VISITED THE SOUTH SEAS

VANCOUVER MAN GATHERED
MANY VALUABLE RELICS.

Frank Burnett Spent Twenty-five Years of His Life Making One of the Most Valuable Collections in America—He Had His Own Ship and Risked His Life Freely in the Pursuit of His Hobby.

FOR twenty-five years, from his forty-second year until his sixty-seventh, Frank Burnett devoted much time to acquiring the greatest individual collection of things from the South Sea Islands that were most representative of the Polynesian and Papuan people that live on that wondrous stretch of islands scattered along 5,000 miles of way in the South Pacific Ocean.
During these twenty-five years he roamed far in search of the treasures which made his collection perhaps the finest on the American continent and the greatest ever collected by one man entirely by personal endeavor in the world pertaining to this particular subject.

Though to-day 67 years of age, and having his home in the Canadian seaport city of Vancouver, he spends about half of his time in the islands.
But though he will probably continue to collect rare things until he dies, he has bequeathed this whole magnificent collection to the new University of British Columbia, now under construction on the outskirts of the city of Vancouver.

When completed the university will be one of the finest halls of learning on the Pacific coast. Standing in the centre of an enormous campus in the suburb of West Point Gray, its windows look out over the Gulf of Georgia. And to one of the great rooms in this university in the future will be brought all these varied rare things representative of the varied life of those far flung islands.

To search them out he traveled more than a hundred thousand miles by steamer, small sailing coasting vessel, canoe and on foot. He penetrated into the very heart of the cannibal country, the dangerous Solomons, taking his life in his hands many times to obtain some particularly unique object difficult of acquiring, such as cannibal forks, plates and human meat hooks. These were utensils dedicated to the handling of human flesh alone, for with the cannibals the eating of their kind is accompanied by much ceremonial.

Even twenty-five years ago these utensils were rare and difficult of obtaining. To his great museum, which fills a room as large as the ballroom of a castle, he brought hundreds of spears widely varied in shape and design. There are some barbed with human bones, some edged with sharks' teeth.

Clubs that date back centuries and have taken scores of lives are mingled with the spears that line two walls of the long room. They are of every shape and pattern peculiar to the Polynesian and Papuan people, who inhabit that vast stretch of the Southern Pacific on several thousand islands.

To travel over even a portion of this territory is a labor of years, and though there are some places, of course, Frank Burnett has not seen, his journeyings among these islands have been most thorough and his selection of the objects representative of the various islands has been most careful and complete.

In his museum are human heads taken from bodies that served at cannibal banquets. The heads are both stripped clean and smoked, the latter ornamented in weird designs.
There are cabinets filled with countless ornaments, shell money, feather money from Santa Cruz Island, long past out of existence, for the bird they made the money out of has become extinct, and the people themselves have changed. There is money from the Solomons made in the form of rings six inches across, a hundred dollars value of which is more than a man could carry.

Rare tapa clothes hang upon the walls and are piled in cases; mats of difficult weave and marvelously pliable, their texture speaking of the long labor they required.

Frank Burnett himself is quite as interesting as the collection he has made. Born at Peterhead, Scotland, Burnett went to sea at fourteen and experienced much adventure until he was twenty, when he emigrated to Canada. After ten years of business life he became a stock broker, but gave this up to pioneer the new Canadian West, a kind of life dear to his heart. For fifteen years he lived in Manitoba, seeing it change from a wilderness to a prosperous and fertile country. Always fond of new frontiers, he went to British Columbia and became a dealer in lands.

In 1895 he went to the South Seas for the first time on a short trip, when he began his collection. In 1901, to better cover the far reaches of the region, he purchased and outfitted his own ship, the Laurel, an 80-ton ship, and visited the most remote islands in various groups. For fifteen months he voyaged, seeing places seldom by white men visited.
On this trip he made a great addition of particularly rare and valuable objects representative of the life in the islands.

Since 1901, he has traveled often to the South Seas, his trips becoming more frequent and more protracted until of late years half his time has been spent in roaming and combing the islands for new things of interest.

National Jewish Homeland.

Prince Faisal, son of the King of the Hedjaz, has pledged co-operation with the Zionists in establishing a national Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Chinaman an Aviator.

Y. M. Lim On, a Chinese Canadian, has the honor of being the first Oriental to complete his flying instruction and receive his F.A.I. certificate in Canada since the war. He received his instruction at Armour Heights and intends to return to his native country to promote aviation interests.

Authority.

"Take this rubber plant into the garden."

"Mistress said I was to put it on the balcony, sir."

"Do as I tell you. You will put it in the garden first. Afterward you can put it on the balcony."

Happy Occasion.

Mother—What's the matter, darling?

Child—P-p-pa hit his finger with the hammer.

Mother—Don't cry about that; you should laugh.

Child—I-I-d-did.

Mountsburg

Miss Ruby Nicholson while out driving the other afternoon with her father had the misfortune, while turning corner at Main street and Campbell Avenue, to upset, the horse becoming frightened and overturning the cutter. Both occupants were thrown out, also a quantity of food which they were conveying to the sick, but by the careful management of the driver no further harm resulted, and they soon proceeded on their way.

Mr. Russell Stewart has started on his second term at night school.

Rev. Mr. Woods, of Duff's Church Methodist, conducted the services in the Methodist church here on Sunday evening last.

Mr. James Scott is spending his holidays at Jerdon Station.

Mr. Garnet Woolsey of Toronto spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. William Mount is about to purchase a farm in this vicinity.

There are a great many cases of sickness in this neighborhood at present, but all are reported doing nicely.

The church choir is at present on strike, but why should we have to go without? Anyone who can sing are asked to volunteer their services next Sabbath.

One of the young men of this neighborhood is confined to his home for the past few days, and there is no help for it while the flu is on.
But the ever faithful telephone is a great help, it carries no germs, but will carry sweet messages and good cheer to the sick.

Township Council

The Township council met at the Kirk House on Monday Feb. 2nd.

A communication was received from the Toronto and Hamilton Highway Commission requesting the council to appoint three representatives of its members to attend a meeting to be held in Toronto of these financially interested in the Toronto and Hamilton Highway. Councillors Easterbrook and Attridge were appointed a committee to attend the meeting.

A Deputation from the Waterdown Community League again waited on the council requesting financial aid up to $5000 towards building a new Memorial hall in Waterdown.

Another deputation was received from Carlisle Community League asking assistance toward building a Community Hall at Carlisle. The council suggested to this deputation that they co-operate with Aldershot Community League in their endeavor to secure Registration enabling a school section or a union of two or more school sections to raise by way of assessment in the said sections a sufficient sum to build a Community hall.

A by-law was passed fixing the councillor and committee fees at $5 per day and mileage at 10c per mile one way.

A by-law was also passed fixing the salary of the Clerk and Treasurer at $720 per annum, beginning Jan. 1st, 1920.

The following accounts were passed and ordered paid:

W. McKay for use of wagon and tank 10 days at 20c per day, $2.

J. Kirk, use of room for meeting of Feb. 2nd, $3.

Mrs. Sarah Robson, care Township hall on Nomination and Election day, $2.

Ed. Harris, rebate of Dog tax $2.

On motion the council adjourned to first Monday in March.

He Wanted Prices.

"This catalogue is no good," said a man visiting the Toronto Art Museum, according to a story that has reached us. "There aren't any prices in it." "What?" said his wife. "You weren't thinking of buying any?" "Certainly not," replied the complainant. "But how can you be expected to appreciate pictures if you don't know the prices of them?"

A War Memorial.

The names of the 60,000 Canadians who were killed in the world war will be inscribed on the walls of a church which will be erected in Notre Dame de Grace, a suburb of Montreal. The church will be used by the combined congregations of the Anglican Church of the Good Shepherd and Trinity Church.

What Their Geographies Taught About Canada.

Germany has captured all the United States and a part of Canada, startlingly announces the Rocky Mountain News. The conquest took place ten years ago, all on the quiet and unknown to the inhabitants. The Kaiser at the time admitted the occupation and subjection of this territory and issued maps for the education of the little Huns in the public schools of the fatherland, whose gullibility left them believing that the select and rich parts of the world belonged "by divine right" to the German people, and all the rest was inhabited by swine and heathen.

But America has at last come to the full knowledge of its predicament by reference to page 55 map No. 1, of the Volkshul-Atlas von C. Dierecke (public school atlas), used in the schools of Germany ten years ago.

As the youthful Hun struggled through his geography lesson he became "enlightened" about the world. He knew Germany, for he had seen the great pompous dignity of its emperor reviewing the imperial troops. Germany was a reality to the child. But about the rest of the world, Bah! They were heathen and "low brows."

And then the teacher came to page 5 of the lesson and then to map No. 1. It is titled "Vertellung der Menschenrassen," or the division of the human race. In great, stirring red ink the pupil was at once attracted to a vast area covering the whole of the United States and almost half of Canada.

And across the whole was written "Germanen," meaning Germans. To the north was a strip of green designating that there was the home of the "Noramerikanische Indianer," meaning the North American Indians.

But the skillful art of lying, even in the face of an untruth, because they thought they could get away with it, led the authorities of Germany to step farther, and, behold, the race that gave to Germany the first knowledge of telephones and telegraphs, the submarine and airplane, through American inventions, was transformed into "heathen."

Map No. 2 on page 5 shows the western hemisphere in another light—that of the division of religions. Here the miracle of miracles is being worked, for in a heathen country German missionaries are battling the elements and savagery of a hideous race to plant the imperial and holy flag of Germany upon its soil and to bring "Christian" enlightenment to their unholy souls.

Across the face of the United States and Canada dark shaded places are shown, with a footnote reading Gebiet deutscher Heidenmissionen, meaning spheres of influence of German missionaries to the heathen.

Useless Information.

We always devour all the statistics we can find, says an exchange. They are wonderful. Listen:

If all the phonograph records made in one year were thrown from the top of Brook's Monument they would break.

It would take four men some time to lick all the postage stamps made in Ottawa in one year, but we don't know just how long.

If all the telephone conversations from corner drug stores in one year could be recorded on a phonograph, nobody could listen to them.

A mule can climb to the top of Mt. Popocatepeti in five days. He can descend in five seconds.

If all the doughnuts made by the Salvation Army could be linked together in one chain, they would reach from Paris to Somewhere in France.

THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Functions of the "Official Head" of a Province.

The appointment of a new Lieutenant-Governor for Ontario has revived interest in the functions of that official. Technically speaking, he is in charge of the administration of government of the province; actually, he acts only on the advice of the executive council or cabinet, and performs no duties that could not be fulfilled by the chief justice of the province, unless they be social duties which are his by tradition, but not by law.

It would not be an easy matter, if desirable, to abolish the position of lieutenant-governor, because the appointment is required by the British North America Act, the constitution of Canada, and the provinces have allotted to him various duties not common to all. For instance, in British Columbia, the lieutenant-governor is authorized to transmit by message to the Legislature the draft of any law which appears to him to be desirable. And in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia he appoints the member of the Upper House or Legislative Council. In Quebec he appoints the Speaker of that body.

The lieutenant-governor is authorized to choose the ministers who shall assist him in the governing of the province and constitutional practice requires that he shall choose them from the party having a majority of the members of the Legislature. In practice, the lieutenant-governor selects the party leader having the largest following to form a ministry, and almost as a matter of course approves of the selections made for the various portfolios.

Other duties of the lieutenant-governor are:

To summon, prorogue or dissolve the legislature.

To recommend the appropriation of the revenues and all money bills.

To assent to or veto bills or reserve them for the consideration of the governor-general.

He appoints all officers necessary to the work of administration.

He may dismiss ministers or demand their resignations.

The lieutenant-governor, contrary to popular impression, is not a representative of the King, and holds no commission from him. He is appointed by the Governor-General in Council and may be removed by the same on the advice of the Dominion Cabinet. Munro's "Constitution of Canada" says he presides over the administration and forms a part of the legislature.

A Patriotic Indian.

Chief Joseph Davies of the Brunswick House Band of Ojibway Indians, and several of his tribe, who enlisted in 1916 with the 227th (Men of the North) Battalion, were among the returned soldiers who arrived home from France by the Olympic.

Chief Davies was granted by the military authorities the unique privilege of wearing upon his uniform throughout active service his official Indian chief's insignia.

On his arrival at Chapleau a welcome was extended by Indian Agent T. J. Godfrey and a large deputation of members of the tribe. A pathetic feature of the chief's homecoming is that two of his children have recently died of the "flu."

The chief's wife, traveling more than thirty miles by canoe, having to break the ice in many places to get through, bringing with her one dead child and one seriously ill with the epidemic, arrived in Chapleau too late to save the life of the second child, who died shortly after admission to the hospital.

WATERDOWN,

"Toronto Street" in Vimy.

The Secours National of Toronto some time ago decided to adopt the town of Vimy and to work for its re-establishment. That the efforts of the members are appreciated is shown by the following letter from Mons. A. Ansart:

Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, President Secours National,
Toronto.

Dear Sir,—I have been informed by Mr. Tanotax in the name of the Committee "France-Canada" that the Secours National of Toronto was disposed to act in the capacity of Godmother to the Canton of Vimy.

As Mayor of the town of Vimy, I am very desirous that your committee should undertake the work they have offered to do for Vimy. The status of Godmother to my commune has not been accorded to any charitable organization, or to any person, and your committee will be recognized as our official Godmother. This decision has been taken by the Municipal Council of Vimy, whose members are at present scattered to the four corners of France.

I regret that I cannot thank you on the official paper of our commune, but the Germans have taken every piece of official letter-head or paper that they could lay their hands on, and up to date we have been unable to obtain enough paper even to write you this letter. Alone there still remains in my possession the seal of the town of Vimy, with which I have stamped this letter.

It is particularly agreeable to us, the inhabitants of the Canton of Vimy, on the ground over which your Canadian soldiers so courageously fought, to see that your compatriots are to-day coming to the aid of our unfortunate population.

In order to give expression of our gratitude, I am charging myself with the duty of asking our Municipal Council on their first reunion to inscribe on a marble plaque the name of your committee and of its officials and to place this marble plaque in the Hall of Honor at the City Hall. We desire also to name one of our streets or squares in the town of Vimy in your honor.

(Signed.) Monsieur A. Ansart.

That Was It.

One of the favorite stories told in army camps in the earlier days of the war was that of the recruit who developed a queer mania very shortly after he had been assigned to a depot regiment. Time and again in barracks and out he was seen picking up pieces of paper from the floor or ground, looking at them, muttering "that's not it," and passing on. He refused to explain his actions. The matter finally came to the attention of his officers and they had him reported to the attention of a medical board for examination. When he came before the board the recruit grabbed up the papers on the table and looked them all over before he could be prevented. "That's not it," he repeated as he examined each one feverishly. Finally, after lengthy observation, the medical officers recommended his discharge, via the "s. c. o." route. When the soldier detailed to accompany the apparent lunatic to his home was handed the discharge certificate the cause of it all seized it and perused it hastily. "That is it!" he yelled. "And it was, for the release from the service was permitted to stand."

Pine Needles as Playthings.

In the beautiful and cleanly needles of the pine, the children had an unlimited supply for the manufacture of toys, writes Alice Morse Earle, in her "Child Life in Colonial Days." Pretty necklaces could be made for personal adornment, resembling in miniature the fringed bark garments of the South Sea Islanders, and tiny brooms for dolls' houses. A thickly-growing cluster of needles was called "a lady." When her petticoats were carefully trimmed she could be placed upright on a sheet of paper, and by softly blowing upon it could be made to dance. A winter's amusement was furnished by gathering and storing the pitch-pine cones and hearing them snap open in the house.

TEA—TEA

The great pressure of present times when everyone seems to be hurried in everything, even to their buying has induced and increased the use of package goods, especially teas, to such an extent that bulk teas are almost forgotten but just a work. We must consider the extra cost of package goods. The extra cost of packages, the extra cost of labor and machinery to do the packing, and also the advertising. All these add to the cost of your tea and also adds to the cost of the high cost of living which today is a vital question with the majority of people

To offset the high cost of living to some extent we have bought a lot of very fine high grade India Tea in bulk, grown in the home of the tea plant. This tea is of exceptionally good quality and flavor and we can sell you any quantity you want by the pound at the moderate price of
