MONEY WASTED

How the Provincial Government Helps Its Friends at Public Expense.

(Special to the Star.) FREDERICTON, N. B., April 4.-There was quite a little tilt in the pubng. The secretary in the minutes tion of the day before in connection House road at Moncton was satisfac tory to the committee. Mr. Humphrey objected to this being recorded as the pinion of the committee, and pointed ognition of the committee, and pointed out that after Mr. Robinson had made his explanation he (Humphrey) characterized the expenditure as most extravagant and altogether unwarranted, and it was certainly not satisfactorily explained be expunged from the minutes. This was seconded by Mr. Melanson, and when put to vote the committee divided evenly, Osman's casting vote being against the motion Thus Sacretary Dibble's opinion that the explanation was satisfactory will be re-reported to the house as the opinion of the committee what right anyway has the secretary to incorporate his opinions in the minutes of committee meetings?

The bottom of that expenditure on the Poor House road is not reached yet. Humphrey and Melanson made further inquiries in committee yesterday and unearthed more expenditures. The length of road built is given by the government as one hundred and twenty-two rods, and Mr. Humphrey does not believe it is as long as that. The expenditure in this precious bit of road so far fount out totals $16,810.73. Assuming the government's figures as to the length of road built (122).

does not believe it is as long as that. The expenditure in this precious bit of road so far fount out totals $16,810.73. Assuming the government's figures as to the length of the road built (122 rods) as correct, this would make the cest of building one mile of highway $28,356.01, a pretty figure for the province to pay even to help a government candidate in his election.

Another characteristic feature of the way this road was built is shown up the fact that Lawyer L. W. McCann of Moncton was paid some $2,800 for stone to go on road. He sat in his office and bought stone from liberal farmers of vicinity and sold it to the government—of course for his health. If all the things hidden in the auditor general's report could be revealed many interesting transactions could be brought to light. One was made to stand out today like a cut finger. In the payments to by-road commissioners are a great many for which no accounts have been rendered. Among these is one to Guy G. Porter, $350. Mr. Humphrey asked for information in connection with this expenditure. Papers produced by auditor general showed that it had been paid to Porter on account of special services with road machine. Mr. Lawson, M. P. P., was to further explain the item, and produced Porter's receipt for the money paid him, $337.50. The auditor general's report showed $350 paid to Porter. Where did the $12,50 go? It may be stated that Guy G. Porter is son of Porter, M. P. P.

to be a forceful influence in this connection.

The prince's visit will be in acceptance of an invitation to the dedication of the magnificent new home of the New York Chamber of Commerce. A committee of that body has been in communication with the royal household, and cabinet ministers, directly, and also through Ambassador Choate. While actual decisive acceptance has not yet been promised, it is understood in the diplomatic world that such an acceptance soon will be announced officially. The arrival here of J. Pierpont Morgan may facilitate the negotiations. Mr. Morgan, it is estimated, brings an added invitation from New York Stock Exchange for the dedication of its new building.

All women who have married eminent Englishmen are notable champions of the proposed visit.

When members of the New York Chamber of Commerce were informed of the cablegram telling of the proposed visit of the Prince of Wales, their only astonishment was that the story could have leaked out, says the Times. No one would be directly quoted as saying that it was true. He will come as the guest of the New York Chamber of Commerce and in all probability will make a tour of the United States under the auspices of their chamber. One of the members stated that the matter had been arranged with the greatest secrecy, and that the details having all been worked out, it had been the intention of the execuive committee to make a formal announcement in a few days. He added that it was the purpose of those having the matter is hand to make the opening of the chamber's new home co-incident if possible with a commercial congress of representatives of the great commercial countries. He intimated that word had been received that Emperor William had in consideration the idea of sending the German crown prince to this country to represent him at the ceremonies. THE HARTS RIVER FIGHT.

While all must grieve that the Cane dians in the battle at Harts River sufred so severely, it is a source of satsfaction and pride to their fellow of our young men has been established long since learned something of the mettle of Canadians, and if the recen capture of Gen. Methuen, and the panic that scattered one portion of his force pede was possible the Canadians hav this defeat of the Boers, even at s great cost, will dampen the ardor of De Wet and Delarey, and lead them to give a more attentive ear to th time they meet a British force their ranks are thinned, and they must se that there can be but one end to the struggle. There is at least some sat with an enemy whose chief character few sharp conflicts like that of March 31st would do much to convince th Boers of the utter hopelessness of their cause.

The United States secretary of ag iculture says the advance in the price consequent higher price of feed, which northwest than it was last year. Some what similar conditions prevail in the Canadian market, and the price of beef has been advancing in Ontario this week a gentleman who has a close practical knowledge of the condition expressed the opinion that maritim province stock raisers would have to for in his opinion the price of feeds imported from Ontario would hereafter be higher than in past years. His view is that our people will have to which they can raise themselves at portation of western feed.

POINTER FOR SULZER.

Congressman Sulzer's resolution in expressing sympathy with the Boer and suggesting that the congress take of American journals to speak in terms of derision of that ambitious states man. For instance the Brooklyn Eagle says:—

Now that the price of beef has gone up and promises to keep on going, our attention is called to the criminal waste of good cattle in South Africa. Beef, "on the hoof," is so plentiful there that the Boers use it for the purpose of smashing holes in the British lines. Of course, every time a commando undertakes to rush the blockhouses, and, in so doing, stampedes a herd of steers against the barbed wire fences, thousands of prime roasts, not to mention juley porterhouse steaks and sirioins, are scattered with scandalous profigacy all over the veldt. If some of our inventive genluses were to dalous profligacy all over the veldt. If some of our inventive geniuses were to construct motor wire cutters for the Boers wouldn't the latter let us have some of the beef they daily fritter away in their great fence broaking act? If Mr. Sulzer will kindly bring his massive intellect to the consideration of this phase of the South African question, instead of introducing foolish resolutions which have no earthly chance of getting through congress, he will serve not only the Boers but his own people as well.

s not likely to run smooth. Many who vould favor prohibition for the whol country are doubtful of the efficacy of a provincial law. The story of Manitoba seems likely to be repeated in Ontario. It is easy to bring out a majority in favor of prohibition when there is the force of law behind the vote-that is another story. The adocates of prohibition have a heavy task set for them, and the most urgen part of it is to close up their anks and decide upon a policy.

The late Cecil Rhodes has left a sun oughly capitalized at $10,000,000 for the foundation of Anglo-American scholar ships at Oxford, for three years. Th central principle of the scheme is that to every English speaking colony and every state and territory in the American union should be offered a schol arship of the value of $1,500 a year, fo three years at Oxford.

The Fredericton Herald and Gleaner re entirely satisfied with the action of the government 'n shutting out Mr. resolutions. They will be equally charmed with anything Mr. Hazen's government may do after the general elections, if the proper inducements are held out to them.

There appears to be a dark and brooding mystery connected with the alleged company which is to take over the Canada Basiern if the bonds are guaranteed. Nobody will be surprised if presently there should emerge from the clouds the familiar faces of certain frields of Mr. Blair and the provincial ered and honored when the man wh regarded him with savage hatred is forgotten, or only known as the false rophet of a lost cause, who lured his people into a hopeless war.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

"Care, to each coffin, adds a nall no But every grin so merry draws one out."

The text implies that each inhabitant of this mundane sphere, builds his own coffin. It is a grave insinuation, but doubtless true. To a certain extent man controls his own life. While he cannot by taking thought add three cubits to his stature he may by exercising wise precautions lengthen out his life. In the end he will be forced to recognize that all flesh is grass and will be garnered in. But, nevertheless, he may put off the harvesting time and flourish in secluded and shady portions of the field. Yet each day the receptacle which will finally enclose his mortal remains draws nearer completion. It may be that with thoughtless or unwilling hand he hurries it on to an end, still the work goes on. There are many nalls that serve to hold together this structure, but care is the king pin of them all. Cigarettes may act as the brass headed tacks, which at the same time adorn the casket and fasten its trimmings; whiskey may be the small nalls that assist is ket and fasten its trimmings; whiskey may be the small nails that assist in strengthening the corners, but care is the long nail gripped and fastened in the inside, that holds the coffin together. And these nails are cheap and common. No one needs do without a suitable casket through inability to obtain them. Like the poor, they are always with us. Coppers on the collection plate are not more numerous than they. But, as there are few who earnestly seek for the termination of this life, filled though it may be with tax collectors and unpaid bills, the abundant presence of care is not a matter of uncontrolled joy. In it, as in everything else, to be found on this footstool is the taste of the wormwood and the dregs. The text, though, furnishes an antidote, in an unrivalled unpatentied, uncopyrighted nail puller. If there is amything what is cheaper than care, it is a grin, and every grin straightens the clinched nail of care and pulls it out. Let there be more fun, and there will be fewer funerals. Every laugh lengthens life, although some jokers are Hable to meet sudden death. But let them move on in their good work of saving life and making it happier. Let them preach the gospel, of laughter and mirth by which the nails shall be removed.

Mrs. Robertson will spend another month or two in Los Angeles before returning home.

Mr. Robertson said to the Star this morning that he saw many provincialists in Los Angeles. Robert Magee, formerly of St. John, is a prosperous hatter. Geo. P. Taylor, formerly of Carleton, is the leading tailor in the town. T. C. Wallace, formerly of Wallace & Fraser, is manager of a chemical fertilizer plant. Mr. Robertson also met Chas. H. Clerke, of St. Stephen, who arrived there on a visit just as he was coming away. The town was full of tourists, and presented just such a crowded appearance as St. John has at exhibition times.

When Mr. and Mrs. Robertson arrived there in January the orange trees were in bloom. The average temperature while he was there was about 75 degrees. The outlook for fruit this year is very favorable, as the rains come when needed. People here have no idea of the enormous fruit crops of California, From Nov. 1st, 1900, till Feb. 1st, 1901, the state shipped 10,437 cars of oranges, and for the last season the quantity was about 2,000 cars less.

As to other crops, the bean crop of Ventura county last year was 1,800 cars, valued at a million dollars, and of wheat, barley, and corn the value was two millions.

Los Angeles is a beautiful as well as healthy city, and has a population of 105,000. Its port is Port Los Angeles, on the coast, 20 miles away, where there is a pier nearly a mile long. Both steam and electric cars run between the port and the town. The eastern man misses the rivers, for there are no streams worthy of the name in that region.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson went out by way of Washington and the south and a population of 105,000. Its port is Port Los Angeles, on the coast, 20 miles away, where there is a pier nearly a mile long. RHODES' MILLIONS.

His Will the All-Absorbing Topic in London.

LONDON, April 5.—The war in South Africa, politics and every topic usually of interest, was forgotten to day in the absorbing discussion of Cecil Rhodes' will. Regarding that extraordinary document, the Associated Press has ascertained some new fact. The total of Mr. Rhodes' fortune is likely to prove to be £5,000,000 or slightly under that amount. The executors, to whom he bequeathed the residue of his estate, will divide about £1,000,000 or £1,560,000 between them. According to the terms of this legacy, the amount is to be divided during their lifetime; but as each legatee dies his share goes to a common fund until the surviving legatee becomes its sole owner. Hence, one of the executors, the majority of whom are enormously wealthy, will one day inherit what will then have probably accumulated into nearly £2,000,000.

The executors, the Asociated Press; learns, have unusually full powers and can construe and add to the will as seems fit. Hence the omission of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and other will as seems fit. Hence the omission of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and other will as seems fit. "He drew up his will in the same spirit in which he approached all grave and left us to fill in the details. His trustees are given plenary powers. In the matter of the scholarships, Mr.

Five dranks and one disorderly boy formed the bill of fare this morning. None of the prisoners had anything in particular to say. They did not even adopt the penitence platform as was done yesterday, but all pleaded guilty to the charges against them—that is all except the disorderly boy. Such charges have all along been denied, and the police haye only wasted their time and acted in a most undust manner by arrestinfg innocent young lads who have invariably been released. Joseph Toolan and John May signagged along Water street yesterday afternoon. United they were able to stand, divided they had to fall. And they were divided. Sergt, Capies took both of them. In Jail they were not divided, nor was any difference made in the amounts of the fines imposed this morning. Four dollars or ten lays each.

Michael Sliney, another sallor, was also drunk, and in his irresponsible condition playfully administered a severe kick to a boy who was with him. The boy had to be carried to the Seamen's Mission, as the injuries inflicted by Sliney were quite severe. The prisoner this morning knew that he had been drunk, but could not remember the assault. He got eight, or twenty days.

Richard Johnson had an extremely nasty cut on his cheek, which he explained was the result of a fall on the pavement. He had been drunk on Pond street. Along with Frank Lane, who was drunk on Union street, Johnson was fined four dollars or ten days. William Barry, a boy fourteen years old, was arrested for being one of a disorderly crowd on Mill street last evening. His friends left a deposit of eight dollars for his appearance, and this morning the boy stated that he had not been disorderly. He had only got to the corner a few minutes before being arrested. He was told to go back and sit down. The officer who made the arrest was not called upon to give evidence, and at last accounts the boy was still sitting in the courtroom.

Yesterday afternoon William J. Campbell, first officer of the steamer Bengore Head, was fined ten dollars for assaulting Alexander Gill.one of the

STILL VACCINATING EVERYBODY

A great deal of complaint is expressed by passengers who come through this city on the eastbound trains in regard to the strict and continued enforcement of the health regulations by the Fredericton Board of Health. They state that every train which passes through Fredericton Junction is boarded by an official from Fredericton and all who are not vaccinated are compelled to undergo the operation. Many of them leave the trains rather than submit to this, and the continued enforcement is a matter of much annoyance to the travelling public. Even when smallpox is prevalent, vaccination is not a thing which is greatly sought after, and most persons submit to it as a disagreeable but wise precaution. But when there is no smallpox in the province, passengers on the trains fail to see the necessity of being compelled to undergo the operation at Fredericton Junction, the more so as the enforcement of the regulations which was formerly in existence at other points has been discontinued. The train hands state that this work has become a matter of deliy occurrence and that passengers on every train object strongly to it. They also state that it is injurious to traffic, as people prefer remaining away altogether rather than submit to what they consider an altogether unnecessary operation.

THE ALERTS' BATTERY.

THE ALERTS' BATTERY.

The management of the Alerts' base ball team today signed Stackpole to pitch this season. With Dolan at the receiving end this ought to make a good battery. Early last season there was some talk of securing Stackpole's services, but he signed with the Resolutes of Halifax. The two games he pitched for the Alerts on Labor Day showed that he was a twirler, with plenty of speed and curves, and best of all that he had displayed good judgment. So far no other outside mes have been signed by the Alerts.

John McCann of Brussels street was walking up King street with his wife this afternoon, and when oposite the Royal Hotel he knocked her down. ### DESERVED DEATH

Because They Shot Boer Prisoners in Cold Blood.

What Fred Rush, Now in St. John, Says About the Australians, Hancock and Moran.

Fred Rush, an Englishman, who is sent living at the Seamen's Mission, was a witness to the murders for He tells the story of their conduct and sible in one who was actually on the Light Horse, but left that corps for the This corps was originally ormed by a number of residents of outh Africa for the purpose of protecting their property, but as time to creep into it, the soum of the army, during the earlier part of the war and during the earlier part of the war and who remained in the country on the chance of gain. The Bushfeldt Carbineers were afterwards disbanded.

Among the disreputable characters were Hancock and Moran and several other Australians whose names are given by Rush. Their conduct was not only in direct disobedience of orders but often of a most cruel and cold blooded character. Coming down to details Rush tells how on one occasion during a patrol a little Boer boy, thirteen years of age, was found hiding severely wounded, under an overturned cart. Moran hauled him out and told him he was going to be shot. The boy was a plucky little fellow and bore up manfully in the face of such unheard of cruelty. Moran then asked him if any of his relatives were living, and the lad said that his mother was still alive, but his father and brother had been killed in the war. Then he was given permission to write a note to his mother, and such was the weak was given permission to write a note to his mother, and such was the weak condition of the boy, as the result of his wound, that one of the men had to support him while he was writing. And the letter he wrote, which of course was never delivered, was of a nature such as would soften almost any heart. But Moran, out of sheer cruelty, was determined to finish the job and ordered some of the men to shoot the boy. This they absolutely refused to do, and Hancock, drawing his revolver, started over with the intention of doing it himself. In this he was, however, prevented by Moran, tention of doing it himself. In this he was, however, prevented by Moran, and it was decided to call for volunteers. Out of the detachment six Australian Bushmen and one Boer who had joined the British offered to do the shooting, and while the child declared that he would die like a man, as his father and brother had done, they held their rifles just a few yards away and put seven shots into his body.

In consequence of having protested In consequence of having protested against this act, Rush and several others became objects of dislike to Moran and Hancock, and from that time on were kept on their guard, as they knew nothing could be too cruel or treacherous from men who had caused a little wounded boy to be shot in cold blood. But in spite of their care, one of the men fell a victim. It occurred during a patrol. The man had been ordered to take his position had been ordered to take his position on the extreme left flank, next to Han The pilotage commissioners met yestorday afternoon, with H. D. Troop in the chair, and took the evidence of Capt. Chas. R. Thompson, Pilot Rogers, Chief Officer Turnbull and Quartermaster Lebarres, relative to the stranding of the steamer Lake Superior. It was shown that Pilot Rogers advised the captain against docking the vessel until slack tide. The pilot testified that he intended to anchor the vessel and the anchor failed to hold. He believed the strong current was the cause of the vessel being stranded. Evidence was taken as to the orders given and the working of the ship just before she took the ground, and the commission adjourned till Tuesday. The minister of marine and fisheries has appointed Capt. John Murphy of Farmouth as the third member of the board of enquiry into the cause of the mishap to the Lake Superior. The man became so angry at this treatment and let Hancock know that they firmly believed he had killed the scout, that for a time no other indignities were perpetrated.

Rush also tells that upon one occa-

Rush alse tells that upon one occasion a Boer who had given himself up, offered to show the officers where a large amount of gold was buried. An expedition was formed, each man taking two horses, the led one to be used for carrying the gold, and upon reaching the place indicated by the Boer they found the ground all dug up and no sign whatever of the money. Moran was so indignant over this that riding up behind the Boer, he emptied his revolver into the latter's back.

In regard to the reported murder of twelve Boer prisoners, Rush says the details as furnished by the papers are slightly incorrect. There were ten prisoners instead of twelve as stated, and the story of the money said to have been hidden in a cart was unknown to any of the men at the time. Bush states that a patrol of which he was a member acted as escort for the ten Boers who had given themselves up, and were taking them to the nearest town when they fell in with Hancock and Moran, who were out on another expedition. Moran pretended to recognize the prisoners, who he said were notorious train wreckers and who would be shot. As the Boers were believed to be no more than ordinary burghers, and as they were a long distance from the railway, the patrol of which Rush was a member refused to have anything to do with the plan proposed by Moran and were ordered to return to their camp. They rode off, but instead of returning whence they had come, the men dismounted and remained hidden near a missionary's

Some time afterwards firing was heard, and the missionary guessing what had taken place from the information given him by the men, announced his intention of riding to Pletersburg and reporting the matter to the efficers in command there. From this the men attempted to dissuade him, telling him that Moran and Hancock would never permit him to reach his destination. He, however, persisted in his determination, and harnessing two mules to a cape cart, drove off.

Shortly after this Rush and other members of the troop finding things becoming a little too warm for them left the corps. Rush came on to Canada with a friend for the purpose of visiting friends in Nova Scotia, and several of the other men remained in Africa, where they have since given evidence at the trial of Hancock and Moran.
