Want of Confidence Vote in Chamber of Deputies Followed by Resignation of the Monis Ministry.

Paris, June 23.—The French cabinet has decided to resign. The deputies voted against the government 238 to 234 and this evening ministers decided to present their resignations to President Fallieres.

WOULD RUIN SUGAR TRADE

The Vice President of Utah-Sugar Refinery Company Has This Opinion Regarding Free Trade.

Washington, June 23.—That the Mormon church, in enlisting the aid of Henry O. Havemyer to extend its sugar business, was seeking solely the welfare of its people, was declared to be a fact today by Thomas R. Cutler, vice president of the Utah-Sugar Refining Company.

Mr. Cutler was examined at length as to the business purposes of the Mormon church.

“Anything that effects the material as well as the spiritual interests of its people, the Mormon church encourages,” said Mr. Cutler.

“It provides occupation for the people in many other lines of business as well as in the beet sugar industry.”

“Not the Mormon church,” queried Representative Madison of Kansas, “is not only a spiritual organization, but also a business organization.”

“To a great extent it is true,” Mr. Cutler replied.

Mr. Cutler explained that the business enterprises of the church are managed by the presiding bishop who acted as business manager.

Questioned regarding the tariff, Mr. Cutler said that “the howl for free trade,” in sugar was being made by the cane refiners and that it would ruin the beet sugar business.

MAINE HAS A MURDER CASE 3 YEARS OLD

Arrests Made Yesterday as the Result of a Murder Committed in Dayton, Me., in the Fall of 1908.

Biddeford, Maine, June 23.—On the strength of information given to the York county authorities in support of an allegation that Charles Weymouth, a Saco butcher, who disappeared in September, 1908, was murdered, the sheriff today arrested Joseph Gardner, Me., and Mrs. Maude Snow of Dayton.

The authorities state that their information had been obtained from two persons whose names they withheld, and who claimed to have seen Weymouth beaten to death at Mrs. Snow's home.

The two persons who told the story which caused the arrests informed the county authorities that Weymouth was infatuated with Mrs. Snow, who is the wife of Dr. Fred B. Snow.

YESTERDAY IS ANOTHER GREAT DAY IN LONDON

Rain Last Night, However, Spoiled the Pleasure of Hundreds of Thousands of Londoners Who Turned Out to See the Coronation Illuminations.

Sir Edward Grey Entertains King, Queen Mary and Visiting Royalty and Nobility, at Grand State Banquet at the Foreign Office--Prince of Wales has Birthday Celebration--Queen Mary's Wonderful Coronation Gown.

London, June 23.—A heavy rain which began at sunset and poured down constantly throughout the night brought bitter disappointment to the hundreds of thousands of people who were bent upon fittingly celebrating after dark as a climax to the royal progress of King George and Queen Mary throughout the streets of London today.

The illuminations everywhere were turned on at dusk and sparkled their brightest in the rain. The people who turned out to witness the effective display were only a fraction of those who would have come had the weather been finer.

The Royal Progress. The feature of the day was the royal progress through seven miles of London streets. It was a grand and stirring sight.

The Duke of Argyll, Princess Henry of Battenberg, Princess Louise of Battenberg, and Miss Campbell, wife of the Duke of Argyll, were conspicuous today in a division of the company of 125 persons who witnessed the royal progress from Stratton House, the residence of John Hays Hammond.

His Majesty King George and the Queen were met at the entrance of the building where the royal party was held. The king and queen were met by the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire and the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall.

London, June 23.—The state banquet at the foreign office tonight was the most important social event of the coronation week.

The Queen's Gown. A striking and handsome design typifying the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland rose at each side of the skirt, showing Tudor in bright gold, thistles partly in dull and partly in burnished gold, and chameleons.

A striking and handsome design typifying the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland rose at each side of the skirt, showing Tudor in bright gold, thistles partly in dull and partly in burnished gold, and chameleons.

The Queen and Sir Edward Grey, and a score of guests sat at the principal table, while King George and the Crown Princess of Germany with an equal number of persons, were opposite them at the head of the other long table.

The Grenadier Guards band furnished the music for the occasion. All the men were in black court dress, the knickerbockers and wore swords. The toilettes of the ladies were magnificent and the display of jewels a gorgeous one.

ACADIA HEAD AT WORLD'S CONVENTION

President Cutten One of the Speakers at World's Baptist Alliance in Philadelphia—St. John Man in Office.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 23.—The Baptist world alliance today continued the discussion of methods of Christianizing the world, speakers from Canada, England and the United States taking part.

Papers prepared by President A. P. McDiarmid, of Brandon College, Manitoba, on the opportunities for laymen in mission work, and President Geo. B. Cutten, of Acadia College, Nova Scotia, on the training of the young in missionary endeavor were read.

President Cutten said in his address on the training of young people in missionary work, that the laymen's missionary movement inaugurated some time ago, with all its splendid results is but a flash in the pan unless there are some steps taken toward permanency.

Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, of Calvary Baptist church, New York, a native of Canada, was elected president of the alliance. His name was the only one submitted by the nominating committee which was headed by the Rev. Dr. Stackhouse, of Toronto.

SAINT JOHN, SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 24, 1911.

RECIPROcity AND THE NEW BRUNSWICK FARMER.

After proving to its entire satisfaction a few days ago that acre for acre the improved farms across the border in the State of Maine were worth three, and even four, times the value of farms in New Brunswick, the Telegraph found itself confronted in these columns with an official document of the United States Senate which showed conclusively that the average value per acre of improved land in this Province since 1900 had advanced 120 per cent. against an advance in farm values in Maine of 67 per cent. during the same period. It was also shown that the value of farms in Quebec and Ontario had advanced in like proportion compared with New Hampshire, Vermont, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Like other Government organs in advocating reciprocity the Telegraph was not provided with any facts or figures to support its argument, and is now forced to resort to the foolish excuse that the document quoted was prepared by a committee of the United States Senate "whose information is intended for political effect in that country." This line of argument followed to its logical conclusion, means that the returns in official papers of the United States Senate have been falsified to aid the campaign to secure free access to Canadian markets, and is hardly the idea the Telegraph started out to convey. The benefit-to-the-farmer argument will not work both ways.

In the light of its first editorial which had not a good word to say for the farms of this Province, and conveyed the comforting assurance that nothing but reciprocity and a larger market could save New Brunswick farmers from blue ruin, it is satisfactory to note that the Telegraph now takes a more hopeful view. It is forced to admit that "the value of the home market to the farmer has undoubtedly increased during the last ten years and as a rule prices for his products have been rising and are now at a high level." So far so good.

In the anxiety, however, to support the Taft-Fielding pact, the Telegraph again wanders away from facts. "But," it adds, "Reciprocity will not injure the prices in the home market, for the agreement will give the farmer three markets where today he has but two; it will add the American market to the home market and the British market. It will create a much larger and steadier demand throughout the year for the articles which the Maritime Province farmer has to sell."

Among "the articles which the Maritime Province farmer has to sell" let us take live stock and see how the American market will benefit him in the matter of prices. In document No. 849, of the United States Senate, at page 110, we find the following statement of comparative values in live stock:

Average Value Per Head, for Year 1910.	Other
Horses, Dairy Cows, Cattle, Sheep, Swine.
Maine . . . $125.00	$22.00
N. Brunsw. . . 121.80	21.00
N. Hamp. . . 106.60	26.20
Vermont . . . 106.60	31.20
Quebec . . . 129.00	31.00
New York . . 125.00	29.50
Ontario . . . 133.90	49.00
N. Dakota . . 114.90	32.90
Manitoba . . 107.00	40.00

From the foregoing figures it is evident that without protection the value of the New Brunswick farmer's live stock must inevitably fall in order to meet the prices across the border. The addition of the American market will obviously have the opposite effect to that which the Telegraph seeks to convey when it states that "Reciprocity will not injure the prices in the home market." It must also be remembered that under this agreement we are opening our markets to others besides the United States and to countries which will give us nothing more after the agreement goes into force than they give at present. The Commonwealth of Australia, for instance, is a great mutton, lamb and beef producing country. In 1910 Australia exported of mutton 3,120,000 carcasses; of lamb 1,590,000 carcasses and of beef 640,000 quarters. New Zealand exported in 1909 $15,500,000 worth of frozen lamb. Twelve foreign nations will also be accorded the same privileges that will be given the United States, not one of which will give in return the slightest additional consideration.

Instead of claiming that Reciprocity will give the farmer three markets it would be more correct to say it will open his home markets to nearly twenty competitors. Reciprocity with the United States if given at all should be given in non-competitive articles, or between countries producing dissimilar products. Any such agreement between Canada and the United States dealing with articles which are alike produced by both countries cannot but be disadvantageous to the people of the Dominion. We should be bargaining with a competitor. Our endeavor would be to steal his home market and he would try to steal ours, and the weaker would suffer in the game.

ARBITRATION WITH CONDITIONS.

There is rather a large fly in the international ointment prepared by President Taft as the universal panacea for war and all its ills. The peasants that have been sung in its praise, and the sweeping deductions that have been made as to the results of the peace arbitration, all of which were based on what the treaty was expected to embrace, have been considerably toned down, now that it is more clearly seen how the results are to be worked out.

The scope of the treaty is conceded to be satisfactory. It is broad enough to cover all the points of disagreement that may arise between the nations who are parties to it, even these questions concerning honor and territory which are particularly important as affecting national susceptibilities. The dispute when it arises may be sent directly to the Hague tribunal, or it may be referred to a commission to determine whether it is desirable to arbitrate or whether some other method of settlement is preferable.

If it is decided that it is one in which arbitration is desirable then the terms of submission are to be arranged. In the case of Great Britain and France these terms are arranged by a government, which is responsible to Parliament, but when it comes to the United States, the terms are subject to the action of the Senate. The provision appears to be as follows: "Arbitrations are to be conducted under terms of submission subject to the advice and consent of the Senate."

This in reality brings every proposed arbitration under the treaty separately before the Senate of the United States, and makes the terms of submission thereof dependent upon its will. The Senate of the United States is probably more susceptible to political and corporate influences than most other great legislative bodies, and the history of its dealings with treaties is not such as to cause over-confidence in its favorable action. The President may, as the head of the Executive Government, agree with Great Britain or France to submit some question in dispute to arbitration under the general treaty. So far as Great Britain or France is concerned that settles the disposition of the case. It goes untrammelled and without conditions on their part to the arbitration court. But with the United States it is different. The President recommends submission, but the special case must first be submitted to the United States Senate and that body is to determine first, whether it goes at all to the Court of Arbitration, and second under what conditions it is to be submitted. Both require a two-thirds vote of the Senate. The conditions may be as passed be distasteful to the other country, or unfair and tending to narrow the reference. This necessitates further negotiation and re-submission to the Senate. In every case it tends to hamper and in many cases must result in failure to submit the case.

In short, the treaty as it now appears at least binds the other country to submit to arbitration all questions in dispute, but binds the United States only to submit such cases and under such conditions as the Senate of the United States may decide. Such a treaty may be a step in the right direction, but should not excite too high hopes that its working out will result in the satisfactory settlement of all international questions.

THE OLD PIPE BANNED.

The well-seasoned tobacco pipe, so highly prized and so carefully colored, has come under the ban. It is the subject of attack in the London Lancet. Most smokers admit that a pipe is not agreeable until it has been well seasoned, and hence the well burnt, dark colored, old laden pipe is as a rule a highly cherished accessory to the tobacco habit. To this any pipe smoker will agree. And he perhaps may add the commonly accepted argument that it is the accumulated oils and products of combustion which give the pipe its so-called antiseptic qualities.

This complacency of the pipe smoker has now been rudely broken in upon by Dr. J. D. Reckitt, who affirms that the seasoned pipe may be poisonous saturated with oils, be these nicotine, pyridine, or other toxic substances which the chemist has detected from time to time in the condensed products of tobacco smoke.

The thing which first started Dr. Reckitt on his voyage of discovery was the continuous breathlessness of one of his patients. All the common causes of breathlessness having been gone over in vain Dr. Reckitt began to think over the less common objects. At length an old "friend" was suspected as the cause of the trouble, in the shape of a very dark colored briar, which he had smoked off and on for ten years. The suspicion, it seems, was well founded, for immediately on giving up his pipe the breathlessness passed off, and in a month or two he was for the first time in some years free from his distressing symptom.

ELECTION TOKENS.

(Vancouver News-Advertiser.) Mr. Pugsley, who is Minister of Public Works and also member of Parliament for St. John, is calling for tenders for a dry dock, ship-building plant, and several million dollars worth of dredging at Courtenay Bay, which forms part of the eastern boundary of St. John city. Everything is to be included in one tender. This is said to indicate that the successful tenderer can be easily named beforehand.

In the autumn of 1908, while the election campaign was in progress, Mr. Pugsley called for tenders for the dredging of Courtenay Bay. Tenders were received and opened, and it was announced that one was accepted. Mr. Pugsley informed the electors in one of his speeches that within two years the passage would be dredged, wharves constructed, connection made with the Grand Trunk Pacific, and ships of ten thousand tons would be taking and discharging cargo at the Transcontinental terminals.

The fulfilment of this pledge is overdue. But the Grand Trunk Pacific line is not yet completed, and no extension to St. John has been undertaken. Not a blow has been struck on wharves or other terminal works, and no dredge has visited the spot. Courtenay Bay is a mud flat at low water, and Mr. Pugsley's officers estimated that 10,000,000 yards of dredging would be required to make it navigable.

The last election contract seems to have cancelled itself, if it was not a campaign fiction. Another election is now approaching. The voters will probably expect something more plausible than a repetition of the performance of 1908. This time it may be necessary to dig several yards of mud and drive several piles. It is sometimes found impossible to run two elections on the same job without starting the work.

Current Comment

(London Free Press.) The fruit and vegetable growers of Canada should note with attention the argument which President Taft used in commending Reciprocity to the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, a body of Southern men. Speaking at their annual banquet on Thursday night, he declared that he could appeal to the interests of those who had the prosperity of the South at heart. Under the proposed treaty vegetables and fruits of all kinds would enter the Dominion free of duty. One of the greatest branches of the farming industry in the South was truck farming and shipping fruit and vegetables North. The removal of the duty would create a greater demand and add to the revenues of the South. This is the very objection that was raised by Canadian growers and disregarded by tariff negotiators.

(Montreal Herald.) A Brooklyn clergyman declares that if St. Paul lived at the present time he would be a baseball fan. We had not conceived of the eminent author of the Epistle to the Ephesians as watching paid athletes manipulate a small ball, nor as howling for the blood of an umpire; but the revelations of the higher criticism are ever fresh and stimulating.

(Kingston Standard.) The reports from Ottawa are that there is a wild scramble on the part of the hangars on, to get placed in nice fat offices before the deluge. It's the old story of the sinking ship. Now if some of the present holders of office would only die to make room for those who wish to fill their shoes!

(Bangor News.) One of the sculptors explains that it is impossible to "show the majesty of the human form in trousers and skirts." We might, without assuming any risk of being considered ultra-conservative, add, "especially hairy skirts."

Town Purchases Site for Public Park and Private Subscriptions will be Used to Beautify it.

Sackville, June 21.—The heavy showers which occur almost daily have done much to forward vegetation in this part of the county and the outlook is promising for an abundant hay crop.

The marriage will take place in St. Paul's Episcopal church on Wednesday next of Miss Viola Clarke, only daughter of Mrs. William Clarke, to John A. Lee, of Moncton, and manager of the Sackville Woodworkers, Ltd., the past year.

The town council have purchased from M. Wood & Sons the vacant square on Bridge street adjoining their store and offices. The price paid was $3,500. Private subscriptions amounting to a substantial sum have been received to be used in leveling the grounds and planting trees so as to transform the barren square into a public park. The action of the council in their recent move is much appreciated.

Professor Desbarres occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Rogers, now attending conference at St. John.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickson, West Amherst, when their daughter, Mary was united in marriage to Raleigh Smith, of the I. C. R. office, Amherst. The bride was given in evening crepe de chene, her going away dress being of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. The wedding trip to Upper Canadian cities is now being enjoyed.

The marriage of Miss Nettie McCarthy, daughter of Isaiah McCarthy, Spring Hill, and Thomas O'Connell of Port Elgin, was solemnized at Amherst recently, Rev. D. Chapman, D. D. officiating.

Mr. W. T. Wood has returned from a trip to Gaspe.

The first open air concert of the season was held on Friday evening when the Citizens band rendered an artistic programme from the band stand, Main street.

Alderman J. L. Hicks is having erected a $5,000 residence on Landsdowne street between the streets.

The Citizens' Band have a special train engaged for an excursion to Cape Tormentine. Races will be held at the Sackville grounds when 2500 are offered in prizes. The race club will have a match on their range and the evening will be given up to a band concert and a display of fireworks.

A railway of a mile's length has just been completed connecting the Fawcett Manufacturing Co. with the I. C. R. and the heavy trucking with horses and carts has been done away with.

In a few weeks the line will be completed to the freestone quarry. The domestic of the late Philip Palmer, the birthplace of the late Judge Palmer has been purchased by Frank Palmer. Beside the home there are 60 acres upland and 13 acres marsh.

The Epworth League entertained at a social evening in the English church on Tuesday evening, when a pleasant evening was spent by a large number of young people and refreshment served at the close.

The death occurred at her home in Middle Sackville on Saturday morning of the late Mrs. Mary A. Black, widow of the late Mr. Joseph L. Black, in the 77th year of her age. She was a daughter of the late Rev. John Snowball and the last surviving member of the family which included Mrs. F. P. Thompson, Fredericton, J. B. Snowball, former lieutenant governor of New Brunswick and Judge Snowball of California, at the home of Mrs. Frank B. and J. Walter S. of the firm of J. L. Black and Sons, Middle Sackville, with one step-daughter, Mrs. Edmond Burke of Toronto survive.

The deceased was a lady of sterling Christian character and highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends who will hear of her death with sincere regret. The funeral was held from her late residence on Tuesday afternoon, and was very largely attended. Rev. Dr. Rogers and Rev. Dr. Chapman of Amherst, conducted the services. Interment took place in the family lot in the rural cemetery. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

NEW CANADIAN DOLLAR NOTES.

An issue of the new Canadian dollar bills was received at the local branch of the Dominion Savings Bank yesterday morning. The new note, bearing the portrait of Earl Grey and Lady Grey will supersede the old Aberdeen one dollar note which will be retired.

The note differs considerably in design from the old bill. The log driving scene in the centre of the old one has been eliminated. The portraits of the governor general and Lady Grey are in the centre of the new note rather than at the ends as in the old. The word "one" is printed near the ends of the bill in a more pronounced style than in the old. The brown and black coloring gives way to the green and blue in the new note, making a lighter appearance. The reverse is identical with the old bill.

The note bears the date of January 3, 1911. It will be in circulation after Monday next. In the regular course of business the note will be exchanged for old or in making change from bills of larger denomination.

Store Broken Into.

Comeau & Sheehan's wholesale liquor store, Prince William street, was broken into on Wednesday night and about $7 in cash and several bottles of liquor stolen. The premises were entered from a rear door on Water street. About one o'clock Thursday morning, Policeman O'Leary who was making his rounds, discovered the door on Water street open and sent word to Mr. Comeau's residence. He was requested to lock the door. Nothing was known about the robbery until Thursday morning, when David Colgan, head bookkeeper, went to the office. He found several of the drawers in the office open and papers scattered about the floor; also that $7 in cash was missing, besides some bottles of liquor. The police were notified and are working on the case.

The hardening tendency of the market was apparent from the active issues, in Union Pacific, which led in the market at a substantial advance. The Erie, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchafalaya, United States rubber and General Electric showed especial strength.

Another favorable weekly report on crop advances received today were fragmentary, and contained little information of assistance in shaping sentiment. While further unfavorable reports came from northwest, such information as has been obtainable in the last day or two, gives rise to the belief that less damage has been done than indicated by the so-called "crop-killers" whose chief interest apparently is speculative.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, June 23.—The attempt of the bear operators to convert yesterday's rather unfavorable news budget into a general scare signally failed today, the only sequence in our market being a smart recovery of yesterday's decline in prices and a relapse into mid-summer dullness.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, June 23.—Today's cotton market was comparatively featureless both in point of news and price movements. There was moderate price covering at the opening on the absence of further advices of moisture over the southwest and additional buying of the same character of moderate volume around noon on the publication of the weather map, which showed little rain and rising temperatures over the southwest.

WEDDINGS.

Smith-Fulton. A pretty wedding took place on June 22nd at the home of John Fulton, Jerusalem, Queen's County, when his daughter Miss Esther Fulton was united in marriage to James Lowery Smith. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. Wellington Camp, took place in the presence of a large number of invited guests, and after the service a beautiful wedding supper was served. The bride who was given away by her father was dressed in white silk. Her travelling gown was of blue broad cloth with hat to match. The number and value of the presents which consisted for the most part of cut glass, silverware and checks, attested to the popularity of the young couple. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Smith will take up their residence at Hillendale, Kings County.

RECIPROCAL TREATIES SHIPMENTS OF CHEESE TO THE OLD COUNTRY

One of the Most Important Articles of Trade Between Canada and Great Britain—Canada's Position
Would Be Stolen by Her Neighbor

Cheese is about the most important article in the Canadian export trade with Great Britain. Since reciprocity with the United States has been advanced as a fiscal policy for this country much fear has been expressed over the suggested impeding of Canada's big export trade with the Mother Land.

Canada, in the year ending 1909, shipped 176,498,940 pounds of cheese, worth $22,106,108, to Great Britain. The average value per pound was 12 1/2 cents. But had Canada received for her cheese an average price equal to that received by the cheese-makers of the United States for their exports to Great Britain, her exports would have realized a total return of only $21,763,118, or a loss of $342,990.

How, then, can Canada benefit in the matter of prices by adopting the reciprocity agreement with the United States?

The following statement of cheese exports to Great Britain in 1909, is sufficient to show Canada's excellent position in the Motherland:—

Belgium	$ 231,123
France	796,123
Germany	1,234,567
United States	684,443
Other foreign countries	29,094

Some Of The Favored Nations

Denmark, in the year ended December 31, 1909, exported butter, cheese, eggs, animals, grain, meat products and vegetables worth $100,860,029. Argentina, in the year ended 1909, exported animals, meat products, vegetables and butter worth $191,932,562. Russia, in the year ended 1909, exported animals, grain, hay, export products and vegetables worth $179,828,790.

WOULD NOT HELP CANADIAN WHEAT

Free Trade of No Benefit to the Producer Here, as the United States Has a Surplus Production

The possibilities of Canada gaining through free trade in wheat with the United States were shown in the following extract from an article published a fortnight ago in The Toronto News:—

"So far as wheat is concerned, and it is the chief breadstuff that United States would like to get from Canada, our neighbors do not need Canadian wheat for their own consumption. Their chief purpose in getting free wheat from Canada would be to export it through their ports, and to use it for milling purposes, thus benefiting their own courses of transportation. Free wheat would be helped in any way, because the United States has a surplus production of wheat that will make that country an exporter of flour and grain for the next hundred years. The following figures show how the volume of wheat production is increasing in the States:—

1908	454,000,000
1909	654,000,000
1910	737,000,000

"In connection with these statistics showing the increase in the total annual wheat crop of the United States it is most important to note the words of Mr. C. L. Olmsted, chief of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, who has recently issued the results of a study of the subject of population and subsistence. He combats the view that agricultural production will fall to keep pace with the growth of population, and he shows that the agriculture of the United States, after passing through a phase of decadence, incident to the exploitation of new land, has obtained a secure footing in the contrary direction toward improvement.

"The normal trend of production per acre was a declining one during the two decades 1876-1895 and 1896-1906, but in the decade 1896-1906 and from 1906-1909 the mean production per acre has steadily increased. Mr. Olmsted shows that the mean production per acre for the four years, 1906-1909, has increased over the preceding ten years as follows:—

Wheat (per acre)	3.6 per cent.
Rye	4.5
Barley	6.5
Potatoes	18.5
Tobacco	37

AMERICAN HOG MARKET

Patrick Cudahy Says Prices Will Continue to Decline

Mr. Patrick Cudahy, foremost of United States packers, last month made an important statement regarding the hog market of the United States. Mr. Cudahy said: "Our next season will be 4-cent hogs. It looks to me as though prices would keep coming down for a year or more. Unlike grain, the farmer cannot hold his hogs indefinitely, but must sell them when they are ready for the market. He has been pointing into the raising of hogs on such a scale that he is now getting big results, and is due to get

HIGHER WAGES HERE

Agricultural Labor is Not so Well Paid in the United States

Senator Stone of Missouri spoke at Washington the other day in favor of reciprocity with Canada. Amongst other things which would be to the advantage of the States, according to Senator Stone, was the cost of farm labor. In this connection the Brooklyn Times had the following to say, showing that Canada pays higher wages on her farms than the United States:—

"It has been generally assumed that farm wages paid on the American side of the line were higher than those paid in Canada, and that therefore the advantages of free entry for Canadian farm products conceded by the proposed reciprocal agreement meant a decided advantage to the Canadian farmer at the expense of his American competitor. But, according to Senator Stone, of Missouri, who in his speech quoted liberally from American official figures, the boot is on the other leg."

"As Canada is not an American competitor, but according to Senator Stone, of Missouri, who in his speech quoted liberally from American official figures, the boot is on the other leg. The Missouri Senator demonstrated that the Canadian farmers really pay more for their farm labor than we pay on the United States side of the line, and that if anybody has a cause for fear disaster from reciprocity it is the Canadian and not the American. It is the Kanuck who has cause to dread the completion of cheap Yankee labor, and not the bloated plutocrat of the American farms."

CANADIAN PULPWOOD

American Publishers are Counting on Getting Raw Material from Canada

Eastern Canada's illimitable pulpwood resources have been for many years a golden prize to be gained by the keen-eyed American. The reciprocity Agreement, which has raised the hopes of the American paper manufacturers, and lately at Woorlington, Mr. John Norris, chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, has been endeavoring to strengthen his cause with the Finance Committee. A dispatch from Washington telling of Mr. Norris's visit said:—

"The opponents of reciprocity in Canada have few more satisfactory witnesses than Mr. John Norris, Chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. He has just been telling the Finance Committee of the American Senate that his tariff agreement left entirely alone, Senator Smoot intervened with the question:—

"You take the position that the Canadian manufacturers should make the tariff on paper this country?"

"Later he added:—'We have been very broad in this matter. We want the paper we use to be made in the United States, and have been working to secure a supply of raw material from Canada.'"

CRITICIZED ABROAD

Both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding have been meeting with open criticism from the English Press during their visit to the Coronation. An open letter in The London Times said:—

"The Empire is your greatest theme. You preserve it in the fine syrup of beautiful words. In 1896 you definitely turned your back on the United States, thereby gaining a position which has since made you so picturesque an ornament. Thus you became at once Imperialistic and Nationalist. You saw Canada becoming symmetrical and strong. Manufacturers, balancing agriculture, tariff enabling resistance to the suck and pull of a great neighbor. Your reward for so intelligently realizing the policy of Mr. Macdougall's 'Both Ways' was an Imperial Statesman. Resting your support on British-Canadian, you at the same time contrived to retain the support of Quebec Provincialists by restating Canadian sentiment favorable to helping the Imperial navy. Successfully for many years you have played the part of Mr. Pacing Both Ways. If you are sapping Imperial interests you are also undermining Canadian nationality."

Now or Never Is Their Opinion

President Taft Says Americans Must Take Reciprocity
Now or Give It Up Forever

"Now or never" is the slogan of the Reciprocity protagonist in the United States. President Taft expressed this belief in his famous speech to the New York newspapermen when he said: "The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her from us are the forces which are at work in Canada to separate her from the United States, and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever."

Writing on conditions east of the Mississippi, the results of a personal investigation in the Eastern States, C. L. Sibley, of Montreal, recently said:—

"Do the Canadian farmers imagine that they can invade the markets of the United States, and succeed where so many American farmers fail? If so, let them make a survey of farming conditions east of the Mississippi in the United States. If there were any virtue in this cry of free access to a market of ninety millions of people, or if the United States had even begun to have reached its limit of production, surely these farmers would have at least begun to feel the benefit of it. Exactly the reverse is the case.

UNDER THE THUMBS OF THE TRUSTS

Farms in the Eastern States Show Numerous Evidence of Undue Impoverishment

"What, then, is the matter? The trouble is that this market into which the Canadian farmer is to be invited to try his luck, is in no need of Canadian produce. The trouble is that the United States, with its great range of territory and its climate, produces a vast surplus of all kinds of agricultural products, and these products are manipulated by the food-distributors to the disadvantage of many of the producers. Go up and down this country in which the New England farmers ought to find a profitable market, and what do you find? You find the cold storage plants of the Chicago packing houses, and of the fruit and dairy trusts, taking the toll that the farmers ought to get from the breakfast and dinner tables of the great army of consumers.

"Here are some of the prices of farms actually on offer at this moment in the New England States: In the town of Bethel, Windsor county, Vermont, a farm of 45 acres, $700; another of 90 acres, $1,300; another of 350 acres, $2,800. In the Township of Brattleboro, Vt., 150 acres, $1,000, 100 acres, $800; at Chester Depot, Rutland County, 195 acres, $2,000; another of 280 acres for $2,500; another of 250 acres for $1,900; another of 225 acres for $1,800; another of 130 acres for $2,000."

TARIFFS ON BUTTER

A Comparison of These as They Would Work Out Under Reciprocity

The following comparison of tariffs on butter, if reciprocity becomes law, shows that Canada gives free entrance to all her competitors, but must pay duty to all of them, except the United States, if she wishes to send butter back to them.

Canada—Free from favored nations and British possessions, including Denmark, Russia, Australia, Sweden, New Zealand, Argentina Republic, Norway and United States; otherwise 4 cents per lb.

Australia—5 cents per lb.
New Zealand—General tariff 30 per cent. ad valorem.

British preferential tariff, 20 per cent. ad valorem. (Canada is entitled to the B.P. tariff).

Denmark—In hermetically-sealed vessels, 4 1/2 cents per lb.; otherwise free.

Argentine Republic—4 1/2 cents per lb.

United States—From Canada free; otherwise 6 cents per lb.

Sweden—2 1/2 cents per lb.

Norway—Maximum tariff, 4 1/2 cents per lb.

Russia—1 1/2 to 2 cents per lb.

Who Pays This Bill?

"Who pays that six millions?" asked Farmer Jones. "I don't drink spirits. No one on this concession drinks. Practically no one in the township touches liquor. We have had local option for three years and it has not been sold in the county for that time."

"Clearly the farmers about here do not pay any of that six millions. Who does then? Temperance statistics show that most liquor is consumed in large cities, where there are at least two distinct classes of people, the very rich and the very poor. A duty on liquor is a tax on a luxury, it tends to place it beyond the reach of the poor and takes it out of the extra pocket money of the rich."

Therefore, it has a moral effect on the poor at all events. Moreover, it does not tax a necessity such as bread. Therefore a great sum is added to the revenues of the country. Where is the harm in that bit of the tariff?"

More Customs Returns

Farmer Jones, after arriving at this stage of his argument with himself, turned over more pages of the customs returns. Having started with one kind of intoxicating liquors he determined to find out how much other kinds were adding to the national pocket of Canada. He found that the duties on ale, porter and lager beer amounted to $211,733.83 in 1910. Ale, porter or beer had never touched his palate, or those of his four sons. Wine was a more mysterious stranger. He had read about it in the Bible, and fully believed in its powers as a mocker, but had never seen it, to his knowledge, and he would have staked his farm that Mrs. Jones had never gazed at it when it was red or any other color. Yet these intoxicating liquors, which were unfamiliar beverages to him and to all his acquaintances, furnished over six millions of customs duties.

Mr. W. J. Brandrich has been appointed by the British Columbia Government as exhibition commissioner. His duties being to see that provincial fruit displays be made at all the Canadian shows.

Farmer Jones And The Tariff

OR A FRIEND IN DISGUISE

Farmer Jones sat on his back verandah watching his crops grow under the gentle influence of a May evening. His feet were up, his pipe was going, the smell of the new spring earth was in his nostrils. Out in the harrowed fields the grain was showing in long green lines, while on the rolling hills across the river the season's hay was standing in tangled richness. Mingled with the songs of birds, his eager ear caught a sound quite as attractive—the insidious something which told him of abundant and progressive life. It was his hour of pleasure, and he enjoyed it to the full. But on this particular evening he was doomed to become the prey of a foreign influence which threatened to turn his contented brooding into a fit of melancholy. As he watched his fields he began to estimate his profits, subtracting expenditures from receipts and calculating how the former might be reduced. The things he had to buy, the wear and tear of things he already possessed were duly taken into account.

Agricultural Scare Crow

At this point, that agricultural scare crow, the tariff, stalked into hisseclusion. He recalled fragments of the pamphlets and newspapers he had read, wild words of the inaccurately orators he had heard of, the subject, all of which claimed to have proven that the tariff was the yoke upon the Canadian farmer's neck that chained him to perpetual slavery on the land.

If these allegations were true, the tariff, and those corrupt monopolists who were represented as profiting by its existence, would take their toll of every broad acre he possessed. This was the reason, then, that there was not a larger margin between his annual debits and credits.

Farmer Jones put down his feet. He leaned anxiously forward and scanned the fields already disappearing in the twilight as though captivated, with giant hands, were snatching them bodily away. He could easily imagine that he saw stout little men, with seal rings and heavy watch chains, scripping over the fences, carrying bushels of wheat, sheaves of corn and baskets of fruit. Depressed by his vision, Farmer Jones put away his now tasteless pipe.

In a Pessimistic Mood

"Blas! then," he remarked, referring to the absent tariff makers, "I wish I had them out in the hay field on a hot day. I'd take the bumps off the stomachs and put them on their backs."

This remark showed that the general Farmer Jones was in an extremely pessimistic mood, which compelled him to turn his back on his fields, enter his house, and sit down before his great old-fashioned desk with its quaint pigeon holes full of musty books and papers.

Mr. Jones' intention was to reduce himself to a state of absolute depression by reading anti-tariff literature, but his attention was arrested by a blue book which had just arrived that day from Ottawa. It contained the returns of the Customs Department. Mr. Jones glanced through the orderly array of figures and terse significant statements so different from those which had threatened to undermine the cheerfulness of his disposition a few minutes before. He noticed that the duty collected on spirits and wines imported into Canada during 1910 amounted to $3,565,645.40, which went into the Dominion treasury and helped to make up the total revenue of the country.

Yet these intoxicating liquors, which were unfamiliar beverages to him and to all his acquaintances, furnished over six millions of customs duties.

Mr. Jones is Puzzled

Mr. Jones knew that all the national revenues are "pooled," that is, put into one vast account, from which all expenses are paid. His taxes went in with the rest. It was quite clear, therefore, that the taxes were levied in proportion to the amount of national revenue derived from other sources than a direct tax on land. Consequently, these six millions, collected in duties on intoxicating liquor, lessened to some degree the taxes on his property. Mr. Jones was perplexed. He had been taught that the tariff was his enemy. In this case, at any rate, it was his friend. He continued to run over the items in the schedule. The duty on animal products imported into Canada during 1910 amounted to $187,360.35; on butter, $115,708.09; on eggs, $30,806.42; on grain and straw, $273,434.17; on green fruit, $267,937.94; and on vegetables, $350,961.85.

The effect of this duty was two-fold; $281.84 was added to the national revenue, and his competitors were placed under a handicap in competition for the Canadian market. He had all these articles on the market for himself. Therefore, this much-abused tariff was conserving a useful field for him and making his rivals help pay his taxes.

Helping Him Out

Mr. Jones, being a man of ambitious turn of mind, was not at all satisfied as to what he realized—that out of the special revenues of the country, the majority of the great public works were financed. He thought musingly of the outcry which would be raised by some of his tight-fisted neighbors if they were made upon them direct to build the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Yet this great transcontinental would benefit their agricultural community. Farmer Jones began his calculations again.

Rock-cut, fill, timberland and open prairie averaged, railway construction costs about $35,000 per mile. The duty on spirits for 1910 would build 170 miles of the Transcontinental. This combined revenue derived from the duty on animals, butter, eggs, grain and straw, and on spirits, would build 31 miles. The consumers of intoxicants, and his rivals who had farm produce to sell, were actually paying for the railroad. The duty on spirits for 1910 would build 170 miles of the Transcontinental. This combined revenue derived from the duty on animals, butter, eggs, grain and straw, and on spirits, would build 31 miles. The consumers of intoxicants, and his rivals who had farm produce to sell, were actually paying for the railroad.

The next item upon which his attention rested was "Electricity Apparatus," on which the revenue collected through the duty in 1910 amounted to $909,482.72. There was a surplus of electrical apparatus used within a radius of ten miles of where Mr. Jones lived. Dwellers of towns and cities used electrical apparatus, and consequently paid all or part of the duty on it. The amount collected through this duty went into the national treasury and was available for the benefit of Farmer Jones.

"It strikes me," said Farmer Jones, "that a moderately protective tariff is not so black as it has been painted."

A Great Country

He began to analyze the present period of Canada's industrial and commercial development. The Grand Trunk Railway was linking up two oceans. Would it have been built if a plebiscite had been taken in a country where the agricultural classes are the majority in the absence of a system of moderate protection? Would the C.P.R. have been built out of the great non-division-paying financiers to the head of the Great Lakes, or Jones was inclined to answer these questions in the negative. The Georgian Bay Canal connecting Port Huron and Lake St. Clair, and the St. Lawrence Canal will be deepened; the St. Lawrence Canal will be enlarged and a great waterway will be opened for ocean steamers to the head of the Great Lakes. What does the completion of these vast public works mean to the farmers of Canada, particularly to those of the Prairie Provinces who have strain to ship across the Atlantic? The cost of maintaining the militia, the army, the great non-division-paying financiers, services are direct charges on the national revenue. They must be paid. If a tariff secures part of the bill it lessens the drinkable burden of direct taxation on the land, income taxes, poll taxes or business taxes, imposed on all urban and rural communities.

It was midnight when Farmer Jones, having smoked a pipe of home-grown tobacco, made a statement to himself.

"Oh! bring this thing up at highest meeting of the Grand Trunk. There is too much aimless talk about 'bloated capitalists' and 'down-trodden farmers' indulged in by the orators who visit us. I'll take the customs returns over and read a few hard facts and figures to the boys."

"Farmer Jones," he continued to himself, "not paying all the taxes in this country as he has been led to believe, and he is getting a good deal of benefit from the money expended on the nation. Even if I am paying taxes on a few things because of this protective tariff, it seems to me I am benefitting in part from it as well as from the taxes levied on all other classes. And myself, I am paying my own way as a self-respecting citizen ought to do," concluded Farmer Jones.

The French Treaty

Under the French Treaty, which came into force on February 1, 1910, any tariff advantages granted to the United States on the following articles must also be granted to France: Cheese, garden, field and other seeds, not herein otherwise provided for, when in packages weighing over one pound, not including flower seeds, grass seed, including timothy and clover seed; canned meats and canned poultry; extracts of meat, fluid or not; peanuts, shelled or unshelled.

Last year Canada imported from France $35,270 worth of cheese, seeds and animal food.

THE STANDARD

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

By ADELAIDE BYRD

IN THIS embroidery day of French knots I know that you will welcome the wild-carrot design for a centerpiece that I offer today. It is about a 24-inch size, and with the aid of our friendly knots the work will grow with pleasing rapidity under your fingers.

You will notice the detail of stitches drawn on as to show you the way. After tracing the design on medium-weight linen look at the spray and study the method set forth. The clusters of blossoms you will work in knots. Outline stitches will suggest the fine stems in the flower, while stemstitches will do for the thicker stems. I have had two suggestions for working the leaves drawn for you. One is a long-and-short stitch, outlining the leaves, with a line for the central vein.

The other is the effective combination of solid work on one-half and open-stitches on the other half. You may take your choice—or both!

Work the tiny leaves in the center of the flowers solid, using stitches that slant in toward the main vein.

When working this, use narrow-wad cotton in either medium or heavy weight and your work will be cut in half. Pad the narrow scallops with darning cotton, or work a coarse chainstitch for the first padding. Over this work them in buttonhole stitches, using a second treatment to prevent fraying.

On your porch, under the trees or in your cool sewing room you will find how really delightful wild carrots are.

There are other suggestions about color. The white flowers with green leaves on a cool green linen are delightfully reminiscent of the fields. Tan linen, too, is a serviceable background, with a brown or dark green border of scallops. The "embroiderer's piece" may be resorted to if you wish to carry out a color scheme of interior decoration. Any shade of gray, tan or white linen looks well, and the whole design, I think, cannot be improved upon. Try this easy work and convince yourself of the fact that embroidery is worth while!

Baby's Rompers

HERE is a fine idea for rompers for the baby. Take any simple dress pattern, with either round or square yolk, or a plain slip, and, after cutting straight across the bottom, measure nine inches from each side toward the center. Cut out the center between these points, rounding to a depth of about five inches in the middle. This forms the seat, between the legs.

Face with the fabric and work three buttonholes in the front, with buttons to correspond at the back. Gather the eight nine inches in front and back into a band ten inches long, and to its front end work a buttonhole. This band is to be buttoned around the baby's waist above the knees. Treat the left side in the same way.

When the rompers are put on, button each hand around the leg and the front to the back. This is the most convenient of rompers for many reasons, and is not nearly so complicated to make as it sounds. Gingham or chambray is the best material.

Curtain Hints

TAKE old set curtains (shenet will do) and dip them in a tubful of soapy water, then in a tub containing a solution of 10 cents' worth of poppers. Repeat and hang up to dry. The result will be a beautiful deep burnt-orange color, which gives a sunset effect in the darkest room.

Out get the floral and basket designs from modern month and tack them on to a material to harmonize with your curtains—even unbleached calico. Work them over with fine silk and apply them as borders to the curtains. Bits of silk or satin might be tacked on to the modern petals instead and buttonholed around the edges. The baskets might have a little work and handles of fine straw or raffia.

Make your curtains with hems of satin with at top and bottom. After washing them, hang them upside down, slipping the rod through what was bottom the bottom hem. This equalizes wear and tear and prolongs their life. Be careful not to make such curtains of a material whose fibers are not reversible in position.

To Protect Petticoats

TO PROTECT the ruffles of petticoats from the inevitable wear and tear, bind the edge of the outer ruffle with rickrack braid and the dust ruffle with tatted braid, which is coarser. Not only will the lace and lawn be protected from harm, but the appearance of the ruffle itself will be improved.

This is a little hint given me by a notable German housekeeper, who also embroiders beautifully; and if you had seen, as I did, the beautiful petticoats which she assured me were years old, you would hasten now—as I did also—to purchase at the nearest embroidery or notion shop a sufficient supply of treads of the proper width.

Clean the Feedplate

YOUR sewing machine will last longer and run more easily, especially after working on woollen goods, you clean out the feedplate. Take out the screw that holds it down and lift it off; then, with a long pin, pick out the lint and clear the needle slot. You will be amazed at the amount of lint that can accumulate there, and when you have replaced the plate and the screw, at the increased efficiency of the machine.

Sharpening Scissors

TO SHARPEN scissors well and quickly, saw the blades on the neck of a glass bottle as if you were trying to cut it off. This will sharpen the bluntest of sewing blades.

THREE WAYS TO TRANSFER

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

THE REIGN OF BEADS

AND still the beads are with us in endless possibility. There is the simple design, which is merely spaced vertical lines of beads arranged like rays over the corsage, or divided into sets of graduated groups meeting at the base a horizontal band or wall-of-iron pattern in the guise of a belt. Then again there is the row of unstanding lines, lines or arabesques, delicately outlined and veined with beads in the natural color of the blossoms, the whole picked out with gold or silver beads.

Colorings are extremely varied and include monochrome and multicolor effects mingled with dashes of metal. Flat and raised motifs are produced and shaded by means of bugles, seed and large beads in gold and silver, bead set, crystal, china, glass, wood and the peculiar Venetian varieties. This beading corresponds exactly with the popular Paisley, Indian, Egyptian and Pagan rainbows tints in fabrics and embroideries.

Flat beads are embroidered in beads in flowers of natural colors. Picture hats are trimmed with heavy bows composed of close circles of coral, topaz or emerald beads; while caecilians show cheeks like a chessboard of two

Saving Window Shades

WHEN you buy new window shades, get them or have them made a foot longer than you really need. Then, when the hem wears out—as it will—cut off the torn part, reverse them, and they will look like new and wear twice as long as they otherwise would, as practically no wear except from rolling comes on the top and middle.

or four different shades, to correspond with the hat.
Belt and buckles are treated in the same way; and there are sets composed of hairpins, esbochons, buckles, belts, chain and handbag—all of which can be made to order to carry out some favorite flower or to match a new costume.

THE WEATHER.

Lower Lawrence and Gulf and Maritime—Northwesterly winds; fine and cool. Toronto, June 23—Rain has fallen today near Lake Superior and in parts of the western provinces, while in other parts of the Dominion, the weather has been fair. A marked change to cooler weather has occurred in western Ontario, but elsewhere temperature changes have been unimportant.

AROUND THE CITY

Coaches Reported.
Fred Worden has been reported by I. C. R. Policeman Smith for violating the rules governing coaches at the Union depot.

Brooch Lost.
The finder of a small pearl brooch lost on Thursday, on Prince William, Duke or Gernale streets, will confer a favor by returning it to the Standard office.

Ladies' Linen Suits.
Any lady requiring a linen suit can obtain the greatest bargain at The People's Dry Goods Store, 14 Charlotte street. One price only, $2.50. Different shades. Cannot be beaten.

The St. John Tennis Club.
The annual tournament of mixed doubles for the club cups will be played on the St. John tennis courts on Wednesday (tomorrow) during July. All members desiring to take part in this tournament are requested to hand in their names not later than June 30th to W. M. Angus or Miss C. Schofield.

Blame It On The Dog.
Members of Marlborough Lodge, Sons of England, originated the idea of a naval boat for the Coronation Day parade, and built the model of the Nobe which attracted so much attention. Owing to inadvertence, this was not mentioned in the Standard's report of the parade. The formidable looking British bulldog which was led along by one of the members of this lodge, scared the reporter out of his wits.

St. John's Day.
The grand lodge of New Brunswick, Dr. H. S. Bridges, and master, accompanied by members of the various Masonic lodges, will tomorrow afternoon, St. John's Day, parade to St. Stephen's church, where services will be conducted by the grand chaplain, Rev. Gordon Dickie, M. A. The 62nd and Carleton Cornet bands will be in attendance and a large turnout of the members of the subordinate lodges is anticipated. The grand chaplain will preach the sermon.

The Smith Creditors.
A meeting of the creditors of Louis Smith was held in the office of H. H. Pickett yesterday afternoon. It was reported to the meeting that the assets of Mr. Smith were approximately $4,000 and that the assets consisted of stock in the store at 7 Waterloo street, amounting to $2,000, book debts amounting to about $500, C. P. inches and J. Cohen were appointed for tenders for the store at once. The tenders will probably be closed on Thursday next. The creditors are Montreal and St. John firms, the principal one being the Montreal Waterproof Company.

John E. Wilson, M. P. P. in Europe.
A letter was received yesterday from John E. Wilson, M. P. P., who is enjoying a visit to the Old Country. The letter was written in Scotland and Mr. Wilson states that he has visited the most interesting points in the Highlands. He has also visited Edinburgh and Glasgow and many other points of interest. He had secured seats for two days to view the Coronation parades in London. He then intends to visit France and will then go for a tour through Ireland before leaving for St. John. Mr. Wilson says the trip is proving one of the most delightful that he has ever experienced.

Fined For Vandalism.
The St. John Street Railway Company has been much annoyed of late by the fact that visitors to Seaside Park have shown a penchant for destroying the shrubs and plants. Yesterday afternoon John Carlson, who was visiting the park in company with another man and three women, stepped off the walk leading from the shore, and tore up one of the shrubs which had only been planted a short time before. Park policeman William Quill charged with wanton destruction of property and placed the offender under arrest. Last evening he was tried before Magistrate Mason, of Fairville, found guilty and fined $10, but owing to the fact that he bore a good character, the fine was allowed to stand. The magistrate intimated that if the same offense were brought before him charged with wanton destruction of the shrubbery or any other property in the park would be severely dealt with. C. F. Inches, of Weldon and McLean appeared for the street railway.

FINE CONCERT BY A VISITING BAND
Thousands of People Heard Delightful Programme by Fitchburg Musicians, on King Square, Last Evening.

Thousands of people listened with great interest last night to a concert given by the Fitchburg 6th Regt. Band on the King Edward stand, King Square. Every number rendered by this excellent organization was loudly applauded and the citizens who were fortunate enough to be present were given a rare musical treat. The following was the programme:—
March "Jerusalem Commandery" Patriotic
Overture "Tempelwette" Kola Bela
"Bright Eyes" Hoschus
Baritone solo "The Holy City," Adams
Solo "Knight Fred Pope"
"Every Little Movement" Hoschus
March "How Dry I Am" Clements
Descriptive "The Cavalry Charge" Litta
Finale "God Save The King"
Taftley Mauch—Conductor.
The band gave a delightful concert to hundreds of citizens between noon and one o'clock yesterday from the Victoria Hotel balcony, and like last night each number was greeted with loud applause from hundreds of people.

CANADIAN TROOPS HAD POST OF HONOR

Col. McLean's Men Took Prominent Part in Coronation Ceremonies—Princess Louise Bowled to Canadians.

Among the Canadians "commanded" to be present at Westminster Abbey at the Coronation was Judge Wells, says the Montreal Star's special cable, which also says: "Earl Aberdeen bore the standard of Canada with great gravity, walking up the nave of the Abbey side by side with Lord Northcote, bearing the standard of Australia. Other features of the procession within the Abbey of especial Canadian interest were the Princess Louise, Duchess Connaught and Princess Patricia, who bowed most graciously to a group of Canadians among whom were Sir Frederick, Miss Jordan, Hon. L. P. Brodeur and Mrs. Brodeur, Hon. J. D. Hazen and Mrs. Hazen. Each member of the royalty had a long sweeping train of the richest silks."
Referring to the procession, the Star's correspondent says: "The Canadian contingent, under Lieut-Col. H. H. McLean, numbered about 900, and included Canadian dragoons and Hussars, mounted rifles, Canadian Highlanders and rifles, grenadiers and light infantry. The men made a very smart appearance and were given a warm reception, being heartily cheered, they led the colonial contingents, marching immediately after the King's equestrians, who rode four abreast."

ASSAULT CASE IN FAIRVILLE COURT

Acamac Neighbors Ventilate their Grievances Before Magistrate Allingham—Constable Refused to Arrest.

William McDonald, father, and John McDonald son, of Acamac, were before Magistrate Allingham at Fairville yesterday morning on a charge of assaulting one Hudson. It appears that the three parties to the suit are neighbors and the defendants objected to the informant's cattle pasturing on their meadow land. During one invasion by the catties McDonald, Jr., stoned them and Hudson hailed him to court. That phase of the case was amicably settled, but just outside the court room McDonald, Jr. and Hudson waxed hot in argument with the inevitable result. McDonald sr. took a hand in the fracas, hence the action.
Magistrate Allingham who was present at the fight ordered Constable Albert Taylor to arrest the three combatants. He refused on the ground that he had no warrant. This morning Squire Allingham scored Taylor for his conduct in refusing and intimated that a charge of disobedience would be laid before the proper authorities.
The case against the McDonalds was amicably settled before it went to trial.
G. Marie Logan appeared for the defence and George H. V. Belyea for the prosecution.

VISITING KNIGHTS TEMPLARS ARRIVE

Members of Fitchburg Commandery Guests of Local Masons—Attractive Programme for Entertainment.

One hundred and fifty members of the Jerusalem Commandery Knights Templars of Fitchburg, Mass., accompanied by the Military Band of the 6th Massachusetts Regiment, arrived in the city yesterday on their annual pilgrimage in honor of St. John's Day. This is the first time this commandery has visited St. John.

In company with detachments of the 6th Massachusetts Regiment, the visiting knights spent the morning making in the night of the city, and in the afternoon they went for a trip up the river on the steamer Champlain. Last evening they paid a formal visit to the Encampment of St. John, in the Masonic Temple, where they exemplified the Order of the Red Cross. After this ceremony they were entertained at a banquet by the local knights, which proved a very enjoyable affair.
The programme for this morning includes drives about the city and to neighboring points of interest. At noon they will be taken over to Bay Shore, where they will be entertained at a lobster feast. Returning to the city late in the afternoon they will form up at 5.30 o'clock and march to the wharf to embark for the homeward voyage. They will reach Boston on Sunday morning, and Fitchburg late in the day.
The visiting Knights are in command of Charles J. Russell, eminent Generalissimo Benjamin A. Cook, Captain General Fred A. Watson and Recorder Page. The man who is responsible for the success of the trip is Mr. F. A. Young, chairman of the committee on arrangements.
During their stay in St. John they are being entertained by the local branches of the society, the committee in charge of the arrangements being composed of Messrs. T. E. Powers, N. and E. C.; E. H. Cairns, L. C. and H. A. Porter, M. of Encampment of St. John; Chas. D. Jones, P. P.; T. A. Crockett, C., and Norman E. Shaw, M. of De Molay Precinctory, with Mr. Francis P. Burpee of the former as secretary.

Sermons on Patriotism.
Sermons making special reference to patriotism and the coronation will be preached in the Baptist churches on Sunday.

ASK BETTER SERVICE TO THE WEST INDIES

Business Men's Telegram to Sir Richard Cartwright will be Followed by Delegation to Ottawa.

A large delegation of merchants interested in the West Indian trade waited on the Minister of Public Works yesterday and had a long conference with him in regard to the need of a better steamship service between this port and the British West Indies. As a result of the conference a telegram was sent to Sir Richard Cartwright urging that arrangements be made to continue the twelve days' sailing from this port temporarily, and it was decided that a strong delegation should be organized and sent to Ottawa to present to the government Sir John's claim for a better service.
Most of the merchants present took part in the discussion, and the general opinion was that with the service provided for under the terms of the government's contract with the Pickford & Black Company, it would not be possible for the St. John merchants to do a satisfactory business with the West Indies. The desire of the delegation was for a service which would give a sailing of about every ten days, with every alternate boat making her departure direct from St. John to the West Indies.
Hon. Mr. Punsley said he would use his influence to induce the government to meet the views of the St. John merchants.
Among the members of the delegation were T. H. Estabrooks, H. B. Schofield, L. V. Simms, L. G. Crosby, J. S. Knight, I. H. Northrup and others.

PROTEST CLOSING OF EPIDEMIC HOSPITAL

Hospital is to be Repaired and Board of Health Feels Some Other Provision Should be Made.

At a special meeting of the board of health yesterday afternoon, a resolution was adopted, protesting against the action of the hospital commissioners in closing the epidemic hospital without notifying the board of health, or taking steps to have provision made for looking after epidemic cases, while the epidemic hospital is undergoing repairs. It is expected that the epidemic hospital will be closed for about two months and meantime there is no place available for epidemic or infectious cases, except the isolation hospital. It was decided to interview the hospital commissioners and see if arrangements can be made to fit up the isolation hospital for the reception of epidemic cases while the other institution is being repaired.
The inspectors reported that the drainage system of the parish of Langley was bad, the gutters being much in need of a thorough cleaning and better grading. Dr. Melvin, the medical health officer, was instructed to take the matter up with the authorities of the parish, and endeavor to have the gutters cleaned and graded so as to provide for better drainage.
The motion was adopted instructing the secretary to send a communication to the city council, formally requesting it to proceed at once to take measures to assure the installation of an incinerator and to provide for the installation of a modern system of collecting and removing household garbage and ashes.

STILL DISCUSSING THE CITY GARBAGE QUESTION

Another Meeting Held Yesterday—Dr. Pratt Tells How Providence Disposes of its Garbage at a Profit.

Another conference between the board of health and the sub-committee of the Council, was held yesterday afternoon, when the question of installing an incinerator and instituting a system of collecting and disposing of garbage and ashes was discussed. A proposition was received from Mr. Carrivie of the Carrivie-Patterson Co., offering to enter into a contract to remove all garbage and ashes for ten years for $15,000 a year. His proposition, he said, was based on the idea of having house to house collections twice a week in summer and possibly in winter, but it did not involve the providing of barrels or other receptacles for holding garbage which would have to be furnished by the householders or the city.
A communication was received from the city engineer of Halifax stating that that city had four teams employed removing household refuse and that the expenditure involved was about $5,000 a year. The engineer wrote that he was about to recommend the city council of Halifax to install an incinerator.
Dr. C. M. Pratt stated that while in Providence, Rhode Island, he had made some inquiries in regard to the system of disposing of garbage there and found that the city had an arrangement by which it obtained a profit, certain portions of the garbage collected being sold to the farmers in the vicinity who fed it to hogs.
A motion was adopted stating that in the opinion of the joint committee the city council ought to authorize the calling of tenders for the work of collecting and removing household refuse and to take measures to secure the erection of an incinerator as soon as possible.

A. O. H. Excursions.
The A. O. H. excursion to St. Stephen and Calais on the 4th of July promises to be one of the events of the summer. A C. P. R. train will be chartered for the occasion.
