

Western Fair a
Breaker.Temperature Starts Towards Coming.Aberdeen See the Evening Attractions.Heartily Welcomed by the Huge Audience.They Were Much Pleased—A Fine Ring Programme—The Speeding.

There is no music so delicious to the ears of the Western Fair directors these days as the clock-click of the turnstiles. Consequently, yesterday was "one grand sweet song" to them, as Grover Cleveland said of his married life.

Pessimists were routed by yesterday's developments. It was the best Tuesday the Fair has ever seen. The number of people on the grounds was estimated at 10,000, who should be trebled today. Tuesday is a good day on which to see the Fair—better, perhaps, than any other. All the exhibits are in shape—all are fresh and clean—and the visitor escapes the rush and crush of Wednesday and Thursday, although at its human nature to wish to be in the crowd.

The fair was largely in evidence yesterday. To him, the exhibition is infinitely more diverting and instructive than to the busy citizen, to whom the circus features are the most attractive. The fairer finds entertainment in every department. The cattle, sheep and swine, with much curiosity, are to him subjects of both profit and delight. This was noticeable yesterday when the bulls were being judged in the open. Nearly every animal in turn was surrounded by scores, not only of the fathers and sons from the township, but of their burrow wives and fair daughters, who can size up a horse, a cow, a bull, a pig, or a sheep far more accurately than the city men.

The weather yesterday was superb. On a moderately warm day the park is a hot place. The sandy soil absorbs and radiates the sun's rays. But they were tempered yesterday by a breeze with a welcome chill in it. And for today—the greatest of the week—the directors have ordered anything better?

THE RING ATTRACTIONS.

It is pretty hard to estimate the size of the audience in the stands yesterday. The covered stand holds 5,000 people, and it was about half full. Then represents a larger crowd than could have been gathered of the week-old one. Then the open stand to the north was completely full, and the open one to the south one-third full. There looked to be about 5,000 people seated. There may have been a thousand more or a thousand less. In addition hundreds lined the fence in the open. It was certainly a larger patronage than Tuesday of last year saw, and the directors appeared to be perfectly satisfied.

The show again gave their splendid feats of strength and acrobatic skill, and appeared to be greatly pleased by the applause showered upon them by the audience. Abdullah performed a new feat, carrying a man on his head, upside down, for 100 yards. He was deservedly applauded.

THE RACING.

The 2:30 trot and the running race were the turf events. In the trot there were only three starters. In the first two heats Alvin won easily, with Canada Southern second each time, but the latter was back to third place by the judges for running. In the third heat all three broke shortly after the start. In the second lap Billy E. broke badly, while Canada Southern showed great form and pushed Lady Alvin hard, losing by a neck. Summary:

2:30 class trotting, mile heats, best three in five, purse $100:
Lady Alvin, A. M. Mascare, St. Thomas.....1 1 1
Billy E., David Hughes, Michell, 2 3
Canada Southern, P. Jarvis, Delaware.....5 2

Time: 2:43, 2:41 1-4, 2:42 1-4.
Five horses started in the running race, and McCormick had it all his own way. Twenty minutes and lost in starting the first heat, and Tormenter got off away behind the field, but the judges claimed he had tormented them long enough to win. Both heats were good sport. Summary:

Running, 5-8 mile heats, best two in three, purse $100:
McCormick, E. Frank Elliott, 1 1
Goderich, E. Frank Elliott, 1 1
Stm W., E. Frank Elliott, 1 1
Asa Toy, Wm. Murray, 4 3
Cleveland, H. L. Fitzgibbon, 3 4
Edward, A. H. Adis, St. Thomas, 5 5
Time: 1:08, 1:07.

HURDLE JUMPING.

Mr. Adam Beck's jumpers, Longshot, Huntsman, and Ladylike, ridden by Wm. Wilson, of Toronto, gave a hurdle jumping exhibition in the ring, which was much enjoyed. Four fences in a row were erected, and each horse cleared three of them, but generally kicked down the first or last one. A jumper of some reputation owned by Robert Chambers, of Currie, Oxford county, refused to take the jumps at all, being evidently scared by the immense audience, which had almost given up hope of seeing them. The pavilion had been specially decorated for them, the railings being twisted with red, white and blue bunting, and the floor carpeted with choice Brussels. But when the shining silk hats of Mayor Little, Col. Lewis, Col. Gairshore, and Thomas Beattie, M.P., burst in splendor on the scene, and approached the electric line of the pavilion, the people knew that victory had come, and rose in expectancy. They soon caught sight of the tall forms and familiar features of Lord and Lady Aberdeen, and a hearty cheer went up from the thousands of throats, the band meanwhile playing the National Anthem. Their Excellencies bowed to right and left, and smiled gratefully, and then sat down to enjoy the remainder of the ring performance. On Lord Aberdeen's right were Mrs. Little, the Mayor, and several ladies of the local National Council of Women. On his left were Lady Aberdeen, Mrs. English, and Mr. E. N. English, in the order named.

The air was rather chilly, and her Excellency was well wrapped up in a heavy cloak. His Excellency wore a dark overcoat when he arrived, but even that was not proof against the keen air, and he donned a second one of light color, pulling the collar well over his ears. He appeared to be delighted with the attractions, and applauded every feature. He was particularly demonstrative when Abdullah performed his great act of supporting eleven members of the troupe. The cavalry maneuvers in the wild west show interested him very much, and when the British troops appeared to the tune of "God Save the Queen," he arose bareheaded. The performances closed with a fine display of fireworks, a set piece, representing Lord Aberdeen being received with much applause.

The ring attendance in the evening was very gratifying, and was even larger than in the afternoon. This was particularly so in the covered stand. Had the train bearing Lord and Lady Aberdeen arrived on time, many who awaited at the station would have gone to the grounds.

NOTES.

The Ayrshire cow owned by Mr. Nichols, of Glenora, died yesterday in the cattle sheds. Dr. Himmann, of Winnipeg, is one of the judges in the horse department. Standard bred stallions and mares, and single horses in harness were judged this morning at 9:30 in front of the grand stand. Mr. Edward R. Minihnick was clerk of the course yesterday. Messrs. John R. Minihnick and Dan Ferguson were the judges. Dr. O'Neill the starter. George Wenige, of Cleveland, started to ride a quarter-mile backwards on his bicycle, but fell off when half finished.

Carriage horses, high steppers, and general purpose horses were judged in the ring during the afternoon. Mr. Adam Beck's team won in the carriage class. Dr. O'Neill and L. Meredith showed the only two high steppers.

Society Row was occupied by the I. O. P., Canadian Home Circles, K. O. K., and Wodmen of the World. It looked like a party.

Mrs. S. Belton, of con. 5, London township, had her pocket deftly picked of $5 yesterday on the grounds. A number of complaints were heard at the directors' meeting yesterday. They were requested to remove Mr. W. J. Laidlaw, of Wilton Grove, a judge of sheep, because a number of exhibitors lived near him. Messrs. W. H. Abbott and Alfred Tume protested against Mrs. C. W. Leonard and Wm. Van Den Broeck being judges in amateur class, because some of their pupils were exhibiting. Messrs. Hill, Cox and Ackland, swine exhibitors, protested against the appointment of Thomas Teasdale as a judge of swine, because he was a breeder of a number of animals entered. The complaints were all filed. Messrs. Laidlaw and Teasdale having been sanctioned by the Sheep Breeders' Association. There was some talk about the unreasonable demand for ring badges, and as a result the number will be very limited next year.

Don't fail to see the Anderson double-acting force pump at Exhibition—near the windmills. Never freezes. Works in any depth. 15c

NOTABLE EXHIBITS.

GAMMAGE'S BEAUTIFUL EXHIBIT. Messrs. J. Gammas & Sons are again exhibiting a number of plants and flowers, and their beautiful display is one of the most pleasing on the grounds. When the first sight of the exhibit, its sweet-scented floral beauties afford a decided relief to his weary senses. Some of the flowers are finer than ever before exhibited—six varieties of canna's, in particular. There are a dozen varieties of canna's in all, and a magnificent collection of roses and carnations. The floral work is of the highest order, and the dinner table decorations, composed of Meteor roses, are perfect, both as to arrangement and flowers used. To the natural beauty of the floral display is an addition which does not in the least detract from the interest the exhibit excites. It consists of the prize cards, showing that Messrs. Gammas & Sons have been awarded for plants, ten firsts, three seconds, and one third, and for cut flowers, eleven firsts, two seconds and one third.

BRANDFORD GALVANIZED STEEL

WIND MILLS. The enterprising firm, Gould, Shapley & Muir Company (Ltd.), of Bradford, are again making a splendid exhibit of their celebrated Ideal Steel Galvanized Windmills and Maple Leaf Grain Grinders, fitted with patent roller and ball bearings. The vice-president, Mr. John Muir, informed our reporter that the sales of these goods at the Toronto Fair exceeded the utmost expectations, and gave as the main reason the great and growing popularity of the roller and ball bearings first introduced by Gould, Shapley & Muir Co. (Ltd.), and controlled by patent. While in conversation with our reporter, Mr. Muir's ideas came up and said he had used one of the Bradford roller bearings, power wind engines for a year, and was delighted with it, having had all the power necessary to drive his cutting box, grain grinder and root pulper, in addition to pumping all the water required on his large farm. He added that he wished every farmer and stock raiser knew the worth of the Bradford roller mill, for they could not find anything better or a firm more worthy of full confidence. The firm state that the Maple Leaf Grain Grinder, proving a wonderful success, nearly five hundred being sold within a year, and the prospects are excellent for large sales this fall. They are ready to let their work. It is adapted to any kind of power.

A BRILLIANT ELECTRIC DISPLAY

BY THE ROGERS ELECTRIC COMPANY.

The showrooms at 425 Richmond street afford one of the principal attractions for visitors to London during the Western Fair. The show winery awaited for an hour by the immense audience, which had almost given up hope of seeing them. The pavilion had been specially decorated for them, the railings being twisted with red, white and blue bunting, and the floor carpeted with choice Brussels. But when the shining silk hats of Mayor Little, Col. Lewis, Col. Gairshore, and Thomas Beattie, M.P., burst in splendor on the scene, and approached the electric line of the pavilion, the people knew that victory had come, and rose in expectancy. They soon caught sight of the tion and electric light and gas fixtures. Their work can be seen in scores of fine residences, and eight or ten large churches in London and Western Ontario towns—notably St. Paul's Cathedral, First Methodist Church, London West Methodist Church, in London; First Methodist Church, St. Thomas, Presbyterian Church, Pelee Island, and the churches in Exeter. This firm is also engaged in putting in private electric plants, private telephone lines, etc. Their automatic speaking-tube and call system for warehouses has proved very efficient as a means of communication between the different departments in banks, warehouses and other places. This system has been installed in the Huron and Erie Bank, J. S. Pearce & Co.'s establishment, D. S. Perry & Co.'s biscuit factory, and is now being adopted at the City Hall.

A pack of 25 hounds is being trained for the hunt, which is to take place some time this month. The same rules governing fox hunts in England will obtain.

A return match with the Philadelphia will be played on the grounds of the Marion Cricket Club at Haverford on Oct. 2, 3 and 5.

AQUATIC.

SALE OF THE VICTORIOUS CANADA.

A large crowd of yachtsmen and citizens generally gathered at a Toronto auction room yesterday to witness the sale of the champion yacht, Canada. The syndicate has decided to build another yacht to meet the challenge of the Endeavour Assn. The Canada cost $5,500. Finally the boat was knocked down to George A. Hamilton, who is expected to be the Sanford Company, for $3,250.

QUOTING.

Halifax, Sept. 13.—Attorney-General Longuey won the Governor-General's medal in the foot competition here.

ATHLETICS.

POOR JACK!

Jake Kilrain made a pitiful showing in his fight with Slavin at Baltimore. It was expected that a good fight would be witnessed, but the minute Kilrain stepped into the ring this idea was dissipated. After fighting for about two minutes, in which time Kilrain was unable to land any effective blows, Slavin punched him in the arm around Kilrain's neck and gave him a blow on the jaw, and it was all over. Kilrain fell to the floor and could not get up before the referee had counted ten. The fight lasted just 2 1-4 minutes.

"You bet I have got a lot of money in that old carpet bag. I was kinder thinkin' of speculatin' with it."

"Oh, not at all, not if it's well invested. People only lose their money through carelessness. But of course some one has to lose money to keep the stuff properly in circulation."

"Well, I ain't got much money to lose, and I'm tired if I was to open that 'ere bag that mine would get to circulate, and you bet it would circulate mighty fast."

"Well, if you did lose it it would stick to some one's fingers."

"You bet your blame life she would."

and she'd stick purty gol-derned fast."

"So you don't want me to invest it for you?"

"I'm a little bit scary 'bout puttin' it in wheat."

"No risk whatever," said Bloomfield.

"Why, I tell you, Mr. Tatman, a good speculator can pick money off the trees here in Chicago."

Bloomfield's expression tickled Tatman. He laughed uproariously, and then said:

"You can pick it off the trees in Bunkum, too, but you can't keep it long, 'cause it circulates too dern fast."

By this time the men were growing impatient, and Tatman noticed that they looked more frequently and longer at the carpet bag. He thought it about time to take his revenge, so he said:

"Well, gentlemen, I reckon I'd better be a-goin', and I'd like to leave that 'ere money with you, so as it'll be safe while I hunt up a stoppin' place."

The men were perfectly willing to accommodate Farmer Tatman. They assured him that the carpet bag and its contents would be perfectly safe, and that they would be willing to wait until he came back.

"Much obliged, gentlemen," and Tatman arose. "Tisn't very often that a fellow meets such kind friends as you are in a strange city, and it's kinder soothin' to know that a feller's leavin' his money with honest people."

"I'll be back in about an hour," And Tatman once more thanked his friends as he passed out of the room, closing the door behind him.

Tatman did not leave the saloon, as the men expected. By a clever dodge he managed to slip the key of the door in the pocket before he left the room. He remained on the outside long enough to silently turn the bolt in the lock, after which he slipped into the adjoining room. He did not wait long before he heard one of the men say:

"Well, that was the easiest snap I ever saw." Silas recognized the voice as that of Cunningham. Then Bloomfield answered:

"Except when you could rob a fellow before his eyes and he wouldn't know it. Hand up the granger's grip-sack."

Tatman heard the sound of the grip-sack striking the top of the table. Then he heard them prying at the lock. Presently he heard the clasp give, and in another instant a piercing yelp rent the air. Whack! Crash! Bang! The chairs were hurled about, and the table was tumbled over in the mad scramble for the door.

Then he heard some one say: "Great heavens! They're hornets, and the door is locked."

The howls and yelps which followed brought the bartender and the pump prior to the scene. The Bunkum farmer seized the opportunity to slip out of the saloon, and as he was passing into the street he heard the door crash in as one of the men on the inside dealt it a blow with a chair.

Over his shoulder he saw a stream of hornets sail after the bartender.

Twenty minutes later, from his retreat in the alley across the street, Tatman saw his five friends limping out of the saloon in the ambulance, which had been called, and which had backed up to the curbstone.

TRACK OF A SAND WAVE.

It is Creeping Slowly Over Woods and Farms in Northern New York.

New York Sun.

Between Carthage and Stillington, in Jefferson county, N. Y., there is a stretch of country where the sand drifts like snow, making great banks, and blinding the eyes of those who look up-wind. It is a desolate, barren region, where the soil is only as deep as the roots of the grass.

Some time or other a cattle turned loose to pasture on the southwest side of a high hill there made a trail along the face of it. Their hoofs were through the thin sand, and the tracks caught up the particles of sand and sent them spinning up the hillside.

Trucks of this old trail may still be seen down in the hollow, and most of it has been blown away. The whole hill became a wave of sand, and now it is rolling down in grade toward the house of one of the three shanty settlers along the road. It is certain to bury the house some day under a wave of sand from 25 to 40 feet high.

The old Alexandria road is covered in one place with the sand to a depth of three feet. The wagon that passes over the road in the morning leaves a deep rut where the wheels sank in. The tread of the horses is heavy, but at night the sand has sifted in, and there remains scarcely a sign of travel.

The great wave of sand kills everything before it, buries the fence, and covers the stumps and bushes. Some roots and sticks show through, telling where the bushes have been. A patch of woods beyond the ranch of the main wave has a fence along its southern face over a hill that slopes down among the trees. A fairly level stretch leads from the foot of the hill to the south. On this level sandy spots show. Behind the fence is a bank of sand, and another from the sand patches down on the level. The woods, the hollow, in which they lie, and the patch of woods beyond, are all to be buried before long by the hill.

PURE GOLD.

Gold, when refined from all impurities, is denominated pure. This means gold of 24 carats, and this is the standard recognized by the mint master and dealers in gold.

However, there is no gold so pure. Gold of 22 carats is about as pure as it can be had. Certainly it is the best for jewelry, for pure gold, as it is called, is too soft and will wear away much faster than the owners of it desire.

ABOUT EYES.

The eyes of fish and birds are round, with no angles at the corners. The eyes of birds that fly by night are generally about double the size of day birds.

"Bryanarchy" is the latest coined name for the new Democracy in the States.

The telephone is almost indispensable in modern business. Even in the Pennsylvania mines it is now to be found.

Who says there is no money in sheep? Two long wool rams were sold for $1,325 apiece recently at Lincoln, England, while a third brought $1,650.

Johannesburg, the boom city of South Africa, has now a population of 102,714. A few years ago it did not exist. We may have a similar mining capital in the Canadian Rockies before long. The hopes are big.

When in Mexico a man has to look to the newspaper quotations of silver to know the value of the dollar in his pocket. This is one of the disadvantages of a purely silver currency.

New Zealand's Legislative Council has just voted to exclude the Chinese and all other Asiatics from the colony. In Australia, an import tax of $500 a head is charged. Being much nearer China, the antipodal colonies have been subjected to greater trouble from the Chinese than Canada has. But it is well to keep restricting the immigration of these non-assimilating races, with their lowered standard of living.

Graham, a poor boy, having a hard time of it to get along, being a post-office clerk in London, stole $21 with which to purchase a money-making contrivance, and he has come to our penitentiary for three years. All post-office offenders have not been similarly dealt with—Kingston Whiz.

There is much truth in this moralizing. In recent years there has been too great tendency to administer the law regarding this crime, so as to shield the influential. With a new Administration there should be no more of that.

The Attack On Lord Aberdeen. The Tupper attack on Lord Aberdeen has fizzled out.

There will be no want of confidence motion on the subject of the Governor-General's treatment of the defeated and discredited Ministry.

A discussion in the Conservative caucus yesterday revealed the fact that if the Opposition leader insisted on the motion, of which he had given notice, virtually attacking the Queen's representative for not letting him run riot after his defeat by the country, the majority for the new Government would be even larger than it was in the first vote of the session.

There may be a parting kick on the subject, but the Opposition will not dare to take the sense of the House on the question.

It is a big back-down, but it is warranted by the weakness of the case against his Excellency.

Sir Charles Tupper asserts that Lord Aberdeen dismissed him. That is nonsense. The people of Canada performed the dismissal act.

Lord Aberdeen is wronged when he is denounced as a partisan. In the circumstances, his Excellency would have been a partisan if he had done anything more than he did for the stop-gap, non-representative party leader, who now traduces him.

Happenings and Prophecies. The result of the State elections in Maine would have been overwhelmingly in favor of the Republicans, even though President Cleveland had not, on Saturday last, publicly repudiated the platform of his party, as laid down in the National Convention at Chicago. But there can be no doubt that the stand taken by Cleveland, on the eve of polling, had a powerful influence in securing the very large majority for the gold standard polled in the election of Monday. This position was ably seconded by Mr. Flower, the ex-Democratic Governor of New York State, who stumped Maine against the silver candidate. The majority for the Republicans is very large; it was a little over 20,000 in 1894; this year, it is over 50,000. The Democrats have carried every county in the State. They have elected every State Senator. At least 140 out of 155 members of the House are Republican, as is every county official. The demoralization of the divided Democracy in the home of Mr. Sewall, their candidate for the Vice-Presidency, could scarcely be more complete.

While these happenings are chronicled from Maine, events in New York are indicating that there is rupture in the Democratic party in that one-time pivotal State, and that little, if any, hope remains that it can be carried by Bryan. This week the Democratic State convention takes place in Buffalo, and its managers assert that it will go free silver by as great a majority as went the National Convention. If the convention endorses Bryan, the former Democratic Lieutenant-Governor of the State, Wm. F. Sheehan, announces that he will no longer serve on the national committee, and it is probable that ex-Governor Hill will take the same position.

These desertions may discourage Mr. Bryan, the Democratic nominee, but if they do, he keeps his discomfiture well concealed. In his latest interview, he expresses the belief that "every State west of the Missouri River and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers will be swept by the victorious free of a restored Democracy. He looks to carry every Western State, every Southern State. He finds from his advisers, and the letters descend upon him in vivid clouds of mail, as well as from his own knowledge, that the Democracy is sure of Kentucky, also of Maryland and Delaware. Coming to the North, he is confident of success in Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and New York. He finds, too, that McKinley will have to "hustle" to save his fat from the fire in Ohio itself. As for Iowa, it is ablaze for silver, and the Republicans, so far seen, are powerless to extinguish the flames. The Hanna crowd have no fire department but their purses, and the people are not to be bought or cooled by streams of money."

Some indications of the correctness of these rosy prognostications may be obtained from the results in the Georgia State election, which takes place on Oct. 7. The Democratic majority two years ago was 24,161. This year, the Democrats promise to elevate it to 50,000, thereby matching in the South the latest Republican victory in the North.

Prophecies on either side may be all astray, but in any case it will take a big Republican slump to the side of the Democracy to match the Democratic revolt against the Chicago platform which has riven the party in twain.

Happenings and Prophecies.

Extremely Interesting is the Century for September, and beautifully illustrated. Perhaps the most startling article—if such an adjective may be applied to anything in the Century—is Mr. Henry Fairfield Osborn's "Prehistoric Quadrupeds of the Rockies," which, with Mr. Charles Kulh's graphic illustrations, gives the reader a new idea of the early capabilities of this continent. Thomas Dalgleish writes of the debatable ground of the Guiana and the other contributions make the magazine, as we said at first, extremely interesting.

A Murderer Escaped.

Albert Wilson Scales a Wall in the Toronto Asylum.

He Shot a Young Girl Dead at a Church Door in Lambton Four Years Ago.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—Albert Wilson, a murderer, who was saved from gallows on the plea of insanity, succeeded in escaping Saturday from Toronto Asylum, where he has been confined for the past four years, and is still at large. The two guards who were in charge of Wilson and other inmates at the time of the escape have been summarily dismissed.

Wilson had been keeping company with a young girl in Warwick township, Lambton county. One night the girl attended church with another young man, and Wilson laid in wait for her and deliberately shot her dead at the church door. He escaped to the United States, but was subsequently arrested while parading in a procession, and was extradited by Inspector Rogers, of the Attorney-General's Department. At the trial the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity, but the general opinion in the township was that there had been a miscarriage of justice and that Wilson was perfectly sane.

Wilson was brought to the Toronto Asylum, where he has since been confined. On Saturday the two guards were ordered to take him out in the yard with the other prisoners confined in the refractory ward for exercise, but claim that they demurred, believing that as he was not insane they would be unable to watch him while in the yard. Wilson succeeded in escaping, presumably by climbing over the wall, and is still at large.

Some indications of the correctness of these rosy prognostications may be obtained from the results in the Georgia State election, which takes place on Oct. 7. The Democratic majority two years ago was 24,161. This year, the Democrats promise to elevate it to 50,000, thereby matching in the South the latest Republican victory in the North.

Twixt Love and Duty.

In the calm of his own chamber, through the silent, solemn hours, when the world was shut out of his life, Neil reviewed his position, but he could find no honorable way out of his predicament. Physically, he was as brave as brave could be; morally, he had none of that grand courage which made Joris Van Heemskirk laugh to scorn the idea of yielding God's gift of life at the demand of a passionate fool. He was quite sensible that his first words to Captain Hyde that night had been intended to provoke a quarrel, and he knew that he would be expected to redeem them by a formal defiance. However, as the idea became familiar, it became imperative; and at length it was with a fierce satisfaction he opened his desk, and without hesitation wrote the decisive words:

"To Captain Richard Hyde, of H. M. Service:
"Sir—A person of the character I bear cannot allow the treachery and dishonorable conduct of which you have been guilty to pass without punishment. Convince me that you are more of a gentleman than I have reason to believe by meeting me tonight at the sun drops in the wood on the Kalkhoo Hill. Our seconds can locate the spot, and that you may have no pretense to delay, I send by bearer two swords, of which I give you the privilege to make choice.

"In the interim, at your service,
"NEIL SEMPLE."

He had already selected Adrian Beckman as his second. He was a young man of wealth and good family, exceedingly anxious for social distinction, and moreover, so fastidiously honorable that Neil felt himself in his hands to be beyond reproach. As he anticipated, Beckman accepted the duty with alacrity, and indeed, so promptly carried out his principal's instructions that he found Capt. Hyde still sleeping when he waited upon him. But Hyde was neither astonished nor annoyed; he laughed lightly at "Mr. Semple's impudence of offense," and directed Mr. Beckman to Captain Earle as his second, leaving the choice of swords and of the ground entirely to his direction.

A more civil, agreeable, handsome gentleman impossible it would be to find, and Neil, but for his haughty temper of Neil is to blame in this affair," was Beckman's private comment. But he stood watchfully by his principal's interests, and his gentlemanly disapproval of Captain Hyde's behavior.

And lightly as Hyde had taken the challenge, he was really more inclined to fight than Neil was. In heart he knew that Semple had a just cause of anger; but he was angry, and Neil is a proud, pompous fellow, for whom I never assumed a friendship. His father's hospitality I regret in any way to have abused, but who the deuce could have expected that Neil Semple was in love with the adorable Katherine? In faith, I did not at the first, and now I am sure I would not resign the girl for my life, for I am sensible that life—if she is an other—will be a very tedious thing to me.

All day Neil was busy making his will and in disposing of his affairs. He knew himself well enough to be certain that if he struck the first blow he would not hesitate to strike the death blow, and that nothing less than such conclusive would satisfy him. Hyde also anticipated a deadly persistence of animosity in his opponent, and felt equally the necessity for some definite arrangement before his business. Unfortunately, it was in a very confused state. He owed many debts of honor, and Cohen's bill was yet unsettled. He drank a cup of coffee, wrote several important letters, and then went to Frances's and had a steak and a bottle of wine. During his meal his thoughts wandered between Katherine and Cohen. After it he went straight to Cohen's store.

It happened to be Saturday, and the shutters were closed, though the door was slightly open, and Cohen was sitting with his granddaughter in the cool shadows of the porch. Hyde was not in a ceremonious mood, and he took no thought of it being the Jews' Sabbath. He pushed wider the door and went clattering into the presence, and with an air of pride and annoyance Cohen rose to meet him. At the same time, by a quick look of intelligence, he dismissed Miriam.

About Wool in Underwear...

... Two kinds of wool—pure wool and others—a fine good wool and a coarse bad wool. The fine pure wool absorbs and dissipates the body's moisture—keeps pores open—keeps circulation perfect. Wool and cotton won't do that. It won't absorb as much—doesn't give up what it does gather. Becomes felt like—close. Coarse wool may absorb, but it irritates—closes the pores. That retards circulation too.

Health Brand Men's Underwear

... Is made of all pure wool of the finest grade produced in the world—we guarantee it. Pure wool stands for "HEALTH BRAND"—Health Brand stands for pure wool. You may return it if it is not right in every detail. What more can you ask?

THE JULIET GOLD MINE.

THE BEST OPPORTUNITY YET OFFERED IN

BRITISH * COLUMBIA * GOLD * MINES

The Stock of the English-Canadian Gold Mining Company is now for the first time offered to investors—Investors participate in all the profits of the Company, including the Juliet Mine, now owned by them—One of the Best Mining Sites in the Rossland and Trail Creek Districts—The Management in the Hands of Well-known Business Men.

This Company has been incorporated with a capital of One Million Dollars, divided into one million shares of $1 each. The shares are now placed on the market at 8 cents per share of $1, fully paid stock and non-assessable. The objects of the Company are to buy, sell and deal in mines and develop and work such mines as they may procure and conduct worth operating. Shareholders participate in all profits resulting from same. This Company has already procured the Juliet Mine, which is considered one of the best mining claims in British Columbia. The Juliet consists of a full claim of about 52 acres, and is situated in the now celebrated Rossland and Trail Creek mining district, within a stone's throw of the Columbia River on the one side, with a railway on the other with a first-class tunnel, light, and convenient to Trail Creek smelter. The Company hold a clear title to this property.

This property is mineralized throughout, having a heavy iron capping with red stain, which is considered by all to be a sure indication of gold in pay quantities. The Juliet now shows large deposits of the precious metal, and all reports obtainable the Company believe this property alone will yield to its shareholders a return equal to that of any other mining property in the Rossland district. The affairs of the Company will be amply and properly looked after by a superintendent resident at Rossland, and by officers and trustees in Toronto and Spokane. These officers are under no salary or remuneration of any kind, but are each shareholders in the Company, and depending upon future returns from the mines as a reward for their services.

A COLOSSAL PIE
Served Up to Thousands on the Anni-

Laws.

The Advertiser's Komoka correspondent recently took the following clipping from an English newspaper, which will doubtless prove interesting to many readers:

"The jubilee of the repeal of the corn laws was celebrated in a singular fashion at Danby Dale, near Huddersfield, on Aug. 1, by the serving out to thousands of people portions of an immense pie, which had been made in the village. The pie contained 1,120 pounds of beef, 150 pounds of veal, 112 pounds of mutton, and 60 pounds of lamb. The crust was made of 1,120 pounds of flour and 160 pounds of lard. The dish in which it was baked was ten feet long, 8 feet 6 inches wide, and a foot deep. A special oven had to be built, in which to bake the pie. The gross weight of the dish and pie is estimated at 3,500 pounds. Two thousand three hundred and fifty commemorative plates had been provided, which sold for one shilling each.
A steady stream of people passed through the pie to get their piece of pie to eat it, or take it away, as seemed best."

SLEEPLESSNESS is due to nervous excitement. The delicately constituted, the financier, the business man, and those whose occupation requires great mental strain or worry, all suffer less or more from it.
Sleep is the great restorer of a worn-out brain, and to get sleep cleanse the stomach from all impurities with a few doses of Farnell's Vegetable Pills, gelatin-coated, containing no mercury, and are guaranteed to give satisfaction or the money will be refunded.
