S. S. Conventions.

The Eighth Annual Convention of the Northumberland County Sunday School Association opened in the Methodist Church here on Monday and continued yesterday.

The field secretary, Rev. A. Lucas, and the secretary, Mr. H. T. McLachlan, and a large number of delegates were present.

The programme for each session was an interesting one.

The Union Advocate invites all its readers to contribute to the items under the head of "Personal."

St. John Notes.

(From our regular correspondent.)

St. John, July 29, 1895. Rev. Messrs. Crossly and Hunter, who have a series of revival services in Centenary Methodist Church last spring and according to their own computation were instrumental in bringing 1200 souls to the cross, will visit the city again in September.

I counted fifteen baby carriages on King Square at one time the other day. It suddenly occurred to me that a noted French Scientist discovered a few years ago that his race would of necessity become extinct in the course of a few hundred years if the birth rate did not increase.

Tourists are arriving every day and the hotels are doing a good business in consequence. Several large excursion parties have paid the city a visit since last writing.

After remaining here a day or two they dispersed, some going across the bay and others going up north. Their object is to take in the province. When they have done this to their satisfaction they will return to St. John and probably take the boat for home, Boston or New York.

In spite of all the efforts of all our mutual friends to put a stop to Sunday excursions from this city these outings are becoming more popular every week.

Not only do the so-called lower classes patronize them but men and women in the higher walks of life do not hesitate to leave the city by steamer or boat on the Sabbath.

After all that has been said and written deprecating Sunday excursions I have failed to discover wherein the great sin lies. Very many persons who would not on account of their religious or moral scruples patronize a Sunday excursion seldom hesitate to go out walking or driving on Sunday for pleasure.

I never knew one of those persons who had scruples about leaving the city Sunday evening for Boston or New York on business and pleasure combined. I do not say there is not such a person living, but the majority of them certainly die young, very young.

I am willing to believe that a Sunday excursion conducted loosely is not to the best good of any community, but neither is a so-called religious meeting when similarly conducted.

I have attended divine services when the preacher insisted half his hearers, and this does not happen in the back districts or it is confined to any particular preacher or denomination.

There are men, and women too, in every city who find it impossible to get into the country during the week days. They are shut up in an office, store, factory, or work shop, all the week.

When Sunday comes they long for a breath of God's pure air. The husband, we may say, leaves town and takes his wife and children, and they visit perhaps a beautiful island away from the din and confusion, they rest beneath the branches of the green trees, they wander over the fields, they pluck the wild flowers, they get a breath of God's untainted air.

They return to the city in the evening refreshed and feeling ten times better than they would have felt had they remained at home and attended church two or three times. Wherein does the sin lie?

The grammar school cadets spent twelve days at Bathurst, and returned on Monday boys brigade as long a period in camp at Seaside Cove. There were about 40 in the first and 75 in the last named camp.

Hundreds of persons visited the boys. Before leaving up they were inspected by Lt. Col. Mansel who complimented them highly. The remainder of the day was given up to sports for which prizes were given. There was no sickness, and all the boys were delighted with their outing.

Sold's boys were in town two days and one week. It is one of the best of the boys ever seen here. Three thousand persons crossed the ferry from Carleton the first day the ferry was in town. Sixty-two of the boys' employments struck the night before the show for Moncton. They were promptly paid off and discharged. They wandered around the city spending their money, and, in the majority of cases, getting drunk, until Thursday when Mayor Robertson arranged with the C. P. R. authorities to carry them to Vancouver at $100 per head. They went.

H. M. S. Canada arrived in port on Thursday last. She is only about 2,000 tons but is a pretty looking boat. The leading groceries of this city signed an agreement to close their stores at 10 o'clock two evenings a week. But after the first week one or two got frightened and opened, and as this was a case where the minority ruled, the agreement was annulled. The hardware store tried to close at eight o'clock but four men insisted upon remaining open all the evening and the others had to fall in line with them.

Messrs. Raymond & Doherty, of the Lloyd Hotel, have arranged for a passenger elevator. The steamer Prince Rupert, which was laid up a week or two ago, is again on the route between this city and Digby and Annapolis. This boat and the Monticello will make a hard fight.

The Prince Rupert is said to be owned by the C. P. R. company, and the Monticello is subsidized by the federal government. New Brunswickers appear to be in every part of the globe. A gentleman recently received a letter from Mr. John Sandall, chief engineer of the S. S. Ontario, playing between New York and Colon. The steamer is the Columbian and belongs to the Panama R. R. Co. It is in opposition to the Pacific Mail S. S. Co. The master mechanic of the Panama R. R. is a New Brunswicker, Mr. Mott, formerly of the L. C. R. He belongs to Campbellton, N. B. One of the drivers on the road is a Prince Edward Islander, Mr. Fraser. He writes that there are at present a large number of steamship men idle in New York.

Mr. Amerson is superannuated because there is nothing for him to do that may not be done by other members of the staff.—World.

A petition was being circulated round town yesterday afternoon asking the employees a holiday to enable them to go to Chatham and see the circus. The probabilities were that the prayer of the petition would be complied with as the petition was unopposed.

New Blank Forms have been issued by the necessary authority as required by law in New Brunswick and the new forms of Teachers' agreement according to the School Law Manual of 1892 can be obtained at the Advocate office.

Who Didn't Fit.

Officer John Collins, of the L. C. R., received his new official suit the other day. He was filled with joy when he opened the parcel, but when he tried on he was filled with consternation. Mr. Collins is a large man, particularly as regards length, but he is not large enough to do justice to the suit him. The trousers alone would have amply sufficed for the whole suit. The mystery was cleared up on Friday, however. The clothes were in fact the property of a man of the name of Collins who had been working on the railway division, before whose size Mr. Collins stands in insignificance. Reports have not stated whether the conductor tried to squeeze into Mr. Collins's suit or not, but a gentleman who has been working on the railway has occasioned a laugh among his fellow-workmen.—Globe.

Obituary.

The news arrived here on Saturday morning from New Glasgow of the death of Mr. James A. Murray, only son of Rev. James Murray, formerly of Newcastle. Mr. Murray had only been married for about five weeks and much sympathy is felt for the young widow as well as for the father and sister of the deceased. The remains arrived here on Sunday morning, being accompanied by the wife of deceased and her sister, and Rev. James Murray and Miss Murray, the funeral taking place on Sunday afternoon, the remains being interred in St. James' Church burying ground.

At Nelson, Wednesday afternoon, July 26th, after much suffering which she bore with patience and resignation, Bertha E. beloved daughter of John M. and Katherine Sutton, passed quietly away. She was much loved by all who knew her. She was followed to the grave by a large number of relatives and friends from Moncton, Chatham, Newcastle and all surrounding districts. The loss of her bright life as daughter and sister is deeply mourned—yet they are comforted knowing that she has gone to the Father who knows all we are and fits us for the life he has prepared for us.

Local Pickups.

Wednesday and Thursday were hot dry days. On Thursday afternoon there was a thunder squall with heavy rain for a short time. Heavy rain set in about 8 o'clock in the evening, accompanied with thunder. The rain was much needed.

Mr. T. W. Crocker took a picnic party of thirty and forty, mostly children, over to Beaulieu's Island on Wednesday afternoon, they having left on the steamer, which was then invited by Mrs. Crocker. They spent a pleasant time, returning about 8 o'clock. Tea was served on the island.

Business reading notices inserted in this column at ten cents per line. The steamer Bessie, owned by Mr. T. W. Crocker, brought up a lot of mackerel on Saturday, and as they arrived too late for shipment that day to the States, our torpedoes had an opportunity of getting some of these fine fish.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, July 27, 1895. Secretary Olney has provided the session of the day. He swooped down on all sorts of sensational rumors by hastily summoning all the members of the Cabinet to the State Department.

The opinion prevails in Washington that another proclamation against the Cuban sympathizers will be the proper thing from a diplomatic standpoint, but that it will have no effect on the sentiment of a nation that began its business by dumping a formal consignment of tea in Boston harbor.

Nothing Better in The World.

We call the attention of THE ADVOCATE readers to the Clubbing Arrangement in which the good reader can get at a low rate that magnificent weekly newspaper the FAMILY HERALD and WEEKLY STAR of Montreal. Wherever the English language is spoken, the FAMILY HERALD and WEEKLY STAR is appreciated as an enormous boon to the public.

Before setting out to read, however, he will visit Gray Gables, in order to promptly receive the President with the result of his mission to the National Capital.

There will be a tea and fancy sale in the afternoon of the residence of Mr. T. W. Flett on Wednesday next. The sale will be lighted with electric lights, and will be in attendance, and the Nelson will carry passengers to and fro at a single fare and remain at her wharf in Nelson until 9 o'clock. Read ad for full particulars.

Judging from the preparations being made by the ladies of St. Mary's R. C. Church here they expect a large number to attend their picnic on Tuesday next, on the new convent grounds. A brass band will be in attendance and the steamer Nelson and Ruellet will carry passengers to and from Newcastle at a single fare.

A good housekeeper is wanted for a small family, applications to be made at this office.

Youths Corner. GLADNESS. A woman of gold, all summer stored, and filled from springtime's scantier hoard. Since the sweet buttercup; And from the singing of the breeze And low, sweet sound of rain, The little brook leaves melodies To sing them back again.

HOW DONALD ACCOMPLISHED. Donald was a very bashful boy. Not only bashful, but shy and awkward, and quite plain featured. And somehow, as is most always the case, there were plenty to tell him of his shortcomings. But if Donald lacked grace of form or feature, he was not without courage and perseverance.

A BRAVE MOUSE. I met a little mouse on my travels the other day that interested me. He was on his travels also, and we met in the middle of a mountain lake. I was casting my fly there when I saw just sketched or etched upon the glassy surface a delicate V-shaped figure, the point of which reached above the middle of the lake, while the two sides as they diverged faded out toward the shore. I saw the point of this V was being slowly pushed toward the opposite shore. I drew near in my boat, and beheld a little mouse swimming vigorously for the opposite shore. His little legs appeared like swiftly revolving wheels beneath him. As I came near he dived under the water to escape me, but came up again like a cork, and just as quickly. It was laughable to see him repeatedly duck beneath the surface and pop back again in a twinkling. He could not keep under water more than a second or two. Presently I reached

Strange, but True. The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anemic persons grow fleshy rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

Every Hack Makes a Breach. In the system, strains the lungs and prepares a way for pneumonia, often fatal consumption.

PYNY-PECTORAL. positively cures coughs and colds in a surprisingly short time. It's a scientific certainty, tested and true, soothing and healing in its effects. LARGE BOTTLE, ONLY 25 CENTS.

And remarks might come from some comrades, probably from the cowardly spirit. His conscientiousness led him to a keen sense of right and wrong, though he blushed painfully at times, swallowed a dreadful lump in his throat, and disposed of his hands he knew not how.

And there was another drawback to Donald's career. Naturally, he was not a quick scholar. He had to work for all he acquired. It was steady perseverance that brought him off conqueror. When reports were made up for the term and Donald's rank in scholarship was average—I think it was seven in a class of fifteen—and his deportment one hundred, his mother was greatly pleased. She said she was satisfied he had done the best he could. In department, that which was within his control, he was perfect.

But there came a test requiring firm hold of brave qualities. It was not to risk life or limb, confess a wrong, or implicate another for truth's sake. It was simply to take the floor in debate in a village lyceum, also act as secretary of the society. At first he thought he must refuse, but that grip of perseverance helped him out. He said: "I'll do the best I can." When he began to talk he felt his shyness terribly, but after a little he was so interested in what he was saying that he forgot himself, and the audience forgot him, too; they were so pleased with his subject, Little by little he overcame.

Is it any wonder that he became one of the leading men in his native town, that term after term he sat in the Legislature? Trying is an overcomer.—Christian Work.

Farm and Household. THE OUTLOOK FOR HAY. (TRADE BULLETIN.) Last year's crop of hay in the province of Quebec was unquestionably the heaviest ever produced, and the dullness of the market during the last winter and spring, combined with low and declining prices, caused large supplies to be held over, which are now being placed on the market at an advance of 25 to 34 per cent upon prices obtained about two months ago. Our advice both by mail and cable, point to the fact that England will require a good portion of our surplus yield; but the demand is not expected to set in until after the results of the second crop of hay on the other side are known. There can be no doubt that the crop of western Ontario will be short, probably 33 per cent below that of last year; but east of Kingston there will be an all likelihood be a fair average yield. We have received private advices from Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, Boston and New York, reporting a short crop, and firms have written us from these points asking us to post them on the prospects of the new hay crop in Canada, and our replies have been to the effect that although in some points of this province there is an undoubted shortage of 20 to 25 per cent, as compared with that of last year, on the whole there will probably be a good average crop, but certainly not as large as that of 1894, which was an exceptionally heavy one. That we have entered upon an era of more remunerative prices for farmers there can be no doubt, and if the foreign demand, which it is

THE ACIDS OF FRUITS. The general acid of the rhubarb is tartaric acid, which is the chief acid of the present advance. In any event, it has already proved a good thing for Love Canadas.

It will be observed that rhubarb is the only fruit which contains bicarbonate of potash in conjunction with an acid. Beet root owes its nutritious quality to about nine per cent of sugar which it contains, and its flavor is a peculiar substance containing nitrogen mixed with peptic acid.

The carrot owes its fattening power also to sugar, and its flavor to a peculiar fatty oil; the horse-radish derives its flavor and blistering power from a volatile acid oil. The Jerusalem artichoke contains fourteen and a half per cent of sugar and three per cent of inulin (a variety of starch), besides gum and a peculiar substance to which its flavor is owing; and, lastly, garlic and the rest of the onion family derive their peculiar odor from a yellowish, volatile acid oil, but they are nutritious from containing nearly half their weight of gummy and glutinous substances not yet clearly defined.—G. W. Johnson, in the Chemistry of the World.

Bad eggs come to be sold for the following reasons: 1st. Because the eggs are not gathered once or twice a day. 2nd. By not having proper places or hens to lay. 3rd. Allowing the nests in which the hens usually lay to become infested with vermin, and so causing the layers to avoid them. 4th. Allowing male birds to run with the hens and the eggs so becoming fertilized. 5th. Allowing broody hens to sit upon eggs intended for market. 6th. Collecting eggs from nests stolen by the hens and selling such eggs on the market.

In putting down eggs for winter use, or to hold in pickle for a higher market, removing the male birds from the laying hens will be found especially valuable. What is to be done with the roosters? Will be a question some will not know how to get over; but the ordinary barn-yard cock is not usually an expensive bird, so that he may be beheld for a roast or pot-pie, and another one purchased the next spring as a stock bird. There will be a double benefit in this, as there will be less vermin and moneys used, which will tend to improve the stock.

OLD VIRGINIA KETCHUP. Take one peck green tomatoes, half a peck of white onions, three ounces of white mustard seed, one ounce each of saltpetre and cloves, half a pint of mixed mustard, an ounce of black pepper and celery seed each, and one pound of brown sugar, writes Eliza R. Parker in an article on 'Some Pungent Ketchups,' in the July Ladies' Home Journal. Chop the tomatoes and onions separately with salt and let stand three hours; drain the water off; put in a preserve kettle with the other ingredients. Cover with vinegar, and set on the fire to boil slowly for one hour.

All vegetables should be put in boiling water when set on the stove to cook. Peas, asparagus, potatoes and all delicately flavored vegetables should be only covered with water, but those with a strong flavor, like carrots, turnips, cabbage, onions and cauliflower should be cooked in a generous quantity of boiling water. All green vegetables should be cooked with the cover partly off the stew pan. It gives them a better color and a more delicious flavor. The average housekeeper is careless as to the time of cooking vegetables, yet a vegetable is as much injured by too much cooking as by too little cooking.—is a loaf of bread.
