time has been to hold up the sanction for the trip of the so-called New Brunswick all-star hockey team to Boston."
Sponsored by some promoters who have never been known to do anything before to foster sport in this province, the enterprise cannot do hockey any good, and it is likely to do it a lot of harm, as the so-called all-star team that has been lined up will not, in the judgment of the most capable judges, be sufficiently formidable with the lack of co-ordination of play there must be, to make a favorable showing in the presentation to Boston followers of hockey of the class of game that is being played by the amateur organizations in this province.

LIQUOR CASES IN POLICE COURT

One of Sale of Gin and Another Regarding an Illicit Still—Witness is Himself Charged.

The case against Gordon Parlee and Robert Friars, charged with illegally selling liquor to Max Lampert, was resumed this morning.

Murray Haywood told of taking five cases of gin from 107 Simonds street to Dorchester street for the defendants. He asked the defendants if they wanted to sell the liquor and one of them, Lampert bought the liquor. He took it to Douglas avenue. He returned in the evening to Simonds street with Lampert and Friars, but Friars said there was nothing there. They went down to Lombard street, where they picked up another man named Friars and when they were passing the station the detectives jumped on the car. The man they had picked up jumped out and started to run away with one of the detectives chasing him.

Sergeant Detective Power said he picked up a charge of selling liquor against Haywood, and he put up a deposit of $200. Both cases were postponed until Friday morning. I. McC. Ritchie appeared for Parlee.

Harry Stone, charged with having an illicit still in his residence at 267 Chesley street, said he wished to change his plea from guilty to not guilty. Justice Enforcement Officer Daves and Policeman Bette told of going to the defendant's house and finding the still there. The defendant told Daves that he had intended to use it for the purpose of making liquor, but had forgotten some of the ingredients necessary to the brew and could not get started. He had seen several illustrations of stills and had made this one from one of them.

FURTHER DETAILS OF C. N. R. WRECK NEAR BLOOMFIELD

Reports regarding the run off near Bloomfield on the C. N. R. last night were received in the city this morning by the Halifax Express and the Sussex train. Conductor Clark said that eight cars had derailed, freight train off and turned over in the ditch, while a section of the rails was quite badly broken up. He said the accident resulted from broken wheels. He said that none of the cars had gone into the river. A wrecking train was sent to the scene from Moncton and this morning had the line clear and the rails replaced. They remained there throughout the night from some of the cars, while others were being lifted back on the track. The train, which left the city last night for Halifax reached Norton this morning about 9 o'clock and proceeded to its destination, while the incoming train from Halifax remained at Norton until the line was clear and then continued reaching the city at 10:36 o'clock, two hours and forty-five minutes behind time. The Sussex train arrived at 11 o'clock, two hours and five minutes late.

In order to accommodate suburban passengers a special train was made up at five o'clock this morning and was sent to Hampton and reached the city on time.

DECEMBER FREIGHT FIGURES SHOW SOME INCREASES

According to reports published recently men along the water front were quoted as saying that although there were a large number of steamers in port at that time business was not as good as last year with fewer liners.

According to figures compiled by C. F. L. officials thirty per cent more grain was shipped in December than in the corresponding month in 1921, while over a twenty-five per cent more import cargo was handled. Export freight showed a very slight falling off, excluding grain.

The list follows:

Import freight—1920, 12,421 tons; 1921, 15,297 tons.

Export freight—1920, 121,170 tons; 1921, 111,208 tons.

Grain—1920, 43,886 tons; 1921, 68,123 tons.

Steamers—1920—25; 1921, 31.

Three Rivers, Que., Jan. 18.—Martha Bellefleur, four years of age, daughter of Albert Bellefleur, of this city, was burned to death this morning. The bed spread fell off her bed on an electric heater and caught fire. The child had died before the mother could extinguish the flames.

KNOX S. SCHOOL

At the annual meeting of Knox (Presbyterian) Sunday school held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Superintendent, F. A. Corringham; assistant superintendent, Hermon Campbell; treasurer, Robert McAfee; secretary, Frank Thompson; reading secretary, Miss F. A. Cate; librarian, Hugh Campbell; assistant librarians, Miss Elizabeth Campbell and Miss Gretia Hayler; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. T. H. Reid; primary superintendent, Miss F. B. Cummings.

Very satisfactory reports for both cradle roll and primary department were submitted by their dual superintendents, Miss Florence B. Cummings.

Much to the regret of the meeting, Miss Cummings asked to be released from the office of cradle roll superintendent, which office, together with that of primary superintendent, she had seen filling for some years. In addition to work with the older girls in the mission band, she found it too much. She, however, suggested a very worthy successor in the person of Mrs. Reid. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to Miss Cummings for her efficient and painstaking work.

The reports submitted by the treasurer, Robert McAfee, and the superintendent, F. A. Corringham, until recently secretary of the school, showed it to be in a flourishing condition. One very encouraging feature is the large number of senior pupils in regular attendance. Mrs. Thomas Graham and Mrs. Hermon Campbell reported for the largely attended supper and Christmas tree which had been provided for the school in the holiday season.

Plans were made for more and better work during this year.
