CHAPTER XXXII

"Good-bye," she says. "Perhaps we shall meet again."

"Perhaps," said Floeste in a low voice. "Good-bye," and as she speaks the words in a tone of exquisite music, her blue eyes grow dim with unshed tears.

At a sign from Paula the old man, who has stood by during the scene as unmoved as if he were a block of wood, lays his hand on the chair and trundles it away.

Paula stands looking after them, a strange sensation taking possession of her. The peculiar fascination which had drawn her to speak to this Miss Hamilton has increased instead of declined during the interview, and the interest she felt has become heightened and transformed into pity.

Like a true woman, all Paula's heart had gone out to the slender, wasted girl lying upon her bosom, so beautiful, so helpless.

And yet—and yet, mingled with the pity and attraction, she was conscious of a feeling of repulsion. Suppose one went to pluck a beautiful flower, and yet suspected that the touch were poisonous, and still felt compelled to pluck and caress it; that would describe her feeling to a nicety, and the sensation puzzled and annoyed her.

"Florence Hamilton!" Had she heard that name before? She ransacked her memory as she sat upon the bench, but could not recall the name or the delicate features.

"I am getting as fanciful, and nervous, and worried as an old woman her sixth cup of green tea!" she murmurs, with a laugh. "Poor girl! So beautiful and so young! How like death she looked as she lay in my arms? Who could help pitying her? And she looked so unhappy, too! I wonder whether she has had any great sorrow. Perhaps some miserable love-affair!" with a bitter laugh. "Here is just the nature to go down under such trouble. I am glad," with a smile, "that Alice was not here."

The next moment that young lady comes tripping up the steps. Her yellow hair is falling like a golden cat-act down her back, she is enveloped in a loose dolman of soft, sheeny silk; her bathing costume—which folds into a very small space—is in her hand.

"My dear," she says, with her thin smile, "you have missed a treat. The water was as warm and as soft as new milk. What have you been doing with yourself? What is the meaning of that long confab with the bath-chair? Have you discovered some rheumatic old idler to pet and commiserate?"

JUMP FROM BED A SINGIN'

Take "Cascarets" for Your Liver and Bowels and Wake Up Clear, Cheery, Fit—Don't Stay Sick!

To-morrow the sun will shine for you. Everything will seem clear, rosy and bright. Your system is filled with liver and bowel poison which keeps your skin sallow, your stomach upset, your head foggy and aching. Your meals are turning into poison, gases and acids. You can not feel right. Don't stay bilious or constipated. Feel splendid always by taking Cascarets occasionally. They act without griping or inconvenience. They never sicken you like Calomel, Saffin, Oil or nasty, harsh Pills. They cost so little too—Cascarets work while you sleep.

"No," says Paula, "it was not an old lady."

"Really! One of the consumptive young gentlemen, I suppose. That's better, especially if he happened to be of the notabilities. They tell me that there are no less than half a dozen young noblemen, to say nothing of a couple of millionaires, down here with weak chests."

Paula laughs absently.

"It was a young girl," she says, curtly.

Alice shrugs her shoulders with contemptuous indifference.

"I can't get up an interest in the invalids of my own sex," she says. "I don't believe in half of them. I'm half-inclined to go in for a bath-chair myself. One would look so interesting."

Paula, with that pale face in her mind's eye, rises with an expression of impatience.

"Let us go home," she says.

"I am quite ready," says Alice, with a yawn. "I hope that old hag will do the sweetbreads properly to-day. I could fancy a sweetbread if it were nicely browned," and she gathers her dolman round her, and trips off, her sunshade nicely balanced so that it throws its pink shade on her pretty face.

Paula walks by her side rapt in thought. But she looks up suddenly.

"Where are you going, Alice?" she says. "You have entered the gardens of the Casino, and is walking towards that palace of the Goddess Chance."

"This is the best way," is the reply. "I like to peep in at the doors. I wish to goodness we had a gentleman to chaperon us and take us in."

"I do not," says Paula, laconically.

"My dear, you are a prude. The best people go," emphatically. "Even the most stiff of our compatriots. Everybody looks in and stokes a little on the green cloth; everybody but you and I. You, because you are a prude, my dear, and I because I can't go alone. It is enough to make one go stark, staring mad, the position in which we are placed. Alone in this place where everybody has some friend, some cavalier to attend them."

"I am quite content," says Paula, absently.

"You!" with a sneer. "You would be content in your present frame of mind, in a convict cell; but permit me to remind you that we have not all been jilted—"

"Jilted!" and a red flush suffuses Paula's face for a moment, but the next she laughs indifferently.

It is Alice's only amusement to stab her sister with these little conversational pin-pricks.

"Well, deceived, betrayed, what you will," says Alice, coolly. "If we could only meet someone we know; even those Palmers would be something. Listen to the band. They say that the band of the Casino is the best in France."

She stops as she speaks, then moves in the open door of the great gambling-saloon and looks in eagerly, hungrily.

"Come," says Paula, curtly, "someone will see us. I hate this place, and the people who frequent it. It is a vulgar, disreputable den."

"Great heavens!" exclaims Alice in a tone of surprise and delight, "it can't be! Yes, it is," and she takes a step forward as an elaborately-got-up young man comes swaggering in.

"Mr. Stancy!"

Stancy de Palmer—for it is he—stops short, and puts up his eyeglass, and then, with an exclamation of genuine amazement and interest:

"Miss Alice! Good heavens!" then his eyes fall upon the tall, slim figure behind her, and his eyeglass tumbles from his place, and his face grows crimson. "And—and Miss Paula, too!" and he shambles forward and takes the hand slowly extended to him. "Good gracious!" he exclaims, with the under-bred stare and stammer.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Americans and owned by an American Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross"—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages.

Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacturing of Monocetacidester of Salicylic Acid.

mer. "Who'd have thought of seeing you here. Why, by Jingo! I thought you were in England. 'Pon my honour, I did!"

"But we're not, you see," says Alice, gaily, her colour coming, her eyes flashing. "We can enjoy ourselves as well as other people, Mr. Stancy. Is it very naughty to be seen at Nouvelle-by-the-Sea?"

"Naughty? If it's naughty, it's nice," he says, with a vulgar leer. "Eh, Miss Paula?"

Paula murmurs something coldly and with no responsive smile; but he is too delighted by the meeting to be rebuffed.

"This is—how a really delightful surprise," he says, putting on his affected manner. "By Jove! quite too jolly! The gov. will be delighted, assure you."

"Is your father here?" asks Alice.

"Ya-as, and May, too. May's best queer, you know, and ordered here. We're staying at the Golden Eagle, of course."

"Of course," says Alice, meekly.

"Only decent hotel in the place," says Mr. Stancy, pulling at his feeble moustache. "Where are you staying?"

"Oh, we are in lodgings; we couldn't go to a hotel, you know," says Alice, hurriedly. "At the first white house on the cliff."

"Haw—I'll tell the gov. and May; she'll be delighted. We must come and see you, By Jove! they'll be surprised!"

"When did you come?" asks Alice, turning and walking by his side, as if loath to leave him, although it is in an opposite direction to their house.

"Yesterday," he says. "Splendid place, ain't it? No end of fun inside there," and he jerks his finger towards the casino. "Much better than slow old Brighton, and that sort of thing. I have spent nearly all the time I've been here inside that place; lost a lot the first night, but pulled it in to-day."

"I'm afraid you won't find much time to bestow on our poor society," says Alice, and Paula colours with shame at the soft, insinuating tone she uses.

"Shan't I?" he returns, gallantly.

"I shall, though, you'll see—that is, if you'll have me," and he smiles at Paula, whose eyes are steadfastly fixed on the sea.

"We shall be only too glad," says Alice. "We are a couple of solitary, you know!"

"Haw!" he says. "I'll run up with the gov. and May this evening."

"Do," says Alice, eagerly. "We can hear the evening band from our drawing-room."

"All right," he says, patronisingly. And Alice reluctantly stops short.

"Au revoir," says Mr. Stancy, fumbling at his eyeglass. "Au revoir, Miss Paula."

Alice returns his adieu with an effusive smile, but Paula merely bows; and with a little smile of self-complacency, the exquisite swaggers off.

Alice breathes a long sigh.

"What a goddess!" she says, as they turn in the direction of their lodgings, "a perfect goddess! To meet them here, where they know no one, and where they'll be thrown upon us so completely. Oh, what a chance! What a chance!"

"What do you mean?" says Paula, quietly, but with a cold shrinking at her heart.

Alice looks at her with undisguised contempt.

"What do I mean?" she says. "Oh, I forget—I beg your pardon. Of course you wouldn't know what I mean; you are so unworshipful, so absorbed. What do I mean?" with a metallic little laugh. "My good, Paula, I mean that you have got the main chance, and I won't believe that even you will be such an imbecile as to let it slip!"

CHAPTER XXXIII

"Jane, light all the candles," says Alice, as she bustles into the sitting-room of their lodgings, "and make the wretched room look as comfortable as you can. Some old friends are coming, Jane—the Palmers, of the Court. Put that arm-chair by the window for Mr. Palmer; and, Jane, ask the landlady to get some brandy and soda-water. Am I not thoughtful?" she says, swinging round to Paula, who stands by the window looking out at the moon rising over the sea, and thinking, not of the coming guests, but of Bob-of-Bob, struggling somewhere under this same moon.

Paula starts and turns to look at her, and smiles with faint amusement; for Alice has suddenly become transformed from a peevish, languid individual, into a brisk, hopeful schemer.

The appearance of Stancy de Palmer is like a break in the clouds that have loomed so darkly over the fortunes of the house of Estcourt. If Paula will but nerve herself and prove equal to the emergency—what may not happen!

"Aren't you going to change your dress, Paula?" she asks; she herself has donned her prettiest gown and rearranged her hair.

Paula looks down carelessly at the plain, dark merino, and shakes her head; but Alice is not to be denied.

"Nonsense!" she says. "Why shouldn't you look your best—for once?" with a little, sarcastic smile. "I'm quite tired of that stuff thing. You may be sure May will have the latest things from Paris."

"Poor May!" says Paula, absently.

"Why 'poor May'?" she asks, putting a vase of flowers on the table, and artfully arranging the antimaccassars so that they cover the worn and silt parts of the red-covered furniture.

"What's the matter with May? Pray reserve all your sympathy for ourselves. If anybody deserves pity, we do; such a life as we have been leading would kill a cat with sheer ennui. It was bad enough at the cottage; but we weren't quite penurious there, and we did get some amusement; but here—"

"Mr. Palmer, Mr. Stancy de Palmer, and Miss Palmer," announces Jane, and Alice turns, all smiles, with her hands outstretched.

Both the gentlemen are in evening-dress, Mr. Palmer quite fat now, and rather more pompous than of old.

Try taking twelve deep breaths each day, and you will notice that you feel much lighter in spirits and able to cope with your daily tasks.

GIRLS' DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girl! such an abundance of thick, invigorated hair; a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, gloriously fluffy, bright and so easy to manage.

Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy, golden gleams and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair.

"Danderine" is a tonic-beautifier. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and stops falling hair. Get delightful Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on bottle.

A UNIQUE MODEL IN "THE ON STYLE"

Pattern 3109 here illustrated is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. For the 18 years size, 5 1/4 yards of 44 inch material will be required.

Duvelyn, serge, taffeta, satin, poplin, crepe and crepe de chine would be attractive for this model. Blue duvelyn with pipings of beige, and collar and cuffs embroidered in colored worsted is smart for this. The width of the skirt at lower edge with platts extended is 1 1/2 yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A GOOD OUTFIT FOR THE HOUSE-KEEPER.

Pattern 3110 is here shown. It is cut in 4 Sizes: Small, 32-34; Medium, 36-38; Large, 40-42; Extra Large, 44-46 inches bust measure. The apron and cap may be made of one material, percale, seersucker, gingham, saton, khaki or alpaca. The apron is not cumbersome, for it is cut so as to avoid any surplus material. Size Medium requires 8 1/4 yards for the apron and 1/2 yard for the cap, of 36 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Conscription in Great Britain at an End.

Peace Time Standing Army Will Number 220,000--Black Strikers Cause Trouble in South Africa--Sinn Fein M. P. Gets Three Years Sentence -- Turks at Constantinople a Menace to Europe -- Financiers Will Discuss Exchange Question.

BRITAIN ABOLISHES CONSCRIPTION.

LONDON, Feb. 23. Conscription will be abolished in Great Britain on March 31st, and within a month from that date the last conscript will be entitled to be released. It was announced by Winston Churchill, Secretary of War, in moving the Army estimates in the Commons today. Churchill stated that Great Britain had succeeded in raising and organizing an entirely new volunteer army which at the time conscription would lapse would number 220,000, excluding troops serving in India. The nation would be able with her reorganized army to place in the field, in case of emergency, a force of twenty divisions with cavalry and auxiliary services and supplied with the most modern arms and equipment the British Army has ever had, the War Secretary declared in a memorandum in amplification of his address. Incidentally Churchill disclosed the fact that a new tank had been produced with a speed of twenty miles an hour, which has mechanically a long life. In a trial run of a thousand miles, he said, virtually no wear had developed.

STRIKE OF BLACKS IN GOLD FIELDS.

PRETORIA, Feb. 23. Lieut-General Jan Christian Smuts, British member of the League of Nations Commission, in a speech here today, referred to the native troubles in the Witwatersrand gold mine fields, which he characterized as dangerous. Between thirty and forty thousand blacks are striking, General Smuts said, and by means of organized picketing are doing things which he would have considered them incapable of doing. The speaker declared he had seen portents that a tremendous change was coming over South Africa.

BOLSHEVISTS CAPTURE MURMANSK.

LONDON, Feb. 23. Bolsheviki forces have seized Murmansk and the shipping in the harbor there, following a revolution, which broke out at that port on Saturday afternoon, according to Lloyd's despatch from Vardo, Norway. News of the capture was brought to Vardo by a Russian steamer from Murmansk in charge of two British and four Belgian officers. It was the only vessel to escape seizure but was riddled with machine gun fire and the captain was wounded.

GEDDES FOR WASHINGTON.

LONDON, Feb. 23. Journalistic speculation to-day seems to have generally decided that Sir Auckland Geddes is going as Ambassador to Washington, which means a vacancy in Basinstoke. Sir Auckland had a majority of five thousand over the Labor candidate in the last election.

M. P. IMPRISONED.

DUBLIN, Feb. 23. Robert N. Barton Sinn Fein member of Parliament for East Wicklow, who was convicted on the charge that at Shilleigh last year he made threats against Viceroy French, Lord Lieut. of Ireland, and Frank Brooke, member of the Lord Lieut.'s advisory council has been sentenced to three years penal servitude.

A MENACE TO PEACE.

LONDON, Feb. 23. In an article in the Evening Standard to-day, Lord Robert Cecil gives it as his opinion that the Turks must leave Constantinople on the ground that the maintenance of Turkish Sovereignty over that city would be a menace to tranquility.

WOULD-BE ASSASSIN IMPRISONED.

BERLIN, Feb. 23. "I was convinced that Ersberger was working for English money for private gain only" Ensign Hirschfeld told the court at his trial on Saturday when asked the motive which actuated his alleged attempt at murder upon the minister of Finance. The young officer admitted that Dr. Karl Helfferich's pamphlet, "away with Ersberger" served as one source of his information, while other acts, such as Herr Ersberger's change of front on the question of annexation, heightened his antipathy. He described the method of his attack, repeatedly asserting that he had intended only to wound Ers-

BERGER SO AS TO CONFINED HIM TO HIS BED FOR SEVERAL WEEKS.

Allenists, who examined Ensign Von Hirschfeld, pronounced his act as the deed of a fanatic suffering from hallucinations. He was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment.

HUNGARIAN REPLY FINALLY IN.

PARIS, Feb. 23. Final documents annexed to the Hungarian reply to the Allied Peace terms were presented to the Secretary of the Peace Conference on Saturday last. The reply says that Hungary is willing that the population of all contested regions should decide by an impartial plebiscite, not dominated by troops of occupation, whether they wished to remain Hungarian.

BRITISH MINISTRY OF SHIPPING IN CANADA DEMOBILIZED.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23. The British Ministry of Shipping (Canada), which during its five and half years of existence practically controlled the export trade of Canada inland and overseas, clearing over three thousand liners from Canadian ports and Portland, will be demobilized at the end of March.

SLEEPING SICKNESS.

VIENNA, Sept. 23. A serum for pneumonia is said to have been employed successfully in case of sleeping sickness here. There is a marked decrease in the number of cases.

EXCHANGE.

LONDON, Feb. 23. The American Chamber of Commerce, in a statement referring to differences in the Financial position of Great Britain and continental countries, expresses the belief that the recent unprecedented drop in sterling exchange in the United States makes it particularly desirable that the best opinions on each side of the Atlantic, concerning this question, should be understood on the other side. After thoroughly discussing with leaders of British Finance, communicated with RUSSIAN REFUGEES.

CAIRO, Feb. 23. Two thousand five hundred refugees from Russia have arrived here completely destitute. Aid has been extended to them by the military authorities and the British Red Cross.

RETALIATION.

BERLIN, Feb. 23. The Saxon Demobilization bureau is engaged in the compilation of "enemy war crimes" and claims to possess much evidence bearing on occurrences at Dinant, Belgium, in August 1914, when the city was burned after alleged attacks upon Germans by Belgian snipers.

Montreal Woman Gains 20 Pounds in a Few Weeks

Had Spent Hundreds of Dollars Without Benefit—Like New Woman Since Taking Tanlac.

"Tanlac has brought me health, strength and happiness, and I am glad of the opportunity to give my testimonial, which I sincerely hope will be of benefit to others," said Mrs. Phileas Coude, residing at 72 Massey street, one of the most highly esteemed women of Quebec, in an interview, a few days ago.

Mrs. Coude in relating her experience also reported a gain of twenty pounds in weight and her statement, while indeed remarkable, is by no means unusual, as many thousands have testified to having used Tanlac with the same wonderful results.

Captain Phileas Coude, Mrs. Coude's husband, has been a navigator for forty years, and is widely known, especially in maritime circles.

"It just seems like I am starting all anew," explained Mrs. Coude, "for I no longer feel like the same person. My stomach has been in such a bad fix for the past forty years, that is until I took Tanlac, that I was always sick. I was troubled so with indigestion that I had ceased eating any kind of substantial food. In fact, nothing agreed with me, and I had pains all over my body. My arms and legs, especially, hurt me dreadfully. Even the white part of eggs caused me trouble and I had gotten where the only nourishment I could take was milk and vichy water. Three months ago I was brought home from Montreal lying on a bed and just suffering agony. I had become so nervous that even the crumpling of a newspaper annoyed me and I have gone through many a night unable to close my eyes to sleep. All energy and strength left me and I felt many times that I had come to the end of my way. My heart would often beat so hard and fast from the gas on my stomach that I thought that I could not live."

"Many hundreds of dollars have been spent on my case, but nothing ever seemed to give me a particle of relief until I began taking Tanlac. I am the mother of twenty children and have had much experience with medicines, having taken most every kind myself, but I owe all the praise, thanks and gratitude for my wonderful recovery to nothing but Tanlac. The very first bottle of Tanlac made a decided change in me, and since I have finished my fourth bottle I am feeling just like a new woman. I have an appetite like I never had before and meats nor anything else I eat hurts me in the least. Since I began taking Tanlac my weight has increased twenty pounds and my strength has returned so that I can now do all my house work without feeling tired except in the natural way. My pains have all disappeared. I sleep soundly all night long and get up mornings thoroughly rested and feeling fine. My nerves are again normal and I have regained all my energy. Words cannot fully express the gratitude I really feel and I want to recommend Tanlac to all others who may be suffering from stomach trouble and a run-down condition like I was before taking this grandest of all medicines."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; in Harbor Buffett, by Thomas Wakely & Sons; in Placentia, by James Murphy & Son; and in Topsail by J. K. Bursell—adv.

largely by the address of the chairman of five leading British banks to their stockholders in their annual meeting, the Chamber of Commerce has prepared a message to the American business public.

The Rift Widening.

Following so abruptly that of Mr. W. S. Monroe, the resignation of Mr. Eric A. Bowring also from the Advisory Board to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will not be calculated to inspire public confidence in the sincerity of that body to do what is best for Newfoundland, during the present fish market complication—crisis, if it be preferred—in Europe. Mr. Bowring's retirement from the Board came with startling suddenness, and if the action of that gentleman denotes anything, it is that there exists a ring within the ring, a secret council which at its own option admits or keeps out the other members according as it desires, withholding valuable information of conditions at will, and in so doing destroying whatever usefulness the whole Board might possess in assisting to restore things to normal conditions.

Though Mr. Eric Bowring was not a regularly constituted member of the Board, his presence thereon was regarded as necessary, because of the affiliations of his firm with the fish trade. He attended meetings as they were held, and his advice was sought just as that of any other full-fledged member. That his being on the Board was regarded as essential to its deliberations, the invitation to be present at consultations and discussions is proof positive and ample, and the recommendation that he be gazetted only needed time for accomplishment. The experience which Mr. Bowring brought to the councils of the Board was undoubtedly of value in determining decisions, but things not being presented in their true significance and concealment of information being a part of the policy of the inner circle, Mr. Bowring's independence rebelled at such treatment and naturally there was no way out but to resign in order to maintain his consistency.

The keeping back of information from a member—if only holding the position in an honorary sense—showed that there was a desire, an inclination, to establish secret relationships, and to disseminate to the full Board only such knowledge and advice of the foreign situation as the inside circle deemed expedient. Thus the members of this body were the actual Board, the others not included in this arcana, being but figureheads, and high secrets were not to be divulged to the uninitiated. The question naturally arises after due consideration of the facts—Is there a conspiracy among those who constitute the ring within the ring? If so, what is its purpose? If not, what was the object in concealing information which was vitally necessary that the full Board should know? Decisions could not be unanimous unless every member was in full possession of all that concerned the matter at issue, and whatever benefits could or would accrue from the full knowledge of facts by every individual member of the Board or Committee, nothing was to be gained BY THE DOMINION in the select, self-constituted circle playing the game of business with marked cards. There can be no doubt that the resignation of Mr. Bowring, for the reasons adduced by him, has given another black eye to the Advisory Board, and its utter collapse may not be long in coming.

Newfoundlander Receives Imperial Appointment.

Capt. Harris Oke, M.C., son of J. C. Oke of this city, left by the Sackem to-day for England. A cablegram from the Under Secretary at the Colonial Office advised him to report at London on March 8th. Subject to his passing a medical examination he becomes Administrative Officer of Nigeria. Capt. Oke is 28 years old and went across with the Blue Puttees. In 1915 he transferred to the Royal Scots, winning the Military Cross and being mentioned in dispatches. He was wounded three times and also gassed. When the armistice was signed he went to Russia with the North Russian Relief Force, returning home on furlough in December last. The position to which Capt. Oke has been appointed is a responsible one and brings with it many opportunities. The Telegram congratulates this gallant son and his relatives on the honor he has brought to his native land.

Hockey To-Morrow Night.

To-morrow night's hockey game between the Felldians and Terra Novas will without doubt prove the most exciting one of the season to date. The Terra Novas lead so far, not yet having been licked, while the Felldians have been defeated only once—by their present opponents. If the Terra Novas win the game the championship is theirs. If on the other hand the Felldians win, it will put the two teams on an equality and their following clash will be the deciding game. Naturally the Felldians will fight hard and some fun and good play is expected.

In Memoriam.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my dear husband, George T. Crocker, who was drowned from the S. S. Florizel, Feb. 24th, 1918.

Two years have passed, our hearts still sore,
As time goes by we miss him more;
Friends may think the wound has healed,
But no one knows the sorrow,
That is in our hearts concealed.

Wife dry your eyes from weeping,
Children do not be downcast,
For your love one is in God's keeping,
And his love will always last.

And yet again we hope to meet you,
When the cares of life are fled,
And in Heaven with joy to greet you,
Where no farewell tears are shed—
Wife and children.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of Mr. Edgar Froude, who was lost on S.S. Florizel, Feb. 24, 1918. Not lost but gone before.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart;
'Tis hard, so hard to speak the word
We must forever part.

Dearest loved one, friends have laid thee
In the silent grave's embrace;
But thy memory will be cherished Till we see thy smiling face.
—Inserted by Mrs. E. J. Froude, Clarenville.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of Capt. James Bartlett who lost his life in the wreck of S.S. Florizel, Feb. 24th, 1918.

A few more storms shall beat
On that wild rocky shore,
And we shall be where tempests cease
And surges swell no more.
—Inserted by his wife.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my dear husband, Charles Edward Snow, who was drowned from S.S. Florizel, Feb. 24th, 1918.

So when breaks the glorious dawn
Of the Resurrection morn,
When the night of toil is o'er,
We shall see thee on the shore.
—Inserted by his wife and child.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my dear little nephew Willie Guzewell, aged 13 years, drowned from S.S. Florizel, Feb. 24th, 1918; body recovered one year later.

Two years have passed,
Our hearts still sore;
As years go by
We miss him more.
—Inserted by his Aunt Jean.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of my dear husband, Alfred Moody, who lost his life in the Florizel disaster, February 24th, 1918.

We hoped against hope on that sad fatal day,
Which left us forever to mourn;
But we hope, dear, to meet you in Heaven above
On that great Resurrection morn.
The sun shines o'er our daddy's grave,
The one we loved, but could not save.
—Inserted by his children.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of my dear husband, Wilbert Chesley Butler, who lost his life in the Florizel disaster Feb. 24th, 1918.

Softly at night the stars are shining
On thy lonely, silent grave,
Where thou liest, dear husband,
Whom we loved but could not save.

IN MEMORIAM.
In loving memory of my dear husband and father, Michael Dusphy, who was drowned from the Florizel, Feb. 24th, 1918. May his soul rest in peace.

Two years have passed, our hearts still sore,
As time goes on we miss him more.
—Inserted by his wife and daughters.

DEED.
On Monday, February 23rd, Rebecca Snow, aged 83, beloved wife of the late William Snow, leaving to mourn one daughter and one son, several grandchildren. Funeral takes place on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. from her daughter's residence, 22 1/2 Stephen Street.—R.L.E.

An Interesting Treatise on Infant Feeding.

Which Should be Read by All Mothers
Every mother knows that cow's milk will not agree with a young baby and that it is customary to dilute the milk and add other substances to it (usually called Infants' Food). For infant feeding, cow's milk is far too rich in casein or curd (from which cheese is made) and deficient in albumen and milk-sugar; hence the physician is obliged to change or modify its parts to make it agree with the baby.
One trouble has been apparent with all methods of preparing milk for the baby's food. Nature intends a baby to be fed on a milk that contains twice as much albumen and only half as much curd as cow's milk. Nature never intended that a baby should be fed on a milk that contained twice as much curd and only half as much albumen as mother's milk.
Condensed Milk and Evaporated Milk are both deficient in milk albumen. Such products which have been offered to the public for many years are made by processes which cook the milk, so that it is deprived of its freshness and much of its value as infant feeding is lost. This has given rise to the statement that infants fed on such products are susceptible to scurvy and rickets—even if they survive their first summer with its almost inevitable bowel troubles. These products are no longer fresh.
By a new and novel process it has become possible to alter cow's milk in such a way that it becomes almost identical with mother's milk. Some of the casein or curd is taken out; natural milk albumen and natural milk sugar are added. The resulting milk is entirely from milk ingredients. It is then reduced to a fine dry powder by a process which removes the moisture instantly without cooking the milk. When this liquid is mixed with the proper amount of water, the liquid milk will answer to even the most delicate tests for fresh milk.
These tests prove that its fresh or anti-scurvy (antiscorvy) value is unimpaired. MODIFIED MILK POWDER has proved its great value in infant and bedside feeding, in hospitals and private practice of some of the best physicians in the country, and is recommended by them as the one and only complete substitute for mother's milk.
This product should not be confused with the so-called "malt and milk foods." Such foods contain but a small percentage of dried cooked milk.
Remember that MODIFIED MILK POWDER is all milk. It is produced from sanitary milk in a well equipped milk laboratory, and every lot is tested. The dangers of a doubtful milk supply are eliminated.
Remember further MODIFIED MILK POWDER has fed the most difficult cases and will feed your baby.
The Prescription of an M.D. Necessary.
MODIFIED MILK POWDER can be procured from the Community Nurses on a doctor's prescription.

To-day's Messages.

FRENCH DISASTER REPORTED.

LONDON, Feb. 23. It is reported from Damascus that four hundred French troops either have been killed or made prisoners by a force of Turks and Arabs near Hauran, Palestine, says a Central News despatch from Cairo, Egypt, dated last Wednesday. The correspondent adds that it also is reported that the French are evacuating Baalbek (thirty miles north of Damascus) and the Elbika valley, lying between Lebanon and Anti Libanus. There is no confirmation of these reports.

NO REPLY FORTHCOMING.

LONDON, Feb. 23. Bonar Law stated in the House of Commons to-day that no intimation of the decision of the Netherlands Government regarding the former German Emperor had yet reached the British Government.

ANOTHER TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23. G. Black Murray, pilot, and A. C. F. Lakes, aeronautical engineer for the local Aerial Transport Co., propose to fly from Norwich, England, to Montreal. They leave early in March for England.

PLAYS CANADIAN GOVERNMENT.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 23. Canada's industrial and economic conditions have reached a most critical period in the history of our existence, said Hon. Robert Rogers, former Dominion Minister of Public Works, who addressed here to-night in an open meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Club of Winnipeg. Declaring that he had "no further political aspiration to gratify," and that he proposed to speak plainly, Rogers declared the Union Government to be a government of tinkers and jobbers, a government of second hand dealers, their energies almost entirely devoted to second hand theories that are the product of the diseased brain of some poor unfortunate up-lifter.

EARTHQUAKE IN CAUCASIA.

ROME, Feb. 23. Tiflis despatches say that a great earthquake has occurred in the district of which the town of Gori is the center. Gori lies about thirty miles northwest of Tiflis. There have been numerous casualties and serious damage.

S. A. HOME DAMAGED.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 24. The Salvation Army Home was damaged to the extent of ten thousand dollars by fire last night.

RIBBONERS THREATEN STRIKE.

PATERSON, N.J., Feb. 24. The Silk Ribbon Weavers' Union announced last night that they would strike Wednesday morning if they were not granted an increase of 11 per cent. Some four thousand are affected.

FARMER BEATS SOLDIER.

MILTON, Ont., Feb. 24. Premier Drury's official majority over E. J. Stephenson, his soldier opponent in the Pallon bye-election in Halton County, a week ago yesterday, was 2,038. The official figures were given out yesterday by R. L. Hemstreet, Returning Officer. The total vote was as follows: Drury, 4,149; Stephenson, 2,111.

TUG CREWS JOIN IN.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 24. The strike of crews of steamers, which has been in progress now more than a week, has taken on a more serious phase with the extension of the movement to the crews of the principal towing companies. This is delaying entrance and departure of ocean-going vessels as only eight ships are available in the harbor.

BLAMES WILSON.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 24. Full responsibility for delaying the ratification of the Peace Treaty was attributed to President Wilson by U.S. Senator Warren, from Harding, a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, addressing a state gathering of Republicans here yesterday. He said the Republican party would welcome their responsibility of Americanizing the Treaty.

Yesterday Morning's Fire.

While doing duty on Water Street at 3.30 yesterday morning, Sgt. Long discovered fire in the home of Thos. Lawrence near the Reid Co. Freight Sheds. He summoned the West End and Central Fire Companies to the scene. The fire was caused by soot which had collected between the ceiling igniting the woodwork. The damage done the premises was not extensive.

Why Grey Went Home.

A discussion had been in progress about our difficulties with America and the return of Viscount Grey. All had put forward theories, and then turned to the quiet man in the big arm-chair near the smoking-room fire. "Why are you worrying?" he asked. "I knew he would not stay out there long; he missed his squirrels." "Squirrels!" exclaimed everyone. "Yes," was the response; "you see he has a wood in Northumberland full of wild squirrels. They find out when he is at home and make their way to the house, scale the walls, and invade the library; then, jumping upon his writing-table, are fed with nuts from his hand." This is a curious explanation of a diplomatic mystery.—London (Reg.) Post.

The Turk's Place.

In the past, Europe has learned to her cost the fatal consequences of all attempts to solve the Turkish problem upon the basis of mere expediency. For three hundred years or more the presence of the Turks at Constantinople has been the real source of most European strife. They were one of the principal causes of the recent unprecedented war, for it Germany struck her greatest blows in the west, she found her chief incentive in the wild conception of a German Confederation stretching through Constantinople to the shores of the Persian Gulf. Europe can never again know lasting peace until the Turks return to the uplands of Anatolia, from whence they came.—London Times.

The Old Bernstorff.

Von Bernstorff is not only willing to be tried by the Allies, but thinks that he can put them in a quandary when they come to try him; and no doubt you will readily recall that von Bernstorff is one of the most diplomatic little diplomats that every scuttled a ship.—Indianapolis News.

WINE SHIPPED.—Some ten pipes of wine (1300 gals.) which had been maturing at Newman's Bond Store, were shipped by Sachem to the Old Country.

Longevity.

Extreme longevity has its drawbacks. An English paper reminds us of this fact by quoting the story of Janos Mergesi, a Hungarian, who at the age of eighty-four was arrested for attempting suicide by jumping off a bridge at Budapest into the Danube. This, however, was not the case of extreme longevity referred to. Janos, in explanation of his attempt to end his life, declared that he was the sole support of his father and mother, and that the burden of caring for them was becoming too great for him. They were aged 115 and 110 respectively, he stated! The story goes that a public subscription for the three was started, which placed them above want.

Brothers Under the Skin

Sir David Watson, who won distinction with the original Canadian contingent in the war, admitted to a New York audience that he felt queer and couldn't make his knees behave at the first battle of Ypres. So the general and the rawest of raw recruits are alike human and brothers under the skin.—New York Herald.

A Warm Place for Bill.

According to Sir Auckland Geddes, a compromise with Holland may be arranged by which the former Kaiser will be interned for life on a Dutch island outside of Europe. Java would be a nice home for him—near one of those volcanoes which are usually in a state of eruption.—Hamilton Herald.

True Germanism.

The refusal of the Germans to give up their war criminals for trial by the Allies, was perhaps to be expected, but it is none the less significant. It shows up again the German character. They were in a position to sign anything for relief. They have indicated so far that in this regard the Treaty of Versailles is another scrap of paper. The protest of the nation against giving these men up is another way of saying that they approve their actions. It is to be feared that a repentant Germany exists only in the minds of some pacifists. We have been reading again some parts of the Bryce Commission Report on the German Atrocities in Belgium. We recall the sinking of passenger ships and hospital ships, the shelling of open boats, and the bombing of hospital areas. And the German people are taking to themselves all those crimes. It might be expected that people who declared a holiday because the Lusitania was sunk and wore medals commemorating the event, would not act otherwise.—God help us to forgive our enemies, but it would be so much easier if they would acknowledge these things as crimes.—Canadian Churchman.

Another Superstition Squelched.

Bathing in the River Jordan, famous in sacred history, has lost its popularity as the result of the discovery by United States physicians that it is a dangerous disease-germ carrier. One of the first steps taken by an American Red Cross unit reaching that region was an analysis of the river water. It was found to be laden with the germs of skin diseases and other maladies.

"Hair cut," he said in gruff tones.
"How would you like it cut, sir?" the barber asked.
"The captain, who was baldish, answered, gruffer than ever:
"Line up the hairs and number off to the right. Odd numbers each want a half inch off. Dress smartly with bay rum and brillantine. Then dismiss."
"Yes," replied the man who wore a diamond scarf pin.
"How did you get into that line of business?"

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE SYMPTOM MONGER.

RUTH CAMERON

How people adore symptoms! Did you ever know anyone, who had had a long illness or an operation or a breakdown, who didn't when the proper mood was on, like to talk about his symptoms with a sympathetic listener? Even the strongest minded people cannot seem to rise wholly above the temptation. And as for that well known person, the average man or woman, well, I don't know as he even regards it as a temptation, but rather as an opportunity.

How They Felt When It Happened.

At least half a dozen people have told me exactly how they felt just at the moment when their breakdown came. "I was standing in the middle of the room," runs one tale, "and—", but no I won't go on else I shall put myself under my own condemnation.

For my objection to this habit is that symptoms have such a terrible effect upon a vivid imagination.

Many years ago a woman who had been through nervous prostration gave me a full description of her symptoms (I wouldn't repeat them here for $100—and I mean just that) and the sufferings she had passed through, and I can't tell you how many times I have had an idea that I was in for nervous prostration.

Which Was He?

A woman said to me the other day in discussing a doctor whom I (without knowing) had taken a dislike to but whom she considered very fine, "Why he took care of Mrs. Avery when she had the typhoid, and he would tell her in advance what all her symptoms were going to be, and she had them, every single one! I think he is a wonderful doctor."

"Or a great adept in the art of mental suggestion," I supplied as an alternative.

She looked as indignant as a woman always will when her pet doctor is attacked.

One hardly blames people who have been through operations or painful sieges of other kinds, for thinking the world owes them at least the excitement of being the centre of the stage while they tell of their adventures in the land of disease, these adventures with other travellers rather than with the stay-at-homes?

Surely You Don't Want to Encourage Travelling.

Surely the traveller would hate to excite so much envy that he would stimulate the stay-at-home to start travelling—along the way of pain.

Prominent surgeons admit that they actually have women come to them who, without any serious need really seem to want to be operated on. They are doubtless actuated by a subconscious desire to have the excitement of being the centre of the stage and of having symptoms of their own discussing.

Of course one cannot properly guard one's health unless one knows some of the simpler danger signs. But it is morbid and undesirable to think or talk too much about ill health.

Culpably Slothful.

The devil is not our subscription list, but there is just a chance that a stray copy of this issue may fall into the hands of the world or the flesh, and there is a word we desire to say to them. Whatever else our age is noted for, certainly its extravagance and extremes are without precedent. A jazz and rag-time generation is the epithet bestowed on us, and it is not altogether a slander. The average citizen has never known a time when money was spent more lavishly, when amusement ran so close to libertinism. Some things said and done and worn to-day with scarce a protest, raise the colour as well as the eyebrows of the aforesaid average citizen. It is not because we are getting old, for our hearts were never younger. But we cannot see rhyme or reason in the mad dance of pleasure which has caught so many in its swirl. The wholesomeness of life seems to have lost its charms. Of course it is insipid to palates that tasted fiery vintages.

After-war conditions is what we say. That is the cause of it all. But we are not foolish enough to think that the diagnosis of a disease is its remedy.

We cannot rest content with that. And after-war conditions are not the cause of it all by any means. Some of us want to do it, and some of us have not back-bone enough to say anything against it, and the rest of us don't care a cent about the matter so long as we are not disturbed.

The man or woman of mature years who can look out on the present state of affairs without misgiving is culpably slothful.—Canadian Churchman.

THE BANKER.

The banker stands and waves his hands, each day I see him beckon; "To bring your rocks to my strong box," he says, "is wise, I reckon. Oh, salt them down, the great and crown, the kopeck and the shilling; a n d then, I guess, in days of stress your wad will make a killing." We hear him cry as we go by, we hear the helpful banker; but sound advice cuts little ice when fool things we hanker. The coin we earn we wish to gurn, as other gent are doing; and so we hear the banker seer with pawing and beshrewing. We need new boats and leather coats and silks that gleam and glimmer, two dollar socks and oil well stocks dispensed by cheap flammer. The rainy day seems far away, the money grows on bushes, and so we chase to every place where all the spendthrift push is. The banker stands and cries, "My lands! Are people all gone nutty? The road you tread looks smooth ahead, but soon it's rough and rutty. Bring in your seeds, Oh, looped lads, bring in the dime and nickel; the sanest guy beneath the sky is he whose coin's in pickle."

THE PURPOSE.

One worked for riches day by day. Another toiled to know the joy of fame. The friendship of the world to claim; Yet these men missed the goals they sought. While one who asked no golden crown Or glory for his work, but thought Of serving only as he ought, Was given both fortune and renown. One worked because he would be rich. One toiled because he wanted fame. He thought it would be nice to claim; But one gave little thought to these, And tried to serve a greater plan— He found in work the joys that please, The thrill of solving mysteries And building for his fellow man.

Better it is to love the task Than its reward of fame or gold; They that the glory only ask Shall be forgotten when they're old. But he who'll stand from day to day, And give no thought unto his fate, Working to build a better way Where men may walk and children play, Shall in good time be counted great.

Fashions and Fads.

Printed tricolettes are the latest. Panels continue to be in great favor. Gold is much used for evening gowns. Dark taffetas are in favor for afternoon. Velvet-striped chiffon is a lovely new fabric. Taffeta frocks are made with very full skirts. Jewelry is having a great vogue at present. Foulard is popular for trimmings and linings. Spring frocks are plaited in every possible way. The accordion-plaited skirt has been revived. Batok materials are much used for negligees. Gold cloth evening gowns have grides of jet. Very short sleeves are seen on evening gowns. Belts are broad and low, with oriental effect. The season promises to be one of bright colors.

Treaty Between Holland and Belgium.

BOTH COUNTRIES TO HAVE JOINT CONTROL OF NAVIGATION ON SCHELDT RIVER.

The Hague, Feb. 1.—The Dutch press to-day prints the text of the new treaty between Holland and Belgium, which has not yet been ratified. Its principal provisions, stripped of their official verbiage, follow:

Holland and Belgium to have joint control of navigation on the Scheldt river; the question of the movement of Belgian warships from Antwerp and other problems likely to rise in the event of war are left to the future decision of the League of Nations; both countries agree to the principle that the mouth of the Scheldt be free and open water; that two new large canals be constructed at the speediest moment to give Belgium an equal outlet sea (one from Antwerp to Holland connecting with the North Sea and the other from the Rhine across the Meuse to Scheldt to Antwerp connecting Antwerp with the German Rhine), the latter to be constructed within seven years; that additional number of existing canals be opened to accommodate larger ships and that each country pay the expense of the construction, and that customs, quarantine and pilorage regulations be made as uniform as possible; generally speaking, joint commissions will control the conditions, construction and maintenance of the canals.

Feildians Win in Spectacular Game.

Two Play-offs—Nineteen Goals Scored—Feildians 11, St. Bon's 8.

The Feildians won last evening in the most spectacular game of the season. Finishing the three periods with the teams equal (5 goals each), two play-offs had to be run before it could be decided who won. At the end of the first play-off both teams had seven goals. In the second play-off the Feildians scored four and St. Bon's one, giving the former a majority of three.

Mr. Gus. Herder was referee, and the players were:

Feildians.	St. Bon's.
Hunt goal	Power
Tait defence	Brien
Rendell defence	Callahan
Payne centre	Murphy
Ewing left	M. Power
Alderdice right	Crawford

Higgins, Duggan, Kelly and Stinott were spares for St. Bon's, and Winter, Reid, Bennett and Bugden for the Feildians. The goals were scored in the following order:

1st Period.
1 Power (S.B.), 10 mins.; 2 Alderdice (F.), 4 mins.

2nd Period.
3 Payne (F.), 5 mins.; 4 Rendell (F.), 6 mins.; 5 Duggan (S.B.), 2 mins.; 6 Power (S.B.), 5 mins.

3rd Period.
7 Power (S.B.), 5 mins.; 8 Callahan (S.B.), 5 mins.; 9 Ewing (F.), 2 mins.; 10 Payne (F.), 5 mins.

1st Play-off.
11 Tait (F.), 1 1/2 mins.; 12 Tait (F.), 3 mins.; 13 Callahan (S.B.), 1 min.; 14 Kelly (S.B.), 3 1/2 mins.

2nd Play-off.
15 Tait (F.), 50 secs.; 16 Tait (F.), 1 min.; 17 Alderdice (F.), 1 min.; 18 Alderdice (F.), 3 1/2 mins.; 19 Power (S.B.), 1 min.

The victory of the Feildians was largely due to their superior combination. Both goal keepers put up a splendid exhibition of saving, despite the large tallies against them.

Vessel Had Terrible Time.

CREW'S FIGHT FOR LIFE LASTED SIXTY HOURS—MATE WASHED OVERBOARD.

The members of the crew of the schooner Metamora, which arrived by the S. S. Kyle on Saturday, tells of the trying time experienced before the vessel had to be abandoned. The Metamora left Lisbon, salt laden, on Dec. 18th for this port. After being out nine days a heavy storm was met, and the vessel had to heave to. For six days little or no progress could be made, and on January the first another fierce storm from the west and north broke on the vessel. Heavy seas were running, causing the ship to strain. At 4 p.m. the foreboom broke in two and the foresail was carried away. The vessel was obliged to run before the wind under bare poles. All hands were now ordered to the pumps. Everything on deck was smashed to matchwood and a small boat broke loose from the main hatch, drawing the rings out of the deck, and plugs of wood had to be made to fill the holes to keep the water from the cargo. The foredeck was strained and leaking badly. No fires could be lighted, owing to the wreckage lying across the range funnel. On the 2nd day of January the mate, while trying to repair an old fore stay sail, was washed overboard and drowned. On the 3rd day, the weather moderating a little, double reefed mainsail, double reefed foresail, and fore stay sail were set and the ship headed for Azores. At about 6 p.m. it was found that the vessel was leaking badly and an examination of the pore peak, showed that she would have to be abandoned. The pumps were kept going until, on Jan. 4th, after 60 hours' continuous work, the exhausted crew were compelled to give up. The S. S. Lagos, bearing down on them, took the crew to St. Michael's, in the Azores.

Feb. "Rod and Gun."

"Laws of the Herd and Flock" is the title of an engrossing nature article in ROD AND GUN IN CANADA for February. George R. Belton, the well-known western writer, is the author of this article, which is only one of ten stories and articles in this issue of Canada's leading sportsman's monthly. A few of the other stories are a "North West Mounted Police Dog," by Don Kello; "Silver Tig," by H. Mortimer Eaton; "Luck Don't Count," by Richard K. Wood, and "Old Squaws," by F. V. Williams. The introduction of reindeer into Canada is discussed in an able manner by Harry Bragg. The usual interesting departments dealing with the activities of rod, gun and trap are contained in this issue which is now on sale at the news stands. W. J. Second Accident in Fortnight.

Mr. Sydney Woods, Commissioner of Old Age Pensions and Marine Disasters, met with a severe accident yesterday morning, the second within the past fortnight. Two weeks ago he fell on the street, breaking a rib. Yesterday, feeling better, he overestimated his strength and started for his office. As he was leaving the house he fell from the step and badly fractured the shoulder socket. It was at first thought necessary for him to be X-rayed at the General Hospital, but the operation at his home yesterday afternoon proved quite successful and he hopes to be about again in a few weeks.

Historic Relics Placed in Museum.

By the last "Sachem" from England arrived a large block of decayed oak which had been removed from the roof of Westminster Hall, and forwarded by H. M. Department of Works, London, through the High Commissioner for Newfoundland, Sir Edgar R. Bowring, to the Government to be placed in our Museum, where it now is. This decayed oak is part of the original timbers of the time of King Richard II., and was taken from the trusses of the historic building. The length of the piece of oak now in the Museum is 7 ft. 5 inches long; breadth 1 ft. 10 inches; thickness 9 inches.

Sir Edgar Bowring also sent a description of the decay of Westminster Hall roof, together with a note of the preservatives used and the method of treatment adopted. Also, is enclosed a perspective sketch of the roof showing the position from which the Newfoundland specimen has been taken, and another drawing illustrating the beetle which has attacked the wood. It is thought that the illustrations and description will be of interest to visitors to the Newfoundland Museum.

(1) The egg of the wood-boring beetle (Xestobium tesselatum) is laid in the crack of the joint of timber and develops into the larva known generally by the name "wood-worm."
(2) The larva tunnels through oak by means of its hard, sharp jaws. Its soft body is armed also, having legs to press against side of bore hole and to give driving power.
(3) Pupa—Quiescent state intermediate between larva and adult beetle. The pupa lies in the timber near end of the bore hole adjoining exterior face of the wood.
(4) The beetle emerges from the skin of the pupa, eats through the thin layer of wood left by the larva and crawls out on the surface where it endeavours to attract a mate by rapidly tapping with its head upon the wood.
(5) When tapping the beetle pivots on its hind legs, rises on its front legs and drops its head again to strike the wood.

The following brief description of Westminster Hall may be of interest to visitors to our Museum.

WESTMINSTER HALL.
Westminster Hall, next to the Tower and Westminster Abbey, is the most historic edifice in London. It was begun by William Rufus in 1097 and enlarged by his successor, Richard II., in 1397 caused it to be rebuilt, and added the Grand Oak Roof, rightly described as one of the finest feats of carpentry extant. The wood, having in the course of centuries become seriously decayed, was in 1913-14 judiciously patched and reinforced with steel. Westminster Hall is probably the largest Hall in the world with a roof unsupported by pillars, excepting, of course, modern railway stations. Its length is 238 feet, breadth 67½ feet, height 90 feet.

The historical associations of the Hall are full of interest. Here some of the earliest parliaments assembled, and from 1224 until 1882 the Law Courts were held within and around. Richard II., who rebuilt the Hall, was here by unkindly fate deposed. It was the scene of the trial and condemnation of Charles I., and of the Proclamation of Cromwell as Lord Protector. Here, a few years later, Cromwell's head was brought from Westminster Abbey, with those of Bradshaw and Ireton, and impaled on an iron-tipped pike on the Southern gable for something like a quarter of a century. The Protector's head was blown down during a heavy storm in 1686 and secreted. It is said by a sentry. It is still preserved in England, and was exhibited by one of the learned societies in 1911. In Westminster Hall were tried and condemned William Wallace, Lord Cobham, Sir Thomas More, the Protector Somerset, the Earl of Essex, Sir Thomas Wyatt, Guy Fawkes and the Earl of Strafford. It was the scene, too, of the acquittal of the seven bishops (1688), and of the long trial of Warren Hastings. On the 26th and 27th May, 1898, Mr. Gladstone's body lay here in state, previous to his interment in Westminster Abbey. The Hall, too, was the scene of the lying-in-state of King Edward VII., from the 17th to the 20th May, 1910.

Ranged along the sides of the Hall are statues of Stuart and Hanoverian Sovereigns. Tablets on the stairs and in the middle of the Hall mark the spots where Charles I. and Strafford stood during their trials, and another brass tablet records the lying-in-state of Edward VII.

From the East side of the staircase landing, a flight of steps leads down St. Stephen's Crypt, a remnant of old St. Stephen's which escaped the fire of 1834, and after a long period of neglect has in recent years been restored and is again used for services. It is a richly decorated, vaulted apartment, 90 ft. in length, 28 ft. wide and 20 ft. high.

A Big Success.

On Tuesday evening American Chain Overshoes, in which the principle of the weed chain used on automobile tires has been humanely adapted to horses' shoes, were first tried on the streets of St. John's and created quite a sensation among horse owners. Attached to the fore hoofs of a heavy truck horse they enabled the animal to get a footing on ice and snow without exertion, which his bare hind shoes were unable to hold. Later they were tried on a cab horse and worked with the same results, except owing to a mistake in size one chain got detached. American Chain Overshoes are not sold by blacksmiths. A suggestion

The Avalon Telephone Company has announced that its telephone rates will remain the same as held by the old service, viz., $40 a year for professional use and $30 a year for private residences. The Telegram believes that the public is with it when it congratulates the Avalon Company for its decision not to increase the rates, as an improved and more efficient service might possibly justify. The Telegram, however, is of the opinion that it is but putting into words the sentiment of the public when it suggests to the company a readjustment of its "phone rates with an eye to making them bear more equitably upon the users. This much seems reasonable: If an office 'phone (used almost continuously, as it is) is worth $40 a year, the private 'phone (used as little as it is) is certainly not worth $30 a year. For this reason, therefore, it is only fair that there be a greater difference in the rates. But it would not be fair to expect the company to merely reduce the price of the private 'phones. That would be to ask the company to materially reduce its revenue. The Telegram's suggestion is that $10 be taken off the private rate and added to the professional. The rate then would be: Private, $30 a year; Professional, $50. This would assure the company an increased revenue, for it would mean that many more private residences would be able to have a telephone installed, and offices must necessarily have one, be the cost what it may.

Llewellyn Club Discusses "Dope."

Recent Court Decision Praised.
The question of the "dope" traffic was discussed at last evening's meeting of Llewellyn Club. W. H. Jones, Rev. T. B. Darby, Rev. Dr. Jones, Hon. John Anderson, R. G. MacDonald, R. Dowden, W. Smith and John Weir were some of the speakers. The recent judgment of the Central Court was praised and the opinion of the meeting was that all offenders, whether rich or poor, should be gone after and punished. A motion to the effect that all prohibited essences be tabulated and the Government asked to prevent their importation and sale, was put forward by Hon. J. Anderson, seconded by Mr. W. H. Jones, and approved by the gathering.

Guadalupe, Mexico, Feb. 5.—I have at the past few days in this picnic but war-torn country and taken a few notes on conditions in which I shall try to construct a y for the Telegram in the near future. Mexico is the land of contrasts. It is a disappointment in its respects and a revelation in others. Here on the border is the line that produces most of the men forays and bandit raids which the exasperated Uncle Sam to the making point. An American is telling in a dangerous region when enters Mexico to-day. What with Franza's ruthless followers and the thirsty bandits led by Francisco he is obliged to be very careful would avoid death or imprisonment. The Mexican people are compely in the power of the two facts. They do not want either, they are forced to submit at the at of the bayonet. Carranza is to be president of Mexico, but the tens of the people never voted his regime. Stealing an election nothing new in Mexico.
is unjust to the people, however, say that they countenance the thirsty doings of either the Carristas or the Villistas. They are simply helpless and can do nothing to stop the present reign of terror.

The average Mexican is law-abiding and loves peace and order, but con-scienceless bandits in control of the country make it impossible for him to rest.
The only hope which Mexico has to-day, lies in intervention by the United States and the restoration of peace in the unhappy land. President Wilson's policy in dealing with Mexico has sown a crop of dragons' teeth. Had he taken the advice of many officials experienced in Mexican affairs, he would have recognised Huerta, for whatever the latter may have had to do with the death of Madero, he was the only Mexican who could have brought order out of chaos. The British minister at the time, recognised Huerta, but Wilson was adamant. He placed Carranza in the saddle and the latter now rules, not by love or constitutional authority, but by virtue of his army.
The scenery beggars all description, and the customs and habits of the people are those of a past age.
Some wonderful cities exist in Mexico, notably Mexico City, which has nearly a million people and is said to be a second Paris. In this border town, however, the ways of the people are as primitive as can be imagined. But I shall reserve further remarks on Mexico until my next letter.

Tobacco Prices.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—In one of our Saturday morning papers was a letter from a correspondent, in which he says that he had seen Creamery Butter brought here from the Old Country much superior in quality to the local manufacture and much cheaper in price than it. He need not be surprised at this because it is the rule now more than the exception that the heavily protected factories are the one's that usually roast us. Take for instance the Imperial Tobacco Co., this concern seems to be the King Bee as regards the regulation of prices—within the past ten days this heavily subsidized Trust has increased their prices of Tobacco 12 cents per pound, owing so they state to the increased cost of raw material together with the advanced rate of exchange. This may or may not be correct, but like the Scotty I have no doubts. As a case in point we take the Tobacco dealer who is importing his Tobacco, he pays 44 cent per pound duty, 2 1-2 cents per pound freight, insurance, cartage, etc., and 17% exchange and then sells a superior article to the local trade at fully 20% less. (I am conservative when I say 20%). What is the answer, Sir. I was in the Southern States and visited the Tobacco growing centres and judging from what I could see, everything that was manufactured there in the way of Tobacco was done so by Union Labor and furthermore I saw nothing that would lead me to believe that the Factory was not a paying venture, and yet they can send their products right through to this country and under sell our Imperial Tobacco Co. fully 20%. Does not this alone convince us that something is wrong,—and that something is either bad management or exorbitant profits. At any rate it is up to Manager Hawvermale to place his cards on the table and take the people into his confidence. After Manager Hawvermale's reply I shall have more to say.

Yours truly,
CLOVER LEAF.

The Greatest Battle
Prior to 1914.

The series of battles known as the "Battle of Mukden," which began on Feb. 23, and lasted to March 16, 1905, constituted the greatest battle that the world had up to then seen. 700-000 troops were fighting on a line which at one time was eighty miles—a number which, in the recent great war, looks very small. Between Feb. ruary 23 and 28 the left wing of the Russian army, under General Linie-vitch, in the mountainous region between the Tai-yeh and the Sha-ho, was attacked unexpectedly by large bodies of Japanese, including troops from Nogi's army. It was Kawamura's army driving Rennenkampff's left. Believing that the Japanese were about to repeat the manoeuvre of Liao-yang, Kuropatkin heavily reinforced Linie-vitch and Rennenkampff. On the 28th he learnt, however, that masses of infantry and cavalry—afterwards ascertained to be Nogi's army—were marching between the Liao-ho and the Hun-ho, towards the west of Mukden, their objective being the Russian communications between Mukden and Harbin. To counter him, reinforcements of more than fifty battalions were added to General Kaulbaro's army, and he was ordered to take the offensive; but in the fighting which ensued, Kaulbaro was generally unsuccessful, and Nogi's turning movement each day became more menacing. On March 7 Kuropatkin drew back Bilderling and Linievitch to the fortified positions south of Mukden. A desperate battle raged round the capital of Manchuria from March 9 to 16, and it was with the greatest difficulty that Kuropatkin extricated himself from his perilous position and effected his retreat to Tekling, whence he retired to a position between there and the River Sungari. Kuropatkin, who in his report to the Tsar very honourably stated that he considered himself
"the person principally responsible" for the defeat, was superseded by General Linievitch on March 20, but consented to serve under his erstwhile subordinate. The Russians lost 27,700 killed, 110,000 wounded, and a vast quantity of war material; while the Japanese losses up to March 1 were estimated at 41,222 men.

Eye-Sores & Foot-Sores.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your esteemed paper to make a few remarks in reference to two eye-sores on Water Street, which, with little trouble or expense could be very easily remedied. I refer to the scaffolding which adorns the front of the General Post Office, and also to the broken electric lights which are over the lights at the main entrance to the Court House. Both these objects, I understand, have been in evidence for a number of years; and I think it is time they were removed. I feel sure it is only necessary to bring this to the notice of the proper authorities and the matter will be attended to.
Whilst I am on the subject of "Eye-Sores," I should like to go to the other extreme and pass a word or two on "Foot-sores." This time, my kick concerns the abominable condition of our upper Streets. I believe an act should be passed prohibiting people from cutting drains and trenches, twelve and fourteen inches deep and just wide enough for a person's feet to enter.
It is a days labour in itself for a working man to go to his peals since the present thaw has set in. Why not compel the whole city to level off the sidewalks? or is this a thing which concerns the people who frequent Water Street only? Thanking you for space,
Mr. Editor,

I remain,
"MAN ON THE STREET."

A Beautiful Gesture.

Amsterdam.—Former Crown Prince Wilhelm, of Germany, sent his telegram to the heads of Allied governments offering to surrender in place of Germans demanded in the Allied extradition list, almost on the impulse of the moment, according to an interview with Major von Mulenheim, the former crown prince's adjutant, published in the Telegraaf.
"The former heir to the German throne," said the major, after confirming reports that a telegram had been sent, "took his resolution without thinking long about it. The return of Baron Lersner from Paris, and the serious situation which has arisen in Berlin in consequence, prompted the prince to send his telegram. He hopes by this to avert serious difficulties for Germany."
Dutch newspapers describe William's action as a "beautiful gesture."

S. A. Revival Campaign.

Commandant John McElhinney from Toronto has been in the city doing revival meetings at the Salvation Army
No. 1 Citadel, New Gower Street during all last week. Very large crowds have attended and the very inspiring talks of the Commandant have been greatly appreciated. He is indeed a "live wire" and there are no dull moments in his meetings. Many touching things have happened during the week—sinners of all grades have been captured for God,—many of them being saved by Grace for the first time in their lives. A total of 228 souls professed Salvation during the week.
Next week Commandant McElhinney will start a Campaign at No. 2 Corps, Adelaide Street.

Requests Refused.

The ship owners have refused the requests of the firemen for $65.00 per month and a full share of the sealing voyage. Last year the firemen received $35.00 per month if the share did not exceed that amount. Recently the Union asked that stokers be given a berth on deck if they were not engaged in the stokehold. The ship owners have refused this request also, and the Union will meet to-night to consider the matter fully.

Isn't It Wonderful?

THIS tin of Klim, pasteurized separated milk in powder form, represents the modern development in the use of such milk. Just as the flour mills make better flour than the old-time grind-stone method, so is Klim purer, less expensive, less wasteful and easier to keep than the same milk in liquid form.

Get Klim from your grocer. Use from the tin as needed. Will not freeze nor turn sour. No bottles to wash, no tickets to buy.

Write for "The Wonderful Story of Klim," an interesting recipe book.
