Retributive Justice.

Foch the Arbiter of Germany's Fate.

France Avenged—No Prussian Freedom of the Seas—Enemy in Retreat from the Aisne to the Scheldt.

GERMANY MUST APPLY TO FOCH.

WASHINGTON, November 5. President Wilson has despatched a note to the German Government informing it that if it desires to know the terms of the armistice prepared by the Supreme War Council at Versailles, application should be made to Marshal Foch. The note was sent to the Swedish Charge d'Affaires. The text of the note follows: "I have the honour to request you to transmit the following communication to the German Government: "In my note of October 23, 1918, I advised you that the President had transmitted his correspondence with the German authorities to the Governments with which the Government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, with the suggestion that if these Governments were disposed to accept terms, upon the terms and principles indicated, their military advisers and military advisers of the United States be asked to submit to the Governments associated with Germany the necessary terms of such an armistice as would fully protect the interests of the Allies involved, and ensure to the associated Governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce the details of the armistice to which the German Government had agreed, provided they were such an armistice possible from the military point of view. The President is now in receipt of a memo of observations by the associated Governments, who have given careful consideration to the correspondence which has passed between the President of the United States and the German Government. Subject to the qualifications which follow, they declare their willingness to make peace with the German Government on the terms of peace laid down in the President's address to Congress in January, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses. They must point out, however, that Clause Two, relating to the freedom of the seas, is open to various interpretations, some of which they could not accept. They must, therefore, reserve to themselves complete freedom in this respect when they enter the peace conference. Further, in the conditions of peace laid down in the address to Congress of January, 1918, the President declared that invaded territories must be restored as well as evacuated and freed. The Allied Governments feel that it is not right to be allowed to exist as to what this provision implies. By it they understand that compensation will be made to Germany for all damage done to the civilian population of the Allies and their property by the aggression of Germany by land, on the sea, and from the air.

"I am instructed by the President to say that he is in agreement with the interpretation set forth in the last paragraph of the memorandum above quoted. I am further instructed by the President to request you to notify the German Government that Marshal Foch has been authorized by the Government of the United States and the Allied Governments to receive properly accredited representatives of the German Government and to communicate to them the terms of an armistice.

"Accept, Sir, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

"ROBERT LANSING."

FOCH WILL MEET GERMAN REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. Marshal Foch has been authorized by the Allies to receive representatives of the German Government and to communicate to them the terms of the armistice. The German Government is expected to be notified in a note handed to the Swiss Minister here today by Secretary Lansing. The note announces that the Allied Governments have agreed to co-operate with Germany in the making of peace, as far as possible of food and other supplies necessary for the lives of the civilian population of those countries.

LYND GEORGE SPEAKS.

LONDON, Nov. 4. The Premier said he was unable to give the House detailed information concerning the "complete agreement" the Allies had reached on the armistice terms to be submitted to Germany. Premier Lloyd George said that the Versailles Conference had decided that Marshal Foch should be placed in supreme direction of the forces operating against Germany on all fronts. The Prime Minister referred to the recent British successes on the western front and assured the Czechoslovaks and the Yugoslavs that their allies intended to come to their aid as fast as they could. Lloyd George paid a tribute to the Italian Army and General Diaz, the Italian Commander, for the victory which saw the final removal of a danger that had threatened Italian security and liberty for many centuries. Commenting on the Austrian armistice terms, Premier Lloyd George said that they gave to the Allies free use of Austro-Hungarian territory for operations of war. When it is considered that the events of the last few weeks had liberated all the Allied forces operating against Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria-Hungary, and that these forces were to be used in great covering and American Govern-

Germany, the full significance of the terms would be apparent.

IMMATERIAL.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 5. Emperor Charles found the conditions of the armistice offered by the Allies so harsh and considered them dishonorable that he would not sign them, says a Vienna despatch to the Berlin Tageblatt. The Emperor declared he no longer wished to exercise his authority as supreme commander of the army. The conditions were finally signed by Field Marshal Arzow Straussenburg, the Chief of Staff. The despatch denies rumors that Emperor Charles had abdicated and was leaving for Switzerland.

GERMANY'S REPRESENTATIVE.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5. German officials of Berlin, says that General Von Winterfeldt, former German Military Attaché at Paris, will conduct the armistice negotiations for Germany on the western front.

GERMAN RETREAT.

LONDON, Nov. 5. The Germans are retreating on a seventy-five mile front from the river Scheldt to the river Aisne. In the face of the German retreat the situation changes so rapidly hour by hour that it is impossible to give a definite idea of the Allied advance. Roughly, the Allies have crossed the Franco-Belgian frontier between Valenciennes and Bavay, which is eight miles west of the fortress of Maubeuge. The Allies are within two miles of Bavay. They have captured the whole of the Mormal forest except the eastern edge. Then the line runs from Marolles to the western edge of Nouvion forest, two miles east of Guise, two miles south of Marly, and along the Serre river to Clermont river and then in a straight line to Chateau Porcien. Owing to the bad weather the Allied pursuit has lost touch with the enemy main body. French troops have crossed the Ardennes canal on both sides of Le Chesne and have advanced for a distance of about a mile. The Americans have forced the bridgehead south of Dun on the river Meuse, but have not yet occupied Dun.

PURSUIT CONTINUES.

PARIS, Nov. 5. French troops continue successfully to pursue the Germans in the region of Guise, northeast of which they have taken the village of Bergues-sur-Sambre according to the War Office announcement today.

NEW GERMAN WITHDRAWALS.

PARIS, Nov. 5. French successes have compelled the Germans to make new withdrawals at several points along the front.

according to the War Office statement today. Between the Oise and the Aisne the French have advanced about one mile on a five mile front. The French first army resumed the attack this morning and is making progress. Between Slossonne and Chateau Porcien, a front of more than fifteen miles the French have penetrated the fighting line of the Germans. The French are making a general advance from east of St. Quentin Le Petit to the outskirts of Herpy.

RETREAT GAINING IMPETUS.

PARIS, Nov. 5. The retreat of the Germans between the Sambre Canal and the Argonne gained impetus today, according to the War Office announcement tonight. The French troops cleared the enemy out of large sections of territory making an advance which at certain points reached a depth of more than six miles.

BRITISH TAKE LE QUESNOY.

LONDON, Nov. 5. British troops in their attack on the south east of Valenciennes have captured the fortified town of Le Quesnoy, after having completely surrounded it. Field Marshal Haig announced today. The entire garrison of more than one thousand men were taken with the citadel.

BITTER FIGHTING ON MEUSE.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE SEDAN FRONT, Nov. 5. (By the A. P.)—Bitter fighting is taking place today along the Meuse river. American patrols again have succeeded in crossing the river at Brioules on a pontoon bridge constructed under fire.

AMERICAN GAINS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. Victorious attacks by the American First Army on its entire front are reported by Gen. Pershing in his evening communique for Monday. On the extreme right, breaking down the last efforts of the enemy to hold the high ground, the Americans drove through the valley of the Meuse and the forest of Dieulieu, and occupied the important river crossing at Stenay.

ITALIANS' IMMENSE CAPTURES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. Austrian prisoners captured by the Italians before the armistice took effect yesterday, are estimated now at half a million, and the booty taken includes two hundred and fifty thousand horses.

SAYS AUSTRIA WILL PROTEST.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5. Austria will protest against the interpretation of any clause in the armistice as meaning that enemy armies are entitled to attack Germany through Austria, according to advices from Vienna. A despatch to the Berlin Vossische Zeitung from Vienna says that last Saturday the castles garrisoned and rushed to the gates of the castle shouting, "We don't want an Emperor." Officers persuaded some of the guards to return. But the rest disappeared, according to the despatch.

FAVOUR CONTINUATION OF WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 5. A demonstration was held before the Bismarck monument in Berlin, on Sunday, in favour of continuing the war and a resolution was passed protesting against the acceptance of a humiliating peace according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, quoting the Tageblatt of Berlin.

HAIG REPORTS BIG VICTORY.

LONDON, Nov. 5. The British armies in the sector between the Sambre and the Scheldt have defeated in the battle which began on Monday twenty-five German divisions, Field Marshal Haig reported from Headquarters to-night. In addition to capturing many more villages today the British have passed through the great Mormal forest.

REPUBLICAN GAIN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. At 11 o'clock to-night the Congressional returns still barely half complete showed a gain of four seats for the Republicans in the House. The sensational returns less than one-third complete showed a gain of one seat for the Republicans by the defeat of Senator Thompson, of Kansas, by Governor Capper.

LATER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. At midnight the Congressional election returns were just a little more than half in and on the figures then at hand showed a gain of eight seats in the House and at least three in the Senate for the Republicans. Up to that hour Acting Chairman Cummings of the Democratic National Committee had issued a statement claiming Democratic gains in both houses of Congress. Chairman Hayes of the Republican National Committee had not issued a statement, but said he felt sure the Republicans would control the House. The turnovers came from New York, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Kansas, but so closely was a Democratic defeat in one district neutralized by a Republican defeat in another that the net results are very close. The Democratic leaders in Congress Senator Simmons of North Carolina and Representative Kitchen of North Carolina were elect-

ITALIANS TAKE OVER ISLANDS.

ROME, Nov. 5. Italian naval vessels have landed troops on the Dalmatian Islands of Lissa and Ganza, where the Italian flag has been hoisted, a despatch from Trieste to-day states. Italian battleships and destroyers also have landed troops at Fiume.

ITALY CELEBRATES.

ROME, Nov. 5. Business has been virtually suspended here while the city continues to celebrate the victory of Italy over Austria. The demonstrations in various parts of Rome are following each other without interruption. All the stores are closed, and the tramways have been forced to suspend service because of the dense crowds that are thronging the streets. Another feature of the celebration is supplied by airplanes and dirigibles, which are flying over the city and dropping flowers.

VICTIMS OF SUBMARINE.

TURKS ISLAND, via Halifax, Nov. 5.—Reporting the capture of their ship in Lat. 37.30, Long. 53.30, by a German submarine on October 13th, the captain and seven men of the Norwegian barque Stifinder, New York to Fremantle, arrived here last night in a pitiable condition, following their 21 days' exposure in an open boat with little or no food. A second boat, containing the remaining eleven members of the crew, became separated from the captain's boat when a few days away from

BOOMING FISH INDUSTRY.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4. Reports reaching the Canadian Food Board indicate that the consumption of fish in Canada on October 31, National Fish Day, overtops by fifty to sixty per cent. that of any Good Friday, normally the heaviest fish day in the year. Toronto sold 222,400 pounds of fish, Montreal exceeded all records by selling 355,000 pounds. The Food Board's estimate of three million pounds of fish sold on fish day is likely to be sustained.

BOLSHEVIKS WANT PEACE.

LONDON, Nov. 5. The Bolshevik Government of Russia, it is reported from Petrograd, has handed the neutral Ministers a note for transmission to the Entente nations, asking for the opening of peace negotiations in order that hostilities between the Allies and the Soviet Government may be ended, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen. The note asks the Allies to decide upon the time and place for the holding of the negotiations.

CONFERENCE BREAKS UP.

PARIS, Nov. 4. The Inter-Allied Conference having completed its labors at Versailles, Premier Lloyd George, left to-night for London, and Premier Orlando, of Italy, started for Rome. The Conference reached a complete agreement on the question of the terms of an armistice for Germany.

GERMANY TAKES EXCEPTION.

LONDON, Nov. 5. (Via Reuters).—While Germany has ratified the agreement in regard to prisoners, she announces that she is unable to agree to the British proposed amendment that non-commissioned officers and men of U-boats interned in Holland and Switzerland should not be included. Judging by to-day's statement in the British House of Commons, already cabled, Great Britain apparently has not pressed this amendment.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. The New York Herald to-day editorially says that the "Austrian armistice is the hand-writing on the wall for the German people." The World says the terms of the armistice broadly speaking are such as will make impossible a resumption of hostilities by the German Government on either land or sea, pending a permanent treaty of peace. It was to have been world dominion or downfall, according to Germany's own assertions. The World continues: "It has become downfall and everybody in Germany from the Kaiser downward is at last beginning to recognize the fact."

Children Hate Oil Calomel and Pills.

"California Syrup of Figs" best for tender stomach, liver, bowels—tastes delicious.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Chief of Good Templars.

The fact that Demetrius Domian, a Syrian of Greek parentage, is Chief Templar of the "Mount Zion Lodge" in Jerusalem, is an illustration of the spread of this great movement in the East. The Lodge was founded by Alderman Joseph Maline, J.P., the founder of Good Templars in England, one of the most active spirits being Demetrius Domian. After a time the Turkish element entered the Lodge and at length predominated, and when the war was declared these evinced such enmity to the Order and its Anglo-Saxon origin that they determined to cursh the Lodge. Mr. Domian, however, was able to remain in the city, and since Jerusalem was captured by the Allied Forces he has taken steps to reconstitute the Lodge.

Austria's Surrender.

Never in the history of the proud house of Hapsburg, the hereditary reigning house of Austria, having given its line of monarchs to that country in unbroken succession since the year 1282, has there been a more humiliating day than November 4th, 1918, when shorn of all her power, an agreement to the armistice terms of the Allies was signed and instantly went into effect. The difference between that fatal day in August 1914 (when at the instigation of the German Emperor the Dual Empire declared war on the little Kingdom of Serbia), and the day already named is most marked. Then with the proud men of a conqueror Austria embarked on a voyage which has ended in the destruction of all her hopes, and with them all that she held in defiance of rights and justice. Now, beaten and abject, with her Emperor at the point of abdication, the highly representative of the Holy Roman Empire have been compelled to set their hands to a document which deprives them of all rights, excepting only as the Allied Military Commanders may allow, until the final peace conditions are settled. Not since Napoleon inflicted defeat on the flower of the Austrian armies at Wagram in 1809 and subsequently compelled the hand of Maria Louisa in marriage, has there been anything to compare with the unqualified surrender of the Austrian Government on Monday. But that it was a popular surrender, notwithstanding the severe conditions imposed by the Allies, was evidenced in the manner in which the news of the agreement to the armistice was received by the people of Vienna, and it can be presumed that its reception there was duplicated in all the other large cities of the Empire. "Vienna," the dispatch says, "went delirious with joy when it was learned that an armistice had been declared. The streets were soon crowded with men, women and children, crying and embracing each other, and the opinion is that food will follow peace." Therein lies the main cause for rejoicing. As has been well known, the Capital City of Austria, the handsomest city of Europe, has suffered untold deprivations because of the war. Food has been scanty and expensive and the poorer classes have barely existed, and have undergone hardships and hunger unprecedented in the annals of Vienna. Now with peace will come food, and hunger will be unknown. A glance at the conditions of the armistice show that nothing has been left out. In every detail the terms insisted upon cover the situation. The military and naval power of the nation is of no further use to its German ally. All arms, all ships, whether in the field, in port or at sea, are to be given up, and the right to use Austrian territory, Austrian waters, Austrian munitions, Austrian railways and roads, in subsequent operations against Germany, if need be, has been taken by the military authorities of the Allies. The terms imposed upon Bulgaria and Turkey, when these countries withdrew, were not so drastic as those to which Austria has been compelled, by force of arms, to submit. In addition to giving up all their military possessions, the Austrians surrendered all of Italy Irredenta (Italy Unredeemed), which comprises the Southern Tyrol, Trieste, Istria, the Dalmatian Coast, Nice and Savoy, so long under Austrian domination. Thoroughly beaten, Austria, "the catspaw of Germany," comes out of the fight with much less than when she entered it. Her position at the peace board was only nominal, as she will have no arguments to advance against the limitation of her boundaries. The pen has decided that for which the sword fought. The terms to be submitted to Germany, the sole remaining power of the once almost invincible alliance, have been prepared by the Supreme War Council at Versailles, France, and if the drastic conditions imposed upon Austria are any criterion, those which will be presented to Germany are to be more severe. The arch criminal must suffer still more indignities than his dupe, and no mistaken sentiment shall be permitted to stand in the way of that justice which must be done ere a changed Germany is allowed a place again among the nations of the world.

Hun Torturers.

Publish Their Names. The debate on our prisoners in the House of Lords recently will certainly not increase respect for the man in which Lord Newton and his colleagues conducted the negotiations with the Germans. Already we have stated their names every sign that the Germans had handled our representatives in which an exact statement of Lord Newton is that his policy seems to have been based on calculations of how the war would go. Now that we have many more prisoners than the enemy he is strongly for reprisals. This is a policy based, on ultimate analysis, on fear. The best method of giving instant protection to our prisoners is to warn the world that Great Britain will conclude no peace with the Hun until the criminals among German officers and officials have been surrounded and handed over to a British military court. The names of these criminals should be published every week or month, with an exact statement of their crimes. Their infamy should be revealed, and all should know the kind of monster with which we have to deal.—Daily Mail.

Names of Fighting Pilots Not Published.

The British Air Force authorities do not favour the publication of the names of fighting pilots with their "specially" German machines brought down, because this method does not commend itself to the British temperament. It would be desirable to publish the names of certain British individuals, but it is contrary to the main weight of British sentiment; the majority, inside and outside the Royal Air Force, is against it; and so the authorities do not sanction it. The British flying officer, and especially the fighting pilot, is quite clear about this, and if he or she thinks it would be unparliamentary and wrong to invite public attention and popular admiration for individual pilots, because of the opportunities for bringing down "Huns." As one of them recently wrote "I am not boasting; I am doing my job, and trying to help to win the war, like every other officer in the Air Force, Navy, and Army, too. Platoon commanders are not yet advertised as having shot so many 'Huns,' yet they do shoot a good number in circumstances a good deal less comfortable and just as dangerous as mine. And then, again, what about the R.A.F. observer—some of the best gunners we have? Why should their names be left out? I go into it all perfectly equipped at all points to bring down Hun machines. A pilot on artillery observation or photography work goes up to a highly necessary job, and perhaps has to spend several hours over it, and in any case has other work to do, and cannot go straying, however much he might like to. Why should I be advertised and glorified any more than he is? We both try to do our job, and nobody can do more. When any of our decorations are gazetted and the thing is on record. For the rest, we play for our side and for the good of the R.A.F. It is the R.A.F. that downs the Hun, and the figures advertise the R.A.F. No need to advertise individuals."

A Fruitless Attempt to Deceive. As a source of what might be called geographical information, the official German communications from the Western front continue to be something more than fairly correct. Street Car Accident.

A rather peculiar accident occurred about 9 o'clock this afternoon. In some way, yet unknown, a horse and carriage got between the West and East bound street cars, where they were crossing, opposite the store of W. H. Jackson, with the result that the wagon was crushed to pieces, while the horse, which bolted clear of the tacking, has not been seen since. Some of the glass in the West bound car was broken. The driver of the team had a miraculous escape, having been thrown from his seat. At the moment of writing the wreck of the carriage is sandwiched between the two cars, which are necessarily stopped until such time as the debris is removed. Why the team came to be in such a position, as it is obvious that there is no thoroughfare between two street cars passing each other on different tracks, has not yet been determined.

A Hun 'Jeffreys'.

There is more than appears on first consideration in the statement, reported by Walter Duranty, that was made by a German military judge, one Zepfel, when he hurriedly departed from Bruges just before the Allied forces entered that city. "The British," he said, "will want my head in payment for Captain Pratt's life, but it is Schroder"—Admiral von Schroder, the Port Commander—"who is responsible. I simply obeyed his orders, which insisted absolutely on the death penalty."

That shows, first, what sort of a "trial" the British captain had. He was condemned before it began, and the so-called Judge—the man, that is, whose presence and title gave an air or semblance of legality to the proceeding—had his orders before he began his inquisition, and it was in obedience to those orders, and not because of any evidence presented before him, that he sent the captain before the firing squad. "That, at any rate, is his version of the affair, and he makes it without seeing, apparently, that it does not lighten his responsibility in the slightest degree, but simply gives the British an added reason to demand his head for having obeyed an order which no honest judge would have heard without bitter resentment or allowed to guide his action. It is two heads, instead of one, that the British might demand with equal justice, if they were seeking that sort of satisfaction, and the Judge's head would be the least respectable of the order."

THE M. O. "Well, four days A and bandage treatment. Next!" "Spitting blood, sir," says the next applicant for relief, in reply to the M. O.'s query. The M. O. scents tuberculosis here and examines him thoroughly. "Nothing evident," he says, after prolonged examination. "Better put him down for bacteriological examination."

The sergeant then, and not till then, volunteers the information that the man had a tooth extracted yesterday, and a glance at the interior of the man's mouth proves the truth of this statement. The next patient is obviously a raw recruit, in the last stages of acute nervousness. "Throat sore, eh?" says the M. O. "Have you had your larynx examined?" "No, sir," says the nervous recruit. "I only bin in the Army three days, sir, and they ain't give me one yet."

"All right," replies the M. O. "Orderly, give this man iodine. Next! What's your trouble, my man?"—to a delicate-looking private. "Fatigues, sir," replied the private promptly. "Fatigues!" echoes the mystified M. O. "Who the dickens told you that?"

Quite So! "You did, sir," calmly replies the man. "I did—never! Here, sergeant, do you know this man?" "Yes, sir," replies the sergeant who knows and is known by everybody. "He reported sick four days ago and you put him in light fatigues."

"Oh yes, so I did!" murmurs the enlightened M. O. It is the custom to examine the patient, and if the M. O. then says "Fatigues," the man does not go on the regimental parades, but is employed in doing various light duties. Hence the error. Bad headache is the next patient's trouble. The M. O. hunts round diligently for the cause, but cannot find one. The man's eyes, perhaps. "Have you had your eyes examined, my man?" he inquires. "I don't think it's my eyes, sir."

"Don't think! Let me tell you that I am the medical officer here, and I know what I am talking about. Are you a doctor?" "No, sir," meekly replies the patient. "Well, I am!" retorts theasperated M. O. "I can distinctly see some foreign element in the left eye. That is the cause of your trouble. You go up to the optician's."

Hunting the Headache. "Very good, sir," answers the man. "But I think I ought to tell you that left eye is a glass one." The M. O. is rapidly reaching the point of collapse. The next man has also reported sick with headaches, but no sign of headache can be discerned. But his joints appear to be very much swollen. "No headache about you, my man," says the M. O. "You're suffering from rheumatism."

Telling the Tale.

One does not usually associate humour with sickness, but the battalion medical inspection-room produces enough fun in a week to fill the pages of any comic journal. "Going sick" in the Army is a refuge long associated with the dodging of parades, and a pronounced indisposition to work of any kind. When battalion orders denote that the morning's programme consists of a long route-march or a bathing-parade, the staff of the M. I. Room look forward to an arduous morning's work, and it is seldom that they are disappointed.

The process of "going sick" is a tedious performance. The sick attend their respective company offices to hand in full particulars of themselves, and inform the N. C. O. in charge of the sick parade how long they have been in the Army, whether they are married or single, and whether they are Church of England or any other religion, any of which information seems decidedly superfluous when asking to see the medical officer. But there it is. You cannot see a doctor in the Army unless you unburden yourself of lots of confidences.

Anxious Forecasts. Having completed your forms, you are marched away to the M. I. Room, where you meet your friends and discuss the prospects of all awards, from seven days A (which signifies that you are excused all parades, and therefore lead a gentleman's life) to D (which is the worst fate that can befall the most inveterate "swinger," for the unfortunate recipient of D goes before his company officer on a charge sheet "Reporting sick without cause," and thus qualifies for a certain amount of C. B.)

The medical officer having arrived, you get yourself arrayed in your birthday suit—even if you suffer with a bad tooth only, you must strip—and are ushered in the presence of the man who holds your fate in his hand. "Well, Smith, and what's wrong with you?" "Harrowed veins in me leg, sir," replies an awkward-looking youth. "And they give you beans, eh?" says the M. O. "Well, four days A and bandage treatment. Next!" "Spitting blood, sir," says the next applicant for relief, in reply to the M. O.'s query.

The M. O. scents tuberculosis here and examines him thoroughly. "Nothing evident," he says, after prolonged examination. "Better put him down for bacteriological examination." The sergeant then, and not till then, volunteers the information that the man had a tooth extracted yesterday, and a glance at the interior of the man's mouth proves the truth of this statement.

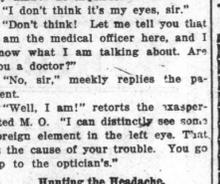

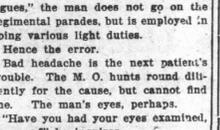

Parcel Post for Nfld. Expeditionary Forces!

The attention of the public is drawn to the very urgent necessity of strictly observing the regulations published by this Department from time to time concerning the despatch of parcels to members of the Regiment overseas and the following particulars should be strictly observed:

- (1) Parcels must not exceed eleven pounds. (2) Parcels should be addressed with the Regimental number, rank, name and surname of addressee, followed by the last known address of the Unit with which the individual was serving; for example: No. 0978 Cpl. John J. Kent, 2nd Battalion The Royal Newfoundland Regt., Hazeley Down Camp, Winchester, Hunt's Camp, England. (3) Parcels should bear the name and address of volunteers the information that the man had a tooth extracted yesterday, and a glance at the interior of the man's mouth proves the truth of this statement. (4) If second address is not furnished at the time of posting and delivery cannot be effected, the contents of the parcel, unless of exceptional value or of a personal nature, will be turned over to the Military Authorities for distribution. (5) Parcels containing articles of personal nature or of special value will be returned if request for their return, in case of non-delivery, is made by the sender, such request to be written on the cover of the parcel at the time of posting. (6) The procedure outlined in (4) and (5) is adopted at the suggestion of the British Post Office, to prevent the waste of a large quantity of perishable food stuffs which form the contents of 90 per cent. of parcels sent to soldiers. (7) Parcels should be packed securely. (8) Attention is drawn to the Notice concerning Christmas parcels recently published by the Postmaster General. All Christmas mail for B. E. F. should be posted in time to arrive at the Pay and Record Office, London, not later than the end of November. J. R. BENNETT, Minister of Militia.

Why They Can Afford an Auto.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"I have the greatest time with my husband," said a neighbor of mine the other day, "persuading him that I should find it hard to support an auto. He is always pointing out families that can't have any larger income than we do, and yet own an auto.

"He doesn't realize that they scrip 'n ways he wouldn't think of scripping in. That's the way he always is—he sees different people spending money for this or that and then he wants to know why we can't have that."

I wonder if my neighbor's plaint will find an echo in other feminine hearts.

Somehow I suspect it will.

Not The Wife Who Is Usually Extravagant.

There seems to be a tradition in fiction that it is the wife who is always pushing the husband on to extravagance. Now that may be true in the small upper class about which so much of our fiction is written, but it is my opinion, at least, that in the vast financial middle class, including seventy-five per cent. of the wage earners of the country, the woman is usually the one who is holding back. She knows more about the value of money than the man. To be sure, he earns it, but in the majority of cases she is the purchasing agent, and nothing gives one a clearer sense of the limitations of any given amount of money than that job.

And so it is that my neighbor glimpses more clearly than her husband the fact that in finance, as in feeding, you can't have your pie and eat it too.

Different Families Have Different Extravagances.

Take ten different families, each with the same income, and no two will have the same pet extravagance and the same pet economy. Now it is manifestly plain that if the head of any of these families assumed that because he had the same income as the rest he could indulge in the same extravagances as all of the other ten, he would come to grief.

If one could know the inwardness of the budgets of those ten families one could doubtless write a most interesting book on the different ways in which they see fit to spend money.

They Do Not Take One Magazine Or Newspaper.

The few glimpses one does get into such matters are often intensely absorbing. For instance, I know a family who do not have a machine and yet who do not have on their tables a single magazine or newspaper. Think of it!

Again there are people who can afford to go in town frequently to dinner and the theatre, and yet whose ordinary table fare, people who cannot afford to patronize a restaurant from one year's end to another would find exceedingly meagre and unsatisfactory.

People often show a disposition to adjudge a neighbor extravagant because he indulges in some way in which they do not.

But that is only half the evidence, and in this way as in most matters the wisest way is to "Judge not that ye be not judged."

A druggist can obtain an imitation of MINARD'S LINIMENT from a TORONTO house at a very low price, and have it labeled his own product.

This greasy imitation is the poorest one we have yet seen of the many that every Tom, Dick and Harry has tried to introduce.

Ask for MINARD'S and you will get it.

Household Notes

Too much starch will cause linen to crack in the folds.

When ironing linen, move the iron with the threads, never diagonally.

Serve a light suet rolypoly with beef.

CROUTONS are always good served with a clear soup.

Celery and pineapple make a delicious salad.

If an egg is frozen, put it into hot water for a few minutes. This will thaw it out perfectly.

A lump of loaf sugar put into a quart of olive oil will prevent its getting rancid.

If washing powders are used in the washing of linen, it will go to pieces in no time.

Linen should be kept in a dry, cool place. Heat causes the threads to become brittle.

SYMPATHIZING WITH SHEP.

"Dear Dad," he wrote, "I'm here in France. And sharing in each Yank advance. We're driving back the filthy Hun. The Holmes now are on the run. And I am well and strong to-night. Except for little things that bite."

"Well, dad, I do not want to brag. He'd bite himself upon the hip. Then turn his head in manner queer. To scratch himself behind the ear. Then, like the whirling of a gale. Get up and madly chase his tail."

"We used to scold and put him out. We would not let him stay about when he began to thump the floor. But, oh, when I get home once more, I'll let Shep scratch the evening through. Because, you see, I've had 'em, too."

To sweeten gooseberries or cranberries with less sugar, put a small pinch of baking soda in while cooking.

Milady's Boudoir
 NEATNESS A BEAUTY ASSET.

This is indeed an age of haste and hurry; of grime and dust, of smoke and cinders. This condition is not conducive to a good complexion for it takes time to rid one's self of the grime which is so quickly and easily accumulated.

Yet if one would look well in her everyday attire or in those fine, fresh new togs, which are so alluring, she must be sure to allot herself all the time necessary for the cleansing and shining and sunning which shall make her as sweet as a rose.

The girl taught and trained, month after month, and year after year, that it is a disgrace to appear in anything but spotless neckwear, in gloves which are not clean, in tailored clothes, which lack the pressing iron, in shoes run over at the heel, or with buttons gone or laces not as they should be, with teeth which do not bespeak the use of dental floss, a good brush and powder, with hair which is caught up any way at all, this girl, trained as I have said, in all of these things beautiful will be bound to be thought attractive, even though she should not be beautiful, according to ideals seen upon calendars and magazine covers.

She will, indeed not only make but retain a good impression wherever she goes, while the pretty girl who is slightly slovenly and careless will be passed over unnoticed by her side.

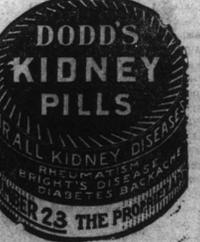

Ozone can never possess a substitute. Sun and air are good for not only well washed clothes but for well washed hair. It is good for the hair that has been worn a good deal, for the waist which has seen service, for the work day skirt, for the stays, for all the articles of clothing.

Things which can go into a tub, of course, get their required amount of sun and air, but things which cannot be tubed, scalded, ironed, and well dried, should at least have an air and sun bath whenever occasion offers.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

HARD ON HINDENBURG.

W. M. MASON

Three months ago the news was spread that old Dad Hindenburg was dead. He had a row with Kaiser Bill concerning a proposal to kill the old, the helpless and infirm; the Kaiser's comments made him squirm; the blood rushed to his old fat head, and Hindenburg fell over dead. It seems he wouldn't stay down, and Azael was badly hurt. A late despatch tells how once more he and the Kaiser ripped and swore, and called each other sons of bitches, and cheap John imitation Huns. Then Hindenburg, with anger blind, threw down his sandbag and resigned. He handed in his large brass knuckles which cost some fourteen German bucks, his slungshot and a pair of gats, his razor and his rough on rats. "I jump my job!" he sternly cried; "I've been made an also ran by you and your Buttinski clan. I gave you quite a hint," he said, "that time when I fell over dead; but subtle hints are thrown away on such a bonehead rascal. And now I'm through! No more in mine! Here is my spiked club! I resign!" What will this war do next if by the Kaiser he is vexed? Once he has died and once resigned; what other stunts has he in mind? Though now and then his work is coarse, he is a man of great resource.

Some War Words That Have Come To Stay.

The English language is a very "elastic" one, and ever receptive of new words and phrases. At the present time it is getting saturated with terms of military, French, and American origin in particular. The use of an expressive word has indeed become "a work of national importance." This term itself is one of the best evolved in the present crisis, and its powerful, unmistakable meaning has affected us all.

"Going West" is another which has a profound and poignant significance. Its origin is doubtless from "somewhere in North America," and its peculiar applicability is seen as one thinks of the sun sinking to its rest at eventide behind some of the eternal hills. "According to plan" is a military idiom which has been frequently used of late, and has much significance.

Old Words—New Meanings.

Among the phrases which have come to stay is that striking French one: "He ne passeront pas." ("They shall not pass!") It tells of grit and perseverance on the part of brave men against fearful odds, and will ever be an inspiration to future generations.

Much discussion has taken place recently over the meanings of the words "decimated" and "offal." The first word is frequently used by war correspondents to express great slaughter, but really it only means one in ten, being derived from the Latin "decimus," a tenth. "Offal," again, has a very displeasing sound to most ears, as meaning just refuse. But if we divide the word into its parts—"off" and "fall"—it loses its offensive quality, and denotes simply good waste meat.

Belgium's King.

It is said that King Albert, who has so gallantly upheld the traditions of valor in leading his army in the recent, victorious fighting, needs much looking after when in the "first line," so utterly does he disregard danger. The Queen is equally unconcerned as to danger. On one occasion her Majesty was in the front line when a large shell exploded not very far away. Quite unconcerned as to where the next would fall, the Queen took out her camera and snapped the columns of smoke sent up.

It is not generally known that King Albert is an engineer and understands the construction of ships and aeroplanes. He has driven railway trains, and, in order to enter more entirely into the lives of his people, has even worked in mines.

Not Generally Known!

The average man or woman may think all WAR STANDARD FLOURS are alike. Such is not the case. The Canadian Government has decreed that Flour must not be milled ABOVE a certain standard. But there is nothing to prevent millers from milling BELOW that standard.
