THE DEAD PRESIDENT

FURTHER PART OF HIS LAST HOUR.

A Feeling of General and widespread sympathy—Preparations for the funeral—Movements of President Arthur—Canadian flags at the Half-Mast—The Post Mortem Examination.

All conversation on the street yesterday all turned on the death of President Garfield, so the news despatches this morning deal with the same absorbing subject almost to the exclusion of everything else. It would seem as if the whole world stood still for a day, all thought and all interest being centred on the sad tragedy which opened at Washington and closed at Long Branch. In the United States there is grief for the death of the president and deep sympathy for his bereaved family. In Canada, in England and on the continent of Europe the sympathy is more for the nation than for the family, but everywhere there is a strong feeling that in the death of General Garfield one of the great ones of the earth has passed away.

General Arthur has been connected to the presidency so quickly that the great commands little notice, but there is everywhere a disposition manifested to treat him with the respect due to the first magistrate of a great nation. The remains of the late president will be conveyed to Washington to-day and to Cleveland on Friday. On Monday there will be a public funeral, under direction of the state authorities of Ohio.

THE POST MORTEM EXAMINATION. Secondary Dissection of a Mesenteric Artery the Immediate Cause of Death.

ELBERON, Sept. 20.—The following official bulletin was prepared at 11 o'clock to-night by the surgeons who have been in the city since the late president's death: "The post mortem examination of the body of President Garfield was made this evening at the presence of the medical faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, and with the assistance of Dr. Hamilton, Registrar, and Dr. Woodrow, Surgeon-General, Acting Assistant Surgeon D. S. Lamb of the Army Medical Museum, Washington. The operation was performed by Dr. Woodrow, after fracturing the right eleventh rib had passed through the spinal canal in front of the spinal cord, entering the space between the first lumbar vertebrae, driving a number of small fragments of bone into the adjacent soft parts, and lodging below the pancreas, about two inches and a half to the left of the spine and behind the peritoneum, where it had become completely encased. The immediate cause of death was a mesenteric hemorrhage from one of the mesenteric arteries adjoining the track of the bullet, the blood rupturing the peritoneum and nearly a pint oozing into the abdominal cavity. This hemorrhage is believed to have been caused by the severe laceration of the mesenteric artery by the bullet, which, in passing, struck the left kidney, which contained near its surface a small abscess about a third of an inch in diameter.

When this was discovered, the history of the case in connection with the autopsy, it is quite evident that the different suppurating abscesses which were found in the organs of the abdomen, and the fracture of the vertebral tissue of the vertebrae, furnish sufficient explanation of the septic condition which attended the death of the president. The bacteria of the septic condition which attended the death of the president, were undoubtedly introduced by the bullet, which, in passing, struck the left kidney, which contained near its surface a small abscess about a third of an inch in diameter.
