The Newfoundland School Society.

Every student of history must be struck with the numerous instances of one man power, the influence of one solitary enthusiast on the great movements of the world. Peter the Hermit and the Crusades of the Middle Ages, Wycliff and Luther, and in more modern times Father Mathew and the great temperance reform, General Booth and the Salvation Army, and the most recent of all, Grenfell and Labrador—these are all in their way marvellous, but they are not more striking or remarkable than the founding of the Newfoundland School Society by Samuel Codner. He was a very ordinary West Country merchant, carrying on business in Newfoundland. He had no eloquence, no literary ability, no great wealth. Readers can see his likeness in my History, a very ordinary common-place individual. On a visit to London he heard a sermon by an eloquent preacher on the duties of Englishmen towards their overseas kinsmen in the Colonies. They should be given the blessings of religion and education. It stirred Codner to such a pitch of enthusiasm that he there and then vowed to devote his whole life and energy to giving Newfoundland education. At once he gave up his business, and from that day forward all his life and energy was consecrated to this one object.

Beginning about 1820 Codner travelled all over the British Isles, and in every city he established a branch of his new Society—"The Newfoundland Society for Educating the Poor." At that period Newfoundland had its 90,000 of population had only one solitary school, a few Catholic priests, ten Church of England clergymen and ten Methodists. Both religion and education were at their lowest ebb.

The work done by Codner both in England and the Colony was something marvellous. In 1831 we learn that his health had completely broken down, he had literally worn himself out; but to the day of his death he never abated his exertions on behalf of the one great object to which he had devoted his life, and his success was marvellous. Beginning in August, 1824, Archdeacon Bridge reported to 1842 that education had been extended to 12,000 children, that it had now 44 schools in full operation.

There was one point about the new Society that will recommend it to all lovers of education. It was absolutely non-sectarian. In its reports it declares "Whilst it adopts Dr. Bell's system of instruction, it is cautious of giving offence by insisting on the general introduction of any particular catechism," etc. It is pleasant to know that in Newfoundland men of all denominations, Catholics and Protestants alike, supported the new Society.

The old reports give us an insight into the real history of the Colony at this period. We can note the first beginnings of the great house of Bowring, first in Benjamin Bowring, 1820, grandfather of Sir William Benjamin Bowring, Bart. of today; next Bowring & Son, B. Bowring and his eldest son Charles, and next Bowring Bros. In the Liverpool auxiliary two of the leading members are John Gladstone and John Job, afterwards Sir John Gladstone, father of the great statesman, and John Job, grandfather of our William Carson Job. The Jobs of Liverpool and the Gladstones were associated in business Job's supplying Gladstone's slaves in Demerara with Newfoundland fish and bringing home Gladstone's celebrated Demerara rum. I have often wondered that the great commoner's enemies never attacked him about the early associations of his family with slavery and rum. In these early days the anomaly was never considered; both John Job and John Gladstone were earnest religious men. It required Wilberforce and Zachary Macaulay, Lord Macaulay's father, to raise the nation into indignation about the slave trade and the horrors and cruelty of the middle passage.

The Society's operations were soon extended to Upper Canada. Then in its infancy with a sparse population of about 250,000 about the annual emigration of one single year into the Dominion, as it is well known the old Newfoundland School Society is now merged into the Colonial and Continental Church and School Society. Newfoundlanders should always honour the memory of Samuel Codner, who did such good work for our education.

It is said that Lord Robert Cecil is very fond of bee-keeping, and has a fine apiary belonging to him, in connection with which the following story is told. He had sent somewhere for a queen bee, and in answer "could arrive by the 3.40 train." When Lord Robert arrived at the station, in the afternoon he found nearly all the people for miles round waiting there. He asked what was the matter, and was told that they had come to see the Queen.

CHAPTER II.

"YES," he said, "I have more to tell. It is necessary that you should hear it. I have to speak of yourself and the relations between us. You remember the first time you came here? I told you then that I intended making you my heir. I have never broken my word—to-night I have made public announcement of my intentions, Harold," and he turned and laid his hand on Harold's broad shoulders. "Unknown to you, I have kept close watch on your life, and I am satisfied. You are a Woodleigh, in all save the Woodleigh wildness and extravagance. If I have not given you the love that was your own, it was because I had no love to give."

"You have been a father to me, sir," said Harold, brokenly. "Because my heart went with my two loved ones, I gave you all else, and now I have to ask—I will make it a condition as I said—I have to ask something of you in return."

Harold faced him with the impetuous flush of youth on his handsome face. "I cannot conjecture what it may be," he said, "but it is yours, sir, even if it were my life."

Sir Talbot scanned his face for a moment with suppressed eagerness, then with a sudden gasp, as if his long-suppressed emotion found vent, he grasped Harold's arm, and, in a low voice trembling with agitation, exclaimed: "Harold they are found!"

"There was a moment's silence; both stood as if they had been turned to stone. Then, with a long breath, Harold sank into a chair. "Thank Heaven, thank Heaven!" "They are found," repeated Sir Talbot, regaining his composure with a great effort. "My wife—my wife lies buried in a foreign land, my daughter—"

Harold sprang up, and caught the thin, trembling hand, and the two men stood silent and motionless.

"Tell me all, sir," said Harold, breaking the silence; "sit down." And with gentle force he led Sir Talbot to a chair, and stood over him, with his strong hand on the bent shoulder.

Sir Talbot drew a long breath. "A week ago, I heard from one of the agents, whom I have kept employed in the search, that he had succeeded in tracing Lady Woodleigh to one of the new towns in America; there she had been living under an assumed name, as completely buried from the world as I had been in Wexfordshire. He had made his discovery in New York, by a mere accident, and had hastened to the village—town—"

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition for which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down of the power of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are the same—the more prominent being, apathy, nervous prostration, weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary duties of life. Now, what is absolutely essential in all such cases is, rest, rest, rest—and a course of the celebrated life-restoring tonic.

THERAPION No. 3
is the only other known combination so exact as it is taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, with the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH, and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "and so" and "valuable." This wonderful medicine is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste—suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex, and is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing restorative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this world's sojourn, and numerous classes of human ailments.

THERAPION is the principal remedy throughout the world. Price in England, 2/6 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government stamps in white letters on a red ground, and to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Colonial Officers, and without which it is a forgery.

Therapion may now also be obtained in Drages (Tasteless) form.

call it what you will, to—find that Lady Woodleigh was dead, and that once more my child had disappeared, no one knew whither. For weeks he hunted in every direction, and at last he telegraphed that he had come upon the track. Then he wrote that he had discovered that a girl bearing the name of Leigh, the name assumed by Lady Woodleigh, had gone down South, and, in words that I know by heart, he tells me that he is close upon her. It may be, that my punishment is about to be completed. Death may yet step in to cover the misery of the long years; but no—something within me tells me that she lives, and that before many months—weeks, perhaps, have passed, I shall see her."

Wild with excitement, Harold paced up and down.

"Great Heaven! how can you remain here? he exclaimed, impetuously; 'when every moment is of consequence! Something may happen to the man who is following her. How can you stay here watching and watching?"

Sir Talbot looked up with a curious smile.

"Call me superstitious if you will, Harold," he said; "but I have a presentiment that if I move a step in her direction, she will be irrevocably lost to me; I have struggled against the feeling, but to no purpose, and I wait!"

Harold stopped abruptly, with an eager light in his eyes.

"Let me go!" he said.

Sir Talbot looked at him with a strange change working in his face.

"Let me go," said Harold, his face aflame with eagerness. "Two heads are better than one. The man may die—who knows! I am young and strong; I cannot, I will not, remain idly here when so much is at stake! Don't refuse me, sir! Plainly, I will not take an denial. Let me try and prove the gratitude and affection which I bear you for all your kindness and care of me. Let mine be the task of restoring to you a daughter. Think, sir! Surely you will not refuse me! I also have my presentiments—Heaven knows why! but I feel that it has been reserved to me to restore her to you!"

Sir Talbot rose, slowly, tremblingly, as unlike the stern, cold man of an hour ago as it is possible to conceive. "Heaven bless you, Harold!" he faltered, brokenly. "Oh, Harold, Harold, bring her to me!"

Harold gasped his hand.

"I will," he said, simply. "If she is alive, you shall have your daughter, sir."

"And you—" said Sir Talbot, laying his hand on the strong shoulders, and looking eagerly, questioningly, into the earnest eyes. "And you—what?"

Harold started, and was silent for a moment; then he said, solemnly: "And I a wife. I understand you, sir. This is your condition, request, I accept, I accept, I go to seek your daughter and my future wife."

CHAPTER III.
HILDA FANE.

JUST about the time when the guests were arriving at Woodleigh Hall, an audience that crowded the principal theatre at San Francisco was listening—that is, talking—through the overture. That something beyond the usual performance was taking place that evening was evident from the packed house, the fashionable character of the audience, and that indescribable buzz of anticipation which proceeds from a mass of people excited above the ordinary. It was a magnificent theater; every light had been made to show its brightest; there was increased band in the orchestra; extra seats had been added to the stalls, and a row of spectators stood patiently in the boxes. The audience was not only numerous, but evidently critical; for in the foremost stalls were some of the principal men in the city, standing together in clusters, and discussing the performance they were awaiting. In the middle of the second row was an empty stall, the only one unoccupied in the house, and round this stall the principal group of male gossips were congregated.

With brilliant execution the orchestra worked their way through the overture, and still the stall was eyed longingly by those unfortunate who were seatless.

Presently one of the gentleman of the group touched it with his hand, and, with a smile, said:

'Slade's late to-night.'

'Yes remarked another, 'for a wonder. He is generally here before the overture commences.'

'Doesn't know she plays to-night, perhaps,' hazarded a third, with a light laugh.

'Doesn't he! Trust him for that! said the first man who had spoken. 'He hasn't missed any one-night yet, and he isn't likely to, as this is his last night. Well, he's 'cute' as they make them in England, but I've fancy that she will be a match for him. He'll lose that thousand pounds, sure as fate.'

'What's that about a thousand pounds?' asked a newcomer, pricking up his ears at the welcome sound of money.

'Oh,' was the reply, 'Dawson Slade, the Englishman, had wagered a thousand that he'd drive the divine Hilda through the park before the week's out. Five days have gone, and to all accounts, he's as far off winning as ever.'

Mayor Gaynor Finds More Graft.

New York, June 9.—Mayor Gaynor has been hunting graft in another field. He says that he has found it, and that it was flourishing openly in the federal building here. He has written to Attorney General Wickham alleging that bribes are extorted from aliens who desire to become naturalized.

Soon after the Mayor took office he received complaints which led him to begin an investigation. Applicants for naturalization are lined up in the federal building and stand there day after day awaiting attention. City detectives were stationed in the line and one of them reported that Jacob Goldstein approached him and demanded $25 as the price of having his case attended to. The detective said he paid $14 to Goldstein, who was then arrested, but was later discharged when the Assistant United States District Attorney said he was not ready to proceed with the case.

Suffered Terrible Pains from His Kidneys.

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body, and most people are troubled with some kind of kidney complaint, but do not suspect it.

There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets.

They help the kidneys to flush out the acid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Mr. C. Jordan of Port Sandfield, writes as follows:

It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Bovel's Herb Tablets. I suffered terribly from kidney disease for three years, which trouble I contracted from exposure while working at my trade which is carpentering. I was advised to try your medicine. I am thankful to say that I am now completely cured, and I can truthfully recommend this medicine to all sufferers from this painful disease.

Thankfully yours,
C. JORDAN.

Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S.
Dear Sirs,—We have nothing but good to say of Mathieu's Syrup and can conscientiously describe it as the most popular and successful Cough Medicine we handle. Owing to the absence of any drug stores in this vicinity there is a great variety of proprietary medicine sold in the course of the year, and Mathieu's Syrup pre-eminently leads in its own class. Yours sincerely,
D. MARTIN.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day five drunks were discharged. A drunk and disorderly who used obscene language in Victoria Park was fined $5 or 14 days.

The man who assaulted a young woman Tuesday night, and referred to elsewhere, was fined $10 or 30 days.

Two women summoned their husbands for non-support, but each withdrew the case.

A party summoned by Inspector O'Brien for having a cess pool near his milk farm was given time to rectify the matter or the case will be proceeded with.

A Logy Bay man summoned by a neighbor for using insulting language towards him was fined $5 or 14 days.

Nervous Dyspepsia now Easily Remedied.

Thousands are sick in this way, and what a terrible sickness it is! Friends all disbelieve it and show no sympathy. Because nervously worn out, you find very little that is pleasant in life—you are robbed of interest and activity. This is a curable condition. You must avoid extremes of work, excitement, and even pleasure. Rest all you can, breathe fresh air and take Ferrozone (blood food). Ferrozone is a medicine especially adapted to combat nervous weakness. It is a blood maker, tissue invigorator, and strength-renewer of remarkable power. Best of all, the action of Ferrozone (blood food) is constitutional. It reaches down to causes, aids the system to remove these, sets into operation a chain of action that reverses the breaking down process and establishes re-building. If you are nervous or run down it is Ferrozone you need; it will win you back to health quickly.

HOME'S REPORT.—The s.s. Home arrived at Bay of Islands Tuesday afternoon. Capt. Blandford reports good sign of fish on loggers from Home's experience to Battle Harbor. Very little doing with traps.

MEN REPORTED DROWNED.—A report was about the city to-day that two men were drowned at Heart's Content while out fishing yesterday. Neither the Fisheries, Justice or Police Departments had any information on the matter.

LARACY'S have just received direct from the manufacturers per "Dronning Maud," from Antwerp, Tumblers, Glasses, Decanters, Goblets and Fancy Glassware. Selling at our usual low prices at LARACY'S 345 and 347 Water Street, opposite Post Office. may 14, 11.

A VANDALS ACT.—Yesterday Mr. T. Aylward, tailor, of Water Street, was surprised to see on coming out of his door that the side of the shop door and window had been cut and hacked with a knife. Quite recently he had the place grained and painted.

MORE DIPHTHERIA AND SMALL POX.—Three cases of small pox developed at Victoria Village Tuesday and the houses have been quarantined. It is cleared out of Broad Cove and Carleton. A case of diphtheria developed on Wood Street yesterday, a boy 2½ years old being stricken. He was sent to Hospital.

REGATTA NOTICE.—A Public Meeting will be held in the T. A. Hall (Armoury), on Monday evening, June 20th, at 8.30 p.m. Last year's Committee will please meet at 8 p.m. JAMES L. NOONAN, Hon. Sec.—June 16, 11.

WHITE FISH.—In a pond on the left side of the Blackhead Road, about 1½ miles from town, white fish of a large size are very plentiful. They can be seen on the bottom as big as small salmon and no bait will tempt them to the hook. The ova were placed there by Mr. J. Martin about 30 years ago and it is not known that one of the fish has ever been caught.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

If you do not like the way the business interests you are serving are conducted, go to your employer and tell him so, but DO NOT tell your fellow employees.

Criticizing their employer and the way he runs the business is one of the mistakes that it seems to me a majority of young business men and women make.

Why don't you be of the minority and avoid it? It isn't safe. Walls have ears and tattlers are rampant everywhere.

It isn't loyal. You surely owe your superior freedom from behind the criticism just as much as you owe him more than the eye-service obedience.

And lastly, it isn't kind. If you really believe he is making a mistake in any way, you ought to tell him so to his face. If he is any kind of a man he will be glad to listen, and either prove to you that you are wrong, or think it over and see if he isn't wrong.

Don't criticize your employer behind his back any more than you would strike him from behind.

"I don't think I can be wrong about that not being in Thackeray's works," said my companion, "because I've read every word he ever wrote. And I mean that literally, too. You see I got a notion once that I'd like to read some author right straight through, and I hit upon Thackeray."

With a shock of sudden doubt I began questioning myself if I could say that of any author. And I could only find one—Shakespeare. A little of many, much of some, almost all of a few authors, but all of only one.

Such was my reckoning. How stands it with you?

Of course it wouldn't be worth while to read many men's works through. It's better to cull the best from a larger number. But don't you think it would be a rather interesting sensation to be able to say of one or two authors: "I have read every word of theirs that ever was published?"

If you do, why don't you try to attain to that distinction this summer?

I had occasion to call at a home the other day where a sweet old lady lay dead.

Instead of crepe on the door there was a little cluster of daybreak pinks and ferns.

Within, not a shade was drawn. Nor was there any of that dreadful pall-like hush one usually feels in the house of death. I could hear the children playing up-stairs quite as usual.

And yet I do not believe a grandmother and mother was ever more loved than this little old lady who had died.

"You see I am trying to keep everything about the home as much as usual," said the mother, when I spoke of the death. "I will not let myself cry when the children can see me. I will not have the shades drawn nor have any crepe on the door, nor let that dreadful hush be cast on my home. I do not want my children to think of their grandmother's death as anything terrible."

"She lived a sweet life and she died a sweet and peaceful death. I have told them all that grandmother has gone to sleep, and that she looks so happy and peaceful because she was always so good that she has sweet things to think about."

"I have told them to go and play and not feel unhappy because I am sure grandmother is happy."

"My recollections of deaths that occurred in my family when I was a child are of the most horrible hysterical, awesome times, and I don't want my children to have the same feelings."

What do you think of it?

Was the old-fashioned way best, or this woman's?

Of course you know what I think.

Ruth Cameron

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

A tempting salad for the summer luncheon may be made by sprinkling lettuce leaves liberally with fresh salted peanuts or pecans. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

Cut roses or any cut flowers may be kept fresh for several days if the water is changed on them every day and a pinch of salt or a small lump of charcoal is added to the water.

Old pieces of soap can be put into a small packing box which has been punctured with nail holes, and the box then thrown into the dishpan and used as an ordinary soap shaker.

A small clean sponge and a bowl of water are essential upon a leaning board when the lingerie must be frequently dampened. A bowl of clean starch water is also needed.

When making a fruit pie, brush the lower crust with unbeaten white of egg to prevent the juice from soaking through the pastry and making it soft and soggy, as often is the case.

For a delicious pineapple salad, use two cupfuls of dried fruit with one cupful of celery and the same quantity of nut meats. Serve with mayonnaise or boiled dressing.

To clean children's "boots," made of chamois skin, wash them in suds in which there is some ammonia, rinse with more ammonia water and dry with a towel. Do not dry with artificial heat.

A hard sauce that may be used on many puddings is as follows: Cream half a cupful of butter and a cupful of powdered sugar. Add two table-spoonfuls of boiling water and the flavoring desired.

Orange juice is very good for small children, and an alternating and equally refreshing drink to lemonade at dinner time is half an orange strained through a lemon squeezer and very slightly sweetened.

Chamois gloves may be washed in warm, soapy water with a little borax added, squeezed through the fingers until the dirt is removed and then rinsed in a change of water that is also slightly soapy.

To make white sauce for asparagus, etc., without milk, make a creamy paste of flour and water, stir in a well-beaten egg, strain through a sieve and cook slowly for a few minutes. Season with butter salt and pepper.

Your Boy
Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a strong tonic for the young. Lowell, Mass.

When adding butter and flour to soup to bind it, to insure that it will be perfectly smooth melt the butter and then add the flour, stirring it until perfectly smooth. Then add the soup to this, stirring constantly as it is slowly poured in.

To clean ivory, wash well in soap and water with a small brush and place, while wet, in the sunshine. This should be repeated several times a day, still keeping in the sunshine. It will restore it to perfect whiteness.

The best way to make lemonade is to mix the lemon juice and the sugar in very little water, stirring until the sugar is fully dissolved. This saves sugar and can be kept for days, to be used with more water whenever it is desired.

Tender Throat and Hoarseness.

Do you know that an inflamed condition of the throat affords the necessary conditions to develop quickly the germ of consumption. The medical world asserts positively that the infection of the majority of consumptives is caused in this way. Is it wise to allow this condition to continue? Can anything be of more serious import in relation to your health? We want you to know about Catarrhozone. It is a throat and lung healer. Catarrhal inflammation, you know, is a germ disease. Catarrhozone is made of balsamic and healing oils distilled from leaf and bud. It is important to you because it has the power of destroying germs that maintain Catarrhal conditions. You know gargling has done you no good, it can only temporarily relieve, it cannot destroy the germs that cause the disease. Now Catarrhozone is a medicine you breathe. You do not take it. The air passing through the Catarrhozone inhaler becomes laden with a healing, germ-destroying vapor. The most important thing to remember is that Catarrhozone is a radical remedy. It does not consider symptoms, it goes directly to causes. In five minutes note how it soothes, how easy expectation becomes. In a day or two its remarkable healing and curative power will be demonstrated. Catarrhozone exterminates the inflammation of Catarrhal throat, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. Get Catarrhozone to-day at your druggist's. Complete outfit $1.00.

Cat in Cold Storage.

Mr. Campbell Geddes, of the Royal College of Surgeons, Dublin, vouches for the following cat story: An ordinary all-black cat was accidentally shut up in a refrigerating chamber on one of the Oriental Line mail steamers when the vessel was in Sydney harbor. The chamber was not opened until the ship was off Aden, which is about 32 days out. When the cat was brought out its coat had become long and thick, and the fur on its back was nearly white. It had lost one ear through frost bite. In the tropical sunshine the cat soon decided that it was no good being polar bear, and resumed its normal appearance.

Boy Crushed to Death.

In Elevator, While Father Looked on Helpless.

Brockton, Mass., May 26.—While his horrified father looked on helpless, Julian T. Norris, the 17 year old son of T. R. Norris, a wealthy Brockton hotel proprietor, early this evening was crushed to death by an elevator on which he had attempted to leap while it was moving. His head and chest were terribly shattered. The accident took place in the Hobrook building.

Murderer Sentenced to Death.

And His Companion to 20 Years.

Paris, May 26.—The two soldiers, Graby and Michael, charged with the murder of Mrs. Gouin, widow of Jules Edouard Gouin, a former Governor of the Bank of France, were today convicted by court-martial, Graby being sentenced to death and Michael to 20 years imprisonment. Graby and Michael confessed that they beat the woman into insensibility, robbed her of her jewels, and threw her from the train.

Imperial Affairs.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, June 15. In announcing the second reading of the Census Bill, Hon. John Burns stated that communications were occurring with the colonies with a view to the institution of an Imperial census on approximately the same lines throughout the Empire simultaneously. The Duke of Connaught, who will open the South African Parliament in November next, after the ceremony will tour South Africa. Commenting on the suggestion that the King should open the Imperial Conference in 1911, the Morning Post says: The proposal accords with the present tendency of Imperial thought and events. In the House of Lords Lord Lucas in connection with Lord Kitchener's refusal to command the Mediterranean, said that so much benefit to the Dominion forces was anticipated from the recent visit of Kitchener to Australia and General French to Canada that if as a result of the next Colonial Conference visits to the Dominion for inspection and advice in military matters could be made more or less systematically by an officer of the high rank and distinguished service, the Government believed it would have most useful results. It should be agreed to the period, 1909, and officer to carry out the duty would be the Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean.

Herald Building Catastrophe.

Special to Evening Telegram.

MONTREAL, June 15. A dramatic scene was witnessed at the corner's inquest into the Herald Building disaster when architect J. S. Archibald, who had certified as to the safety of the building to bear the fatal task, completely broke down while giving his evidence. Mr. Archibald stated that he had prepared plans for the alteration of the building when the Herald went into it in 1905. While explaining the disposition of the building and his work there, Mr. Archibald became unnerfed at the extent of the catastrophe and his apparent share in it and broke down, having to sit down before he was able to continue his testimony.

Will Stop Fight

Between Jackson and Jeffries.

Special to the Evening Telegram. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 15. Declaring that the District Attorney of San Francisco had failed to take action, Governor Gillette today ordered that the fourth of July fight between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson be stopped by Attorney General Webb. "I will take steps to stop the fight at once," said Webb. "My instructions from the Governor do not leave me any option in the matter."

DECLARED INDEPENDENCE.

Special to Evening Telegram.

BERLIN, June 14. The insurgents in Prefecture of Western Brazil have driven out the Governor and declared their independence. The territory where an insurrection is reported to have occurred has an area of about 74,000 square miles and a population of about 70,000. The territory was acquired by Brazil from Bolivia in 1902. The Indian element predominates.

ESCAPES ASSASSINATION.

Special to Evening Telegram.

SARAJEVO, Bosnia, June 15. General Vercassanin de Vares, Military Governor of Bosnia and Herzegovina, narrowly escaped assassination today. He was returning to the Palace after having opened the Diet, when a Socialist named Karajic fired five shots at him from a revolver. None of the bullets found their mark. The would-be assassin following the failure of his attempt on the life of the Governor shot and killed himself.

Took Five Whales.

The whaler Hump proceeded to Trinity from Dublin Cove Monday morning. Since leaving here she has been fishing at the latter place and only captured five fish, these consisting of 2 sulphurs, 2 fins and a hump. She took the last fish on Friday last off North Harbor, Cape Breton. Whales are very plentiful at Trinity and the manager of the factory at Dublin Cove, Mr. W. J. Sinnott, who arrived here by Tuesday night train, informed the Telegram that he had a message that the Hump was then among the fish and her prospects were good. Mr. Sinnott proceeds shortly to Trinity to start the factory there.

The Carthaginian Here The s.s. Carthaginian, Capt. R. G. Bamber, arrived to Shea & Co. from Liverpool at 4.35 p.m. Tuesday and sailed at 5 p.m. yesterday for Halifax. The ship left Liverpool on Tuesday, June 7th, and had excellent weather all the way across the Atlantic, except for some fog when making in for this coast. She sighted a large iceberg 150 miles off here. She brought 500 tons cargo. She had 12 saloon, 60 intermediate and 100 steerage passengers in transit for Halifax. Her passengers for this port were: Mrs. C. R. Ayre, Mrs. M. S. Bartlett, Hon. R. K. Bishop, Mrs. Bishop, Miss S. M. Bishop, Mr. C. Blackburn, Mrs. Blackburn, Mr. Brooks, Mrs. Brooks and child, Miss Clayton, Rev. B. Dore, A. F. Goodridge, Mrs. Goodridge, Capt. Jensen, Mr. G. A. Marshall, Gunner C. J. McCarthy, Wm. McGowan, Rev. F. Moloney, J. M. Mowbray, Miss M. C. Noble, Victor Prince, Dr. Shea, Miss Shea, T. H. Shilto, A. D. Smith, Lieut. B. H. Venner.

Children Had Eczema Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure. Mrs. Oscar Vancoot, St. Antoine, Sack, writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and frail and would not eat and we thought we would lose him. "Provisionally we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering."

Train Notes. The Bruce express which left here at 6 p.m. Tuesday took out 380 passengers, most of them trouters and others going off for the holiday with about 30 or 40 for foreign parts. Amongst the first class passengers were J. P. Graham, R. B. Ling, Mr. Lethbridge, Miss White, Mrs. Pretty, Rev. Mr. Smith, Mr. Roeburg, Mr. Pousier, Mr. McGittigan, Thos. Wall, Mrs. Ferguson and Const. Quinlan.

The local arrived at 10.30 Tuesday night bringing Dr. Prichard, Lumsden, M. F. O'Toole, T. P. Connors, Jno. Ryan, W. J. Sinnott, quite a number of clergymen who came down on the Glencoe and several others.

The outgoing and incoming trains yesterday were well patronized and fully 1,400 passengers were handled. Not an accident occurred.

AT WORK IN 3 WEEKS $4 Worth of Father Morrissey's "No. 7" Cured Her of Inflammatory Rheumatism.

Mrs. Agnes Edgar, of Grand Falls, N.B., had a terrible time with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Anyone who has had this most painful disease will understand her suffering—and her joy when she found Father Morrissey's "No. 7" had cured her. She says:—"I took Father Morrissey's Prescription for Inflammatory Rheumatism. I had suffered everything with it, but in three weeks after starting Father Morrissey's Prescription I was able to do my work, and after taking four dollars worth of medicine I was well. I highly recommend it any sufferer with Rheumatism."

Rheumatism comes from bad kidneys. The poisonous Uric Acid which they should remove stays in the blood, accumulates in joints and muscles, and causes agony. Father Morrissey's "No. 7" puts the kidneys right, removes the Uric Acid from the blood and the whole system, and cures the Rheumatism. Diocesan Synod.

ELECTION of OFFICERS

Address by the Bishop.

Last evening the nineteenth Biennial Session of the Diocesan Synod was opened with a short service, the election of officers and an address from the Bishop. The opening was preceded by the singing of the Cathedral. At 7.30 a.m. there was Holy Communion; at 10 a.m. Matins; at 7.30 p.m. Evensong. At the last mentioned service the Rev. Canon Bishop preached an appropriate sermon on the Duties, Powers and Responsibilities of the Church, her Pastors and People.

After the roll had been signed by the delegates and the roll call had been made, the following members were elected to the offices mentioned: Clerical Secretary, Rev. Canon Dunfield; Lay Secretary, Mr. C. S. Pinson; Auditors, Rev. G. R. Godden and Mr. H. W. LeMessurier; Press Representatives, Rev. C. Rustad, Rev. G. Hewitt, Mr. R. G. McDonald and Mr. P. G. Butler. The Lord Bishop then delivered the opening address.

My Reverend Brethren of the Clergy, and my Brethren of the Laity, We cannot commence the business of our Synod without a reference to our great national loss. Never in our long history not even when the venerated Queen who had ruled us so long, had passed away, has any sorrow of ours been more deeply and more generally felt than the death of King Edward. The tribute to his memory has been universal. The rulers, the governments, and the newspapers of different opinion in all lands have agreed in paying it. Whether monarchs or statesmen, or great organs of public opinion speak of him; they speak with one accord. All bear witness to the greatness of his Kingly qualities, to the wisdom of his statesmanship, to the nobility of his personal character, and to his unwavering care for the welfare and the interests of his people.

He died, as he had lived, in harness. He has fulfilled to the very letter the noble resolve with which he entered on his reign—all glorious for himself if all too brief for mankind—"I am fully determined as long as there is breath in my body to wear the crown for the good and amelioration of my people." No sovereign could ascend his throne with a loftier aspiration. None has ever fulfilled it more faithfully and more steadfastly than King Edward the Seventh.

In behalf of the Church of England in Newfoundland the Executive Committee immediately embodied an expression of its sorrow and sympathy in an address to the Royal Family, which was forwarded to His Excellency the Governor for transmission to the proper authorities. The address is as follows:

Address to Royal Family. "The Synod of the Church of England in Newfoundland wishes to express the deep feeling of sorrow with which in common with all church people throughout the Colony, it has learnt of the death of our beloved King, who has endeared himself to all his subjects by his wise and beneficent rule; and it also desires to express its heartfelt sympathy with His Majesty King George, the Queen Dowager, and all the Royal Family. And it further desires to assure His Majesty of its unwavering loyalty and devotion to His Throne and Person."

Given under Our Hand and the Seal of the Diocese, this tenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and ten. (Sgd.) LLEWELLYN NEWFOUNDLAND, President, Diocesan Synod of Nfld. Accession of King George. The loss of our King is an experience, so sacred, so popular with the statesmen of both parties, as well as with the nation, so cautious, so courageous, and so tactful in the management of men and of affairs at the moment when England stands committed to the gravest domestic crisis of our time, is indeed a public calamity. We have, nevertheless, one subject of consolation. We have left us a successor in whom we may confidently repose our trust. The serious character, and the wide personal knowledge of public business throughout the Empire of King George, afford us a strong hope that the ship of state will be wisely and firmly steered through all the dangers which menace it.

To us in St. John's our new King and Queen are no strangers. We all remember that it was with their visit to Newfoundland that the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York brought to a close their memorable tour of the Colonies, which they undertook in fulfillment of the wish of Queen Victoria, and we all remember the loyal welcome which they received here. That tour was a Royal progress, the like of which no Prince has ever made in the history of the world. In eight months their Royal Highnesses travelled by land and sea a little short of 50,000 miles. In all that wonderful journey the Duke and Duchess never once set foot on soil not an integral part of the British Empire, with the exception of Egypt, which, after all, is a British Protectorate. That tour enabled millions to see and acclaim many of them for the first and only time, their future King and Queen. On the other hand the Royal travellers were brought face to face and shook hands with tens of thousands of the King's loyal subjects of all classes and degrees, and they had ample opportunities of which they took every advantage, to study the social, educational, financial, and political questions in the Colonies.

You Blame the Stomach

But chronic indigestion will disappear when the liver, kidneys and bowels are set right by DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS. You are skeptical. For you have tried many medicines and still suffer from indigestion with all its annoying symptoms. Take a new line. Leave the stomach alone, for the source of trouble is in the intestines, and a healthy digestion can be restored by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes: "I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up, I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured and can eat any kind of food. They have made a new man and a younger man of me and I cannot say too much in their praise." Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmansin, Bates & Co., Toronto.

addition to these 7 recruits, two priests have joined us from England, and one who had left the diocese has returned. Against this increase of 10 we have to set the loss of 3 by departure and one by death. The net gain is therefore 7, and this raises the total number of clergy to 75, but as two of these are retired and 5 are on leave, the total number on active work is 68, an increase of 6 upon the number at the time of the last Synod.

CONFIRMATION.

I have held 37 Confirmations, at which 683 males and 707 females—making a total of 1,370 persons—have received the Imposition of Hands. Let me remind you, my Reverend Brethren, that the work of Confirmation neither begins nor ends with the visit of the Bishop; it is a continuous part of the labours of the Parish Priest. If the preparation for this ordinance of the Church is of great importance, still more is the care and watching; and this, I fear, is comparatively little thought of, even in many cases where the preparation is done with conscientiousness and diligence. It is to this cause that I attribute, in a considerable degree, the extremely small proportion of habitual communicants among those who have recently been confirmed. I believe that a change in this disappointing state of things would be brought about more than in any other way by continuing the Confirmation classes for a considerable time under the name and character of meetings for young communicants. If even for two or three months after the period of Confirmation the candidates were gathered together in the week preceding their monthly Communion, and every effort made to secure their attendance, a habit could scarcely fail to be acquired of regular Communion, and the end would still more surely be attained if these meetings were continued in accordance with the suggestion I have already made, as a permanent and continuous branch of parochial work. I fear that we suffer great loss and miss a great opportunity in not giving more time and care to the preparation for first Communion. It is an epoch in the spiritual life, in some respects more important than Confirmation itself. Whenever it has been made the occasion of loving teaching with regard to the Sacrament, above all when it is combined with fitting exercises of devotion on the eve of the momentous day, it is calculated not only to be a very powerful strength to the future spiritual life, but also a blessed memory which will often exercise a holy influence upon the soul in after times of trial and temptation, of sorrow and of doubt, amidst the waves and storms of this troublesome world.

COMMUNICANTS.

What the total number of Communicants in the diocese is, the Statistical Returns furnished to the Synod do not enable me to say. I should rejoice to be able to tell from time to time the progress or the slackness of our work by such a comparison. With a view to this, as well as for many other reasons, I again entreat you, my Reverend Brethren, to keep an exact list of all who within the year attend the Holy Communion. The habit of accurately keeping a regular list on which is entered the name of every Communicant in the parish is of far wider use than giving us a correct statistical return; it directly tends to bring before our eyes the whole of our flock; to make us note their absence from the means of grace; to stir us up to win those who are altogether absent; to arouse those who are growing drowsy and careless, and to bring back those who are beginning to wander. I know nothing which more directly tends to keep the Pastor's vigilance alive than the habit of gathering into such a record this almost unerring index of the variations of spiritual life within his parish.

CONSECRATIONS.

I have consecrated five churches, namely, at Piacenta, Crabbe's, St. George's, Hopewell and Upper Island Cove; and four graveyards, namely, at Lark Harbour, Middle Arm, John's Beach and Bear's Delight.

LOSS OF CHURCH SHIP LAYROCK.

The diocese has sustained a heavy loss by the wreck of the Church Ship Layrock. The vessel, as is well known to most of you, was originally the property of the Rev. J. J. Curling, who generously presented her to the diocese in 1878. When she came to her end she was 57 years old, a great age for any vessel, but especially for one engaged in such work, and exposed to such hard usage. Indeed, had she not been strongly built, and of the very best materials, she could not have lasted so long as she has done. In some years past it had been evident that she was becoming uneconomical, and there are many who feel that it is a matter for thankfulness that she has ended her day when and how she did. The general impression was that (Continued on 7th page.)

"Yes, this is a Long Corset, but not too Long for this Season's Dress Fashions."

This Redfern Model completely envelops the hips and is Thoroughly Comfortable Sitting, Standing or Walking.

There is a marked charm in figure poise about a woman who is corseted in a Redfern—a model that fits as well that the gown—whether really up to the minute's mode or not—assumes an air of elegance, as the beauty lines of the figure cannot be concealed if the correct model has been fitted.

Rifle Club Day.

Yesterday the Rifle Club had a busy time, having shot for four prizes. Mr. J. W. Morris won the Bowling Challenge Cup with a score of 86. Having won it twice before he will now hold permanent possession of the trophy. He also won the Rennie prize in the afternoon with a score of 72, and Mr. D. Beattie won the Club Junior prize with a score of 55. Mr. McNab captured the Jardine Cup with a total score of 124 points for morning and afternoon shooting. As he also won it last year it has now become his property. The ranges in the morning were 200, 500 and 600 yards, and in the afternoon 300, 500 and 1,000 yards. The high wind prevented good shooting.

Assaulted a Girl.

Tuesday evening as two young women were passing along Duckworth Street, one of them made a jocular remark to the other, when a man who was under the influence of drink and who was near with his wife and two children, took it that the conversation applied to him, and resented it in a very ungentlemanly manner. He hit one of the females in the face but not the one who had used the words which he took exception to. Const. O'Flaherty who was near resented the unmanly action and took the offender to the station.

The Prospero Sailed.

The S. S. Prospero, Capt. A. Keon, sailed for the Northwest at 10 a.m. yesterday. She took a large cargo and these passengers:—Messrs. J. Darwische, W. H. H. Russell, C. M. Spencer, W. A. Butler, J. Gillett, D. Ryan, J. B. Omond, Hon. J. S. Donnelly, Dr. McDonald, Messames Tuff, Hann, Strong, Brown, Reid, Boone, Targott, Greenfield, Talk; Misses Morton, Burse, Christian and 40 steerage.

FEED CHILDREN

On Properly Selected Food. It Pays Big Dividends.

If parents will give just a little intelligent thought to the feeding of their children the difference in the health of the little folks will pay, many times over, for the small trouble.

A mother writes, saying: "Our children are all so much better and stronger than they ever were before we made a change in the character of the food. We have quit using potatoes three times a day with coffee and so much meat."

"Now we give the little folks some fruit, either fresh stewed, or canned, some Grape-Nuts with cream, occasionally some soft boiled eggs, and some Postum for breakfast and supper. Then for dinner they have some meat and vegetables."

"It would be hard to realize the change in the children, they have grown so sturdy and strong, and we attribute this change to the food elements that I understand, exist in Grape-Nuts and Postum."

"A short time ago my baby was teething and I had a great deal of stomach and bowel trouble. Nothing seemed to agree with him until I tried Grape-Nuts softened with mixed milk and he improved rapidly and got sturdy and well."

A Dangerous Runaway

Shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday as a young business man of the city was driving along Henry Street, intended to take a drive countrywards, and while proceeding west over that thoroughfare the horse he drove—a mettlesome animal— took fright and dashed off at great speed. The driver did his best to check the beast but in his efforts were unavailing. As the maddened horse rushed into Duckworth Street the man was thrown out just east of the Seaman's Home, and striking the ground with great force and was rendered unconscious. Sgt. Savage with officers Devine and Powe were near and with the aid of a couple of citizens passing conveyed the injured man to a house near where he was cared for until a doctor was called. In the meantime the horse continued its flight through Duckworth Street and up New Gower Street. An old man named John Reid, of Sheehan's Shute, was at work with others repairing the street opposite Moore's store, he had his back turned towards the oncoming animal, and being deaf could not hear the cries of warning uttered by Const. Nugent and Humber who were standing at the head of Adelaide Street, when noticing by the gestures of the officers that something was wrong he turned and saw the beast was upon him, and when he stopped to avoid it, though he escaped the horse, the wheels struck him in the side of the head and he was thrown with violence from the middle of the street in on the sidewalk. Had the horse gone over him he must have been trampled to death under its hoofs. The two officers ran to his assistance and found that he was bleeding from some wounds in the head and was in a state of collapse. Councillor Martin who stood in the doorway of his undertaking establishment helped the officers to get him in there, and Dr. Tait was quickly summoned by telephone. Const. Nugent, before the doctor arrived, procured some brandy which helped to revive Reid. The doctor found that he was much hurt about the back and loins, and that a couple of ugly wounds were in the head, one over the left eye and the other over the forehead. These were quickly stitched and the man was made comfortable, after which he was driven home.

The driver of the horse was looked after by Sgt. Savage and the officers with him. He will be alright in a day or so. The runaway was stopped near the Western Fire Station and the carriage escaped injury. It was a fortunate thing that the accident had not a more serious termination.

Three Vessels Arrive.

The bargt. Cordelia, Capt. Taylor, arrived here yesterday morning after a run of 23 days from Barbadoes with a big cargo of molasses to Bowring Bros. The vessel had very fine weather on the voyage with the exception of a few days fog off this coast. Mrs. Taylor and the Misses Taylor (2) accompanied the captain on the round trip. The schr. Madeline arrived here from Cadiz yesterday forenoon after a run of 34 days with salt to A. S. Bendall & Co. She had variable weather on the run, and but for heavy winds off this coast would have arrived here at least 10 days earlier. The schr. Carl E. Richards, Capt. Hilton, arrived here at 5 p.m. yesterday after a run of 50 hours from Port Mulgrave. She has a cargo of produce and 24 head of cattle, 22 sheep and 18 horses for J. & W. Pitts.

Parishioners Meet.

A meeting of the parishioners of St. Patrick's Church was convened at the Star of the Sea Hall on Tuesday night last to discuss the project of effecting repairs to St. Patrick's Church.

Rev. Dean Born who opened the meeting reviewed in eloquent terms the noble sacrifice that has been made by the Catholics of the West End in Bishop Mullock's time. He alluded to the various attempts that had been made since to complete the tower. For want of funds the work had to be suspended several times. The church tower and the exterior generally are now very much in need of repairs. He was well aware from the expressions of opinion of the Catholics of the West End that they evidently desired not only that the necessary repairs be made but that the tower be erected to complete the building. The time was now come when the work of repairs could no longer be put off. He believed that the Catholics of the West End would keep up the noble traditions of their ancestors and cheerfully undertake this responsibility. They would thereby establish a monument to their piety which will be a credit to their devotion in the cause of religion.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche delivered a short address of the same encouraging terms as that spoken by the Dean. It was decided to hold another meeting after last Mass next Sunday when it is hoped all who were unable to attend yesterday will be present.

"St. Elmo."

That the Chicago Stock Company are gaining in popularity was evidenced on Wednesday evening when the seating capacity of the T. A. Hall was taxed to its utmost. For the first time in Newfoundland Grace Hayward's dramatization of Augusta Evans Wilson's well-known novel "St. Elmo" was presented. A pronounced success was the unanimous verdict of those who witnessed the high-class production. The work of the members was also the scenic effects. The plot of the play is an interesting one. St. Elmo, though he trifled with woman's affections, scoffed at religion, and washed his hands in the blood of the children of his best friend, yet through the remarkable influence of a stranger in his home, he became a subject of reformation, and finally was ordained a minister of the Gospel. Mr. Norbert Dorente, in the title role, gave a very pleasing interpretation of the part. As Edna Earle, through whose strange influence St. Elmo is reformed, Miss Pratt was given a very convincing performance. In their respective roles the rest of the cast also did first rate work. "St. Elmo" will be repeated tonight.

Saved Child's Life.

While the little schr. Water Lilly which brought the two men named King to port yesterday morning was loading lumber at Willets Bay, T.B., one of her crew, John Brace, saved the life of the little ten year old daughter of Leander Drover of that place. The child was on a pile of lumber when she slipped and fell fully ten feet into the water, going to the bottom. She evidently struck the side of the lumber pile in her descent, as she was stunned and made no outcry, nor did the men who were busy at work notice the accident until Brace saw her come up to the surface of the water. Fully clad as he was the man jumped overboard and seizing the child swam ashore with her. The water was very cold and the little girl was both chilled and exhausted. If left a few minutes more in the water she would have drowned. She was wrapped in warm blankets at her home and after a while revived, but was ill for some time as the result of her immersion.

Swimming Saved Them

But for the fact that Mr. John Hartigan, of Placentia, and his son, a young man, 24 years old, were good swimmers, they would have been drowned on Monday afternoon. A gate was washed away as they came towards Placentia with a dory laden with caplin. They were about 150 yards from the shore when the gate which ran the dory took a heavy lurch and before they could realize it filled and went instantly to bottom. Father and son then struck out bravely for the shore, both keeping together until they were a short distance from the shore, where Mr. Hartigan is bordering on 60 years of age, but was always noted for his prowess as a swimmer. Heavily clad as they were and with such weather prevailing the swim was a long one, but both men accomplished it, though when getting ashore they were very much exhausted. Under these circumstances it is not improbable that one, if not both, would have succumbed had the distance to the shore been much longer.

Bishop Feild Sports.

Under the patronage of the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland the sports of the Bishop Feild College were held at Llewellyn Grounds yesterday afternoon, attracting a large audience, which included His Lordship and the clergymen here for the Synod. Proceedings were enlivened with a choice programme of music from Bennett's band, and the different events were keenly contested. An extensive notice of the sports which consisted of races, tug of war, football games and other features will be published in the next issue of the Standard. A splendid exhibition of drill. All the League teams contested in the football five. In the final between the Casuals and E.F.C. the former won with 3 goals to 1 and a corner, and received the handsome gold medals as a reward. A tug of war between the present and past pupils was won by the former. This contest was a most amusing one. In a tent at the rear of the grand stand the ladies of the Feild-Spencer Association did a good trade selling candies, etc. The prizes were presented by the Lord Bishop.

Thrown Out of Their Carriage.

J. Coughlan's box cart with horse attached ran into Mr. Edwin Murray's horse and carriage Monday afternoon. Mr. Murray with his wife and children was driving up the country at a regular pace when Coughlan's horse came galloping down the road. Before Mr. Murray could get out of the way his wagon was overturned and the occupants thrown out. They all escaped without serious injury. The carriage was considerably wrecked.

Placentia Bay Fishing.

Capt. Carroll, of the schr. Cardenia, reports that fish is scarce at Placentia though caplin is abundant. There are big shoals of cod, however, off in deep water, and the captain thinks this will soon be caught on the inner grounds. In passing near Island H., off St. Brice's, Sunday morning men who boarded the vessel in a dory reported that Richard Wyse trapped 50 qts. there on Saturday, and that dories got each day last week 2 to 3 qts. of trawl.

Their Boat Capsized.

Messrs. Henry and Adam King, fishermen of Spencer Street, had a narrow escape from being drowned at an early hour yesterday morning. Shortly after two o'clock they left here to go out fishing and had a good run out with a fair wind. The boat carried a foresail, mainsail and jib and she was running with the sheets hauled in close. When about a mile off the Narrows in the mouth of Freshwater Bay, with the wind blowing about W. by N., a heavy squall struck the boat and before they could get the sheets the boat went over. The sails lay flat on the water, but for which she would have gone to bottom and the men would have been drowned. Fortunately the schr. Water Lily, Capt. Jno. Rodgers, from Green's Harbor, T.B., bound here, was some distance away, and the crew seeing the accident lowered away a lifeboat and saved the hapless men. They were fully twenty minutes clinging to the side of the boat, and on being taken on board the schooner were given warm drinks and otherwise looked after. Both were exhausted and chilled from their immersion. The pilot boat later picked up their boat and brought it to port. The men say that while clinging to the boat another schooner passed inward within hailing distance of them. They yelled to the crew but they were either unseen or unnoticed. Head Constable Peter and Const. Pitcher got particulars of the matter when the Water Lily arrived.

Diocesan Synod.

I had gone on too long in her, and that if the ship had proceeded on the proposed voyage down the Labrador and had met (as she probably would) with heavy weather, she would have foundered, and possibly with loss of life.

But while we thank God that such a calamity has been averted, it is with deep regret that we reflect that we shall never see her again. She was a welcome visitor to many an outboarder. To thousands of fisherfolk she has carried the ministrations of the Church's Chief Pastor, and her coming has been looked forward to with the keenest interest and delight. In this little ship I have spent four years of my life, and have made seventeen part from her without poignant sorrow.

The question as to what steps should be taken up to provide a substitute became at once a matter for serious consideration. I have taken counsel with some of our experienced laymen—merchants, ship-owners and others—and their advice and practical suggestions have been of much value. One thing is certain, namely, that a great part of the Bishop's work cannot for some time to come be carried on without a vessel at his disposal. Though of late years the facilities for locomotion have increased by means of railway and motor boats yet for quite half the coast a Church ship is still a necessity. The Bishop visits scores of settlements where no coastal steamer ever touches.

The Lavrock was a sailing vessel, and a better sailer could not be found. But the universal opinion is that something more than this is required, and we have decided to build a vessel in Newfoundland, of about 80 tons, and to equip her with a kerosene motor instead of trusting entirely to sails. The cost will be about $15,000. We have nearly the sum at hand, made up of the insurance money, a small endowment yielding about $200 a year, subscriptions from friends in England, and the recent Lenten Self-Denial Offering from various parishes and missions. It should be borne in mind that until within the last eight years the Diocese has not been put to any expense whatever for the maintenance of the three Church ships which have been worn out in its service. The Hawk, the Star, and, until quite recently, the Lavrock, have not cost the diocese one farthing. In 1902 the Synod made its first grant of $500 towards the upkeep of the Church Ship, and of late years several of the missions and parishes have from time to time contributed a collection for the object.

BISHOP'S PRIZEMEN.

It will be in the recollection of the Synod that with a view to the encouragement of systematic religious instruction to our Day Schools I have for some years past offered prizes to the teachers of those schools which, in the opinion of the Inspectors, have shown a satisfactory knowledge of the special subjects prescribed in the syllabus. We made a beginning in 1903 with the schools of the Colonial and Continental Church Society. In 1905 the plan was applied to the Board Schools lying between Petty Harbour and King's Cove inclusive. In 1907 the schools situated between Brocklyn and Bay of Islands were reported upon. I had intended that the survey of the whole diocese should be completed last year by the examination of the schools lying between Bay of Islands and Placentia, and in fact was under the impression that this was being done. I regret, however, to find that through a misapprehension such inspection in Religion Knowledge has not taken place. The Superintendent of Education actually visited nearly all of these last mentioned schools, but as the selection of prizemen was not in his mind at the time, he feels that he could not now make a just and equitable decision. The inspection in religious knowledge of this portion of the diocese must, therefore, be postponed for the present.

EDUCATION.

The subject of education, as connected with the Church, is too important at the present time not to demand our special attention. At the last session of the Synod a special committee was appointed to consider the subject, and to draft resolutions on the same for the consideration of the Synod. That Committee, in its report, made various recommendations relating to the equipment of schools, the entrusting of an increased grant to the Synod Education Committee, the submission of plans for building to the Government, the increase of Teachers' salaries, and the increase of the grants for the Superior schools for training teachers, and for the colleges. It is gratifying to know that all of the recommendations have been, or are being, carried out. Meanwhile the questions rises in one's mind: Are the Clergy making the most of their present opportunities to train up the children of our schools in intelligent attachment to the Church? The influence of the frequent presence of the Parish Priest at the time of religious instruction and at other times, his constant interest in the progress of the individual boys and girls, the influence wisely and judiciously exercised upon the master or mistress of the school, his sympathy with their difficulties, his ready help, his appreciation of their work, all this tells immensely upon the efficiency of the school. A clergyman who never or rarely goes near the school, who is a comparative stranger to both teachers and scholars, is throwing away a great opportunity. The remedy again may be done to interest the Laity of the Parish in the work of the school. Invite them to the school examinations, to the school treat, to the prize-day. I regret that with perhaps the exception of a member of a school board here and there so few of our laymen ever enter the schools. I very much wish, my brethren of the Laity, that you would feel that the Board is a great Church institution in which you as Churchmen are much interested in the clergy, and that upon the efficiency and maintenance of our Church Schools the prosperity and health of the Church itself depends.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

Then with regard to the new requirements of the age. We must be alive to all the new aspects of the Educational question. Technical education is now come to the fore. Drawing and carving and various industries, most useful to the after life of the child, are required, and we must not neglect these. Will the parents of the children be content to accept the Church Catechism as an equivalent for the industries which will command good wages when the school-boy is become a man. I am of course speaking now mainly with reference to schools in this city and in our larger settlements. It is not manifest that we wish to retain the opportunity of giving a sound religious education to the working man's child, we must secure to him while in the school the highest advantages which he can get elsewhere. Moreover, if it is found by experience that the possession of technical knowledge sharpens and expands the intellectual faculties and has in addition good moral influence, as undoubtedly it has, does not love for the scholars teach us that we ought, if we can, to give them such knowledge? Real Christian benevolence does not do things by halves, does not give a moderately good thing when it is possible to give a very good thing. And therefore I claim for our Church schools that they secure the best education that can be given to their scholars, and I earnestly ask those of you who are members of Boards to strain every nerve to keep abreast of the movement, and to be fully alive to the requirements of the age you live in. I can conceive nothing more likely to attach the rising generation to the Church than the consciousness that that Church, in discriminating love to them, gave them the best education that could be given, with a view to their future wants in life, as well as to the highest and eternal interests of their souls.

LITERATURE.

The impulse which has been given of late years to popular education, has brought about social changes which amount almost to a revolution. It is not very long ago—not much more than half a century—since those of the adult population who were able to read were in a decided minority, and the comparatively few books and periodicals, then in existence, found but a limited circulation even among the literate. What a contrast lies between that period and the present! The day is approaching when almost every adult in the Colony will be able to read, and the ability to do so is getting a demand for reading matter which a cheap press can scarcely supply. The majority of our people are dependent for their literature mainly upon daily and weekly newspapers. Almost every household has its paper. Thousands of readers become thus acquainted with the daily record of the world's doings, and are brought into mental contact with all sorts of ideas. The eye has in a great measure supplanted the ear as a vehicle of instruction, and the preacher and the teacher have their words borne to the end of the earth. The flood of literature which is poured out by the press week by week represents enormous social influences, and upon its quality depends, in a great measure, the well-being of the community. The character of the popular literature of the country is thus not a matter of affecting Churchmen only; it touches upon the most important interests of society at large, what men read tends to form their opinions, and to give an attitude to their minds,—tends by strengthening the moral sense to make them good and law-abiding citizens, or by pandering to vicious instincts to render them lawless and corrupt.

Hence the importance of this subject in connection with the education of our young people. The Clergy have a great power in their hands in a movement to limit the influence of hurtful literature by improving the literary taste. The parochial libraries are under their control, and the selection of books is within their jurisdiction. We can hardly overestimate the importance of such institutions in giving healthy tastes to young readers,—tastes which seem to remain in after-life. These tastes can be educated in a healthy direction, and their enthusiasm should be capable of being aroused on the side of virtue with as much ease as it is sometimes on the side of vice. But our labours will be in vain if we attempt to interest them in that which does not appeal to some element in their nature. A solid, emotionless literature will not influence them. They have hearts, and their yearnings for the new, their love of glory, their desire for adventure, their hero worship, must be met if their interests are to be thoroughly aroused. Records of voyages and travels, tales of discovery and adventure, biographies of the world's great men, wonders of science and nature, and, above all, lives of Christian Saints and Martyrs, will feed their interests, and give a healthy direction to their tastes.

I have said that the majority of our people read little more than the daily newspapers, and here it might be admitted that there is room for much improvement in the conduct of the press. In our local journals large space is often devoted to trivial matters, while a few lines are given to events bearing on the cause of civilization and progress in the world. All unprejudiced persons will acknowledge that the tone of our newspapers at such a time as a general election leaves much to be desired. The misrepresentation of the words and actions of public men, the apparent inability to give credit to an opponent for a wise or honourable action, the appeals made to prejudice and ignorance, the attempts to put class against class and creed against creed, are such as should be repudiated by all right thinking people. The remedy for this state of things lies in the creation of a healthy public opinion, and I venture to think that a pronouncement by the Synod on this question would be a point in that direction.

A good daily paper is a desideratum—a journal which, while recording all that the press now deals with in politics, commerce and affairs of the world, would give to moral and religious questions at least the share borne by them in human life. I do not refer to what are called "religious newspapers," some of which do not present to the world the best illustration of Christian temper and spirit, but what we want for our journalism what

FINANCE.
The financial position of our outpost clergy calls for our most careful and sympathetic consideration. In this respect the contrast between their status and that of the clergy in England is striking. In an endowed church the clergy have security for tenure, and consequently independence of action and poor congregations have a certainty of spiritual ministrations being provided for them which are lacking in a Church almost wholly dependent on voluntary effort. On the other hand there can be no doubt that one tendency of endowments is to check enthusiasm and interest on the part of the laity, who are further in danger of forfeiting the privilege that is theirs to minister in worldly things to those who sow into the ear spiritual things.

The "golden mean" is perhaps the best for both, endowment sufficient to enable a man to feel free, if need be, to go counter to public opinion when it is clearly in the wrong, and yet not enough to free the people from their personal obligation towards those who labor for them in the Lord.

Into this question, however, I do not desire to enter further. We have to deal with facts as they are. We are not an endowed church. Now that the old system under which the S. P. G. guaranteed a stipend of £100 or more to each missionary, has been abolished, and even the block grant which has taken the place of that system, is rapidly approaching extinction, our clergy are practically dependent on the freewill offerings of the faithful laity. Let us look these facts squarely in the face.

We should all be agreed that it is essential our own clergy should receive an income suitable to their position, and sufficient for their simple needs, and further, they should have some security that their income will not sink below a "living wage" if they feel bound in duty to our Lord to take what may be an unpopular line on some particular occasion. I have given the matter very careful thought, and I speak from personal experience inasmuch as I have again and again visited and enjoyed the hospitality of every clerical home in the diocese, and so know the manner of life of the Parish Priest and his household. I have no hesitation in saying that our clergy, if they are married men with families, do, as a rule, find it no easy matter to "make both ends meet." Most certainly there is no margin of receipt over expenditure at the end of the year.

Again, there is this circumstance for which I regret to say, we make no provision whatever. As a rule it is well, certainly in such a diocese as this where the life is often so isolated and lonely, that our outboard clergy both ends meet. Most certainly I must remember that a married Priest with a wife and children cannot live on the same income as a bachelor.

Beware of worthless imitations. DAVIS & LAWRENCE CO., Montreal

Other religious bodies take this into consideration when deciding what a minimum annual income of their ministers should be. Why should not we do the same? Why should not we make an allowance for each child under, say, eighteen years of age, and an educational allowance during the year that the child is at school? I would claim for our clergy that as a body they are rendering right good service to the community, and that they ought to be free from those anxieties, which press so heavily on some, as to how they are to provide for the education of their children. We should remember that these Parish Priests are educated men, and it is hard for parents to know that their children will receive a less liberal education than they themselves enjoyed. Nothing takes the heart and spring out of work so much as the haunting thought that the children are handicapped in the race of life. Instead for our clergy that they should receive some help at least in the education of their children.

I have dealt with a matter that is important and urgent, and upon which I think some action should be taken. The cost of the necessities of life has increased pari passu. In some cases they have actually diminished. Though a matter of finance this is, I believe, one which closely concerns the spiritual welfare of the diocese.

Before leaving the subject of Finance, I may say that the Treasurer of the Colonial Bishops' Fund have notified the Executive Committee that at the next avoidance of the See the stipend of the Bishop of Newfoundland will be reduced 25 per cent.

We have seen a good deal written lately about "the fatal opulence of Bishops," and possibly some persons are still under the impression that all Bishops are "wallowing in wealth." I will not say anything about myself, but I am quite sure that this is a malady with which my successor is not likely to be afflicted. Nay more, I venture to predict that if steps are not taken by the Synod to provide against their reduction, it will not be an easy matter to find a successor at all. It must be remembered that I have said as to the increasing cost of living in this colony applies at least as much to the Bishop as to anyone else.

I have referred to this subject because, as you will have seen by the Agenda paper, the Executive Committee intend to introduce a bill dealing with it, and because I consider it to be one which demands the immediate and most serious consideration of the Synod.

Reference was also made by His Lordship to the destruction of the Nova Scotia Cathedral, the Pan-Anglican Congress Thank-Offering, and the work of the A.P.C. which we regret we have been unable to get in type in time for publication in this issue. We hope to print it to-morrow.

SYNOD NOTICES.
The afternoon session will meet from 3.20 to 5.25 o'clock, and the night session from 8 to 10 o'clock. The election of the Executive will most probably take place on Tuesday at 5 o'clock, and the Executive report be presented on Tuesday afternoon. The session will most likely last until next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

ADDRESS To the Ratepayers of the Municipality of St. John's.

GENTLEMEN—Having been elected by you as a member of the Municipal Council eight years ago, and having been re-elected four years subsequently, I now offer myself as a candidate for the position of Mayor in the pending election, in the belief that the eight years' experience I have had at the Council Board will enable me, if elected, to perform the duties of that office satisfactorily, to the great majority of the citizens.

I fully recognize that the affairs of the Municipality are such as to call for the earnest endeavors and unceasing attention of those who may be selected by you to administer the city's government during the next four years, and so far as I am concerned, I shall leave nothing undone to forward the interests of the people of St. John's, and to the best of my ability I shall strive to maintain an honest, upright and capable conduct of its business.

During the past eight years public works of much importance, and of a character which are of the highest importance, have been carried out, notably the construction of the High-Level Water Service, a considerable extension of the sewerage system, and a deepened and bettered street lighting service. The financing of these undertakings, it was thought by some, would have been impossible with the city's limited resources; but whereas prior to that time the Council was never able to pay its interest in full, we are at once improved, the city's financial status sufficiently to pay the whole of the existing interest, but also the interest on the outlay for these improvements, and for the past six or seven years the city has always been able to meet its total interest charge, even though the amount thereof has been increasing from year to year by reason of the enlarged outlays for public improvement and the increased cost of the city services.

At the recent session of the Legislature a measure was enacted investing the Municipal Council with increased powers, and providing the machinery where the extension of the water and sewerage systems could be gone on with and the Small Homes receive the benefits of these services. If elected, I shall on my utmost, together with my associates at the Council Board, to carry out the policy of which this measure is the expression. The amount appropriated for those purposes is $20,000, and this will have a further addition to our interest charge, but in view of the rapidly with which the city is expanding, and of the increased revenue which will accrue to the Council from the assessment on the structures which are now being erected every day, I see no reason why it should not be possible, not alone to meet existing obligations, but also to provide for the carrying out of still other civic improvements.

In my humble judgment the matters which will press most strongly on the incoming Council are as follows:

1.—SANITATION.

The reform of the present sanitary systems is imperative. The reduction of the area served by the night carts and their elimination, so far as it is possible, must soon be taken in hand. This will involve still further extension of the water and sewer systems, since the recent monetary provision will be insufficient to carry the benefits of these systems to every home in the city, as should be the case. The constant flushing and care of the surface drains, which, if regularly carried out, would contribute not a little to the improved health of the community, will command my attention.

2.—HOUSING.

The need of inexpensive, but comfortable, homes for the workmen of the city is all too evident. I shall gladly co-operate and give my best aid towards the working out of any project which may be devised for providing such homes and improving conditions for those residents of St. John's who suffer from this drawback at present.

3.—MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

With water powers within comparatively easy reach of the city, which should be capable of utilization for the development of electric energy for lighting purposes, I would be disposed to advocate the establishment of a municipal lighting system, feeling satisfied that thereby the city could greatly increase the number of lights and at the same time effect a saving in the cost of providing this accessory to the city's comfort and convenience.

4.—CONGESTED LOCALITIES.

The overcrowded condition of several sections of the city which, by reason of their convenience to industrial centres, have become the home of large numbers of people, demands that such steps should be taken as are found feasible to effect a redistribution of population in these sections, and I shall do my utmost, if favoured with your confidence and support, to promote such measures as will help to transfer the working people from these sections to others where they can live under more comfortable hygienic conditions. By this means, as well as by improving the sanitary conditions, it should be possible to reduce the present appalling death-rate of the city.

5.—EXTENSION OF STREET CARRIAGES.

In order to provide a convenient means by which industrial and business centres might be reached from the outlying parts of the city, I would favor urging the Reid-Newfoundland Company to extend its street car system so as to open up areas within easy reach of the city, with a view of encouraging those of our people who can afford it to erect homes for themselves in the suburbs, and it may be that a means can be devised by which tenement cottages could also be erected, the present municipal boundaries being extended so as to embrace these localities and give the city the advantage of the revenue derivable from the assessment on these properties.

6.—CITY MARKET.

A long felt want is that of a city market, and I shall advocate the providing of it as soon as circumstances will permit, while the question of establishing fish markets in the covers or elsewhere, dredging the public covers and providing public lavatories will also demand the early consideration of the coming Council.

7.—READJUSTMENT OF TAXATION.

The present system of civic taxation is a cumbersome and inequitable one as compared with those which prevail in American and Canadian cities, and I would favor the substitution of a similar method which would, at the same time, more equally distribute the burdens of city taxation on the different classes of residents. In this connection I would point out the unfairness of the existing situation with regard to absentee landlords who receive very large sums every year for rentals, all of which go out of the colony never to return, and yet they have continued to escape the payment of any special contribution towards the upkeep of the municipality whose progress and prosperity is the prime factor in making their property valuable.

8.—STREET PAVING.

I think the time will soon have arrived when the paving of other streets in the city might be undertaken, particularly Duckworth and New Gower streets, which are steadily becoming important business thoroughfares. The experience of other cities in recent years has shown that new paving processes have been devised by means of which a satisfactory pavement can be provided at a moderate cost.

9.—MUNICIPAL BUILDING.

The accumulation of valuable plans, documents and records belonging to the city; the inadequacy of the provision that now exists for the official staff in order to have this work done satisfactorily; all suggest the desirability of providing a municipal building, which would besides removing these defects, contain a chamber having facilities to enable the public to attend the deliberations of the Council and thereby stimulate greater public interest in its actions. Enormous losses might accrue to the city if a fire were to destroy the only existing records which the city has of important undertakings, and other documents relating to city properties. The providing of such a building as I suggest could be accomplished with very little extra cost to the city.

10.—RETIREMENT OF COUNCILORS.

I would press for an amendment to the Municipal Act which would provide for members of the Council retiring by rotation, as by this means it would always be possible to have at the municipal board a number of members possessed of the experience gained by a considerable term of service in the Council, and a familiarity with the various matters of business embraced within that period.

These are the principal matters which suggest themselves to me as embodying our city problems of the near future, and I shall labor as best I know how towards their earliest solution. I would emphasize, however, that these undertakings cannot be even partially accomplished by any Mayor and Council, however earnest and hard working, unless they enjoy the sympathetic and whole-hearted support of the ratepayers of the municipality. Such support I would bespeak most sincerely, feeling confident that the residents of the city will secure a greatly increased efficiency in civic administration if such interest is manifested.

To matters of detail, such as arise daily, I shall give the same undivided attention as in the past, and therefore beseeching you my best efforts on behalf of the city and its interests, and respectfully soliciting your votes and influence, I remain,

Your obedient servant,
WILLIAM J. ELLIS.

You think you are sure if you see for and receive "Rogers' goods" it will be all right. You are not, however, for there are many grades of so-called "Rogers' goods." There is only one "1847 Rogers' BROS." brand of Knives, Forks, Spoons, etc. (note "1847"), which is the original and genuine. This same brand was used by our grandfathers and is the only "Rogers' silverware" which has seen use since the year 1847. Fictitious brands of "Rogers' spoons, etc. were unknown till many years later. Be sure the words "1847" is stamped on every article and you will get original quality. Call and inspect them at
