ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 10, 1918.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

The Times has the largest afternoon circulation in the Maritime Provinces.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations audits the circulation of The Evening Times.

A THRILLING MESSAGE.

The message Bishop Richardson brings from Britain and France is an inspiration, as well as a singularly clear and illuminating picture of the trained observer who is given special facilities for observation.

Someone said last evening that Bishop Richardson had spoken for more than an hour and a half, but his auditors were not conscious of the lapse of time.

Bishop Richardson is unsparing in his denunciation of those who have circulated rumors reflecting on the morals of Canadian soldiers overseas.

Dr. Porter, who knows more than any other Canadian student concerning this subject, told a very interesting story to his audience in the Natural History rooms yesterday.

It is an interesting fact that the Germans knew the value of this dressing and had great quantities prepared before the war began.

A POLICY VINDICATED.

Not to provoke controversy, but by way of vindication it is well to observe that the latest testimony shows the naval policy of the Canadian Liberal party to have been the right one.

Commenting on this statement the Toronto Star reminds us that: "The plan here outlined is almost precisely the plan recommended by the Admiralty to Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, and accepted by all three when the Laurier government was in office."

Continuing, the Star adds the following instructive review of the whole case: "This was the plan of the Admiralty, the first plan, the one recommended to Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, and accepted by these three Dominions, and the Admiralty only produced the other and second proposal about contributing the cost of dreadnoughts after its first proposal had been belittled in Canadian papers in the election of 1911."

Halifax Chronicle:—"Massachusetts has formally adopted the Mayflower as the floral emblem of the Commonwealth. The Bill was signed by Governor McCall on Monday, and, in recognition of the fact that the legislature was guided in its choice of the flower by the result of a vote of school children throughout the state, the governor invited nine children to witness the formal approval of the measure."

The Lloyd George government was sustained yesterday by a great majority, at the conclusion of the debate on the charges made by Gen. Maurice. Those who hoped for its defeat received a rude shock, and will perhaps realize that this is not a good time to play the game of party politics.

War Garden Bulletin
PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACKYARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREAT-ER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN

Issued by the Canada Food Board in Collaboration With Experts on the Staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm

THE GARDEN TRENCHES

To sow a row of seed quickly, evenly and thinly requires care and practice. The beginner is very apt to be prodigal in his use of seed and to sow indiscriminately. This not only entails waste but causes overcrowding and corresponding injury to the plants. The top of the seed packet should be torn off and the seeds held between the thumb and forefinger. By gently swaying the packet from one side to another the seeds will drop out. Another method of seeding is to place the seed in a tin dish and gather as many seeds as possible between the thumb and forefinger. A gentle rubbing motion of the thumb on the forefinger releases a few seeds at a time. Coarse seeds may be placed individually with the fingers. After the ground is fully prepared for planting a piece of board or a line may be used to make straight even rows.

In the garden trenches this year Canadians are going to give very real and substantial aid to their kinsmen in the hour. Serve hot or cold. Any dried or fresh fruits, dates, or ground peanuts may be used instead of apples. This recipe will serve five people.

LEFT OVER CEREALS

There are so many good things to make with left-over cereals that it is a temptation to cook more than you need for breakfast.

Cereal Moulded With Fruit

Take any cereal left from breakfast. If very stiff add a little milk or water and stir into it a few scalded cut-up dates or figs. Pour into bowl or mold and serve cold as a dessert with top milk.

Cereal Sponge

Stir into two cups of cooked cereal the stiffly beaten white of one egg and one teaspoon of vanilla. Mound and serve with soft custard. If cereal is very stiff, add a little hot milk or water to it and blend well before stirring in the stiffly beaten white of egg.

Oatmeal Betty

Two cups cooked oatmeal, four apples, cut up small, one-half cup raisins, one-half cup corn syrup, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. Mix and bake for one-half hour. Serve hot or cold. Any dried or fresh fruits, dates, or ground peanuts

The Quick Clean Shave For The Busy Man GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR W. H. THORNE & CO., Ltd.

LOCAL NEWS JOINS POLICE FORCE. A new policeman, William G. Goodwin, was sworn in this morning. DRUGGISTS WERE HEARD. The meeting of the provincial government was continued this morning and afternoon. During the morning a delegation from the New Brunswick Pharmaceutical Society was heard.

QUITE DIFFERENT. Regarding a paragraph published this morning to the effect that a petition asking for increased wages was being circulated among the employees of Atlantic sugar refinery, an editorial of the paper said this morning that the story was incorrect and that the only paper circulated among the employees recently was a subscription list for a present for one of the men.

CIVIC MATTERS. A remark by Commissioner McLellan in the common council committee meeting yesterday regarding the comparative wages paid in civic departments was made ambiguous by a typographical error. It was said that the wages paid by the city were received by the men of the public safety department, and not the public works department as might appear from the report.

INSTRUMENTS FOR JUNIOR BAND. Instruments owned by the 182nd Battalion Band have been purchased by D. G. Gallagher from Major Snowball of Chatham for the Juvenile City Cornet Band here. There are thirty-two in all. They were shipped from Chatham today. In addition to these instruments about twelve new clarinets will be purchased. Practice will be commenced soon as the new instruments arrive.

CIVIC PENSION SYSTEMS. Commissioner Fisher has received from New York a report of the operations of the pension plan for civic employees in force there. From time to time there has been talk of introducing such a system to care for retired employees in St. John. There is no general provision at present and the only way in which superannuation has been arranged in St. John is by securing legislation to cover a particular case.

FIRE THIS MORNING. A little after 7 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the home of Archibald McAllister, 300 Rockland road, which was extinguished before much damage had been done. It started between the walls and apparently had burning some time before it was noticed. An alarm was rung in from box 812 and the fire department were soon on the scene. The chemical engine proved sufficient to cope with the blaze. The house is owned by A. B. McIntosh.

WEEKLY ENTERTAINMENT. The boys of the Industrial Home were given a treat last evening when a concert was arranged on their behalf, under the auspices of St. Monica's Society. The programme was arranged by Mrs. Joseph Gleason and consisted of vocal solos and instrumental selections. Those taking part were the Misses Florence Melnerney, Marion Power, Kathleen O'Neill and Gerald O'Neill, in addition to some of the boys of the home. The entertainment was held in the dining room of the home. About twenty visitors from the city were present.

AN EXTRA POLICEMAN. The police force of Lancaster is to be doubled. There have been requests for police protection in some parts of the parish, particularly in Beacomfield, and the councillors of the parish have decided to recommend to the council that the police zone be extended to include in St. John in all the district back of Carlton. The expense will be borne by the parish and the other police officer will be appointed soon.

LOCAL BRANCH OF THE RED-MORGEN DAVID Jewish Society Formed Here to do WarWork Along Red Cross Lines

Since the enlistment of Jewish men for military service in Palestine was begun a few months ago, there has been a new organization formed, by Jewish women in New York, called the Red-Morgen David. This organization is to be carried on along Red Cross lines, to assist the British soldiers in Palestine. A branch was organized on Thursday night in the Hazen avenue Synagogue here through the efforts of a committee with Miss Sadie Cohen chairman, Miss Belle Comber secretary, and Miss Miriam Oster treasurer. Fifty members were enrolled and election of officers took place, after which an executive committee was appointed. The officers elected were Mrs. Elman, honorary president; Miss Sadie Cohen, president; Miss Dora Groswiner, vice-president; Miss Belle Comber, secretary; Miss Miriam Oster, treasurer.

LIKE BROTHER, GAVE HIS LIFE IN WAR. Private Frank Fish Died of Wounds on April 24.

Mrs. Harriet Fish, of 308 Wallace avenue, Toronto, formerly a resident of this city, has been advised that her son, Private Frank Fish, infantry, died of wounds on April 24. He enlisted with the 104th Battalion and after his arrival in England was transferred to another battalion. His brother, Private Fred Fish, was killed in action July 28, 1917. Private Frank Fish has many friends in this city, who will learn of his death with regret.

JOHN F. KENNEDY, YOUNG SOLDIER, IS IN CASUALTY LIST. John Kennedy, of 184 Sydney street, received a telegram this morning notifying him that his nephew, Sgt. John F. Kennedy, had been admitted to a hospital in France on May 1, suffering from burns on the face and arms. He was twenty-one years of age and had been on active service in France for nearly three years. He was thirty-eight years of age at the time he enlisted.

PROBATE COURT. In the matter of the estate of Lawrence Kelly the will was proved in common form and letters testamentary granted to Mary Kelly and Margaret Anne Kelly, the executrices. L. A. Conlon is proctor.

FORMER POLICEMAN HERE MAY BE DEVON MARSHAL. Frederick, May 10.—The appointment of Devon marshal will be made next Monday. Leo Hayes, a former member of the St. John police, may get it.

WINS SUIT AGAINST INSURANCE COMPANY. In the case of Henry S. Wetmore vs. the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Company, His Honor Chief Justice McKeown gave judgment this morning for the plaintiff for the sum of $850 with costs and interest. The defendants set up that the plaintiff failed to file any proof of loss as required by the statutory conditions of the Province of New Brunswick, but under the insurance act His Honor decided that this should not bar the plaintiff in his claim, as the defendants, having full knowledge of the loss, were not prejudiced in any way. The loss was caused by fire to the plaintiff's dwelling house at Colbrook. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and Francis Kerr appeared for the plaintiff, and Huntington & Huntington and M. G. Ford, K. C., for the defendant company.

FRANCE TO SUPPLY COAL TO SWITZERLAND. Paris, May 10.—The French government has agreed to furnish to Switzerland 85,000 tons of coal a month at 150 Swiss francs a ton, according to Berne newspapers. Germany has already agreed to export 75,000 tons monthly to Switzerland.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT VOTES CONFIDENCE IN LORD GEORGE

Ministry Sustained by Vote of 293 to 106 on Maurice Affair—Premier Gives House Full Explanation of Negotiations Which Led to Extension of British Front and Supports Figures Which Maurice Questioned—Asquith Motion is Defeated

London, May 9.—The Lloyd George ministry has won vindication in the British parliament at a time when defeat would have meant a government crisis.

HER INITIAL TRIP PROVED HER LAST

Details of the Sinking of the UC-39 Had Picked Crew of 24

Chief Pirate Was Personal Friend of Prince Henry of Prussia—Met a Fitting End

London, May 10.—An account has just reached London from a Dutch correspondent of the recent destruction of the German submarine U.C.-39 and the capture of a crew of her crew by a British destroyer.

The U.C.-39 was commanded by Otto Eberhardt, who was a close friend of Prince Henry of Prussia and a frequent visitor to Prince Henry's castle at Kiel.

The submarine was on a mission to intercept a British merchant ship in the North Sea.

The vessel was sunk by the British destroyer HMS Laffan on May 9.

The crew of the submarine was captured and taken aboard the destroyer.

It is stated that Eberhardt was a personal friend of Prince Henry of Prussia.

Details of the sinking were given by the British commander.

The submarine was carrying a large quantity of gun ammunition.

The British destroyer fired several torpedoes at the submarine.

The vessel was sunk in a matter of minutes.

The British destroyer was damaged by the submarine's attack.

The crew of the submarine was taken aboard the destroyer.

The British commander gave a full account of the sinking.

The submarine was carrying a large quantity of gun ammunition.

DISHONORABLE RICHARDSON TELLS OF VISIT TO THE FRONT

Impressed With Democracy of the Dead as He Visits Graves, Each Marked With Same Cross; St. John Private and Canadian General Buried Side by Side

"Oh! the democracy of the dead," exclaimed Bishop Richardson last night in his address before a crowded audience in the High school assembly hall.

When describing his experiences at the front, he was talking of the little wooden crosses stretching row and row behind the lines.

"There you see crosses, crosses, everywhere. Little white crosses and you get a glorious sense of the solidarity of the empire.

And oh! the democracy of the dead. They are all the same crosses, except in a few instances you find on one a little metal tag bearing the inscription, 'In memory of an unknown British soldier'.

And in the turmoil of the battle and found in the democracy of the cross of Christ.

"Near General Mercer's grave I stood and as I turned aside there I saw the cross on the grave of a St. John soldier, a gallant lad, Jack Hyswell.

They were general and private lying side by side in glorious death. Oh! the democracy of the dead."

Bishop Richardson took his audience across the Atlantic, through England, with its great munition factories and its working women and its air raids. There across the channel and through the bases to the front line trenches. Through ruined cities, over scarred and torn battlefields, he led them.

Four Months Overseas. A. M. Belding who acted as chairman introduced the evening program. He conveyed the regrets of Judge McInerney, the president, who would have presided but he was absent from the city.

"I have never seen any other speaker at the outset," from four months overseas and much of that time I was with the front line trenches.

"The trip has made war in its innermost heart more intelligible to me. It has been a little because the machine is so great. There is real danger of a man coming back and thinking he knows more than he really does."

He warned people not to be too cocksure respecting the war. The war crosses these errors stand on record and these mistakes are still going on, telling of our error and of our error and of our error.

The question of the wounded is interesting, he said. "In the base hospital at Boulogne, there are 30,000 beds, and I straggled into one but in a base hospital and I found I was in the New Brunswick ward, and I recognized names and faces of men I had met in this war and I felt it was on my native heath."

He paid a tribute to the doctors and the nurses who had made and he said the nurses were efficient and Canadian nurses he said they were splendid. An English padre told me that there was no hospital at the front, from the base hospital in Canadian hospitals such as is not equalled in any other hospital in the British empire.

Lynchers Made A Fatal Mistake

Hanged a Man on Theory He Was a Spy

Now Have Doubts

Practically No Grounds for Suspicion—Lynchings Result of Circumstances Rather Than Intent

Perhaps the worst thing that can be said about lynching is that the right people go unlynched. The practice is defended on the ground that there are some crimes that the law does not adequately punish, and this has been the general view in the United States with regard to pro-Germans, men who hope in their hearts that the Kaiser will win this war, but who stop short of overt acts to bring about this happy issue. On this principle a German named Prager was lynched by a mob in Collinsville, Ill., the other day, and now it has turned out that the man was innocent of the crime of spying, that he was, in all probability, a loyal American citizen. Some half dozen of the lynchers are under arrest, and it is expected there will be many more of them. The town is thoroughly ashamed of the act, which has ended of the country to the other. In fact, the incident has inflicted a black eye on lynching in Collinsville.

The wide publicity given the affair is due to the fact that this is the first case of a German lynched in the United States on the suspicion of being a spy. We have all heard stories of German streets and no questions asked, but these yarns are to be classed with the story of the Russian passing through Canada in the early days of the war. You probably remember this story, the one that blinds on the coaches were closely drawn. It also applied to Australian troops, and was used in England with great effect. Probably it was imported from England. One of the most horrible features of the lynching of Robert Prager, according to a staff correspondent of the New York Tribune who visited Collinsville, is that the mob did not intend to hang him. It was composed, for the most part, of half-drunk men, or men who would be fattered by the term, and Prager was a victim of an association of ideas. There was the man, admitted to be a German, there was the limb of a tree handy, and someone produced a rope. The impulse to co-ordinate these elements in a conventional manner proved overpowering, and so Prager was hanged.

It appears that Prager when he drifted into Collinsville and applied for work in a mine sought to prove that he was an experienced hand by saying that he had been a miner in Westphalia. As a matter of fact, the man had been a baker. That he was a German was plain enough. His English was no better than that of many of his associates who had never been out of the state of Illinois in their lives. The deception of Prager's and his unfortunate habit of asking questions were really the cause of his murder. For a man who claims to have been a miner in Germany, he seemed to know very little about his work, and it was not unusual for the miners to argue that a German who sought employment in a mine under false pretences was there for no good. Particularly would he ask questions about a slow fire that had been smouldering in the Dunc mine for ten years, and which was held back from the workings by heavy concrete walls.

An Unfortunate Editor.

Prager used anxiously to inquire what would happen if the concrete walls were blown down. This was enough for the nervous miners. They calculated that Prager's curiosity was on the point of being satisfied by Prager himself, and that he harbored the idea of dynamiting the mine. They decided to run him out of town, just as hundreds of suspected pro-Germans have been run out of American towns in the past year. They may have been stimulated by an editorial which appeared in the Collinsville Herald referring to a German spy story and headed: "A Little Tax Might Help." Incidentally the paper afterwards apologized for this article, and it is to be hoped that a copy of the apology may be sent to Prager's father and mother in Dresden. Somebody coupled Prager's name with the spy article. On the night of the lynching the paper was being eagerly circulated by the groups of semi-illiterate that later formed the mob of lynchers. It appears that Prager had an inkling that he was to be manhandled and had applied to the mayor for protection.

The mob started out to find him and eventually got hold of him hiding in a cell in the municipal buildings. He was dragged out and marched through the streets, being struck now and then by people in the crowd. He was forced to kiss the American flag, and to sing the "Star Spangled Banner," which was indeed a cruel and unusual punishment, since it is improbable that three American citizens in twenty can sing their national anthem in a way that would not make Francis Scott Key turn over in his grave. The victim was taken outside the town, but nobody at this time appears to have had any idea of hanging him. No doubt if he and feathers had been easily procurable, he would have escaped with this form of punishment. But the sight of a stout limb and a rope proved too much for the bemuddled patriots, and Prager was strung up. The last thing he did was to ask permission to kiss the American flag.

GOES TO FARM INSTEAD OF THE PENITENTIARY

Hopewell Hill, May 8.—The young man who some weeks ago pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering a store at Albert, was today sentenced by Judge Jonah to a prison term of two years, the sentence, however, to be suspended, providing the young man gets and holds employment on a farm and reports periodically to the sheriff. His honor in delivering sentence said the crime was a serious one and under ordinary conditions the guilty one should serve his sentence. He felt, however, in the present crisis in the nation's history, with the great need of help, it would be wise to give the young man a chance to redeem himself and assist in the important work of agricultural production.

Had Good Reason.

Mother—Why, Bobby, you don't generally keep on crying like this when your father has given you a spanking.

Bobby—I know it, ma; but he says I've got to sit down and think it over, and—before I've always stood up and forgot it.

ELUDING PROHIBITION IN ARIZONA

Bill led me at once past two or three lounging cow-boys to the cubbyhole, where arose a typical old-timer. "Meet Mr. Billings," he said to me. The old-timer grasped me firmly by the right hand and held tight while he demanded, as usual, "What name?" We informed him together. He allowed he was pleased. I allowed the same. "I want to buy a yard of cotton," said Bill.

The old-timer reached beneath the counter and produced a strip of cloth. It was already cut, and looked to be about a yard long. Also it showed the marks of loving but brutal and soiled hands.

"Wrap it up?" inquired Mr. Billings.

"Nope," said Bill, and handed out three silver dollars. Evidently calico was high in these parts. We turned away.

"By the way, Bill," Mr. Billings called after us. "I got a little present here for you. Some friends sent her in to me the other day. Let me know what you think of it."

We turned. Mr. Billings held in his hand a sealed quart bottle, with a familiar and famous label.

"Why, that's kind of you," said Bill, gravely. He took the proffered bottle, turned it upside down, glanced at the bottom and handed it back. "But I don't believe I'd wish for none of that particular brand. It never did agree with my stomach."

Without a flicker of the eye the storekeeper produced a second sealed bottle, identical in appearance and label with the first.

"Try it," he urged. "Here's one from a different case. Some of these yere vintages is better than others."

"So I've noticed," replied Bill, dryly. He glanced at the bottom and slipped it into his pocket.

"We went out. As we passed the door Bill, unobserved, dropped into a heretofore unexplained waste-basket the yard of calico he had just purchased.

"Don't believe I like the pattern for my boudoir," he told me, gravely.

We clambered aboard and shot our derisive exhaust at the dimishing town. "I thought Arizona was a dry state," I ventured.

"She. You can't sell a drop. But you can keep stuff for personal use. There ain't nothing more personal than spirit it away to your friends."

"The price of calico is high down here?"

"And gosh! up," agreed Bill gloomily. "He drove ten miles in silence, while I, knowing my type, waited."

"That old Billings ought to be drug out and buried," he remarked at last.

"We rode together on the Chinochua range. He ought to know better than to try to put it onto me."

"How so?" said I.

"You saw that first bottle? Just plain forty-cent dog poison—and me payin' three good round dollars!"

"For calico," I reminded.

"Shore. That's why he done it. He had me—! I hadn't called him."

"But that first bottle was identically the same as the one you have in your pocket," I stated.

"Shore?"

"Why, yes—at least—that is, the bottle and label were the same, and I particularly noticed the cork seal looked intact."

"It was," agreed Bill. "That cap hadn't never been disjarred. You're right."

"Then what objection?"

"It's one of them wonders of modern science that spoils the simple life next to nature's heart," said Bill, unexpectedly. "You hitch a big hollow needle onto an electric light current. When she gets hot enough you punch a hole with her in the bottom of the bottle. Then you throw the switch and let the needle cool off. When she's cool you pour out the real thing for your own use—mash. Then you stick in your forty-cent-a-gallon squirrel poison. Heat up your needle again. Draw her out very slow, so the glass will close up behind her. Simple, neat, effective, honest enough for down here. Cook still there, seal still there, label still there. Bottle still there, except for a little bit of war-lookin' bubble in the bottom—Stewart Edward White, in Harper's Magazine."

A suitcase packed with dynamite has led to the arrest of John Sossell, an alleged accomplice of Gabrielle Antonie, known as the "Dynamite Girl." She is also in custody.

DOMINION CORD TIRES
The Supreme Achievement in Tire Building

To those owners of stately limousines and costly touring cars, who want the utmost in easy riding, safety and sustained speed—we recommend our supreme achievement in tire building—“DOMINION CORD” TIRES.

The key principle of its construction is this—Tens of thousands of slender sinewy cords in many compact layers—each cord and each layer laid parallel one to another and each imbedded in pure rubber so they cannot touch—each separate cord and layer bringing its individual strength to the tremendous sum-total of power and resistance.

This construction makes a tire-structure and tire-wall so yielding and resilient as to absorb the shock of many road obstructions. There is the luxury of easy riding—a greater assurance of safety, and freedom of puncture and blow-out—the luxury of fine appointment—and finally, the luxury of possessing the utmost in equipment, the finest tires in the world.

Built in the same Canadian factory, by Canadian workmen, who make “NOBBY,” “CHAIN,” “DOMINION,” “GROOVED,” “PLAIN” TIRES

“DOMINION” Tires are GOOD Tires
“DOMINION CORD” Tires are sold by the best Canadian dealers.

NEW HIGHWAY ACT GOES INTO EFFECT

Rules of the Road Not Changed at Present—Estimates for School Books Show Increased Cost to Province

The new highway act will go into effect at once, with the exception of section 15, which provided for changing the rules of the road. Until this section is proclaimed, and it was understood that winter time would be chosen for the change, drivers will continue to turn to the left when meeting other vehicles. This decision was reached by the provincial government yesterday.

sion of the legislature, and to come into effect on June 1, were also passed. Liquor vendors were recommended for licenses for the year.

The estimates for the school books required for the next term were laid before the council, and in all cases the prices were from ten to fifteen per cent higher than last year. It was pointed out that should the government sell the books at the same price as last year there would be a loss to the province of over $4,000.

The board of education approved of the recommendation of the chief superintendent of education that owing to the scarcity of teachers the age of entrance to the Normal school be reduced from seventeen to sixteen. J. T. Hawke was appointed chairman of the board of school trustees for Moncton.

On the recommendation of Chief Justice Haas and Mr. George Blair, who is a son of the late Andrew G. Blair, is at present law clerk to the Dominion Railway Commission. Letters of incorporation were granted to five agricultural societies and the revisors for the counties were appointed. In the afternoon the government met as provincial hospital commissioners.

SIX SONS ARE SERVING, ARMY WANTS SEVENTH

William Kearns Pleads That One Boy Be Left at Home

(Toronto Star). Wm. Kearns, 229 Clinton street, an old soldier who comes of fighting stock, whose family bears an enviable military record, appeared before Judge Winchester today to appeal for the exemption for his son William, his sole support, and only one of seven sons who is not in khaki. Owing to his non-appearance when his case was called yesterday, he was refused exemption. The case was recommended by Judge Winchester to Chief Justice Duff as one worthy of special consideration.

Mr. Kearns has five sons who have been in the service since the beginning of the war. His youngest son, a lad of eighteen, has been in England for a year, but has been unable to get to France owing to his youth. Mr. Kearns' father was a veteran of the Crimean war. "I was born in the army," said Mr. Kearns, who is 68 years of age. I came to Canada in 1858, took part in the Fenian Raid, served as color-sergeant in the Princess of Wales, and am graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston. "I would not ask exemption for this son," said he, "but my wife is old and feeble, and as I am unable to work, surely we will be left one son to care for us in our old age."

William Kearns, for whom the father is seeking exemption, is 26 years of age and is employed as a teamster. All Within Ten Years (New York Herald May 9). It is difficult to believe that only ten years ago today the Wright brothers made their first short flight with a heavier-than-air machine on the beach at Kitty Hawk (N. C.). Today the skies over the battlefields of Europe are filled with airplanes fighting each other and from great heights dropping bombs upon the enemy, and workmen are preparing for the inauguration next week of the regular carriage of mails in the air between Washington, Philadelphia and New York. Truly these are speedy times!

SAW BRITISH SOLDIERS STARVED TO DEATH

Corporal Trumpp Tells of His Experiences as Captive in Germany

Chatham, Ont., May 9.—Corp. Trumpp, who was for sixteen months a prisoner of war in Germany, relates that he was taken prisoner on April 24, 1918, during the second battle of Ypres, when his battalion, which had been in reserve, was ordered up to fill the gap made by the French Trenches falling back before German gas. He said he was wounded in the elbow, and as he lay on the ground a Hun soldier was going to bayonet him, but was stopped by an officer. He was taken back and for four days did not have anything to eat or drink except what was given by Red Cross workers. When he reached a hospital, where he remained for five months, he said the treatment was excellent. In the morning there was coffee and German was bread and manufactured honey; about noon, beef tea and meats and sandwiches; at dinner, potatoes, meat, vegetables and fruit; at 5 in the afternoon coffee and bread, and at 6 o'clock another meal as good as dinner. At the time he had little of food to eat, and that some of it was not fit to eat, and that some of it was not fit to feed to pigs. He also declared that there was a great shortage in the quantity supplied. He declared that he saw British soldiers who were starved to death, and that the bodies of 200 are in one cemetery. They, along with some French and Belgians, had refused to work for the Germans. He was removed to Switzerland, and was there for twelve months before being exchanged. He has a stiff arm from the wound in the elbow.

TELEGRAPH AND TIMES MEN FOR AIR SERVICE

The following young men will leave on Monday for Halifax to join the royal flying corps: Laurence Manning, Douglas Potts and William Drake of the staff of The Telegraph and Times, and Arthur Clark, also of this city. Mrs. Clara Wheaton of Moncton has been advised that her husband, Private Harry Wheaton, has died of gunshot wounds in the head and lungs. J. W. Dixon of Sackville has received word that his son, Corporal Henry Dixon, was killed in action on April 28. He had won the Military Medal. About fifty friends of Gunners Edward Thurston and Roy Devine assembled at the home of Gunner Thurston, 40 Horsfield street, last evening and tendered them a surprise party in honor of their joining the force. Both young men recently signed up with the 9th Siege Battery. During the evening both young men were made the recipients of wrist watches.

"One Hundred Per Cent Decent"

(New York Herald) Nicaragua cannot cut much of a figure in the fighting, but its action in declaring war on Germany shows that Nicaraguans are 100 per cent. decent.

ENGLISH LADY IN MONTREAL ON WAY HOME FROM RUSSIA

After an experience of Russian conditions in war-time and during the revolutionary upheaval, Lady Muriel Paget arrived in Montreal yesterday, on her way home to England. She was accompanied by a number of nursing sisters, and others of British birth, who had become stranded in Russia by the fortunes of war. Picton Bagge, who had held a consular post in Odessa, was also with the party.

46 Years in Court Over 39 Months of Married Life

New York, May 9.—That the mills of the gods grind slowly was verified yesterday in the Flushing police court when Bridget Mary Henry, of No. 83 Dean street, Brooklyn, continued without any astounding success her forty-six-year-old effort to win support from James Henry, of No. 175 Sands street, Brooklyn. After testimony had been given for nearly three hours Magistrate Conway adjourned the hearing until Friday.

FALL OF BOLSHIEVKI A VITAL NECESSITY

Paris, May 10.—Vladimir Bourzoff, the famous Russian revolutionary, on arriving at Stockholm after a perilous journey through Finland, said, according to dispatches from a correspondent at Stockholm, that the fall of the Maximalists was a most vital necessity for Russia as at present only a newly organized government was capable of saving Russia.

New York, May 7.—In a letter to a friend here, Manager Christie Mathewson of the Cincinnati Reds, speaks enthusiastically of the work of Shortstop "Lena" Blackburne, whom he credits with solving the shortstop problem for the Reds. The former Toronto captain has been covering a lot of territory in the Cincinnati infield this season, and Matty is pleased with the manner in which he is working with Second baseman Les Magee.
The Red fans, who are usually hard to please, are unanimous in the opinion that Blackburne is playing the position better than Charley Herrig. Blackburne

SATISFIED WITH WOMEN WORKERS.
Spokane, Wash., April 20.—(Correspondence)—The number of concerns that are employing women in the place of men is growing steadily. The White Pine Sash Company, of this city, is one of the concerns that early began the employment of women. As this company is a wholesale manufacturer of pine knock-down windows, frames, turned work, etc., there are a number of positions in its plant that women can fill and have been filling with success for the last seven or eight months. H. G. Klapp, president of the White Pine Sash Company, expresses himself as being satisfied with the work the women are doing, stating that he finds they pay better attention to their work and are steadier than the boys whose places they fill.
Washington, April 22.—(Correspondence)—Approximately 20,000 women have been placed in positions through the federal employment service since Feb. 1, according to Mrs. Hilda Muhlhauser Richards, chief of the woman's division. This figure is based on reports turned in by federal employment offices and their co-operative agencies for February and March.

Munition factories received the greatest number of the woman workers reported by the federal service, the reports show. The majority of women applying for employment ask for work in the war industries. Nearly every city in the country, it is stated, reported difficulty in obtaining women for housework and other branches of domestic service.

Every Man His Own Taxer; How To Reckon Income Tax

With The Aid of These Tables Any Citizen Can Figure Out What He Will Pay in 1919 or 1918 Income

Ottawa, May 8.—There is no reason why every citizen should not calculate his own new income tax if he knows how much money he is going to make in 1918. The new tax will of course not be payable until 1919, and will be reckoned on 1918 incomes. In calculating income tax the following rules must be borne in mind:

- 1.—Remember that under $6,000 there is only the normal tax to pay, this being on a 2 and 4 per cent basis. 2.—Over $6,000 there are three additional taxes: Normal, which is always 4 per cent, and super-tax and war surtax, which are on a rising scale. 3.—The war surtax is a "tax on taxes." It is reckoned on the sum of normal and super-taxes on that portion of an income which exceeds $6,000. 4.—In calculating a married man's taxes, the simple way is to calculate as though there were no children, and deduct $4 tax for each child under sixteen up to five children, and then 88 for each additional child under sixteen. 5.—In calculating a single man's taxes, the method to be followed for small incomes is given below. Over $8,000 the simple way is to add $50 to what the man would have to pay if married.

Single Men's Taxes. Bearing these rules in mind, the following simple calculations may be made. The first compilation here given being that for married men. Income (Single) $1,750 to $1,900. Exempt $1,000, and tax remainder 2 per cent. Income (Single) $1,900 to $3,000. Exempt $1,000, tax $900 at 2 per cent, ($10) and the rest at 4 per cent. Income (Single) Over $3,000. A single man with in every case pay exactly $50 more than a married man. Reckon as instructed for married men and deduct $50. Taxes on Married Men. The taxes on married men may be calculated as follows, with a further deduction of $4 taxes per child over sixteen, and 88 for each child over the number of five. Increase up to $2,000. All exempt. Income up to $3,000. Exempt $2,000. On the remainder tax of 2 per cent. Income $3,000 to $6,000. Exempt $2,000. On the first thousand dollars of the remainder a tax of 2 per cent, ($20), and on the rest a tax of four per cent. Example—A married man with no children has an income of $6,000. He pays as follows: On $2,000 at 2 per cent $40 On $4,000 at 4 per cent 160 Total tax $200 The above incomes are subject to only one tax, called the normal tax. Incomes over $6,000 are subject to two other taxes, known as the super-tax and war surtax, the last named to end at the conclusion of the year in which the war ends. They are calculated as follows: Income $6,000 to $10,000. The normal tax is paid on the first $6,000 as reckoned above. It is $140 for a married man with no children. To this $140 there are the following additions: 4 per cent normal tax on income over $6,000; 5 per cent war surtax on the above two taxes (not on the income). Example: A married man with no children, and an income of $10,000 pays $140 on the first $6,000, and then the following additional taxes: Normal tax, 4 per cent, on $4,000, $160 Super tax, 2 per cent, on $4,000, 80 War surtax, 5 per cent on $240 58 Total tax $338 Thus his total payment is $140 under $6,000, and $222 over that, or in all $382. Income $10,000 to $20,000. The first $10,000 is taxed $382 (if no children) as above, plus the following additional taxes: 4 per cent normal tax on all over $10,000; 5 per cent super-tax on all over $10,000; 10 per cent

You May Dream Dreams and see Visions but to make your Dreams come true—and your Visions materialize—generally means having a little capital to start with. The way to get capital is to save a part of what you now earn. Decide now to let us help you to save. Interest paid every six months. Income $30,000 to $50,000. Tax of $2,700 on first $30,000 (if no children), and the following additional taxes: 4 per cent normal tax on all over $30,000; 10 per cent super-tax on all over $30,000; 10 per cent war surtax on the above two taxes. Incomes $50,000 to $75,000. Tax of $3,107 on first $50,000 (if no children) and the following additional taxes: Normal tax of 4 per cent on all over $50,000; super-tax of 15 per cent on all over $75,000; war surtax of 10 per cent on the above two taxes. Income $75,000 to $100,000. Tax of $3,782 (if no children) on first $75,000 and the following additional taxes: Normal tax of 4 per cent on all over $75,000; super-tax of 20 per cent on all over $100,000; war surtax of 10 per cent on the above two taxes. Tax of $11,007 on first $100,000 (if no children) and the following additional taxes: Normal tax of 4 per cent on all over $100,000; super-tax of 20 per cent on all over $100,000; war surtax of 10 per cent on the above two taxes. In ascertaining a man's income the amount of his payments to Patriotic and Red Cross Funds is of course still to be deducted from his receipts.

KIPLING LIKENS GERMANS TO THUGS OF INDIA

Rudyard Kipling says that the atrocities committed under the German policy of frightfulness were paralleled to some extent a century ago among the people of India, only on a smaller scale. In an address recently in the English town of Folkestone, which has been bombed from the air several times, the author told his audience that the nations of the earth have handed together to down the Kaiser and his minions just as the Indian government had to take measures to wipe out thugs. Suggestions of peace, Kipling asserted, originate among Boche agents and confederates who are active not only in England but in every other country with which Germany is at war. Compromise, he said, would mean nothing less than defeat and "nothing we may have to endure now will weigh one featherweight compared with what we shall suffer if we fail." "One hundred years ago there was a large and highly organized community in India, which lived by assassination and robbery," continued Kipling. "They were educated to it from their infancy; they followed it as a profession and it also was their religion. They were called Thugs. Their method was to disguise themselves as pilgrims or travelers or merchants and to join with parties moving about India. They got into the confidence of their victims, found out what they had on them and in the time—after weeks or months of acquaintance—they killed them by giving them poisoned food—sweetmeats for choice—or by strangling them from behind as they sat over the fire of an evening. Then they stripped the corpse of all valuables, threw it down a well or buried it and went on to the next job. "At last things got so bad that the government of India had to interfere and after many years in tracking down and hanging up the actual murderers and confederates, who included persons in all ranks of society, it put an end to the whole business of Thuggery. "The world has progressed since that day. By present standards of crime those Thugs were ineffective amateurs. They did not mutilate or defile the bodies of the dead; they did not torture or rape or enslave people; they did not kill children for fun and they did not burn villages. They merely killed and robbed in an unobtrusive way as a matter of education, duty and religion, under the patronage of their goddess, Kali the Destroyer. "At the present moment all the powers of the world that have not been bullied or bribed to keep out of it have been forced to join in one international department to make an end of German international Thuggery. For the reason that if it is not ended life on this planet becomes insupportable for human beings. Even now there are people in England who find it hard to realize that the Hun has been educated by the state from his birth to look upon assassination and robbery, embellished with every treachery and abomination that the mind of man can laboriously think out, as a perfectly legitimate means to the national ends of his country. "He is not shocked by these things. He has been taught that it is his business to perform them, his duty to support them and his religion to justify them. They are, and for a long time past have been a legitimate in his eyes as the ballot in the eyes of an Englishman. "This, remember, was as true of the German in 1914 as it is now. People who have been bred to make one god because they believe evil will pay them are not going to change their belief till it is proved that evil does not pay. So far the Hun believes that evil has paid him in the past and will pay him better in the future. He has had a good start. "Like the Thug the Hun knew exactly what he meant to do before he opened his campaign against mankind. Sweetmeats and knotted towels were prepared years beforehand and hisspies had given him the fullest information about all the people he intended to attack. "So he is doing what is right in his own eyes. He thought out the bell he wished to create; he built it up serially and scientifically with his best hands and brains; he breathed into it with his needs; and at the hour he judged best he let it loose on a world that till then had believed there were limits beyond which men born of women dared not sin. "Nine-tenths of the atrocities Germany has committed have not been made openly and scientifically with a hint. One gets a hint of them here and there—Folkestone has had more than a hint. For instance, we were told the other day that 14,000 non-combatants, men and women and children, had been drowned, burned or blown to pieces since the war began. "But we have no conception—and till the evil is lifted after the war we shall have no conception—of the range and system of these atrocities. Least of all shall we realize as they realize in Belgium and occupied France just across the river, the cold, organized misery which Germany has laid upon the populations that have fallen into her hands, that she might break their bodies and

CONSCRIPTION MAKES FOXES TURN CANNIBAL

Argument, Advanced by P. E. I. Farmers to Keep 'ons at Home; Government Won't Change

Ottawa, May 9.—Speaking to the eastern Ontario farmers' delegation which gathered at Ottawa, General Mewburn stated that judging by the protests which he had received regarding the new man-power regulations, the farms would be idle, the mines would close down, the railways would become streaks of rust, the fishing boats would rot on the beach, and industry would be entirely paralyzed—or worse to that effect, should the government persist in its intentions to carry the regulations out. The government has received a wide variety of complaints which apparently bear out the statement of the minister of militia. From the coal miners of the maritime provinces come protests to the effect that, while an increased output of coal is expected during the coming season, it will be difficult even to keep up the present output, if the young men are to be taken. The fishermen down by the sea claim that if the young men are taken, they might just as well haul up their boats on the beach, and let them lie there for the rest of the season. They claim that it takes three men to handle a boat. Making Foxes Cannibals. But probably the most unique complaint comes from the fox farmers of Prince Edward Island. These men represent that the black fox is a temperamental animal, especially in the season when the young are coming. They state that during the spring strangers are not allowed to go near the farms, since the presence of a stranger causes the mother fox to eat her offspring. They claim that to take away the men who have habitually looked after the farms, and to substitute strangers is tantamount to the encouragement of wholesale cannibalism among the foxes. Meanwhile the government is going ahead without deviating from the provisions of the orders passed by the parliament.
