RUSSIAN SITUATION

Kerensky Reported Among Loyalist Armies at Luga

By Courier Leased Wire

Copenhagen, Nov. 20.—Reports from several sources in Germany bear out the assumption that, taking advantage of the situation in Russia, the German Government is making heavy transfers of troops from the Russian front. Only part of them appear to be going to Italy, where the front is too narrow to permit of the use of great masses, and a blow by von Hindenburg at some other points, in the way of a diversion, may perhaps be expected.

Some troops are reported to have been moved to the western front, but this is not necessarily significant, as Field Marshal Haig's pounding tactics necessitate frequent reliefs for exhausted German divisions. German newspapers discuss with suspicious frankness and avidity the prospect of an offensive on the Saloniki front, but have never a word to say about the obvious chance of a smashing blow at Roumania in an effort to recover the resistance of that nation. As for Italy, if the Austrians and Germans find the reinforced Italian army too hard a nut to attempt

BRITISH WAR CABINET AND U. S. MISSION

Historic Residence in Downing Street Scene of Notable Gathering To-day

UNITED WAR EFFORTS

Will Serve to Tighten Links of Unity Between Two Nations

By Courier Leased Wire

London, Nov. 20.—None of the numerous allied war councils which have occurred in the past three years has occasioned the same interest as to-day's historic meeting of the British war cabinet and the American mission for tightening the links that chain the Anglo-American war efforts. The scene is the old residence in Downing street which has served the prime ministers of many generations as both home and office, and where the cabinet meet and where the destinies of the empire have been shaped since the days of the American revolution.

Lord Reading, the lord chief justice, will preside with Andrew Bonar Law, British chancellor of the exchequer, and Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the American treasury, at the table beside him. The military and naval heads of both governments and officials representing other departments of war work will be grouped together. Premier Lloyd George planned to be present for the purpose of answering questions.

The general work of the meeting constitutes the taking of stock of the resources and needs of both countries and, to some extent of the continental allies.

A group of reporters and photographers and curious sightseers were on the scene early in the day.

Austrians Concentrate Attacks on Italians

Heavy Fighting in Progress South of Quero—Large Enemy Masses Assail Italian Lines—Austrians Hoist Teuton Flags at Udine

By Courier Leased Wire.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The enemy is concentrating his attack on the north and very heavy fighting is in progress south of Quero, where large enemy masses are attacking the Italian positions on Monte Tenera and Monte Tomba.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Sunday, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Information is trickling across the Piave from the Italians in eastern Venetia, now over-run by the enemy. According to these reports Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary has visited Gorizia and Udine and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has passed through Gradisca and Palmanova.

The garrison at Udine, the former Italian headquarters, is said to be made up of Turkish soldiers who are using the Church of Santa Maria as one of their barracks. On the Citadel of Udine the invaders have raised five flags—Austrian, German, Bulgarian, Turkish and Greek. The last flag represents the Greek division which went to the Bulgarians at Kavala and Fort Rupel, and which some reports put among the enemy divisions operating on the Italian front.

Early in September 1916, the Fourth Greek Army Corps, with headquarters at Kavala, surrendered to the Bulgarians. Its strength was reported to be 25,000 men and these were later transported to Germany.

London, Nov. 19.—An Austrian official statement received here claims a completely successful operation against an Italian bridgehead at Peral, on the Lower Vojussa River, Albania, the garrison being driven off and considerable booty taken. The Daily Mail calls attention to the claim, pointing out that the Italian defenses on the Lower Vojussa protect the port of Avlona, from which Peral is twelve miles away, and suggests that it is the initial step in an offensive against the allied armies in Macedonia, which Premier Venizelos of Greece and other observers have been anticipating. Avlona and the neighboring Italian lines being in the nature of flank positions of the Saloniki army.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The correspondent to-day made a tour of thirty miles along the Piave battle front, visiting Zenson, Fagare and Sega mill, where desperate fighting has occurred, and saw the Duke of Aosta, commander of the Third army, guarding the Piave line, whose men blurted the Austrians into the river and re-established the solidity of the Piave front. At the moment, the Duke was issuing an address to his army congratulating them on their glorious achievement.

An officer from general staff headquarters accompanied the correspondent, and although the headquarters of the Third army was reached at an early hour, the Duke was coming out to proceed along the front. He held in his hand a war map, and consulted with his aides before giving directions for the route to be travelled.

Paris, Nov. 20.—General Marie Fayolle, commander of the French forces in Italy, departed last night to take up his duties. General Fayolle is an artillery man. He was retired six weeks before the war began, but offered his services and received a command. He served under General Petain at Carey in 1915 and afterwards was promoted and placed in command of the Sixth Army. He conducted the operations on the Somme which resulted in the retreat of the Germans to the Hindenburg line. He then took command of the central group of armies. It was under him that General Gillaumat finished clearing the approaches to Verdun.

The Situation of Venice and the security of the Piave line depend apparently on the outcome of the desperate battle now in progress between the Piave and Brenta rivers. The Austro-Germans are attacking heavily, and are advancing against the stout resistance of the Italians. If the invaders have captured Monte Tomba, as claimed by Berlin, they are within a few miles of the plain behind the Piave. The Italians are defending each position, but the Germans have advanced several miles here within the past few days, and seemingly are attempting to drive a wedge between the Italians in the region of Asiago and those along the Piave-Monte Tomba in on the western side of the Piave, six miles northeast of Vidor.

The Austro-Germans are exerting very strong pressure here and are reported to have brought up Austrian troops from the eastern front and to have transferred General von Below's army to this sector. (Continued on Page 6).

ENEMY FAILED IN ATTEMPT TO REGAIN POSTS

Serious German Effort to Recover Lost Ground Achieved Nothing

ARTILLERY ACTIVE

Enemy Troops Melted Under British Barrage Fire

By Courier Leased Wire

London, Nov. 20.—Reviewing last week's operations on the British front, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France, says: "Through the week the artillery has been most active when it was evident the Germans were preparing for a serious effort to recover some lost positions."

"We have now direct observation over all the plains of Belgium. Shelling frequently rose to intense drum-fire and the bombardment crisis came Tuesday evening when the German infantry were seen massing in formidable numbers for an attack due north of Passchendaele. The attack, however, never materialized. In spite of all its preparation, it was powerless when our guns shot down on the massing troops."

"The men in the front line say they have never seen anything finer or more amplifying than our best attack. Under it the German troops assembling simply melted away. Very few of our ever advancing posts had an opportunity to fire a shot. The great German effort failed before it had fairly begun."

"Then taking advantage of the failure, we thrust forward some isolated posts further out in the swamps on our left. And the net result of the German effort was that with our main line unshaken, we had gained a little on the flank."

"Exhausted or discouraged by his failure, the enemy made no further effort to attack."

"The British have carried out a neat operation on the slope of the ridge, surprising the Germans while relief was progressing. It was sharp and confused fighting at some points, but the resistance was not formidable and we are firmly established in our new positions."

STORM IN OLD LAND AVERTED

Lloyd George Strengthened Rather Than Harmed by Crisis Past

PREMIER VICTORIOUS

Scored a Parliamentary Triumph in His Speech Yesterday

By Courier Leased

London, Nov. 20.—The reception of Premier Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons by the morning newspapers justified the assumption that the storm which lately threatened a crisis has passed, not only without damaging the Premier's hold on the country, but perhaps even strengthening it. It is conceded, even by his opponents, that the speech was in the Premier's best manner and was a Parliamentary triumph. Editorial encomiums flow freely from his supporters, while the comments of hostile critics lack the fierceness of his previous denunciations.

The Daily News, which has been hostile to the Premier, says that his speech was one of the finest in his career. It was a triumph for the Premier's policy, and a body of the council is only to be a body concerning which everybody is agreed that reason there was for the sensational talk in Paris.

The Morning Post, another critic, objects again to the Premier's proposal. It says it may not work for unity, but for division and paralysis which result from a conflict of opinion. It says that it was ingenious for Premier Lloyd George to plead that he wished in Paris to shock everybody into a sense of reality, but the soldiers know the terrible reality too well.

The Graphic says the speech failed entirely to clear up the situation and wonders why the tone of the Paris speech was one of utmost gloom, while the speech in the House was marked by almost exaggerated optimism.

Other editorials hail the Premier as a victor. The Daily Telegraph says he won hands down, adding: "No movement against a man in our time ever perhaps was so completely defeated in a single speech."

The Daily Chronicle congratulates Premier Lloyd George on the effectiveness and vigor and his detachment.

"Outside critics over-reach themselves. They should take a lesson from Mr. Asquith in abstaining from malice and irrelevance in criticism."

"The Premier achieved a great personal triumph," says The Times, "and also completely vindicated the satisfaction of the House of Commons the essential soundness in its broad principles of the scheme for a closer union of the allies. The Times nevertheless adheres to

CARMELLO CELLIJA ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF FELLOW COUNTRYMAN

Capital Charge Against Local Maltese is Only Case up For Hearing at Supreme Court Today—True Bill Was Returned Against Prisoner

Evidence of the circumstances attendant upon the finding and recovery of the body of the murdered man, Gio Battista Borneo, was produced by the crown at this morning's opening session of the trial of Carmello Callejo indicted with the murder of his fellow countryman from Malta, in the township of Brantford on July the 30th of this year. Five of the twenty witnesses to give testimony for the crown were in the box this morning. Charles Beal, Clarence Studier and James Espy told of finding the body and Chief D. J. Lewis of the Fire Department related the discoveries that had been made by himself and Detective Schuler when they went over to the scene of the crime to recover the body from the waters. Miss Hilda Purvis of the Toronto post office gave evidence in regard to the money order that was issued on July the 31st to Carmello Callejo in the city of Toronto.

Circumstantial evidence would be the determining factor said the prosecuting attorney, N.F. Davidson, Toronto in addressing the petit jury this morning at the commencement of the trial. No witnesses would be produced by the crown who had actually seen the crime committed and such evidence as was available was of a purely circumstantial nature.

The grand jury filed in at fifteen minutes to ten this morning and returned a verdict of "true bill."

His Lordship then proceeded to charge the grand jury. He immediately plunged into an address based on the war. There was never a time in the history of the land when such a grave crisis confronted the nation. A duty rests on all our shoulders to assist in any way toward winning the war. Why thousands of men had gone from this country and had not only wasted their lives on the battlefield, but had freely laid them down for the cause of the Empire. Shortly after the outbreak of the war the call went forth for men and during the earlier stages of the struggle men were forthcoming; than could be equipped and trained. Their transportation facilities were lacking and men, although impatient to cross the seas, were kept in Canada for a period. His Lordship emphasized the need for all true Canadians to observe, with patience and means taken by those in authority to win the war. These early difficulties had been overcome largely, but the present need was for munitions and food and greater production was the duty of Canada. The immediate object of Canada toward assisting the allies was the Victory Loan. It was a good investment. (Continued on page five.)

"There is no quit in England; let us, too, fight the fight"

Gen. Ashton's Clarion Call to His Fellow Citizens—Splendid Program of Rousing Addresses Followed Military Parade at Last Night's Victory Loan Rally

"We have a country worth paying for as it is worth fighting for. There is no country under the blue sky of heaven where men are allowed so much freedom as in Canada."

While confident of the ultimate victory of the Allied arms, Lt.-Col. Wright, formerly of the 84th Battalion, clearly placed the present serious issue before his hearers in the tabernacle on Brant Avenue last night at the inauguration of the second week of the Victory Loan campaign in Brantford. The building was crowded by all classes of citizens who are desirous of learning further particulars regarding the greatest public loan that has ever been floated in Canada.

Preceded by the Dufferin Rifles band, war veterans and army rejects, a huge British "tank" attracted great crowd from the main thoroughfares to the building on Brant Avenue, by way of Market and Dalhousie streets.

Many automobiles and pedestrians followed the course of the parade, and this feature of the evening's programme was by no means the least important.

NEWS OF NORFOLK

Charlton Unionist Candidate; H. P. Innes Withdrawn From Field

WALLACE NOMINATED Anti-Conscriptionist Will Contest Riding With Mr. Charlton

(From our own Correspondent.) Simcoe, Nov. 20.—The slate for Norfolk reads: Hon. W. A. Charlton, Unionist.

The Letter. To the Electors of the Riding of Norfolk: Ladies and Gentlemen.—Acting upon the advice and with the consent and approval of the executive committee of the Liberal Conservative Association of Norfolk, and with the desire to further the interests of the Borden Union Government, I have decided not to be a candidate at this election.

It is my intention to support the Union Candidate, and it is my desire that all my friends do the same. Faithfully yours, HUGH P. INNES.

With the candidates announced, and the above letter read, the Sheriff left the chair. On motion of Senator McCall and H. P. Innes, Mr. McGuire was appointed chairman. The candidates agreed upon 30 minutes to each side and 13 minutes for Mr. Charlton in rebuttal.

Mr. Charlton launched at once into the main issue, conscription. We have had it in crude form since pioneer days. In 1904, Sir Wilfrid Laurier revised the old Militia Act. That was a time of peace, there no need for haste. There was no demand for a referendum although the act was passed in the last session of that parliament, and by that act the government was empowered to conscript men, not by selection or consideration as to whether married or single, old or young. All between 20 and 60 were liable to be called out except the military and naval forces.

The Present Call is for 100,000 men. The act does not allow of more being sent. Should there be more than that number drafted some of them must be dismissed. Producers of food at home are as necessary as men in the trenches.

Need of Food. In peace, our European allies on the Western front produced only 60 per cent of their wheat requirements. To-day the farmers of these countries are in the trenches. It is up to us to produce food for the winter of 1918.

Strong Arm of Britain Needs Help. Though Britain has heretofore and is dependent on her own right arm of strength, to-day she needs help. Our duty at once is (1) to fill up the blanks left by those who have bravely died that we might live.

Mr. Charlton has just informed me that he is an out and out supporter of the Borden Government, and there is no need for a second candidate in the field. Shall We Stand by Empire's Cause? The stake is too great for the consideration of individualism. We are a part of the British Empire, renowned for liberty in civil and religious life. The question of the moment is shall we stand by the Empire or shall we let Germany trample upon us and make us slaves.

The Military Service Act was passed for the sole purpose of relieving farmers and other essential industries and because one Province, Quebec, refused to enlist voluntarily. If you support Laurier, you allow Quebec to trample over the rest of Canada. There is absolutely nothing else to do but support the Borden Cabinet. Wealth must be and is being conscripted. The debts are being incurred by those who can't pay. The Anti-Conscription, Independent Opposition, Farmers' and Labor Candidate Speaks.

Mr. Wallace announced himself as the independent win-the-war candidate, and opposed to the Union Government. He had omitted the word "opposition" which was a part of the child's baptismal name. He would support a vigorous prosecution of the war by stopping the operation of the Conscription Act and holding a referendum (a la mode Laurier).

He passed over Laurier's Militia Act as a joke and claimed its enforcement was never contemplated. He said there was a statute against whistling on Sunday (we can't find it), which is not enforced, and thought the Conscription Act in the same class. Mr. Wallace made a very good platform appearance, spoke clearly and read deliberately. But he had nothing new to offer or suggest.

Mr. Charlton observed that there were always in Parliament more of farmers than of any other class; that wealth has been already conscripted and that even poor packing houses in future pay half of all profits over 7 per cent, up to 15 per cent, and all over 15 per cent. This threw the Wallace element into a sudden meditative mood. Would the hog men pay more for the hogs or change less to wonder? It was a vital question. Then when Mr. Charlton said income was to be conscripted some of the weather farmer element who have laid by three or four thousands annually later began to wonder if a considerable tax would reach out on the land.

None of them seemed to know that right here in Simcoe manufacturing plants are paying a considerable surtax on profits. He took another dive at the Conscription Act and concluded by saying that he hoped to support the Government through reconstruction period after the war.

E. Blayne wanted to know why more and more soldiers were being called out. It was explained that the German navy now had control of about 90 millions more than when the war began. "Why did they let Germany run over Koumaala?" called a back benchor heckler. "Because you were not there to help," were the ready rejoinders from another quarter. Mr. Charlton left his cause with the people. The chairman called for three cheers for the King. They came, and so did the candidates and the chairman. They came.

A Way Out of Trouble. There's a man about town who says, "Let them conscript my wealth (and he has some) when they conscript my man." His hired man enlisted voluntarily, and the local I.O.D.E. is able to take care of a volunteer check for a thousand or two any old time at all. Buck up. Be as good as the hired man or shut up. Money given the way of "grat" or taxes. Go to it. Buck up.

Untrusting Activity. Lynnwood Headquarters of the I.O.D.E. is untrusting busy. Yesterday the following shipments were made to Sgt. McMaster, an Irishman and the first Norfolk man to volunteer for service—15 pairs, 50 to Lanser Corp. H. Westgath, Pte. E. C. West, and James Cory, an Irish pair each. For Overseas pair 26 pairs. There is a splendid response to the appeal for stretcher caps both at the headquarters and at St. Paul's. Patterns may be obtained from Mrs. J. B. Jackson or Mrs. W. O. Wregett.

BECOMING CLOTHES FOR MEN Do men as a rule, I wonder, pick out their clothes with any definite effort to get something unbecoming? Or do they look upon clothes as something required by law and the climate and not worth spending any thought upon?

When one sees a man who seems to have considered the question of becomingness in picking out clothes he stands out so distinctly from the rest, that I suspect the latter is the case. I know that some of my masculine readers are backing away from the very idea of picking out clothes to become them. They are stigmatizing it as foppish and unmanly.

Why Not Harmonious Clothes? I like to see a man whose clothes have some distinct relation to his personal appearance. For instance, take a man with iron grey hair. Put him in a brown suit and a blue necktie, say. He has no distinction. Put him in a suit just the right shade of grey; and either a grey or black tie, for a tie of some vivid unusual color to contrast with the white, grey or black and white shirt, silver or gun metal cuff links and a scarf pin (if he wears any) that carries out the same color scheme, and he gratifies the eye.

business field by investing in the Victory Loan. "It is an absolute necessity that this money be forthcoming," continued the speaker, that our boys at the front may be maintained, that they may be provided with the necessary accoutrement. Who will say that this prosperous land of ours cannot maintain our men at the front? "The government want this money to maintain the present prosperity of Canada. Your memory will take you back three short years ago when industry was slack, the shops were closed down and men were daily applying in large numbers at the City Hall for assistance for themselves and their families. Then with the outbreak of war prosperity came and relieved the nation here. But from where did the money come? From Great Britain, from that good old land across the sea. Now, for the time being the Motherland needs money to finance her credit with us, to purchase food and equipment here in Canada. On the authority of Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance of the Dominion, the speaker stated that the normal conditions in Canada at the present time did not differ from those that prevailed in 1914 but the war orders and conditions developing out of the war were responsible. Here was potent appeal to those who had not already done so to subscribe to the Victory Loan, to enable Brant county to maintain the lead this week that had been accomplished by the subscriptions received up until last Saturday night that had placed this county in the foremost rank among the other municipalities of the district. Brigadier-General Ashton, who was welcomed with hearty cheers when he rose to briefly address the people of Brantford from whose midst he has been absent for nearly three years, Brantford's leading soldier son, who, leaving here as Colonel of the 36th, has reached one of the highest attainments in the gift of the Government, solely through his merit and ability, expressed himself as delighted to be once again back in his home city. "I am glad to get back to Brantford again and meet my many friends here," observed General Ashton, "and while overseas no title has been applied to me that has been nearly so agreeable as that which greeted me on the streets to-day. 'Hello Doctor, How are you?'" Comparing the war time conditions in Canada and England and the degree of knowledge of the war that exists in the two countries, the speaker said: "You get just as good news here as over the water—in fact better, because the nearer you get to the firing line, the less you hear."

Have Made History. There were two imperative needs of the Empire at the present time—men and money. Already many of our men had come back from the war zone, crippled and wounded, who had gone over the sea for the cause, the cause that could not be maintained without the men and money. There were now four Canadian divisions in the field, than which, declared the speaker, there were no better troops among those at the front. By their indomitable pluck and strict adherence to rule of discipline the Canadians had recorded for themselves a name that would be chronicled in the pages of history. General Ashton quoted figures of the heavy casualties at the front and emphasized the stern necessity of further reinforcements if the forces in the field were to be adequately supported. "We need the need of men and still more men was urgent, these troops, once procured, could not be maintained without money. The Canadian and British governments had made an arrangement whereby the British Empire was to contribute to the fighting line, the Dominion pays England six shillings daily for his maintenance. With four hundred thousand men at the front it would be easily seen that the heavy expenditure daily had to be met.

General Ashton in a manly and straightforward manner appealed to his fellow citizens of Brantford to rally with their pursues for the cause for which their sons were sacrificing their lives at the front. "It is up to you, if you are in sympathy with the cause of the Allies—if you want us to win, to subscribe to this Victory Loan. What in England I invested what little I could save, in the British War Loan, but before leaving for Canada I sold it out and brought the money over to Canada to invest it in the Canadian Victory Loan. I am a Canadian in every fibre of my body, born and bred here and I have learned my sins here. I have lived in England long and I know, however, to appreciate that country, and the determination and endurance of all classes of the people. From the highest to the lowest, they have not shied from themselves if everything that they have, for the cause. You would not know England to-day. At every town and city in Canada, from Halifax westward, I was in evidence on the streets. Motor cars lined up everywhere. In England every one is saving their money and striving for victory only.

Let us too fight the fight. Britain realizes the gravity of the Russian situation, and despite the fact that the Italian situation is most critical, there is no quiet in England. Lt. Col. Wright, formerly of the 84th battalion was

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal when it burns leaves behind a certain amount of incandescent material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken up each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are taken up into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer you are told to drink every morning upon arising a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach. Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, acid breath, others who are both afflicted with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

is on the Western front. What makes my blood boil is the number of crosses over graves behind the lines in France and Flanders, where girls and boys of my age have been murdered by the Hun and buried in the cemeteries of little towns; who have bayonet our boys when captured and their many other unspeakable atrocities. I'll tell you our men take no prisoners, except for identification. The only good German is a dead German. Vividly the speaker portrayed the conditions that would inevitably ensue in Canada should a German victory, which he declared was not impossible, occur. "How would you like to see the German flag flying from your City Hall? Well you will if you live long enough, unless we win victory on the Western front. On the Canadian sector, and it is the same all along the line from the English Channel to Switzerland, everything has been levelled to the ground. Appeal For Union. While not directly criticizing the political situation in Canada at the present time, nor making direct statements regarding the party strife still in vogue, the speaker united against the common foe, the speaker strongly appealed for a greater demonstration of patriotism. In this connection he exclaimed: "I wish that the men of this country, who are in the old Roman days when all was before party and nothing before the state. The Canadian boys in France and Flanders have given their lives willingly for the cause. Canada asks you to back them up. If you cannot follow the flag, to the front, your money can. I ask you to lend, not give, your money so that the great Union Jack may be carried over the top to victory. "Canadian troops never lost a trench they didn't regain, and they never set out for an objective unless they didn't reach and capture. If you never disgrace the flag, it will never disgrace you."

Dealing with the business and selfish aspect of the loan, the speaker stated that it was self-evident that as a cold business proposition, nothing better could be desired. The money was needed to finance agriculture, industry and commerce. All the money subscribed in the loan would be spent in Canada. The bonds would grow larger in value and would steadily increase not only with accrued interest but would probably almost certainly in a few years be worth more than they are at the present time.

The loan was necessary to provide finance credit for British purchases of Canadian labor and produce. The prosperity of the country and the victory of the allied arms depended upon the success of this and every other loan that might be launched. If the war were financed by taxes the burden would be too heavy for this generation to bear. We were undergoing hardship, privation and suffering and were fighting, it would be only just that succeeding generations who would enjoy the benefits of the victory help pay for the cost.

After seven months experience at the front, the speaker could heartily praise the Canadian troops. Their cheerfulness, pluck and discipline were the outstanding features of the four divisions representing Canada. Under all circumstances, the boys were cheerful, and were always ready with quips and jests to lighten a dark situation. Speaking of the marvellous discipline that pervades the ranks, Col. Wright said: "There are no more intelligent men at the front among the allied armies to-day than the Canadians, and they know that success depends upon adherence to orders. I would rather be in command of 1000 Canadian troops than 5000 men of any other troops in the world. All that is needed at the front by our boys is leadership, and they have leaders who are a little different from any other leaders. The German officer says 'Go on'—our officers say, 'Come on.'"

THE SITUATION

The fighting on the Italian front continues to be of the most desperate nature. At one point Rome admits that a withdrawal has taken place, not to a serious extent, while the Italians for their part have commenced an offensive on the Asiago Plateau and it is announced have taken some advance trenches.

Russian advices received at Washington are to the effect that conditions have become quieter both in Petrograd and Moscow but are still in a chaotic state. The flames of discord prevail to such an extent throughout the entire country that when they subside at one point it is only to break out at another.

The Canadians are daily strengthening the Passchendaele positions and the Huns are reported to have suffered terribly in futile attempts to dislodge them.

On the Western front a retirement of the enemy is reported in the Dixmude sector.

The Union Government has bestowed upon Food Controller Hanna the power to prescribe a maximum charge for all foods. Under the order in council he can also limit purchases and fix the amount of food to be sold to any one person.

Lloyd George during the course of a vigorous speech yesterday in the British House, defended in warm terms the formation of an Inter-Allied War Council and scored his critics with characteristic vim.

"There were two fears, two things that could defeat us: the submarine and a lack of unity. Of the submarine I have no longer any fear. We are on its track, and I am glad to tell the House that on Saturday we destroyed five of these pests of the seas."

"The only other thing is lack of unity. Unity is the only sure way to victory, a victory that will bring peace and healing to a world which is bleeding to death."

THE CONTEST IN THE BRANTS. For the first time in the history of the two Ridings, three candidates have been nominated in each of the Brants.

In the Southern constituency—Brantford—is it legally designated—the voters' list is comprised of residents of this city, a portion of Brantford township and the small township of Oakland.

THE MESSAGE OF TWO OFFICERS. All concerned in the Victory Loan meeting in the Tabernacle Building last night deserve to be most heartily congratulated upon the splendid success of the event.

No one, of course, questions the right of these men to run, or the action of their friends in placing them in the field, but no one can seriously argue that either of them possesses claims which should lead to the suppression of Mr. Cocksbutt.

Mrs. Edward Brophy, who has been spending the week-end with Mrs. Harry Harris, Darling street, leaves to-morrow for Nassau, Bahama.

countless other ways. He has abundantly proved his worth and The Courier will be very much mistaken if the record of polling day fails to give him an emphatic majority.

DOMINION ELECTIONS. Not as many acclamations took place on nomination day as at one time seemed likely, especially in Quebec. It takes a good deal of courage, and also an abundance of optimism for a man to run as a Unionist in that Province, and the fact that so many are doing so is evidence that there are still loyal souls there who feel that Canada should continue to do her part in the war.

A vote against the Union Government is a vote for Quebec domination and Bourassa.

Those who believe that Canada should stand by her brave boys at the front must put that feeling into active work if they hope to be able to look returning heroes in the face.

At the capital the political line-up is the topic of general conversation to-day. The paucity of acclamations has caused some surprise in both camps. Until very recently it was supposed that they would number at least fifty. At Unionist headquarters it was claimed that many of the straight Liberal and Labor candidates, more particularly in the West are straw men who will be easily defeated.

ROCKEY.

While in other cities and towns of Western Ontario, active preparations are being made for the hockey season that will soon be with us, little or nothing has been undertaken or accomplished in Brantford thus far this year. While an intermediate or senior team for the season of 1917-18 is practically an impossibility, a number of last year's juniors are left and with new material a good team could be rounded up. Manager Ed. Gould of last year's champions of this district is very enthusiastic over the prospect of a team and it is doubtful if he could be secured on account of his business duties which would prevent him from giving much time to hockey.

SUPREME SACRIFICE.

After two years' service with the colors Private Leslie Ward, son of Mr. George Ward, Cayuga street has made the supreme sacrifice. Intelligence was received by his father this morning that Private Ward who was well known in the city had been killed in action while doing his duty on the Western front on November the 3rd. He enlisted in Kitchener in the year 1915 and was transferred later to another unit, finally going overseas with the 49th Highlanders. He was not eighteen years of age when he joined the colors but was inspired to do so from a sense of duty. He was but nineteen years of age.

KILLED IN ACTION.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cowling, 14 Holme street, to-day received word that her son Herbert, was killed in action two weeks ago Monday, the 5th of November.

POLICE COURT.

Asked for bread, and received a stone? Hugh Fernando Viccolanti asked for a hotel and got the jail. He didn't like the fare, but paid $3.85 for the lodging which he enjoyed there, as well as $10 for liquid refreshment of which he had previously partaken, before accusing P. White on the street at midnight, and inquiring as to his whereabouts. Viccolanti admitted the soft impeachment of having imbibed—a little crepe-de-menthe—but denied being under the influence of liquor. Archie Marade, Indian, also paid $10 and costs for razing upon the rubicund fruit of the vine—in this case the vine must have been rye. A charge of indecent assault against Percy Green was reduced to common assault, and he paid $10 and costs of $5.38. Mrs. Martha Pitts charged Frederick John Walters with non-payment of a board bill, and Mrs. Daisy White with a similar charge, haled Charles Sinden to court. The former case will be disposed of to-day, the latter received an adjournment of two weeks.

MITE BOX CONCERT.

The mite box concert of Colborne Street Methodist church last night was a splendid success. The church was well filled, and the entertainment pronounced by many as "the best yet." The choir showed careful training, under their leader, Mr. C. E. White; the steadiness, balance and tone brought out in the anthem, "Inflammatus," was very fine. Miss Gladys Garvin and Mr. E. Roaman gave much delight in their solo work, and were repeatedly cheered. Mr. A. E. Greenlaw received great appreciation for his work and responded generously to the call of the audience for more readings were given by Miss Mary M. Berry and also the pastor. Special mention should be made of Miss Berry's number on "Home," by Edgar A. Guest. Mr. A. H. Brown made a very efficient chairman. The mite box receipts came in during the afternoon, and amounted to over $2000. Many thanks are due the committee in charge.

but apart from that was a patriotic duty. Added to this, before the bond became payable it would probably be worth from $120 to $125. It was an undertaking in which all should participate. It offered an opportunity to everyone—the large investor as well as the man with smaller resources. It was so easy to participate in. This was a feature that should be spread abroad throughout the country. The bonds could be sold at any time should the necessity arise. It was not merely the money but the number of Canadians that were behind the loan that all might feel an active and deep interest in the prosecution of the war. This purchase of the loan was possibly more important than the actual cash subscribed. The Military Service Act. The voluntary system had worked out, declared His Lordship. Now a system of recruiting had been evolved that offered to all a fair chance. If the tribunal did not give justice, there was a court of appeal. This throughout the country a uniform standard of fairness prevailed. "We should be patient and should recognize that those in authority want to do the fair thing," said the judge. "Give it a fair trial. Don't get impatient and don't let your friends get impatient and all will work out well in the end." The Food Situation. Regarding the work of the Food Controller the cost of food in Canada, while these were important, greater production of grains and foods that could be shipped overseas should be the primary concern of the country. The Food Controller had really been appointed to conserve the supply of food that could be shipped over to the troops and the Allies. His Lordship appealed for a substitution of vegetables and other foods for grains and produce that could be sent over the ocean. It was the duty of all loyal citizens to exert influence to convert people of the country, and district that this was the year of crisis of our forces at the front, and that all at home who might not be able to go overseas, should strain every effort toward aiding in the winning of the war and the achievement of a permanent victory. Ptes.—Not Guilty. The trial commenced shortly after 10 o'clock, when Charles Garcia, a Maltese, was sworn in as interpreter. F. S. Davison, K.C., of Toronto, appeared for the prosecution, and A. H. Boddy, of Brantford, for the prisoner. The Jury was selected, and consist of Leslie

Initials only will be used, except these columns. Q.—Will Gerald Dawson come back safe from the war?—E.M.P. A.—He will return next spring. You will marry in the early fall of next year. Q.—Where is my brother Bob?—A.—It is my opinion that your brother is deceased. Q.—I lost a diamond ring. It was taken out of my apartment. I suspect a party. Will you please describe him and has he still got the ring or has he disposed of it?—E.S. A.—A woman, not a man, got your ring. Took it out of your bathroom off the soap tray. You will never get it back. I cannot give the name of a person committing a criminal act. Q.—How long before I am going to be married?—E.S.T. A.—Do not see any wedding bells for you at present. Q.—Should I live in Ontario or the United States? What particular line of work should I take up?—C.F.A. A.—I advise you to stay in the West, you will do much better the coming year. Would advise that you enter into mechanical work of the automobile or furnishing machinery business. Q.—Will I get a raise in salary soon?—E.S. A.—A slight raise January 1st. You are in the wrong game. You do not like the work you are doing. Get into something else before spring. Q.—Will my husband derive any benefit from an estate?—M.E.P.W. A.—I see nothing of any consequence. This estate is in England. Q.—Will my brother return from the war? How long will

English, T. A. Adams, Sidney S. Bull, Thomas Lambton, Chester S. Wood, J. A. Cowan, J. M. Sears, P. Avery, William Brown, Charles MacNally, David Grichton, S. Lee. The charge, that of the murder of Sio Batta Borneo, a fellow countryman, in the township of Brantford, on the 30th of July of the present year, was argued on a plea of "not guilty," entered by the prisoner. The Prisoner, Carmelo Calleja, is a Maltese, slightly past the prime of life. He appeared in court this morning, garbed in a suit of dark gray, that corresponded with his demeanor. He observed the preliminary proceedings with a calm but interested mien. A slight flush on the cheeks was all that betrayed the deep interest in the outcome that was held by the prisoner. He sat quietly, scarcely moving, with his hands folded, and when called to rise and answer the indictment, he merely shook his head slightly to the side and replied in a monosyllabic. Occasionally, as if perplexed, he fingered his chin or played with his mustache uncertainly, but was not otherwise perturbed. Jury Sworn In. Prosecuting Attorney, E. Davison, R.C. of Toronto, explained to the jury the circumstances surrounding the crime. He intimated that the disposal of the case would depend on circumstantial evidence. The case is held by the prisoner, on the about the junction of D'Aubigny Creek and the Grand River. The body had been found two days later by two boys, who discovered a man's head floating in the water. Chief Lewis of the Fire Department and officers of the law, visited the scene of the crime and recovered the body. Documents and other personal property found in the clothes of the man, revealed for identification. On the base of the skull was evidence of a heavy blow that doctor had declared could not be self-inflicted. On Monday morning Borneo had left his boarding house. At nine o'clock he was seen in Victoria Park in company with prisoner. The two later left the park, going down Market street. That was the last evidence of the dead man. At eleven o'clock the prisoner was seen coming out of West Brantford by a fellow countryman. The Crown would, therefore, leave the prisoner and dead man to leave Victoria Park and taking a direction that would lead toward the scene of the crime. A few hours later the Crown could show that the prisoner came away along from the direction of the scene of the crime. The circumstantial evidence of this case, stated Mr. Davison, could be compared to two men seen entering a house, one seen coming out with the other's dead body later. The Motive. The prosecuting attorney dealt with the motive. The day after the crime alleged prisoner took the early morning train to Toronto, and there, in company with a son-in-law, sent $100 to his wife in Malta. The prisoner knew that the dead man had money, and the following day the prisoner was known to have a large supply of money. In addition to the dead man's coat found in the bushes was a pair of underdrawers, left as if by someone who had removed them hurriedly. A shirt would also be produced that was found in the prisoner's room that apparently corresponds to the underwear found at the scene of the crime. The theory

produced by the Crown was that the murderer had, after stunning the man, made his own preparations for disposal of the body. He had probably removed his clothes to leave no evidence of water on the body and had then conveyed the body in fifteen feet out from the bush into the creek. Charles Deal, the first witness called, a young man of nineteen, told of the finding of the body, when he, in company with Clarence Studier, were going up the creek for a swim. He saw the top of the head and one ear. No other part of the body was visible. Immediately after the finding of the body he had notified the Fire Department. Clarence Studier, a lad of fifteen years, corroborated the story of the previous witness, whom he had accompanied when the body was found. James Esby, told of coming down the shore of the creek from the direction of the pork factory. He discovered the body and notified some men who were cutting hay across the river. He then notified the fire department. Later he assisted in bringing the body to shore with the aid of a stick. Hilda Purvis, a clerk in the Toronto post office, was the next witness. She testified that on the 31st of July of this year she had issued a money order for the value of $100 to Malta for Carmelo Calleja. She could not remember the prisoner. Sometimes the remitter had the forms filled out by others if he himself could not write English. Fire Chief D. J. Lewis described the recovery of the body from the creek. The body was about fourteen feet from the shore. The wire fence was about 15 feet from the shore, the back of the head and the back of the body, as far down as the hips, were visible. The legs could not be seen. Footprints going into the water and one coming out were in evidence. There was only one set

C.P.R. Brings a Tank to Canada

British "Tanks" moving for a charge on German trenches. The "Tank" is equally at home on the level or climbing hills. The side that faces the foe. The shells are poured from the opening on the right. EVERY one remembers the sensation produced on the battlefield in Flanders by the appearance of the land-battleships familiarly known as "Tanks." Through the efforts of Lord Shackleton of the C. P. R., who undertook to cover the heavy expense of transport, the British Government has agreed to send one of the "Tanks" to Montreal to take part in a great parade for the Victory Loan. Owing to the urgent need for this "Tank" elsewhere, its stay in this country cannot be far long, as that Montreal will be the only city in Canada to have the privilege of seeing this wonderful weapon of war. It carries six machine guns, and will be manned by a crew of gunners, all of whom have been wounded in actual "Tank" service at the front. The Tank will be manned and guarded night and day by its own crew, who will be assisted by a large squad of C. P. R. police. King George, while recently in Flanders, rode with the Prince of Wales in a "Tank" almost identical with the one coming to Montreal. The strain of riding in a "Tank" under action is so terrific that after one day each man gets a week's leave to recuperate, his nerves. Such, however, is the competition among volunteers to ride in the "Tank" that there is a large waiting list of men who have put down their names for the privilege of fighting the Hun in this way. It will be noted from the close up illustration that the shield of the machine gun is just like a human eyeball, but no human eye was ever more watchful than that of the man behind the gun.

Copenhagen, Nov. 19.—A riot occurred recently in the internment camp near Calish, Poland, where members of the Polish legion, the nucleus of a proposed Polish army of the new Austro-German protectorate, were sent when they were disarmed and disbanded several months ago because they refused to take a dual oath to Poland and the Austro-German sovereigns...

To The Editor of The Courier

To the Editor: Dear Sir,—The president has asked me to reply to Mr. Keen's letter in your Friday's issue. In reply to the so-called "comedy" staged at the last meeting of the Trades and Labor Council Mr. Keen forgot to mention that he took the part of the clown and his performance was quite amusing. It is very true that the usual attendance at the meetings is not as large as desired and for that reason Mr. Keen along with one or more of the executive of the T. and L. Council endeavored to wait on the various unions to encourage the attendance of their delegates...

In practically all of the unions the delegates are elected every six months and one year as the city aldermen. To my knowledge there was no "frame-up" to get the honorary delegate. If the delegates resented his domineering attitude that is their privilege. Our council is not a one-man affair as an anonymous writer in "Enough Said" some weeks ago. The attendance of delegates at the council has not been as large this last number of months as when Mr. Keen was first given the courtesy of attending as an honorary delegate, and judging from their remarks they were tired of one man doing all the talking. Just why the late delegate should usurp the privilege of the other delegates in setting up and replying after each speaker certainly is not in accordance with the rules of debate or our constitution, and then when the president rules him out of order he flies out of the meeting like a chicken with its head off. He says "he walked out very much alive."

I take for granted "very much alive" to his own importance, but dead as far as the Council is concerned. As the saying goes, "He who fights and runs away lives to fight another day." While this may be true, it shows a lack of courage. As to the newspaper controversy between Delegate Noble and the late honorary delegate I might as well draw his attention to a similar controversy between himself and Alderman MacBride, which seems to still lie rather heavy in an undigested state in the crop of his mind. I say, "our enemy friend" as a Dutchman once expressed himself. It was due to a heated discussion with Mr. Keen that Peter Noble absented himself from the Council. So long as the honorary delegate was the self-thought idol of the so-called "mutual admiration society" and to his way of thinking ruled supreme, everything was lovely, until we read his recent unwilling for publicity, although they say it pays to advertise even if it is free, then we ceased to be a useful purpose to get his views before the public.

Mr. Keen once said when something similar to the temperance question was brought up for discussion at the T. and L. Council meeting "Anything" and I presume any person "that has a tendency to split the labor forces should be eliminated." This was done much to the discomfiture of the late honorary delegate and I might offer this opinion, "It is a poor doctor who is not willing to take his own medicine."

While I do not wish to mix the press correspondence of the T. and L. Council with the Independent Labor party, still I cannot let such grossly misrepresented statements go without correction. While Mr. Keen did not say out and out don't go to the meeting, he held the club over my head that the vice-president of the Ontario party said that the Independent Labor party would lose their charter if their committee attended the so-called fusion meeting, which I understood was called to see if the three political parties could agree on a non-partisan anti-war candidate. Why Mr. Keen improperly applied the word fusion, which was taken exception to by the L. P. delegate is best known to myself, who has left no stone unturned to disrupt the forces of labor in this city, even to the extent of attempting to swing certain forces in line and nominate another man to split the labor vote, but was badly snowed under. He places himself in a similar position to a cow giving a pal of milk and in kicking at an imaginary fly assents the milk. Neither Mr. Keen or Mr. Keen has any right to interpret the meaning of the notion to their own liking. I would also suggest to Mr. Keen "judge not lest ye be judged," also "to those who are pure at heart all things are pure." The late member of the L.L.P. through misrepresentation assumed he had the support of the Ontario Executive, but as this report will show he did not. I sincerely hope that Mr. Keen will not still think that he is right and everybody else is wrong. Any person must surely realize that the important problem we have to face to-day is to unite all forces to "win the war" and if the L.L.P. had not sent representatives to discuss the matter of a win-the-war candidate they would certainly have lost prestige.

I was informed that a representative of one of the other parties remarked that the L.L.P. had a well-balanced committee and certainly did themselves credit. Yours for unity, A. G. BROWN Sec. Treas. T. and L. Council.

NOT AN AUSTRIAN NOW ON WEST BANK OF PIAVE RIVER

One of Most Glorious Chapters in War's History Written by Italians

Italian headquarters in Northern Italy Sunday, Nov. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The Austrians who forced their way across the Piave River above the Zensoni have been thrown into the river, drowned bayoneted, killed or captured until now not an enemy remains on the west bank at that most threatened point. The fight was one of the most successful chapters of the war and one of the most glorious.

Details of the fight have been gathered from eye-witnesses who saw the fearful carnage through Friday and yesterday and who stayed until the whole west bank was cleared except for the corpses on the shore and in the foreground.

The wounded were so numerous that many have not yet received succor. The enemy had staked everything on getting the west bank of the river and the Italians staked everything on keeping him on the eastern bank. This nerved both to desperation. The Austrians had the first move Friday in two separate crossings a short distance above Zenson, first at the village of Fagare and then an old mill called the Segna mill near Follino. Several circumstances enabled them to pass. They chose a place where the bar ran in midstream, giving them a landing dividing the main stream into two small shallow currents. Also there was a heavy mist screening their movements. The Italians had material for an improvised bridge with uprights and iron plates for flooring. This was about five o'clock in the morning and in the mist at that early hour they got across the second narrow channel to the west bank. The last ten feet the men waded across in water above their waists. In their first rush they swept past four Italian machine gun batteries, capturing their guns and driving the Austrians back into the village of Fagare. Here the real fight began as the Austrians had now recovered from the surprise and they fought like demons. It was a hand-to-hand fight through the streets of the town with no place with artillery or machine guns and the Italians using bayonets, hand grenades, knives and gelatine torpedoes. The Austrians held part of the town near the bank with the Italians on the land side. The Austrians tried to throw a line around the town and succeeded in part on one side until the Italian batteries to the north got the range of the line outside shelter of the streets. This line was the first to be demolished and then the Italians on this side of the town advanced cheering, heaving their way. The enemy held at first, then began to seek cover and finally broke as the Italians pushed the Austrians out of the town back to the river. Some plunged into the water and sought to get to the sand bar. All the machine guns were abandoned. Most of the enemy fell along the water's edge and an observer who saw the grawsome sight says the bodies on the river bank and in the water reminded him of heaps of seaweed after the tide had gone out.

Further up the river at the Segna mill the other crossing had brought on another bloody fight, which lasted until late yesterday when the whole shore was cleared of living Austrians. But it was lined with dead. The movement here began late on Friday night and reached its culmination about 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Friday night several Austrian battalions got across under the cover of darkness. They chose narrow channels and some of the officers rode across on horseback. They took a position near the town cemetery and opened on the Italians during the night with machine guns. The Austrians carried two searchlights which they played on the Italian positions while the Italians were without searchlights. It was only by the flashes of the Austrian machine guns that the Italians could direct their fire.

At daylight yesterday the enemy still held his position at the cemetery. The situation began to look serious and for a time it appeared as though the Italians would have to fall back. But now the famous Bersaglieri brigade was brought up fresh from its heroic rearguard defense of the main army as it retired. Some other troops were from nearby towns and they were stirred to a last desperate effort to save their homes.

The Italians charged shortly after dawn, their line moving straight up the hill to the cemetery. Against machine gun fire and guns on the bank the Italians moved with bayonets, grenades and torpedoes. It was one of those charges inspired by love of home and country which will live always and it was irresistible. The enemy wavered and broke just as the Italian artillery, on a nearby height got the range of the cemetery. But the main fighting was hand-to-hand with the enemy being pressed back steadily to the river, where they were cut down, drowned, bayoneted or captured. By ten o'clock yesterday all had been swept away except a few straggling groups, but by noon not one of the enemy's force was left on the western bank.

In addition to some 1,500 killed the enemy lost 1,500 prisoners, including two colonels and some thirty other officers. All the Austrian machine guns were captured and are now being used by the Italians.

The fury of the fighting is shown by the fact that the old Segna mill on the river's brink was taken and taken six times during the ebbs and flows. The mill is full of bullet holes, but shows no evidence of shell fire, indicating that the fighting was entirely at close quarters. Italian stretcher-bearers did no service yesterday afternoon in caring for the great number of Austrian wounded who lay along the shore. Two of these stretchers were waded out to the sand bar amid-stream, where several seriously wounded Austrians had dragged themselves. They were brought back and cared for carefully by the Italian hospital corps. One of these wounded Austrians was wounded seriously in the leg and was supported between two Italian soldiers on the way to the receiving station. The Italians recovered their dead, some of them at the water's edge. One gunner was found hanging lifeless over his machine gun.

This summarizes a most desperate fight to preserve the Piave line.

WHERE ANTI-TOXINS ARE MADE FOR CANADIAN ARMY.

The Duke of Devonshire last week formally opened the Connaught Laboratories of the Department of Hygiene of the University of Toronto, which are situated eight miles directly north of Toronto. The farm of fifty acres and the laboratories, stables and other buildings are the gift of Col. Albert Gooderham. They have been in operation for about a year. Here are prepared the serums for the treatment of tetanus, meningitis, typhoid fever and other diseases to which the soldier is the heir. The horses are given minute injections of the disease bacilli, and later when anti-toxins have been formed in their bodies, small quantities of their blood is drawn off and the anti-toxin separated. The photo shows two lady chemists at work, one of the farm buildings with some of the horses, and two horses in process of undergoing injection and bleeding. The horses are none the worse for the treatment and thousands of lives have been saved by the toxins thus prepared. Only one has died of typhoid in the Canadian army and he had absolutely refused to be inoculated. There were 8,000 deaths from typhoid in the South African war among the British. So far in this war the total is only 167.

COUNCIL CARRIED REPORT OF INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Drastic Recommendations Including Dismissal of Three Civic Employees Were Accepted at Stormy Session Last Night—Ald. English Championed Men Involved—Referendum in January on Fuel and Food

The City Council last night adopted the report of the special committee which investigated the affairs of the board of works, and the dismissal of three officials of the city sewers department will result. The report was carried only after a protracted debate, in which personalities were rampant, and the noted, held full sway, Ald. English, although a member of the investigating committee, refused to acquiesce in the council's decision to dismiss the three employees named, declaring them guilty of no greater irregularities than many other civic employees. He and Ald. Tulloch had a number of fiery passages-at-arms, ancient certain passages in the evidence which came before the investigating committee, and the Bowly-Ma cliche controversy flourished with renewed vigor. Ald. Kelly sprang a sensation when he stated that he had been threatened with defeat at the polls in January if he supported the report, and his declaration that he intended to do his duty in the face of the Tammany of Brantford, was acclaimed by the throng of spectators which crowded the council chamber during the evening.

Upon the passing of the report, Ald. English introduced a motion calling for an immediate audit of the entire works department by a competent auditor, to be secured from outside the city. In view of the fact that the municipality expects very soon to engage such an official permanently, the motion was defeated.

The public will vote in January on a referendum on the question of the city entering into the fuel and food business—a resolution by Ald. MacBride carried unanimously.

The public liability insurance of the city will remain in the hands of the present firm, the London and Lancashire Co. Ald. Dowling introduced a motion to transfer the policy, but an amendment by Ald. Hess carried.

Community Xmas Tree Co-operation from the council was sought by the Y. W. C. A. and kindred societies in the matter of a Community Christmas tree. The matter was referred to the chairman of the fire and light and the building and grounds committees.

A Salaried Job? Did Mayor Bowley receive any remuneration from his office of director of the Gas Company? Such was the query propounded by the secretary of the Trades and Labor council in a communication to the council. The interrogation was referred to the finance committee.

His Worship the Mayor welcomed the large number of spectators present.

Board of Works. The Board of Works recommended that permission be given The Kitcher Overall and Shirt Company to install a cast iron frame and cover in sidewalk on side of their premises on the North side of Centre Street for the purpose of taking in coal, on the condition of its being removed and the opening closed when ever demanded by the Council. The work to be done to the satisfaction of the City Engineer.

Buildings and Grounds. The committee on Buildings and Grounds reported as follows: That a furnace be installed in the Police Station. As the appropriation this year is exhausted, we can not put it in at the present time but recommend that next year's council provide for the furnace as there are nine gas stoves in use at the station and the cost of the Police Department.

Account Repudiated. The Council argued for fifteen minutes over an account submitted by Mr. F. C. Bodley for work in connection with the convenience building on the market square, the buildings and grounds committee repudiating the account, which was not incurred during their period of office. The account was laid over.

Fire and Light. The committee recommended that a punch register be installed in conjunction with the storage battery at the Central Fire Station, to record accurately fire alarms as they are turned in.

Good Roads Commission. Ald. English introduced a by-law providing for the appointment of a representative to the suburban roads commission. On the motion of Ald. MacBride and Harp, Ald. English was named for the post; and the by-law passed.

An Atlantic port, Nov. 19—A smugly lighted on the hatches of an American freighter served by an attack by a German submarine recently, according to the officers of the vessel which arrived here yesterday. The vessel was a European port the ship's watch sighted a submarine approaching, well out of the water. The captain instantly ordered small fires kindled on the hatches using material which was almost non-combustible, but which produced a heavy pall of smoke. When the submarine came near the steamer was stopped. The captain informed the commander of the U-boat that he had a cargo of explosives and that on account of the fire there was a danger of explosion. The submarine immediately departed its commander evidently believing that an explosion was imminent. The fires were then put out and the steamer proceeded.

A SPORTING OFFER

C. P. R. Subscribes $10,000,000 if the People of Canada Subscribe $300,000,000 to Victory Loan.

SINCE this war began," said Lord Shaughnessy at a great Victory Loan campaign meeting in Montreal, "the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has invested up to the present time in loans and guarantees on one firm and another to the Allied nations nearly $70,000,000.

"Nevertheless we would be glad to subscribe to the Victory Loan up to $5,000,000. But I will add a rider to that. If the people of Canada will make it $300,000,000 (exclusive of the amount paid for by surrender of bonds of previous issues) as we have no doubt they will, the company will make their subscription $10,000,000."

"This was at the close of an inspiring speech giving the reasons why the people of Canada should give their whole-hearted support to the loan. He spoke as follows:

"I know that this large hall is crowded to its capacity with an army of earnest men and women who are filled with the determination that this Victory Loan of 1917 shall be the phenomenal success that it deserves to be. Above all, they are determined that our great city of Montreal, the premier city of Canada, the financial and commercial metropolis, and the fountain head of broad sentiment and cosmopolitan thought in the Dominion, shall do its full share toward contributing the amount required, not only for the honor and build upon it in a rational and sensible way, and thousands upon thousands of substantial little funds will have been created to meet the demands of the rainy day.

DR. DeVAN'S FEMALE PILLS

Mariposa was navigating the dangerous inside passage which in some places is as narrow as a small river and where scores of ships have been wrecked since the Bonding day of the Klondike. Blinding snow storms and fogs make navigation there extremely hazardous at this season. The Mariposa was 314 feet long and her tonnage 1,933 net.
