Montreal, July 25 .- A hint of what will be the attitude of the Quebec delegates at the Liberal convention to be held in August next was given by Mr. Jos. Archambault, M.P. for Chambly Vercheres, at a meeting held last night.

Mr. Archambault said that the new leader would have to be selected outside of Quebec, not because Quebec is lacking in men qualified enough, but because a Quebecer in the present circumstances would not secure a strong enough following in the other provinces while the French Liberals, who had had one of their own as a leader since 1887, would have no objection to following a chief from any other province. All that was intended was to get a man strong enough to oust the Unionist party.

Reaps Where He Never Sowed; Magic Field, Unsown 12 Years, Yields Fine Crop of Wheat

DUART, July 24.-George Haycroft, a farmer living south of here, has just cut and gathered a crop of wheat heavy enough to repay him well for the cost of harvesting, from an acre field in which wheat has not been sown for twelve years.

Last year the field was tilled and planted with barley which was reaped, but this year no crop of any kind was planted. In spite of this a good crop of wheat sprang up and has now been harvested.

The acre on which this phenomenon in agriculture occurred is cut off from the rest of the field to which it belongs by a large ditch used as a drain. The drain was built a dozen years ago, and the acre field which it separate from the rest of the field had not been cropped since the drain was built, with the exception of last year's barley. Haycroft claims that there is no mistake about the wheat having grown of its own accord, unless somebody kindly sowed it this spring inknown to him.

Will Be Paid Semi-Monthly at Rate of $420 a

TORONTO, July 24.—All danger of a strike of the letter carriers of Toronto if off apparently. They had demanded information from the department at Ottawa as to the salary and bonus under which they were working, upon which questions they seemed to be very much in the dark, and had intimated that if this information were not forthcoming today they would go strike on Friday. The information came, and was delivered by Postmaster Lemon at the meeting of the letter carriers tonight in Victoria Hall. He had received it through Deputy Postmaster General Coulter.

It was to the effect that the letter carriers here were working on the old salary basis of $939 per annum, and that the bonus which had been cut off, would be paid at the rate of $420 a year semi-monthly, the bonus to be retroactive from April 1.

There was an erroneous impression that the postal clerks of this city were joining the letter carriers in a mass meeting tonight and making demands upon the Government. A few postal clerks attended the letter carriers' meeting, but they showed little sympathy with the carriers.

An intimation was given to the letter carriers that they would not receive backing from either London or Windsor if they walked out. It seemed to be regarded as a local fight the carriers

It is useless, dangerous and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging-twisting pains of backache or to suffer disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders if a safe, simple and harmless kidney regulator like Solvax can sopromptly and surely relieve such troubies, as many users says it does.

People who suffer back weakness, rheumatic pains, puffy swellings undereyes, or in ankles and feet, or are bothered with urinary disorders, ought to try taking a little Solvax for a few days and note results.

Solvax usually begins to work in a few hours to regulate the kidneys so they can drive out the excess urinacid and poisonous impurities that are clogging and stopping their free and healthy action. A difference can often be noticed in as little as 24 hours. All leading druggists who sell Solvax agree to return its full purchase price if in any case it does not give entire satisfaction. #### Women Are Rarely Victims of River or Lake Accidents

The daily papers each day relate their toll of the river and the lakeside. A few years ago a loud "Safety First" campaign was put under way, and undoubtedly worked out with good results. But one of the things of which the campaign did not take cognizance was the necessity of safe bathing places in each community.

If it is necessary, for instance, to have a law preventing people from walking on the tracks of a railway company, it is quite as necessary to prevent people from taking long risks in the water. It is a fine sight to see a manly swimmer strike out into deep water, but it is usually the manly swimmer who overplays his strength and is hauled from the lake or river a lifeless piece of cold clay.

And the children! Scores of them die in the water each summer. Deep water and inexperience are a deadly combination. They play against the weak and venturesome children.

Women are rarely drowned. Perhaps someone is always at hand to effect a rescue, but the fact remains that women do not take so many chances in water, and they get quite as much, if not more, fun out of it. They play safe, and it is known for a dance called "The Mississippi too frequently neglected because of the difficulty ever since.

As room ous Cool Burgess, and was a great hit in those their recital. Ford expressed a very real world-be theman be the days, and Bremner's interpretation was regarded need when he said the Bible should be rewritten as good as that of the originator of it.

Archie Bremner died many years before George Primrose passed away, but his memory is still treasured by many Londoners of his day. He was a unique figure, always wearing a silk hat and being a constant theatregoer. His column of paragraphs was as strong an influence on municipal questions as anything that was ever written in London. With the late Malcolm Bremner, for many years editor of the Free Press, and Alex. Bremner of the composing-room force, this family gave to London a strong newspaper influence, especially at a period when personal journalism was in flower. The friendship of Bremner and Primrose was typical of the comradeship of those at the last moment. It is exasperating to learn days. They kept in touch with one another, always helped one another when they could, and ousy on the part of someone in the overseas minthe vanities and baubles of success.

In the Meantime-----

The captains and the kings of Parliament have departed, the hurried session of the high cost of living commission is lost to public attention, a court of commerce is to be appointed, and in the meantime the public is being lulled to sleep by the official Government newspapers and the agencies which seek to deny that profiteering exists in Canada.

Members of Parliament who "took off their hats" to those who were able to amass profits by the hundred per cent, are perhaps enjoying a comfortable summer vacation. The combinations that enjoyed fixed prices and held practical control of articles of food and wear have a feeling of security. The newspapers that "howled" over the taking of profits are being told to drown their woes in the national hymn of prosperity. The prices of all necessities are as high, or higherthere is no price control downward, as there is no tariff revision downward. There are large food dian contingent all along the route, marching much aching in that the per the continue of the c surpluses in the storage warehouses; three Winnipeg storages have recently thrown quantities of eggs and fish into the dumps. The Government mulls over its problems, or lays them away to accumulate, while the One Big Union movement seeks control of the labor forces of the country.

These pauses between sessions when the country is in a serious condition are not conducive to public welfare. Ministers leave their departments to their deputies for the greater part of the interval. The problems of the nation do not diminish in size, but become more difficult, and there is no staff on the job that has initiatory or mandatory powers. The ones who remain eternally vigilant are the associations that have linked their businesses with governments and which keep that she loved publicity more.

constantly in touch with public opinion. There are no prorogations for the powerful combinations that work ceaselessly with a super-efficient crew of experts in every department to build business structures into mammoth monuments to the organizing ability of those who realize what a rich field Canada affords for exploitation and how necessary it is to control public policies and to preach protection as a religion and condemn free trade as fervently as the old-time minister held forth about the lake of brimstone.

One good thing about the transcendent questions of the day is that they affect the people as a whole. They are not concerned with race or creed. They are too big to be treated in a partisan manner by any party. The petty bickerings disappear in the face of the great fight against exploitation and greed. In the struggle that is taking place, will the new Canadian nationality emerge a new and fine thing, with more tolerance, more goodfellowship, more of the urge that brings real service to the community? That is the hopeful possibility. The extremists have to give up. The spikes to drive home a new national platform are being forged. They will be driven home when the clear way is before the people to send men with a broad conception of right down to the places of power.

Would Rewrite The Bible

Henry Ford's "single track" mentality is frequently refreshingly and usefully startling. The flivver king constantly surprises by thrusting When aside generally accepted beliefs and traditions, going directly to the expression of a truth of which most people fight shy.

His latest disregard of custom is his statement that the Bible should be rewritten into clearer language. This is the opinion of many, but one that has seldom been expressed, and then apologetically, because such criticism is so often considered as an attack on Holy Scripture. To suggest that the Bible might be rewritten to advantage is near blasphemy in the minds of many Christians. To them the Bible, as it stands, is sufficient. But with them as with most men and women of mature years, at times there must have been a desire for a rendering of sacred history and story that explained what appear as discrepancies and contradictions. Those who make chances in water, and they get quite as much, if not more, from out of it. They play safe, and it is almost time their good sense was made a lesson to the whole community.

Primrose and Archie Bremner

The death of George Primrose recalls his carly association with Archie Bremner, for many years city editor, editorial writer and paragrapher on The Advertiser. The two were fast friends, and whenever Primrose was coming to the city Bremner devoted most of his available space to the task of "working up" a big attendance for the performance. He never failed to bring a crowd to see the London minstrel. At one time, in fact, Bremner gave up his position on The Advertiser to go on the stage with Primrose, and became known for a dance called "The Mississippi Swing." This dance was originated by the famous Col Burgess, and was a concept and more those and contradictions. #### Another Kemp Blunder

Canadians were amazed and puzzled by the absence from London's great victory parade of a Canadian representation that measured up to this good intellect and his good principle. An country's contribution towards the triumph. It seemed regrettable that the glory of Ypres, Passchendaele and Vimy Ridge, and the sacrifice of thousands of Canadians who lie beneath the fields of France and Belgium should have been expressed by a handful of men gathered hurriedly now that indifference, stupidity, or possibly jealistry, was responsible for this meagre showing. could, thing. The official explanation of the overseas ministry is as follows:

"It is a matter of deep regret that it has been found impossible to accept the invitation extended by the war office to the Canadian forces part in the peace celebration procession Unfortunately, owing to the Canadian scheme of demobilization, all organized units have already been repatriated. Canadian soldiers still remain in this country, but while they individually represent a number of fighting units, the circumstances of departure prevent their being given a ceremonial for-

This explanation will not down. Within the last fortnight, Gen. Mewburn officially announced that there were 40,000 Canadian soldiers overseas, the majority of them in England. It is nonsensical to declare that it was impossible to gather from this host a body of men of a size and record proper to the occasion. What did it matter if all the organized units had left for home? It would surely not have been difficult to have secured a thousand old or two Canadians who had actually seen fighting.

Sir Edward Kemp says it was too late to provide men for a "ceremonial formation," but if this was the case the spirit behind the great demonstration would have overlooked; the great demonstration would have overlooked; the great described are less than the beginning had erected against the less than the beginning had erected against the less than the beginning had erected against the less than th demonstration would have overlooked it. Kemp's excuse is piffle, and this was shown by the tremendous ovation which greeted the small Canawithout "ceremonial formation."

Commenting on the matter, the Montreal Gazette (Unionist) says there has been a lot of jealousy and friction in the overseas war ministry, and suggests that an attempt to put a slight on Sir

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) VIOLA'S OTHER TRADE. (By Will T. Ames.)

Old and wise was Tommy Perduthold and wise and wary. That's why he had the best room at Mrs. Finlay's, and the best room at Mrs. Finlay's, and the best table at the "Comiy" restaurant, and two suits of clothes made by Blair & Holbrook every year-which was faster than he wore them out—and could jingle a pocketful of money any time and had a solid account in a savings bank and owned a mortgage and fully as many Liberty bonds as most folks and was altogether a comfortably circumstanced person.

And her father was a shoe-string gambler out there—she never told you that, either, did she? Nor what her other trade is, besides running a matchine—did she?" Annie, having got started, was going like a quarter horse one. "Well, I know; I've found out all about her." "She's a sure thing gambler, like her pa. Mrs. Barnes made this request as she settled back comfortably to look at our fall models. Oh, we women!" Madame concluded with a shrug of her expressive shoulders and a ripple of laughter. "That is why I've come to you now." Madame," Mrs. Barnes said. "What color shall I have, brown or blue?" "I have a very youthful black suit that I think you would like," Madame replied.

"Black?" said Mrs. Earnes with a questioning raise of her eyebrows. "Black suits are seldom youthful, I have found."
"On the contrary, they can be very youthful indeed. The line and the trimming of a black suit determine whether or not it presents a youthful or not it presents a youthful or an elderly appearanced. Youth is very striking when foiled by black, and a smart woman looks most distinguished in black." Madame insisted.

"Oh. I like black. Don't mistake me, Madame I am really your ford of black." Madame: I am really very fond of black, and I should like to see the suit you mention."

Fans Rush For the Umpire When Brantford Outfought London in Gruelling Game

Tecumsehs Had Contest Sewed Up Once or Twice, Only To Be Overcome in Final Stages, When Red Sox Got To Reilly-Ninth Inning Played in Darkness.

There was a riot of baseball over at Tecumseh Park last night. There was also a near riot at the end of the game when several hundred peevish fans swarmed on the diamond and threatened Umpire Pietro Cancella with dire punshment for his share in the Tecumseh defeat. The London players aided by a couple of policemen escorted Cancella into the London players' dressing rooms. The crowd then indulged in hurling epithets at the Brantford players as they left the park.

The 2:14 pace, for a purse of $1,000, had sixteen starters. The judges decided the field was too large and the race was split into two divisions.

Jack Keith, driven by Valentine, won the first division, and Sanardo, with Murphy up, took the second. The 2:07 pace, with seven starters, was won by J. Thomas driving John R. Braden.
On account of only three entries in the 2:07 trot, the race was called off.
It was reported today that Edward Allen, who suffered a compound fracture of an arm in an accident at the track the second day of the meeting, had been taken to a hospital.

The following, commenting upon editorials which appeared in this department early in June and calling attention to an article written by a prominent American hotelman on the subject of prohibition, was received from the contributor several weeks ago, and has been awaiting space for publication:

THE HOUSEKEEPERS' BUYING GUIDE

In a "Dry" Country. "What are folks going to do when the country goes dry? What will men take in place of drink? How, perhaps, are YOU going to be affected. in your home life and your relations with other people. by the disappearance of the bar? What kinds of business are going to suffer, and which ones will benefit? What will become of the old spirit of conviviality?

I have been a hotelman for a long time; and for a year now, one of my hotels—the one in Detroit—has been dry. . . . Our experience

During June, July

has brought out some interesting points:

The old bar still exists in the hotel at Detroit. That is, the counter is there, just as it was. Even the convenient foot-rail remains. The tables are still in place, as they were when men sat at them and had their drinks. But back of the bar there is a soda fountain now. Soft drinks, ice cream sodas, hot coffee and chocolate are the only liquid refreshments obtainable now.

Patronize Soda Fountains

Patronize Soda Fountains Patronize Soda Fountains.

Do men go there? Yes, to a certain extent; but, so far, not so much as they patronized the bar. As time goes on, however, more and more men certainly are going to take to soft drinks. In the new Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, we will have three soda fountains.

I have been making inquiries and I find that men have been patronizing soda fountains more and more in recent years, even where there was no prohibition.

There has been a radical charge.

was no prohibition.

There has been a radical change in our restaurant business. The crowded hours used to be those for late suppers, beginning about 11 o'clock, after the theatres closed. That business has dropped off since the state went dry. The busy time is now from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m., and that business is constantly growing better.

Happy Days for Wives.

Happy Days for Wives.

More men are having a little family "spree" by taking their wives out to dinner. In the old days there used to be a line of men at our telephone booths, between 5 and 6 in the afternoon, calling to their homes to announce that "business" was going to keep them downtown and not to expect them for dinner.

In some of these cases the visit to the telephone booth was followed by a more or less protracted sojourn at the bar and by a dinner, with trimmings of drink in the grill room. There is still a certain amount of this late afternoon telephoning, but the message now is more often than not an invitation to the man's wife to "come in downtown and have dinner."

Another effect of the new conditions is that people are spending more for food when they go to the restaurants. The average check for luncheon and dinner is 25 per cent higher than it used to be. Remember. This increase is in spite of the fact that all charges for drinks are now absolutely sone.

That means that one large item

That means that one large item has been subtracted from amount spent in restaurants yet the sum has increased. I rethe average sum per person.

Better Appetites. Of course, in the meantime, the cost of many food items has also increased, and you may think that this would make up the deficit due to eliminating wine and liquor from the menu. But we have worked menu. But we have worked all out, and it seems to be a fact that people are spending about sixteen per cent more for food than they did when they could This is contrary to my expecta-tion, for, in common with most restaurant proprietors. I thought that men ate MORE when they had wine or liquer to dright that men ata MORE when they had wine or liquor to drink.

I think it may be accounted for in two ways. In the first place, a man is generally willing to spend a certain amount on a meal. Another reason is probably that when a man is drinking he is not as hungry as when he is not. I believe that is one of the arguments advanced against drinking, that a man is likely to depend on the liquor he takes for the stimulation he might otherwise get from food. It will be an interesting thing to watch. this relation between the amount eaten when people drink and when they don't.

Theatre Eusiness Improved.

Theatre Business Improved. Another business which has in-roved in Detroit, evidently be-ause of prohibition, is the theatre susiness. All the movie theatre houses and the regular theatres report a much larger patronage now. The explanation is that men want amusement, diversion. They used to find it in bars, cafes, saloons. Now they go to the theatres in search of it.

"As a result of prohibition, we seem to have these very definite effects: men go out with their wives and families to the restaurants and theatres, and they eat more foods, theatres, and they eat more foods, especially sweets, they walk more

Dispositions Improved.

They are also easier to get along with. At least my manager in Detroit says that it is like being 'transported to heaven' since the drinking man has been almost eliminated from the hotel guests.

"My prediction is that the common run of business men will adjust themselves far more easily to a dry world than they think.

People have an idea that there is a lot of big business transacted over a bottle of wine, or across the cocktail glasses. They think that men get together in cafes and put through 'big deals,' settle business policies, place contracts, make sales. I don't believe it. Undoubtedly this does happen some-Dispositions Improved. policies, piace contracts, make sales. I don't believe it. Undoubtedly this does happen sometimes. But you ask any man how much really important business he does in the bar, or tacross a cafe table, and I think you will find that it is in the property to cut any real. isn't enough to cut any real

More Time Outdoors.

"Men spend more time out of doors, I believe, if there is no liquor sold. There will be an influx of new players on the golf courses. More automobiles will be sold. and probably fewer will be smashed up, unless their drivers do as the Detroit man did, and look upon the whiskey when it is home-made.

"I have use the word 'men' in talking about what people are going to do, but I might have added 'women' too. For the increase of drinking among women in recent years has been striking.

"Take it altogether, the public, "Take it altogether, the public, which is always an interesting thing to watch, is going to be worth studying in the months that will follow July 30."

follow July 30."

Reading the article from which I have quoted, it suddenly occurred to me that in London the soda fountains and ice cream parlors are much more largely patronized by men of all ages than they used to be before probihition. You can see men lined up there any hour of the day or evening, chatting with friends over sodas, sundaes and ices of various kinds. They are there in throngs about the time the poor chaps used to be seen

They are there in throngs about the time the poor chaps used to be seen reeling out of bars.

"And how much more self-respecting, clear-eyed and capable of looking the world straight in the face the men look as they see a woman they know when they come out of an ice cream parlor, than when they bumped into her unexpectedly as they slid out of a barroom entrance! From the standpoint of improved appearance, I should think a lot of men would want to keep prohibition in force.

"Perhaps I am a crank on the subject, but when I discover that a big hotel man finds such marked improvements in conditions through prohibition, ments in conditions through prohibition, I can hardly believe that I am very far astray in my point of view.

"Trusting that you will be able to use the extracts from Mr. Statler's if not my letter,
"Yours with all good wishes,

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief. But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any drugsist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. WOODSTOCK, July 24.—The U. F. A good sports program was run off. A baseball game between Embro and Hickson was another attraction, Embro winning by a score of 10 to 7.

Speeches were made by Mrs. Laws of Cayuga, who spoke in the interests of the United Farm Women of Ontario; also John Lillico, reeve of Embro and warden of Oxford County and nominee of the U. F. Mr. Halbert spoke at length upon the advisability of the farmers uniting and using their power, and upon the fact that the U. F. O. platform tended to the betterment of both city and country people.

VERDICT OF MURDER RETURNED BY JURY AT DEATH INQUEST

Neil Coates Taken To Jail With Charge Against Him.

HEARING IN AUGUST

Both Men Are Well-Known in Ayton Community.

AYTON, July 24.—Inquiring into the death of William Umbach, Coroner J. L. Easton and his jury tonight returned a verdict of murder against Neil Coates, who was taken to Owen Sound, where he will be held in the county jail there until August 2, when he will be brought to Ayton for a preliminary hearing.

Inquest Verdict.

During the inquest and following the verdict of the coroner's jury against him, Coates sat in the jury room of the quaint old county building unmoved. Even when the verdict "Murder" reached his ears he sat staring straight to the front like a man in a trance. His thoughts seemed to be far away on some subject other than that away on some subject other than that of being charged with the taking of the life of another human being.

Asked if he had a statement to make concerning the affair, the prisoner, in a voice that was almost inaudible, answered with trembling lips one single word "No."

Both Well Known. Both Well Known.

The surrounding community is all agog at the suddenness of the killing of the late William Umbach. The taking of his life has caused gossip to fairly hum in the little town of Ayton and the surrounding community. Both men were well known in this community and over 60 years of age, with wives and grown-up families.

The two men, Umbach and Coates,

She had a doctor examine her arm the following day, and he decided to have the arm X-rayed. The examination showed an object about the size of a needle. Chance to Get Money Back.

"If times get back to normal there is a chance of getting your money back in full." Mr. Clarkson told the depositors, in strongly advocating the reorganization of the company, which, he said, would cut down expenses further. He promised an investigation when the company is reorganized and wound up, and declared that he could show that his statements which he had issued were fair and correct. By reorganizing the company, instead of allowing it to go into liquidation, will cost less than one-fifth what it would if the company liquidated.

The Dovercourt property, he said, was valued at $600,000 more than it was worth, and there was another investment quoted in the company's books to the extent of $139,000, which he said was not worth $30,000.

7% Cumulative Redeemable Sinking Fund Preferred Shares

The Preferred Shares are redeemable in full at par July 1st, 1941, or in full or in part at any prior date, after July 1st, 1922, either by drawings at 110 or in the open market at a price not in excess of 110. The Preferred dividend accumulates from 15th July, 1919, and will be payable quarterly 1st days of January, April, July and October. A sinking fund of 2 per cent. per year on the Preferred Share issue will be established commencing 1st July, 1921. Said Preference Shares are issued upon the condition that the Company covenants that no Mortgages, Bonds or Debentures will be issued by it having priority over the said Preference Shares excepting with the sanction of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the said Preference Shares for the time being issued and outstanding. It will thus be seen that the Preference Shares are practically the equivalent of First Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds.

Miss Helen Staples. "The Prima Petite," in Classical and Popular Songs.

rand yesterday in two performances of "The New Moon," one of the most pretentious productions Miss Talmadge has ever undertaken. Capacity audiences witnessed each performance. The story is one of men and women of to-day—aristocrats and peasants—love and laughter, and hate and tears. Miss Talmadge adds another laurel to her wreath of success in this great pro-duction

She appears in the role of a Russian princess, in the exquisite gowns and jewels of a person of such wealth and position. Young, beautiful and proud, she gives the character of Princess Marie Pavolvna's life and all the small necessary touches that one would never look for, but, nevertheless, miss if they were lacking.

Miss Helen Staples, the popular vocal Miss Helen Staples, the popular vocalist, dainty, demure, and the possessor of a real singing voice, has distinctly won the hearts of local theatregoers. Miss Staples yesterday had seven encores to her credit in two performances. Her repertoire of songs was "Your Eyes Have Told Me So." "Friends," "Waters of Venice" and "I'll Wait for You." A splendid bill that drew packed houses was completed with "Hamlet Made Modern." The orchestra number, a solo by Prof. Venuta, "Blue Bells of Scotland," was a delightful number.

FEDERAL LABOR MEETING.

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN IS HER NEWEST FEATURE SHOWN IN GAMBLING SCENES AT MAJESTIC

Elsie Ferguson at Popular Playhouse in "The Avalanche" Today and Saturday.

Playing three distinct roles in he latest Arteraft picture, "The Avaianche," beautiful Elsie Ferguson appears to great advantage in this ex cellent picturization by Ouida Bergere of Gertrude Atherton's latest novel which will be displayed with all need ful accessories and music at the Majes tic Theatre again today and Saturday. Daughter of Gambler.

Daughter of Gambler.

In this remarkable photoplay, Miss Ferguson appears first as Chichita, the daughter of a Spanish gambler who is killed in a quarrel. She becomes the associate of a wastrel of good family, and after he commits suicide because of his gambling losses, Chichita places her infant in a convent, weds a gambler, and goes to New York, and the pair open a fashionable gambling resort.

Escapes From Convent.

Helene, the child, escapes from the convent after fifteen years and finds her way to New York, where she elopes with Price Ruyler, a novelist. During their honeymoon the latent gambling instinct which she inherited from her father and grandfather, asserts itself with unusually dramatic results. The situations which develop in quick succession are filled with expectancy and thrill, and as a whole they afford Miss Ferguson excellent opportunities for the display of her mimetic gifts. The supporting cast, headed by Lumsden Hare, it is excellent.

A comedy, a news weekly and special is excellent.

A comedy, a news weekly and special music by the Majestic Orchestra complete a thoroughly excellent program.

How Furniture Helps Make Happy Homes

The mental effect of good furniture on the minds of those who possess it has much to do with their happiness. Too much denying themselves of home comforts has caused many a young couple's happiness to be dimmed. Too many poorly furnished homes have caused the youth of those homes to lose interest in "home" and seek diversion elsewhere.

Home should be a veritable haven of rest and comfort. There, after a hard day's work, the youthful husband or staid business man should return with joy in his heart, and the stimulation of good furniture cannot be underestimated.

Why try to get along without the right furniture to make the word "home" mean something to you? Take advantage of our credit terms and furnish your home properly. A small payment down will do it and you can pay the balance on easy terms!

Our Splendid Four-Room De Luxe Home Outfit at $450.00

Here is a complete four-room outfit for your new home that you cannot only be mighty proud of, but that will last a lifetime, and pay you dividends in satisfaction, comfort and happiness as long as you live. Remember, in purchasing the outfit for your new home that your expenditure should be divided over several months, and not be based on the amount of cash you have on hand.

Too many young couples make the mistake of either paying too little for the outfit for their new home or trying to struggle along without sufficient furniture to make them happy. Come in and let us arrange a charge account with you so that you can purchase the furniture you really desire and spread your payments over a period of months. This is the businesslike way to purchase your home outfit, and we will gladly co-operate with you. Complete
