For my heart bears loud and fast,

As they carry home their sheaves; And the evening breeze has risen, And rustles the dying leaves. Listen! there are voices talking. Calmly still she strove to speak, And the red flushed in her cheek. It is only the children playing Below, new their work is done,

By the rays of the setting sun." Fainter grew her voice and weaker, As with an anxious eve she cried, "Down the avenue of chestuuts, I can hear a horseman ride." It is only the deer that were feeding They were startled and fled to the thicket As they saw the reapers pass." Now the night arose in silence,

Birds lay in their leafy nest. And the deer couched in their forest And the children were at rest : From watchers around a bed. But rest to the weary spirit,

Peace to the quiet Dead.
